Accusations made:

Parties disagree about objections to dismissal from council ballot.

By Shawanna Donovan

Five candidates are appealing the Municipal Board's Jan. 9 ruling which removed them from the Carbondale's official primary ballot.

Suggested public TV cuts may hurt area broadcasts

By Jason E. Cowan

Southern Illinois public television services could be adversely affected if the Federal Congress goes through with elimination of federal funding proposed by national leaders in Congress.

Programs such as the Read-to-Learn preschool educational and educational service and the Mathline mathematics project for middle schools are provided by federal funding. Also instructional television materials for kindergartens through grade 12 schools as well as the University and other community colleges could be eliminated or hampered under the proposed funding cuts, according to information provided by the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

FUNDING PAGE 5

By Gus Bode

The Illinois Board of Higher Education has recommended an $11.1 million increase for the Monetary Award Program, Illinois' largest need-based financial aid program in its budget proposal, and more SIUC students could qualify under a new formula.

The additional money will compensate for an expected 3.5 percent tuition increase at SIUC, increase the maximum award from $3,800 to $3,900, and provide an additional 3,000 awards to those students who qualify.

Pamela Britton, SIUC financial aid director, said the additional funds in the program will benefit the University because of the large number of students who apply for aid.

ISAC advocates funding increase for aid program

By Amanda Estabrook

The Illinois Board of Higher Education has recommended an $11.1 million increase for the Monetary Award Program, Illinois' largest need-based financial aid program, in its budget proposal, and more SIUC students could qualify under a new formula.

The additional money will compensate for an expected 3.5 percent tuition increase at SIUC, increase the maximum award from $3,800 to $3,900, and provide an additional 3,000 awards to those students who qualify.

Pamela Britton, SIUC financial aid director, said the additional funds in the program will benefit the University because of the large number of students who apply for aid.

Japanese students search for relatives

By Dustin Coleman

Though most Japanese students at SIUC have called and confirmed the safety of their family and friends since Tuesday's earthquake, many still find themselves glued to the television and reading the newspapers to find out just how hard their homeland was hit.

Associated Press wire service reports the earthquake, which struck the area of Kobe, Osaka, and Kyoto Japan Tuesday, has left over 3,000 people dead, 14,500 injured and at least 900 missing. More than 300 Japanese students enrolled at this University, according to Admissions and Records.

Quake death toll tops 3,000

The Washington Post

KOBÉ, Japan—The death toll from Japan's worst urban disaster since World War II passed 3,000 Thursday as rescue workers continued to pull victims and survivors of Tuesday's earthquake from piles of rubble.

The scenes of stress-filled the air around the clock, and military trucks jammed the few open streets of this port city near the center of Japan's main island.

Bulldozing: SIUC dairy center manager, Dennis Derere, of Carbondale, works on smoothing down sand at the center's cattle yard Wednesday as bedding for the cows. The center, on McCafferty Road, conducts research by studying milk samples produced by the cattle and by doing food and nutritional experiments.

Students candidates appeal decision

Accusations made:

Parties disagree about objections to dismissal from council ballot.

By Shawanna Donovan

Five candidates are appealing the Municipal Board's Jan. 9 ruling which removed them from the Carbondale's official primary ballot.

Suggested public TV cuts may hurt area broadcasts

By Jason E. Cowan

Southern Illinois public television services could be adversely affected if the Federal Congress goes through with elimination of federal funding proposed by national leaders in Congress.

Programs such as the Read-to-Learn preschool educational and educational service and the Mathline mathematics project for middle schools are provided by federal funding. Also instructional television materials for kindergartens through grade 12 schools as well as the University and other community colleges could be eliminated or hampered under the proposed funding cuts, according to information provided by the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

FUNDING PAGE 5

By Gus Bode

The Illinois Board of Higher Education has recommended an $11.1 million increase for the Monetary Award Program, Illinois' largest need-based financial aid program in its budget proposal, and more SIUC students could qualify under a new formula.

The additional money will compensate for an expected 3.5 percent tuition increase at SIUC, increase the maximum award from $3,800 to $3,900, and provide an additional 3,000 awards to those students who qualify.

Pamela Britton, SIUC financial aid director, said the additional funds in the program will benefit the University because of the large number of students who apply for aid.

ISAC advocates funding increase for aid program

By Amanda Estabrook

The Illinois Board of Higher Education has recommended an $11.1 million increase for the Monetary Award Program, Illinois' largest need-based financial aid program, in its budget proposal, and more SIUC students could qualify under a new formula.

The additional money will compensate for an expected 3.5 percent tuition increase at SIUC, increase the maximum award from $3,800 to $3,900, and provide an additional 3,000 awards to those students who qualify.

Pamela Britton, SIUC financial aid director, said the additional funds in the program will benefit the University because of the large number of students who apply for aid.

Japanese students search for relatives

By Dustin Coleman

Though most Japanese students at SIUC have called and confirmed the safety of their family and friends since Tuesday's earthquake, many still find themselves glued to the television and reading the newspapers to find out just how hard their homeland was hit.

Associated Press wire service reports the earthquake, which struck the area of Kobe, Osaka, and Kyoto Japan Tuesday, has left over 3,000 people dead, 14,500 injured and at least 900 missing. More than 300 Japanese students enrolled at this University, according to Admissions and Records.

Quake death toll tops 3,000

The Washington Post

KOBÉ, Japan—The death toll from Japan's worst urban disaster since World War II passed 3,000 Thursday as rescue workers continued to pull victims and survivors of Tuesday's earthquake from piles of rubble.

The scenes of stress-filled the air around the clock, and military trucks jammed the few open streets of this port city near the center of Japan's main island.

Bulldozing: SIUC dairy center manager, Dennis Derere, of Carbondale, works on smoothing down sand at the center's cattle yard Wednesday as bedding for the cows. The center, on McCafferty Road, conducts research by studying milk samples produced by the cattle and by doing food and nutritional experiments.
Thursdav, January 19, 1995

Newswraps

World

MEXICAN PARTIES ATTEMPT POLITICAL ACCORD—MEXICO CITY—For the first time in 10 years, the Institutional Revolutionary Party and the nation's three largest opposition groups agreed Tuesday to negotiate sweeping political reforms to strengthen democracy. The accord came as a group of political entrepreneurs entered a final round of talks to solve post-election conflicts that threatened to spread unrest in southern Mexico.

NEW CHECHNYA CEASE-FIRE TALKS BREAK DOWN—SHALI, Russia—As a new cease-fire initiative broke down, authorities in Chechnya arrested a Russian-backed opposition leader Wednesday while he was attempting to set up a new talk on the release of 46 hostages as well as other war prisoners seized in the war against the breakaway republic. Musa Jamiakhanov, a prominent political foe of Chechen President Dzhokhar Dudayev, was taken into custody here before an alleged court ordered his arrest after handing the local military commander an ultimatum to free the war prisoners or else Russian warplanes would bomb his residence.

POPE RESTS DOWN UNDER AIT TRAVELING STRUGGLE—“Just call me Karol,” the Pope said as he arrived Sunday in Sydney, Australia. “I’m on a long trip, but I’m not going to moan about it.”

The Papal tour, the first by a pontiff to Australia in 54 years, is expected to draw some 100,000 people to events in Sydney, Melbourne and other cities.

In Sydney, the Pope was scheduled to meet with Prime Minister Bob Hawke before addressing the national parliament. He was then expected to visit the city’s St. Mary’s Cathedral and St. Mary’s College. He then was to fly to Melbourne, where he was expected to meet with the state’s Premier, Jeff Kennett, and tour the city’s St. Patrick’s Cathedral and St. Andrew’s Cathedral.

In Canberra, the Pope was expected to meet with state leaders and address Parliament. He was also scheduled to visit the Australian War Memorial and to meet with the Governor-General, Sir John Kerr.

Following a private audience with the Pope, the Australian Catholic Bishops Conference will issue a statement. The conference is expected to discuss issues such as the future of the Australian Catholic Church, the role of women in the church, and the Pope’s views on social justice.

INDIVIDUALIZED LEARNING PROGRAM
Division of Continuing Education

INDIVIDUALIZED LEARNING PROGRAM COURSES
CARRY SIUC RESIDENT CREDIT APPLICABLE TO A DEGREE

ILP courses have no enrollment limits, and students can register throughout the semester. Students use a study guide developed by SIUC instructors as the course framework and schedule a time and place of their choosing. To register in an ILP course, on-campus students must bring a registration form signed by their advisor to our office at Washington Square “C.” Off-campus students should contact the ILP office directly. We must receive payment of $15 per credit hour when you register your courses.

Individualized Program Office at 536-7551 for further information.

Take an ILP Class

Year 1995 Courses

Spring 1995 Courses

Principles of Real Estate FIN 320-3
Real Estate Appraisal FIN 322-3
Small Business Financing FIN 350-3
Hospitality & Tourism FIN 202-3
Front Office Management FIN 272-3
Food & Beverage Management. FBN 372-3
Law of Journalism JLNN 442-3
Introduction to Security LE 203-3
Small Bus. Management, MGMT 350-3
Small Business Finance FIN 350-3
Intermediate Algebra MATH 107-3
Existential Philosophy PHIL 353-3
Principles of Physiology PHIL 203-3
Intro to Office Management. PCLS 340-3
Pol. Sys. Amer. States POLS 414-3
Public Finan. Admin. POLS 443-3
Spanish IV SPAN 400-3
Russ. Real.Russ 480-4 (in English)
Technical Math TC 101ha,b-2
Applied Physics TC 107ha,b-2

Get In 604r Spring Semester-

Take an ILP Class

Spring 1995 Courses

Principles of Real Estate FIN 320-3
Real Estate Appraisal FIN 322-3
Small Business Financing FIN 350-3
Hospitality & Tourism FIN 202-3
Front Office Management FIN 272-3
Food & Beverage Management. FBN 372-3
Law of Journalism JLNN 442-3
Introduction to Security LE 203-3
Small Bus. Management, MGMT 350-3
Small Business Finance FIN 350-3
Intermediate Algebra MATH 107-3
Existential Philosophy PHIL 353-3
Principles of Physiology PHIL 203-3
Intro to Office Management. PCLS 340-3
Pol. Sys. Amer. States POLS 414-3
Public Finan. Admin. POLS 443-3
Spanish IV SPAN 400-3
Russ. Real.Russ 480-4 (in English)
Technical Math TC 101ha,b-2
Applied Physics TC 107ha,b-2

"Television Course (Fall & Spring only)"

"On-campus students need instructors permission"

"Not available on off-campus Pol. Sci. majors."

"Course under preparation"

"Not offered for graduate credit"

Corrections/Clarifications

A caption under a photo of the SIUC Polar Bear club Wednesday incorrectly stated the Library Information Fair would be held Wednesday, Feb. 5. The event will be held Wednesday, Feb. 15.

In a story which ran in the Jan. 18 edition of the Daily Egyptian titled "Vicious flies empty execute post", the Daily Egyptian contained some errors. There are approximately 25 international students at SIUC. The International Programs and Services department runs the programs and services for the international students, not the International and Economic Development Laboratory.

The U.S. representative to the Carlsbad Liquor Advisory Board is Michael Nolan, not Mark Nolan, as stated in Wednesday’s newspaper. Mark Robinson is chairman of the LAB.

The Daily Egyptian regrets the errors.

Accuracy Desk

If readers spot an error in a news article, they can contact the Daily Egyptian Accuracy Desk at 536-3133, extension 233 or 228.

Daily Egyptian Southern Illinois University at Carbondale

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328

Parents Notice: Student-column: 802-328
City pondering anti-lockout ordinance

By Aaron Butler
Daily Egyptian Reporter

Cardonale renters are still waiting for city council approval of an ordinance that would keep landlords from locking tenants out without following specific legal procedures. There is some debate in the ordinance, including those who wonder if the city should be involved in the owner-tenant relationship final action by the council on the ordinance was postponed by the council Tuesday night at the request of City Manager Jeff Dobby.

At the request of the council, Dobby expressed support for the ordinance, but Dobby said he wanted more time to evaluate details of the proposal before bringing it back before the council at the Jan. 31 meeting. A representative of the Cardonale chumbe said he was unconvinced the ordinance was necessary, and wrote a letter to Dobby expressing his concern. There are a few landlords who use lockouts as a way of dealing with tenants, said Meador. This ordinance appears to be under considera­tion only for these few,” Meador said. Illinois has explicit provi­sions that deal with all the issues raised in the proposed ordinance, and he doesn’t see why the city needs to have additional laws covering the same areas.

“Tender this (ordinance) is intended only to make life easier for a few people,” he said. “This type of thing (lockouts) is very rare.” Drew Hendricks, chairman of the Landlord/Tenant commission, said the ordinance is extremely impor­tant because it gives tenants the ability to enforce the rights of tenants by ticketing or even arresting landlords for breaking the law. “It will be a tool for the police to use, which will make them far more effective in these situations,” he said.

Hendricks said the ordinance would be good for the community as a whole and should pass at writ

Landlord hammered with over $13,000 in fines

Violations included line which dumped raw sewage into basement every time commode flushed

By Dean Weaver
Daily Egyptian Reporter

A prominent Carbondale landlord has started of the new year by paying the City of Carbondale over $13,000 in fines to correct properties with an appellate court mandate.

Henry Fisher appealed Circuit Judge Dan Kimmons’ November 1993 ruling which fined him for city violations on two Carbondale rental properties.

City Attorney Sharon Hammer said Fisher was fined $11,600 for failing to have a building occupancy permit from the city after building a triplex at 312 W. College. The permit allows the city to verify that the structure meets national building codes and is safe for tenants.

The triplex was rented in August of 1992 and Fisher’s first $500 cita­tion came in January of 1993. Hammer said Fisher paid the fine but failed to obtain the permit and continued renting the property. Judge Kimmons fined Fisher $50 per day for a total of 232 days totaling the $11,600 amount, she said.

Fisher was also fined $1,500 for three city code violations at a rental property at 302 S. Beveridge St.

The worst of the violations, Hammer said, was a leaking sewer that dumped sewage into the basement every time the toilet was flushed.

A representative for Henry Fischer Home Rentals, 703 S. Illinois Ave., said some of the violations were unavoidable.

Darenn Develckio, a worker at the Fisher rental agency, said the city did not issue an occupancy permit at 312 W. College because of an underground parking lot and inadequate landscaping.

“The best way to find out about a landlord is to talk to people who live in the place you want to rent how they like it.”

Steve Rogers
Student legal assistant

“TENANTS, page 6

Fishy

Trees used for habitat

By Dave Katzman
Daily Egyptian Reporter

Trees are usually thought of as housing for birds, squirrels or other small mammals, but in a program at Ren Lake, donated Christmas trees are used to provide food and habitat for fish.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers at Ren Lake has been collecting old Christmas trees for the last 12 years to assemble fish attractors. The attractors are used by experienced fishermen to improve their catch. Attractors can be purchased as trees or manufactured out of materials including cans.

Volunteers bundle the trees and anchor them to the bottom of the lake. About 600 trees that would otherwise take up room in landfills are placed in strategic locations mapped and made available to fishermen.

In addition to establishing an alternative to placing trees in landfill sites, the program improves fishing prospects, said Mark Meador, a park ranger with the corps at Ren Lake.

“The trees provide a safe haven for the young fish and the decaying wood in the water provides a food source,” Meador said that in addition to providing attractors, the program allows fishermen to work with the corps.

Rainy Day: Stacy Stancanice, a Villa Park junior in paralegal studies, was doubly busy Wednesday with a stylish hammershot and the overhead protection of a College of Technical Careers breccway.

Seniely Goo — The Daily Egyptian

FISHY, page 6

Varsity Clouds

Formal charges filed in murder

“Charging him (Vinson) with three different counts gives me flexibility in prosecuting the case.” — Wespiec

By Rob Nell
Daily Egyptian Reporter

James E. Vinson, 30, of Carbondale was charged with three counts of first degree murder by Jackson County Coroner Jerry Thierman. Vinson was pronounced dead shortly after her body was found near Carbondale’s spillway on Pleasant Hill Road early Tuesday morning. An autopsy conducted at the direction of Justice of the Peace County Coroner Jerry Thierman indicated she died of asphyxiation due to manual suffocation.

Police Chief Don Strom told reporters Tuesday that Vinson was arrested after he implicated himself in Spiller’s murder. Strom said Vinson told investigators he had argued with Spiller late Tuesday night over drugs.

Vinson said the argument escalated and he admitted to striking and choking her. Strom said.

Wespiec said Vinson was charged with three counts of first degree murder, he could be convicted on one of those counts. He said the three different counts reflect different stages of mind in which Vinson may have been when he allegedly killed Spiller.

“Charging him with three different counts gives me flexibility in prosecuting the case,” he said. During his hearing today, Vinson was informed about his rights, given a copy of the charges and given a date for the pre­liminary hearing. His bond was set at $500,000. The hearing will be Feb. 9 at 10 a.m.

In another case, police are investigating the Magua Bank robbery but have no new information. Police are asking anyone with information about this case to call them at 457-3200, 457-3206 or the FBI at 529-5121.

Fisher’s next fight may be regis­tering his name and properties with the city to aid official visits in mandatory housing inspections.

The city has been working with rental property owners for the past year, Hammel said, to encourage them to comply with the registra­tion.

“Hes (Fisher) has not registered his properties...but the majority of them,” she said.

Steve Rogers, an attorney at STUC students’ legal assistance office, said Fisher’s bad reputation is “a terrible way to deal with fair. The city has its own methods of getting the place ready and the lease thoroughly before signing.

“The best way to find out about a landlord is to ask the people who live in the place you want to rent how they like it,” he said.
City advisory board needs narrow focus

THE CARBONDALE CITY COUNCIL'S DECISION to retain but revise the Liquor Advisory Board, which consists of students, town business owners and other concerned citizens, has placed the ettself and board members in the interesting position of being able to rewrite how liquor issues are handled in the community. There are some very important democratic issues the city must keep in mind, however, when the board's new duties are being formulated.

THE CARBONDALE LIQUOR ADVISORY BOARD recently was in danger of elimination as a result of a proposal by Councilman John Mills. The board was founded about 20 years ago to consult with the Carbondale mayor and the city Liquor Control Commission, a body made up of the city council members.

Mills claimed that the services of the board were not needed because the commission performs most of the same duties, such as approving liquor licenses for establishments. Members of the board argued that the group is one of the few outlets through which students and other concerned citizens can affect town liquor regulations.

BECAUSE THE LIQUOR ADVISORY BOARD was created to give the advice of students and townspeople to the city council concerning liquor issues, that should be the body's only focus. By taking on other duties which are already performed by the commission, the board has expanded its focus to the point of counterproductivity.

The board's focus was recently criticized by city officials after the group asked a police officer to be present at a meeting to answer questions about the enforcement of an underage alcohol-consumption law. The board was directly involving itself in a matter that the city council could have handled better. After all, the community hires the council to ensure town concerns are addressed and protected.

There is strong potential in having a group of Carbondale citizens who can advise the city on liquor issues, and it certainly cannot be denied that these issues have a major impact on the people of the town. Past Halloween celebrations on South Illinois Avenue involving massive consumption of alcohol have taught us that. But this board will not serve an issue which has similar goals but will not unify with the other groups. This is like having several soldiers fighting for the same territory, none of whom are willing to join the army because of their own need for self-gratification.

ACROSS THE NATION, TIME AND ENERGY ARE wasted because countless numbers of special-interest groups and governmental organizations will not focus on their similarities and team up to make a difference in society.

As the city council and the Liquor Advisory Board begin to draft the board's new function, both bodies would do well to look around at the turmoil in other cities, states and in the country as a whole. This turmoil is created by organizations of sound advice to the city council, then new legislation will be needed to eliminate the board.

Effects of 'middle-class bill of rights' may help all socio-economic levels

By Robert Eisner Special to the Los Angeles Times

"Much more should be done for education at all levels. We used to talk of cradle-to-grave security. What we now need is cradle-to-grave education."

Robert Eisner Special to the L.A. Times

Forty-six years ago, I went back to school. Thanks to $2,000 per year and tuition and books expenses under the GI Bill of Rights, I was able to get a doctorate in economics. That support from the government gave me a career.

And there were millions of returning veterans like me, who got education and training — many the first in their families to go to college — found jobs, bought homes and raised productive families. The federal debt in 1948 was far higher in relation to the nation's income than it is today, but I don't recall too many people worrying about it. Our veterans deserved an education and the opportunity for good jobs.

"The centerpiece of President Clinton's "middle-class bill of rights" is post-secondary education. It offered support — tax deductions rather than direct government spending — which was far less, although the stakes are as great or greater."

Yet we hear a chorus of naysayers — columnists, politicians and some economists who protest that this kind of support is bad economics, a shameful political capitulation to voters who will gain little and do not want the benefits. Would not the economy be much better off if the hoped-for results were not achieved? I don't think so, although the stakes are as great or greater.

"We have a chance to be much better off if the hopes for training and education are not achieved. And that is because the stakes are as great or greater."

Though the economy is today, but I don't recall too many people worrying about it. Our veterans deserved an education and the opportunity for good jobs.

Currently, 60 percent of high-school graduates go on to post-secondary education. There is evidence that lowering the cost of that education increases the number of students who are not as well-educated as possible. Currently, 60 percent of high-school graduates go on to post-secondary education. There is evidence that lowering the cost of that education increases the number of students who are not as well-educated as possible.

Robert Eisner Special to the L.A. Times

More should be done for education at all levels. We used to talk of cradle-to-grave security. What we now need is cradle-to-grave education."

By Robert Eisner Special to the Los Angeles Times

"Much more should be done for education at all levels. We used to talk of cradle-to-grave security. What we now need is cradle-to-grave education."

Robert Eisner Special to the L.A. Times

There is strong potential in having a group of Carbondale citizens who can advise the city on liquor issues, and it certainly cannot be denied that these issues have a major impact on the people of the town. Past Halloween celebrations on South Illinois Avenue involving massive consumption of alcohol have taught us that. But this board will not serve an issue which has similar goals but will not unify with the other groups. This is like having several soldiers fighting for the same territory, none of whom are willing to join the army because of their own need for self-gratification.

ACROSS THE NATION, TIME AND ENERGY ARE wasted because countless numbers of special-interest groups and governmental organizations will not focus on their similarities and team up to make a difference in society.

As the city council and the Liquor Advisory Board begin to draft the board's new function, both bodies would do well to look around at the turmoil in other cities, states and in the country as a whole. This turmoil is created by organizations of sound advice to the city council, then new legislation will be needed to eliminate the board.

Effects of 'middle-class bill of rights' may help all socio-economic levels

By Robert Eisner Special to the Los Angeles Times

"Much more should be done for education at all levels. We used to talk of cradle-to-grave security. What we now need is cradle-to-grave education."

Robert Eisner Special to the L.A. Times

Forty-six years ago, I went back to school. Thanks to $2,000 per year and tuition and books expenses under the GI Bill of Rights, I was able to get a doctorate in economics. That support from the government gave me a career.

And there were millions of returning veterans like me, who got education and training — many the first in their families to go to college — found jobs, bought homes and raised productive families. The federal debt in 1948 was far higher in relation to the nation's income than it is today, but I don't recall too many people worrying about it. Our veterans deserved an education and the opportunity for good jobs.

"The centerpiece of President Clinton's "middle-class bill of rights" is post-secondary education. It offered support — tax deductions rather than direct government spending — which was far less, although the stakes are as great or greater."

Yet we hear a chorus of naysayers — columnists, politicians and some economists who protest that this kind of support is bad economics, a shameful political capitulation to voters who will gain little and do not want the benefits. Would not the economy be much better off if the hoped-for results were not achieved? I don't think so, although the stakes are as great or greater.

Though the economy is today, but I don't recall too many people worrying about it. Our veterans deserved an education and the opportunity for good jobs.

Currently, 60 percent of high-school graduates go on to post-secondary education. There is evidence that lowering the cost of that education increases the number of students who are not as well-educated as possible. Currently, 60 percent of high-school graduates go on to post-secondary education. There is evidence that lowering the cost of that education increases the number of students who are not as well-educated as possible.

Robert Eisner Special to the L.A. Times

More should be done for education at all levels. We used to talk of cradle-to-grave security. What we now need is cradle-to-grave education."

By Robert Eisner Special to the Los Angeles Times

"Much more should be done for education at all levels. We used to talk of cradle-to-grave security. What we now need is cradle-to-grave education."

Robert Eisner Special to the L.A. Times

Forty-six years ago, I went back to school. Thanks to $2,000 per year and tuition and books expenses under the GI Bill of Rights, I was able to get a doctorate in economics. That support from the government gave me a career.

And there were millions of returning veterans like me, who got education and training — many the first in their families to go to college — found jobs, bought homes and raised productive families. The federal debt in 1948 was far higher in relation to the nation's income than it is today, but I don't recall too many people worrying about it. Our veterans deserved an education and the opportunity for good jobs.

"The centerpiece of President Clinton's "middle-class bill of rights" is post-secondary education. It offered support — tax deductions rather than direct government spending — which was far less, although the stakes are as great or greater."

Yet we hear a chorus of naysayers — columnists, politicians and some economists who protest that this kind of support is bad economics, a shameful political capitulation to voters who will gain little and do not want the benefits. Would not the economy be much better off if the hoped-for results were not achieved? I don't think so, although the stakes are as great or greater.

Though the economy is today, but I don't recall too many people worrying about it. Our veterans deserved an education and the opportunity for good jobs.

Currently, 60 percent of high-school graduates go on to post-secondary education. There is evidence that lowering the cost of that education increases the number of students who are not as well-educated as possible. Currently, 60 percent of high-school graduates go on to post-secondary education. There is evidence that lowering the cost of that education increases the number of students who are not as well-educated as possible.
Candidates

meeting. Range said Henry's objections shifted the burden of proof onto the candidates. Range had wanted to dismiss all charges at the hearing, but the board's ruling declined the motion at the following meeting on Jan. 5.

The candidates are seeking to reverse the board's ruling and have either names put back on the official
Feb. 28 ballot.

Board chairman John Mills said
he did not want to alarm anyone.
“Everything that was done was discussed,” Mills said. “We considered what he said. Mills said it is within their right to (appeal). It’s probably an exercise are phased out over three to five immediate then programs at our stain contrast to WSIU's 30 percent.

Funding

provided by public broadcasting in rural
and disadvantaged parts of society,” O’Brien said.

Michael Hardgrope, general manager of public television.
affiliated, said KETC receives about 10 percent of its operating from the federal government in contrast to WSIU's 30 percent.

If the cuts do come and are im-
mended, they won’t affect our sta-sion could be effected, but if they
are phased out over three to five years, I’m afraid WSIU will go off
through other sources,” Hardgrove

Deerfield, will begin today to dis-
announcements are

received $1,077,848 for fiscal year 1995. WSIU
in funding would seriously curta-
reduce pre-professional opportunicuts. WSIU/WUSI received
$1,077,848 for fiscal year 1995.
About 20 percent of our board
were part of WSIU's overall oper-
43 percent account-

SLUC student.

Relatives

disaster from a television screen.
“We may be worried about the situation, but we cannot live the reality of the disaster.” Nishioka said.

It is a very dangerous situation,”

Tsuichi, a graduate student in education, said she has not yet contacted all of her family members.

“I finally did talk to my mother,
because the telephone finally start-working, but no one has been able to give a hold of my cousin,”

Tsuichi said. “The televisions in Japan are naming the people who are dead or injured, and this is the only way to know whether friends and family are dead.

Calendare

Today

STUDY ABROAD PROGRAMS
held with 400 students on travel opportunities
7 p.m. at the Museum Auditorium. For details call 453-7670.

BIG MUDDY FESTIVAL
will hold a general interest meeting at 6 p.m. in the Student Center. Volunteers are needed to help out the festival. For info. call Paul at 453 1482.

TOPS Take off pounds sensibly will meet at 8:30 p.m. at First Baptist Church, corner of University and Main St. For info. call Michelle at 457-4428.

Funding

provided by public broadcasting in rural
and disadvantaged parts of society,” O’Brien said.

Michael Hardgrope, general manager of public television.
affiliated, said KETC receives about 10 percent of its operating
from the federal government in contrast to WSIU's 30 percent.

If the cuts do come and are im-
mended, they won’t affect our sta-
sion could be effected, but if they
are phased out over three to five years, I’m afraid WSIU will go off
through other sources,” Hardgrove

Deerfield, will begin today to dis-
announcements are

received $1,077,848 for fiscal year 1995. WSIU
in funding would seriously curta-
reduce pre-professional opportuni-
cuts. WSIU/WUSI received
$1,077,848 for fiscal year 1995.
About 20 percent of our board
were part of WSIU's overall oper-
43 percent account-

SLUC student.

Relatives

disaster from a television screen.
“We may be worried about the
situation, but we cannot live the reality of the disaster.” Nishioka said.

It is a very dangerous situation,”

Tsuichi, a graduate student in education, said she has not yet contacted all of her family members.

“I finally did talk to my mother,
because the telephone finally start-
working, but no one has been able to give a hold of my cousin,”

Tsuichi said. “The televisions in Japan are naming the people who are dead or injured, and this is the only way to know whether friends and family are dead.

Calendare

Today

STUDY ABROAD PROGRAMS
held with 400 students on
travel opportunities
7 p.m. at the Museum Auditorium. For details call 453-7670.

BIG MUDDY FESTIVAL
will hold a general interest meeting at 6 p.m. in the Student Center. Volunteers are needed to help out the festival. For info. call Paul at 453 1482.

TOPS Take off pounds sensibly will meet at 8:30 p.m. at First Baptist Church, corner of University and Main St. For info. call Michelle at 457-4428.
Fishy continued from page 3

"It's a good experience for the locals to help out with the resource management aspect of Rend Lake," he said. The habitat also benefits the large or small fish sought by fishermen, such as crappie, bluegill and sunfish, said Mac Reynolds, owner of the Lake Marina.

"Algae grows on the trees... the smaller fish can hide from the larger fish," said Glenn Campbell, district forester for the Department of Conservation. He said it is more common in private lakes.

"I don't know of any other lake where there's an organized effort to do this," he said. "It's an excellent use for them (the Christmas trees)."

Campbell said a similar program was started at Lake Murphysboro about 15 years ago, which still Unity pine trees from the area. He added that the program works better than Christmas trees, since the pine decomposes within six years.

Tree placement at Rend Lake will take place Jan. 28. To volunteer, call the Rend Lake Management Office at (618) 734-2493.

Tenants continued from page 3

"I don't see the reason for this controversy," he said.

"Tenants need to be protected from the arbitrary decisions of landlords, and there needs to be an impartial third party involved in the eviction and the taking of property for collateral."

Bonnie Owen, a Carbondale rental property owner, said she supported the ordinance as long as it did not permit unauthorized sub-leasers, vagrants, or leaseholdovers from taking advantage of the system.

"This may be what is necessary to protect residents," she said. "There is a professional way to deal with these situations, and tactics such as removing doors, masts and windows, or locking out tenants without legal procedures is not right."

"I don't think it is proper to lock out tenants who have a legal contract," Owen said. "I would never cast children out of their homes, and I do use the proper channels to deal with these situations, but I would like the terms of this ordinance to be well defined, so it is not abused by holdover tenants or squatters."

Hendricks said the Landlord/Tenant Commission requested the help of the city in the collection of phone numbers and addresses of rental property owners, registered with the city, for a Carbondale renters guide. This guide will give prospective renters the ability to learn about who they are renting from," he said. "It will also let renters know where to turn for help, give them a sample lease, and show what is and is not legal in a lease."

Hendricks said future renters' guides will be provided with cost comparisons and information, and will eventually be posted on the Internet, a worldwide computer information network.

Shabazz pleads not guilty in murder-for-hire case

ST. PAUL, Minn.-Oallah Bahiyah Shabazz, the fiancée of slain black leader Malcolm X, pleaded not guilty Wednesday to charges of attempting to hire a hit man to murder Nation of Islam leader Louis Farrakhan, while the new report on government tapes cast further doubt on her role in the alleged plot.

Shabazz, 34, appeared somber and spoke softly in entering plea before federal magistrate Franklin L. Noel, who set a trial date of March 27. If convicted, she could face up to 50 years in prison and $22.5 million in fines. Joining the local public defender's office on Shabazz's defense team were William M. Kunde, the flamboyant, left-wing civil rights lawyer who once represented the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., and former Manhattan borough president Percy Sutton, a longtime friend of Malcolm X's family. Both said they were serving for free.

But missing from the packed courtroom was a deeply distraught Betty Shabazz, Malcolm X's widow and Oallah Bahiyah Shabazz's mother, who had been steadfastly left behind when the defense team left for court.

"Nobody picked me up! Why did you do me like that? ... That's my daughter," a tearful Shabazz yelled at the defense lawyers in the lobby of the federal building.

"Nobody picked me up! Why did you do me like that? ... That's my daughter," a tearful Shabazz yelled at the defense lawyers in the lobby of the federal building.

Graduating Spring 1995?????

Have you applied for graduation?????

If not, please do so immediately!

Applications for Spring 1995 for the May 1995 commencement will be accepted through Friday, January 20, 1995, 4:30 p.m., at Admissions and Records, Woody Hall, Room A103.

Applications are available at Admissions and Records, Woody Hall A103, or at Advisement Centers.

Applications must be filled in and returned to Admissions and Records.

Do not take the application form to the Bursar. The fee will appear on a future Bursar statement during the Spring semester, 1995.

Remember Friday, January 20, 1995 at 4:30 p.m. is the deadline to apply for Spring 1995 graduation and commencement.

In the time it takes to make your first payment, there will have been three full moons, a change of season and you will have written enough pages to fill a small tome.

BUY AN APPLE MACINTOSH NOW, PAY FOR IT LATER.

We're not just making a center for you to buy a Macintosh," we're making it easier for you to buy something even more important: a limited time, with the Apple Computer Loan and 90-Day Deferred Payment Plan, you can own a Macintosh personal computer, printer, CD-ROM drive or other peripheral without making a single payment for 90 days. Combine that with no hidden, no complicated forms and already great student pricing, and the easy-to-use Macintosh is now incredibly easy to buy. The Apple Computer Loan and 90-Day Deferred Payment Plan. The solution that gives you the power every student needs. The power to be your best!
Panelists tackle city crime; prevention is shared effort

By Michael Deford Daily Egyptian Reporter

A panel of local experts spoke to an SIUC women's group Tuesday night on ways to deal with the violence in today's society, stressing the importance of crime prevention techniques.

Panel members discussed various aspects of crime prevention and offered advice on how to deal with serious crimes from happening to them. The panel was intended to speak on behalf of the Carbondale branch of the American Association of University Women.

Sgt. Nelson Ferry, of the Carbondale Police, said preventing crime is a team effort. "My major opinion about crime prevention, first off, is it's a shared responsibility," Ferry said. "We need citizens to take a more active role. If you see something that looks suspicious, pick up the phone and call the police."

"We live in a violent society and that's the reality of the whole thing. There are things that each and every person can do to protect themselves," he said.

Ferry said due to the violence in the society, it is extremely hard for anyone not to be aware of crime. "With respect to violence in America, you would just about have to be in a vacuum not to be aware of the violence that takes place in our society on a daily basis," Ferry said.

Ferry said the issue of violence in the area is becoming more common and that workplace homicide is the leading cause for females and the third leading cause of death among males.

Don Priddy, a community resource officer of the Carbondale Police Department, said crime prevention units focus on home security efforts. "The police department is doing community policing efforts are aimed at making people feel more secure, especially in the home. This is why we are doing this," Priddy said. "We've got people who are scared, even though they are in the home, so we are doing something about it."

Priddy said neighborhood watch groups are an important part of crime prevention by adding police efforts.

"We start with talking to people about home security and neighborhood watch groups," Priddy said. "The people in the neighborhoods know a lot more about what is going on than we do."

Nancy Bowden, crime victims advocate for the city of Carbondale, told the panel that professional and personal counseling services are provided for victims who come into the department.

"I basically do what I call crisis intervention counseling," Bowden said. "I try to find out what is the most important thing for an individual victim to have at that moment."

"Another aspect of what I do is to provide information about the judicial process system which the average person really has very little idea of what to do," she said. "After a victim comes to me I make sure that we get the right law enforcement involved.

Although people tend to think crimes occur during dæning hours, Ferry says crime can occur at any moment.

"Crime can occur anytime, day or night, under any type of situation anywhere," Ferry said. "If you apply good common sense, you are probably going to be fine."

"The essence of crime prevention is removing the opportunity for a crime to be committed," he said.

Ringing in the New Year with a Certificate of Deposit from SIU Credit Union

18 Month Certificate of Deposit

6.61% Annual Percentage Yield

$1000 Minimum Deposit

- How can you study overseas? Find out tonight! Information on study, work and travel abroad
- 7:00 p.m., University Museum Auditorium, Fanner Study Abroad Programs, International Programs & Services, 803 S. Oakland Street, 456-5760

Quatro's Original Deep Dish Pizza

- For a Snack: THE SMALL WONDER
  Small deep pan or thin crust pizza with 1 topping: $4.99
- Want a Meal?: REAL MEAL DEAL
  Medium deep pan or thin crust pizza with 1 topping and 24 oz. drink: $7.79
- The BIG ONE: Are You? Large deep pan or thin crust pizza with 1 topping and 41 oz. bottles of Pepsi
  $9.89
A bit of ol’ Ireland

Carbondale’s The Dorians bring Celtic music to life

By Benjamin Gobshah
Daily Egyptian Reporter

The Dorians perform traditional Celtic music — which evolved in Ireland, Scotland and Brittany — with American fiddle-folk to form intricate harmonies that can set a toe tapping.

The Dorians will perform Saturday night at the On the Island Pub, 717 S. University Ave. Admission is free.

The Dorians are Mike Shanahan on guitar, cittern, mandolin and vocals; Bryan Crow on wood flute, tin whistle, keyboards and vocals; Mickey Sohly on fiddle, guitar and mandolin, and primary vocalist Elaine Floyd-Kennett on keyboard and bodhran.

Each of the versatile musicians use several instruments during a performance. Traditional instruments, such as the cittern, tin whistle and bodhran (pronounced bow-row) add a flavor to the group that distinguishes it from other music forms indigenous to Southern Illinois.

Crow, an SIUC professor, said even though some of the songs are about lost loves or the experiences of Irish folk emigrating from their homeland, the music has a kind of humor that is not found in rock, blues, or jazz.

“Humor is more a part of this music,” he said. “These are songs that people can enjoy and laugh at. It’s happy music you can get your feet moving to.”

Sally Walden, a Carbondale resident, said she adores the music of the Dorian because the music lifts her up.

“You can’t sit still — you can’t not dance when the Dorians are playing,” she said. “You could be down, have a bad day at work, but listening to their music, you can’t be down.”

Shanahan, an SIUC professor, said he enjoys crafting the music into complex, challenging arrangements. He also gets a satisfaction in bringing this type of music to an audience that has been unfamiliar with the style, he said.

“We do more of an awareness, a consciousness-raising job, to audiences that may have never heard anything like this before,” he said. “Hopefully they will seek out the professional Celtic artists.”

Crow said the Chieftains, the Brodies, Planxty and the Clancy Brothers are professional Celtic artists.

Crow learned to play the tin whistle years ago while traveling through Ireland.

“I bought my first tin whistle one summer when I was hitchhiking around Ireland, but I didn’t really learn to play it properly until I met some Irish musicians that could take me further than the self-instruction books,” he said.

Shanahan was first introduced to the music 20 years ago while living in Madison, Wis. He had been playing folk music and was fascinated by what he heard. Five years later, he met the Irish guitarist that taught him the style.

In 1987 Shanahan and Crow teamed up with fiddle player Mark Rhodes to form The Dorian Brothers, but Rhodes left the band after he graduated. Two other musicians tried to fill his spot, but it wasn’t until 1990 that the band stabilized with Mickey Sohly.

The following year Elaine Floyd-Kennett, a professional vocalist, joined them and the “Brothers” part of the name was dropped.

Crow said the name is not a person, as some people have guessed, but simply Dorian, which is popular throughout the

Dorians, page 9

Spotlight

Sounds of Bluegrass grow with Wolf Creek Pickers

By Kristi Dooly
Daily Egyptian Reporter

bluegrass band and a folk singer/songwriter will bring their music to Carbondale Friday night.

Wolf Creek Pickers got its start over a year ago, when the band did a gig for a friend at the Wolf Creek Ranch, a Southern Illinois farm ranch.

Since then members of the band have played at such events as the Apple Festival, Makanda Civil War Re-enactment and the Colorfest. Fiddler, Debbie Kestinger, said they like to play for “home parties, campers — more local and personal performances.”

Friday night they will perform at Cousins Pickers, page 9

Faces on campus

What was your New Year’s resolution?

“To quit smoking.”
—Angela Daehe, freshman, social work. 1о іоле

“To read more books and smoke more cigarettes.”
—Renee Ohl, freshman, journalism.

“To lose some weight. I’ve put on some pounds since moving here from California.”
—Jan Zarkowski, senior, radio television, St. Louis.

“The bonjo just... it just made me crazy. It was like the way rock & roll affected me when I was 15.”
—Jerry Garcia on Bluegrass music

For more Entertainment, see page 9

The List

1. Delbert McClinton and 7 piece band— (spring ’94) Stopped by and played two sets after an arena show was shortened.

2. The Eyes (’88) and Modern Day Saints (’85) — Great Songs, energy, and stage presence. Could have gone all the way.

3. Big Twist and the Mellow Fellow — Powerful, confident, mainstay.

4. Vova Nova — (February ‘91) Imagine Billy Goats with a female singer and an attitude.

Pickers

from page 6

Andy's Coffee House, located at 402 W. Mill St., in the basement of St. Stephen's Church, at 7 p.m. The Wolf Creek Pickers are a bluegrass band that consists of

Dorians

from page 8

traditional Celtic music.

Shanahan said it takes a long time for the level of musicship the Dorians developed to end.

Increase

from continued page 1

the University because of the large number of students who receive financial aid.

"When MAP receives increases in federal aid, which happens several times a year because we have a large population of needy students," she said.

Britton said the formula for deciding who qualifies has changed, and students who did not have enough financial aid, according to the old formula, might qualify this upcoming year due to the increase in program funding. Britton urged students who were denied to apply again.

Almost 40 percent of SIU students who receive some source of financial aid receive MAP grants which cover in-state tuition and mandatory fees.

Last year SIU received almost $13 million for MAP grants. Britton said the grants are decided upon the financial need of the student and the cost of tuition and mandatory fees at the school.

Don Wilson, vice chancellor for financial affairs, said with a 3.5 percent tuition increase, which is planned for next fall, will be raised to $2,400 for a full time student in residence this academic year which will be covered due to the increase in the maximum award.

Robert Clement, director of public affairs for the Illinois Student Assistance Commission, said over all, ILAC would receive a total increase of $15.2 million pending approval of the Illinois General Assembly.

Other programs receiving additional funds from the increase are the Illinois GEAR, Illinois Promise, Teachers of Illinois scholarships, and the DePaul Teacher Scholarship program.

The IHBE proposal also included a recommendation for $150,000 to a new program started by UAC.

The Illinois Education Clearinghouse would receive more than $1.2 million from a single source for financial aid information. The program will include information about state aid, 40k, and about additional resources for financial aid such as private resources, Clement said.

The IEC is currently a pilot program, but Clement said he hopes to have it running by April and have a full blown program for the next fiscal year.

Quake

from continued page 1

Shaken survivors formed long lines for food and water and left hand-painted signs on street signs telling friends and relatives they were still alive.

As the huge fleet set off by the earthquake numerous hot spots were to emerge. As of dawn Thursday, the National Disaster Agency reported that 3,072 people were killed in the quake, most buried under collapsed homes and buildings. Another 800 were listed as missing. Nearly 20,000 structures were in ruins.

With water, electricity, and gas supplies still out, more than 240,000 people in Kobe, Nishinomiya and surrounding cities were still sleeping in temporary shelters of-selling examples.

Most people were still in their own homes, but they had to line up to get to some tanks trucks to get water. At Kami-Koshien Elementary School in Nishinomiya, for example, people were unable to get water for more than a 6-hour period to get water that was restricted to one quart per person.

The Red Cross received many reports of terror shortly before 2 a.m. when an aftershock registering 3.4 on the Richter scale struck and no one knew when and everyone got up in tears.

Shortly afterward, there was no explanation of a chemical-storage tank on Kobe's Port Island, a man-made island just off the coast. But since Port Island had already been evacuated, the resulting fire even did not endanger human life, police said.

In Washington, the State Department warned all citizens of the U.S. consul general in Osaka was badly damaged in the Tuesday quake and the 11-story building housing the consulate suffered some structural damage, but no employees were hurt.

U.S. officials also identified the location man known to have been killed in the quake as Voni Lynn Wong, a teacher from California

Kessinger, banjo player Tom Cummings, guitar Jerry Glenn, fiddle Karl Mellinger, and mandolin player Paul Frank.

Cummings said his main music background was in Hank Williams and Johnny Cash.

Cummings said he has played the banjo for years but not in a band.

"Bluegrass is funny that way," he said.

"It takes it long to get a hand to flow, to know we've reach that crest 1:1 mean when we feel we've got our energy and we cannot what each of us are doing," he said.

"That allows for a certain spontaneity that works with the old framework, but you don't start out that way.

"when MAP receives increases in federal aid, which happens several times a year because we have a large population of needy students," she said.

Britton said the formula for deciding who qualifies has changed, and students who did not have enough financial aid, according to the old formula, might qualify this upcoming year due to the increase in program funding. Britton urged students who were denied to apply again.

Almost 40 percent of SIU students who receive some source of financial aid receive MAP grants which cover in-state tuition and mandatory fees.

Last year SIU received almost $13 million for MAP grants. Britton said the grants are decided upon the financial need of the student and the cost of tuition and mandatory fees at the school.

Don Wilson, vice chancellor for financial affairs, said with a 3.5 percent tuition increase, which is planned for next fall, will be raised to $2,400 for a full time student in residence this academic year which will be covered due to the increase in the maximum award.

Robert Clement, director of public affairs for the Illinois Student Assistance Commission, said over all, ILAC would receive a total increase of $15.2 million pending approval of the Illinois General Assembly.

Other programs receiving additional funds from the increase are the Illinois GEAR, Illinois Promise, Teachers of Illinois scholarships, and the DePaul Teacher Scholarship program.

The IHBE proposal also included a recommendation for $150,000 to a new program started by UAC.

The Illinois Education Clearinghouse would receive more than $1.2 million from a single source for financial aid information. The program will include information about state aid, 40k, and about additional resources for financial aid such as private resources, Clement said.

The IEC is currently a pilot program, but Clement said he hopes to have it running by April and have a full blown program for the next fiscal year.

Shanahan said incorporating new material into their performance takes a lot of time and work, but the band keeps on working.

Their ever-changing repertoire currently ranges from an original instrumental called "Drake's Boy" to tunes that are so old no one knows who originally wrote them.

Shanahan was saying that it takes a long time for the level of musicship the Dorians developed to end.

The neighbors removed their caps and bowed their heads in silence as the child's body was taken away. But there was no sobbing, no shouts of pain.

An extremely common reaction among many people interviewed was that of Hano Nishinuma, who was working as a volunteer delivering rice balls near his home in Kobe.

"I was shaken, it happened, and I lived through it, and there's nothing to do now but clean up," he said.

In Kobe and its suburb, whole neighborhoods were razed, primarily by the fires that the earthquake sparked. But in the areas where the quake did its worst, the damage was simply, almost apocalyptic. In Nishinomiya, for example, there was a spot where a still-smoldering delivery truck had been tossed from a buckled freeway.

But near by stood a whole block of two-story wood-and-concrete houses with little or no visible damage.

A few blocks down the way, there were two identical apartment towers side by side: one badly cracked, the other with a few windows intact and clothing still hanging precariously on dry to the terraces.

There was also considerable evidence supporting a common, if somewhat depressing, lesson taught by Japan's regular earthquake drills: The highest floors of a building were least likely to be damaged.

Many damaged buildings here had collapsed at the bottom, so that people on the first floor were crushed while upper floors remained largely intact.

A small sun shone over the city Wednesday, thousands of Japanese were stoically clean up debris, sweeping up splintered glass and clearing shattered tiles from their rooftops. There were no signs of lodging.

There seemed to be a deliberate effort to find a silver-lining.

"The way we see it, the fates were on our side," said Kazuo Nakamura, proprietor of a grilled chicken restaurant on a damaged. shopping arcade called Sakura Street, near the center of destruction in Nishinomiya.
OFFICIAL SIU TEXTBOOKS

One stop and you are ready for classes.

MORE
School Supplies

MORE
Art Supplies

MORE
Drafting Supplies

MORE
SIU Apparel

Save 25% Buy Used Textbooks

If saving money is your bag...

MORE
USED BOOKS
FROM
710 BOOKSTORE

Supplies
Official S.I.U. Textbooks

Be sure you have our bag!

710
Book Store

Special Hours:
Monday, January 16 - Thursday, January 19
8:00am - 8:00pm
Friday, January 20 - Saturday, January 21
8:30am - 5:30pm

710 South Illinois
549-7304
CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING RATES

Minimum Ad Size: 3 words, 3 characters.

Copy Deadline: 3 days, 1 publication day prior to publication.

Classified Ad Policy: The Daily Egyptian cannot be responsible for more than 2 days' retransmission. Advertisers are responsible for checking their replies for errors on the first day they appear. Errors not the fault of the advertising which have the value of the advertisement will be adjusted.

Open Rate

$1.00 per column inch, per day

$5.00 per column ft., per day

$50.00 per column yard, per day

Space Reservation Deadline

Requirements:

2 p.m. 2 days prior to publication

Member of advertising agencies are required to have a 2-column order. Other orders are accepted on a larger column widths.

SHELDRICK OF KEOWEPEAK

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING RATES

20 or more lines, 46c per

3 days, 70c per

clay..........

per day

copy

Deadline: 12 Noon.

1st Classified

Daily Egyptian

$529-3930.

11TH Classified

1st Classified

J. B. McCurdy

$549-2888.

FAX: 572-4513.

Tiling Classified

1st Classified

C. S. Carpenter

$529-3513.

FAX: 57-8194 or 529-9213.

Please review the Classified Advertisements.

* * *

FURNITURE

The following list of furniture is for sale.

Please review the Classified Advertisements.

* * *

ROOMS

The following list of rooms is for rent.

Please review the Classified Advertisements.

* * *

MOBILE HOMES

The following list of mobile homes is for sale.

Please review the Classified Advertisements.

* * *

Appliances

The following list of appliances is for sale.

Please review the Classified Advertisements.

* * *

Automobiles

The following list of automobiles is for sale.

Please review the Classified Advertisements.

* * *

Bicycles

The following list of bicycles is for sale.

Please review the Classified Advertisements.

* * *

Boats

The following list of boats is for sale.

Please review the Classified Advertisements.

* * *

Parts & Service

The following list of parts & service is for sale.

Please review the Classified Advertisements.

* * *

HORSE AUTOMOBILE SERVICE, Inc.

Certified.

207 S. 2nd St.

2nd St.

573-8129.

STEVE THE GAS DOCTOR mobile mechanic

Tel: 572-6393.

Motorcycles

The following list of motorcycles is for sale.

Please review the Classified Advertisements.

* * *

New

TESSON RAIL CAR RENTAL

17.60, $5.00 per

4.

.05.

per of 3 days

per day

Rental

 apprentice. 15c per day.

• The Classified Department is not responsible for errors in the classified column.

* * *

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING RATES

The following list of classified advertising is for sale.

Please review the Classified Advertisements.

* * *

SHELDRICK OF KEOWEPEAK

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING RATES

20 or more lines, 46c per

3 days, 70c per

clay..........

per day

copy

Deadline: 12 Noon.

1st Classified

Daily Egyptian

$529-3930.

11TH Classified

1st Classified

J. B. McCurdy

$549-2888.

FAX: 572-4513.

Tiling Classified

1st Classified

C. S. Carpenter

$529-3513.

FAX: 57-8194 or 529-9213.

Please review the Classified Advertisements.

* * *

FURNITURE

The following list of furniture is for sale.

Please review the Classified Advertisements.

* * *

ROOMS

The following list of rooms is for rent.

Please review the Classified Advertisements.

* * *

MOBILE HOMES

The following list of mobile homes is for sale.

Please review the Classified Advertisements.

* * *

Appliances

The following list of appliances is for sale.

Please review the Classified Advertisements.

* * *

Automobiles

The following list of automobiles is for sale.

Please review the Classified Advertisements.

* * *

Bicycles

The following list of bicycles is for sale.

Please review the Classified Advertisements.

* * *

Boats

The following list of boats is for sale.

Please review the Classified Advertisements.

* * *

Parts & Service

The following list of parts & service is for sale.

Please review the Classified Advertisements.

* * *

HORSE AUTOMOBILE SERVICE, Inc.

Certified.

207 S. 2nd St.

2nd St.

573-8129.

STEVE THE GAS DOCTOR mobile mechanic

Tel: 572-6393.

Motorcycles

The following list of motorcycles is for sale.

Please review the Classified Advertisements.

* * *

New

TESSON RAIL CAR RENTAL

17.60, $5.00 per

4.

.05.

per of 3 days

per day

Rental

 apprentice. 15c per day.

• The Classified Department is not responsible for errors in the classified column.
Call 536-3311 and place your ad today.

Look for Our Full Listing Feb. 1st

ONE BEDROOM

607 W. Main #2

TWO BEDROOM

310 W. College #1

109 W. Main

404 S. University

212 S. Walnut

THREE BEDROOM

Commercial

703 S. College

311 S. College

402 S. Main

Best Selections in Town · Available Now! · 529-1082

POSITIONS AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY

Reporter

- 20 hours a week, daytime block
- Experience in reporting and writing in a journalistic fashion, or journalism coursework preferred
- If available, submit copy of your work with application

Photographer

- 30 Hours a week; daytime Monday-Thursday time block with flexibility to work other times as needed.
- Must be familiar with 35mm photography, including processing of black and white negatives.
- Submit 5 photo prints of 5-10 of your photographs with your application. (Do not submit original photos.)
- Experience in photojournalism and digital processing helpful.

Copy Editor

- String knowledge of spelling, grammar and punctuation, and good attention to detail required.
- 20-25 hours a week; late afternoon/early evening Monday-Thursday work schedule.
- Knowledge of desktop publishing and previous publications editing and previous publications editing experience useful.

Morning Office Assistant

- Morning block 8-11 a.m.
- Duties include answering the telephone, scheduling advertising, scheduling meetings, filing, and coordinating work with sales reps
- Computer experience helpful

All applicants must have an ACT/FFS on file.
All majors are encouraged to apply for all positions. The Daily Egyptian is an Equal Opportunity Employer.
Five call it quits in Mall; retail jobs scarce in area

By Kellie Huttes

As the first week of school ends, many students will be heading to bookstores to pick up texts and supplies, but some may be a little short on cash. "It’s tough," said Mike Cones, manager of Deja vu, the new, 250-store chain of Merry Go Round. In University Mall, said he, "they have become like family, but under Merry Go Round’s list of closings, he will have in March.

The store, which was bought out by Gordon Brothers, a men’s suit shop, is already starting to liquidate merchandise with special sales. A policy of not taking personal checks and American Express credit cards has also been established.

Cones said he does not like to see the store closing but understands the business world and what companies must do to keep others open. "Although nobody is to blame, store economics across the Midwest are not helping businesses," he said.

Cones said he is assisting other employees in the search to find jobs in preparation for the store’s closing.

Non-renewals necessary

Gene Groves, the University Mall manager, said the mall is constantly re-m merchandising to meet Southern Illinois demographics. By doing so re-locations and non-renewal of leases is sometimes necessary.

Barker’s Shoes’ lease expired and was not renewed because its sales were not meeting the target price point.

"Merry Go Round was losing 250 stores, they have no money for school vending cart. is closed but is still leased by the mall. Groves said.

Chess King will no longer lease space in University Mall.
Pippin
continued from page 16
earned him three championship rings.
Yes, Scottie also has three rings, but seen as the ring leader. And his selfishness and plans for sympathy won’t get him one either.

But here’s the rub: he is absolutely nothing for Bulls fans. He claim himself as the architect of the championship run when he ought to be wearing Jordan’s car.

The main question fans are asking why is so disdain by Bulls fans, but when a question comes up about trade in the near future, most say the word Krause. He just doesn’t grasp the fact that fans will not take kindly to someone who constantly shuts them out from team information.

In terms of the way he’s handled Pippen, Krause should have made him an easy-attainable incentives offer in light of his new role as team leader. A clause could have guaranteed him a $1.8 million per year bonus, as long as he did something completely ignorant in his leadership role (like refuse to enter a tied playoff game with 1.8 seconds left on the clock).

But with Pippen and Krause, nothing is that simple.

And neither will building another championship team with a组合 money-grubber and an unsociable miser getting in the way.

The Rambler, Pippen, Krause should have made him an offer in light of his new role as team leader. A clause could have guaranteed him a $1.8 million per year bonus, as long as he did something completely ignorant in his leadership role (like refuse to enter a tied playoff game with 1.8 seconds left on the clock).

But with Pippen and Krause, nothing is that simple.

And neither will building another championship team with a combination money-grubber and an unsociable miser getting in the way. The arrival, will have three years of eligibility remaining at WU.

The 6-2, 200-pound sophomore will compete for the job vacated by graduating Leatherneck quarterback-back and 1994 Gateway Conference Offensive Player of the Year, Rob St. Sauver.

Gateway
continued from page 16

Western Illinois University where he will be eligible to play next fall. Hecklinski was All-State at Wichita State for five MVC statistical categories, to 10.6 points and 7.2 rebounds, from page 16.

Some owners feel Rams move uncertain

Los Angeles Times

Rankin Smith, owner of the Atlanta Falcons, has been through this before.

When Al Davis ‘decided to move the Raiders from Oakland to Los Angeles in 1982, Smith was part of an owners’ group opposing the move. It turned out to be costly when the National Football League later upheld a 1981 Las Vegas raid and chief executive officer Roger L. Staubach, who represents Krause, should have made him an offer in light of his new role as team leader. A clause could have guaranteed him a $1.8 million per year bonus, as long as he did something completely ignorant in his leadership role (like refuse to enter a tied playoff game with 1.8 seconds left on the clock).

But with Pippen and Krause, nothing is that simple.

And neither will building another championship team with a combination money-grubber and an unsociable miser getting in the way. The arrival, will have three years of eligibility remaining at WU.

The 6-2, 200-pound sophomore will compete for the job vacated by graduating Leatherneck quarterback-back and 1994 Gateway Conference Offensive Player of the Year, Rob St. Sauver.

MVC
continued from page 16

and Creighton on Saturday.

Creighton, will try to bounce back after its loss to Drake on Jan. 14, when the LadyTs take on Wichita State on Saturday. Jenny Olson leads the league in blocked shots averaging 2.4 a game, while Becky Flynn is among the top-10 in five MVC statistical categories.

Southwest Missouri State is riding a four-game winning streak after opening the season at 4-7. The key to the Lady Bear success is defense. SMSU ranks second behind Bradley, only giving up 63 points a game. SMSU has given up only 27 points during the four-game win streak. After Wednesday’s game at Northern Iowa, the Lady Bear play host to Drake.

Indiana State’s Amy Walker eclipsed the 1000-point mark last week, becoming only the 11th player in SIAC history to accomplish the feat. Walker and teammate Georgia Bottoms scored the clincher for 29 and 24 points respectively in the Champions’ 84-78 win last Saturday. Indiana State plays at Illinois State Saturday.

Bradley is in the midst of a four-game losing streak and scored a measly-low 39 points against his Southwest Missouri State on Jan. 12. In that game, the Lady Braves were held to only one three-pointer, which was their lowest total since 1992. Bradley takes on Evansville Tuesday, and goes on to Sycamore Saturday.

Bruce McDonald’s three-point shot with 3.1 seconds left on the clock amortized the 100-96 loss to Illinois State, which knocked the Redbirds out of the MVC tournament.

The MVC tournament will be played in Peoria this year. Southern Illinois University Edwardsville will host the tournament.

The Redbirds are the number one seed in the tournament and will face the number eight seed in the tournament.

But with Pippen and Krause, nothing is that simple.

And neither will building another championship team with a combination money-grubber and an unsociable miser getting in the way. The arrival, will have three years of eligibility remaining at WU.

The 6-2, 200-pound sophomore will compete for the job vacated by graduating Leatherneck quarterback-back and 1994 Gateway Conference Offensive Player of the Year, Rob St. Sauver.

T-Shirt, Jewelry & Tye Dye Sale!

Tues-Fri Student Center
9-5

- Grateful Dead
- Wide Spread Panic
- Phish

& Other T's

Beads
Stickers
Incense
Sterling Silver

T-Shirt, Jewelry & Tye Dye Sale!

Tues-Fri Student Center
9-5

- Grateful Dead
- Wide Spread Panic
- Phish

& Other T's

Beads
Stickers
Incense
Sterling Silver

A Tasty Greek Delicacy
Delivered to You!

Try Carbondale’s finest GYROS sandwich. The Greek hairstyle combination of U.S. choice beef blended with Greek spices, garnished with tomato, onion, and a sour cream based sauce served on a pilla bread.

EL GRECO
 Carry Out or Delivery 457-0303
516 S. Illinois Ave. Carbondale

HALF GYROS AFTER 10:00 pm $1.40
Save Time & Trouble, Let Us Deliver

Lowest Prices of the Year

DATES
Jan 18-20
TIME 10am-5pm
PLACE Student Center
By Grant Deady
Daily Egyptian

The race for the Missouri Valley Conference crown is in men's basketball can only be described in one way as the unattainable 6-0 Valley record.

The Golden Hurricane is 11-3 other.

learning the ropes: Britt Van Buskirk, 33, owner and trainer at the Tough

Eagles' Fitness Gym gives basic pointers to Jaid Boler, 24, the gym's light-heavyweight sparring partner. Boler is preparing for an upcoming bout on a card in St. Louis.

Krause, Pippen: Both egos must go

Not even the new United Center can hold these two egos.

As if watching this leaf of mediocrity lose to the Clippers and twice to the Bulls, wasn't enough? Bulls fans also have to put up with weekly tirade sessions from Scottie Pippen and listen to General Manager Jerry Krause laugh it off.

But this Bulls team is no laughing matter. It's no fun when the fans feel a need to shower after watching them score just 63 points in a single game.

A dim light of hope appeared when Chicago bummed the Orlando Magic and Philadelphia
76ers by more than 30 points in consecutive games, but they immediately killed
the streak coming back to lose three straight.

It's time to clear the Bulls' barn, and it all starts at the top.

Even though this team was once in the floor, Krause very seems to refuse to change, making the media his bitch and mean about it, attempting to send a message to Krause and to make Bulls fans shudder for him.

Sorry, Scottie, but these eyes are as dry as the meat served at the diner. First off, fans are no good for sympathy because they are sick and tired of hearing athletes white about their seven-digit salaries.

Second, and most important, Pippen didn't learn a damn thing about his way home from a company when

Michael Metzger was injured in a car accident Monday morning in

Normal at around 1 a.m.

Metzger, a red-shirt freshman at
ISU, who was All-State at

Southport High School in

Normal, had a portion of his right leg severed when he nipped himself in the leg while running alongside the train.

The 6-1, 160-pound QB was
home from his last two wins.

With his right arm gone,

Metzger's leg was amputated

after he was flown to

Georgetown University Medical Center.

Pippen, page 15

Photography by Sarah Lowery

Tragedy befalls ISU signal caller

• Illinois State quarterback
Michael Metzger was injured in a train accident Monday morning in
Normal at around 1 a.m.

Metzger, a red-shirt freshman at
ISU, who was All-State at
Normal Southport High School in Illinois, had a portion of his
right leg severed when he
nipped himself in the leg while running alongside the train.

The 6-1, 160-pound QB was
home from his last two wins.

With his right arm gone,
Metzger's leg was amputated
after he was flown to
Georgetown University Medical Center.

Pippen, page 15

Not even the new United Center can hold these two egos.

As if watching this leaf of mediocrity lose to the Clippers and twice to the Bulls, wasn't enough? Bulls fans also have to put up with weekly tirade sessions from Scottie Pippen and listen to General Manager Jerry Krause laugh it off.

But this Bulls team is no laughing
matter. It's no fun when the fans feel a need to shower after watching them score just 63
points in a single game.

A dim light of hope appeared when Chicago bummed the Orlando Magic and Philadelphia
76ers by more than 30 points in consecutive games, but they immediately killed
the streak coming back to lose three straight.

It's time to clear the Bulls' barn, and it all starts at the top.

Even though this team was once in the floor, Krause very seems to refuse to change, making the media his bitch and mean about it, attempting to send a message to Krause and to make Bulls fans
shudder for him.

Sorry, Scottie, but these eyes are as dry as the meat served at the diner. First off, fans are no good for sympathy because they are sick and tired of hearing athletes white about their seven-digit salaries.

Second, and most important, Pippen didn't learn a damn thing
about his way home from a company when

Michael Metzger was injured in a car accident Monday morning in

Normal at around 1 a.m.

Metzger, a red-shirt freshman at
ISU, who was All-State at

Southport High School in

Illinois, had a portion of his
right leg severed when he
nipped himself in the leg while running alongside the train.

The 6-1, 160-pound QB was
home from his last two wins.

With his right arm gone,
Metzger's leg was amputated
after he was flown to
Georgetown University Medical Center.

Pippen, page 15