12-Week Summer Session Proposed

★ Chain Letter Hits Campus

SIU students who have been taken in by one of America's oldest sucker games--the chain letter--will be in for some trouble if they get caught.

Harold Hakes of the Thompson Point Residence Halls reported Thursday that a chain letter is being circulated by hand within the housing area.

"This is a violation of Illinois state law which prohibits the use of lotteries with uncertain prizes being offered," Hakes wrote in a memo. The state provides a penalty, upon the first offense, of a fine of not more than $500 or up to a year in prison or both, he said.

He said the Security Police and Thompson Point staff will report all violators.

I.W. Adams, assistant dean of men, confirmed that chain letters violate the state law. He quoted a court ruling in a letter to the Daily Egyptian. Adams sent along a copy of the chain letter.

Like all chain letters, this one claims to circumvent statutes which prohibit this sort of scheme. It doesn't.

Here's how this particular skin game works: The pigeon--as the victim is called--buys a copy of the list for $37.50 and mails to the person at the top of the list a $25 U.S. Savings Bond which is provided by the person who sold him the list.

The pigeon then makes two copies of the list, eliminating the top name and adding his to the bottom. He buys from a bank two $25 bonds and sells one with each list for $37.50. At this point, he is assured, he has made his money back and he can expect "in a couple of weeks," when his name starts coming to the top of the lists, to receive $4,800 in bonds, which will mature to $6,000.

"The possibility must not be overlooked that the use of U.S. Savings Bonds for an unlawful or fraudulent purpose would constitute a violation of federal law," Adams said.

Cooperative Dormitory Apartments Filled Emergency Need for Off-Campus Housing

"The dormitory - apartments were born out of necessity," says Mrs. Anita Kuo, supervisor of off-campus housing.

Last summer SIU's housing Office was swamped with student residence applications which it couldn't fill.

To partially remedy this situation, the Housing Office solicited the help of Gail Williams who was in the process of building three apartment houses. With the help of Williams the apartment houses were turned into experimental, cooperative dorms.

At the beginning of the fall quarter, 76 students moved into the three cooperative dorms located at the intersection of East College and South Wall streets.

The Mecca Dorm, 506 E. College St., houses 44 men. This dorm is made up of 22 one - room, efficiency apartments.

The Mecca Apartments, 500 S. Wall St. and 508 E. College St., both house 16 girls. There are four apartments in each structure. These individual apartments have a living room, kitchen, two bedrooms, and bathroom.

Each member of the cooperative dorm pays $130.00 a quarter plus his share of the electric utilities.

The dorms are in a semi-independent state and are self-sufficient. They are organized and have elected officers. Both of men and women's dorm have two resident fellows.

In this experiment the students are treated as mature people. Although they have written rules and regulations, the byword of the dorms is "discretion." This word appears on several bulletin boards within the dorms.

A judicial board for each dorm has been elected to handle the indiscreet, but, so far, the boards have had no reason to meet.

Most of the students living in the cooperative apartments feel that the experiment has been successful. Mike Gereana, a sophomore majoring in foreign languages, says he enjoys living in Mecca Dorm.

"The dorm has many advantages over Thompson Point where I lived last summer," he said. "I lost money at Thompson Point when I missed meals there. Here at Mecca, I eat whatever and whenever I want."

Dance Troupe Performs Tonight

Paul Taylor's internationally famous dance company will be here for a performance at 8 p.m. today in Shryock Auditorium.

His program will be the same one they performed recently at the Berlin Festival, where they were America's only performing entry.

Taylor has had his own dance troupe since 1954 and with it has travelled throughout the world. His troupe of five members consists of Dan Wagoner, Elizabeth Walton,

Term Would Start June 15 If Trustees Give Approval

A proposal to change most of the SIU summer instruction to the same basis as the other three quarters of the year goes to the board of trustees meeting Jan. 23.

The recommendation is that the general University instructional program in summer be changed to a 12-week session, with certain exceptions. If the board approves the change, it would be effective this year, according to Charles D. Tenney, vice-president for instruction.

Tourney Week Deadline Today

Today marks the deadline for turning in entry blanks for the 1964 Tournament Week. Blanks, available at the Olympic Room and Bowling Alley must be given to the Activities Office by 5 p.m.

Tournament Week is sponsored in cooperation with the Association of College Unions which entitles members to send school champions to a regional tournament held at Purdue University in February.

summer session from June 15 to Aug. 29; the time period would include the final examination week, Tenney said.

The proposal, however, allows provision for an eight-week short session in certain approved areas. Tenney said this is designed to permit persons such as public school teachers to take summer work, and meet the requirements of their schools' schedules.

He cited this as an example of one possible exception to the 12-week session. Public schools are generally released earlier for summer vacation, and resumed earlier in the fall. An eight-week session for public school teachers would permit their taking summer work at SIU.

SIU has been in the process of "phasing in" a 12-week summer session, Tenney explained. The freshmen were exposed to it the first year, and last year, sophomores were added. The University is now in position to extend the program University-wide, with the exceptions noted, he said.

The purpose behind extending the summer session is two-fold, Tenney explained: (1) To permit maximum use of the University's facilities, and (2) to give students the maximum opportunity to control their speed of progress; it will enable them to take the same full-credit work in summer as they do in the other three quarters.

The "short session" would start about June 15 and conclude Aug. 6, Tenney added.

The question has been under consideration by the University Council since last August, and the council took final action on Dec. 17. One of its recommendations was that a full quarter be established

Josh White Seats Are Still Available

There are still plenty of tickets available for both of the Josh White performances to be given at 7:30 and 9:30 Saturday night in Shryock Auditorium.

The tickets may be purchased at the University Center information desk or at the door Saturday night.

Allan Furman, a junior majoring in psychology, says, "Here at Mecca most of the students have a feeling of responsibility to themselves and to their neighbors. It's almost like being on your own. At Mecca the students have more opportunity to display maturity than at Thompson Point." Furman also lived at Thompson Point last summer.

"These apartments are the best I've seen in Carbondale," said Edna Wilson who lives in the Mecca Apartments. "The furniture might be a little cheap, but this is the only fault I've found with this apartment."

During the weekend the girls are allowed to entertain men in the livingroom of their apartments with the door open. The hours for this entertainment are 7 to 8:30 on Friday and

Psych Films Set for TV

An on-site look at current research in experimental psychology is provided in a series of programs to be televised by SIU, beginning Thursday, Jan. 16, at 7 p.m.

Southern's television station, WSIU-TV (Channel 8), is among 70 National Educational Television affiliates across the nation scheduled to run the series.

The series, "Focus on Behavior," consists of 10 films of 30 minutes each. Produced by National Educational Television, it covers significant concepts, methods and latest advances in behavioral study.

David Ehrenfreund, chairman of the SIU psychology department, said the programs are filmed visits to laboratories of distinguished psychologists. He said they provide the viewer with a deeper understanding of the nature of basic research.

"The series was designed to develop a greater public appreciation of psychology as the scientific study of behavior," Ehrenfreund said. "The films were made at leading US universities, two hospitals and a US Air Force base, showing actual experiments as they happened."

Areas covered in separate programs include child growth and development, perception, the brain and nervous system, effects of psychoactive drugs, learning psychology, and others.

Photo Fair Set For Spring

The annual Photo Fair sponsored by the Department of Printing and Photography will be held April 5 with eleven classifications of entries scheduled for the picture competition.

John Mercer, chairman of the department, said there will be four classes in news photography, three in portrait work, three in commercial photography and one class termed "Category X," for off-beat or abstract photography.

Entry blanks will be available in February, Mercer said. They can be obtained by writing Mercer at the Department of Printing and Photography.

Featured speaker will be Garhard Bakkar, instructor at the Layton School of Art in Milwaukee and dean of the Winona School conducted during the summer at Winona Lake, Ind., by the Professional Photographers of America.

12-Week Session Asked for Summer

 starting with the summer of 1964, "with the provision that certain courses may be placed on an eight-weeks basis for the summer of 1964."

The council's action suggested provision for the eight-weeks session "to meet special needs" such as those outlined by Tenney. Courses offered on this pattern would require approval of the appropriate dean of academic affairs and the dean of the Graduate School. Any special workshop courses for credit should be approved by the same channels.

The actions were forwarded to President Delyte W. Morris, who endorsed them for presentation to the Board of Trustees for final consideration.

Goldwater Rapped On Missile Issue

WASHINGTON -- Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara accused Sen. Barry Goldwater today of damaging national security and being politically irresponsible in saying that U.S. long-range missiles are not reliable.

McNamara released a statement taking issue with assertions made by Goldwater while the Arizona senator, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, was campaigning in New Hampshire.

Goldwater said cuts in defense spending proposed by President Johnson would put too much reliance on the nation's missile force.

Goldwater said inter-continental ballistic missiles are not reliable, adding: "I can tell you that, and I'll probably catch hell for it."

McNamara's statement of reply was read to reporters by Asst. Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester.

It said: "Sen. Goldwater's reported statement that the U.S. long-range missiles are not dependable is completely misleading, politically irresponsible, and damaging to the national security.

"There is no information, classified or otherwise, to support the false implication that our long-range missiles cannot be depended upon to accomplish their mission.

"The importance of the long-range missiles to the defense of this country and the evaluation of their effectiveness by our leading military authorities is indicated by the strong support given by the Joint Chiefs of Staff to the missile program."

House Battle On Rights Opens Quietly

WASHINGTON--The battle for the civil rights bill President Johnson says must be passed this session opened quietly in the House Rules Committee.

"Mr. Celler," Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., said to Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the Judiciary Committee, "there is a rumor around you want to get a rule to send H.R. 7152 to the floor."

That remark started an estimated two weeks of hearings at which 10 or more hostile witnesses are expected to take their best shots at the bill before the committee clears it for a House vote.

Celler's committee took most of last year to fashion the 10-part bill, which deals with racial discrimination in voting, education, employment, places serving the public and federally aided programs.

Celler cited the support of Johnson and the late President John F. Kennedy for the bill and called it a solidly bipartisan measure which Republicans on the Judiciary Committee helped draft.

He said opponents could only delay but not block passage of the bill in the House. A strong majority of the Rules Committee is on record as supporting the bill but Smith is expected to run the hearings for about two weeks, giving Southern opponents a chance to get on record against it.

Scranton Asserts He's Not in Race

HARRISBURG, Pa. -- Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania says he is attempting to discourage any efforts to project him as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

"I have discouraged anybody that I know of who is attempting to create clubs or anything of that sort," Scranton said at his weekly news conference Thursday.

Since the death of President Kennedy, Scranton has been mentioned more frequently as a candidate and his stock appears to have boomed. He has said he would accept a sincere draft.

Army Secretary Vance To Replace Gilpatric

WASHINGTON--Roswell L. Gilpatric's long-expected resignation as deputy secretary of defense was accepted Thursday and President Johnson is naming Secretary of the Army Cyrus R. Vance to the post.

The White House also announced that Vance will be succeeded by Stephen Ailes, undersecretary of the Army.

Viet Premier Outlines Reform To Intensify War Against Reds

SAIGON, Viet Nam--Premier Nguyen Ngoc Tho has outlined a reform program aimed at summoning all national forces to win the U.S.-backed war against the Communist Viet Cong.

In a State of the Nation address Thursday, Tho called for discipline and unity among his people. He promised them little. He said democratic liberty must wait.

His speech, delivered to the newly created Council of Notables, was the first major declaration of policy by the revolutionary regime which overthrew President Ngo Dinh Diem in November.

One major reform cited by Tho has been urged by American authorities in Viet Nam. That is what Tho termed "a thorough reorganization of the armed forces to establish a command system appropriate to wartime to use to the maximum all armed forces in pacification operations."

Tho summed up by saying: "We have to balance a scanty budget without overtaxing the population, stabilize an easily perturbed market while boosting production in every sector and intensify the anti-Viet Cong war effort while seeing to it that more schools, hospitals and houses are built and more jobs are available to the working class."

Shakespeare's 400th Birthday

Basil Rathbone to Star In Series Honoring Poet

Basil Rathbone, considered one of acting's most versatile practitioners, says that poetry is "more closely related to music than to any other form of literature."

Rathbone will be at the SIU Carbondale campus Jan. 28 and at the Alton campus Jan. 29 for one-man shows. His program will include a dramatic presentation of the works of English-speaking authors, such as Shakespeare, Poe and Arthur Conan Doyle. "With poetry, sound is the vital element. It is not meant for reading but is designed for a spoken, dramatic presentation."

The appearance of Rathbone is the first scheduled event in a series marking the 400th anniversary of the birth of Shakespeare.

Other events in the series include a Canadian Players' performance of "Henry IV, Part I" and a Southern Players' version of "Richard III."

Thomas W. Baldwin, professor in English and honorary Chairman of the SIU William Shakespeare Quadricentennial, will deliver a public lecture on April 23, the bard's birthday.

Three other lectures are scheduled for delivery here, by Douglas Bush of Harvard, Richard Hosley of the Uni-

A program is presented by Margaret Webster, Shakespearean actress and producer, is tentatively planned.

Student Group Sets Hearing Date

Rules for the ad hoc investigating committee's open formal hearing on SIU membership in National Student Association have been announced by Mrs. Robin Carpenter Moore, chairman.

The hearing will begin at 7:30 p.m., Monday in one of the University Center activities rooms.

Anyone planning to speak on NSA must turn in immediately prior to speaking a written summary of their remarks, which will be attached to the committee's final report to the Student Council.

Novelist Anais Nin Narrates Three Ian Hugo Art Films

The "drama, poetry and other exotic aspects" of New York City will be brought to life on the screen of Morris Library Auditorium Wednesday as novelist Anais Nin narrates three films of scenarist Ian Hugo.

One of the three, "Jazz of Lights," was filmed by Hugo in Times Square, then transformed by technical processes into what has been described as "multiple motion unlike any ever seen." The program, at 8 p.m., is open to the public.

Also to be narrated by Miss Nin are Hugo's "Bells of Atlantia" and "Gondola Eye." They, like the first, are non-character, experimental films.

Hugo's works have captured prizes in some of the top international film festivals. Copies have been bought by governmental agencies in the US and other nations, as well as public and university libraries and the New York Museum of Modern Art.

Miss Nin's showing of Hugo films last year in the New York Public Library Donnell Center drew the largest audience for a program devoted to the art of the film in the institution's history.

Harry T. Moore, research professor of English, said a similar program he attended in New York earlier was "sheer poetry, one of the most beautiful things I've ever seen."

Miss Nin, born in Paris, came to the US at the age of nine but still considers herself an international writer. Her work, described as "literary surrealism," has attracted increasing attention in recent years.

Educator Named U.S. Consultant

An SIU faculty member has been appointed research consultant to the U.S. Office of Education.

Thomas E. Jordan, professor in special education and guidance, will receive federal funds to finance the study.

Jordan, a native of Leeds, England, joined the SIU faculty this autumn. He came here from Tulane University.

The corrections are:

Jan. 28: Basil Rathbone Readings, Shryock Auditorium, 8 p.m.

Prints, Sculptures Now on Exhibit

Drawings, prints and small sculptures by the 16th century artists known as "Mannerists" are exhibited in the Mitchell Gallery in the Home Economics Building and will be on display until Jan. 28, according to Ben Watkins, acting curator of University galleries.

Thirty-two prints from the Metropolitan Museum of Art and small sculptures from the Walters Art Gallery include work by such artists as Aspetti, Bloemaert, Floris, de Gheyn, Goltzius, Riccio, Saenredam, Stradanus, Susine, de Vos and others.

"This is a pivotal and influential period," Watkins said. "The unresolved tensions and ambiguities in which the Mannerists delighted are echoed in much contemporary art, prompting an increasing interest in this period."

The Mitchell Gallery is open 10 a.m. to 12 noon Monday through Saturday and 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Special arrangements may be made with Watkins or with Mrs. Denise Zaslowski, assistant curator, for showings at other hours.

Council to Meet In Edwardsville

The All-University Student Council will meet January 11, 9:00 a.m. and 2:15 p.m., on the Edwardsville campus.

Discussion subjects will be: "Problems of Intertransferring Students" and "A-USC Award and Scholarship."

Included in the first discussion will be a comparison of the General Studies Courses and general course requirements at the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES SALUTE: TOM HAMILTON

"I've known quickly on every job what was expected. Then it was pretty much up to me, with help as needed," says Northwestern Bell's Tom Hamilton (B.S., Business, 1960). Tom is Manager of his company's Clinton, Iowa Business Office, and has a staff of seven to help him service his 35,000 telephone customers.

Tom's promotion resulted much from his impressive records in two other company areas. He had been an Assistant Marketing Promotion Supervisor helping develop sales promotion when he was selected by his company to attend the special business seminar at Northwestern University in Chicago.

Then, as Communications Supervisor in Ottumwa, Tom was both salesman and supervisor - two other salesmen worked under him. On this job he showed the versatility that paid off in his Clinton promotion.

Tom Hamilton, like many young men, is impatient to make things happen for his company and himself. There are few places where such restlessness is more welcomed or rewarded than in the fast-growing telephone business.

Confident Salukis Face Miners at 8 Tonight

Southern's basketball team won only three games this year, but all three have come against Missouri teams.

Coach Jack Hartman is looking for his fourth victory of the season against another Missouri school at 8 p.m. tonight in the Men's Gym against Missouri Mines, but he isn't too optimistic.

The Salukis saw the Miners in action at the Missouri Invitational Tourney and they put on a good show, although finishing seventh in the holiday affair.

The Miners lost to Central and Southeast Missouri in the tournament (Southern beat both teams in the same tournament) but the Miners are no doormat by any means. Although small, it is a scrapping, hustling team with good speed.

Hartman doesn't write them off easily, "Any team that is supposedly lesser in stature than we are—they're going to fight. They've got a lot of confidence."

Ralph Farber looms as the Miners' standout player. The 5-11 guard made the All-

Tourney team at Springfield and is currently the Miners' leading scorer.

Meanwhile, the Salukis, who are showing some signs of coming to life, despite the loss to Tennessee A&I Monday night, have come up with two ballplayers who might give them the extra needed punch.

Lloyd Stovall and Dave Lee turned in sparkling performances against the Tigers, and their fouling out in the late stages of the game proved to be the deciding factor.

Stovall looked very aggressive and agile despite his 6-6 height, and hooked and dunked for 23 points while pulling down 14 rebounds. The Memphis, Tenn., sophomore leads the Salukis in the rebounding department with an even 10 per game.

Lee seems to be the floor general that SIU lacked in the previous seven games. The 6-1 soph guided the Salukis on offense and defense with his quick hands and speed. When Lee fouled out in the closing stages against A&I, Southern's offense seemed to bog down.

Hartman will go with the same starting lineup he used against the Tigers with Joe Ramsey, who leads the club with a 13.4 average, and Duane Warning at the forward spots.

Lee and Paul Henry, who's gradually getting back his shooting eye, will be at the guard positions. Stovall should have another good game at center because of the Miners' lack of height.

George Iubel's freshmen will take on Hannibal (La Grange Ext.) in the preliminary game at 5:45 p.m.

Co-op Dormitory Apartments Met Off-Campus Housing Need

Saturday nights and 2 to 7 p.m. Sunday.

Two residents of Mecca Dorm are critical of cooperative apartments.

"Nothing's perfect, and the saying holds true for this place," one of them said. "The walls and floors of this dorm are thin, making study impossible sometimes. I also think the rent is too high. We're moving out at the end of this term."

Don Kornely, Mecca Dorm resident fellow, is very enthusiastic about the experiment. "I think this cooperative apartment is successful," he says. "I expect more to be built in Carbondale and near other universities throughout the country."

It appears that Kornely's thinking is correct. Plans for building a larger dormitory-apartment complex to serve SIU are now being discussed in Carbondale.

University Housing Developers, Inc., of Chicago has submitted a proposal to the Carbondale Plan Commission to build a $6 million dorm-apartment on the east side of South Wall Street.

The plan involves 19 buildings on the tract which runs 662 feet on Wall Street and extends 684 to 700 feet east.

Seventeen of the structures will be four-story apartment buildings. One will be a seven-story dormitory, and one will be 12-stories containing four floors of apartments and eight of dormitory rooms.

About one-third of the 1,683 student spaces would be in apartments. The apartment buildings are based on five students per apartment, with kitchen facilities in each.

The Chicago developers have tailored their plans for the housing requirements of SIU. The proposal calls for one apartment and office for a resident adviser for each 30 students.

No division of buildings into men or women's dorms has been presented.

JSA Plans Party

The Journalism Students Association will sponsor a party from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. in Lentz Hall Dining Room 1.

A dance band and singer will entertain.

Saluki Ace in Final Year

SIU Gymnasts to Meet Navy Pier Saturday

Rusty Mitchell will be starting his last year of an illustrious career Saturday when he leads Southern's gymnasts against Navy Pier at 1:30 p.m. in the opener of the 1964 dual meet season.

The meet, which was originally scheduled to start at 2 o'clock, was pushed back a half-hour because of the SIU Parsons College wrestling match which is slated for 3:30 in the Men's Gym.

Mitchell, who will cocaptain this year's edition of Bill Meade's squad along with Chuck Ehrlich, was undefeated last year in the tumbling and free exercise events.

The West Covina, Calif., ace will be in the same spot tomorrow afternoon against the Illini and is expected to pick up where he left off last year.

The Salukis had little trouble with the Pier last year—or with anyone else for that matter—as SIU trounced the Chicago team 86-25. Meade probably doesn't expect the score to be that one-sided tomorrow, but nevertheless, the meet should prove to be just warm-up for Southern.

Meade caught a glimpse of a few of Chicago Illini's personnel at the recent Midwest Open which the Salukis won with 139 1/2 points, and said, "They're (Navy Pier) better than last year, from what I saw of them in the Open."

The Pier did not compete as a team in Chicago but still managed to place three members of its squad in the finals. Henno Simonlatser, who is back from last year's squad, placed sixth in the side horse, Larry Schneider placed in the high bar event and Sy Meyer placed in the ring competition.

Although he didn't place in the Midwest Open, the Illini's top performer is Larry Bjorkman (pronounced Borkman). He led his squad against the Salukis last year in scoring a fifth of their points.

Meeting Jan. 17 On Audio-Visual

Officials of the Illinois Audio-Visual Association will meet in Aurora Jan. 17 to plan a national education forum to be conducted in connection with the audio-visual trade show in Chicago next summer.

James Sexson, SIU audio-visual educator, is president of the association.

Officers and members of the executive committee include Charles J. Miller of Arlington Heights, vice president; Elizabeth Bloss of Aurora, secretary; Ed Eide of Bensonville, treasurer; John Griffith of Galesburg, past president; Don Hoopes of Northbrook; Dr. Shinkichi Shimabukuro of Northern Illinois University; M.S. Pool of Park Ridge; Elof Peterson of Evanston and Robert Wiseman of Eastern Illinois University.

State, and lost to the Cyclones, 58 1/2-53 1/2. The Salukis meet State next week in their next dual meet at Ames, Ia.

Meade's squad is in top physical shape and he plans to go with Mitchell and Bill and Dennis Wolf in the free exercise event. SIU is weak in the trampoline event and figures to yield some points as the Salukis' only entry is sophomore John Probeck.

Steve Pasternak, Mitchell and Ray Yano, who will be facing his old teammates, will work the side horse competition. Yano and the two Wolf boys will be entered in the high bar event.

On the parallel bars, Meade isn't certain as to who he will use, but Mitchell is sure to get the nod there, with the second and third spot a toss-up between the Wolfs and sophomore Ken Weigand.

Cocaptain Ehrlich will get some good competition from Bill Wolf on the rings with the last slot being occupied by either brother Denny or possibly another fine soph, Tom Cook.

Finally, Mitchell of course will be the main attraction in the tumbling competition—if you want to call it that. Probeck will also get the nod to back up Mitchell.

Lonergan Elected Chairman Of City Plan Commission

John F. H. Lonergan, SIU landscape architect, will assume the post of Carbondale Plan Commission chairman at the regular meeting next month.

Also slated to take office in February are William McBride, vice-chairman; Mrs. Clara McClure, secretary-treasurer; and John I. Wright, parliamentarian. The four were elected Wednesday.

In other action, the Plan Commission approved requests to construct two dormitories; adopted two ordinances annexing property located within the city limits; and heard a report by the Mobile Home Parks committee noting areas within a range of 1 1/2 miles of the city limits which would be suitable for organization of trailer courts.

Dorms scheduled for construction by private citizens will be located on Freeman street near Poplar and Rawlings street and at 504-506 Rawlings St.

Among areas annexed to Carbondale is a section on the east side of South Wall Street where tentative plans call for the construction of a $6 million dormitory project including 17 buildings.

Archie Jones of the Mobile Home Parks Committee told members of the commission that certain areas outside the present city limits but within a 1 1/2 mile radius are suitable for formation of trailer courts. The final recommendation of the committee was that trailer courts be limited to present agricultural and light industrial sites with the minimum trailer courts be 10-12 acres.

No action was taken on a request by the Rev. Charles Howe on the organization of a separate streets and traffic committee. At present such problems are handled by the commission's capital improvements committee.

Student Teachers To Meet at Furr

Charles Neal, director of student teaching, will meet next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday to discuss the program with those who expect to student-teach in the school year 1964-65.

Neal said the meetings would be in Furr Auditorium at 10 a.m. each day. He said it would be necessary to attend only one of the sessions but stressed the importance of attendance.
