School Board to seek federal mediation

By Linda Henson
Daily Egyptian

In an effort to break the deadlock in negotiations with striking teachers, the Carbondale Community High School (CCHS) District 165 Board of Education voted unanimously Tuesday to have its chief negotiator Charles Olson work with the teachers to bring about a settlement.

The board also unanimously agreed to pay teachers only for those days on which they worked.

The meeting was attended by approximately 78 interested citizens. A group of striking teachers waited outside.

The board refused to answer any questions from the audience which it felt might hinder its negotiations with the teachers.

The board will meet again at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the High School Learning Center (CCHS).

Earlier Tuesday, Reid Martin, district superintendent of the Carbondale Community High School Education Association negotiators and representatives of the school board had talked about the possibility of no longer using an American Arbitration Association mediator as called for in their contract.

Martin said at that time that the last attempt to negotiate the contract had been made by the board of education.

"The last contact was made by the board with a proposal sent at about 5 p.m. Sunday. We're waiting for the teachers association to make a counter proposal," Martin said.

"The teachers broke the law when they violated their contracts by striking before the contracts expire at midnight Wednesday," Martin said. "And by not offering a counter proposal they are stopping an agreement from being reached."

Wednesday was to have been the second day of class for the 1,400 students at the three Carbondale high schools.

In a press release Tuesday morning, the CCHSEA said, "The board's posture of take it or leave it is still unacceptable to the association. Our bargaining team is always available around the clock for negotiations."

Convention's drama told by delegates

By Jim Wissu
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Now that the clamor has subsided, wounds have healed and hours of lost sleep have been a thing of the past, delegates to last week's Republican National Convention are looking forward to ten weeks of hard campaigning.

"We have to put together an impressive campaign," says Howard Olson, SIU professor in Animal Industries and a delegate committed to President, Gerald Ford at the convention.

To the American public watching the convention on television, the GOP proceedings sometimes appeared unorganized and boisterous, especially during the numerous moment of suspense by backers of Ford and his challenger, Ronald Reagan.

Rose Vieh, 50 Hillcrest Dr., Carbondale, a staunch Reagan delegate in the midst of the predominantly Ford Illinois delegation, saw the outbreaks as an expression of the delegates' "very deep emotional feelings."

"I've never seen anything like it before," she said. "They got so wild on the convention floor. I was sure they were going to postpone the balloting.

Olson thought the demonstrations were "a little bit much," but still necessary to let the delegates "get it out of their systems."

"They were having a lot of fun and it wasn't hurting anybody," he said of the demonstrations. "It was all regenerative. Ford wants to father Ford and his challenge, Ronald Reagan.

Olson said he was surprised as the rest of the convention by Ford's choice of Kansas Senator Robert Dole as a running mate.

Olson said he was with Illinois delegation co-chairman, Sen. Charles Percy, when Ford announced his choice. Percy, who had been mentioned as a vice-presidential possibility, had no forewarning of Dole's selection, according to Olson.

When Vieth heard of the President's choice, she was "shocked and surprised," she says. She supports the Ford-Dole ticket, but was shocked about Dole's lack of reputation outside Kansas.

After Ford won the nomination, Republicans sought to establish signs of party unity to rally the damage done in the Reagan-Ford war, according to Vieth.

Journalists to aid student leaders

By Joan Pearman
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Student Body Vice President Don Wheeler announced Tuesday the appointment of Mike Caponi, senior in journalism, as his executive assistant.

Caponi's job will be to coordinate activities of student representatives on University committees with the Student Government office, Wheeler said.

"In the past," Wheeler said, "it seemed that people who were there, right hand hadn't known what the left had been doing. Student Government had to be aware of everything going on and it will be Mike's job to bring us up to date on what is happening on the various University committees.

Caponi, who is majoring in both the advertising and news-editorial sequences of journalism, will also assist in the public relations and advertising of Student Government.

Wheeler described Van Coo as an enthusiastic worker who has good ideas for improving the Student Government's advertisements. While attending the College of DuPage, Van Coo worked with the advertising department in the student government.

According to Chris McMullen, executive assistant to the student body president, Student Government had not been able to hire a second assistant this time.

Gus says Student Government never knows what either hand is doing.

Boycott triggers riot in South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Deadly clashes were reported Tuesday between leaders of a black boycott and workers in a huge black township of Soweto as the boycott appeared to ease. The world, a black man and woman were killed, two others died near the hostel occupied by the Zulus, a tribal group. The Johannesburg Star said about 20 villagers were killed and about 30 were wounded. The Zulus turned on other blacks, including students, who were harassing workers returning home from Johannesburg Monday night.

If said four or five unrelated families of workers were killed and three others died near the hostel occupied by the Zulu, a tribal group. The Johannesburg Star said about 20 villagers were killed and about 30 were wounded. The Zulus turned on other blacks, including students, who were harassing workers returning home from Johannesburg Monday night.

Cosmonauts return home from space station

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet cosmonauts returned safely to Earth Tuesday after spending nearly two months aboard the Salyut space station, the Soviet news agency Tass reported. It said the general condition of Cmdr. Boris Volynov, 47, and Flight Engineer Vityaz Zhlobnikov, 38, was "satisfactory."

They had conducted metallurgy experiments with liquid metals in the vacuum of their space chamber and observed the growth of plants and insects for the purpose of genetic studies. They surveyed a large sector of Soviet territory and analyzed geological formations with the aim of finding oil, gas and ore deposits. They also made weather observations, according to official reports. Tass said the two men had completed a 49-day research program aboard the space station. Their Soyuz 31 rocket blasted off from Earth July 6, which would give them a total of 50 days in space. This is far short of the 84-day record held by an American Skylab crew.

Utah Democrat convicted in solicitation charge

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Rep. Allan T. Hawe was convicted in District Court Tuesday on a misdemeanor charge of soliciting sex from two police decoys in Salt Lake City. Hawe, who was sentenced to one year in jail, said he was "outraged" by the conviction.

Full employment pledge given by Sen. Mondale

By Jim Adams

Assn. Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic vice presidential nominee Walter Mondale said Monday he would work by 1980.

But Mondale sidestepped the question of whether he would be a vice presidential candidate if Nixon and Republican vice presidential nominee George H. W. Bush win the election. "I don't think aötting a fight will mean a bloody campaign," Mondale said.

"I want a constructive campaign," Mondale replied. "I've never taken a low road in my life. We're going to talk about issues and not personalities.

But Mondale and Ford's economic policies are the same as Nixon's and blamed them for the "joblessness, 6.6 percent inflation rate, interest rates around 4.9 per cent and last 10 years." He said:

"I'll be arguing in New York City on Tuesday in the first major speech of a 40-day campaign swing that those policies are also wipping out Republican business.

"The Republicans always do better when the Democrats are in," he said, "I guess you have to live with a Republican, vote Democrat.

Ford's answer to Mondale charges is likely to be the one he gave in his acceptance speech at the Republican Convention last week.

But the last President they could remember was President Richard M. Nixon's last, at a time when the Republican National Convention was not mentioning Nixon.

"The last President they could remember was Abraham Lincoln," he said. "I thought they'd forgotten, that was the last time I was trying to help them."

James "Big Jim" Thompson, Republican candidate for governor, said Tuesday he would like to see more money spent for education, but that any increase in the education budget is contingent upon budget cuts in other areas of government, primarily public aid.

Speaking at the Anna Elks Club, Thompson said education is his number one priority, but that he is not going to "pork" any other departments.

He said it is necessary to determine priorities in education, and he mentioned full funding for primary and secondary schools, teacher pay raises and insurance costs as high on his list.

Thompson was in Southern Illinois to gather votes for his upcoming gubernatorial election, which is held downstate voters.

Thompson said he hopes to avoid a second half of the campaign.

The last issue is independence in government, he said. Thompson said he is to be his own man, not tied to a machine or any one region. "We're not going to have to go through Barkhausen, Thompson, who drew applause from the crowd.

Thompson criticized Howlett for avoiding a public debate. "Howlett has spent the first half of the campaign hiding behind his billboards and the second half hiding behind his lawyers," he said.

At the end of his remarks, Thompson put in a word for Republicans running for the Illinois General Assembly.

"It's important that I don't go to Springfield alone," Thompson said.

Republican politicians appearing with Thompson in Anna were Peter Pecos of Carbondale, candidate for U.S. Representative in the 24th Congressional district, David N. Barkhausen, candidate for State Senate in the 55th district, Marion Mayor Robert L. Butler, candidate for State Representative in the 59th district, and Robert C. Winchester, incumbent State Representative from the 59th district.

Northwest Side residents present proposal

By Steve Hahn
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The city council agreed Monday to consider a Northwest side citizen plan which would create one-way streets and restrict certain types of vehicles from the area's 20-foot-wide streets.

The area's proposal will be considered with an alternative previously designed by the city.

The council also accepted a memo for the project, slated June 1, 1977 as the day for awarding the construction contract. After public hearings are held in December, the City Council will consider the project at the end of the 1977 session.

Bob Wenc of 609 N. Carico St., presented the citizens' proposal, saying it was developed during four workshops held by Northwest area residents.

The plan would maintain the 20-foot-wide streets of Bridge and Almond Streets from Sycamore to Rigdon Street, making them one-way; parking would be allowed on only one side of Carico Street while maintaining its 20-foot width, eliminate a block of Kenyon Street between Michaels Street and Carico Street to limit commercial vehicle access to the area; create bike paths and leave Oakland Avenue and Willow Street as they are.

Wenc said changes in the neighborhood should be "designed to improve the area and make it more attractive for the people who live there." He presented the council with a petition to the council July 19 in favor of the 20-foot widening, saying the project should be "turned over to the people who have the qualifications."

Wenc was one of the推动ers of the planning.

Wenc presented a petition to the council July 17 in favor of the 20-foot widening, saying the project should be "turned over to the people who have the qualifications."

The council requested public funding to help finance new sewers which are scheduled to be built in the area because of county health laws.

Council members had previously opposed the annexation bill because of the $14,000 cost to the residents for the sewer system.

Lake Heights residents may still be liable for the cost of the system if no public funds are found, but the city has agreed to help with part of the cost by footing the bill for a $32,000 sewage treatment plant.

Family planning reaches its peak

By Arthur Hoppe
of Chronicle Features Syndicate

All the distinguished sociological journals report that the American family is breaking up. Many a harried parent, plagued annually by boredom that is enough to drive a cautious young man to commit suicide, is discovering that the only solution is to become a member of the faculty and civil service. At the lot across from the Home Economics building along Illinois Ave., blue stickers park with impunity in the red area while their own lots gap with the red sticker parking until after great pressure. Now our student fees are swelling, and resurfacing the parking area between the structure and Illinois Ave., again. to be a blue sticker lot.

This is a minor outrage considering the fact that even at peak hours the blue sticker area in the structure usually has some space while cars in long lines play "kill-ball" waiting for a meager space here, a space there (as they are slowly being vacated by the trickle of drivers returning in their cars) in the red lot.

Everyone is aware of the fact that the overwhelming majority of stickers purchased are red and are purchased by students as blue stickers are a privilege of the faculty and civil service. At the lot across from the Home Economics building along Illinois Ave., blue stickers park with impunity in the red area while their own lots gap with half empty.

How long will SIU students allow these discrepancies to continue? The mechanism to initiate change does exist. If you would like to see the newly refurbished lot along Illinois Ave. changed to red and blue sticker parking, write to the chairman of the Traffic and Parking Advisory Committee, Dr. Clifton Andersen, in the marketing department.

The main difference is that American guns and operatives are used to preserve the status quo while Soviet guns and operatives are often used to alter it. Thus, when Secretary Kissinger asserts that "we must firmly resist and deter adventurism," he applies a double standard. One nation's aid to another nation's covert funds to Italian conservatives.

Finally, even a meaningful detente is inadequate to come to grips with the problems haunting the globe: shortages-of food, energy and raw materials; the growing income gap between rich and poor countries; population pressures; world-wide inflation; the exploitation of the oceans. Within a decade there may be not to a dozen of the six or seven large oceans. And perhaps a dozen nuclear-armed states.

This problems hurdle national boundaries. They tend to be economic in nature. They cannot be solved through multi-lateral talks. To grapple with them successfully requires international cooperation guided by hard-headed common interest.

American detente's impact illustrates the point. The United States must import more than half its supplies of six of 13 raw materials basic to an industrial base. In the Middle East, oil prices are rising. Everybody -- not just the superpowers -- must get into the act.

To end the arms race, detente is necessary. To meet the other problems that threaten us, detente is not enough.

Commentary

Detente not enough to solve other global problems

By Sanford Gottlieb

The sour debate now going on over detente has yet to pinpoint that policy's real shortcomings. First, detente cannot deal with the biggest problem in Soviet-American relations, armaments. Second, it was not to the American public, detente brought false hope about the Soviet Union's foreign involvements. Third, detente alone is inadequate to deal with the global problems of the 1970s and '80s.

The arms race continues, reaching new heights of magnitude. While the United States signed the 1970 agreement in principle at Vladivostok, to mid-1976, the United States has added 900 H-bombs to its nuclear arsenal. A recent Soviet move has added 900. Just this two-year increment is several times the size of the nuclear deterrent described as "adequate" by the late Robert McNamara.

With a total of 8,906 H-bombs, we will soon possess 41 for every major Soviet city. The Soviet total of 3,500 strategic warheads can nevertheless make our ruble bounce with rough parity. The first year of "the arms race", the terms shifted at Vladivostok (and yet to be consummated in a "SALT" treaty) would permit the American arsenal to double by 1980 while the Soviet arsenal could quadruple. The technology which permits the superpowers to place clusters of H-bombs on single missiles limits the number of launches -- pushes the Vladivostok "cap" full of holes.

We are warned that Soviet military spending, allegedly surpassing our own, could doom us to be "No. 2" instead of "No. 1." But no one explains what No. 1 or No. 2 can do with all that military hardware. If the Soviets don't intend to commit suicide by attacking a country with missile warheads that are both more numerous and more accurate what advantage do they reap by opening a "dozer gap"? (Blackmail?)

No one explains how the Soviet Union, with hostile Chinese on one side, restive East Europeans and substantial NATO forces on the other, and few friends left in the Middle East, can blackmail other nations by spending more on their military.

Detente will have real meaning only when military spending and military forces go down on both sides. The Ford Administration, however, applies a different test -- Angola -- and suggests that the USSR by its action there is breaking the ground rules for detente. Where do these ground rules come from? Blatant claims of "a generation of peace" and similar rhetoric may have persuaded Americans that detente meant harmony between the superpowers.

But no Soviet-American agreement has been reached on how to relate to third parties. Soviet leaders clearly want to avoid nuclear war and to secure America's grain. But, if they have never disavowed support for allies and clients. Nor has the United States, which exports arms and "dirty tricks" throughout the world.
Limousines scarce in Washington, officials say in answer to Carter

By Richard Carelli
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jimmy Carter might have trouble finding likely targets for his campaign pledge to cut back the number of big cars used to ferry governmental dignitaries around the nation's capital, government records indicate.

Aside from special security limousines used by the White House, the records show only 14 large cars are being used by the executive branch.

Former President Richard M. Nixon, facing the energy crisis in 1974, slashed the use of big cars by the executive branch from 211 to its current level, according to records kept by the General Services Administration, the government's housekeeping agency.

While campaigning Monday in Los Angeles, Carter criticized government officials who "ride in limousines to town." The Democratic presidential nominee said he would stick to smaller cars for the remainder of his campaign and, if elected, would reduce governmental limousine use in Washington.

But a GSA spokesman said Tuesday that the government's large cars—including Cadillac limousines, Buicks and Chryslers—being used by the executive branch consist of three for the State Department, one in Washington, one at the United Nations and one at the Panama Canal; one for the Justice Department; nine for the Pentagon; and one for the CIA.

"Not all those cars are limousines, just classified as larger cars. There is a trend to buy mid-sized and compacts," the spokesman said.

Jazz from Woody Herman and the Preservation Hall Jazz Band, Broadway musicals, performances by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and the Pennsylvania Ballet will be among the events featured in the 1975-76 Illinois Supreme Court Series.

The Chicago Symphony Orchestra, considered by some critics to be the world's finest, will also be featured in a special Shryan Auditorium concert on Sept. 22. The orchestra will open Sept. 22 with the big band sound of Woody Herman and his orchestra, followed on Oct. 6 by the sophisticated British Drama Band "Equus." "Equus" is designed for mature, sophisticated audiences. Oct. 22 will be the day for a concert performance of Victor Herbert's operetta "Naughty Marietta" featuring well-known actor Cyril Herman. Following "Naughty Marietta" will be a performance of the award-winning Broadway musical comedy "A Little Night Music.

The new year begins with a performance of the Civil War era musical "Shenandoah," Jan. 30. On March 5, an evening of good New York time will feature the world-famous Chicago Symphony Orchestra with the preservation Hall Jazz Band will be presented.

On March 7, the Pennsylvania Ballet, one of the few outstanding ballet companies still traveling with its own orchestra, will visit the Shryan stage.

Reserve seat tickets are priced at $14, $20 and $26, $35, $45 and $58, depending on the performance scheduled. Student tickets will be available at a $1 discount.

Season tickets are available costing $31, $33 or $53 for general admission tickets. Student tickets are available for the season at $24, $31 or $45.

Two trips are planned
Skilubbers looking ahead

By Lynda M. Gabriel Daily Egyptian Writer

Although at the moment winter's icy grip may be the only thing in the minds of wishful thinkers, the winter months are here at hand for the Ski Club.

Trips are already being planned, according to Sean Gallagher, club president, senior in engineering physics, to take members to the slopes of Indian Head, Mich., and to Jackson Hole, Wyo., during the coming winter months.

The Ski Club is open to both beginners and experts and draws its members from SIU students and faculty. At present, there are about 140 members, Gallagher said.

Because of the wide range of skiing abilities of the membership, members are able to help one another improve their skills. The club also offers employment clinics, racing clinics, ski movies and social events for its members. Gallagher said the club will be training people for the National Ski Patrol.

The club also has information on American and foreign resorts and can offer group rates to members at these resorts, according to Gallagher.

Because of the length of the winter semester break, the Ski Club is planning a 10-day trip to Jackson Hole. The trip will cost approximately $500 per person.

A five-day trip to Indian Head, is also planned for the break. The cost of that trip will be $150.

The Ski Club will have its first meeting of the semester Aug. 31 at 8 p.m. in Activities Room C of the Student Center. Anyone interested in becoming a member or learning about the club is encouraged to come to the meeting, Gallagher said.

'Last Days' film slated two days at Student Center

"The Last Days of Man on Earth," the critically acclaimed science-fiction satire, will be shown in the Student Center Auditorium Friday and Saturday nights, Aug. 27 and 28, at 7:30, 9 and 11 both nights. The movie, which was recently released in only six cities, is based on the novel "The Final Programming," by Isaac Asimov, and takes the viewer to the future, to the day when the earth will be a barren, lifeless planet.

Jerry Cornelius, the hero of "The Final Programming," is one of Asimov's most famous and influential characters. He is a man who has lived on Earth for a very long time, a writer known for his work as a "science-fiction" and science fiction writer.

Moore, 33, has had 30 novel and short story publications, as well as thousands of film and television screenplays and short stories. He also was a Los Angeles" west coast poet and critic.

"The Last Days of Man on Earth," is a science-fiction satire, written and directed for the screen by British filmmaker Robert Frost. Frost is best known for his direction of "The Abominable Dr. Phibes" and similar science fiction horror pictures.

The proposals, saying that eliminating them from the ballot would be depriving the rights of the people which circumscribes the democratic process.

"The issue is: Are we going to give up the right to challenge the constitution or render it stillborn?" he argued.

The Coalition for Political Honesty is an intervening party in the suit by the five delegates, which it appealed to the Supreme Court after Judge Nathan M. Cohen of Circuit Court ruled Aug. 10 in favor of keeping the proposals on the ballot.

The justices also heard parallel arguments Monday in a suit brought by the Coalition seeking to have the State Board of Elections declare valid $60,000 signatures or petitions required to place the amendments on the ballot.

Transit crash report cites driver error, rule oversight

CHICAGO (AP) — Motorman error led and prompted safety rules and equipment breakage legislation, a report said Wednesday by the Chicago Transit Authority.

The 23-page report by the National Transportation Safety Board cited a "significant deficiency in the rear-end crash was a motorman's error. The error was a stalled train in front and stop in time because of glare from the early morning sun."

It said the CTA had allowed the train to run although its automatic train control system was functioning, the board found. The motorman, it found, knew the train was running but did not know it was having circuit breaker problems.

It also found maintenance inadequate to assure that equipment such as the automatic system was functioning properly. And it concluded that the CTA management disregarded years of operational experience by letting trains operate without the automatic system working.

Both operating and supervisory employees seemed confused on how to apply some rules, it found. The board said a number of rules were unenforced, including the one requiring a flagman to warn of a stopped train.

A faulty electrical relay caused the automatic train control system to fail, the board said. The report said the board could not determine why the train phones had not worked. Four calls by crews of three trains both before and after the accident went unanswered by the transit authority's central control.

Low radiation breast cancer detector to be marketed soon

NEW YORK (AP) — A new X-ray machine will be marketed soon that should greatly reduce the amount of radiation currently given to women during X-ray examinations to detect breast cancer.

"This new machine will have such a low radiation level that I can't conceive of anyone complaining," Dr. Philip Strax, medical director of the Gutman Institute, one of many screening centers across the country. Strax, a member of the breast cancer task force of the American Cancer Society, said the new machine is expected to reduce the radiation for each mammogram.

Strax said he did not believe the new machine would make the mammogram more expensive. Mammography, the use of X-rays to detect breast cancer, has been criticized by some doctors on grounds that it exposes women between the ages of 35 to 50 to unnecessary risks of radiation. Scientists estimate that all women have a 7 per cent chance of getting breast cancer and that they increase their risk by one per cent for each mammogram they have. This means that a woman who undergoes a mammogram at one red strength increases her risk of getting cancer to 7.07 per cent.

Cancer researchers say statistics show that mammograms have saved the lives of many women over the age of 50, but there is no proof of similar success among younger women. For these women, critics of the test say, the risk of radiation outweighs the benefit of detection.

Hearst's psych study completed

SAN DIEGO (AP)—After five months of tests, Patricia Hearst's psychiatric evaluation has been completed.

Hearst, 26, was assigned to the case U.S. District Court Judge William Orrick—on temporary assignment to the federal bench on the island of Guam. He was expected to set a sentencing date when he returns to San Francisco early next month.

Orrick was assigned to the case after the death of trial Judge Oliver J. Carter.

Hearst's attorney, Al Johnson, said in Boston that the 22-year-old heiress would remain in the custody of federal officials at San Diego until sentencing.

She was convicted of armed robbery last March 20 and later given a temporary sentence of 30 years in prison, the maximum penalty, pending results of the diagnostic studies.

Auto workers target Ford Co. for strike

DETOIT (AP) Ford Motor Co. is the United Auto Workers (UAW) 1976 strike target in efforts to obtain an improved labor contract from the auto industry, the union announced today.

The decision, announced by UAW President Leonard Woodcock, was made Tuesday at a meeting of the union’s 36-member executive board.

Auto industry observers had been speculating since the contract talks began that Ford would get the nod since General Motors and Chrysler were the last two targets.

UAW leaders repeatedly stressed that if Ford was picked, it would not be just because it’s Ford’s turn.

Interviews for SIU coal post start Wednesday

Interviews for the position of director of the Coal Exploration and Utilization Research Center will begin Wednesday and continue through Sept. 28, according to W. D. Klimstra, head of the search committee.

Klimstra said Monday that four finalists have been chosen for the position. Klimstra, professor in Cooperative Fisheries Management, would not release the names of the finalists. He said they are not from the University.

Interviews will be conducted by the office of the Vice President (or Academic Affairs, Klimstra said) and the director will be named by late September or early October.

The position was vacated by Russell Dutcher, chairman of the Geology Department, at the end of the spring semester. Dutcher is on sabbatical, doing field research in Montana.

Children to visit at local hospital

In an attempt to lessen a child’s fear of hospitals, illness and death, Memorial Hospital of Carbondale is allowing children to visit patients.

Under the new policy began last week, children between the ages of six and 12-year-old may visit a patient during regular visiting hours, if accompanied by an adult.

Children under six may visit a patient only when permission is granted by the attending physician or the administrator of the hospital.

George Maroney, administrator of the Hospital, said the new policy is in keeping with a new philosophy advocated by Dr. Elizabeth Kubler-Ross, author of books on death.

Maroney said visitation will aid the child by helping him “cope with illness and possibly impending death.”

A child’s presence can help lessen the isolation an adult patient feels, Maroney said.

Other visitation rules and hours will remain the same.

Visitations will be allowed from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Only two children will be allowed to visit a patient at the same time.

SOLAR EQUIPMENT

NEW YORK (AP) — “Use of solar energy is essential to supply fuel needs of small residences and large buildings,” said that newly-elected executive director of the American Solar Energy Society, J. M. Herde, at the World Congress of Solar Heating and Cooling.

But he added, “as the situation stands now, the solar energy market for heating equipment is a world market even more starved than the U.S. for energy may be far more important than the domestic market.”
Independents boost Maddox, claim votes of three states

By Mike Rubenstein
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Lester Maddox of Georgia probably could carry some southern states in a third-party presidential bid, the chairman of the American Independent Party (AIP) said Tuesday.

San Diego attorney William K. Shearer said at a news conference that Maddox “already has a running start” in a race for the electoral votes of Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana.

“Maddox certainly could pull in on Jimmy Carter in the South,” Shearer said on the eve of the 1976 American Independent National Convention. “With a Maddox candidacy, we probably could carry a few southern states.”

Maddox, who chased civil rights workers from his Atlanta restaurant with axe handles and then defeated Carter for the Georgia governorship in 1966, said Monday in Washington that he wants the nomination. He said he is a logical candidate because Alabaman George C. Wallace is consorting with “pointy headed liberals” and Ronald Reagan will not make a third-party move after losing the Republican nomination to President Ford.

The AIP, born as a vehicle for the 1968 Wallace presidential drive, opened its convention Thursday, with the Alabama governor back among the Democrats and not expected to attend. Besides Maddox, those mentioned as possible candidates are direct mail expert Richard Viguerie, Gov. Malcolm Thomas of New Hampshire and former U.S. Rep. John Barick of Louisiana.

Shearer said that since the Republican convention in Kansas City a number of Reagan’s supporters have indicated an interest in the AIP. But he refused to name them. He said approaches have been made to the former California governor but that he is uninterested in the nomination.

A Reagan nomination, though, “from a pragmatic standpoint would be the best thing that could happen to this party,” Shearer said. “He has the best vote-getting record.”

But Shearer said he differs strongly with Reagan over his tax program as governor of California and over some foreign policy issues.

“Everytime there is a Vietnam or another foreign adventure, Mr. Reagan wants to go, or send somebody else,” Shearer said. “Mr. Reagan is over the draft age but he wants to send others.”

Shearer acknowledged that unlikelihood of any surprise breakthrough for the AIP in 1976, saying, “I don’t see this as just one election.” But he forecast a speedy demise for the Republican party, which he said would be supplanted by the AIP much as the Whigs were replaced by the Republicans.

“If I thought we were never going to win an election, I wouldn’t be fooling around with this,” Shearer said.

He pronounced the Republicans “no longer a fit vehicle for electing somebody I think of them as a vestigial organ like the appendix. If you have it removed, it really doesn’t hurt you very much.”

BEOG checks to be issued

Basic grant checks for students who turned in their 1976-77 basic grant student eligibility reports and student affidavit forms and registered for fall classes before August 6, 1976, will be issued at the Busker’s Office, Woody Hall B (basement) in alphabetical order by last name as follows:

A thru C —Wednesday, Aug. 26;
D thru H —Thursday, Aug. 26;
I thru M —Friday, Aug. 27;
N thru S —Monday, Aug. 30;
T thru Z —Tuesday, Aug. 31.

Others awarded basic grants and who completed the process after August 6, 1976, should watch the Daily Egyptian for dates concerning the availability of their fall checks.
Politics keeps Soviets, Czechs out of tourney

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia said Tuesday they will not allow their teams to play in the Federation Cup tennis championship here because of participation by teams from South Africa and Rhodesia.

Derek Hardwick, president of the International Lawn Tennis Federation, said a news conference the Russian and Czechoslovakian embassies in Washington informed tournament officials of their intention to withdraw from the $13,000 tournament.

Several teams, particularly from Africa, withdrew from Olympics competition in Montreal last month because of participation by the team from New Zealand. A rugby team from New Zealand was touring South Africa at the time.

That protest was against the racial policies of white-rulled South Africa.

Hardwick said that he has cabled the Soviet and Czechoslovakian governments asking them to reconsider their decision and has allowed a 24-hour postponement in their scheduled matches.

The Soviet Union, was to have played Uruguay, and Czechoslovakia, defending tournament champion, was to have played Canada at noon Tuesday.

Canada and Uruguay agreed to the 24-hour postponement. Both teams could have advanced by default because of the failure of the Russians and Czechs to show up.

Radio City Music Hall's future to be negotiated

By Bob Moneer

Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Both sides have agreed to lower an acount of silence in critical labor talks at Radio City Music Hall that will determine whether the show continues at America's biggest movie palace.

The 6,000-seat theater in Rockefeller Center has been a top tourist attraction since it opened its bronze doors during the depression year of 1932. Its existence is threatened by changing times.

Management has said that if new contracts are not worked out with the precision-stepping Rockettes, musicians and two other unions by Sept. 1, it will shut the theater on Sept. 2.

Vincent D. McDonnell, chairman of the state Mediation Board, said Tuesday a seven-hour negotiating session with the Rockettes on Monday ended with indications the union would agree to wage freezes.

He said the union might also agree to some concessions regarding working conditions but wanted to maintain its numerical strength in any settlement.

McDonnell's schedule called for meetings Tuesday with the stagehands and musicians as he attempted to find a formula that would allow the vast theater with the Art Deco interior to remain in operation.

All the unions and management agreed that any statements on the status of the talks would come from McDonnell as they entered the final week's countdown toward a decision.

For 48 years the theater has offered a combination of a family fare movie and a stage show sparked by the legendary Rockettes that recalled its vaudeville origins.

Three years ago the hall decided to close 14 weeks each year during the periods after Labor Day and New Year's when attendance waned.

Central Illinois paper gets dope on naps

By William Prater

Associated Press Writer

Bloomington, Ill. (AP) — To counter a campaign against illegal use of narcotics in western central Illinois, a Underground newspaper in Bloomington is waging a war on a special narcotics unit. The Post American's specific target is the Multi-County Enforcement Group (MEG) and the Itham unit of undercover officers from Knox, Warren, Fulton, Peoria, Tazewell and McLean counties. The Peoria-based unit is one of seven in Illinois.

A frequent activity of the newspaper is photographing undercover agents.

MEG officials feel the less said about the police do the better, and will not discuss the Post American. Law enforcement officials tried to keep the photographs from appearing in the monthly publication as a tabloid, but the pictures were released before and after drug cases are tried, according to Mark Silverstein, who writes the police column.

The newspaper also occasionally uses drawings of agents made by artists who tell the story in the courtroom.

McLean County officials tried to halt that practice but were overruled in Circuit Court. Generally, however, authorities ignore Post American reports.

Silverstein said he was prompted by photographs published in the June and August issues, which he said were pictures of undercover agents undergoing training sponsored by the Illinois Bureau of Investigation. Silverstein would not say where the photos were taken or how.

“T'll never satisfy them with it, nor are a lot of the other defense counsel,” he said Tuesday that they fight for more concessions.

Chairman Lucien Niedzi of the House military appropriations subcommittee said he was calling as witness Wednesday's session Hoffmann and Lt. Gen. Sidney B. Berry, West Point's cheating scandal, and lawyers said Sunday that Niedzi said that they'll fight for more concessions.

Hoffmann announced at the hearing Monday that cadets conicted of cheating on graded electrical engineering homework would be expelled as required of honor code violators. But he said a "large number" of those who seek it will be "reclassified" a year later.

Cadets can otherwise simply leave the academy and the army without having to serve their usual two years as enlisted personnel.

"He's gone a long way," said Capt. Arthur Lincoln, an Army defense lawyer who has allowed that his clients were scapegoats because of widespread cheating at the nation's oldest military institution. "But I don't think he's gone far enough." He continued:

"We really burned them on this one," he said. "They didn't know their pictures had been taken until the Post American came out a month later."

A law enforcement officer in Rock Island, who did not want to be identified, said publication of the photographs forced reassignment of several agents before they could even begin work.

The Post American also sends reporters to MEG directors' meetings, interviews persons arrested for narcotics-violations and generally denounces law enforcement agencies.

In all, Silverstein said, more than 20 suspected agents and informants have been identified by the Post American.

Carter advocates pardon for Vietnam draft resisters

By Lawrence C. Keston Associated Press Writer

SEATTLE (AP) - A delegation of American Legion national conservation board delegates shouted "No!" Tuesday when Jimmy Carter proposed blanket pardons for Vietnam veterans draft resisters.

A counterdemonstration supporting his position broke out simultaneously from stands above the convention hall. The demonstrators were mostly young and did not wear Legion uniforms.

Carter told the audience of legionnaires, "I realized before I came here that you did not favor everyone who would not agree with you." But he said that the hatred and divisions caused by the war in Vietnam have eroded support for the nation's armed forces and "must be put behind us."

The raucous chorus of shouts were courageous but as for something to play with. It's beautiful equipment, definitely," said James Newell, Y. M. C. A. Department of Education.

Carter - advocates pardon for Vietnam draft resisters who violated the law, said he believes there is a crucial difference: "Amnesty means that what you did is right. A pardon means that what you did is right or wrong—if it's forgiven. So, pardon—yes, amnesty—no."

He said he believes there is an overriding aim. Our attention must turn to rebuilding the military, economic and spiritual foundations of a peaceful world order. Carter said some time ago that he would favor presidential pardons, and on Jan. 26, he said in a position paper, "When I am president, I am going to issue a blanket pardon for all those who are outside our country or in this country, who did not serve in the armed forces. I am going to issue a pardon, not an amnesty."

Y.M.C.A. nursery schoolers receive playground equipment

Children starting nursery school next week at the Jackson County Y.M.C.A. were overjoyed to receive a new look at playground equipment which has been donated to the Y.M.C.A.

"The timing couldn't be better," said George W. Davies, executive director. "Our nursery school has been desperate for something to play with. It's beautiful equipment, definitely the kind we couldn't afford."

The playground equipment was left on the property of the old Captain Burger Mart. On the corner of Wall and Main Streets, which was

As he concluded, legionnaires applauded and gave him a standing ovation. Harry G. Wiles, the legion's national commander, said members agree with Carter. "100 per cent on moral of his stand."

Wiles said legionnaires agree with Carter that there should be case-by-case consideration for deserters. But he said they also believe there should be case-by-case consideration for Selective Service violators. He said the legion would "carefully consider" the distinction Carter makes between amnesty and pardons.

"I'm a legionnaire, and I know how the legion feels," Carter told a news conference. Most of them I know would not favor a pardon for deserters from the war."

Lysle W. Adams Jr., Des Moines, Ky., said Carter's remarks to the organization's national convention were courageous but as for the resisters, "We made it through Vietnam without them, we can make it through without them now."

In his speech, Carter said "the damage, hatred and divisiveness caused by the Vietnam war must be ended."

"Do not favor a blanket amnesty, but for those who violated Selective Service laws, I intend to grant a blanket pardon," the Democratic nominee said.

He said he believes there is a crucial difference: "Amnesty means that what you did is right. A pardon means that what you did is right or wrong—it is forgiven. So, pardon—yes, amnesty—no."

"We must bind up our wounds," he said. "We simply cannot afford to let them fester any longer... We cannot remain distanced from what must be our overriding aim. Our attention must turn to rebuilding the military, economic and spiritual foundations of a peaceful world order."

Carter said some time ago that he would favor presidential pardons, and on Jan. 26, he said in a position paper, "When I am president, I am going to issue a blanket pardon for all those who are outside our country or in this country, who did not serve in the armed forces. I am going to issue a pardon, not an amnesty."

Bigger parking lot opens soon

The newly expanded and paved parking lot east of the Parking Garage and between McKendree Stadium and Anthony Hall is expected to be in use by Monday, according to Clarence Dougherty, director of campus services. The lot was to be finished for the opening day of fall semester. A 10-day strike by cement finishers delayed the project. Contractors will be putting the finishing touches on the lot this week, and the asphalt will need a few days to firm up, Dougherty said.

Formerly a 97-space gravel lot, the expansion job will increase that number to 125. The job cost the University $582,774.

Dougherty said he realizes that there are parking problems and said that things will be very hectic until the lot opens.

'High living Arabs' criticized at home

KUWAIT (AP) — Criticism has erupted at home against those oil-wealthy Arabs long caricatured in the West for their spending sprees abroad.

One Kuwaiti newspaper called them "the big bellies," and said they are spoiling the Arab image and need to have their overseas woman-chasing and high living curbed by their government.

"The government should protect the citizens from exhausting their sexual and financial prowess in London," said the newspaper Al Watani. "Isn't it the task of government to direct our citizens toward proper places and keep them away from immoral places which steal their money?"

About 70,000 Kuwaitis were expected to visit London this summer, not to mention petty-dollar spenders from other oil sheikdoms that, like Kuwait, enforce an atmosphere of austerity at home. Women are veiled, liquor is prohibited, there are no night clubs and few movies.

Al Watani estimated that Kuwaiti vacationers spend about $100 million abroad and "This does not take into account the cash wasted at gambling tables, night clubs and brothels, which are clever in swallowing our money ..."

The newspaper Al Siyassah complained that Arabs cutting loose in European night clubs are ashamed to wear their traditional robes. "You can't find one wearing a clean Arab dress in Soho who takes pride in being an Arab," it said, describing the London entertainment scene.

Al Qabas criticized investments such as the recent purchase of London's Dorchester Hotel by unidentified Arabs.

"Instead of wasting large amounts on aristocratic palaces in Europe, these wealthy Arabs should have the sense of citizenship to invest their money in productive agricultural projects in the Arab world to serve our needy brothers," the paper's editor wrote.

Thousands of rich travelers from a non-Arab oil country, Iran, were reported losing money in Europe not only to casinos and brothels but also to pickpockets.

Corporations charged with conspiracy

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — An antitrust suit charging that 16 corporations conspired to limit the production and influence the price of potash was filed Tuesday in U.S. District Court by the Illinois attorney general's office.

Attorney General William Scott said the suit asks the court to appoint him as the class representative for all Illinois consumers who have purchased potash, an ingredient in mixed fertilizer. He said that includes more than 125,000 farmers as well as state, county and local governments.

The suit also asks that the consumers be awarded triple the amount of damages which were incurred due to the price charged for potash.

In the suit, the attorney general said the firms "exchanged mutual assurances" between 1969 and 1975 which resulted in nearly uniform prices for potash produced in the United States.

He said the firms were to persuade government officials in New Mexico and in Saskatchewan, Canada, two principal mining areas, to aid them in monitoring potash production and prices.

Scott said Illinois consumers purchased about 10 per cent of the annual sales of agricultural potash in the United States. Between 1969 and 1975, Scott said the price of potash jumped from approximately $4.6 a ton to $100 a ton.

A spokesman for Scott said the attorney general has asked the top legal officers of Wisconsin, Iowa, Indiana, Missouri and Kentucky to join him in the suit. Illinois and the five contiguous states purchase 50 per cent of the potash sold in the United States each year, he said.

New York youth gangs dig tunnels plague neighborhood with break-ins

By John Doyle
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - A quiet neighborhood in the Bronx is being plagued by an outbreak of 'Termites,' the police designation for a group of youths aged 9 to 12 who are breaking into neighborhood stores by tunneling through walls.

Police of the Shod precinct which includes the Bronx Zoo and New York Botanical Gardens area say the culprits are pre-teenagers, ranging in age from 9 to 12, who have broken into at least five rows of storefronts this summer.

Child care licensing

Person who are providing care in their homes for other people's children can apply for the required state license Thursday at Evergreen Terrace.

The child care licensing meeting will be held in the Community Room from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. Licensing is free and is renewable every two years. Donald A. Carroll, licensing representative for the Department of Children and Family Services, said there are many unlicensed people employed in home care of children that this is unfair to people who are licensed for such work.

Information packets, applications, medical forms and books of rights and responsibilities will be distributed at the meeting. Carroll said they plan to have people who are currently licensed at the meeting to answer questions about licensing.

By law, anyone who cares for an unrelated child outside the child's own home must obtain a license. Licensing responsibility rests with the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services and is authorized by the Illinois Child Care Act of 1982.

The maximum number of children to be cared for in a home must not exceed eight, which includes the person's own children, according to Carroll. New licensing standards go into effect in September.

Minimum standards have been established which relate to the number of children to be cared for, the physical condition of the home, food served, hours the children are in the home, sleep and play areas, and the health of the family.

Breakdowns slow

Berwyn patrols

BERWYN (AP) — Officials of this suburb west of Chicago hoped to have leased cars ready for night patrol Tuesday after patrons said their squad cars were rundown and unsafe to drive.

The City Council declared an emergency Monday night when a spokesman for the 65-man police force said patrols would be in their cars but would drive them only for emergencies and not on routine patrol.

He warned that even in emergencies, they would not drive more than 12 miles an hour.

Officials said the slowdown came on major problems during the day. The council empowered the city to lease four cars for police use.

Researchers find nicotine in breast milk

By C.G. McDaniel

CHICAGO (AP)—Babies breastfed by mothers who smoke cigarettes fires receive in their milk some of the nicotine their mothers inhale. Vanderbilt University researchers have found.

The researchers urge, however, that their study not be used to deter breast-feeding. Rather, they say, it offers “another reason for mothers to reduce or stop smoking.”

A report of their study is published in the August issue of the American Journal of Diseases of Children, published by the American Medical Association.

The researchers are Drs. Bruce B. Ferguson and David J. Wilson of the Vanderbilt chemistry department and Dr. William Schaffner of the university’s school of medicine in Nashville, Tenn.

They noted in their report that previous studies have estimated that 20 to 25 per cent of women smoke during pregnancy, that these women deliver smaller babies and that the newborn mortality rate is higher among babies born to smoking mothers than to those who do not smoke.

In their study, they analyzed 34 samples of human milk from 15 white, urban, middle-class donors living in metropolitan Nashville. Six of the donors were nonsmokers. The smokers consumed an average of a half a pack to a pack and a half of cigarettes a day.

No nicotine was found in the samples of milk from the nonsmokers. But the samples of milk from smokers yielded nicotine averages of 0.4 to 1.9 parts per billion, with a range of 0 to 512 parts per billion.

The researchers reported that they found no correlation between the amount of nicotine absorbed and the amount of nicotine detected in the breast milk of the smoker and that the infants inhaled some of the nicotine.

They said that the addition of nicotine found in human milk does not constitute a health hazard to infants “and should not be a consideration in breast-feeding.”

The infants nursed by smoking mothers were all breast-fed normal at the time of the study, conducted from October 1973 through July 1974.
Olympics helps SIU jumper

By Mark Edgar
Student Writer

If experience holds the key to success in the Olympics, then SIU sophomore Richard Rock, the youngest competitor in the long jump at Montreal this summer, seems only gold in his future.

Though disappointed with a jump of 24 feet 10 inches, and an 18th place finish in the Games, the 18-year-old Rock, a Toronto native who represented Canada, admitted he did not expect to win any medals in Montreal.

"My goal, this time, was to finish in the top 20. If I didn't make it to the final, he said. "Next time I'll have a different goal. And this is to finish in the top three." Rock said that as the youngest athlete in the long jump, he entered the event "really relaxed."

"I knew what I was capable of, and I was just there to compete," Rock said. "But in four years, I'll be on the same level as anybody in the world." While performing before a home country crowd also added to the pressures of Olympic competition, Rock pointed out that "being in it once, now, I'll know what to expect because this helped me get the feeling of it." Besides a lack of international meet experience, Rock said he would have done much better if the Games had been held earlier.

Despite the end of what Rock calls his "long fascinating season", the computer science major said his future goals include finishing in the top three in the long jump at the NCAA meet next year.

"I like to have goals because it gives me something to shoot for," Rock said. "I've always liked to see where I came from; what I could do."

Wrestlers recruit four state champs

Wrestling Coach Linn Long announced the signings of four high school state championship wrestlers recently.

Signed were Cadestin Counthrist of North Kansas City High School, the Missouri 1975 champion, Mike Delgianti of Culpeper, Va., who placed fourth in the 112 lb. bracket in Virginia, and won it last year.

Rounding out the foursome are Paul Hibbs of Mount Morris, Mich., the 134 lb. champion, who also placed a year ago, and Dennis Shumaker of Pellston, Mich., the 152 lb. champion who placed at 167 lbs. in 1975.

"All of them are good athletes with excellent high school wrestling credentials," Long said. "They're all good prospects who should make us solid in the light and middle weights."

Astros nip Cubs, 4-3

CHICAGO 1 AP) -- Bob Watson singled and doubled, driving in one run and scoring another, to lead Joaquin Andujar and the Houston Astros to a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs Tuesday.

Watson singled to trigger a two-run rally in the second inning and doubled to drive in a run in the fifth. Andujar, 24, pitched four-hit ball before being taken out for a pinch hitter in the eighth inning. The only run the Cubs scored off him came in the fifth when Manny Trillo and former Saluki Joe Wallace singled and George Mitterwald hit into a double play.

The Cubs got their other two runs in the ninth when Bill Madlock was hit by a bases-loaded pitch and Trillo hit an RBI grounder.

Single by Watson, Jose Cruz and Lew Roberts loaded the bases for the Astros in the second. Ed Herrmann drew a walk off Steve Renko, 5/7, to force in the first run and another scored on Roger Metzer's grounder.

Andujar opened the fifth for Houston with a single single, went on a single by Jerry DaVano and scored on Watson's double. The Astros added a run in the ninth on singles by Eino Cabell and Cesar Cedeno and a throwing error by Mitterwald.

Rugby Club to hold meeting

The SIU Rugby Club has scheduled a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Big Muddy Room of the Student Center.

The meeting, which is for all new and old members will be to discuss rules, membership and information. The ruggers open the season Sept. 12 vs. Decatur at SIU.

SIU batsman picked for Taiwan tourney

By Doug Derrick
Assistant Sports Editor

SIU baseball player Neil Flia has been named to the all-star team that will play in the World Amateur Baseball Tournament of Champions at Forest Hills, N.Y., 2000. He was a starter for SIU in 1999 and 2000, while appearing in every game. In 1999, Flia was the most valuable player of the national junior college championships while playing for Meramec.

The U.S. team, consisting of 18 colleges and 4 coaches, will gather in California Sept. 1 for one week of workouts and exhibitions. Included on the exhibition schedule will be games in Nahaheim, Calif., against an all-star team from the California Angels minor leagues system.

The U.S. team, coached by Joe Record of Phillips University in Oklahoma, will then open Sept. 8 to South Korea for another week-long series of exhibitions. From Korea, the team will go to Taipei, Taiwan, for the world tournament. Flia is unsure of the number of teams competing in the tournament.

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — U.S. District Judge Walter K. Stapleton has rejected a lawsuit that challenged the National Football League's plan to reassign operations, also said the reassignment operation that changed who performed over its effort to suppress pari-mutuel wagering would come in two forms. One is called "Touchdown," and is strikingly similar to illegal football cards which for years have attracted bets on college and pro games.

Under the proposed system, persons could bet on three, four or five games and must select both the winning teams and the point spreads. The cards would yield 14 NFL games each week.

The other part of the game, called "Football Bonus," would have two slates of seven games each. A person could bet on one or both slates but must select the winning teams and the point spreads.

Simmons said the payoffs will be parimutuel in nature, with about 60 percent of the money wagered in a particular segment being returned to the winning gamblers.

The NFL is getting moral support from at least one Delaware source, the Rev. James M. Young, director of the Methodist Action Program in Wilmington.

"The United Methodist Church has urged our state leadership to determine responsible forms of taxation."

NEW YORK (AP) — The rologist who conducted the sex-reassignment operation that changed Dr. Richard Ratko into Dr. James Richards said Monday that his patient "is a woman in every sense of the word" and should be allowed to compete in the U.S. Open Tennis Championships at Forest Hills.

Dr. Roberto Granato, a professor and chairman of his College of Physicians and Surgeons who has performed over 20 sex change operations, also said the chromosome test he has ordered must be performed to ascertain the sex of athletes who compete as women in the Olympics and the test which the U.S. Open organizing committee plans to institute is not a valid indication of a person's sex.

Dr. Granato and Dr. Richards were guests on Monday's night's Robert Machel Report on the Public Broadcasting Service.

Dr. Granato said a chromosome test on a person who has had a sex adjustment operation might still reveal evidence of male chromosomes. He noted that chromosomes would not necessarily indicate that a person be XY, male, but might be something like XXXXY, predominantly female but with a trace of male.

He emphasized that individuals who successfully undergo the operation and make the necessary social adjustments should be treated as women.

"There is no evidence that the feminine attitude, the feminine sex," Dr. Granato said. "As far as I'm concerned, that is a woman and she should be allowed to participate in any woman's competition."

Dr. Richards also conceded that the chromosome test "probably would show traces of the male XY pattern, but I don't think it's a fair test for sexuality no matter what it shows. Sexuality is more than a matter of chromosome patterns."

Football Coach Rey Dempsey has set a four-year goal to build the SIU football program back to respectability.

"Four years from now we'll be competitive and people will be proud of the program," he said. "We'll be really sold at that time."

Although some new coaches in sports that they do have to turn a losing program around in one or two years, Dempsey calls the four-year goal "reasonable."

"You can't shoot for it all in one year."

Dempsey refused to predict his team's record this year, but he is confident that things are looking better.

"I have no idea how good or bad we are," he said. "Right now, we're just trying to get the program started here."

Most of the current SIU students won't be around in four years to see the program that Dempsey envisions, but he said that they will notice an improvement by the time they leave.

"I think people will like us. The team has a lot of enthusiasm and is putting out a truly good effort," he said. In a while the students will be proud of us.

"The team believes that they will win a lot of football games, and they should feel it," Dempsey said. "They've improved a lot, but the question is how far to turn out to be the..."

The 1976 football schedule is tough, according to Dempsey. "All of our opponents have reputable programs," he said. "It's a darn difficult schedule, and gets tougher in the years coming."}

Dempsey pointed to the schedule hanging in his office and said, "I can't go through every game and ask you if we can win."

"But look at the schedule. A common occurrence among coaches and fans alike is to assume that they can beat certain teams every time, but Dempsey is not one of them."

"We'll put a W after one team on the schedule."

"It took Dempsey only two years to build a winning program at Youngstown, but he calls the schedule the "most difficult job I've ever had. But we won't panic in this job."

Dempsey pointed out in his first year at Youngstown, the team went 1-9 and record two-thirds through the season, over last year's highest figure, Dempsey said that in his first year at Youngstown, the team went 8-1.

"The question is how far Dempsey pointed out that in his first year..."

"They've..."

Although some new coaches in sports that they do have to turn a losing program around in one or two years, Dempsey calls the four-year goal "reasonable."

"You can't shoot for it all in one year."

Dempsey refused to predict his team's record this year, but he is confident that things are looking better.

"I have no idea how good or bad we are," he said. "Right now, we're just trying to get the program started here."

Most of the current SIU students won't be around in four years to see the program that Dempsey envisions, but he said that they will notice an improvement by the time they leave.

"I think people will like us. The team has a lot of enthusiasm and is putting out a truly good effort," he said. In a while the students will be proud of us.

"The team believes that they will win a lot of football games, and they should feel it," Dempsey said. "They've improved a lot, but the question is how far to turn out to be the..."
