ISA To Crown Independent Sweetheart Here Tonight

Tonight at 10:00 the ISA Sweetheart will be crowned in the Wagon gym at the ISA Sweetheart dance featuring the music of Floyd Moorland: She was elected last Monday from five nominees by the members of the ISA.

The five girls who are finalists in the Sweetheart contest are: Bernice Wepiewski, Odin, a sophomore in the College of Education; Kathy Brooks, Macedonia, a junior in the College of Education; Mary Ann Cagle, Eldorado, a junior in the College of Education; Jo Ann Harris, Odin, a junior in Liberal Arts and Sciences, and Winnie Bollinger, Granite City, a junior in the College of Education. All the girls are brunettes with the exception of Winnie, a blonde. Pictures of the five finalists appear at left above the name plate.

Southern's ISA Sweetheart, along with those from other schools, will attend the convention in Lafayette, Indiana, the home of Purdue University. Here the national Independent Sweetheart will be chosen. Pat Marlow from Southern won the title two years ago.

Tomorrow night the week's activities will close with a party at the Sportsmen's Club from 8 to 12:30 p. m. Admission will be 50 cents, the same charge for the dance tonight.

ISA week officially began with a concert by Mildred Dilling, harpist, last Monday. A "South of the Border" party was Tuesday night's activity and Wednesday the ISA went on a skating party. Last night all independent organized houses held open house.

Freda Gower is overall chairman of the week. Committee members include: Lee Wilson, Gwen Lane, and Bill Phelps on the dance committee with Arlie Triple and Margaret Zimmerman acting as co-chairmen. Co-chairmen of the Independent Sweetheart committee are Lee Breitbaupt and Charley Newberry with Alice Dorris, Doris Roston, Ed Sharp, and Jack Randolph on their committee.

Members of the "South of the Border" party committee were Amy

Wilkinson, Alva Hanson, Joyce Donoho, and Verla Krasko. Bobbie Krasko and Dick Moore are co-chairmen of the committee. Dance decorations committee co-chairmen are Mary Ann Narasin and Jerry McIntosh with the same members as a committee. Dallas Talley and Jerry Fear are band committee chairmen.

Sportsmen club party co-chairmen are Dallas Talley and Mary Ann Cagle, and skating party co-chairmen are Bernice Wepiewski and Keith Stecker. Agnes Schwehr and Jim Gillilan are publicity co-chairmen. Finance committee co-chairmen are Tom Austin and Mary Lou Dyer. Entertainment committee members are Carolyn Combs and Oma Dorris.

The ISA is an organization for students who do not belong to social fraternities or sororities. It serves as a social function for its members.

German Students To Visit Campus For Two Weeks

Carbondale and surrounding communities are presently serving as host to two foreign visitors who are engaged in a study of American youth organizations. Our Opinions

The present Student Union building showing how the building looks from the exterior.

All But The Outside

Personal appearance and first impressions aren't overbearing, but they are important. Likewise, the general appearance of a building and the impression it makes on one are not all-important, but they must be considered. The new wing between the present Student Union and the Post Office building is the best we've seen in a long time. It represents careful design and hard labor in its production. On the inside, it promises to be the latest thing in design and convenience. It will provide students with "modern" recreational facilities, and will leave little to be desired when it is finished—on the inside. The Student Union as a whole will unfortunately present the outward appearance of modernity bounded by antiquity. The old Student Union on one side, and the Post Office building on the other side present quite a contrast to the neat, modernistic appearance of the new wing of the Student Center. The overall appearance of the building will not deter Southern students from using the building, for they have become accustomed to its appearance. The contrast will be most apparent to those who just visit the campus. They may well leave with an impression of a Student Union, one wing of which is neatly planned and maintained, but which is sandwiched between two other weather-beaten wings of temporary buildings.

An Example

In the last issue of the Egyptian an article appeared concerning the redecoration at the Student Christian Foundation which has and is being done by certain members of the faculty in their spare time. Various members of the faculty have also contributed monetary aid to the redecoration. We feel this is a very commendable gesture on the part of those faculty members taking part. Although we realize that the Student Christian Foundation will extend their own thanks, we too, want to act our own proverbial "two bits in" on the thank you's. It isn't often that such busy and hurried people as our faculty members can afford to take time out to give something to the students outside of the classroom. Special recognition should go to Dr. and Mrs. Neckers who have spearheaded this drive to make the foundation a more attractive place. We understand that the list of the faculty members who have helped with this program is too long to print here. Even if we can't list their names we want to give them recognition for their work and expense. Although the group working on the Foundation is large, we would imagine it to be far short of including the majority of those on our faculty. However, out of those who aren't working on this project there are some who nevertheless contribute much to student welfare through their positions or by actually taking part in student activities. It is the faculty members who do nothing outside of taking care of their respective classes that we are concerned with here. Some may say that members of the faculty are hired only to teach. But it is our opinion that teaching consists of several things other than merely putting across "subject matter." It is an accepted fact that students respect those who work "with" them rather than those who are always working "over" them in class. Our point is that maybe there are a few faculty members who, although they are doing an excellent job of teaching their classes, could well benefit both the student body and themselves by following in the footsteps of their colleagues who are making several students better enjoy their life at Southern. On Other Campuses

By Bob Brim AT HARVARD UNIVERSITY Two members of the Hygiene department have warned students that the use of "No-Doz" is partially responsible for the nervous collapse of many students around exam time. Dr. Arlie Beck, hygiene professor, terms the taking of "No-Doz" pills "self-inflicted injury." He adds, "If a fellow can't do his work without resort to such drugs, I would say he doesn't belong in school." Dr. Arthur Contratto, instructor in medicine, says the pills often cause "severe nervous reaction" which, although temporary, is handicapping. "No-Doz," sold without prescription, is standard equipment for many students who feel the need to cram the clock-around for final exams. A Food and Drug Administration representative puts it in the same class with aspirin, since the stimulant caffeine is its only active ingredient. Harvard University has announced it will not accept applications because of fatigue and collapse if "No-Doz" is a partial cause. AT THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS Officials have banned television antennas on campus because they are "unsightly." As a replacement, the university is contemplating building one huge antenna to be located centrally on the campus. AT MERCY COLLEGE, DETROIT A student council member and reporter recently asked girls "Why do students cheat during examinations?" and "What can be done about it?" The girls, who were preparing for finals at the time, came through with some rather frank answers. "Lack of preparation" was the most frequently named reason for cheating. Other reasons in order of frequency: fear of failure, lack of self-confidence, desire to keep an average, and teachers' overemphasis on grades. The girls suggested an honor system as a remedy — but not the West Point brand that necessitates student informers. AT EMORY UNIVERSITY, GA. The student council is trying to decide whether or not membership in the National Student Association is desirable for a Southern University. NSA membership in the South has fallen considerably because as one Southern student said, the organization has passed "strong civil rights" policies. The Emory Wheel campus newspaper, states the dilemma this way: "Either to stay in the national organization along with the great universities of the North and West which see far enough beyond the narrow confines of their own region... or to withdraw from the group and form a select circle of Southern Universities." The Emory council voted to stay in. Opposition to membership hasn't diminished, however, and the Wheel is asking the council for "some definite action on the matter."

The regular weekly meeting of the Student Council was called to order Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 17, by President Jerry Fear. Roll was taken. Those present were: Fear, W. Beadle, Diane Alarce, Myers, Willson, Darling, E. Beadle, McIntosh. Feb. 10 minutes were spent and approved. Barbara Beadle, chairman; Ian Evans; and Jerry McIntosh were appointed by President Fear to plan a day for the Cape Student Council to visit Southern. A letter from Michigan state college was read by Fear requesting that a pennant be sent to them. It was decided that Fear would do this. The Carbondale Chapter of Commerce will hold its regular quarterly meeting at the Canteen at 6:30 tonight. Based on the theme "Where Are We Going?" the program will be worked around the educational system and their impact on business and our community. Principal speakers, each a prominent figure in his own field, will be Dr. D. W. Morris, N. A. Rosen and Clyde W. Walker. Each will give about ten minutes to his talk, which will be followed with a five-minute forum type discussion with questions welcomed from the audience. This program will deal with what has been done in the past and also some plans for the future in our educational system. Tickets for reservations for this meeting are now available at $1.75 to both men and women. They may be purchased at either of the Carbondale banks, Chamber of Commerce office, Saverly Paint and Wallpaper store or from Mrs. Lucille Eberhart at the Business office in Shroyok auditorium on the campus. DEAN E. G. LENTZ

Dean E. G. Lentz Becomes Southern's Biographer

By Elaine Hartley The year was 1947, and SIU president Chester Lay was looking for a man to write a biography. Not the story of a general or a statesman, the book was to be the biography of a school—Southern. Dean Lentz came to SIU as instructor in English. Later, he became instructor in mathematics, associate professor and professor of history. In 1948 he was given the title of University Professor, the first and only one in Southern's history. He retired in 1950. In administrative connections he was SIU's first dean of men from 1945-45 and University people who know him will call him "Dean." He was curator of the Clark Clay Linton Library from 1946-50 and chairman of the Diamond Jubilee celebration. In 1951-52, he was called out of retirement to be acting director of the Alumni Services for the year. The dean helped found the Egyptian and was the paper's advisor for the first six years of its existence. In those days the publication was self-supporting," he recalled. HE HAS also sponsored the Orlais, the Sacrate Literary Society and Forum Debate Club of other persons in the school's history. Last day, co-sponsored the A. P. O. When HE came, the school and helped regulate the Harvard and SIU cooperative. Active in area organizations, Dean Lentz helped found and was secretary of the Southern Illinois Historical Society. He is a Rosarian and Anthony Hall. Dean Lentz watched it expand into a full-fledged University. He gave the graduation, now Southern division of Carbondale address when the first J. A. A.

Dean Swartz Outlines Graduate Requirements

Some of us may wonder just what it takes to be elevated to the ranks of that institution of high learning, the Graduate School. The answer, according to Graduate School Dean, Willis C. Swartz, is a bachelor's degree, "C" average, and the approval of the Graduate School. After gaining admittance, however, it is also necessary to have the approval of the department in which you plan to major.

Graduate students may work toward any one of four degrees — Master of Arts, Master of Science, Master of Education, or Master of Fine Arts. The latter, which was established only last year, is at present restricted to an arts student.

ALTHOUGH it is not required, if a student has graduated from the College of Vocations and Professions he will usually work toward a Master of Science degree. If he has graduated from the College of Liberal Arts he will probably receive a Master of Arts degree, and most College of Education graduates receive the Master of Science in Education degree.

To graduate with a master's degree in any of the four fields, a graduate student must have a year's graduate work, which is 48 quarter hours, with the exception of the degree of Master of Fine Arts which requires a minimum of 60 quarter hours. A student's graduate major may consist of all 48 quarter hours in his major field, or 32 quarter hours in his major field and the rest of his minor field or in elective courses. A student must also have a "B" average in graduate work to qualify for the master's degree.

THE GRADUATE thesis is another requirement for graduation in the sciences, along with oral and written examination. This examination, which is usually oral, is taken before a panel of at least four members representing the student's major and minor fields and the faculty at large.

The policy-determining body of the Graduate School, according to Dean Swartz, is the Graduate Council. This council is provided for in the University statutes to determine general graduate policies. It has eight members who are appointed by the president on the recommendation of the Dean of the Graduate School. The Graduate School faculty, with its representative 20 members has the same powers as the Graduate Council.

DEAN Swartz stated that there are between 250 and 500 students now enrolled in Southern's Graduate School. These students are 700 or 800 who take graduate work some time during the year. The majority of these people are not full-time students of the University, but are perhaps teachers or administrators. These people take graduate courses are taught in the evening or on Saturdays. A large percentage of the enrollment is composed of students in extension classes being taught off campus.

Points in the contest will be earned by obtaining subscriptions to Delta Sigma's new magazine, "SCHOOLS" with registration of 10,000 or more will receive one point for each one-year subscription. Schools with enrollments between 7,500 and 10,000 will receive three points, and schools with 5,000 to 7,500 will receive two points. Schools with 2,500 to 5,000, seven points; schools with 1,000 to 2,500, nine points, and schools under 1,000 enrollment, 11 points for each one-year subscription.

The contest is open to all schools and universities. Any schools whose representatives have not yet been contacted can enter the contest by sending a letter signifying such an intention to Dean Swartz, 2001 Calumet Avenue, Chicago 16, Ill.

Geology Members Visit Indiana

Six members of the SIU geology club will field trip to Southern Indiana last week end in search of fossils, geodes, and knowledge of the limestone of that area. The six left at 3 a. m. Saturday morning in order to make an appointment with Dr. J. J. Callaway at the University of Indiana at 9:40 a. m. Dr. Callaway is known as the leading Micropaleontologist of the world.

The lectured to the club members for about three hours on geodes and fossils. Dr. Callaway led the group in the afternoon, and they continued their trip to Madison, Ind., a world famous Ordovician fossil locality.

The club members collected enough geodes and fossils for an exhibit which is now on display in the Geology room No. 213 in Old Main.

The six club members who made the trip were led by Professor Eric Berlin, Ruben, historian; Everett Patz, Charles Luce, Richard Coleman, and Jules DuBar, one of the faculty sponsors of the group.

The club has planned a five day trip to Alaska during spring vacation. Anyone who is interested in going with the group should contact a member of the club or one of the faculty sponsors.

Historical Book By SIU Professor, Wife To Reach Book Stores March 9

A fresh approach to the Lincoln story comes in a new book, "Nancy Hanks Lincoln, A Frontier Portrait" written by Dr. and Mrs. Harold Briggs of SIU. Dr. Briggs, chairman of Southern's history department, is the author.

The purpose of the historical study, Dr. Briggs, is to bring together for the first time widely scattered material dealing with the mother of Abraham Lincoln, separate fact from tradition as much as possible.

The 135 page volume, published by Bookman Associates, New York, now is being reviewed in metropolitan newspapers and sections will reach book stores by March 9.

Pi Lambda Receives New Members At Tuesday Evening Dinner Meeting

Twenty-five new members were initiated into Pi Lambda, honorary education fraternity, in a dinner meeting Tuesday evening. Speaker for the meeting was Dr. Frank Klingberg, of the government department.

New members of the organization are Ruth Bogmann, Kathryn Brooks, Mary Ann Cagle, Juanita Coleman, Carol Sue Cook, Joan Davis, LaDonne Deadmond, Beverly Hopkins, Dolores Feldkamp, Alice Ann Foley, Jean Gummertsheimer, Linda Heugler, Jean Jones, Dorothy Koontz, Marnie McClean, Phyllis McKenzie, Mary E. Magna, Carl F. Meyer, Patsy Miller, Rhodora Moselle, Marie Nickoloff, Dorothy Olds, Arvilyn Reed, Betty White, and Darlene Woodside.

Dr. Klingberg spoke on the United Nations. He listed three reasons for a shift in opinion concerning the U.N. First, he said, we were over-sold, in 1945, about what the United Nations could do. Secondly, we persist in a natural feeling of fear of that which is new and we tend to mistrust foreigners. Third, we are reflecting the frustration of living in the Korean War crisis.

Klingberg summarized the achievements of the U.N.: 1. It provides a global forum for discussion and peaceful settlement of disputes. 2. It affords collective security. 3. It has worked for human rights for all. 4. It has improved the economic and social conditions in the world.

In conclusion, Klingberg said, "The heart of the United Nations rests in the power and spirit of its American people."

The new regular meeting of Pi Lambda will be held March 19 in the Student Union building. Dr. Stewart will be in charge of this meeting.

St. Louis Papers Feature Articles On SIU Student

Rich Becker, SIU student, recently gained recognition by two St. Louis newspapers for his work as producer secretary of one of the first non-professional radio workshop groups in Southern Illinois.

Becker, a speech major, was first mentioned in Bob Goddard's "all-in Our Town" which appeared daily in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Several days later, he was again subject for a news article in the Post-Dispatch, which, along with the story, carried a picture of Becker.

He is the organizer of the "Ralph Becker Radio Play" which is a production which provides practical experience in the production of radio drama to all interested students. First show of the organization was the production of "Little Women," which was heard over the local station, WCIL.

Last Sunday, the group's production of "Rhapsody in Blue" was heard over station WCIL at 2:05 p. m. This production was a portrayal of the life and music of George Gershwin and commemorated the twenty-ninth anniversary of "Rhapsody in Blue," which had its world premiere Feb. 12, 1924.

Becker, a native of St. Louis, attended Teachers College and Washington University in St. Louis before attending Southern.

Cagers Wind-up IIAC Play, Face Normal and Western

Salukis Have Slight Chance of Tying for Conference Championship

Coach Lynn Holder's cagers will make a last ditch stand this weekend in an attempt to keep alive a mathematical chance for a share of the IIAC basketball title.

The Salukis face a long awaited rematch tonight with Illinois Normal at Bloomington, then move over to Macomb Saturday night to close their 1952-53 IIAC schedule in a rematch with the Western Illinois Leathernecks.

Remote Title Chance
The Southern must win both games to remain in contention. Two Saluki wins, combined with three Eastern losses, two Michigan Normal losses, and one Northern Illinois loss, will create a three way tie for the crown. Southern, Eastern and Michigan Normal would be bunched in a final 7-5 deadlock. If Northern Illinois wins all three of its remaining games, along with the above circumstances, there would be a four way tie.

Tonight, the Salukis will have a chance to average an 81-80 loss to the Normal Redbirds here at Carbondale. Southern had the Redbirds hanging on the ropes, with a 15 point lead in the beginning of the fourth quarter. But the visitors rallied to wipe out the lead and win, 81-80.

Since then, the Redbirds have been hot and cold. They lost two at Michigan, to the Chaps 78-67, Illinois Wesleyan, and beat Indiana Central, Eastern, and Western and

Stop Sarver to Win
Saluki success tonight may depend upon their ability to stop Bill Sarver, top IIAC scorer. He hit 41 points against Eastern last Saturday, increasing his total to 243 points in 10 league games and 454 in 20 games over the season. His field goal percentage in the conference is .386, and he has 33 out of 36 free throws for .917.

The Redbird starting line-up has undergone several changes since they played the Salukis. Captain Don Rickard, who is second in scoring, hasn't started in the last several games. Boy Bryant, a freshman, has pushed him onto the bench. Two seniors who didn't sign at Carbondale are also important. They are Don Trimble and LeRoy Eicken, both of whom will start tonight. The fifth starter is Ed Hayes, who is averaging about 10 points a game, and is top rebounder on the team with 8 per game.

Face Macomb Saturday
The Salukis will be gunning for their second victory over cellar dwelling Western Illinois at Macomb Saturday night. In IIAC play the Leathernecks own only two victories. They answered the Central Michigan 72-67, and surprised Northern Illinois last Saturday with a 78-67 victory.

Southern had a little trouble downing the Leathernecks here at usual 123 pound post and put Marshall-Riggan back in at 130 for the meet. Whalen and Riggan swapped weights for the Arkansas State meet last Friday night.

THE REST of the line-up will probably remain unchanged. Joe Fedora will go at 147, Bob Zelenak at 157, Nick Veremis at 167, Dick Erickson at 177 and Kent Werner as heavy. Art Hargis, who wrestles at 167 or 177, usually nursing an injured knee.

Wilkinson's crew finishes up their dual meet schedule a week from tomorrow, when they are hosts to Great Lakes in a return match. These girls have been practicing every day this week hoping for victory Saturday.

THURSDAY night, the staff of the women's physical education department gave a dinner for the junior and senior physical education majors at the Jackson Country Club.

AT THE Professional Club meeting Wednesday night, David McIntosh, music department, spoke to the girls on folk dancing, and the group participated in the dancing. Men physical education majors were also present at this meeting.

STANDINGS in the basketball tourney now in progress are as follows:

Carbondale. The Salukis jumped off to an early lead, but had to save off a fourth quarter Western smack-up win 65-63.

No Line-up Change
Coach Lynn Holder will not change his line-up for the game according to yesterday's reports. Ray Ripplemeyer and Bob Nickolaus will remain at the forward spots, Chuck Thate at center, and John Cherry and Harvey Welch at guards. Gib Kurtz and Jack Therian will also probably see plenty of action over the week-end. Other Salukis making the trip are Jack Morgan, Jack Renfro and Dan Smith.

After playing Illinois Wesleyan at Bloomington Monday night, the Salukis return to Carbondale to finish out the season at home. They entertain Millikin University Feb. 25, and Indiana State College Feb. 27 in the 1953 wind-up.

SIU Plays Tough Illinois Wesleyan Monday Night

Southern's cagers will tackle one of the toughest opponents on their schedule Monday night when they are guests of Illinois Wesleyan at Bloomington.

Last season, the Salukis easily stomped Wesleyan at Carbondale 82-53. Only factor that kept the contest interesting to the spectators was that it was big Tom Millikin's last game before leaving for the service. The stand-out forward was trying to establish a few individual scoring records, which he fell several points short of accomplishing.

But this season, I. W. is no body's push-over. He made a 5-1 record in the O.C.I. besides two victories over Illinois Normal, 77-72 and 98-66; a trouncing of Millikin 87-62, and a 77-68 decision over Eastern.

Their worst beating of the season was handed to them by the DePaul university, 70-36. The Demons defeated Southern 79-69. Western ran up an even 100 points when they defeated Illinois College 100-52 for their largest margin of victory.

Monday night's contest is the last road game of the season.

Cage Coach Has Worries

If James "Pim" Goff, Illinois Normal's young head basketball coach, doesn't have grey hair by now, he probably never will. So far this season, the Redbirds have scored four victories by margins of just two points, one by three points, and one by just one point.

THEY'VE ALSO lost twice by just five points and once by three points in an overtime contest. Since the season began, they've been swinging around in the IIAC standings. Once tied for first and once as low as fourth, they are currently in third with 6-4 and reveling in the glory of a 91-89 victory over Eastern. This victory came in the last three seconds.

Their 82-79 win from Northern Illinois was decided in the last three minutes. When they beat Southern here at Carbondale, they had to overcome a 15 point deficit in the third quarter, then with eight-lipped while a Saluki reserve guard took two free shots in the last three seconds with the Redbirds ahead, 81-79. The Southerners missed the first free throw. He made the second one, but time ran out before the Salukis could score again.

Grapplers Wrestle Panthers Tomorrow

Southern's wrestlers will try to do tomorrow what Southern's basketball team couldn't do. Eastern, Wilkinson's grapplers will try to own one victory over the Panthers this season, will be in search of their second tomorrow afternoon in the Charleston gym.

THE SALUKI matmen played "Panthers" in an earlier match at Carbondale. Wilkinson's crew came one victory short of scoring a three-way when they took seven out of eight to win, 23-3.

The victory over Eastern and a top-sided trouncing of Western are the only wins the matmen have posted. They lost two to Arkansas State, two to Memphis Navy, one to Illinois Normal, one to Great Lakes and tied with Northern Illinois.

WILKINSON SAID he plans to move Bob Whalen back to his

For the Women

Projects committee for the WAA is planning to make money to send a delegate to the National Convention of the American Federation of College Women to be held in State College, California. The girls are planning to make judge and sell it at the organized house meetings on Monday night. Members of this project committee are Jeanette Harris, Alva Ann Klingenberg, Carolyn Blowing, Tennie Hill, Julie Geddes, Louise Taylor, and Norma English.

A GROUP of SIU girls will travel to Elba, Ill. Saturday for a rematch basketball game with Principia College. Two teams are leaving the women's gym at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. The first game will be played at 2 p. m. and the other one will follow. This game might be called a "grudge" match, as the Principia teams won both their games at the Sports' Day held on campus last Saturday. The local girls are out to prove that they cannot be so easily defeated, so it should be quite a game.

STANDINGS in the basketball tourney now in progress are as follows:

IIAC Basketball Crown Is Still Up for Grabs

With only eight more games remaining on the conference schedule, three teams are still in an excellent position to capture the loop crown.

Eastern's Panthers, with a 7-2 record, still are in the top position. But Michigan Normal, Hurons, who won their last five conference games handily, are strongly contending Eastern's title.

ALL-THREE PLAY TONIGHT
All three contenders engage in league play this week-end. Eastern travels to Western tonight, then moves over to Northern Saturday. The Panthers hold an earlier 47-51 victory over last place Western, and an 82-69 win over the Huskies.

Michigan Normal travels to Central Michigan tonight. The Hurons

SIU, NI, Normal Favored in IIAC Wrestling Meet

Southern, Illinois Normal and Northern Illinois are ranked as the three favorites in the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference wrestling meet to be held at DeKalb Mar. 7.

Only the five Illinois schools will enter the meet. Central Michigan and Michigan Normal will not be represented.

Northern Illinois, last season's winners, moved up into contention again by posting a 14-11 victory over Illinois Normal last week.

Eastern has three more games to play, while the Hurons and Redbirds have only two remaining. Besides tonight's game with Western, the Panthers must face Northern on the road, and Illinois Normal at home.

Michigan Normal has one game remaining after tonight. They play Northern's Huskies at DeKalb Feb. 28.

The Normal Redbirds have the toughest schedule, having to face both Southern and Eastern on successive week-ends.

Both Southern Illinois and Northern Illinois still retain a mathematical chance to tie for first place. Southern is in fourth with 5-5, and Northern is fifth with 4-5. If Eastern, Michigan Normal, and Illinois Normal lose all of their remaining games, either Southern or Northern could gain a share of the crown by finishing the loop schedule without a loss. Thus, by a remote possibility, the standings could result in a four-way tie for the crown.

Remaining IIAC Games:

Feb. 20 — Southern at Illinois Normal; Michigan Normal at Central Michigan; Eastern at Western.

Feb. 21 — Southern at Western; Eastern at Northern.

Feb. 17 — Central Michigan at Northern.

Intramural Free Throw Contest Begins Feb. 23

Southern's winter quarter intramural program will be climaxed by a free throw contest, according to Jim Wilkinson, intramural director.

The contest will be run off in three shifts, Feb. 23, Feb. 24, and Feb. 26. Shooting will start at 6:30 p. m. in the men's gym, and will be run in 20 minute intervals.

Each contestant will be given 25 free throw attempts. If he hits on at least half of them, he gets 25 more. Contestant having the highest percentage over of 50 will place first. Wilkinson said. The winner of the tournament will be awarded with a first place trophy.

Any man interested in entering the tournament should sign his name on the sheets posted on the bulletin board outside of the second floor office in the men's gym. Wilkinson asked that each contestant give preference as to date and time when signing the entry sheet.

SIU President Attends Conference at U. of I.

President Delte W. Morris participated in the recent two-day conference at the University of Illinois during which plans were formulated for the first Allerton House Conference on Education which will be held sometime during the next six months. The goal of this series of conferences which may extend over two or three years, is to completely reevaluate the state's educational process.
