Sports and recreation enthusiasts wander through exhibits at the Spring Sports and Recreation Show.

Leisure-time attractions fill Arena

By Catherine Simpson
Staff Writer

People of all ages strolled through the SIU Arena this weekend and enjoyed daydreaming of one day owning that dream boat or trailer they've always wanted.

The 1987 Spring Sports and Recreation Show held February 6-8 had exhibits for people of all tastes.

Boats, recreational vehicles, trailers, motorcycles, golf carts, jet skis and various stores, resorts and campgrounds were just some of the exhibits at the show.

Interested in an R.V. or a trailer? Prices start at about $6,200 for a folding trailer and go up to $50,000 for an R.V. that includes such features as a microwave oven, and a built-in television and video tape recorder.

Marvin Oetjen of Kamper Supply in Carterville, sells at least 100 recreational vehicles per year. The show at the Arena is his largest show, drawing people who may come in "six to eight months down the road" and decide they are ready to buy, Oetjen said.

Most of his buyers are either retired or construction workers who like to live on the sight, said Oetjen.

Various fishing boats also were scattered across the arena floor. For a basic boat, it could cost $4,500. A model with extras could cost $15,000.

Upstairs at the Arena, booths from Southern Illinois, Kentucky and Missouri had information on boots, belts, bikes, campgrounds, exercises, scuba lessons and sunglasses. Even Gusto's and J.C. Penney had exhibits at the show.

Many exhibitors also held drawings or gave free gifts. Winners of the drawings from various exhibitors were announced each hour.

Officials urge first strike on terrorists

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two congressmen, saying the spate of hostage-taking in Lebanon has paralyzed Western efforts to combat terrorism, indicated Sunday that they would favor pre-emptive action by the United States.

Rep. Lawrence Smith, D-Fla., also expressed doubt the terrorist group Islamic Jihad would kill four hostages—three Americans and an Indian national—unless its demand for the release of 400 Palestinians jailed in Israel is met by Monday.

The group, in a videotape of hostage Alann Steen released to a Western news agency in Beirut, said they would also execute the four hostages in the event of a U.S. strike on Lebanon.

It was the third such threat this week by extremist groups in Beirut.

Secretary of State George Shultz said on ABC's "This Week with David Brinkley" that the United States cannot "start jumping whenever" threats are made.

Asked what the U.S. response would be if a hostage is killed, Shultz said, "We'll respond as the situation merits. I'm not going to try to forecast it. But we do have a clear and basically good set of policies on terrorism."

"They're not killing anybody so quickly," Smith said on CNN's "Newsmaker Sunday." "They want something out of this."

But Smith and Rep. Jim Courter, R-N.J., who appeared on the same program, said the hostage-taking has paralyzed the United States and its allies in their efforts to combat terrorism.

Asked about a U.S. show of force, Smith said, "I don't really think it's wrong ... to show the people in the region ... that we are absolutely concerned and committed" to

Hostage tape released, death threat renewed

BEIRUT. Lebanon (UPI)—A Moslem extremist group Sunday released a videotape of an American hostage who said that he and his fellow captives face "execution" Monday if Israel does not release 400 Palestinian prisoners.

Another underground group holding U.S. and French hostages warned of "severe consequences" if the United States attacks Lebanon and accused missing hostage negotiator Terry Waite of carrying a concealed transmitter to reveal the hideouts of kidnapers.

In Syria, Shiite Moslem

militia chief Nabih Berri said he believed the Church of England envoy would be released "soon" and reiterated an offer to exchange an Israeli pilot captured in October for 400 Arab prisoners whose freedom is demanded by the Islamic Jihad for the Liberation of Palestine, which claims to hold three American hostages and an Indian-born U.S. resident.

"My information is that they will release Mr. Waite soon. I did not say in 24 hours or 48 hours. I said days, weeks, and not months," said Berri, without saying who was holding Waite.

Israeli officials Sunday said that they doubted Berri, Lebanon's justice minister and leader of the Amal militia, could deliver foreign hostages in a swap involving the Israeli pilot and 400 Arab prisoners held by Israel. In response,

Two charged in Obelisk burglary

By John Baldwin
Staff Writer

Two people were arrested and charged with breaking into the Obelisk Publishing Company office at 900 S. Forest and stealing several yearbooks, an adding machine, an answering machine and coupon booklets.

Lt. Larry Hill, of the Carbondale Police Department, said Larry J. Hunt Jr., 20, and Thea Karch, 21, both of Makanda, were charged with the burglary.

No monetary value has been placed on the items.

Karch also is charged with burglary of Flowers by LaVern, 116 N. Illinois.

Captain Carl Kirk of the SIU-C Police Department said most of the stolen items were found in a lake, but he would not specify which lake.

Hunt was an editor-in-chief of the Obelisk II yearbook during the fall semester. There was tension between him and the staff, yearbook workers said.

Karch did not work at the yearbook.

Although SIU-C police were investigating the Obelisk II burglary, Carbondale police made an arrest in regard to the flower shop burglary and made a connection with the Obelisk II yearbook burglary.

Israel balks at exchange of prisoners for hostages

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Israel Sunday again rejected a demand to free 400 Palestinian prisoners in exchange for four Western hostages under a death threat in Beirut, saying it "will not act in accordance with ultimatums." Foreign Minister Shimon Peres told Israeli army radio that Israel still refused to consider the kidnappers' demand, made shortly after the hostages were seized on Jan. 24.

Kidnappers ignore Berri's offer to negotiate

DAMASCUS, Syria (UPI)—An offer by Shiite militia leader Nabih Berri to negotiate an exchange that would free Church of England envoy Terry Waite and Western hostages was publicly ignored Sunday by the kidnappers. Israeli officials also were skeptical about the proposed arrangement centering on trading an Israeli pilot held by Berri's Amal militia for 400 Israeli-held Arabs whose freedom is demanded by the kidnappers threatening to kill four university professors today.

Officials discuss wording of document

GUATEMELA CITY (UPI)—European, Contadora and Central American diplomats wrangled Sunday over the wording of a political document that pits Nicaragua against U.S. allies in the region. Sunday was the final day of preliminary negotiations before today's opening of the third Western Europe-Central American Political and Economic Conference.

Baby heart-transplant patient critical, stable

LOMA LINDA, Calif. (UPI)—A 10-week-old Canadian girl was in critical but stable condition Sunday after a rare infant-to-infant heart transplant, a spokeswoman at Loma Linda University Medical Center said. Baby Jessica, who received her new heart in a five-hour operation Saturday, was being watched closely by specialists who monitored her heartbeat and other vital signs throughout the night, spokeswoman Anita Rockwell said.

Gas price increase less than previous period

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Gasoline prices from Jan. 23 to Feb. 6 rose an average of 1.81 cents a gallon nationwide to 92.77 cents, a smaller increase than the previous two-week period, the Lundberg Survey reported Sunday. But the smaller increase did not signify a quick end to rising gasoline prices, said Trilby Lundberg, president of the survey and publisher of the Lundberg Letter, a national newsletter of the oil industry. From Jan. 9 to Jan. 23, gasoline prices rose an average of 3.05 cents to 90.96 cents, Lundberg said.

Pilots begin single-engine pole-to-pole flight

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Two pilots on a historic single-engine flight from pole to pole left Tahiti Sunday on a 14-hour nonstop trip to Hawaii, just one day after they made a similar journey marked by a long radio blackout. The crew of the Arctic Tern left Tahiti at 1:40 p.m. EST and were scheduled to complete the 2,400-mile trip and touch down in Honolulu at 4:10 a.m. The pilots—Richard Norton, 48, a commercial airline pilot from Philadelphia, and Calin Rosetti, 56, a West German aeronautics engineer—planned to stop again in Fairbanks, Alaska, before attempting to fly over the North Pole.

Overcrowded Texas prisons might stay closed

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (UPI)—The overcrowded Texas prison system, closed for five consecutive days, released no inmates over the weekend and may be forced to stay shut Monday, a spokesman said Sunday. With the doors of the sprawling 27-unit prison system closed, county jails are overflowing with inmates. Several counties, running low on bunks, have been putting inmates on mattresses on the floor. The state prison system will not be allowed to take in new inmates Monday unless Friday's count shows the population is below 95 percent capacity.

Suit may effect minority employment in media

NEW YORK (UPI)—A discrimination suit brought by four black reporters of the nation's largest circulation general-interest daily newspaper could have far-reaching effects on minority employment in the news media, lawyers said Sunday. The case, filed in U.S. District Court in Manhattan in 1980, charges New York's Daily News with using discriminatory practices to prevent promotions and pay raises for black employees and to keep them from gaining broader professional experience. Dan Alterman, a lawyer for the reporters said. The trial is scheduled to open Monday.

Prof, 90, wants a long life to see a world without war

By Tracy Bartoni
Staff Writer

Turning 90 is no small feat. Paul Arthur Schilpp, distinguished research professor emeritus of philosophy at SIU-C, reached this milestone Friday.

Schilpp, who taught for 60 years (1922-1982), was honored at a panel discussion on his career as teacher, writer, and philosopher Sunday at the Unitarian-Universalist Church in Carbondale.

John F. Hayward, faculty member of the Religious Studies Department at SIU-C and guest speaker at the symposium, quoted Schilpp: "Every nation claims sovereignty for itself, which means that it insists upon being a law unto itself and refuses to recognize any other law or a law above itself."

"So long as this situation exists there can be only one result, namely international anarchy. International anarchy, and the resulting nuclear conflict, amounts to treason against mankind, which is infinitely worse than treason to the nation."

"...The law of self-preservation makes selfless altruism, viewed on the international and interracial level, not only a virtue but a necessity which veritably shouts 'cooperate or perish.'"

Schilpp said, "I think I might feel that if I lived a long life that I would at least live long enough to see a warless world."

Schilpp, the son of a German Methodist minister, came to the United States at 16 to enter Baldwin Wallace College in Berea, Ohio, in 1913. He graduated three years later.

Schilpp is former president of the western division of the American Philosophical Association and has been a consultant in philosophy to the Encyclopedia Britannica for 25 years.

Schilpp is the founder and former editor emeritus of the Library of Living Philosophers. The LLP was developed during Schilpp's 29 years as a faculty member at the Department of Philosophy at Northwestern University.

The first book in the 17-volume set, "The Philosophy of John Dewey," was published in 1939. The newest edition, "The Philosophy of W.V. Quine," was added last year. Each volume examines the ideas of thinkers such as Bertrand Russell, Albert Einstein, Karl Popper, Jean-Paul Sartre and Gabriel Marcel.

Schilpp has contributed to scholarly journals as well as written books such as "Kant's Pre-Critical Ethics," "The Quest for Religious Realism," "The Crisis in Science and Education," and others.

Schilpp has traveled and taught throughout the world. He had a visiting professorship at the University of Munich, Germany; the Watumull Foundation Lectureship in India and Ceylon; and has represented the U.S. Department of State at the Pakistan Philosophical Congress.

Birth control ads are a smart choice

THE COMMERCIAL OPENS with an unhappy young woman pointing to her distended middle. A commanding voiceover warns "Don't let an unwanted pregnancy happen to you." The commercial then tells viewers where they can write for an information booklet on birth control.

This television ad promoting family planning, recently shown on a local television station, was a long time in coming and has sparked some controversy. Heavens, the censors groan, do we really want all that stuff about pregnancy and birth control right out there where the kids can see it?

Of course we do. How else are they going to learn about birth control if the information is not where they can see it?

Public service messages about birth control, along with ads for condoms and other common, non-prescription contraceptives, are conspicuously absent from the Madison Avenue cornucopia on commercial television. In the summer of 1985, both CBS and ABC rejected an advertisement on preventing unwanted pregnancies from the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists because it was "too controversial" to talk about birth control on television.

THIS IS A STRANGE ARGUMENT from a business that uses sex to sell everything from toothpaste to automobiles. It is time for television to take responsibility for the sex-without-consequences message it has sold for so many years.

American television, which plays such a big part in forming young perceptions, has the most confusing notions of sexual morality in the world. Rakish gentlemen chase wiggling blondes on every channel, yet a "Cagney and Lacey" episode about abortion barely made it past the censors. Prime-time soap operas feature three bed scenes an episode, yet "parental guidance" is suggested for a television movie about AIDS.

The results of such mixed sexual signals are tragic. Young people learn that sex is a wonderful game that everyone is doing, yet they rarely see the consequences of sexual activity until it has crippled their future. A report by the National Academy of Sciences show that more than one million teen-age girls became pregnant in 1986, with approximately 400,000 of those pregnancies ending in abortion.

THE NOTION THAT TELLING kids about birth control will only encourage experimentation is ridiculous. Studies show that teen-agers in European countries, who are more likely to receive an adequate sex education, have nowhere near the number of teen-age pregnancies as there are in America.

Another objection to advertising birth control methods on television is that such ads would be in bad taste. But then good taste is a lot to expect from the media that brought us "ring around the collar."

Why not make birth control methods as common and open as sex in our culture? Why not sell spermicide during the station breaks for the next steamy "Dynasty" episode. Why not let a red-white-and-blue Trojan man compete with the Tidy-Bowl man and Mr. Clean for a place in American pop culture.

After all, the oldest defense of television advertising is that if people don't see it on television, they won't know it's available.

Letters

Two-percent plan called a morale buster

The two-percent plan may be a "calculated effort to address the serious situation of low faculty pay," as William E. Eaton claimed in his letter of February 6. It is also a plan to reduce the size of the faculty, not just that amorphous entity known as "collegiate personnel budgets." We are talking about raising faculty salaries a little bit by firing our colleagues and cannibalizing their salaries.

Far from boosting faculty morale, it has caused my colleagues to question seriously the administration's commitment to faculty welfare. Nor have the firings been affected by trimming

"those programs deemed less productive or efficient." Instead, targets of opportunity have been hit.

Those departments that have-by chance or design-term appointments, resignations, retirements or tenure denials, are deemed vulnerable for the loss of a position. It doesn't seem to matter much what the programmatic effects will be; it has been decreed from on high that each college will cut its faculty base by two percent each year, and they will do whatever it takes to do that. So say goodbye to your colleagues and chuckle when you receive that extra one and one-half percent in your paycheck each month. I guess it doesn't take much to boost some people's morale.

The two-percent plan was based on assumptions that simply haven't proven true. Not one shred of evidence has been provided to show that SIU-C will have its budget cut by the IBHE because of overstaffing. Therefore, there is no reason to continue to terminate faculty position and viable academic programs simply to raise the salaries of those of us who remain. I call upon my colleagues in the Faculty Senate to repudiate this plan before it is too late.—David Stevens, chairman, theater department.

Plan promotes a 'siege mentality' in Faner

I was very much puzzled by Prof. Eaton's letter in Friday's DE claiming that faculty morale has improved since the imposition of the "two-percent solution." Perhaps Prof. Eaton is actually at some other university. Here in the College of Liberal Arts, the two percent reductions in staff salaries are viewed as just that—a reduction.

Programs have been cut, vacant lines are not filled; our dean may be left with the choice of eliminating whole departments or firing tenure-track faculty. On the other hand, the supposed benefits (i.e. increased salary bases for those remaining) do not exist.

The result is a siege mentality over here in Faner. We know that the bottom line is numbers of students, and that no department—no matter how essential its courses to the mission of a university—is safe from cuts, even though there are no benefits in return. The only result on faculty morale is to add a dose of cynicism to the already rock bottom view of the future of this institution.—Geoffrey S. Nathan, assistant professor, linguistics.

Doonesbury

BY GARRY TRUDEAU

More movie complaints

We've heard the complaints about the small screens and the selection vs. enormity controversy. Then the drawbacks of rude, noisy patrons were brought to our attention. We're forgetting some other crucial faults of movie theaters in general.

Admission prices are skyrocketing. A newly-released movie has been known to cost up to $6 (Chicago-area natives can attest to this).

Concession prices are also outrageous. A gigantic tub of popcorn may cost more than the admission ticket itself! Most theaters won't allow snacks from home inside the auditorium. Consumers are forced to leave their bags of Doritos at home and deal with concession costs or go hungry.

Doonesbury

BY GARRY TRUDEAU

At the hint of the closing credits, most people are already heading for the door. Getting out of one's seat may be strenuous though if the floor is coated with sticky, coagulating Coke, as are most theater floors. Do admission and concession profits go toward the elimination of such hazards as these?

I imagine the video-rental industry is growing rapidly these days—it should be. For only a couple bucks, a roomful of people can gather in a room, watch a film 100 times if they choose, talk about their boyfriend or girlfriend problems and spill Coke and popcorn all over their own carpets. One can even repeat the good parts and fast-forward the credits.—Diane Daly, sophomore, radio-television.

Stop smoking clinic slated

Are you one of thousands of people who smoke cigarettes and want to kick the habit?

If so, the Wellness Center and the American Heart and Lung Association are sponsoring a seven-week "Freedom from Smoking" clinic for smokers who are serious about quitting, said David Elam, coordinator of the Wellness Center.

Elam said the goal for the clinic is to have between 10 and 20 (or more) individuals attend the clinic and get them to quit. He said that with past clinics, 85 percent of those who attended quit smoking.

As substitutions for smoking, Elam said, relaxation techniques to help reduce stress will be taught at the clinic. He said that participants will be encouraged to do such things as chew gum, eat nutritious foods or engage in physical exercise in place of smoking a cigarette.

Elam said that the average smoker smokes about one pack-20 cigarettes-a day, which is common for college students.

"Nicotine affects the bloodstream (of the smoker) for 30 to 40 minutes after the first cigarette has been smoked," said Elam. After the effect has faded, then the smoker gets an urge to smoke again, he said.

Emphysema, heart disease, lung cancer and other cancerous diseases are some effects of cigarette smoking, said Elam. He said "smoking is one of the leading causes of unnecessary deaths." He cited that in 1985, over 350,000 premature, smoking-related deaths occurred.

The "Freedom from Smoking Clinic will be held from 4 to 5:30 p.m., beginning Tuesday in the Student Center Mackinaw Room. For information, call the Wellness Center at 536-4441.

Berri said, "They did not say yes and they did not say no."

In a videotape delivered to a Western news agency in Beirut, hostage Alann Steen, 46, read a statement on behalf of the Islamic Jihad for the Liberation of Palestine reiterating the group's demands and threats to kill its hostages on Monday.

Steen, a college professor of communications, was abducted by gunmen with American professors Jesse Turner and Robert Polhill and Indian-born U.S. resident Mithileshwar Singh Jan. 24 in Moslem west Beirut. At least five other American hostages are among 28 foreigners believed to be held in Lebanon by various groups.

A text of the message read by Steen on behalf of his colleagues was delivered along with the videotape, with some words underlined.

"Feb. 9 is the last date to release them (the Arab prisoners). If they don't get released our fate will be execution (underlined) and the Islamic Jihad for the Liberation of Palestine is serious about the time it set (underlined)," the statement said.

"If our lives are important to America it must order Israel to release the 400 Palestinians as soon as possible — that is, Monday as a maximum," said Steen, unshaven and wearing a white T-shirt and glasses.

protecting Americans.

Courter said, "I can be persuaded that under the right kind of circumstances" a military strike by the United States would be necessary. "We can't sit back and allow our citizens to be kidnapped."

Courter added that the United States must "pre-empt" hostage-taking.

Smith agreed, saying that what the United States "should have been doing all along is pre-empting these hostage-taking episodes."

Both lawmakers expressed concerns that U.S. allies have not taken a more active role in fighting terrorism.

"I'm very upset" at the allies, Smith said, at their refusal to join the United States recently for a strategy meeting.

"They couldn't even agree on a meeting," Smith said. "It doesn't bode well for the future... The United States is going to have to come to an operational decision... on how they are going to deal" with terrorism.

Courter said the "United States has been pretty much paralyzed."

"The United States should initiate some sort of action," he said. "We've taken unilateral action before and I think it's time we take unilateral action today."

Courter said that Germany's failure to quickly extradite Palestinian Mohammed Ali Hamadei to the United States to face trial for his alleged part in the June 1985 hijacking of a TWA jet is "once again a perfect example of the paralysis of NATO."

Californians get told 'you're OK'

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — A $735,000 state campaign is under way to help Californians feel good about themselves so they won't resort to violence, fall prey to drugs or add to other social ills.

The effort is the brainchild of Silicon Valley Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, who bristles at any suggestion his 25-member task force is just another "touchy-feely" program from the land of hot tubs, avocados and sprouts.

"With Nancy Reagan talking about self-esteem and drug abuse, and hearing others talk about self-esteem and teenage pregnancy or welfare dependency, it seemed to me we ought to try to understand their causes and begin to prevent them," Vasconcellos said.

The underlying idea behind the task force is that low self-esteem is a common factor in teenage pregnancy, drug abuse and other serious problems affecting the young.

The idea is drawing more than passing national interest now that cartoonist Garry Trudeau is placing one of his

"Donesbury" characters familiar with hot tubs on a similar task force in his comic strip.

"Satire is the sincerest form of indirect flattery," Vasconcellos, a liberal Democrat who heads the Ways and Means Committee, said about his California Task Force to Promote Self-Esteem, Personal and Social Responsibility.

The usually tight-fisted Republican Gov. George Deukmejian last year signed the task force bill after vetoing a $750,000 version.

Female gang drugs, robs wealthy men

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Two groups of sophisticated women robbers are stalking wealthy men in South Florida nightclubs and hotels, knocking them out with drugs and stealing their valuables, police investigators said Sunday.

Police said the women have taken from $10,000 to $20,000 in cash and valuables in each robbery. In all the cases, the women were described as well-spoken, attractive and fashionably dressed.

"These are women who come off as schoolteachers on vacation or airline stewardesses in between flights," Fort Lauderdale detective Jim Ives said.

Detectives are unsure how many women are involved, but they think two groups — one white, one black — are working Broward, Dade and Palm Beach counties in south Florida.

Investigators said the women look for their prey in high-class nightclubs and hotels.

Car in bedroom is rude guest for sleeping woman

BUTLER, Pa. (UPI) — A sleeping woman received a rather rude awakening over the weekend when a car landed on her waterbed, police said.

Kenneth Crider, 23, lost control of his car late Saturday, hit a parked car and barreled through a house and into the bedroom of Cheryl Knox, 30, who lay sleeping in a waterbed.

She escaped with a broken nose and broken wrist.

Dennis McDonough, another occupant of the house, said he was awakened at about 1 a.m. by the screams of Knox's 14-year-old daughter.

"The last thing I thought of was an automobile on top of her," he said.

"It's amazing. The police and paramedics told us they think the only thing that saved her was that the waterbed took the shock of the impact and collapsed," he said.

Your home equity credit here is still tax deductible!

One of homeownership's biggest rewards is bigger than ever!

Under the 1986 Tax Act, deductibility of the interest you pay on consumer credit, such as credit card charges and auto financing, will be phased out. But you'll still be able to deduct home equity credit interest.

Home improvements of all kinds

- Medical, educational, and other expenses
- Financing a vacation — or a vacation home
- Buying a car — or almost anything else
- Business and investment opportunities

Here's how it works.

Under the 1986 Tax Act, interest on a home equity loan is fully tax deductible up to the fair market value of your principal or second home, if the loan was completed before August 16, 1986.

If you initiate your loan after that date, interest on a loan amount up to the purchase price of the home plus improvements is deductible. Interest on equity loans over that amount is fully deductible up to the home's market value if the loan is used for qualified educational or medical expenses.

We're your equity credit specialists.

We're ready to serve you now — even if you obtained your home mortgage elsewhere. As specialists in mortgage lending, we're uniquely qualified to help you make the most of your equity.

So for straight, complete answers to your questions, talk to any of our loan counselors today. They'll fully explain our home equity terms, conditions, and benefits.

Home equity credit... one of homeownership's biggest rewards!

HOME EQUITY CREDIT

Figure the equity available to you.

This simple formula will help you estimate your home equity.

1. Your home's estimated market value $ _____
2. Multiply by 75%* x .75
- Total $ _____
3. Subtract the amount of principal you owe on your current home mortgage — $ _____
4. The estimated home equity available to you $ _____

*75% is used for illustrative purposes. The actual amount of equity that could be tapped depends on applicant's credit standing, ability to pay, and current home appraisal.

Fabulous Thunderbirds put '50s feel in Shryock show

Concert Review

By Ellen Cook
Entertainment Editor

When people mention the Fabulous Thunderbirds, the top 40 hits "Wrap It Up" and "Tuff Enuff" most often come to mind.

That's unfortunate, because the T-Birds play blues much better than pop, as they proved in concert at Shryock Auditorium Thursday night.

Not to say that the T-Birds can't play pop — the live versions of "Wrap It Up" and "Tuff Enuff" sounded just as good, if not better, than the radio versions — but when bassist Preston Hubbard traded his stand-up bass for an electric to play these two songs, it was quite a letdown.

Most of the T-Birds' songs featured Hubbard on stand-up bass, bringing a nice 1950s feel to the music. Hubbard slapped and twirled his bass like an old pro, and he and drummer Fran Christina did a good job of dressing the part of 1950s musicians, but the show belonged to guitarist Jimmy Vaughan and singer Kim Wilson.

Many times, the audience became silent, awestruck at Vaughan's masterful playing. Wilson also met this silence during his harmonica solo, which showed the audience his lung power as well as his skill when he left the microphone

Kim Wilson, lead singer and harmonica player for The Fabulous Thunderbirds, sings during Thursday night's performance at Shryock Auditorium.

The silence was often broken by shouts from appreciative audience members, and when Wilson returned to the stage, the band picked up the tempo again to allow audience members to dance.

Because of Shryock's size, audience members were forced to dance in their seats or in the back of the auditorium.

But dance they did, be it a fast jerk to "The Crawl," or a slow sway to "Why Get Up?" a song with lyrics to which any college student could identify.

It's unfortunate the T-Birds didn't play in a hall that had a large dance floor. Good blues, like good rock 'n' roll, needs to be danced to.

Jason's dream finally came true

By Ellen Cook
Entertainment Editor

During Jason and the Scorchers' performance at Shryock Auditorium Thursday night, singer Jason Ringenberg told the audience that he had dreamed of playing on the Shryock stage when he was a student at SIU-C.

From the reaction of the audience members, they were glad that his dream came true.

The Scorchers' music has been classified as everything from country-rock to rock 'n' roll with a country edge, but whatever you call it, it sure sounds good.

Ringenberg, dressed like a sequined Doc Holliday, could have walked into any Texas honky-tonk and not gotten a second glance. But his band members—Warner Hodges on guitar, Jeff Johnson on bass, and Perry Baggs on drums—looked like they would be more comfortable playing with the heavy metal band Ratt than with Dolly Parton.

This difference in clothing didn't seem to matter, because the band members played well together.

Most of the Scorcher's songs, the best being "White Lies" from their album "Lost and Found," were fast tempo, high-energy pieces that showcased the talents of each band member. Hodges and Johnson worked well together, and Baggs' harmonies nicely complemented Ringenberg's vocals.

Other songs, such as "Shop It Around," started at a slower pace, but worked up to a frenetic conclusion. "Shop It Around" also featured a some catchy lyrics, as did "Golden Ball and Chain," a single from the band's new album, "Still Standing."

Although Ringenberg has moved up from playing in bars on the Strip to performing in halls the size of Shryock or larger, he hasn't forgotten his roots.

Ringenberg dedicated the song "Broken Whiskey Glass" to two members of his former band Shakespeare's Riot who were in the audience. He also introduced the audience to his new puppy, which he bought at a local animal shelter.

References to the community gave the Scorchers the audience's support, and when Ringenberg jumped off the stage to play his harmonica and sing with the crowd, the support was fixed.

The local references weren't just a gimmick—Ringenberg genuinely seemed interested in pleasing the audience. And no wonder.

"I've seen many a show from where you all are sitting," he told the crowd.

Ringenberg knows how it feels to see a good band perform in Shryock. And now he knows how it feels to perform with a good band in Shryock.

SDI first, Weinberger says; renegotiate treaty second

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger said Sunday that the United States would renegotiate the 1972 Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty when it is ready to deploy elements of a "Star Wars" defensive system.

Weinberger said he did not know when the first phase of the Strategic Defense Initiative, known officially as "Star Wars," could be deployed on the ground and in space but estimated "it could be somewhere in the 1993 to 1994 range."

Weinberger's remarks, in an interview Friday with the British Broadcasting Corp.

that was aired Sunday, focused on deployment of SDI and the ABM treaty amid renewed debate about the administration's re-interpretation of the pact in order to proceed with space-based "Star Wars" experiments.

Weinberger and other senior administration officials briefed President Reagan last week about a possible early deployment of SDI, but officials said no decision had been made.

Critics of the Reagan administration and SDI, including some members of Congress, have expressed concern that deployment of a "Star Wars" system would violate the ABM treaty.

Under a strict interpretation of the treaty, Article 5 forbids the testing or deployment of ABM systems in space. But language elsewhere in the accord makes it possible for the United States and the Soviet Union to discuss amendments to the pact.

"As far as the ABM treaty is concerned, everybody agrees that when we're ready to deploy we would have to take advantage of the provisions of the ABM treaty, which are in the treaty itself, which call for revisions or changes or additional permissions not now in the treaty," Weinberger said.

Congress: 'no' to broadened ABM treaty

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress may cut funding for the "Star Wars" defense program "very severely" if the administration makes the "very bad mistake" of reinterpreting the 1972 Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty, Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., warned Sunday.

Nunn, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said increased funding for the Strategic Defense Initiative commonly known as "Star Wars"—passed by one vote last year in a Republican-controlled Senate

The new Democrat-led Senate would not support an administration push for a broad reading of the treaty, which would allow space-based testing, without consulting Congress or U.S. allies, said Nunn, who voted last year for huge increases in SDI funding the Reagan administration requested.

"I believe a unilateral reinterpretation by the president of the United States without advance consultation would be a very bad mistake by the president," said Nunn, who is considered a Democratic spokesman on defense issues.

President Reagan reportedly supports such a reinterpretation but administration officials have said it is still under consideration.

NOTICE FROM STUDENT WORK AND FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE.

ALL UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS MUST COMPLY WITH THE FOLLOWING SATISFACTORY PROGRESS POLICY IN ORDER TO RECEIVE FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE.

SATISFACTORY PROGRESS POLICY FOR UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS AT SOUTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY AT CARBONDALE

The Federal Government, the States, and Southern Illinois University at Carbondale have invested large sums of money in order to provide financially needy students the opportunity to attain a post-secondary education. Financial aid recipients are responsible for using the funds provided in an acceptable manner. Therefore, a student who wishes to benefit from the receipt of financial aid funds must maintain "satisfactory progress" as defined in this policy.

AUTHORITY

The Higher Education Act of 1965 as amended and the final regulations set forth by the Department of Education in 34 CFR 668 require that institutions of higher education establish reasonable standards of "satisfactory progress." A student who does not meet these standards is not eligible to receive federally funded financial aid. Southern Illinois University at Carbondale shall make these standards applicable to all state and institutional aid programs for the purpose of maintaining a consistent and reasonable financial aid policy.

SATISFACTORY PROGRESS STANDARDS

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale requires that a student be making "satisfactory progress" toward a degree if that student wishes to receive financial aid funds. A student is making "satisfactory progress" toward a degree if successfully meeting two basic academic standards. First, a student must complete a reasonable number of credit hours toward a degree each academic year. Second, a student must maintain a scholastic standing derived from grades, that allows for continued enrollment at the University under current academic guidelines. The following parameters will be used to define these two basic academic standards.

MODEL FOR FULL-TIME ATTENDANCE

1) Maximum time to graduate: A full-time, eligible student is expected to complete a degree in six academic years (12 semesters). A half-time, eligible student is expected to complete a degree in twelve academic years (24 semesters). In order to be sure that a student is progressing toward that goal, each student's progress will be measured annually after Spring Semester to determine the progress made for the last academic year of attendance. Each term of at least half-time attendance shall be included in the annual review whether or not the student received financial aid for the term. The following chart will serve as a model to determine if each student is meeting this requirement of "satisfactory progress."

Academic Terms Completed	Number of Credit Hours Completed Per Term	Cumulative
2	8	16
3	8	24
4	8	32
5	10	42
6	10	52
7	10	62
8	10	72
9	12	84
10	12	96
11	12	108
12	12	120

2) Grades: A student must remain in compliance with the University's policy concerning scholastic standing, grades, and grade point average as defined under the topic "Grading, Scholastic Regulations, and Credit" in the current Undergraduate Catalog Bulletin. A student who is on Scholastic Suspension is not maintaining "satisfactory progress." A student who is scholastically suspended may be readmitted under Scholastic Probation status by the appropriate academic dean and remain eligible for financial aid. Each student's scholastic standing will be monitored after each semester or term of attendance.

A student who does not meet either or both of the standards set forth above and who cannot show "mitigating circumstances" is not maintaining "satisfactory progress" toward a degree and is no longer eligible to receive financial aid funds. (See Appeals.)

Nothing in this policy shall be construed as a reduction of external requirements by other federal, state, public, or private agencies when they award or control financial aid. Examples of such agencies are: Veterans Administration, Vocational Rehabilitation, and the NCAA.

DEFINITIONS

Credit hours completed shall be defined as the total number of academic credit hours for which a student receives any grade other than a failing grade. Incompletes, withdrawals, audits, and remedial courses which do not count toward a degree shall not be considered as credit hours completed. Credit hours received for repeated courses shall be counted only once.

Eligible students shall be defined as those students who are admitted to the University in a degree-seeking classification. All other students are not eligible for financial aid.

Full-time attendance for undergraduates shall be defined as enrollment in twelve (12) hours or more per semester. Half-time attendance for undergraduates shall be defined as enrollment in more than five (5) hours and less than twelve (12) hours per semester.

NOTIFICATION OF TERMINATION

It shall be the responsibility of the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance to publish this policy and to notify by letter any student who is no longer eligible to receive financial aid funds. Said notice shall be addressed to the student's most current home address on file with the University. IT SHALL BE THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE STUDENT TO INFORM THE UNIVERSITY OF A CORRECT HOME ADDRESS AT ALL TIMES. Student's academic deans shall receive copies of all notice letters.

REINSTATEMENT

Students will have their eligibility to receive financial aid reinstated when they have reached the level of satisfactory progress required of them by this policy. They may achieve this status by the completion of incomplete grades, correction of incorrect grades, and by earning more than the required number of completed hours for a term or terms without the benefit of financial aid.

APPEALS

Any student who cannot meet the grades requirement or the cumulative credit hours completion requirement, shall have an opportunity to appeal in writing to explain "mitigating circumstances." The appeal should be sent to the Financial Aid Advisory Committee within 15 days of the notice of termination. The Financial Aid Advisory Committee will review the "mitigating circumstances" documented in the appeal and provide a written decision within 20 days after receipt of the appeal.

Grad student's presentation shows versatility, insight

By Mary Caudle
Staff Writer

Shirlene Holmes delivered a riveting performance of her poetry to an overflow crowd on the Calipre Stage Friday evening. The performance, entitled "Writing is My Way of Knowing," gave ample proof that she is a versatile actress as well as an intelligent and insightful writer.

Holmes, a graduate student in speech communication, recently completed her second volume of poems, "Afterpiece," while pursuing a career as an actress-playwright.

Holmes performed pieces from "Afterpiece" and her first book, "coming into being," as well as older, unpublished poems.

Staged in autobiographical form, the performance provided insight to Holmes' writing development and personal history as well as touching on issues of oppression and injustice that are close to her heart.

Holmes' poems run the gamut of emotion, from cheeky and brassy to downright defeated. But whether her voice is angry or reflective, it is always expressed with candor, throwing caution to the wind. Holmes as a writer is not afraid to broach any subject.

In the introduction of her first book of poetry, "coming into being," Holmes writes, "I don't mean to offend, just tell the truth. I write for catharsis. I write to be free. Through my poems I explore my prisons, my church and my sex; God understands."

Holmes' straight-forward style is apparent in performance. Through her uninhibited, vibrant acting style, Holmes gives her poems a fierce life and air of intimacy that is not as easily achieved through print. It became apparent during the performance that Holmes' poems are meant not only to be read, but also to be shared and experienced.

Holmes' acting style also picked up her writing where it faltered, which it only occasionally did. Because of the chronological order in which the performance was patterned, it was possible to see that Holmes' earlier poems were decidedly less well-crafted than her later work, but this drawback was countered by the fact that it gave the audience the chance to see the progression of her development.

Running through Holmes' poetry is the hope that others will find something with which they can identify.

New programs may require tax raise, Governor hints

By Carol Knowles
United Press International

SPRINGFIELD—Gov. James R. Thompson's "State of the State" message last week was a wide-ranging mixture of optimism for the future peppered with strong hints that a tax increase is on the way.

The Republican governor didn't come right out and call for a tax hike. Instead, he carefully walked the line mixing talk of "paying the price" for programs with an insistence that part of the state's fiscal woes were due not to a lack of funds or irresponsible spending habits, but to an attitude problem.

"THERE ARE many things which do not require money, but an attitude," he said.

And, at times, Thompson played the role of a father scolding his child for failing to clean up his room.

"Why do we throw trash and garbage and debris in our front yards, and streets and alleys and parks and places of commerce?" he asked. "Other societies with whom we increasingly compete for jobs and resources do not do this."

We could spend hundreds of millions of dollars on other programs if we only learned to clean up after ourselves instead of leaving the mess to someone else, he said.

THOMPSON TOUCHED on virtually every area of government during his 45-minute address from the need for more early childhood programs to election law reform. But many of the programs will require more money—money the state just doesn't have in this tight budget year unless other programs are sharply curtailed or a tax increase is implemented.

The administration this week intends to follow through with its plan to borrow $100 million to ease the current cash crunch resulting from a legal dispute involving Illinois' tax on out-of-state telephone calls.

BUT EVEN winning the suit won't solve the state's problem. There are further commitments totaling hundreds of millions of dollars already tugging on the new fiscal year's revenues.

Thompson acknowledged that the budget-balancing task will not be easy this year, but in his usual optimistic spirit, maintained the job is not impossible.

"Neither the needs I have outlined, nor the means to pay for them by new revenues or adjusted priorities, will come painlessly or in a single year, or a single budget," he told lawmakers.

PART OF the reason Thompson seemed to be vacillating on a tax hike, is that he's really torn about whether to seek one. He already is planning to ask for hikes in the gasoline tax and license plate fees this week to pay for new highway construction and road repair.

In addition, the public likely will be cool to the idea and the Democratically controlled Legislature is apt to claim Thompson lied to voters on the subject of taxes prior to the election. But the decision must be made soon, since the governor's budget blueprint is due at the printers.

IF A tax increase is sought by Thompson, it likely will be a sales tax on a laundry list of services and veiled under the guise of tax reform.

50 mph winds lash Chicago; Lake Shore Drive closed

CHICAGO (UPI)—Winds gusting in excess of 50 mph lashed the metropolitan area Sunday, kicking up 10-foot waves that forced the closure of Lake Shore Drive, ripping metal sheets from a church roof and cutting power to at least 3,000 homes.

Police closed the entire 15 miles of Lake Shore Drive along Lake Michigan, from Hollywood Avenue on the north to 73rd Street on the south.

Water pouring over seawalls reached depths of up to 1 foot on north Lake Shore Drive, police said. The Department of Streets and Sanitation placed 10,000 sandbags in areas along the city's North Side to reinforce battered retaining walls.

EIU coach Barbara Hilke said, "We weren't trying to double up on Bonds. That was probably a defensive error—it wasn't our intent."

Both Scott and Kattreh credited the EIU defensive effort and play of Perkes. A crowd favorite, 6-1 Panther center Laura Mull earned praise from Hilke for grabbing the game-high nine rebounds.

Two men runners make NCAAs

Two more Salukis qualified for the NCAA indoor championships and highlighted the men tracksters' non-scoring meet at the Illinois State Invitational this weekend.

Bret Garrett made NCAA meet time in the 1,000-yard race with a personal best of 2:08.28. Andy Pettigrew qualified in the mile with a time of 4:02.89, also a personal best. But each finished second in their respective races.

Both times were the second-fastest recorded in Saluki indoor track, coach Bill Cornell said.

The Salukis established five personal bests at the meet, and also four first-place finishes.

In the long jump Brian Bradley took first with a leap of 24.5, followed by teammates Aaron Smith in second (21-11.5) and David Wallace in third place with an effort of 21-6.25.

Ron Harrer threw the 35-pound weight 55-10.5 (a personal best) to take first, and placed third in the shot put with a 52-4.25 toss.

Larry Holloway set a personal record in the 60-meter high hurdles with 7.66 to win that event.

Craig Steele captured first in the 880-yard race with a time of 1:58.01, while teammate Doug Kell finished fourth at 2:00.38.

Blackman, Anderson win
 Women tracksters set school records, personal bests

By Scott Freeman
 Staff Writer

The Carlon Blackman-Sue Anderson show came back from Champaign with more victories in what is turning out to be a banner year for both in women's track.

Blackman, a senior American, took first in the 880-yard dash with a school record time of 2:13.41. Blackman's came over a strong field at the Orange and Blue Classic that featured runners from the University of Illinois and Tennessee.

Saluki coach Don DeNoon said that Blackman is "just a superb athlete, who will run strong in whatever event she's entered in."

Meanwhile, Gateway indoor athlete-of-the-week Sue Anderson won yet another high effort competition with a 5-5 described as a "very competitive field."

In a mild surprise finish, Lisa Judiscak won the 1,500-meter run in 4:41.50 over what DeNoon called a "rather weak field." He said most teams competed with strong sprinters, but few long-distance entries. Judiscak also placed second in the 3,000-meter run with a time of 10:17.59. Both Judiscak and Anderson were third-best all-time at SIU-C.

Judiscak's running mate, Lisa Ravetto, took second in the 1,500 (5:07.30) and the 3,000 (11:43.83). Both were personal bests. Judiscak's freshman from Calumet DeNoon took only eight combined for 12 per bests and three wins.

Deja-vu: WSU beats men cagers

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

If there was ever a case of deja vu, it came during the Saluki-Shocker basketball game Saturday night at Wichita State.

The only thing that changed since the teams' meeting in the Arena Jan. 17 was the date and place.

Despite holding four three-point leads and one four-point lead midway through the first half, Rich Herrin's Salukis couldn't hang on as the Shockers rambled to an easy 90-67 victory to keep in the midst of the Valley title hunt.

In the first meeting, the Salukis battled to a 28-28 tie with 4:50 to go in the first half, but a 15-2 spree by the Shockers put SIU-C down by a 43-30 margin at the intermission.

That lead proved overwhelming as the Salukis eventually lost 81-65. SIU-C ended up committing 30 fouls and allowed the Shockers to capitalize on 29 of 45 free throws. Tim Richardson logged just 17 minutes of playing time before fouling out, to join two other Salukis on the bench because of fouls.

In Saturday's rewrite of the earlier script—which could have passed for a carbon copy—the Salukis led 26-22 at the seven-minute mark, but a 19-6 spurt by the Shockers made for a 41-32 lead at the half. Five Saluki turnovers and six personal fouls in the final five minutes contributed to the Shocker surge.

The Dogs managed to pull within six shortly into the second half, but once again the halftime deficit proved insurmountable. The Shockers rolled to a 59-41 lead at the 11-minute mark and were never again seriously threatened.

By the time it was over, the Shockers nailed 36 of 50 free throws, set up by 50 Saluki hacks. Richardson was again plagued by foul trouble from the start and saw limited action until leaving with an ankle injury late in the game.

In other striking similarities, Gus Santos and Henry Carr combined for 33 points Saturday night compared to a 34-point combined effort in the earlier meeting. The Shockers had four players in double figures and out-rebounded the Salukis by seven, also quite close to the first game statistics.

The Salukis were paced by Steve Middleton with 14 points, followed by Doug Novsek with 13 points and Kai Nurnberger with 12. In the first loss to Wichita State, Middleton led Saluki scorers with 18 points, followed by Novsek with 13 and Nurnberger with 10.

Women take all swim events to capture Gateway crown

By Scott Freeman
Staff Writer

The Saluki women's swim team won the Gateway Conference Championship Sunday night at the Rec Center as well as all 18 swim events in the three-day meet.

SIU-C set seven Gateway records, had ten swimmers named all-conference, finished 1-2-3 in four events and 1-2 in seven races.

Saluki coach Bailey Weathers said his team had "a pretty good meet," and singled out Salukis Wendy Irick, Sarah Bell and Lori Rea for having great meets.

Irick won two events, Rea won two, and Bell had one first-place finish, one second and a third.

Overall, the Salukis garnered 612 points, followed by Illinois State with 525, Western Illinois 377, Eastern Illinois 247 and Northern Iowa 127.

Rea met the NCAA qualifying standard in the 100-yard butterfly with a winning time of 55.80 seconds, which also set a conference record. SIU-C's Karen McIntyre took second in 57.19.

Rea also won the 50-yard freestyle with a Gateway record time of 24.14. Teammate Sue Wittry placed second in 24.59.

Wittry won the 100-yard freestyle in 52.83, followed by Rea (52.91) and Bell (54.20).

Irick set a conference record in the 200-yard backstroke, winning in 2:04.04. Teammate Lisa Reinke placed second in 2:10.40.

Reinke edged out Irick in the 100 backstroke, placing first in a conference record 58.45 to Irick's 58.47. Wittry took third in 59.88.

Irick took first in the 500-yard freestyle in 5:02, followed by Bell (5:03.09) and Saluki Marianne Bentley (5:08.05).

Bentley won the 1,650-yard freestyle in 17:35.79.

McIntyre took first in the 200-yard butterfly in 2:07.13.

SIU-C's Iris VonJouanne placed first in the 100-yard breaststroke with a time of 1:09.75.

Saluki Suella Miller won the 200 breaststroke (2:26.84), followed by VonJouanne in third place (2:30.64).

Miller also won the 400-yard and 200 individual medleys with times of 4:36.50 and 2:08.23, respectively. Reinke took second in the 200 IM in 2:09.99.

The Salukis set Gateway records and placed first in the 200 medley relay (1:46.36), 400 freestyle relay (3:30.56) and 200 freestyle relay (1:35.90).

Correction

An article in the Feb. 6 Daily Egyptian, "Second guessing: Fatigue overcame women cagers," should have been identified as a column. The views contained in the article were the opinion of the writer and do not necessarily reflect the opinions of anyone associated with SIU-C women's basketball.

In the same edition, the article "Men cagers rematch WSU" should have said that Creighton upset Wichita State Thursday night. The story incorrectly stated the winner of the game.

Not ugly, not pretty. Just another Gateway Conference win, played as if the women's basketball Salukis were in a hurry to catch up on their sleep and a pesky Eastern Illinois team stood in the way.

After a scheduling marathon—five games in 10 days—the Salukis handed out 22 turnovers to a scrappy Panther defense that had an upset in mind. But the Panther offense gave back six more turnovers than it received, and the Salukis picked up their 31st consecutive Gateway game, advanced to 12-0 for the conference season and extended a 26-game Davies gym winning streak.

While the Salukis rest atop the conference and improved to 19-2 overall, EIU dropped to 6-6 in the Gateway and 10-11 overall. The fifth-place Panthers will now need some help from the rest of the conference in their quest for a top-four spot and entry into the league tournament.

To reward the Salukis' 70-55 victory, Coach Cindy Scott gave them Sunday off.

Saturday night, the second-largest-ever crowd of 1,411 jammed Davies bleachers and cheered for a rout that never quite materialized because Eastern freshman Barb Perkes' offense, as well as good Panther defense, kept the score close.

First half score: SIU 31, EIU 26. Three-point goals: SIU 11, EIU 12. EIU 4 (Perkes 4, 6). Fouled out: Perkes 4, Hamilton 1, 4.

In a first half marred by miscues from both teams, Perkes connected on three of three bonus bombs and totaled 16 points. But the Salukis held the edge with balanced scoring, 31-26 at intermission.

The low-scoring trend continued for the first eight minutes of the second period. During that time, a full-court pass to Panther senior Pat Hamilton caught the Saluki transition defense offguard and Hamilton hit a layup to narrow SIU-C's lead to 37-36.

Saluki senior Ann Kattreh responded with a 16-footer and back-pedaled down the court, clapping and shouting to her teammates.

"I was trying to help the team get fired up on the defensive end," Kattreh said. "We can always work the offense for a score, but it doesn't matter if we can't hold the other team defensively."

On the next play, reserve point guard Tonda Seals scooped up an EIU turnover and passed to Kattreh, who drove for a six-foot bank shot off the fast break and drew a foul. Although Kattreh missed the free throw for the three-point play, she did her job by inspiring the SIU-C run that broke open the game.

"I wanted it really bad," Kattreh said. "I knew we needed a big play because they were slowly getting into the game. The big play was the best thing to get them off the roll they were on."

Kattreh's effort ignited a 23-6 run that gave the Salukis all they needed by the five-minute mark. The pull-away included four points from reserve center Cathy Kampwerth and seven—from point guard Marialice Jenkins.

While the Salukis capitalized on a cold spell of Panther shooting, they did it with an unusual lack of help from junior forward Bridgett Bonds, who played with her right hand taped because of a jammed thumb. If the Panthers had
