Scandal erupts in men's basketball program

By Anita J. Stoner
Staff Writer

Apparent violations of NCAA rules turned Good Friday into black Friday for Saluki men's basketball when Dean Stuck, special assistant for intercollegiate athletics, announced the resignation of assistant coach Stafford Stephenson.

Stephenson admitted breaking the rules after allegations were made to Stuck regarding payments made to SIU-C center Ken Perry.

"At the present time, this is the only player alleged to be involved," Stuck said.

The NCAA and Missouri Valley Conference were notified immediately and those officials told Stuck not to speculate on anything that could hinder the investigation. The future of the men's basketball program and head coach Allen Van Winkle are pending the results of this investigation, which Stuck said is proceeding immediately.

"This came to light yesterday and in 24 hours we've tried to look at everything we could and we will continue. When we have something else, we will report it. We don't wish to keep anything hidden," Stuck said.

Stuck said Van Winkle had been informed of Stephenson's admission and resignation and said, "He (Van Winkle) said he had no knowledge of this...I have no reason not to believe him."

"I had no knowledge of those circumstances," Stafford has explained the situation to me and Dean Stuck. The appropriate actions are taking place," Van Winkle said in a written statement.

But Roy White, a Carbondale chiropractor whom Stuck named as the source of the information, disagreed.

White said Van Winkle approached him in the summer of 1982 about the possibility of giving financial backing to Perry. White said Van Winkle had told him it was needed to recruit Perry because, "other schools were willing to do the same thing."

White first met Perry and his brother Clint when they were brought to his home by Stephenson and is emphatic that most arrangements had already been made. White said

Soviet leader wants summit

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev said Sunday he has agreed to hold a summit with President Reagan and will halt deployment of medium-range missiles aimed at Western Europe. Reagan immediately dismissed the moratorium.

In Gorbachev's first interview with the Communist Party newspaper Pravda since taking power March 11, he said he had replied positively to Reagan's suggestion of a summit meeting.

"The question of such a meeting was dealt with in my correspondence with President Reagan. I can say that a positive attitude to such a meeting being held was expressed on both sides," Gorbachev said.

Gorbachev also said that, as a goodwill gesture, the Soviet Union was declaring a unilateral moratorium on the deployment of medium-range nuclear missiles aimed at Western Europe.

Gorbachev said the moratorium on the deployment would last until November and that "the decision we will make after that depends on whether the United States follows our example: will it stop or not the deployment of its Pershing and cruise missiles in Western Europe.

In Santa Barbara, Calif., where Reagan is vacationing, White House officials dismissed Gorbachev's moratorium as a revived move to "freeze in place a considerable advantage."

The Soviets already have "a 10-to-1" advantage in medium-range nuclear missiles in Europe, said Reagan's spokesman Larry Speakes.

"If they want to freeze, fine," Speakes said. "But that's not enough."

F-Senate to vote on new admission standards

By Karen Wiltberger
Staff Writer

The Faculty Senate will vote Tuesday on a resolution to upgrade SIU-C admission standards by fall 1990.

If passed, the University's admission standards would not be as harsh as admission guidelines recommended by the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

The IBHE recommended in October that by fall 1990 state universities and colleges require freshmen to have completed certain high school courses to be eligible for admission. The guidelines suggest that freshmen complete four years of English, three years of math, science and social studies, and two years of electives in foreign language, art, music or vocational studies.

The Faculty Senate resolution calls for the University to require the high school courses for freshmen admission to baccalaureate programs as suggested by the IBHE. However, the resolution offers alternative admission requirements for freshmen who haven't completed the course work and excludes certain populations from the proposed requirements.

Course requirements would not apply to veterans, international students, adults who graduated from high school before 1989 and students who graduated from high schools that didn't offer the required courses.

Those students would be permitted to enroll in degree programs if they met current University requirements for freshman. The standards are based on high school achievement measured by class rank and standardized test scores.

Other people who haven't completed the high school courses would be admitted to degree programs if they score in the upper 25 percent of those taking the entrance exam and rank in the upper half of their graduating class, or if they rank in the upper 25 percent of their graduating class and score in the upper half on the exam.

People who don't meet the requirements would be admitted to the Undergraduate Academic Services program and would be required to complete the subject courses.

Transfer students with less than 26 semester hours would have to meet the proposed freshman admission requirements.

Trustee candidate runs unopposed

By Karen Wiltberger
Staff Writer

Undergraduate Student Organization president Andy Leighton would be the first person to tell you why he should be SIU-C student trustee. But, so far, the trustee candidate lacks two things—an opponent and time.

"It's more important to me to get the job done that needs to be done for USO than it is to campaign for student trustee."

"I'm hoping that people will know that I am running for trustee and they'll know that I've done a good job as USO president," Leighton said.

Leighton, a senior in political science, was the only student to turn in a student trustee candidate petition. The lone candidate, if there are no later write-in candidates, will need to secure all of the 2,000 students votes required for the ratification of election results by the Graduate and Professional Student Council. Leighton's campaign will be based on completing his job as USO president. He said he will try to get out and speak as much as possible before the student trustee election on April 18.

Despite a lack of an opponent and time, the 23-year-old Leighton has his campaign issues close at hand.

Students need to be clearly represented at Board of Trustees meetings, he said. Leighton, who has already developed working relationships with the board as well as constituency groups and the president's office, said he has the resources to fulfill that goal.

"I plan on being much more visible than the student trustee has been this year. I understand the reason for the

Iran threatens retaliation against war interference

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—Iran called President Reagan "the head of international terrorism" Sunday and told the visiting U.N. secretary-general it will never make peace with Iraq while the "present Iraqi regime remains." In an interview with the Tehran newspaper Etefa'at, Iranian Prime Minister Hussein Musavi warned Reagan that Iran is ready to retaliate against any attack, even from the United States.

U.S. military on maneuvers near Nicaragua

LAS HORMIGAS, Honduras (UPI)—Just three miles from the Nicaraguan border, the United States is training hundreds of American and Honduran troops to repel a possible Sandinista tank assault. As part of the Big Pine III Honduran-U.S. military maneuvers, the United States has introduced tanks into Central America for the first time. On the other side of the border, the Defense Department says the Sandinistas have about 150 Soviet-built tanks and another 200 armored vehicles.

Libyan assassin says killing was political

BONN, West Germany (UPI)—A Libyan accused of shooting to death an opponent of Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy in Bonn confessed Sunday it was a political assassination, police said. The gunman is charged with murdering Gebril el Denali, a Libyan exile who had been warned by police he was in danger because of his opposition to the Khadafy regime. Denali was shot Saturday afternoon amid hundreds of shoppers in one of Bonn's busiest squares.

Egypt warns Libya not to intervene in Sudan

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI)—Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak Sunday warned Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy against intervening in Sudan and offered deposed Sudanese President Jaafar Numeiry a permanent home. Numeiry was overthrown in a military coup Saturday while visiting Cairo. Mubarak, speaking to reporters, welcomed the new leadership in Sudan as long as it is "supported by the Sudanese people" and he cautioned Sudan's new leader—Abdul Rahman Swar al Dahab—to beware of intervention by Khadafy.

Senator calls for open Japanese ag markets

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The head of the Senate Finance Committee, declaring the "rubber band has snapped," said Sunday the trade problem with Japan cannot be solved by more study and America should have full access to Japanese markets for some agricultural products. Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., said the growing fever of protectionism on Capitol Hill might be lowered if the Japanese would completely open their markets to U.S. wood, tobacco, citrus and beef products. Packwood spoke on ABC-TV's "This Week With David Brinkley."

Israel leaning toward U.S. 'Star Wars' plan

TEL AVIV, Israel is leaning toward accepting a U.S. invitation to join in research on President Reagan's controversial "Star Wars" program, government sources said Sunday. The sources said both Prime Minister Shimon Peres and Defense Minister Yitzhak Rabin support Israeli participation in the U.S. Strategic Defense Initiative. The final decision will be up to the Cabinet. Israel was one of 17 countries invited to join the research effort.

Mondale says Reagan broke campaign pledge

WASHINGTON (UPI) Former Vice President Walter Mondale joined a growing list of Democrats Sunday charging President Reagan broke a campaign promise not to tamper with Social Security benefits. Mondale, soundly trounced by Reagan for the presidency in 1984, charged that Reagan backed off his commitment that was a central issue of the campaign. Mondale spoke on NBC's "Meet the Press." Reagan last week struck a compromise with Senate Republicans on a budget designed to slash $52 billion from the more than $220 billion federal deficit.

Report says new tax laws favored business in 1983

CHICAGO (UPI)—Three out of five Illinois corporations pay no state income taxes, and businesses that do pay chipped in less than 15 percent of total income tax revenues collected last year, it was reported Sunday in the Chicago Sun-Times. State Revenue Department records showed that individual taxpayers paid $3.2 billion, or approximately 85 percent of the total income tax take, while corporations paid only $553 million during the state fiscal year ended last June 30.

Student awareness is goal of Phoenix USO campaign

Editor's note: This is the first in a series of profiles on USO presidential and vice presidential candidates.

By Cynthia Weiss
Staff Writer

"I see students who are disconcerned about issues that affect their years in college. I feel that I can be a vocal and visual leader of the student body," said Tony Appleman, Phoenix Party candidate for Undergraduate Student Organization president.

Appleman and his running mate, Tracy Stone, both stressed student awareness as the major goal of their campaign.

"The main issue is creating awareness among students to the threatening consequences of proposed budget cuts and that they become more aware of the power of their vote," Appleman, junior in public relations, said.

THERE ARE OTHER important issues such as poor housing, parking space and tuition increases, Appleman said, but student government cannot be effective in tackling such problems without the support of the student body as a whole.

Tony Appleman

Stone, a junior in speech communications, agreed. "Financial aid and budget cuts" are the main issues, she said. "Students need to vote in numbers in order for us to be effective."

Appleman and Stone said that they believe a large voter turnout April 18 would make the USO more credible, and perhaps make the Board of Trustees and the University administration pay more attention to USO wishes.

"I'd be more discouraged if

'we won with only 1,100 votes than if we lost with 4,000,' Appleman said.

IF STUDENTS DON'T have the time to get personally involved with the USO, "they can best serve their interests by voting," Appleman said.

"I think they can best serve their interests by voting for me," he continued.

Appleman said he feels qualified to be USO president because he will be "effective external communicator, as a voice of the student body, as well as an internal communicator, with any individual problems of the students."

"This is based on the experience that I've had through my public relations internship, as public relations coordinator for the Illinois Student Association, and proxying at Board of Trustee meetings."

Stone said that her familiarity with parliamentary procedure, her experience as founder and director of the University Park escort service, and her involvement over the last year-and-a-half with the USO qualify her for the position of vice president. Stone serves as

Taxes shouldn't finance war, speaker says

By Thomas Mangan
Staff Writer

Taxpayers should stop financing military spending if they desire a peaceful world, war tax protester Karl Meyer told a small gathering of Southern Illinois peace activists Saturday.

Meyer said that about 60 percent of federal income tax revenue goes toward financing present, past and future military spending. People should stop paying taxes that finance war and devote that money to action that will inspire peace, he said.

Meyer, a self-employed Chicago carpenter, said he has refused to pay any federal income tax since 1960. He has been paid in cash for his work but has not filed a genuine tax return, he said, giving the Internal Revenue Service no cause to pursue him.

During 1984, Meyer changed his tax-protest tactics. He sent 365 tax returns to 365 IRS offices, one a day for the entire year. Each return stated his protests to everything from U.S. intervention in Central America to the proliferation of the arms race.

"I claim a total exemption of payment of federal income taxes because I cannot in conscience agree to make any contributions for war, military activities or any preparations that risk the the annihilation of humanity," Meyer told the IRS in a return filed Sept. 9, 1984.

Unimpressed with Meyer's protests, the IRS fined him $138,500 for filing "frivolous tax returns," he said, and has attached liens to some of Meyer's property.

"I have no intention of paying the fines," he said.

Sailing Club ouster government's fault

STUDENTS AT SOUTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY at Carbondale will have a difficult time sailing on Crab Orchard Lake, now that the Southern Illinois Collegiate Sailing Club has been forced from the lake. The future of the club is now very much in doubt.

Who is to blame for this situation... The fault lies as much with the policies of the W.S. Fish and Wildlife Department as it does with the attitudes of the new managers of the facility. The sailing club isn't being treated any different than other potential renters, said Ken and Susan Barnhart, owners of the Playport Marina at Crab Orchard. The Barnharts, who are now managing the sailboat basin, said they plan to offer dock space for rent on an individual basis to boat owners. For individuals who don't own boats, they will provide rental boats at the rate of $8 per hour. That price is out of reach for many students.

MEMBERS OF THE CRAB ORCHARD Sailing Club, and the other sailing clubs operating out of Crab Orchard, aren't in the same situation, exactly. Since COSC members own their own boats, they will be able to rent dock space from the Barnharts under the concessioners' terms. It may cost more since they will now have to pay for dock rental space as well as belong to the club. However, they have the choice of whether or not they feel the price is worth paying.

The Southern Illinois club members have fewer options. The collegiate club was allowed to dock its boats at the basin, at cost, and hold club events there under the old agreement with the Crab Orchard club. Now, with the private concessioner refusing to rent dock space on a group basis, the SICSC is effectively forced off Crab Orchard.

What this amounts to is a bad deal for the members of the collegiate sailing club. They are victims of the Federal government's emphasis on using as much government-owned land as possible for turning a profit, a policy started in the heyday of James Watt, former Reagan cabinet secretary of the interior.

THE U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE Department has no part in the decision on whether or not a sailing club will exist at Crab Orchard Lake, says Wayne D. Adams, project manager for the department. That decision is up to the new concessioners, the Barnharts. And it is hard to blame the Barnharts for wanting to make a go of their new business venture. The government's decision to turn the basin over to a private, profit-motivated concessioner in the first place is the real crux of the matter.

Alternatives that might preserve the SICSC, such as moving to Little Grassy Lake (which would also be up to the Federal government), don't look promising, members of the club have said. The Federal government owns a 100 foot frontage around Little Grassy Lake and would have the say so on whether or not the sailing club could locate there.

The Fish and Wildlife department can show that it has no bad feelings toward the sailing club by allowing the club to move to a location on Little Grassy. This would be inferior to the Crab Orchard location; Little Grassy is smaller, farther from Carbondale and enclosed by trees offering less favorable wind conditions. But at least it would be something.

The government's efforts to make a buck may end up not only cutting off access to sailing to many students at SIU-C, but they may not even accomplish what they set out to. Since the land around Crab Orchard is owned by the government, the emphasis should be on providing access to the most people possible, not limiting its use to those who can afford to pay.

Letters

Raising U.N. flag by USO would indicate growing ethnic awareness

After reading Charles Conner Jr.'s letter in the April 2 Daily Egyptian, I was compelled to write a letter of my own.

As chief of staff of the Undergraduate Student Organization, I duly understand the importance of establishing a strong ethnic understanding between persons of different races—as well as different countries.

This letter reflects my concerns toward the ever-increasing surge of foreign students on the Southern Illinois University campus. As of this school year, SIU-C is home to some 2,500 foreign students from over 100 countries. This is approximately 10 percent of SIU-C's enrollment. This world integration is a step toward the understanding of different, far-off countries and cultures, that really are not as far off as they may seem.

If only leaders of different countries could unite and understand one another's needs and wants, this world would be a much more integrated, peaceful place to live; all humans on this planet are here together for the same purpose, in my mind, and that is to survive and expand in excellence.

The indirect reason for this letter is to create an awareness among the population at SIU-C that we must unite to make this world a better place to live.

The USO wants to represent the foreign population on SIU-C's campus by flying the U.N. flag on campus year-round. If more caring students who are concerned about this issue would join forces, this dream of the USO's could become a reality and show the support we want to bestow upon the foreign population.

This resolution was passed along to the Faculty Senate and the appropriate administrators for their approval. Anyone interested in helping out should contact Ron Glad, USO student welfare commissioner, or better yet stop by the USO office and give us your ideas.—Pery Lewin, USO chief of staff.

Taking God's name lightly shallow, won't be forgotten

A recent headline for an AFT advertisement read "When prayer has failed, the union will not." Assuming that even union leaders are mere mortals, I am surprised at their temerity to imply that their power exceeds even that of the Deity.

Most likely someone thought this would be a cute and catchy phrase. To me it shows a shallow preoccupation with one's own welfare and a disregard or complete ignorance of the larger issues in life. Do not be deceived; God is not mocked. Whatever seeds one plants, that is what will be harvested. — Lawrence A. Juhlin, Carbondale.

Christ is the way

I address those who think they have wisdom. It is apparent to me that many are always learning, yet never able to come to the knowledge of "the truth. Some spend years for education, yet they are tossed here and there by every wind of "logic" and "reason."

The first step of wisdom is to fear God. Wisdom is not just believing. It is giving your life to him, stepping out for the truth that God is real and that Christ, the son of God, died to forgive your sins. He rose again so that you might attain a better resurrection.

God has set before you life or death—choose life. There is a way that seems right to a man, but it only brings him death. Christ is Life. —Ken Rushing, freshman, Aviation Technology.

Bursar red tape

On March 27 I went to the Office of Admissions and Records at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale to request a copy of my transcript—the transcript of undergraduate work already completed and paid for.

The explanation I received at the Bursar's Accounts Receivable Office was that it is University policy.

Maybe this policy ought to be taught in the school of Business. It is a helluva way to make money. —Lim Kim Chye, Carbondale.

apparent invisibility this year, and that has a lot to do with resources," Leighton said.

Leighton said his first obligation as a member of the board is to maintain the University's mission to serve the people and be an asset to the state and the Southern Illinois region.

"I will do my best to assure that programs that are developed ... and the old programs are modified so they reflect that mission," he said.

Leighton said he will write letters to the editor regularly to the Daily Egyptian, Southern Illinoisan and SIU Courier, and will keep close contact with the various University organizations.

During the one year term, which begins July 1, Leighton said he may try to get the student trustee advisory vote changed to a binding vote. "I see that as important, but I see it also as time consuming.

"Unless I can get the support from the student governments on campus, it won't be a main focus because there are other important things I can do that would get done without a vote," he said.

Leighton will answer questions about the issues and the student trustee position Wednesday at 7 p.m. in Student Center Ballroom D.

the communication director on the current USO staff and often serves as a proxy for USO senators.

"Because I know a lot about USO and how it runs, I would be very effective in the office of the vice presidency. I wouldn't go in there blind," Stone said.

Stone also said that she believes she is the most qualified to work from the groundwork already laid by the USO.

When asked what personal attributes he has that would contribute to his effectiveness in office, Appleman summed his answer up in one word:

determination.

Stone said her organizational, motivation and planning skills would help her "make sure things get done."

Appleman and Stone said that certain things differentiate them from the other candidates.

"Both of the other vice presidential candidates (Mark Case, Independent Party, and Mark Skowronski, no party) are up in the USO office a lot. Both are involved. But I not only know what the problems are. I can identify with minority students as a woman," Stone said.

Appleman said he thinks students will "identify more personally" with him than with Dan DeFosse (Independent Party candidate), and that his campaign is more "sincere" than that of Stuart Lowrey (no party).

"If Lowrey was concerned, he'd have been around sooner," Appleman said.

Lowrey's name will not appear on the ballot April 18 because he missed the March 19 deadline to petition for his name to appear on the ballot.

Appleman said later, however, that he is glad Lowrey decided to run as a write-in.

"It can only benefit the student body to have more choice, and hopefully it will increase the total number of votes cast," he said.

WAR: Taxes shouldn't support military

Meyer called the IRS a "paper tiger" that is easily defeated, and said he doubts the IRS will attempt to prosecute him. If people refuse to file tax returns or claim a high number of personal exemptions, they can keep the fruits of their production out of the hands of the military, he said.

The protest is not targeted at the IRS specifically, Meyer said, but is intended to bring public attention to issues affecting world peace. This is only a portion of a campaign of non-violent action to make the public, media and government more aware of the peace movement, he said.

Refusal to pay taxes that pay for military spending has become a nationwide movement, Meyer said. Between 20,000 and 30,000 people are refusing to pay all or some of their federal income taxes, he said.

About 35 people in Southern Illinois are involved in tax resistance, said Peg Morton of the local War Tax Resistance and Peace Investment Community chapter. Morton helped organize Meyer's visit to Carbondale and exchanged comments with Meyer throughout his talk.

Morton said she has been a tax resistor for four years, but has been putting the taxes she hasn't paid into an escrow account so that the money can be repaid to the IRS if the IRS decides to prosecute.

Classical guitarist utilizes top training to develop style

By Belinda Edmondson
Staff Writer

Joseph Breznikar decided he wanted to play the guitar when he saw Elvis Presley on television at the age of 4.

Now a respected guitarist in his own right, Breznikar is a little embarrassed about his first musical idol, preferring to speak about his more recent mentor, Spanish classical guitarist Andre Segovia.

"It's quite a jump from Elvis Presley to Segovia," he said with a sheepish laugh. "I think I'd better explain that it was the instrument and not the performer that I was attracted to."

SINCE THEN Breznikar, an associate professor of music at SIU-C and a renowned classical guitarist with two albums to his credit, has trained with some of the most revered names among classical guitarists, including classical guitar pioneers Segovia and Guido Santorsola.

However, he says that though he has learned much from them, he has been careful not to copy them.

"I've never really tried to imitate or duplicate anyone. I think that has helped me along in developing my own musical style."

BREZNIKAR FIRST trained as a classical guitarist when as a teenager he went to Washington D.C. to learn the Segovia method. While learning to play keyboard instruments, he had heard Segovia perform on the guitar and recalls being "magnetized" by the sound of the instrument.

His parents had persuaded him to take keyboard lessons because they could find no suitable instructors to teach him to play the guitar. They did not consider classical guitar lessons because they had never heard of the instrument.

"IT'S ONLY IN the last 15 years that people know anything about it," he explained. "At the time not too many people knew. But I always thought there was so much more that could be done with the guitar."

After training in Washington, Breznikar moved to Brazil to train with Santorsola in 1978 and was introduced to the Abel Carlevaro method. Two years later he came to SIU-C.

Classical guitarist Joseph Breznikar in his office at the Old Baptist Foundation. Breznikar is an associate professor of music at SIU-C and a well-known performer.

Since then, Breznikar has produced two albums, "The Contemporary Classical Guitar: Music from Two Continents" in 1982, and "Diverse Dimensions," just released last fall.

HE RECENTLY completed a tour of Taiwan and Japan, and will be giving a concert at Yale University on April 14. Presently Breznikar is busy transcribing pieces for other instruments into pieces for classical guitar as well as performing the works of contemporary composers.

"There are so many great composers for classical guitar, especially now. In the 20th century there are a lot of new composers—major ones. It's an exciting time for the instrument."

BREZNIKAR IS particularly pleased with what he sees as growing enthusiasm for the classical guitar in this country. In the past, all the great composers were from Spain or Latin America, but today the burgeoning interest in the instrument is resulting in a new breed of composers and performers with a host of radical ideas about how to play the instrument.

Breznikar believes that these new musicians are the "saving grace" of classical guitarists, a group he thinks otherwise would become mired in the traditional way of playing the instrument.

Breznikar will be holding a concert at 8 p.m. Monday in the Old Baptist Foundation Recital Hall. He will be performing selections by Carlevaro, Sor, Couperin, Rorem, Araumjo and SIU-C emeritus professor of music Will Bottje. The performance is free.

Bike club plans trip to Mississippi River

By Jim Ludeman
Staff Writer

Instead of just sitting around next weekend, members of the Shawnee Wheelers bicycle club will travel to the Mississippi River near Grand Tower.

The Shawnee Wheelers, a Recreation Center sports club, is sponsoring the approximately 55 miles round trip cycling and camping trip to the river on Saturday and Sunday.

The club will leave from behind the Recreation Center at 10 a.m. on Saturday, April 13, and will arrive at their campground 2 to 3 hours later, said Steve Charlett, club president.

"We'll be setting a moderate pace, about 15 miles per hour, so first-timers shouldn't have any problems. The basic purpose of this trip is to introduce people to bicycle touring," he said.

The Wheelers will be camping at either Turkey Bayou State Park or Pine Hills campground, both north of Grand Tower.

After they arrive, club members will have dinner at Ma Hale's restaurant in Grand Tower.

"Ma Hale's is like part of the history of Southern Illinois. We'll be having an all-you-can-eat chicken dinner there," Charlett said.

After a light breakfast ("probably doughnuts and orange juice," Charlett said), the Wheelers will leave for town about 11 a.m. Sunday, and will arrive back in Carbondale at about 2 p.m.

There is a $10 fee for the trip, Charlett said, which covers camping fees, Sunday breakfast, dinner at Ma Hale's and the price of a sag wagon.

A sag wagon, Charlett explained, is a vehicle that travels with a group of cyclists and carries their excess equipment.

"We won't be taking anything with us on our cycles, so the van will be carrying our camping equipment," Charlett said.

People need to bring their own tent and sleeping bag, shorts for riding, some different clothes to wear to dinner, rain gear and of course, a bicycle.

Homosexual issues, fears are focus of GLPU rally

By David Liss
Staff Writer

Homosexuality is a problem for straight people, not gays and lesbians, said one speaker at the Gay and Lesbian Peoples Union rally Friday.

The rally, which was part of Gay Awareness Week, was originally set to be at the Free Forum Area, but was moved to Quigley Lounge because of bad weather.

Straight society needs to deal with its homophobia, GLPU member Cindy Clabough said. Homophobia is rarely defined in straight-oriented dictionaries, Clabough said, but she said it refers to "people who haven't come to terms with their sexuality, and therefore fear those who have."

Homosexuals have to face their own fears, ones which are defined by dictionaries, she said.

CLAUSTROPHOBIA, the fear of closed in spaces, exists for homosexuals who have not yet come out of the closet, she said, and agoraphobia, the fear of open spaces, affects gays and lesbians when "walking through the mall or across campus."

Homosexuality has not always been feared by society, GLPU member Michael Botkin said. In ancient Greece, "it was part of a package of how you were supposed to behave," he said.

The word "homosexuality" did not even come into use until the 1850s, Botkin said. It was coined to identify something that was seen as a problem, he said. Homosexuality has been seen in a negative light ever since, he said.

"TOO MUCH ATTENTION has been focused on the negative aspects of who we are," Pat Gunter, an SIU-C assistant professor in social and community services, said.

One negative focus has been or Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome.

"AIDS is not a sexual disease or a religious issue," Gunter said. "It is a health issue."

Greater awareness and education are needed to contain the disease, which has a 70 percent mortality rate, she said.

The movement for gay rights has suffered in recent years, Botkin said, especially after the defeat of the Equal Rights Amendment. The Gay Liberation Front, which was responsible for the establishment of groups like the GLPU across the country in the early 1970s, has lost some of its effectiveness during the Reagan years, he said.

"I HAVE SEEN setbacks, but not retrenchment," Gunter said. To continue to progress toward equal rights, she said, gays and lesbians must join other repressed groups, including blacks, women and native Americans.

"These groups must form a coalition," she said. "A coalition for advocacy, for a power block, for personal support." Such a coalition would have a greater political impact, she said.

"There is a gay and lesbian subculture that exists in the United States," Clabough said, and the rest of society will have to realize that.

That subculture was built by those who did not fear becoming politically involved, she said. People in organizations like the GLPU have made great progress in strengthening gay communities, Clabough said, even in Southern Illinois.

Gunter stressed that gays and lesbians today are role models for their society

Men's track team ends long layoff with solid performance at SEMO

By Mike Frey
Sports Editor

The SIU-C men's track and field team ended a three-week layoff this weekend by turning in a solid performance at the SEMO relay meets at Cape Girardeau, Mo.

The unscored meet featured over 30 teams. SIU-C had not competed since March 16, and Coach Bill Cornell said it was good to end the layoff.

"We needed a meet bad," Cornell said. "It showed, because we were flat. But for a young team we had some good times."

Tom Smith was the Salukis' top performer in the meet, as the senior weight man established a meet record in the hammer throw with a toss of 188 feet, one inch. He also placed third in the shot put with a throw of 57-7.5. It was Smith's first competition of the year in the hammer.

"It's a good way to start off," Cornell said. "We hope he can qualify for the nationals in the hammer."

The Salukis also had a number of second-place finishers in the meet. Ron Herrer was second in the discus with a toss of 173-10 and Bill Henning finished second in the decathlon with 6,390 points.

Former SIU-C basketball player Roy Birch also placed second in his debut with the track team, as he had a time of 54.86 in the 400-meter intermediate hurdles.

Three relay teams also placed second. The distance medley relay team of Mike Elliott, Mark Hill, Richard McDonnell and David Lamont (9:56.87), the 4 x 800 relay team of Brett Garrett, Lamont, McDonnell and Elliott (7:37.66), and the 4 x 200 relay team of Victor DuBois, Steve Breathett, Hill and Michael Franks (1:24.7).

Several ex-Salukis also competed in the meet, but were not attached with SIU-C. John Smith finished first in the shot put with a toss of 62-3; John Sayre placed second in the pole vault (17-0) and javelin (219-8).

HEADACHES
AREN'T "NORMAL"

Just about everybody gets a headache once in awhile, so why should you be unduly upset if you happen to be suffering from one? If you've been celebrating with friends and eat or imbibe too much, it certainly would not be unusual to wake up with a headache the next day. But that kind of headache usually goes away as soon as you're eating and drinking sensibly again, and getting enough sleep. But what about the other kinds of headache?

Some illnesses, such as flu, include headache among the symptoms. But if you're in reasonably good health, you have a right to wonder why you suffer from headaches. A resort to aspirin and other medication may dull the pain for awhile, but if the headaches persist you should seek treatment. Among the causes of persistent headache are problems with the cervical vertebrae, the spinal bones in your neck. If they are out of alignment, this could cause headaches until you get the treatment you need.

Softball Salukis win three of four conference games

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

The Saluki softball team traveled to Iowa this weekend, where it once again battled the weather while recording three victories against one loss.

The Salukis swept a double-header from Drake on Friday and split a twin bill with Northern Iowa on Saturday.

"I feel good about such a long trip and getting to play all four games," said SIU-C Coach Kay Brechtelsbauer. "There was still snow on the ground in places and the weather was about 35 degrees when we played Friday."

The weather did not affect the Salukis play on Friday however, as they defeated Drake by scored of 2-1 and 6-1.

In the first game, freshman pitcher Kelly Powell held the Bulldogs to one run on three hits while right fielder Kim Hassinger drove in the game winning run with a two-out double in the sixth inning. Powell struck out two and walked one to earn her sixth win against three losses.

In the nightcap, the Saluki

offense pounded out a season high 14 hits en route to the victory. Becky Rickenbaugh had three runs batted in on two hits, while Laura McCune went three for four at the plate. Rhonda Snow, Nancy McAuley and Jenny Shupryt added two hits each. Lisa Peterson struck out five and walked one while holding the Bulldogs to five hits, improving her record to 6-5.

On Saturday afternoon, the Salukis saw a four-game winning streak snapped when Northern Iowa won the first game 5-2.

Playing in an indoor facility on artificial turf, the Salukis offense sputtered, getting their only runs on a two-run homer over the center field wall by Snow. Powell took the loss, dropping her record to 6-4.

In the nightcap, the Salukis came out swinging and won 7-0. Peterson threw her second shutout of the year, holding the Panthers to four hits while improving her record to 7-5. Right fielder Kathy Richert went 2-for-4 and scored two runs, collecting three RBI on a double and a triple.

"Our goal was to win all four games, but three out of four isn't bad," Brechtelsbauer said.

"In the loss to UNI, they came out very aggressive. We didn't hit any ground balls, and that's important when playing on artificial turf because some of those grounders are a little quicker off the turf."

Salukis 'come together' at first spring scrimmage

By Eric Knoles
Student Writer

The sounds of helmets and shoulder pads crashing together were heard in McAndrew Stadium Saturday as the Salukis football team held the first of three scrimmages scheduled for spring practice.

Each combination of one defensive and one offensive unit started on the offense's 30-yard line and played under game rules, with referees, until the offense scored or the defense forced a turnover or punt. This continued until all the possible combinations of the first, second and third teams played each other. At least two touchdowns and two field goals were scored with the defense forcing several turnovers and punts during the scrimmage.

Ray Dorr, head football coach for the Salukis, mixed the order in which the first, second, and third string teams of the offense and defense played each other during the scrimmage. Dorr said the scrimmage was designed to develop confidence as a team while giving individual players a chance to secure a position on the team.

"Confidence and a spirit of togetherness as a team were some of the goals of this scrimmage," Dorr said. "After the scrimmage, the individual players came together as a team for the first time," Dorr said. "The coaches didn't tell them to get together, it just happened—you could see it," he added.

The offense was limited to about five passing plays, including the option play. The offense used the option play during the scrimmage, not because the Salukis were going to depend on it during the regular season, but because the option play demands good presence of mind and is a good test for both the quarterback and the defensive units, Dorr said.

"The defense hit hard and played smart, but I would like to have seen more contact fumbles created," Dorr said. "The offensive line stayed low, blocked well, and there were few fumbles and errors," he added.

Byron Mitchell, sophomore running back from St. Louis, Mo., was one of the players who scored Saturday.

"I thought we had a lot of good running and hitting and I thought Byron Mitchell ran hard," Dorr said.

Dorr said the Salukis were stronger this year because of the off-season programs of weight lifting and conditioning and "I feel very positive about the coming football season."

PERRY: Brother defends coach

assistant, resigned Thursday after admitting to apparent violations of NCAA rules regarding payments to Perry.

"Stafford eventually was aware of it," Clint said. "I don't know when or where that took place."

When Kenny visited the SIU-C campus three years ago, Clint said he asked Stephenson if he could talk to one of the boosters before Kenny committed.

"I arranged a meeting with White through Stafford Stephenson," Clint said. "He introduced me to White and we agreed to what Kenny needed for grocery money."

Kenny transferred from Evansville to SIU-C and came to Carbondale three years ago with his wife, Laura, who was pregnant at the time. She gave birth to a girl, Lindsay. Two weeks ago, Dru became the second addition to the Perry family.

Perry eventually moved into a trailer owned by White. Clint said that Kenny did odd jobs for White, such as painting his apartments and mowing his lawn.

"I even helped Kenny paint a couple of apartments," Clint said. "Kenny worked for a lot of that money, it just wasn't given to him."

Clint said the NCAA rules should be changed, because many of the athletes need spending money in addition to their scholarships.

"A lot of people within the NCAA say the rules should be changed," he said. "Having a wife and two kids, I don't think anybody can live off $200 a week. I know I can't."

Clint said he felt sorry for Stephenson.

"It's a black eye for everybody, but Stafford Stephenson got the shaft and it will probably ruin his coaching career," he said.

Kenny Perry refused to comment on the matter.

Cubs, Seattle battle to tie

DENVER (UPI) — Phil Bradley slammed a three-run homer with one out in the bottom of the ninth inning Sunday to lift the Seattle Mariners to an 8-8 tie with the Chicago Cubs in the final exhibition game for both clubs.

Bradley sailed a 1-2 pitch into the left-field seats off reliever Lee Smith. Domingo Ramos singled, stole second and reached third on an error, but Smith struck out Gorman Thomas and Dave Henderson to save the tie.

The game was called after nine innings because of a travel curfew.

Seattle scored three runs in the second.

1985-86

Get Pointed in the Right Direction...

IT'S NOT TOO LATE....

YOU CAN STILL APPLY FOR FINANCIAL AID

It's true...the April 1 deadline to mail the 1985-86 ACT/Family Financial Statement (ACT/FFS) has passed...and it's true that those ACT/FFS forms mailed by April 1 will be given priority consideration for SIU Campus-Based Aid (SEOG, NDSL, STS, CWS). Applications postmarked after April 1, will be considered for Campus-Based Aid on a funds-available basis.

ALTHOUGH APRIL 1 WAS THE PRIORITY DATE FOR CAMPUS-BASED AID CONSIDERATION, IT'S NOT TOO LATE TO APPLY FOR OTHER FINANCIAL AID PROGRAMS...

You can still apply for the Pell Grant, the ISSC Monetary Award, and the Student Work Program. Mail your 1985-86 ACT/FFS as soon as possible to allow adequate time for processing before the Fall Semester begins.

Reading the ACT/FFS instructions will take an extra 15 minutes but, having to make corrections will take an extra 6 weeks and will delay the processing of your financial aid. COMPLETE THE FORM CORRECTLY THE FIRST TIME.

The 1985-86 ACT/FFS forms are available at Student Work and Financial Assistance, Woody Hall, B-Wing, Third Floor.

Turmoil rocks men's cage program

NCAA, MVC not ready to comment

By Steve Koulos
Staff Writer

Chuck Smrt, the assistant director of enforcement for the National Collegiate Athletic Association, said Friday he would neither confirm nor deny if the NCAA is investigating the SIU-C men's basketball program.

"Until the situation has been handled by the enforcement committee and the school has received notification, we can't comment on the matter," Smrt said.

Jeff Hurd, the Director of Public Relations for the Missouri Valley Conference, said a conference rule prohibits him from discussing the situation.

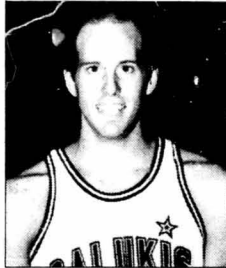

"Southern Illinois has informed us of an apparent violation of NCAA rules," Hurd said. "We're looking into it, and besides that I can't comment on the matter."

A scandal surfaced Friday after Dean Stuck, SIU-C's special assistant in charge of athletics, announced that he accepted the resignation of Saluki assistant coach Stafford Stephenson.

Stephenson admitted Thursday to apparent violations of NCAA rules regarding payments to SIU-C center Kenny Perry.

Wichita State is the last MVC school to go on probation. The Shockers received two years probation in football Dec. 15, 1982, and three years probation in basketball Dec. 23, 1981.

The Shockers have been placed on probation seven times, more than any other school in the nation. Trailing Wichita State is Southern Methodist University, which has been placed on probation five times.

Kenny Perry

Van Winkle defended by Perry's brother

Kenny Perry's older brother said Sunday in a telephone interview from Rockport, Ind., that Saluki coach Allen Van Winkle had no knowledge that Kenny was getting money from Roy White.

Clint Perry said that he and White, a Carbondale chiropractor and an avid supporter of Saluki athletics, struck the deal to provide financial support for Kenny.

"Only the two of us were present when that deal was made," Clint said. "Allen Van Winkle wasn't present during the meeting. Neither was Stafford Stephenson."

Cards defeat Mets, end spring training

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—Kurt Kephshire, Danny Cox and Ken Dailey scattered 10 hits Sunday and the St. Louis Cardinals closed their exhibition season with a 6-1 victory over the New York Mets.

The teams will open the National League season against each other Tuesday in New York. Dwight Gooden will pitch for the Mets against the Cardinals' Joaquin Andujar.

St. Louis, which had lost four straight going into the spring finale, finished Grapefruit League play at 9-14. The Mets were 13-12.

Kephshire gave up four hits and no runs in four innings and Cox allowed five hits and an unearned run in four innings. Dailey gave up one hit in the ninth.

Terry Fenclton, who had been 8-for-54, was 2-for-3 for the Cardinals and drove in a run. St. Louis also scattered 10 hits off three Mets pitchers.

Tito Landrum and Tom Herr each had two hits and scored a run.

The Cardinals got down to the 25-player limit by putting right-handed pitcher Jeff Lahti on the 15-day disabled list, backdated to April 3. Lahti, a right-handed relief pitcher, has had a shoulder problem.

On Saturday, the Cardinals received bullpen help when they acquired veteran right-hander Bill Campbell and shortstop Ivan DeJesus from the Philadelphia Phillies in exchange for pitcher Dave Rucker.

The addition of DeJesus to the St. Louis roster adds to the speculation that All-Star shortstop Ozzie Smith is about to be traded.

Baseball team loses three games at Bradley

By Stan Goff
Staff Writer

The baseball Salukis learned the hard way Sunday that you've got to field the ball before you can retire your opponent, as six SIU-C errors keyed the Bradley Braves' double-header sweep of SIU-C in Missouri Valley Conference action at Peoria.

Bradley won 4-3 and 3-2 to complete the first weekend of MVC play by taking three of four games from the Salukis.

In Saturday's double-header an extra-inning home run by Bradley's Frank Schramko in the nightcap prevented a Saluki sweep. Schramko's two-out blast off Rich Koch (3-2) in the eighth gave the Braves a 4-3 win after SIU-C had taken the first contest 11-3.

Four Saluki errors in the first contest Sunday helped the Braves (16-7) take a 3-1 lead off starter Kevin Pour, but a two-out rally in the top of the seventh tied the score and gave the Salukis new life.

With one out in the Salukis' half of the seventh, the Braves failed to convert a grounder to short into a double play that would've ended the game, and SIU-C's Robert Jones made them pay for it. Jones stepped in and hit his sixth homer of the year to tie the game.

Jay Bellissimo (2-2) relieved Pour with one out in the bottom of the seventh, but was touched by the Braves for the winning run on a walk to Dave Panizzo and a double by second baseman Scott Melvin.

The Salukis sent game two into extra innings when a Mike Gellinger ground out scored Jim Kating and tied the score at 2-2 in the top of the seventh, but a two-out error by Saluki shortstop Jay Burch in the eighth enabled the winning run to score for Bradley. It was Burch's third error of the day, and it handed Todd Neibel (2-1), who went the distance for SIU-C, his first loss.

Robert Jones

Saturday's second game was tied on three occasions before Koch's 3-1 pitch to Schramko left the park with the aid of a strong wind to end the game. Saluki starter Mark Wooden worked 3.2 innings before leaving with the score tied at 3-3.

Jim Kating hit a solo homer for SIU-C in the second off Bill Marx (6-0) to tie the score 1-1, and Steve Finley and Gerald Pitchford drove in the other Saluki runs.

SIU-C won the first game behind the strong pitching of Gary Bockhorn and the three-hit contributions of Burch, Kating and Pitchford. Bockhorn pitched four scoreless innings to improve his record to 3-1 and lower his earned run average to 2.23, with Paul Saikia finishing the game in relief.

Burch went 3-for-3 with a home run to raise his average to .434, while Kating drove in four runs with a single and a pair of doubles. Pitchford went 3-for-4.

The Salukis, 17-12 overall and 1-3 MVC play, will host the College of St. Francis for a pair of non-conference double-headers on Monday and Tuesday at Abe Martin Field, with starting times for both days scheduled for 1 p.m.

The Salukis will travel to SIU-E on Thursday and resume Missouri Valley Conference play this weekend when it hosts Illinois State in a pair of double-headers on Saturday and Sunday. Both games will begin at Noon.
