Shuttle spacewalkers save the day

Atlantis crew launches satellite after emergency repairs made

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — A $617 million astronomy satellite was safely launched from the shuttle Atlantis Sunday after an astronaut repairman saved the spacecraft by shaking a jammed antenna free during a during two-man emergency spacewalk.

As the spacewalkers looked on from Atlantis's airlock, crewmate Linda Godwin released the 17 1/2-ton Gamma Ray Observatory from the shuttle's 50-foot robot arm at 5:38 p.m., wrapping up an action-packed day and accomplishing the primary goal of the 39th shuttle mission.

"Houston, GRO is deployed," Atlantis co-pilot Kenneth Cameron radioed mission control as the satellite was released into space.

The day almost ended in failure when a 16 1/2-foot radio antenna boom on the belly of the satellite failed to unfold on computer command, forcing flight director Charles Shaw to order astronauts Jerry Ross, 43, and Jay Apt, 41, to make an emergency spacewalk to free the balky appendage.

It was the first spacewalk by American astronauts in more than five years — only the second ever mounted on an emergency basis — and elated NASA officials credited Ross and Apt with salvaging the observatory.

Before returning to Atlantis's airlock shortly after 5 p.m. to watch its launch, Ross and Apt went ahead with space station construction experiments in the shuttle's cargo bay that already had been scheduled for a planned spacewalk Monday.

Their crewmates — Godwin, 38, Cameron, 41, and commander Steven Nagel, 44 — monitored the activity from Atlantis's flight deck.

Old depot to get heavy dosage of spring cleaning

At about 11 a.m. Tuesday, Carbondale residents will begin to notice a change in the old Railroad Passenger Depot on the corner of Main Street and Illinois Avenue.

Carbondale Development Coordinator Tom Redmond said Wash on Wheels, a cleaning company from Murphysboro, will use high pressure water to remove paint from what is referred to by some as the "ugly green" building.

Wash on Wheels also will conduct chemical tests on the remaining paint to determine the best way to remove it without damaging the bricks underneath, he said.

Redmond said it should take about a month to complete the removal of the paint, but the time is dependent upon the number of people who volunteer to help with the Sunday was a great day for a walk and for raising charitable funds.

More than $14,000 was raised in the Super Cities Walk for multiple sclerosis, said senior in speech communication Michele Toti, director of Pyramid Public Relations.

Overcast skies and the threat of rain gave way to sunshine and temperatures in the mid-70s as 148 people embarked on the nine mile hike.

The walk started as scheduled at 1:30 p.m. Sunday at Turley Park to benefit the Massive airdrop begins to help Kurds

United Press International

The United States began a massive relief operation Sunday, dropping tons of food, clothing, blankets and medicine for tens of thousands of Kurdish refugees streaming out of Iraq toward the Turkish border.

The relief operation began as Secretary of State James Baker arrived in Ankara, Turkey, on the first leg of a Middle Eastern tour to meet with area leaders on the refugee problem and also to try to revive the stalled peace process by bringing Arabs and Jews closer together.

Baker went directly to a working dinner with Turkish President Turgut Ozal, who earlier said on ABC's "This Week with David Brinkley" that some 300,000 Iraqi refugees have already reached the rugged, mountainous Turkey border and that the border is open for fleeing Iraqis.

"There are already more than 300,000 in our borders and it looks like to us 1 million is coming. It is not only one tribe, it's whole

Kurds expected U.S. military help; Bush asserts rebels were not misled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Leaders of an Iraqi rebel group said Sunday that their armed effort to overthrow Saddam Hussein was based on an assumption of military help from the United States, despite denials from President Bush of the assumptions.

Kurdistan Front spokesman Barham Salih said, "Without that (U.S. Military help), I am sure the Iraqi people, as a whole, would not have risen, to be left alone and to be abandoned and to be butchered and massacred by Saddam's forces."

Speaking from London on ABC's "This Week with David Brinkley," Salih said Kurdish rebels fully expected U.S. military assistance after Bush exhorted the Iraqi people to topple Saddam.

At a news conference in Houston, Bush asserted the rebels "were not misled" and that he "never in any way implied that the United States was going to use force beyond the mandate of the United Nations" to remove Iraq from Kuwait.

peacekeeping forces, adding Saddam should be "forced" to accept this. U.S. officials said that such a possibility had not yet been discussed.

"It seems like much of Iraq has gotten up and walked," a U.S. official said of the thousands of refugees.

Meanwhile, administration officials denied allegations by Kurdish officials that the United States had promised the Kurds military help to overthrow Iraqi President Saddam Hussein.

Kurdish representatives say their people are being slaughtered at the hands of Saddam's forces in their generally unsuccessful uprising attempt, while hundreds of thousands of Kurds are making the difficult trek to refugee camps in Turkey and into Iran.

Barham Salih, a Kurdistan Front spokesman, on ABC, said "Yes," it was understood that the United States was promising military help when it stated its preference for the Iraqi people to overthrow Saddam.

"Without that, I am sure the Iraqi people, as a whole, would not have risen, to be left alone and to be abandoned and to be butchered and massacred by Saddam's forces," said Salih, speaking from London.

Dawgs continue struggle on road

By Wayne Frazer
Staff Writer

The Salukis' whole weekend was foreshadowed by the first ball touched by Bradley University's first batter in Peoria Saturday.

Second baseman Chris Allison attempted to bunt his way on base. Saluki senior pitcher Tom Strabavy picked up the ball and threw wildly to first base. Allison advanced to third on the two-base error and later scored to begin the rout in the first game of Saturday's doubleheader.

The Salukis were swept in all four games by the Braves Saturday and Sunday. The Dawgs struggled at the plate, scoring only six runs in 32 innings. Meanwhile, the Braves jumped on Strabavy early, scoring three runs in the first inning of the opener.

After Strabavy's error and an RBI single, first baseman Rob Wilkinson hit a wind-aided homer to right field to put Bradley up for good. The Dawgs tied it in the second on a single by freshman Danny Esplin, a triple by senior Jeff Nelson, a single by junior Derek Shelton and a wild pitch, but the Braves plated one run in the home half and then six more in the third to put the game out of reach.

Senior Phil Mehringer relieved with one out in the fourth and held the Braves in check the rest of the way, but the Salukis could only muster a run in the sixth on their way to a 10-4 drubbing.

Braves' starting pitcher Mike Grace, a former teammate of Saluki hurler Sean Bergman at Joliet Catholic High School, went eight innings for Bradley, striking out five and allowing six hits and all four runs.

In the nightcap, Al Levine, normally the Salukis' relief ace, took the mound in a starting role. Levine, a senior, had not started a game in the past two seasons but went the distance, allowing seven hits. Braves' hurler Brian Rekar held the Dawgs to four hits in a 4-0 shutout. Esplin had two of the Dawgs' safeties.

On Sunday, the game was a pitcher's duel between Bradley's Dave Geeve and SIUC's Sean Bergman. Bergman had struggled for the past two weeks and assistant coach Ken Henderson said the problem could have been distraction.

"He needs to stop worrying about the scouts in the stands and play for SIUC," Henderson said. "I don't want to say people are hounding him, but they are."

The scouts were out in full force. Both Bergman and Geeve are major-league prospects and there was a sea of radar guns behind home plate. After allowing two runs in the first inning on an error, a single and two sacrifices, Bergman settled down and allowed only one run and four hits over the last eight innings.

Geeve retired the first eleven batters he faced until freshman Jeff Cwynar collected his first collegiate hit with two down in the fourth. Junior Darrin Barton then followed with another single, but the threat ended when Nelson's hard line was speared by Braves' first baseman Wilkinson.

Saluki head coach Sam Riggelman said Bergman deserved better.

"Sean pitched the best I've seen him throw in two weeks," Riggelman said. "I'm encouraged, but the bottom line is we were shut

Salukis soaring through Gateway with 4-0 record

Softball team 23-3, takes two twice during weekend

By Cyndi Oberle
Staff Writer

Western Illinois University has never dropped a doubleheader to the SIUC softball team—until this weekend.

The Salukis, after losing to Western their past four meetings, walked away from the field Friday with a double win, blowing the Westerwinds away 10-2 and 3-0.

The team also cleaned up Saturday, winning a doubleheader against Bradley University. The Salukis battered the Lady Braves, beating them 6-1 and 3-1.

The games Friday and Saturday, which marked the start of the team's Gateway Conference play, brought the Salukis overall record to 23-3. Their mark in the conference is an unblemished 4-0.

As the No. 1 pre-season conference pick, the Salukis, who are on a 11-game winning streak, are proving themselves worthy of the conference title.

These games brought Western's three-game winning streak to an end. Their record is now 16-10 with a 0-2 mark in the conference. The Westerwinds were the No. 3 pick in the conference's pre-season poll.

Bradley's record now rests at 8-17. The Lady Braves conference mark is 1-4. Bradley was the No. 10 pick in the pre-season poll.

"It is hard to say enough about how the team played this weekend," Saluki coach Kay Bretchelsbauer said. "We had balance up and down the lineup. These were outstanding team victories because we saw strength in the top of the lineup down through the bottom."

Bretchelsbauer said she thought the team played well considering the circumstances.

"After our two big victories against Western it was hard to get keyed up to play Bradley," Bretchelsbauer said. "They are not as highly ranked as Western, but we never let our guard down. I always stress the importance of never underestimating a team."

"Bradley is a tough team and the final game against them was not settled until the last run of the last inning."

Each of the Salukis three pitchers saw action in these games and each came out unscathed by their opponents.

The four-game series started out with sophomore Angie Mick pitching a three-hitter against the Westerwinds. Mick also pitched the first game, a two-hitter, against Bradley. These two wins bring her record to a 2-2.

Senior Lisa Robinson pitched the second game against Western. Robinson is unbeaten with a 7-0 record. The five-hit shut out was called after six innings because of darkness.

Negotiations break off; umpires set to sit out

CHICAGO (UPI)—Barring a last-minute settlement, amateur umpires will be making the calls Monday when the baseball season begins on eight fronts.

The umpires declined to work the final weekend of the exhibition season after their negotiations with the major leagues broke off Saturday.

The umpires are to meet in Chicago Monday to discuss strategy and perhaps to decide on setting up picket lines. This would be the first work stoppage of major league umpires since the 1984 playoffs.

A marathon negotiating session between the two sides broke off at 3 a.m. EST Saturday although Richie Phillips, the umpires' lawyer, said they were only $750,000 apart on salaries over four years.

When the umpires chose not to work Saturday, the league presidents were ready with replacements, and announced they are prepared to start the season with non-union umpires.

A joint statement issued by American League President Bobby Brown and National League President Bill White said talks ended after an "unacceptable ultimatum" by Phillips.

According to Phillips, the only issue still to be resolved is salary. The league presidents said the umpires were offered a one-third increase in regular season salary and a 25 percent increase in the postseason pool.

Beginning umpires were offered $57,500 a year and senior umpires $155,000.

Under the old contract, beginning umpires made $41,000 and senior umpires $105,000.

Women's track excels at meet

By Wayne Frazer
Staff Writer

It was a weekend of personal bests for the SIUC women's track and field team at the SEMotion relays at Southeast Missouri State in Cape Girardeau, Mo.

The Salukis had career-best performances from six athletes at the relays. Leading the way was junior Jamie Dashner, who set personal bests in seven separate events by placing second in the heptathlon.

Dashner excelled in the high jump, shot put, 200-meter dash, long jump, 800-meters and the javelin. Her score of 4557 points in the heptathlon placed her in fourth on the Saluki's all-time list of heptathletes. Dashner also won the javelin competition with a throw of 149-6.

Saluki head coach Don DeNoon said Dashner's performance was a pleasant surprise.

"Jamie and Cathy Campbell of Western Illinois were probably the stars of the meet," DeNoon said. "We were kind of worn out for a while. Dashner took the week off and didn't compete in the meet at Vanderbilt and the chemistry seemed to work."

Dashner is close to the qualifying provisional distance for the javelin. Dashner's throw was only 1 foot 5 inches short of the qualifying mark of 150-11.

Rugby revived; rumble over competition

By Jeff Pavlu
Staff Writer

The SIUC Rugby Club used home field advantage to blow out the competition Saturday and Sunday in its first tournament since 1988.

Until that year, it was called the All Ghoul's Tournament and was held in conjunction with the Halloween celebration in Carbondale. The tournament was blamed for some of the problems associated with Halloween, and was banned along with the celebration.

This year the club brought the tournament back the first week in April, renaming it the All Fools Tournament, after April Fools Day.

Five university and four area clubs brought two teams each to Carbondale for the competition. Both SIUC teams took first place in their divisions by huge margins.

In the higher-level A division, SIUC beat Eastern Illinois

University 42-7 in the final, eliminating Purdue 36-0 and St. Louis University 16-0 along the way.

The final game's lopsided win was led by Dave Cone's near perfect conversion performance, missing only one kick the whole game.

Leading scorer for the A team was Nagi Kazzie, with two tries.

In the B division, SIUC won 52-

Soviets, Russians fight over naming Moscow police chief

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Interior Minister Boris Pugo Sunday annulled the appointment of Moscow's police chief by his Russian counterpart in a mounting struggle between the central government and the country's dominant republic. Pugo canceled Saturday's order by Russian Interior Minister Viktor Barannikov, who named Vyacheslav Komissarov to head the Interior Ministry department. "The... orders... apparently mark the beginning of a new spiral in the conflict between...the union and...the largest republic," the Tass news agency said.

Western countries to allow Poles free travel

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Six Western European countries, including Germany, will open their borders at midnight Sunday to allow Polish citizens to travel freely without visas. "The decision is one of the elements of the formation of Europe," Janusz Ziolkowski, an official in President Lech Walesa's office said. "It is a challenge for us." Andrzej Drzycimski, Walesa's spokesman, said Poles are overjoyed that they can be closer to Europe by traveling in the West. Drzycimski said Poland has always considered itself as part of Europe although Western Europe ignored it.

Plane's engines suspected as cause of crash

BRUNSWICK, Ga. (UPI) — Grieving relatives filed into a temporary morgue Sunday to identify the remains of 23 people, including former Senator John Tower, who died in the crash of a commuter plane that investigators suspect could have had engine trouble. Susan Coughlin of the NTSB said investigators were looking "very closely" at performance of the Atlantic Southeast Airlines' turbo-prop engines. She said one witness reported the engines were making a "squealing noise," while another heard what he called "engine overspeed" shortly before the crash.

Burris to help soldiers put civilian lives back together

FORT SHERIDAN (UPI) — Attorney General Roland Burris Sunday vowed to help Desert Storm troops put their civilian lives back together with legal advice as bells pealed nationwide to celebrate the Persian Gulf victory. Burris said aid will come in the form of a published guide to legal rights and benefits for the returning units and a toll-free hotline (800 382-3000) to answer questions from troops. He said among the items outlined in the manual are state and federal programs designed to help disabled veterans with grants to buy, build or remodel a home.

Districts, surcharge on assembly's agenda

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — Restaurants, hotels and parking spaces in Illinois' capital city will be filled again this week with legislators and lobbyists when the General Assembly returns to begin the 1991 spring session. Members of the Illinois House and Senate will return with a June 30 deadline to approve new maps that have redrawn legislative and congressional districts in the state. Also by the end of June, the legislators must decide whether to extend the 20 percent temporary state income tax increase that was approved in 1989.

Phi Beta Kappa inducts 52 for academic achievement

By Kylie Robertson
Staff Writer

The Illinois Beta Association of Phi Beta Kappa honor society inducted 52 College of Liberal Arts and College of Science students for their academic achievement Sunday.

Senior Alecia Vaughn, biological sciences major from West Frankfurt, received the most outstanding senior award for both colleges.

Vaughn, who has a 4.0 grade point average, was involved in volunteer work in rehabilitation at Memorial Hospital of Carbondale and was secretary of the Alpha Lambda Delta honor society in 1989.

She also worked in chemistry research for a year with assistant professor Mark Bausch.

Their research helped in understanding chemical reactions thought to be important in the low-temperature breakdown of molecules in coal, Bausch said.

"Alecia works well with graduate students, and has rapidly learned the ... techniques necessary to collect data relevant to our efforts," he said.

Duwayne Englert, director of the biological science program, said, "Some people think science subjects are more difficult than some others," he said. "These subjects just don't include memory but logic and reasoning."

Englert said people tackling the same sorts of subjects Vaughn does need to have an analytical mind and must be able to synthesize data and apply it to other areas.

"I think it is great that an organization recognizes the hard work of students," Vaughn said.

After graduating in May, Vaughn said she wants to continue her education at SIUC in chemistry.

She said she hopes to gain a doctorate and work in industry or teach at the college level.

Less than 10 percent of all seniors and juniors in the two colleges are inducted into the Beta Association, said IBA president Thomas Alexander.

At the brunch induction ceremony, Alexander, assistant professor of philosophy, praised the students for gaining what he termed the highest academic award offered at SIUC.

These students have what Plato would describe as the energy of a continual fire, he said.

Unlike students that think education is like getting a good tan, these students have a drive that will never fade, Alexander said.

All students who received the award have a grade point averages higher than 3.5, he said.

Secretary of the Illinois Beta society Robert Hahn said the honored students were not just good but outstanding.

Book author to discuss rainforest

Noted scientist and writer Wade Davis will bring the Amazon rainforest to Southern Illinois today with a pair of lectures at SIUC.

Davis, a Harvard-trained ethnobotanist and author of the bestselling book "The Serpent and the Rainbow," will speak at 3 p.m. and 8 p.m. as the guest of Student Programming Council.

A 3 p.m. seminar in Morris Library Auditorium will focus on the religious use of hallucinogenic plants in traditional societies, such as the peyote rituals of the southwestern Native Americans.

The 8 p.m. lecture in the Student Center Auditorium, "Death of the Amazon: Land Where the Gods Reign," will examine civilization's impact on the South American rainforest and what civilization stands to lose by damaging the region.

The vast Amazon region, where about 75,000 acres of vegetation are destroyed by clearcutting daily, has been an invaluable source of medicine, Davis wrote. The study of Amazonian plants yielded such medicines as atropine, cocaine and quinine, all in use worldwide.

Although there are about 80,000 different plant species in the Amazon, 90 percent of them have not been chemically analyzed for

Student gulf veterans need SIUC's support

SIUC WILL ADOPT the national trend of welcoming home U.S. soldiers with the Adopt A Soldier program.

The program begins this week and is designed to welcome 80 students, staff and faculty members back to SIUC.

Banner contests, letter writing and gift campaigns are a few of the ways University groups are planning on re-establishing University ties with the men and women from SIUC who served in the gulf.

Because only five weeks are left in the semester, most of the returning soldiers won't be coming to Carbondale before next fall.

College campuses have traditionally been primary locations of protests against military involvement in foreign conflicts.

BECAUSE OF THIS, THERE IS CONCERN about campus reaction to returning student veterans.

Program officials say it's important to start making connections now so the soldiers know their University is waiting for their return.

This kind of attention has been criticized for enabling people to take advantage of the return of U.S. troops by marketing patriotic trinkets and holding welcoming ceremonies.

The SIUC Adopt A Soldier program will most likely be the target of similar criticisms.

Extensive media coverage and community support programs are displaying the country's obvious pride and excitement about military success in the gulf.

BUT IT'S IMPORTANT TO NOTE that people across the nation are symbolically embracing all war veterans and not only Persian Gulf veterans.

SIUC's support plan includes the dedication of a fall football game to all area veterans.

New York City will host a ticker tape parade May 11 in honor of all U.S. veterans.

It's a sad fact that many have tried to capitalize on the Gulf War. But it's important to see the difference between jumping on the patriotic bandwagon and expressing thanks for a job well done.

Quotable Quotes

"The puppets strings have been pulled."—A L.A. police detective said in protest to the forced leave of absence of Police Chief Daryl Gates.

"After you let go, you don't notice anything."—Dan Albert of Carbondale said in reference to skydiving.

"It's difficult to keep a darkroom dark if you don't have a ceiling."—David Gilmore, chairman of the cinema and photography department, said in reference to roof damage in the Communications Building.

Editorial Policies

Signed articles, including letters, viewpoints and other commentaries, reflect the opinions of their authors. The letters space will be a forum for discussion of issues of public interest. Open, civil dialogue is the aim. Letters may be edited for length and content. Letters of fewer than 250 words will be given preference for publication. Letters will be limited to 300 words. Letters that the editors deem objectionable because of potential libelous material or because of extraordinary bad taste will not be published. Access to the letters space will be afforded to as many writers as possible to encourage diversity of points of view. Editors may impose, at their discretion, a limit on the frequency of publication of letters by an author. When a multitude of letters on the same subject are received, editors may select a few letters that are representative of those letters for publication.

Every letter must be signed and submitted in person by its author or authors. Students must identify themselves by class and major, faculty by rank and department, non-academic staff by position and department, others by address and occupation or position appropriate to the nature of their letters. Letters for which authorship cannot be verified will not be published.

Letters

Facts stated in previous letter merely reused

This letter is in response to Mr. Keck's letter from April 4. I don't want to get into an argument on paper, but what the heck.

On the subject of civilians: Any average person does not include soldiers in that category. But you right, law students are not average. Secondly, thank you for restating my fact that more people were killed in the city of Chicago than in Operation Desert Storm, because it is sickeningly true.

Thirdly, Mr. Bush was the one who offered 15 separate times to talk to Mr. Hussein about a peaceful solution. Mr. Hussein, on the other hand, was too busy killing innocent Kuwaitis.

Finally, I agree with you that the education system is all messed up. But did you have to prove it by plagiarizing my letter?—Scott Bolger, junior, aviation management.

Diplomas in need of footnotes

In class one day, we discussed footnotes—a way of giving credit where credit is due. If you get something from someone else, you footnote it. Sounds simple enough, doesn't it?

By rights, then, we ought to put footnotes on our diplomas when we get them. Here are some nominations for people who should get credit:

Secretaries: They keep entire departments organized. They help us find the right forms to fill out to get everything from a closed class card to graduation invitations.

SIU would fall apart without them.

Instructors: Instructors never seem to mind staying a few minutes extra to explain something they said in class. Many are glad to have us drop in to talk even after we've finished classes with them.

Maintenance people: It would be hard to have classes without heat and light in the classroom. These folks do that and more.

Librarians: Need to know about anything from Aristotle to atom bombs? They help you find it.

Students: The unsung heroes of a college education are the other students who share the classroom and more with us. Have you ever noticed how much we get from each other in the questions and comments made during class? Could anyone get through four years here without relying on the expertise and encouragement of one's peers?

It's unlikely that SIU will start putting footnotes on our diplomas.

That sort of thing just isn't done. For what it's worth, though, this letter is offered in its place.—Larry Roemer, junior, English.

April 5 editorial needed more research

For three years, we have read the DE's editorial page. Normally the editorials are superficial, shallow, thoughtless and filled with irrelevant fluff. The editorial on April 5 titled "Bankruptcy Courts Need Another Judge," however, was not only inane but inaccurate.

First and foremost, the bankruptcy court in the Southern District of Illinois is part of the federal judicial system and receives its funding from the federal government.

Therefore, Gov. Edgar's proposed budget for Illinois will have no more impact on a federal bankruptcy court than will Thailand's budget.

Increasing the state's judicial budget will be as helpful to Judge Meyers as it would be for him to use Preparation H for gum disease.

Secondly, it is important to note that Senators Dixon and Simon work in Washington, D.C., not Springfield, Ill. and have no influence over state budgetary matters.

How can it be that the editor of a large midwestern university's newspaper does not know the difference between the state and federal judicial systems?

Presumably you have graduated from high school, had the benefit of a course in civics or government and passed a basic examination on the state and federal constitutions. The content of your editorial, unfortunately, does not demonstrate this to be true.

In the future, perhaps you will do some minimal research before you compose another editorial because the DE is a reflection of the entire university community.—Brad Olson, graduate, law.

Dress accordingly on Blue Jeans Day

Once again the Gay and Lesbian People's Union is asking people to wear jeans on April 11 to show support for all oppressed people. People are already asking, "Why blue jeans?" Well, few people need to go out of their way and buy jeans to demonstrate their support.

To the suggestion that we should ask people to wear shorts over their jeans to show support, this would feel uncomfortable for many people and make them feel foolish. Being gay is quite normal. It's as normal as wearing blue jeans. It is not making a fool out of yourself by looking ridiculous.

Some people may not want to show their support. They feel that we are infringing on their "right" to wear jeans. Be assured, we feel for them. Being dictated to by others' opinions is not fun.

They can be thankful it's just one day of the year they feel that they do not have a "right" to wear jeans.

It has been contended that by asking people to wear jeans, we are lowering ourselves to the level of those who persecute us. I believe that this is far from the truth. Does this come close to denying people jobs, firing people, evicting tenants, gay bashing and even murder?

If you would like to show support, or whatever, remember April 11 is Blue Jeans Day—so dress accordingly. Not everyone wearing blue jeans is participating. With our budget, how much advertising could we do?—Larry Green, director of GLPU.

"That is now, I think, very, very clear," Bush said. "I went back and reviewed every statement I made about this - every single one - and there was never any implication that the United States would use force to go beyond the objectives which we so beautifully have achieved. None."

Kurds in northern Iraq and Shiite Muslim rebels in the south say their people are being slaughtered in attacks and reprisals by Iraqi troops after staging a generally unsuccessful rebellion.

Having risen up against Saddam after his defeat in the gulf war, hundreds of thousands of Kurds and Shiites have been on the march toward haven in Turkey and Iran. Many of those attempting to flee have found the borders closed.

Turkish President Turgut Ozal said on ABC that some 300,000 refugees have already reached the rugged, mountainous Turkish border, which he described as now open for fleeing Iraqis, and estimated as many as 1 million may be headed there.

"It is not only one tribe," he said. "It's whole northern Iraq is on the move and looks like cities are being emptied," Ozal said. "This is a kind of deportation of the people, if I don't want to say genocide," he added.

U.S. Air Force C-130 transport planes dropped an estimated 72,000 pounds of food and water to refugees in northern Iraq in the first round of what Pentagon officials first envisaged as a 10-day program of airlifting humanitarian aid to the Iraqis.

The debate over whether the United States encouraged the Kurds to rebellion centered in part Sunday on whether, as alleged, the CIA was secretly behind their Voice of Free Iraq radio station, which broadcast appeals for uprising.

From Bush on down, administration officials denied any intent of becoming involved in an Iraqi civil war, while refusing to comment on any U.S. support of the Voice of Free Iraq.

"I think it is safe to say we did not give anyone assurances there would be U.S. military support for the Kurds inside Iraq," Defense Secretary Dick Cheney said on ABC.

Salih, however, indicated a sense of betrayal, contending the Kurds believed help from the United States or its coalition partners would be forthcoming.

"I don't know of any other interpretation," he said. "There was a clear statement that Saddam Hussein ought to be removed and the Iraqi people will be supported."

Salih said he "would not go into detail" about whether the CIA was behind the radio station, but added, "It did have the blessing of the coalition against Saddam Hussein."

He contended Saddam began using heavy artillery, surface-to-surface missiles and dropping napalm "on the civilian population" by helicopters and fixed-wing aircraft, as early as March 28.

Under the temporary cease-fire conditions, Iraq was to have grounded all fixed-wing aircraft. Helicopters were exempted because Iraq contended they were necessary for civilian transportation.

Bush's national security adviser Brent Scowcroft and Cheney said if the United States had grounded Iraqi helicopters along with fixed-wing aircraft, the outcome would have been the same.

Gateway Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

The third annual event was organized by Pyramid Public Relations, a student-run public relations firm at SIUC.

Toi said the money raised by the walkers will go toward researching multiple sclerosis.

Carbondale Mayor Neil Dillard declared Sunday "Walk for MS Day" in Carbondale in a proclamation before the walk. He then led the mob of participants to the starting line.

"I want you people (the walkers) to take pride in what you are doing because it is for a great cause," Dillard said.

Although participation this year tripled participation in 1990, it fell short of PPR's 300 walker goal.

But co-organizer Andrea Simon said she was pleased with the turnout.

"We got at least twice as many people as we got last year and I'm really happy with that," Simon said. "Two weeks ago we only had about 20 people. I am very happy with the amount of walkers and I think we raised a good amount of money."

Toi estimated about 80 percent of the participants were SIUC students. She said she was surprised to see so many students because the event was publicized mostly off campus.

"It's great that the students are getting involved. We campaigned so much in the community and so little on campus so we were really surprised," Toi said. "We owe a lot to the students who walked and who worked as volunteers. They helped make this a successful walk."

The walkers hiked from Turley Park to the halfway point at the Free Forum Area north of the Student Center. They followed the same route back to the finish line at the park, where they were treated to a free lunch provided by Domino's Pizza and Burger King.

The National Multiple Sclerosis Society calls MS a chronic, often disabling disease of the central nervous system. Striking people mostly between the ages of 20 and 40, it often affects the victims' ability to walk normally, see clearly and speak properly. It also can paralyze.

The society estimates that about 250,000 people in the United States have been diagnosed with MS.

At a news conference in Houston with Mexican President Carlos Salinas, President Bush denied any promise of help to rebels.

A U.S. official with Baker, who asked not to be identified, said Saddam's forces attacked refugees with napalm and other weapons near the Turkish border and that officials have evidence these attacks continued until at least last Wednesday.

While there are at least a quarter of a million refugees near the border, tens of thousands more are packed in Turkish refugee camps in the mountains.

U.S. military planes began dropping tons of humanitarian supplies, including blankets, clothing, medicine, and food, inside Iraq near the Turkish border, U.S. officials with Baker said.

The drops took place in a rugged mountainous area where thousands of refugees, mostly Kurds but also some Muslims, are gathered.

In Houston, Bush said 72,000 pounds of food and water had been dropped during an initial six missions by C-130 transports, mostly near the Iraqi-Turkish border.

White House press secretary Marlin Fitzwater said the Iraqi Embassy was notified Saturday night of the flights, which began at 7 a.m. Iraqi time Sunday.

He said the operation was initially planned to last 10 days, but added there was no fixed duration.

project. John Yow, vice chairman of the Station Carbondale Restoration Committee, said volunteers are needed to help remove the paint, do masonry work and replace windows.

The next step, which includes replacing the roof and replacing some of the bricks, could begin by May, Reimond said.

Gilbert Bolen, SCRC chairman, said the city has designated about $160,000 for restoration of the depot.

But restoring the outside will cost about $225,000, Reimond said. And the interior could cost about $250,000 more, depending on how the depot will be used.

Members of the committee said they want the depot to be used for a museum.

The City Council was reluctant to give full support of the museum at its meeting April 2.

Councilmen said they wanted more information including a list of possible donated artifacts and the number of people willing to donate money before making a commitment in favor of the museum.

SCRC estimated the museum would fill about one-third of the depot's 3,500 square feet.

The rest of the space could be used for an information center for visitors and office space for the Carbondale Convention & Tourism Bureau.

People interested in volunteering can contact Yow at 457-8532 or the City Clerk's office in City Hall at 549-5302.

their medicinal benefits.

The progressive destruction of the rainforest makes such study all the more unlikely, hindering the discovery of new medicines, Davis wrote.

Davis, 37, received his Harvard doctorate in ethnobotany, a division of biology that studies the plant lore of different cultures, in 1986.

He made a splash in the scientific community for his 1982 graduate studies on voodoo magic in Haiti.

His research on the voodoo use of "zombie" potions to induce a deathlike state was the basis for his 1985 book, "The Serpent and the Rainbow," which became a major motion picture.

Police Blotter

A residential burglary occurred at 800 E. Grand between 3 and 3:40 a.m. Saturday, Carbondale Police said. Timothy W. Casson reported his unlocked apartment was entered and a television set worth about $250 was removed.

An auto burglary and theft were reported at 1199 Morningside Drive, Carbondale Police said. Timothy W. Heath reported his unlocked car was entered between 10 p.m. Thursday and 6 p.m. Friday. A radar detector, about 50 cassettes and about $50 cash were taken from the car, and a bicycle was removed from Heath's carport.

An auto burglary occurred between 10 p.m. Thursday and 6:50 a.m. Friday at 1166 Glenbeth Drive, Carbondale Police said. Richard and Lisa Hicks reported their two unlocked cars were entered and $436 in personal property was stolen.

'Eight is Enough' actor Rich arrested on burglary charge

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actor Adam Rich, the youngest member of the Bradford clan in the popular TV series "Eight is Enough," was freed on $5,000 bail following his arrest on suspicion of burglarizing a pharmacy, police said Sunday.

Rich, 22, of Chatsworth, Calif., was freed Saturday afternoon after posting $5,000 bail, Sgt. Craig Aliano said.

The actor's publicist had no immediate comment on the arrest.

West Hollywood sheriff's deputies stopped Rich for speeding and running a red light in the 7700 block of Canoga Avenue about 4 a.m. Saturday, Aliano said. According to deputies, Rich's car was driving erratically and nearly struck several pedestrians.

During the traffic stop, deputies noticed that Rich had been cut and injured, Aliano said.

At about the same time, the manager of a nearby pharmacy at Sherman Way and Medical Center Drive reported that a window of his building was smashed in an apparent burglary attempt, police said. No drugs were taken from the pharmacy.

Rich was taken to the police department's West Valley station where he was questioned and later booked on suspicion of burglary.

Rich played the towheaded Nicholas Bradford in the TV series "Eight is Enough" from 1977 until the series was canceled in 1981. The popular series starred Dick Van Patten as a Sacramento columnist.

Bush looks to U.N. presence to bring order in war-torn Iraq

HOUSTON (UPI) — President Bush looked to a U.N. presence and the weight of world opinion Sunday to end the violence that has wracked postwar Iraq.

After a cautious initial assessment Saturday, the White House said the Iraqi government apparently had indeed accepted U.N. conditions for a formal cease-fire and end to the Persian Gulf War.

Still very much in question, however, was the plight of hundreds of thousands of refugees and rebels who have faced brutal reprisals from Iraqi troops after seizing on the allied defeat of Iraq to rise up against Saddam Hussein.

Bush, speaking to reporters after meeting with Mexican President Carlos Salinas de Gortari, voiced hope that implementation of the U.N. terms for a cease-fire would "have a calming effect inside of Iraq."

Bush also suggested the United Nations can "once again enhance its peacekeeping function" by assuming an "additional role" in restoring order to Iraq.

White House spokesman Roman Popadiuk said that would involve "managing the refugee problem and thus help in stabilizing the current situation." He intimated it could require some additional U.N. presence inside Iraq for humanitarian purposes, beyond a peacekeeping force expected to be authorized this week.

Having fulfilled its military objectives in the gulf war, Bush said that "what we've got to do is fulfill our concerns about the innocents that are suffering ... by doing what the United States has always done: trying to be a catalyst for healing the wounds."

"I think world opinion also ... on this one can help," he said. "I think people are so outraged that there may be ways we can bring pressure through the U.N. or otherwise on this regime inside Iraq."

U.S. firefighters in Iraq put out first oil well fire

GREATER BURGAN OILFIELD, Kuwait (UPI) — Combining liquid nitrogen with a stream of water and a dose of Texas grit and ingenuity, American firefighters Sunday extinguished their first Kuwaiti oil blaze.

Then for practice, they lit the well again. They intend to seal it Monday with a specially fitted cap.

The firefighting crews began arriving a month ago but they have been confronted with numerous delays in getting needed equipment and water.

Biography taints Nancy Reagan's image

NEW YORK (UPI) — A scalding unauthorized biography of Nancy Reagan that goes on sale Monday draws a picture of a self-centered, vindictive, ungenerous woman who had a long-playing affair with Frank Sinatra.

The book also may rewrite the history of the Reagan era, as it pictures the former first lady — known as "Mrs. President" by the White House staff — as much more of a power behind the throne than previously reported. She even passed on Ronald Reagan's agendas for meetings with heads of state, including Mikhail Gorbachev, the book claims.

Asked to comment on the book prior to attending church services in Los Angeles, the former president told KCAL-TV: "I don't think a church would be the proper place to use the words I would have to use in discussing that."

The contents of "Nancy Reagan: The Unauthorized Biography" by Kitty Kelley had been kept top secret by publisher Simon & Schuster until this weekend, when at least two copies were leaked to The New York Times and Daily News, which both printed front-page stories Sunday on the book's revelations.

Expensive four-year universities lose more students to community colleges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nicole Price, 20, decided to attend Montgomery College in Rockville, Md., over larger, more expensive schools because of the price and size of classes.

"I come from a single-parent home, so economically, it was definitely the better choice than University of Maryland. And compared with Maryland, the campus is smaller. And I know I am able to talk to my instructor after class," said Price, who plans to get her associate degree in June and continue her education at The American University in the fall.

Students like Price have been flooding community or junior colleges with applications during the last couple of years, while public and private four-year schools — with their higher tuition and costs — have been feeling like wallflowers.

Applications for most post-secondary schools have dropped off considerably, at some private schools by 15 percent or higher. Yet, Education Department figures show actual enrollment has remained relatively stable.

In the 1988-89 school year, enrollment rose 2.7 percent at public four-year schools and 1.9 percent at private four-year schools. Public two-year schools — community and junior colleges — saw a 4.5 percent increase.

Astronauts fix stuck antenna during unplanned spacewalk

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — A door closed to American space explorers for more than five years reopened Sunday when two intrepid astronauts ventured into the shuttle Atlantis's open payload bay for the first spacewalk in more than five years.

Astronauts Jerry Ross, 43, and Jay Apt, 41, had planned to conduct a spacewalk Monday to evaluate space station construction techniques, but they were ordered outside a day early to fix a stuck antenna on an astronomy satellite that delayed its release into space.

With uncounted hours of training under their belts, Ross and Apt made the job look easy, shaking the stuck antenna boom loose in just 19 minutes and pressing on with portions of the already-planned Monday spacewalk.

It was the 13th spacewalk in eight of 39 shuttle missions conducted to date, the first since the 1986 Challenger disaster and only the second ever carried out on an emergency basis. In addition, Ross became the first shuttle astronaut to walk in space on separate missions.

Appropriately enough, Ross completed the most recent previous "extravehicular activity," or EVA, on Dec. 1, 1985.

NASA officials said the repair job Sunday demonstrated the value of humans in space and validated NASA's philosophy of preparing for even low-risk contingencies.

Spacewalks are inherently hazardous given the vacuum and extreme temperatures of space.

American astronauts performed spacewalks about once every four months between April 1983 and December 1985. But the Challenger disaster brought an abrupt halt to the program, and Ross and Apt because the first Americans to step out into space in 5 1/2 years.

Ross said he has seen NASA move from a conservative posture on spacewalks to a more aggressive attitude and back to caution following the Challenger disaster.

Spacewalkers trod on top of the world

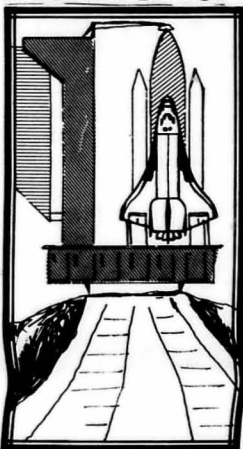

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — Two spacewalking astronauts, "walking on top of the world" in the shuttle Atlantis's open payload bay, took time out from their chores Sunday to marvel at the view as they sailed 280 miles over Hawaii.

Appropriately enough, astronauts Jay Apt and Jerry Ross spotted the domes of several telescopes at the summit of an extinct volcano on the island of Hawaii after fixing a jammed radio antenna on a $617 million astronomy satellite.

"Talk about a view," Apt said, taking a short break from a space station construction experiment.

"Uh huh," Ross said. "Do you feel like you're walking on top of the world? And look what's coming, Jay, Hawaii."

"Tally ho!" Apt said. "Maui's coming up and I can see Mauna Kea and Mauna Loa."

Shuttle crew photographs burning oil wells in Kuwait

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The shuttle Atlantis's crew photographed a "depressing" cloud of black smoke Sunday billowing up from out-of-control oil well fires burning in Kuwait after the Persian Gulf War.

As Atlantis sailed over the Middle East during the ship's 27th orbit Sunday, the astronauts photographed the region from an altitude of 280 miles. The shuttle's orbit carried it southeast across Saudi Arabia, almost directly over Riyadh.

Equipped with a battery of cameras and lenses, Atlantis's four-man, one-woman crew snapped a series of pictures that likely will provide a bird's-eye view of the devastating fires.

"Houston, I'll tell you, that last pass by the Middle East just before our wakeup call, I think we got some real good pictures of the fires," commander Steven Nagel radioed mission control in Houston.

The same day as the shuttle crew was photographing the fires, American firefighters managed to extinguish their first Kuwaiti oil well blaze.

Kennedy talks with Florida police about alleged rape

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Florida police detectives questioned Sen. Edward Kennedy Sunday regarding an alleged rape at the Kennedy family's Palm Beach home and told the senator he was not a suspect in the case, a Kennedy spokesman said.

"The Palm Beach police have informed Sen. Ted Kennedy that neither he nor his son Patrick are suspects," spokesman Paul Donovan told journalists waiting outside Kennedy's suburban Washington home.

Donovan, however, did not expand on what was discussed during the police interview.

Earlier, Donovan had refused to comment on whether police would also question the senator's nephew, William Kennedy Smith, in Council to fight Gates' removal in court action

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The City Council, paving the way for Chief Daryl Gates' return, voted Friday to go to court to fight the Police Commission's decision to temporarily relieve him in light of the Rodney King beating.

Gates could be back at the helm of the 8,300-member police force by Monday.

The council, after a four-hour closed-door meeting, voted 10-3 to have the city attorney seek a Superior Court order compelling the Police Commission to rescind its action removing Gates.

In taking its action, the commission violated the state's open meeting law and left the city vulnerable to a massive lawsuit by Gates.

As part of its plan to counter the commission, the council intends to ask Gates to sign a release waiving his rights to sue the city over his temporary leave.

"It sends a message that the City Council did not agree with the Police Commission's action," Council President John Ferraro said after the vote.

"They acted irresponsibly. They besmirched a public servant who worked 42 years with the city of Los Angeles with an impeccable record," he said.

Neither Gates nor his attorney were available for comment.

In a separate action, the council voted 9-4 to give the Police Commission $150,000 to continue its investigation of departmental operations and policies.

That probe, as well as six others by various local and federal agencies, was prompted by the March 3 videotaped beating of King.

The 25-year-old parolee was left with numerous skull fractures and other injuries after he was struck more than 50 times with batons by a group of officers after a brief pursuit in the San Fernando Valley.

Four officers are awaiting trial on assault charges in connection with the case.

"There are two issues here: one is that even Daryl Gates is entitled to due process," Councilman Zev Yaroslavsky said. "By the same token, we have lost sight of the fact that there is a controversy swirling around this department and city and we have got to get to the bottom of it."

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING POLICY

Please Be Sure To Check Your Classified Advertisement For Errors On The First Day Of Publication

The Daily Egyptian cannot be responsible for more than one day's incorrect insertion. Advertisers are responsible for checking their advertisements for errors on the first day they appear. Errors not the fault of the advertiser which lessen the value of the advertisement will be adjusted.

All classified advertising must be processed before 12:00 Noon to appear in the next day's publication. Anything processed after 12:00 Noon will go in the following day's publication. Classified advertising must be paid in advance except for those accounts with established credit. A 25¢ charge will be added to billed classified advertising. A service charge of $7.50 will be added to the advertiser's account for every check returned to the Daily Egyptian unpaid by the advertiser's bank. Early cancellation of a classified advertisement will be charged a $2.00 service fee. Any refund under $2.00 will be forfeited due to the cost of processing.

All advertising submitted to the Daily Egyptian is subject to approval and may be revised, rejected, or cancelled at any time.

The Daily Egyptian assumes no liability if for any reason it becomes necessary to omit an advertisement.

A sample of all mail-order items must be submitted and approved prior to deadline for publication.

The increase in the postseason pool would add up to another $15,000 in salary.

An umpire earning $117,000 under the old contract would earn more than $170,000 under the new contract, the leagues' statement said. The umpires were also offered an increase in the two-week vacation during the season.

One thorny issue was resolved when the umpires agreed to a demand allowing the league presidents to select umpires for postseason games.

Phillips filed an unfair labor practice charge against both leagues last Tuesday, claiming they plan to lock out the umpires from working regular-season games if no contract agreement is reached. The contract between the Major League Umpires Association and the major leagues expired Dec. 31.

In his complaint, Phillips charged the leagues withheld the umpires' April wage installment payment. Robert Kheel, the negotiator for the major leagues, said the payment was withheld because Phillips refused to promise the 60 unionized umpires would work opening day.

An amateur crew worked Saturday's exhibition game at Chicago between the Cubs and Milwaukee Brewers at Chicago without incident.

Cubs catcher Joe Girardi said they missed only a few pitches "and we have that all the time. I guess the team who gets the calls will think they're doing good."

Junior Dede Darnell captured the win against Bradley in the second game of the doubleheader bringing her record to 6-1.

Mick was brought in during the seventh inning to relieve Darnell. This is Mick's third save.

"I was pleased with Angie's performance in that pressure situation," Pitching coach Gary Buckles said. "She came in with two runners already on base, but she never lost her composure.

"She still had control of the ballgame even though the situation didn't look like it. It is hard to keep your concentration under pressure, but she came through and we won the game.

"Throughout the entire series of games our pitchers never got rattled by the other team. They kept their composure under pressure and that is what makes a winner."

In the first game against Western, the Salukis trailed 2-1 until the fourth inning when sophomore right fielder Colleen Holloway belted out a three-run triple. They scored nine runs on seven hits and won the ballgame 10-2.

Senior left fielder Shannon Taylor provided highlights for the second game by going three for four and bringing in two runs and two stolen bases. Holloway smacked out a double in this game and senior first baseman Angie Lemonnier hit out a lead off triple.

In the four games, Taylor had two RBI and stole four bases in four attempts. Lemonnier had one triple and three RBI.

Holloway smacked out one double and one triple and had six RBI. Freshman catcher Laurie Wilson belted out one triple and had two RBI.

"Balance up and down the lineup is the key to success," Bretchelsbauer said. "We had that in all four of these games and that is why we came out the winner."

0. Leading scorers were Justin Painter with two tries and Frank Silva and Eric Frenzel with three tries.

Kevin Dwyer, match secretary and member of the SIUC A team, said the key to the team's success is the depth of talent.

"We have an A and B team, but our B team is so good that at a tournament next week they will be playing at the A level," Dwyer said. "We also have a lot of veterans on the team, with one member playing 14 years.

"Another one of our players, Dave Cone, was selected as one of the 30 best players in the Midwest," he said.

Rugby is played similar to football, but with many distinct differences. A game is made up of two 40 minute halves.

Players advance the ball downfield by running with it or kicking it. They may not throw it forward, but can pass laterally or backwards.

Once they reach the end-zone area, they must touch the ball to the ground to score. This is called a try and is worth four points.

After a try, the kicker attempts a conversion, worth two points.

Other ways to score are by penalty kick or drop kick, both also worth two.

Blocking is not allowed, and players may only wear soft padding on existing injuries. A team can only substitute players four times and only because of injury.

Dwyer said although the sport may look violent, it is much safer than football.

"There is no blocking and tackling must be done with your arms around the other person," he said. "The most common football injuries are from blocking and spearing-type tackles, which are illegal in rugby."

Although technically it is just a club, the players put a lot of time into the sport, practicing four times a week for two hours.

Junior Michelle Williams' jump is also close to the provisional distance. She is six inches short of making the NCAA Championship.

Others who turned in personal bests were sophomores Leeann Conway in the 3000-meters, Karen Gardner in the 10,000-meters and Cheryl Evers in the shot put. Williams went 19-10 in the long jump and senior Beverly Kleit cleared 5-6 in the high jump. Evers and Williams are now third on the Saluki's all-time list in their respective events.

DeNoon said Gardner's performance was another surprise.

"Karen's a freshman and she had never run the 10,000 meters before," DeNoon said. "To make that kind of time is great. If she had run that time last year at the conference meet, she would have finished third. She is number one in the conference right now."

Former Saluki Connie Price won the discus and the shot put as an unattached competitor. She played basketball for the Salukis and was talked into competing in track after her career in basketball was over, DeNoon said.

"She's a premier athlete," he said. "You put her against the college athletes and they're pretty much in awe."

Price outdistanced her nearest competition by over 30 feet in the discus.

DeNoon said the team keeps finding a way to win.

"It seems like every week someone steps up and does the job," he said. "That's what it takes to have a winning program."

out. We've got to have some players step forward and play."

The Dawgs put the pressure on in the fifth with singles by Shelton and freshman Clint Smothers, but freshman center fielder Jason Smith's hot smash was turned into a double play. In the sixth the Salukis had Geary on first and Endebruk on third, but Geary was thrown out attempting to steal and the rally died.

In the final game of the weekend series, senior Bob Finder took the hill against Bradley's Jim Peticka. The Salukis managed to tie the game in the top of the third, but Bradley scored three runs in their half to finish off SIUC.

The Dawgs were all paws over the weekend, committing 10 errors in the four games. Only one of the three runs scored in Sunday's opener was earned.

The Salukis are now 1-7 in Missouri Valley Conference play and 11-16 overall. They have dropped their last eight games, the longest losing streak suffered by an SIUC team since 1989.

"We've got to try and turn it around quickly," Riggelman said. "We're coming up to the toughest part of the conference schedule."

The Salukis face two nationally-ranked teams in Creighton and Wichita State during the next two weekends.

"The game comes down to both effort and execution," he said. "Our effort was better today, but our execution wasn't any better and we lost again. When we get good pitching, we're a good ballclub. But we aren't getting good pitching, and our offense can't catch up."

The Salukis are in action at 1:30 p.m. at Abe Martin Field against Evansville. The Purple Aces swept a doubleheader from the Salukis on April 2.

Ryan to relieve President Bush in Texas opener

ARLINGTON, Texas (UPI) — Baseball's all-time strikeout leader returns for his 24th major league season Monday night and will find himself being upstaged by a seldom-used pitcher whose only experience came in the Ivy League more than a generation ago.

The Texas Rangers open their season at home Monday evening, weather permitting, with 44-year-old Nolan Ryan back for another campaign of potentially historical appearances.

Ryan enters the season with 5,308 strikeouts, six no-hitters and 302 victories. He will try to add to those totals against the Milwaukee Brewers Monday night.

Mark Knudson, who has won 279 fewer games than Ryan, will start for Milwaukee.

Before either of those pitchers take the mound, however, the stars of the evening will take turns throwing a ceremonial pitch.

President Bush, who played baseball at Yale, and his wife Barbara both will throw a pitch from the Arlington Stadium mound in the season opening ceremonies, joining a 13-year-old boy who was born without hands.

Shane Wood, a star on his Brownwood, Texas junior high soccer team, was originally chosen to throw out the first pitch. The youngster has been fitted with a special glove that allows him to throw and catch a ball.

Rangers owner George W. Bush has been trying to encourage his father to throw out the first pitch at a Texas home opener in the past three years. The First Lady filled in for her husband two years ago.

This year the President managed to fit the trip to Arlington into the end of a cross-country journey that saw him visit with heads of state from Japan and Mexico.

Forecasters called for a chance of showers during the afternoon and evening Monday.

The Rangers come into the season after winning fewer spring training games (11) than in any other year of their existence. A rash of injuries and the controversial release of left-field power hitter Pete Incaviglia have cast some gloom over the spring.

But Rangers General Manager Tom Grieve said Texas was ready to open the season.

"I feel good about our pitching," Grieve said. "Our lineup, when healthy, will score runs. The only thing unsettling has been the injuries and not being able to put together the lineup you want to see in the last couple of weeks of spring training."

"But our people are starting to get healthy and I think we will be all right when they are."

Stars looking to shine at home in Minnesota

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — The Minnesota North Stars came away from Chicago with one decisive victory and, for what it's worth, one moral victory.

"We'll have the advantage that comes with playing in your own building," North Stars Coach Bob Gainey said. "If we want to conserve the so-called advantage we've been able to gain by winning the first game, we'll have to win games in our own building."

After defeating the Blackhawks 4-3 in overtime of Game 1 of their Norris Division semifinal at Chicago Stadium, the North Stars were getting blown out in Game 2 only to make a charge in the final four minutes before falling 5-2.

Blackhawks goalie Ed Belfour appeared headed for a shutout, but Basil McRae was awarded a penalty shot, and the North Stars outscorered Belfour on a backhand.

After Belfour got hit with an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty, Brian Bellows banged in a power-play goal to make it 4-2.

The North Stars entered the postseason with the worst record of the 16 playoff teams. They weren't even supposed to be able to compete with the Blackhawks, who had the league's best record.

The best-of-seven series shifts Monday night to the Met Center, where the North Stars will have to defend home ice.

"You can't say, 'Well, we got one game in Chicago. What a great feat,'" Minnesota defenseman Curt Giles said. "Chicago's not going to be satisfied in letting us get one out of their building. They're going to come at us at the Met Center."

After an atypically sluggish effort in the series opener, the Blackhawks regrouped to dominate the first 40 minutes Saturday night. The newly formed line of Steve Larmer, Jeremy Roenick and rookie Warren Rychel accounted for four goals.

Looking to spark his team, Coach Mike Keenan called up Rychel from the minors Saturday morning and stuck him on the line with the team's top two scorers.

"We had a lot of room in the offensive zone, so that was good," said Rychel, who scored a goal and added two assists in his first playoff game and first appearance with the Blackhawks this year.

Room was something the North Stars did not give Chicago in Game 1. Larmer was bottled up all night, limited to three shots and no points. In Game 2, Rychel recorded six shots on goal, Larmer four and Roenick two.

"We played with a lot more authority than we did the first game of the series," Keenan said.

"We played with a lot of discipline, a lot of work and a lot of composure."

Sutter's Blues like chances on Detroit ice

DETROIT (UPI) — Be it ever so humble, there's no place like the road for the St. Louis Blues.

The Blues beat the Detroit Red Wings 4-2 Saturday to even the Norris Division playoff series at a game apiece.

The best-of-seven series switches to Detroit's Joe Louis Arena for Game 3 Monday night.

Which is just fine for the Blues.

"We've played good on the road this season," St. Louis Coach Brian Sutter said.

"We're certainly not afraid to go to their place. In fact, 25 players and three coaches are very anxious to go to Detroit."

In the Game 2 victory, Sutter said it was a textbook example of road hockey even though the Blues were at sold-out St. Louis Arena.

"We played good road hockey," Sutter said. "We checked extremely well. We had good goaltending."

"Our defense was tight. We were able to play hard the entire game. That's what you have to do to win on the road."

During the season, the Blues had the best road record in the NHL.

"This team likes playing on the road," Sutter said. "They're relaxed and confident."

Sabatini wins tourney, car

HILTON HEAD, S.C. (UPI) — Gabriela Sabatini soared over the $4 million mark in career earnings Sunday when she crushed Leila Meskhi 6-1, 6-1 in the final of the $500,000 Family Circle Cup.

Sabatini, a 20-year-old Argentine, needed only 71 minutes to secure her third singles title of the year.

"I think I'm playing my best tennis right now," Sabatini said after collecting the $100,000 first prize and a Mazda Miata sports car.

"Everybody knows that they have to play very good now to beat me."

Meskhi, the ninth seed, had enjoyed an excellent week, upsetting Jennifer Capriati and defending champion Martina Navratilova, the first time she defeated anyone ranked among the Top 10.

But she was unable to cope with Sabatini's vastly improved game, and she hurt herself with 27 unforced errors.

"I don't have a chance against her today," said Meskhi, a 23-year-old Soviet ranked 17th in the world.

Meskhi completed her rain-delayed victory over Navratilova Saturday morning before winning her semifinal over compatriot Natalia Zvereva in the afternoon.
