Cadets To Vote For 'Military' Green Today

Who will succeed Pat Bruce? That question will be answered today as more than 1,200 cadets vote for their fifth annual military queen.

The cadets began their election this morning at their regular Laboratory period seeking a finalist from one of the five candidates. They are Joyce Hastings, Marilyn P. Sherry, Craig, Marilyn Eckert and Kay Sue Eadie.

One of the above will reign over military activities for the 1956-57 school year. The crowning will take place Friday at the military ball, which will be held at the Carbondale Armory.

More than 2,000 are expected to attend the dance with Phil Olson and his Southern All-Stars furnishing the dance music. Tickets are $2.25 per couple. All military personnel are to come in uniform and others formal.

Dr. Plochmann Makes 2nd Of Lectures

"Education, teaching and experience reach their fulfillment in knowledge," Dr. George K. Plochmann said Wednesday in summing up his lecture on "Education or Experience: Which is Prior?"

"Education," he said, "is a gaining of knowledge and skills to one's experience. Teaching is communicating the experience between two or more people. Experience, according to John Dewey, is not knowledge. It is a broadening of concepts—travel, living and so forth."

Plochmann briefly outlined that "Experience can't be the same as education, though to have an education is to have an experience. Experience can't be prior to education, for experience falls short of meeting nearly all the tests of knowledge, necessity and systematic unity."

This was second in a series of lectures on the "Five Dilemmas of Higher Education," to be given by Plochmann, associate professor of philosophy, at 7:30 p. m. in the University School Studio Theatre.

Topics and dates of remaining lectures are:

"Are Democracy and Education the Same?" Feb. 1.

"Does Knowledge Make Any Bread?" Feb. 15.

"Does a University Staff Create Thought?" March 1.

Ag Club To Hold Annual Banquet

The Agriculture Club will sponsor their annual banquet Thursday at 6:30 p. m. in the University cafeteria. Students who have completed the annual seminar short course will receive their certificate.

Following the banquet, Dr. George Dungan, Professor Emeritus of the University of Illinois, will talk on "Agriculture in India." The talk will be illustrated with colored slides.

'Financial Assistance' Brochure Available

The first brochure describing the financial assistance program at SIU is now ready for distribution to students, announced Ervin D. Stasek, executive secretary of the scholarships and loans committee.

The brochure contains the procedure for applications for scholarships and loans, the necessary qualifications to receive them, and a brief description of the types of assistance available.

To be eligible for a scholarship, "enrolled students at the University must have achieved a minimum over-all average for all course work completed at the University or college level of 4.0 (B)."

"Enrolled students at the University must have achieved a minimum over-all average of 3.0 (C) for all work completed at the University level to be eligible for an award."

"Old Man Winter" visited SIU Wednesday, and left the campus a veritable enchanted land. Familiar sights seemed a strange being, as this shot of Old Man shows. The deep snow was appreciated by Southern students for reasons other than its ethereal qualities.

To most it presented an opportunity to indulge in snow-fights, to build snow-men and just to act "kiddish," even though college students. Many enjoyed laughter at the expense of their classmates' bad luck—sliding, slipping and falling completely down on the sidewalks. But whether their reaction was concerned with the aesthetic or the entertaining qualities of snow, most SIUers enjoyed "Winter's short visit, short visit."

Council Decides: No Credit For Freshman Convocations

By Rita Moser

The Student Council has decided freshmen should not be given credit for convocations but freshmen convocations should be listed in the bulletin and advisers should list it on a student's program card.

Other business of their Thursday night meeting included the approval of a budget drawn up by Jerry Duane, chairman of the budget committee, giving the Pop Committee $200, and the acceptance of petitions for two clubs.

Feb. 2 was set for the date of the Student Council open forum on "New Methods of Representation."

At the Jan. 12 meeting, the Council decided to send a bulletin to all on- and off-campus organizations stating a controversial question to be discussed at house meetings. The results of the house-meeting discussions were to be brought into the Student Council office prior to their meeting Thursday.

"Should credit be given for freshmen convocations" was the question on last week's bulletin. Judy Sanders, freshman, announced that her English class was writing themes on this subject.

Marilyn Michel, house fellow at the Woody Hall, said one of her girls waited for 45 minutes in the office to tell a council member her floor's opinions. "No one came."

"Other than that," said Reynolds, "there was no response that we know of."

The Council decided the reason for the controversy about the convocations was due to lack of information.

No Information a Reason

"The ill-fitting of freshmen to ward Freshmen Convocation," said Richard Cole, council member, stems from the fact of students not being informed about convocations being a requirement."

Adding to this, Reynolds, said if credit were given for convocations, the hours for graduation would probably be raised to the same amount.

Sheila Plantz was asked to write a letter to Fred Deltek W. Morris asking him to come to the office as soon as possible to discuss this matter," Stasek said.

Two petitions for clubs were passed.

The physical education majors club, open to men students, men faculty members and alumni, and the Junior Inter-faternity Council, open to members of a pledge class, were acknowledged.

The council decided the would ask the Cape Girardeau Student Council here for the Theta Xi Varsity Show in March.

The Intramural Student Board, passed January 5, is open to those students from each intramural league. Elections will be held in March for offices in the following year.

ACE Test To Be Given Friday

The A.C.E., General College Ability Test, will be given Friday at 10 a. m. in University School Auditorium.

All freshmen and transfer students must take this third test in the Guidance Test Battery Series according to Jack W. Graham, test giving supervisor.

Jerry Duane, chairman of pep budget committee, read his proposed budget. It was accepted. It gave $200 to the Pop Committee, headed by Don Gibbs, to pay for the cheerleaders' expenses.

"Fifty dollars is for uniform upkeep," explained Duane. For travel expenses to games, $100. $20 for awards and $25 for miscellaneous uses not covered."

2 Parking Lots Open For Special Permit Holders

Tourney Champs Crowned Friday

Tournament champions were determined Friday night in the Student Union as "Tournament Week" came to a close.

None of last year's champions repeated as victors.

Asu Morris won the table tennis title and Bernard Hoffman took the runner-up spot. Kendall Postterli outplayed George Toussaint to take the chess title. Robert Tweedy took the checkers trophy and Ken Rosenberg finished second.

Jim Groff shot his way to victory in the billiards tournament. Richard Cannon placed second. Gary Livingston and Dale Cozd teamed up to take the pinocle championship away from Bob Tweedy and George Hochsler, the runners-up.

Charles Helms and Al McIntosh won the bridge tournament, while Joe Garrison and Richard Terry took the second place spot.

First place winners were awarded eight inch trophies and medals. Second place winners were awarded trophies.

Following the tournament championships, Charlie Martin and his band played for dancing.

'Line Of Dimes' Runs To Friday

Would you like to help fight poverty? The members of Alpha Phi Omega, campus service fraternity, are giving SIU students the chance to do so until Friday.

At 4 p. m. on that date, the seventh annual "Line of Dimes" sponsored by APO will terminate. The line, stretching from the main gate on Grand Ave. to the steps of Old Main, was opened yesterday.

With the increased SIU enrollment the group is hoping to go over the $50 dollar collected last year. Chance for students to contribute toward the polo fight during the remainder of the drive is from 8 a. m. until 4 p. m. daily.

APO members will make the line to make change for students who wish to put dimes on the line.

New Sociology Course

The sociology department will offer a new course for freshmen starting fall term entitled, "Dating, Courtship and Marriage."

"This course," said Dr. Herman R. Lantz, "is primarily designed for the single freshmen who have no social science background. We are now offering a course called 'Marriage and Parenthood.' This is a junior course, and even though it will be continued, we wanted to offer a course to the freshmen and sophomores who might drop out of school before the junior year."

To put more campus parking space in full-time use and to reduce traffic in a hazardous area, a new policy has been adopted for two University parking lots, effective Monday.

The change allows certain faculty and staff members special permits for parking in the west of the speech and journalism barracks and in the west row of parking spaces in the visitors lot south of the President's Office.

The new policy was formulated after considerable study of the problem by the Parking Committee and university officials interested in visitors parking.

In announcing the new arrangement, Dr. Max Sappenfield, chairman of the Parking Committee, also stated that three spaces for 15-minute parking will be opened in the lot next to the President's Office.

Special permits issued, to be displayed in both front and rear windows of vehicles, will expire at the end of the academic year (Aug. 10), as do all parking permits issued by the University.

The special permits are restricted to faculty and staff members whose offices or places of employment are in the speech and journalism barracks (including radio and theater), the three education barracks, the building presently housing the College of Education Dean's Office and the old hatchery building next to it, the President's Office and the President's Home.

Persons eligible may call for the permits at the Personnel Office, Dr. Sappenfield said. The new permits do not replace the required campus parking stickers, which allow cars displaying them to park in any designated University parking lot.

Cars bearing the special permits may park in the newly assigned areas during the day only if the space is not needed or already occupied by visitors, the Parking Committee Chairman pointed out.

Visitors who use either lot, however, still are required to obtain a visitor's permit from the President's office.

The three 15-minute parking spaces, open to all vehicles with or without permits, will be established at the south end of the second lane from the west in the lot next to the President's office. These spaces are intended for persons using the new library.

Dr. Sappenfield also announced that a new parking sticker called a "Courtesy Parking Permit" is now being issued by the University.

These permits are mailed to persons scheduled to come to the campus for conferences and other special meetings. The permits are temporary, each bearing an expiration date.

Although visitors will be encouraged to use the visitors parking lots, cars bearing courtesy permits will be allowed to use any University parking area.

'From Durer to Rouault' Title Of Exhibition In Allyn Gallery

"Religious Prints from Durer to Rouault" is a new exhibition is currently on display in SIU's Allyn Art Galleries. The exhibition covers work of major artists in printmaking of nearly five centuries. The display, which started yesterday, is on loan from the Goodwin Print Collection of Brimfield, Mass. The exhibit will hang in the Allyn Galleries until Feb. 10.

Binet, who travels throughout the world looking for additions to his collections, recently returned from Europe.

"Printmaking, more an intimate form of art than painting or sculpture, is no less painstaking or elaborate," according to a brochure with the exhibit.

"It offers a high degree of concentration and spontaneous expression. This style of an artist in his prints can not be divorced from his creations in painting."

"In the 15th and 16th centuries, the painters of religious subjects seldom took to prints as a means of self-expression."

But those who did translated the artistry of large paintings into more intimate dimensions and into black and white, thus offering comparable enjoyment."

Works by American contemporary artists include color lithographs by Fritz Brod "St. Francis," Jean Charlot "Maven Madonna," Ralph Wickiser "Deposition," and philosophy and their relation to the art picture of human life.

The lecture will be followed by an open discussion and is open to the public. Residents of Woody Hall will act as hostesses.

Let's Pull Together

Thursday night, Feb. 2, has been set as the date for a meeting that we have long awaited—the Student Council open forum on "New Methods of Representation."

It is important that all who attend come to this meeting with an open mind and with no feeling of animosity. For this forum can bring results which will affect each and every member of the present SIU student body and future student bodies here on campus.

In the past three editions of The Egyptian, we have reviewed a proposed change in method of representation to the council and we have urged the council and the student body to consider all the various pros and cons of this proposal and be prepared to offer any new or better ideas at the open-forum.

We have tried to enlist the guidance and cooperation of student leaders on this subject. This week the Student Council offers for its controversial question, "Is there a need for a different method of electing Student Council members?" We hope this question aroused active response during the week from the student body. We also hope that anyone visiting the council office will not have to wait "45 minutes" for a council member to voice his or her opinion on the subject.

For interest on the part of the student body is necessary if a new method of representation is to be adopted. But, rather than assuming that there is no interest on the part of the students, we are assuming that they have the interest, but heretofore have been timid for some reason such as "fear of not belonging" or "what good would it do for me to say something before people who know more?"

Whatever the reason for "lack of interest" may be—it must be awakened. Now, the student body has the chance to prove that it is interested. Let's go Southern — to the open-forum. —Harry this

MAIL BOX

Dear Editor: We, the Student Council members, feel as though we were unduly criticized in the last two editions of the paper, Jan. 17, and Jan. 20, in the editorial section. Our opinion is based on the following points:

1. It was insinuated that we are no longer interested in a new system of electing Student Council members. We are interested and concerned with a new system of electing Student Council members. Unfortunately no one has visited the Student Council Office to give their views. However, we are proceeding with the plan for an open-forum discussion on the method of electing Student Council members, and are making arrangements to hold this forum the first week in February, which is near the middle of the winter term as was planned.

2. It was insinuated that the Student Council was not a leader in the movement for a better method of election. The Student Council is a leader in the field of a movement for a better method of election. However, we have a very difficult time in trying to lead when we have no interested followers except a group of students who drew up the proposed amendment for changing the election by-laws.

3. It was stated that important business had to be postponed because of a quorum. Even if there had been a quorum to pass anything on the Student Union fee, we would have held off until the advertising committee, which is trying to push an increase in student activity fee) had a chance to work. That committee is now functioning.

Notre Dame Band To Include Kesnar Music

The University of Notre Dame band will include "Essay for Baritone" by Dr. Mauts Kesnar, music department, on the program for their spring tour.

Notifying Dr. Kesnar that the composition will be used, the conductor of the band says, "I think the number is very beautiful and will be very well received by the public."

The Notre Dame tour will feature concerts in Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, and one in Danville, Illinois, and will close with the annual spring concert at South Bend.

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young scientist works on new ways to improve metals

Today scientists and engineers face one of the toughest barriers of all—the "metal barrier." Modern technology has progressed so rapidly that today's metals can't meet the tremendous demands placed upon them. For such fields as aviation, electronics, atomic energy, present metals must be improved and new fields of materials must be developed.

One of the young men playing a role in this new and important field is 30-year-old Dr. Roland P. Carreker, Jr.

As a research associate in the General Electric Research Laboratory's Metals and Ceramics facility, Carreker's chief concern is the improvement of metals through new processing techniques.

In his work, Dr. Carreker has dealt with such important metallurgical problems as metal failure in high-speed turbine rotors, determining the strength of pure metals from -425°F. to the temperature of liquid hydrogen, to 2,800°F. and economic studies of new metallurgical processes.

25,000 College Graduates at General Electric

When Carreker came to General Electric in 1947, he already knew the work he wanted to do. Like each of our 25,000 college-graduate employees, he is given a chance to grow and realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: When fresh young minds are given freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the company, and the country.

Gordon Hares at-tempts to sell a customer on the fine points of a used car in an on-the-job portion of the retailing course at Southern. Hares is working at a Herrin used car lot for eight weeks. After that, he'll go back to classes in SIU's Division of Technical and Adult Education.

The employment-study cycle continues for two years. Graduates are in great demand.

Jack Martin waits on customers at a Sobel's Department Store, Herrin, during an eight-week period of employment as part of the Cooperative Retailing course at Southern. Graduates of the two-year course, given by SIU's Division of Technical and Adult Education, are in constant demand by stores in Illinois, Indiana, Missouri and Kentucky.

Potential Salespeople Enroll In 2 Year VTI Course Leading To Associate Degree In Business

Through a unique tieup between education and the marketplace, some of the Midwest's potential salespeople are being groomed for jobs by Southern.

The Cooperative Retail Training course set up by the SIU Division of Technical and Adult Education is solidly supported by some of the Midwest's leading department stores and has a record of placements second to none at the University.

"In fact," says Walter D. Elder, supervisor of the program, "we have trouble keeping the students for the full course. The stores try to get them before they are finished."

Purpose of the two-year course, leading to an Associate Degree in Business, is to develop top-notch salespeople in apparel, variety, hardware, and food merchandise.

The students, who go to school at the Vocational-Technical Institute east of Carbondale, alternate between eight weeks in the classroom and six weeks of full time on-the-job employment.

A host of retail institutions cooperate in the program, employing the students during their "field work" period, and snapping up the graduates as soon as they complete the two year hitch.

In addition to scores of local Southern Illinois stores, such as retail giants as Marshall Field, Chicago, Sears Roebuck and Company, the L. S. Street, Famous Barr and Sears, Roebuck and Fuller of St. Louis, the Curt-Farber Shoe Company, the Hirsch Company chain, and many more are currently signed up for the entire crop of students.

High school graduates with an eye on the field of retailing can enter the program virtually assured of a job if they complete the course. Elder says, "There is a tremendous demand for our people. We find that the large department stores have as much or more respect for our graduates as for students in four year college programs."

The reasons for that respect probably lie in the intensiveness. The first year of the student is run through a gamut of studies ranging from "Customer Sales Relations," "Textile Information," and "Economics of Distribution." He learns how to sell different types of variety merchandise, studies store policies, learns show card lettering, and is taught the intricacies of color, line and design in apparel fashion.

The second year program reflects the same benefits of study, but with more emphasis on the office end of the field. The student learns about public relations, credits and collections, inventory and control, buying, fundamentals, personnel management, window display and business correspondence.

Basic college courses in government, English, speech, and marketing are faced through the two year course. On-the-job work during the second year is built around management duties.

32 Students Enrolled

At present, 32 students are enrolled in the course, with 11 of them due to graduate in June.

SIU doesn't drop out of the picture when the students leave school, however. The graduates are "watched" for five years and receive consulting assistance from the alma mater.

Store people working with SIU in the curriculum are strongly in favor of the emphasis on junior executive type training built around a "doing" program. The classroom atmosphere is much the same as the actual business places in which the students work.

Although men make up most of the enrollment in the course now, Elder says the opportunity for women in the field is "unlimited." He says he could place 10 women at Marshall Field and another 10 at the Fair Store right now—if it had them.

"In recent years, the trend has been toward thoroughly trained salespeople with a definite potential for advancement to the managerial level," Elder says. "We feel our program perfectly complements the trend."

Saluki Cagers Chop Down Indiana Sycamores 83-55

By Gene Coyer

With Gus Doss showing the way with 28 points, a hot-shooting SIU cage team routed an Indiana team by a score of 83-55 over the Indiana State Sycamores here Saturday night.

Doss tallied the first bucket for the hosts. Tally followed six seconds later to give the Salukis a 10 lead.

Secumore forward Bob Gilbert dropped in two charity tosses to make it 4-2. From then on, the visitors were never in serious contention as the Salukis held a 14-3 advantage before Indiana scored a field goal. Six and one half minutes of play had elapsed at this time.

Hitting 16 of 35 shots in the first half the hosts went into the intermission with a 40-27 margin.

The visitors threatened mildly at the opening of the final period, closing the gap to 43-35. A drive in by Dick Blithe, a brace of free throws by Seymour Brown and an equal number by Doss widened the margin to 49-35.

Four men scored in the double figures for the Salukis and every man in the game for the hosts got into the scoring column.

In the double figures were Doss, who took team and game honors. Following him were Brown with 15, Blithe with 11 and Capt. Joe Johnson with 10.

Leading the Sycamores was guard Bob Clark with 18. Sam Richardson, State center who came into the fray averaging 19.2 per game, was held to seven counters by the defensive work of Doss.

Referee Eddie Davidson and Ellis Veach appear to be in agreement with one another or in complete indecision during the court set.

Salukis Split, Fall To Indiana, Beat Eastern

The Saluki gapper's took a 20-11 victory from Eastern Illinois at Champaign Friday night.

Southern's Orlando, wrestling a weight higher than usual against Eastern's Roy Harvold, was a calamity for poms, fell into a duck-arm bar, a hold almost impossible to break and usually resulting in a pin. Orlando fought for over half a minute to break the hold, finally succeeded and came back to pin him again.

The Salukis fell behind 8-5 after the first three matches, but came back to take five out of the remaining six events, three on pins.

The results:

- 123—Bergfeld (S) pinned Daniel (E), 1:47.
- 130—Shadlow (S) defeated Grubbs (E), 2:08.
- 135—Meyer (S) pinned Salk (E), 5:18.
- 147—Meyer (S) defeated Murray (E), 1:34.

- H. W. —Fisher (E) defeated Hayes (S), 3:41.

Southern opened the meet by stroking home with a win in the 50-yd. medley with a time of 3:24. Thereafter, the tide changed. B. Beloit won the remaining events of the agenda, with the exception of the living event.

A minor head and hand injury during warmup before the meet prevented SIU's Bruce Coleman from exhibiting a living performance for which he is usually not B. Beloit's pool, which is five-and-a-half shorter and is shaller than SIU's was the cause of this accident.

The results:

- 50-yd. medley — Lockman (S), 3:24.
- 100-yd. freestyle — Thomson (B), 2:00.
- 200-yd. freestyle — Thomson (B), 4:03.
