System study panel gets extension

By Gary Houy and Jeff Jouett
Daily Egyptian Staff Writers

The SIU Board of Trustees Thursday gave the Advisory Committee on Board and Executive Officer Relationships until Oct. 1 to complete its System Council report.

C. Addison Hickman, Carbondale chairman, told the board committee members were "deeply troubled" by the original September deadline and suggested an extension to the October board meeting.

The committee was directed by board chairman Ivan Elliott Jr. to recommend revisions in SIU's administrative structure to "insure maximum autonomy for the two campuses."

After convening the committee for the first time Wednesday, Elliott said delaying the report would prolong unrest and "make it more difficult to recruit a new SIU president."

Hickman told trustees the committee was concerned about importance and complexity of its task and that some members have commitments off campus in August that would make it impossible for the committee to meet regularly.

Board member Harold Fischer moved that the deadline be removed entirely, but no one seconded the motion.

President Search Committee Chairman Willis Malone—responding to a question—said he did not see a negative effect on the search for a Carbondale campus president if the report is delayed because "I interpret the board's charge to the committee to mean more authority for the campus presidents."

The System Council plan, which has been criticized by Carbondale campus groups, provides that Chief of Board Staff James Brown interpret Board policy to the campus presidents.

Thursday Brown presented a "System Council Report" of the "accomplishments of the council during the past three months."

It said the council recommended a formal position on tuition be conveyed to the Illinois Board of Higher Education Tuition Committee from SIU trustees. The council had also developed and coordinated plans for preparing input for Master Plan Phase IV.

The council has undertaken a review of legislative activities and coordinated SIU reactions to legislative developments, the report claims. It has appointed a task force to review policies on tuition and fees at residence centers and has maintained continuing communication and coordination with Illinois Board of Higher Education staff officers, the report said.

Malone said groups from the President Search Committee have been visiting candidates off campus in the past month. He said the committee wants to bring seven of them to SIU beginning next week.

The candidates are to meet the rest of the committee members and get "first-hand" information on the University.

The committee hopes to interview about 10 people for the position, Malone said. The group will probably submit four to six candidates to the board by August 15, Malone said.

Interim SIU President Hiram Lesar reported to the board on the status of the 104 faculty who got termination notices in December.

Twelve of the 104 have been retained in their departments, 19 have been placed elsewhere in the University, 39 have agreed to "cash and other settlements," three have job offers pending and four have refused job offers, the report said.

Lesar said if further cuts in the base budget are required, he hopes they will be small enough and "we will have so arranged our personnel budget that they can be taken without the necessity of discharging tenured faculty members."

Lesar outlined his plans for a Faculty Programmatic and Personnel Review Committee made up of nominations from the Faculty Senate and the Graduate Council "to advise us concerning procedures and guidelines to be used in reducing the size of our faculty if that becomes necessary."

Allen asked Lesar if he expected a further decline in enrollment at the Carbondale Campus and what the budget outlook for 1975-76 indicated in terms of personnel cuts.

"We hope there wouldn't be any cuts," Lesar said. "But if there is a less than three per cent cut, we probably won't have to have a reduction in faculty."

"If there is more than a three per cent cut we certainly shall," he added.

Faculty Senate President E. Earle Sibitz, professor of English, questioned Lesar about his statement that all terminated employees have "re-employment rights in their departments for two years; that is, if a vacancy arises in a department where an employee was terminated, the

Co-Rec Building gets conditional go-ahead and funding approval

By Jeff Jouett
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A conditional go-ahead for negotiating contracts for construction of SIU's co-recreational building, along with $1.9 million more for the project, was handed down Thursday by a unanimous Board of Trustees resolution.

The extra $1.9 million was needed to add to the $8.9 million Student Welfare and Recreation Fund (SWARF) to meet the $10.8 million bid of the lowest bidder.

The Board empowered its executive committee to allow SIU administrators to let contracts for the $10.8 million structure if the Recreation Building Committee recommends starting negotiations with contractors.

The building committee will meet at 2 p.m. Monday in the Student Center. T. Richard Mager, vice president for development and services, said Thursday he is "making every effort" to get student committee members not attending summer school back to Carbondale for the meeting.

The extra money will come from current and future interest accumulated on the $8.9 million SWARF money, Mager said. Interest earned to date makes SWARF money total $10.4 million and $4 million is expected by the time contracts could be negotiated, he added.

SIU students have been paying $15 per quarter into the SWARF fund for 10 years. Bids for the original co-recreation building plan, a four-square block structure to be located north of Brush Towers dorms, exceeded the $7 million allotted for the building in June 1973 by $2.8 million.

Plans for a building of reduced size were drawn for $65,000 by Ralph Rapson and Associates, architect engineers. Cost for the smaller building was estimated at $8.9 million but lowest bid for the new plan was $10.8 million.

Mager said Thursday plans for going ahead with the higher bids rather than again redesigning the co-recreational building were prompted by spiraling construction costs.

Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE) has the final say as to whether construction contracts can be awarded. Administrators will ask that IBHE approve use of the additional $1.9 million for construction of the building, Mager said.

The planned co-recreational building will house an Olympic-size swimming pool, gymnasium, handball courts, weight-training rooms, locker rooms and administrative areas.

Also included in the costs is construction of a parking lot on the site of the former University Trailer Court, pedestrian pathways, entry and service roads and other site improvements and landscaping.

SIU hires fiscal consultant

Advisor to aid in budget decisions

By Jeff Jouett
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A fiscal management advisor to help SIU with its financial problems has been hired on a part-time basis by the SIU Board of Trustees, chairman Ivan A. Elliott, Jr. announced Thursday.

William J. Crowley, former chairman of the Postal Rate Commission of the U.S. Postal Service and past president of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, will fill the position, Elliott said.

Elliott said Crowley would be paid on a daily basis for advising the Board in "decisions on operation of the Universities in times of budget constraints and declining enrollments."

Chief of Board Staff James Brown said it was his "understanding of an understanding" that Crowley will be paid $300 per day, for not more than 10 days per month, plus expenses.

The consultant's pay rate has not been completely formalized, Brown said.

Crowley, who resides in Homewood, Ill., is a certified public accountant with a graduate in business from Northwestern University and a law degree from DePaul University.

The board has empowered its executive committee on June 13 to screen candidates for a financial consultant.

A member of the State of Illinois Tax Advisory Committee in the 1950s, Crowley also was statewide chairman of the Illinois Committee for a New Revenue Article in 1966. From 1935 until 1953 Crowley lectured at Northwestern University in accounting, cost accounting, auditing, public utility rate structures and public utility finance.

According to Elliott, Crowley will spend the next few weeks meeting with SIU officials in Carbondale and Edwardsville.

position must be offered to him before it can be offered to another person." Sibitz asked whether this amounted to "two-year tenure" for terminated tenured faculty placed in different jobs in other departments at SIU. Keith Leasure, vice president for academic affairs and provost, answered that the two-year re-employment rights applied to faculty and staff, either tenured or on continuing appointment, who had accepted cash or other settlements outside of jobs elsewhere at SIU.

"Persons working in allied fields in another department of the University" would "retain lines of tenure in the department it was originally granted in," Lesar added.

Leasure then said the 19 terminated faculty and staff rehired in other jobs were rehired in an "allied field."

A resolution asserting respect for the rank of tenure and expressing gratitude to Lesar for handling the termination settlements "better than was expected" was adopted by the board without a dissenting voice vote.

Allen also suggested the Board Staff study the possibility of adopting a policy on advertising in publications and over radio stations funded by the University.

Student Body President Dennis Sullivan asked if the present lack of a broad policy meant that campus station WIDB could establish its own policy and accept paid advertising as do the Daily Egyptian and Uhuru-Sasa.

Elliott said lack of a broad policy meant that the existing policies for each unit would be maintained. WIDB does not accept paid advertising.

A new contract between SIU and Southern Illinois Airport Authority was approved by the board. It provides that airport terminal building and food service will be managed by the authority instead of the board.

The board will rent building space used by the University.

The board provided security under the old contract. Security service will now be provided by a private firm.

The board cancelled its scheduled August meeting. Its next scheduled session will be in Edwardsville in September.

July heat means 'cool spell' downtown

By David Korablith
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

When the Carbondale weather heats up, business cools off downtown, merchants said Thursday. Of the nine merchants polled about the effects of summer quarter on business, six said their business was off from the rest of the year. "We're doing about 75 per cent of our usual business," said Marti Coleman, manager of Blum's, 901 S. Illinois Ave. "Business is better than last summer but it's still slow."

McDonald's manager Reg Hickam said his business drops off approximately 30 per cent during the summer. "It happens every year; we're used to it," he said.

Other merchants polled said business was off from 20 to 30 per cent.

One explanation for the slowdown was SIU's summer enrollment dip. "When you cut the student population in half you're bound to hurt," said Clarence Smith, manager of Wallace's Bookstore, 823 S. Illinois Ave.

Business drops off with the declining volume of students, said Judy Carman, manager of the Saluki Currency Exchange, in the Campus Shopping Center.

"Vacationing professors and townspeople, in addition to students, represent another major factor in the summer slowdown, said Steve Goldsmith of Goldsmith's Men's Wear, 811 S. Illinois Ave. "There are fewer people around," he said.

Goldsmith also attributed his slight slowdown to the fact that people don't wear as much clothing during the summer months. "There is not as much sold and what is sold doesn't cost as much."

To bolster his summer business Goldsmith conducts sales, he said. He added that because students are dressing up more today his business has been up.

Judy Baine, owner of the Clothes Pin laundry, 815 S. Illinois Ave., noted that people wear more wash-and-wear clothing during the summer months. "We're washing more but dry cleaning less," she added.

The Clothes Pin's business is off about 30 per cent, Baine said.

The business slowdown brings with it cutbacks in help and hours, merchants said.

Blum's cut their staff from three full-time salesgirls to two, and from two part-time girls to one, Coleman said. Despite the worker cuts, "We're still bumping into each other."

Hickam said there are 50 per cent fewer McDonald's staffers than there are during the remainder of the year.

McDonald's also has reduced their hours of operation, Hickam said. They now close at 9 p.m. nightly. During the remainder of the year customers can get a Big Mac until midnight on the weekdays and 2 a.m. on the weekends.

Wallace's is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. this summer, Smith said. That's three hours per night less than the rest of the school year.

Goldsmith's, Saluki Currency Exchange and Clothes Pin have not cut their hours.

Another group of merchants who have not had to reduce hours are the boogie bars, owners and managers said.

Hours are the same at Pizza King, 308 S. Illinois Ave., said Gwen Hunt, Owner. Pizza King is open from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. daily, and 1 p.m. to 2 a.m. on Sundays.

The Club, 408 S. Illinois Ave., is also open its usual hours, said Frank Monkus, manager. The hours are 10:30 a.m. to 2 a.m. daily, and 1 p.m. to 2 a.m. Sunday.

Bar owners and managers agreed that weekend business is off during the summer.

Hunt said Pizza King's summer business is off about 20 per cent. She attributed the weekend drop to additional summertime parties and less students.

There are a number of factors relating to the business slow down, merchants agreed.

"Anyone in Carbondale should expect it. If they don't they'll learn quickly," Baine said.

Budget bills OK'd as Scott, Walker find new dueling site

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The bulk of the Illinois budget for fiscal 1975 was approved by the General Assembly in a flurry of activity Thursday after legislators apparently agreed to let Gov. Daniel Walker and Atty. Gen. William J. Scott resolve their political feud in the courts.

Approval of appropriations for the Environmental Protection Agency and the Liquor Control Commission was the key to unlocking more than a dozen other appropriation bills held up because of the dispute.

The EPA and LCC bills were sent to the governor complete with a controversial amendment giving the attorney general "sole and exclusive" control over money set aside for legal services in those agencies.

Walker had vowed to fight for removal of that amendment in the General Assembly, but apparently could not find enough willing legislative soldiers.

Aides to the governor said they were uncertain whether Walker could use his amendatory veto power to remove the amendment rather than challenging its legality in court.

The so-called "attorney general's amendment" was removed from all but the EPA and LCC bills at Scott's request. He said he thought the amendment was proper and constitutional, but that Walker's efforts to fight it were holding up appropriation bills and jeopardizing payrolls.

The LCC appropriation was $412,000, and the EPA appropriation was $227.7 million, of which about $225 million will go to local communities in grants for pollution control projects.

One of the few bills not immediately freed by the resolution of the Walker-Scott dispute was the massive $2 billion appropriation for the Department of Transportation.

The DOT bill was approved by the House Thursday in a different form than the version approved earlier in the Senate, and a conference committee was formed to work out the differences between the two measures appeared likely. The House version of the bill, approved in the form requested by the governor, gave the DOT flexibility in determining how its appropriation as to be spent, while the Senate version earmarked funds for specific purposes to a greater degree.

Many of the bills sent to the governor called for more spending than Walker had recommended in his requested budget for fiscal 1975, which called for appropriation of $7.866 billion.

Democratic staff members of the House Appropriation Committee estimated the legislature would ultimately send to the governor bills calling for appropriations of nearly $1 billion more than this amount.

Ban on Sinatra lifted

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Australian labor unions lifted their ban against Frank Sinatra on Thursday and permitted the singer to resume his interrupted concert tour.

The 57-year-old singer said he regretted any injuries in rough house incidents and meant no general slur against the press in the name-calling that sparked the union protest.

But he declined to make the general apology the unions had sought.

After a three-hour meeting a compromise statement was issued by representatives of Sinatra and the union. Tour promoter Robert Raymond declared: "It's smiles all around. The show will go on."

"There was no apology. The unions have really shown a lot of understanding and deserve complimenting. They realized it got grossly out proportion," Raymond said.

New dean sets goal of taking University to the people

By Mary Tupper

Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The dean of University Programs oversees a broad spectrum of programs and Kenneth W. Serfass, whose appointment was approved Thursday by the Board of Trustees, has a philosophy appropriate to such a multi-faceted position.

"The University belongs to the people and the people should use it," Serfass said Thursday.

Serfass sees the University Programs as a chance to get the University to the people. "We need to enhance the university to the people of Southern Illinois."

"What we have right here in this particular set of University Programs is a sense of caring and trying to meet the students' needs. If you don't have students interested in a program, the program will fold," Serfass said.

Serfass sees a bright future ahead for University Programs. "Take Continuing Education for an example," Serfass said. "It is a wide open field. Credit courses in the area of prisons and such, will, the possibilities are endless."

The programs under Serfass' jurisdiction are the Division of Continuing Education, International Education, the General Studies Program, Special Degree Program and the President's Scholars Program.

Serfass, a 39 year old native of Brookfield, Mo., came to SIU from the University of Missouri where he was director of conferences and short courses at the University's Extension Division.

While at Missouri, Serfass became familiar with various aspects of continuing education. "The only relatively new area for me here,"

Serfass said, "is the International Education Program."

Serfass, his wife Irene, and two sons, Ken 16 and Scott 11, feel right at home in Southern Illinois, according to Serfass.

"The people are most friendly and useful," he said. "This last Sunday we went to Giant City, Little Grassy Lake and Crab Orchard. The recreational facilities are magnificent and the terrain here is a lot like that of Southern Missouri."

Serfass, who was quite active in fraternal work and Cub Scouts, hopes to become active again once things get settled. "I'm trying to play a little tennis, but getting the house arranged is taking up most of my spare time. I intend to get back to golf and plan on doing some hunting as soon as the proper seasons open," he said.

FPC issues ruling

Gas supplies may be cut

A recent ruling by the Federal Power Commission (FPC) may result in further curtailment of natural gas supplies in Southern Illinois.

The May 9 ruling by the FPC denies emergency purchases of natural gas by several pipeline companies, including Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation, the major supplier to Central Illinois Public Service (CIPS) Company.

The ruling will affect only major "interruptible customers," according to C.L. Greenwalt, spokesman or CIPS in Springfield. Interruptible customers are the ones that can switch to other means of energy if natural gas supplies are unavailable, Greenwalt said.

The daily deficiency of emergency purchases has been about 18.5 percent, Greenwalt said, and if the FPC decision stands the deficiency may increase to about 25 percent.

Greenwalt said the FPC ruling would have no effect on residential or small commercial customers in Southern Illinois. Large industrial operations such as Norge, Selmier-Feerless, the Veterans Hospital, and DuQuoin Packing will be forced to shut down if they cannot obtain alternative energy sources. Greenwalt said from 55 to 60 customers could be affected by the ruling.

"Those who are affected will be forced to pay a higher price for alternative fuels," Greenwalt said.

Texas Eastern has asked for hearings and reconsideration of the FPC decision, Greenwalt said. He added that CIPS will support Texas Eastern in its opposition to the decision.

Graduate Student Council hears assistants' grievances

The Graduate Student Council (GSC) has agreed to study teaching assistant contracts and to consider recommending revisions of the contracts.

At a meeting Wednesday night, the council heard a report by Lynn Kinsell-Rainey on grievances about teaching assistantships. The council discussed length of time covered by contracts and whether assistants are paid over break sessions if they have 12-month contracts.

The question was raised whether duties being carried out by teaching assistants are being transferred to faculty posts.

The council also heard a report from Dean of Student Life Emil Spees about the Co-Rec Building.

Opening delayed by Long Branch

The Long Branch Foundation for the Arts and Sciences has postponed its opening date until July 28 so that building preparations can be completed.

Pete Allison, co-director of the nonprofit organization said additional preparations are needed before the foundation can open.

Persons who received invitations to attend the opening, originally scheduled for Friday are invited to attend the opening on July 28, Allison said.

The weather

Friday: Variable cloudiness with a chance of showers and thunder-showers. High around 90. Winds east to southeast 5 to 10 miles per hour. Chance of precipitation 30 percent.

Friday night: Partly cloudy. Low in the 70s.

Saturday: Mostly sunny. High around 90.

Spees, chairman of the Recreational Committee, told the council that a request to release additional funds for completing all three phases of the building may be made to the Board of Trustees.

Kathy Jones gave a report on the Medical Benefits Fees Exemption Committee. Jones' report focused on comparable insurance policies to SIU's proposed health insurance plan. The report hasn't been finished, and Jones asked for input from the council at the next meeting.

The council scheduled another meeting for Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the Ohio Room on the second floor of the Student Center.

Dog napper gets hungry duo, quits

GRANITE CITY (AP)—A Southern Illinois dog napper bit off more than he could chew.

Madison County police, which have kept the case under wraps for a week in hopes of nabbing the nappers, disclosed the details Wednesday.

Thieves removed two St. Bernard dogs from a pen behind the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Widel Jr. on July 2.

A man later called the Widels demanding $500 for the dogs' return. The Widels called the police, who arrested the telephone.

The next day the dogs came home, clipped and tired but unhurt. There was no explanation.

"Evidentially they found out the $500 they asked for wasn't even enough to feed them," Mrs. Widel said.

One dog weighed 150 pounds, the other just 25.

Bikes don't have the right

The right-of-way for pedestrians is one law that is not put into effect at the SIU-C campus. Especially when it comes to bike riders. For some reason bike riders are becoming more brazen than ever — not caring who they ride in front of, be it car or pedestrian.

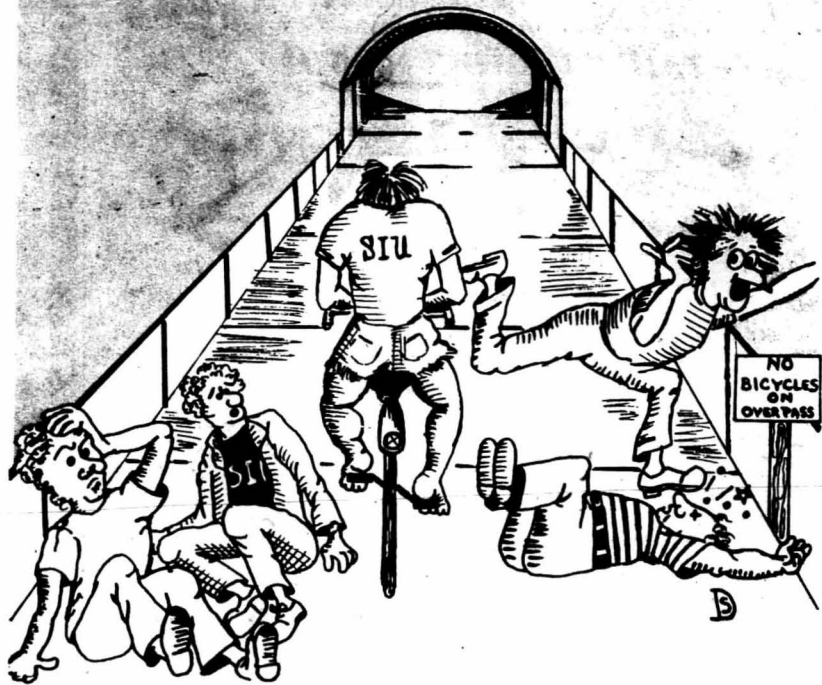

The day will come when a pedestrian is seriously hurt by the calamity of an unyielding biker — or the day when a biker is killed by a minute-too-late driver. Then, maybe, arms will fly in the defense of the injured or dead.

Every corner of sidewalk is a danger signal to living man when it comes to the biker's driving vs. man's walking. But, more than corners is the imminent danger of the overpass.

Owners of bikes know that it is unlawful to ride bikes over the overpass, as well as students know that Watergate is unlawful. But, unlawful things continue to happen, and bikes continue to ride their bikes over the overpass.

Solutions may be made to the problems, though, which are of no inconvenience to either pedestrians or bikers.

What could be done in the case of the overpass is to build railings, the center for pedestrians and each side for bikers, or vice versa if you prefer. This way we could not only delete another criminal act but bring about safety for each other with consideration.

Students exploited by rezoning

That's the way it goes

Former Illinois Governor Otto Kerner is trying desperately to stay out of jail. But why? He's been found guilty, and like any other lawbreaker, Kerner has to pay for his mistakes. Kerner is in the same boat with many other political figures that have broken the law. Many have been accused, but Kerner has been found guilty, and he will start serving his 3-year sentence and be fined $40,000 on July 19.

Kerner has pleaded with Judge Robert L. Taylor for a suspension of his sentence and fine in the Illinois racetrack stock scandal, to no avail. A judge himself, Kerner pulled out all the excuses, but they didn't fool Judge Taylor. Among them, Kerner said he has suffered enough through loss of prestige and the financial burden of defending himself. He is the only sitting federal Appeals Court judge ever convicted of a crime while holding office in the history of the United States.

Because of the Watergate convictions and prison sentences and other imprisonments of public officials for violation of public trust, the jailing of Kerner is no longer necessary as a deterrent to public office crimes.

Kerner, since his conviction and sentence in 1973, has been hospitalized for a heart condition and imprisonment would aggravate his physical disability.

He is also executor of his late wife's estate and is needed to handle the financial details of it. With all these weasel excuses, Kerner really never had a prayer.

Theodore J. Isaacs, former Illinois revenue director faces the same sentence and fine as Kerner, since they both schemed together.

The two were convicted of mail fraud, income tax evasion, bribery, and conspiracy in their acquisitions of racetrack stock at bargain prices from Marje Everett, former head of the Arlington Park and Washington Park racetracks.

Kerner and Isaacs were allowed to pay $1,000 a share in 1986 for the stock when it was worth $6,000 a share and eventually ended up with $150,000 each, it was brought out of court.

How could Kerner and Isaacs get off free after pulling a heist like that? They should be jailed, and the key should be thrown away. Anyone else fooling around with the Post Office and the IRS would rot in jail, but Kerner and Isaacs will be eligible for parole in three months.

That's the way it goes.

To the Daily Egyptian: with reference to the July 9th front page article, "Council Discusses Rental Licensing."

While the majority of SIU students are probably in favor of measures designed to improve the physical appearance of Carbondale, they should perhaps consider who it is that pays the bill for such actions.

Zoning ordinances, increasing the number of areas reserved for single family occupancy, decrease the available quantity of multiple occupancy dwellings. Nobody should be confused as to which classes of local society predominantly inhabit each type. Hence, while the faculty and other substantial resident benefit from rising property values in their exclusive areas, the cost element of the calculation falls or students are forced into ghettos and fringe areas. Though segregation may be favored by both groups, the diminishing supply of multiple dwellings inevitably means higher rents for students. In effect then, such schemes redistribute income, from the poor to the rich.

The Egyptian reports that Susan Vogel, an architectural historian, presented the council with petitions requesting that certain areas be rezoned as single family residential areas. In particular, that the area "along West Walnut" be thus classified, so as to "protect the integrity and historical aspect of the community." While the tone conveys an impression of professional concern, it should be noted that Susan Vogel is the wife of a faculty member, and just happens to live "along West Walnut."

Additionally, "integrity" in the above sense refers not to the human virtue of moral soundness (which appears to be somewhat lacking), but to "wholeness and completeness," to use a dictionary definition. Thus, "to protect the integrity and historical aspect of the community," emerges as an unpleasant euphemism, meaning the whole and complete exclusion of students, for the primary advantage of the citizens of the area. This is hardly the selfless artistic sentiment suggested above. Notice too, that such groups have the ear of the council. Hence, they wield influence and its attendant power, while the student majority apparently accepts its position as a disenfranchised and exploited group of second class citizens.

Earl Warren—a man of justice

Some have said the Warren Court was the channel through which an awakened national conscience gained expression. Others called it the "bleeding heart" of America.

Regardless, every time the Court convened, it was part of a landmark era which brought the Supreme Court to the forefront as a bulwark of individual liberties.

It only took Chief Justice Earl Warren 28 minutes to read the famous "Brown vs. Board of Education" opinion, in 1954. Yet, that decision reversed the 56-year-old "separate but equal" doctrine (as established by a previous court ruling) and began a series of decisions that was to force school integration both North and South.

The "Baker vs. Carr" decision in 1962 established the "one man-one vote" principle and forced nationwide reapportionment of unequal voting districts.

The Warren Court was also responsible for the "New York Times Rule" which upheld freedom of the press in a 1964 libel case.

The 1966 "Miranda vs. Arizona" ruling required police to inform a suspect of his rights prior to any questioning. These have come to be as the "Miranda Rights."

Throughout all these decisions, Warren was the forceful central figure among the justices.

Throughout, the Court was concerned with equal protection under the law for all individuals — not just the rich and powerful.

Earl Warren retired from the Supreme Court in 1969. Some said he did so because the Administration had successfully pushed him to the background in the Court.

Wednesday the Warren era came to a quiet finale but its effects will be felt for years to come.

The famous opening words of "this honorable court is now in session" will no longer be spoken by Earl Warren, nor will his public appearances after retirement continue to echo the principles of freedom for all.

But the memory and work of Earl Warren will remain as the voice of the champion of the little man.

Panel releases new impeachment files

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Judiciary Committee made public Thursday the massive compilation of testimony and documents that detail what its impeachment staff learned about President Nixon's role in the Watergate case and cover-up.

Nowhere in the massive recitation of facts did the impeachment inquiry lawyers draw any conclusions or attempt to emphasize the significance of particular events. So there is no signal in the seven volumes as to the likely direction or verdict of the panel which during the week of July 22 is to begin debating on the central question: should it recommend that the House vote to impeach the President?

In seven beige-colored volumes totaling more than 4,000 pages, the committee staff cited 243 events, incidents and statements as "statements of information." Together, these statements provide a narrative account of the Watergate case, start to finish.

These findings are supported with documentary evidence ranging from the President's own recollections of a crucial March 21, 1973, meeting at which Watergate hush money was discussed, to hitherto secret grand jury testimony, excerpts from the televised hearings of the Senate Watergate committee, and hand-scrawled White House memos.

The committee report also indirectly cited a March 17, 1973, discussion in which Nixon talked of the danger of Watergate involvement reaching the President.

Nixon has insisted he didn't learn of the Watergate cover-up until four days later—on March 21, 1973.

An eighth volume, 242 pages long, provided the rebuttal offered by Nixon's defense lawyer, James D. St. Clair, who sought to discredit the President's chief accuser, and to blame others for a $75,000 payment to Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt.

While St. Clair in effect argued a case, the judiciary committee documents simply lay out factual information, vast amounts of it already made public.

Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr. (D-N.J.) the committee chairman, said he and Rep. Edward Hutchinson (R-Kans.) the ranking minority member, had deleted impeachment evidence from the record "in a few instances." He explained this was done to avoid prejudicing the rights of Watergate defendants, because of security classifications or because it was not pertinent.

"Every effort was made to preclude inferences in the presentation of this material," Rodino said in the foreword to the evidence books. "A deliberate and scrupulous abstention from conclusions, even by implication, was observed."

A committee source said the material was like "a giant erector set. You have all the pieces but you don't have the instructions on how to put it together."

Highlights of the material included:

—Nixon's dictabelt recollection of the March 21, 1973, conversation in which John W. Dean III, then White House counsel, described the involvement of White House and Nixon campaign aides in the Watergate break-in and cover-up.

Truck drivers overpower hijackers, hold for police

HAMMOND, Ind. (AP)—Five truck drivers whose rigs had been hijacked in Michigan and Indiana overpowered one of their captors Thursday after freeing themselves and then held the man for police.

The U.S. attorney's office charged Ernest Lee Livingston, 36, Kalamazoo, Mich., with the hijackings.

A spokesman for the FBI said Livingston also was charged with theft from interstate shipments and kidnapping.

The FBI said Livingston and two other men, both of whom escaped, hijacked five trucks carrying 40,000 pounds each of copper from the Essex International Co. of Three Rivers, Mich.

The agency said the hijackings occurred Wednesday night and Thursday morning near White Pigeon, Mich., and Elkhart County in Indiana.

Livingston allegedly used an Essex truck hijacked near Kalamazoo to effect the other hijackings, the FBI said.

Livingston was arrested at the Burns Harbor exit of the Indiana Toll Road in East Gary after the truck drivers disarmed him.

One suspect escaped during the struggle and a third man drove off in one of the hijacked trucks, the FBI said. Indiana State Police said they recovered the other four trucks and their cargo intact.

Free people's picnic planned Sunday by Newman Center

A free people's potluck picnic will be sponsored by various Carbondale organizations from 6 to 11 p.m. Sunday in the park behind the Newman Center.

Music will be provided by the County Ramblers of Cartersville.

The picnic is open to the public and is intended for people to have a good time, according to John Cox and Hugh Muldoon, organizers of the event.

"The main purpose of the party is to help facilitate togetherness among the sponsoring groups, to acquaint the public a little more with them and to have a good time," Cox said Wednesday.

Sponsors of the picnic include: Puka Preschool, Newman Center, Carbondale Free Clinic, Women's Center, People's Food Mart, Ananda Marga, Mr. Natural's Lutheran Center, Peace Center, Aeon, Wesley Community House, Carbondale Park District, Hudson's Creek Farm, Children for Peace on the Planet and WTAO.

"People coming to the picnic should bring lots of food to share," Muldoon said.

Drinks for the picnic will be furnished. For further information about the picnic contact Hugh Muldoon at 549-1051.

Legislator wrestles red tape in role of region ombudsman

By John Russell
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Residents of Southern Illinois like having an ombudsman to fight the red tape of state government, if the six to 10 letters state Rep. Ralph Dunn has been receiving a day are any yardstick.

Dunn, (R-DuQuoin), has placed classified ads in 20 weekly and daily newspapers in the six counties of the 5th district, including the Daily Egyptian and the Southern Illinoisian. In these ads Dunn requests persons living in the district to bring their problems with state government to him so that he can try to cut through the governmental red tape.

So far, Dunn said, he has received letters from persons requesting help with unemployment checks, drivers licenses, insurance problems, mineral blasting and stench from an egg factory, along with letters on a number of other issues. "I can find relief for most people, but I haven't been able to solve all the problems," he said.

Some persons have called or written to him about problems that are the concern of city or county government, areas in which Dunn has no jurisdiction. Dunn said he advises these people to take their problems to the city or county agency involved.

"I haven't received many responses from SIU. Students know I'm talking about problems with the state, not city or landlord problems."

Dunn said he got the idea of placing the ombudsman classified after reading and hearing about plans for a state ombudsman office. Gov. Dan Walker's office in Marion now serves as a sort of ombudsman office, Dunn said.

But, he said, he feels it is more proper for someone from the district to act as an ombudsman, someone in the state legislature.

"I think this is what we've been elected for," Dunn explained.

Classroom practices will be explored by SIU specialists

A workshop to examine current practices, innovations, and materials will be conducted Monday through Friday at SIU, according to Dornalee Lindberg, assistant professor in the elementary education department.

Sessions will be held only in the afternoons, 1 to 5 p.m., in order that participants may spend Thursday and Friday mornings browsing in the annual Book Exhibit at the Student Center.

Participants are invited to come early on the opening day to preview the new SIU prize-winning film, "Maple Sugar Farmer," at 12 noon.

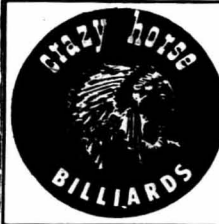

Topics to be explored to assist participants in updating their own classroom methods and materials include (1) the child's need for a Dunn said he has worked with state Sen. Ken Buzbee, D-Carbondale, and other members of the Illinois legislature on the complaints he has received from persons in the district who have responded to his ads.

The ads will run through August, Dunn said, at a cost of nearly $400. He said he is paying for ads out of his own pocket and not through funds appropriated to him for office expenses.

curriculum that blends emotional, mental and psychomotor appeals; (2) the curriculum in the informal "open classroom;" (3) individualization and personalization of instruction; (4) how the curriculum can deal with the social and private aspects of what it means to be a human being; and (5) how the curriculum can provide for the development of creativity in both teacher and the taught.

Specialists from the University's elementary education department faculty will discuss innovations and trends in their particular areas of expertise, Mrs. Lindberg said. Several films and slide presentations will be offered, and current teaching aids and materials will be available.

Fine acting, costuming, sets make 'Forum' a definite treat

By Michael Hawley
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

After knocking themselves out for two hours Wednesday night, the entire cast of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" received a rare but well deserved token of audience appreciation—a standing ovation for a dress rehearsal performance.

Talents which only surfaced briefly in the disappointing "Dark of the Moon" production emerge in boundless, energetic performances in this second Summer Playhouse

A Review

'74 show. It is evident that "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" is a show that everyone involved enjoys performing.

An attempt to describe the plot of "forum" to someone not familiar with it would only result in a fate worse than confusion. Just let it be said that confusion is the rule of the day in Forum, and that's the reason why it is so wildly funny.

By intermission time, the spectator is involved in so many plots, subplots, mistaken identities, disguises and comical nonsense that the audience is almost pleading for a rest. The fact that all of this takes place in one setting, a street in Rome strikingly designed by the show's director Darwin Payne, adds a great deal to the air of insanity.

It isn't difficult for a production like this to fall flat on its face. Much depends on split second timing, making it difficult to succeed as well as this production does.

Director Payne never leaves anything to chance. There is always something happening on stage to maintain audience interest. The hilarious chase scene near the end which involves nearly every member of the cast, could have shown weaknesses in the production if nothing else could. But under Payne's direction, the cast carries it off magnificently.

Perhaps one of the greatest joys of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" is the tremendous acting improvements by many cast members over "Dark of the Moon." As Pseudolus, the slave who attempts to get a lover for his master in return for his own freedom, Malcom Rothman is the impish, conniving Humpty-Dumpty that the lead role calls for. Nothing better could be expected of Rothman's great singing, dancing and comic ability.

Sieve Drakulich, who starred in "Dark of the Moon," lends himself extremely well to the role of Miles Gloriosus, a muscle bound soldier with a super ego. Drakulich is particularly good in his two musical numbers, "Bring Me My Bride" and "Funeral," never stepping out of character.

As Pseudolus' master, Hero, William Martin delivered his part with the right amount of youthful innocence. Also deserving mention are Dick Fernandez as Marcus Lycus, manager of the house of courtesans, and the three Proteans dressed to look like the Marx Brothers, William Brewer, Paul Diamond and Richard Bryant.

All of the 'sex for sale' courtesans were well portrayed stereotypes. Jeanne Drakulich, who is also dance captain for all the Summer Playhouse productions, shakes everything she has as the belly dancing, finger cymbal playing Tintinabula. Mary Lynn Stout, clad in Norwegian opera garb, is great as Gymnasia, a "great stage on which a thousand dramas can be played."

Richard Boss' costumes for "Forum" are bright, visually attractive and compliment the characterizations of the actors who wear them. The orchestra, under the direction of Michael Hanes is fine, as is Jo Mack's choreography.

The only problem worth mentioning is that some of the musical numbers drag on, such as "Everybody Ought to Have a Maid." The song, "That Dirty Old Man" might be improved if Patty McCormick would emphasize the contrasts of her love-hate feelings towards her husband more than she does.

Estate trouble may be solved by annexation

The Crab Orchard Estates Homeowners Association and a Carbondale city task force discussed possible annexation of the estates at a meeting Wednesday night.

City Manager Carroll Fry called annexation a "viable possibility" in solving the estates problems.

The estates asked city council approval last month to incorporate into a village, to meet sewerage problems and a lack of police and fire protection in the subdivision.

Fry said extending the city sewer lines to the subdivision also was discussed at the meeting.

Extension of the sewer system to the subdivision would take at least a year under optimum conditions, Fry estimated.

He said he didn't think providing city sewerage service would be recommended unless the subdivision was annexed because city policy prohibits offering services to areas outside city limits.

Some people, particularly women, may be upset at some of the play's overtly sexist overtones. The play also stereotypes the masculine role, however, so the sexism is acceptable in "Forum's" farcical framework.

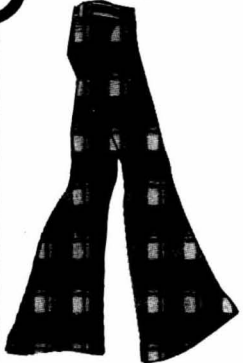

"A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" is definitely one of the better treats to be found at SU this summer. It will play at 8 p.m., Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights and next weekend in the University Theatre.

Tickets for the production are $2.75 for the general public and $1.75 for students. They may be purchased at the University Theater box office and the Central Ticket Office in the Student Center.

Liquor board studies ideas for changes in city ordinance

By Charlotte Jones
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The issue of liquor outlets in Carbondale—more, fewer or the same number—is headed for what amounts to a first-stage showdown before the Carbondale Liquor Advisory Board.

The board is expected to make recommendations to the City Council by Sept. 15 on whether it should change the ordinance limiting liquor licenses in Carbondale to 49.

That measure came under fire Wednesday night at a public meeting held to air possible amendments to the ordinance.

Proposals include issuing more packaged liquor licenses, more Class A permits which authorize dealers to sell by the drink to anyone older than 21 and establishment of a new beer-only classification.

Carbondale businessmen and prospective businessmen turned out at the meeting with pleas for the liquor board.

John Crouch, assistant manager of Lewis Park apartments argued that Lewis Park should be granted a license to serve liquor like the Wall Street Quadrangles complex.

Crouch said the Quad's ability to sell liquor put Lewis Park and other apartment complexes at an unfair disadvantage, in attracting tenants.

George Trimborn, representing J.C. Penney's food store, requested the liquor board to support the sale of beer and wine in supermarkets.

Richard Green, a Carbondale Attorney representing Walgreen's drug store scheduled to open in the University Mall and owners of Penney's supermarket, said licenses should not be regulated by quantity. Competition will keep prices down, he said. Green cited a survey of area liquor prices conducted by Illinois Public Interest Research Group (IPIRG). According to the IPIRG survey, liquor prices are too high in Carbondale and more competition would keep them down, Green said.

Robert Ghant of 318 East Jackson asked the board to support the "beer only" license. Ghant said he wanted to open a bar in the northeast section of Carbondale.

The "beer only" license would enable dealers to sell beer without a meal. The present ordinance only has two "by the drink" licenses—a restaurant license and a license permitting the sale of all liquor.

Jean Sternberg, chairman of the liquor advisory board said the "beer only" license would allow the popular corner pubs to spring up in Carbondale.

Buzz Talbot presented the recommendations of the Carbondale Human Relations Commission to the liquor board including the support of the sale of liquor on the SIU campus. Talbot said the commission was looking for a state representative to introduce a bill allowing the sale of liquor on Illinois campuses.

Other recommendations by the Human Relations Commission include:

—More "by the drink" licenses by issued in Carbondale, especially along South Illinois Avenue, in order to disperse crowds which gather in front of Merlin's and the Pizza King.

—More packaged liquor licenses granted to prevent possible monopolies.

—Supermarkets be allowed to sell beer and wine as a public service.

Grant given to monitor court system

CHICAGO (AP)—The League of Women Voters received Thursday a $50,000 grant to train volunteers for monitoring the state court system.

Under the one-year grant by the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission, the league will recruit volunteers to be trained by paid lawyers for collecting data on a daily basis in Cook County and three other undetermined judicial circuits.

"There are so many different vantage points—citizens who blame lazy judges and procedures which let criminals go free, judges who claim they have inadequate facilities and staff and sociologists who contend that time is wasted by prosecuting victimless crimes," said Donna Schiller, league president.

"This program will harness and direct Illinois citizens' formidable power to improve their courts," she said.

The program will examine the frequency of continuances and their reasons, physical courtroom facilities, procedures and judicial conduct.

Six months will be allowed for hiring staff, developing instructional and reporting materials and recruiting and training volunteers. A six-month monitoring period will follow.

A final report will be submitted to the judiciary, the ILEC and released to the public.

Show to feature SIU novelist

John Gardner, SIU professor of English and author of the novels "Nickel Mountain" and "Grendel," will be the featured guest on the weekend edition of Cable News 7 at 4:30 p.m. Friday.

"Nickel Mountain" was eighth on the national best seller list, and was nominated for the 1974 National Book Award sponsored by the New York Times.

The stars of the SIU production of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," also will appear on the program, moderated by Cable 7 news director Ed Donnelly

Illinois cities to collectively fight power hike

GALESBURG (AP)—Five central Illinois cities are getting together to oppose a 14 per cent rate hike proposed by the Illinois Power Co.

Representatives from Champaign, Urbana, Danville, Jacksonville and Galesburg scheduled a meeting next week in Decatur to map strategy in fighting the proposed boost, officials said Thursday.

The proposed hike will cost central Illinois customers $6.5 million, said Dave Walker, assistant city manager of Galesburg, which organized the cooperative effort.

Walker said the five cities will have to pay about $80,000 in attorney's and other fees to fight the rate proposal which is pending before the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Edwardsville man evicted from home by county officials

By Dennis Montgomery
Associated Press Writer

EDWARDSVILLE (AP)—County officials have ordered a disabled Edwardsville man to remove his $23,000 modular home because they can't be sure of its quality.

Billy Scaggs, 44, who lives in an unincorporated area just outside the Madison County seat, Thursday was given until mid-September to have his 24-by-62 foot house off his acre homestead.

Scaggs, a former roofer disabled last year in a fall, said, "I have no intention of moving it out of there because I don't think it's right."

Two years ago Scaggs, who has four children aged 14 to 3, applied for and received a special land use permit allowing him to reside in a mobile home on the property on the condition that he replace it with a permanent structure. County zoning regulations allow trailers only in hardship cases.

Last July, while the family was vacationing, fire destroyed the trailer. In August, he erected the modular home, sometimes referred to as a double-wide in the mobile home trade and usually trucked in two prebuilt sections to the home lot.

County inspectors discovered the new quarters, waited a year for the special land use permit period to expire and told Scaggs it had to go. It didn't meet the mobile home restriction.

James E. Greene, a county board member and a land use committee member, said modular homes are forbidden and no special permit is granted, because, "We don't know how they are put together." He said plumbing, wiring and structure can't be easily inspected. "We want to know that when something is built that it is just as good as one that is built by one of the contractors," he said.

Car wreck fatal

CHARLESTON (AP)—Daniel Himmel, 19, of Mattoon, was killed Thursday in an auto accident on a county road south of Charleston.

Unless Scaggs complies he faces criminal charges.

"It would cost me anywhere from $1,500 to $1,800 to move it," Scaggs said. "I'd have to take all of the aluminum siding off. It would be considered tearing it down."

"When the wheels are removed," he said, "it's a permanent home then" not a trailer.

Ironically, if Scaggs put the wheels back on, trucked the house a few miles into town, he'd have no problem. County regulations do not apply to incorporated areas.

After first giving him only 30 days to act, county officials granted Scaggs 60 more because of the complexity of the dismantling.

In the meantime he's taken his complaint to his congressman and the governor. His congressman, he said, doesn't think the county is acting constitutionally.

"As of now," Scaggs said, "I have no intention of moving."

Did You Know

By Jim Simpson

Here's an interesting basketball question...Of all the men who ever played major college basketball, which one scored the most total points?...The top 3 major college scorers of all-time are Pete Maravich who played at LSU from 1967 to 1970, Austin Carr of Notre Dame (1966-1971) and Oscar Robertson of the University of Cincinnati (1952-1962).

Oddly enough—although football or baseball are often called the No. 1 sport in America, did you know that more people each year watch and play basketball than either football or baseball!

Did you know that college graduates live approx. 5-8 yrs. longer than the average person. This makes possible broader benefits & greater cash values. See your College Life Agent at:

Record wheat crop below expectations

By Don Kendall
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers will harvest a record wheat crop of almost 1.93 billion bushels this year, up 12 per cent from 1973 production, the Agriculture Department said Thursday.

But the crop, sorely needed to replenish grain reserves drained by exports, is about 149 million bushels less than Nixon administration farm officials had counted on only three weeks ago.

The department's Crop Reporting Board said continued dry weather in some areas, excessive rainfall in others and plant disease contributed to the decline in prospects.

On June 24, based on indications then, USDA forecast the wheat crop at just over 2.07 billion bushels. Still earlier, on May 9, the department said just over 2.17 billion bushels were indicated.

The earlier figures, however, were statistical projections based on prospects for winter wheat planted last fall—the main bread grain—and calculations based on trend for the spring-planted type. Thursday's report was the department's first all-wheat estimate made from actual field survey.

Officials also said corn farmers will have 67.6 million acres of corn for harvest this year, up nine per cent from 1973. Earlier, USDA forecast farmers would have 68.8 million acres for harvest. There was no corn production estimate, but the department said it will issue new harvest projections for corn and some other crops based in part on the latest acreage figures on Friday. Those, however, are expected to show only possible ranges of output and not specific production levels.

The first USDA estimate of 1974 corn, soybean and some other crop production based on actual field survey will not be made until Aug. 12.

In its earlier projections, when it counted on a slightly larger acreage, USDA said a record corn crop of 6.7 billion bushels was indicated. That will be up from 5.64 billion in 1973.

But a late spring and excessive rain in much of the Corn Belt delayed plantings this year. On June 24, the department said the crop might turn out to be 6.4 billion bushels, or 300 million less than expected earlier.

Soybeans for harvest were put at 52.5 million acres, down seven per cent from last year. Earlier USDA said about 54 million acres were indicated. Last year farmers harvested 56.4 million acres of soybeans and a record crop of 1.57 billion bushels.

The report said farmers planted 329 million acres to principal crops for harvest this year, up three per cent or eight million acres from 1973.

Hard pressed by rising food costs, the Nixon administration removed federal acreage controls for 1974 and cleared the way for all-out production of key crops needed to rebuild supplies.

But exports have been large and have helped boost prices of most major commodities. Wheat and corn, for example, soared to record levels last winter. Although cooled somewhat in recent months, wheat at mid-June averaged $3.57 per bushel on the farm, compared with $2.43 a year earlier.

Corn was $2.57 per bushel last month, compared with $1.99 in June 1973. Partly as a result of high grain costs, livestock producers have had profits trimmed sharply and, in the case of many cattle raisers, have had to cut back or quit altogether.

The wheat supply has been tight for many months and for a time last winter it appeared U.S. stocks might not stretch until the new harvest was ready. The reserve of old-crop wheat on July 1 was 217 million bushels, the smallest in 26 years.

A year ago the wheat reserve was 438 million bushels and on July 1, 1972, was 863 million. Exports have taken more than two-thirds over the past two years. Although expected to be down lightly in the year ahead, wheat exports in 1974-75 are expected to be more than one billion bushels, or more than one half of the crop estimated Thursday.

The winter wheat crop was estimated at 1,402,945,000 bushels, up 12 per cent from last year. But on June 10, the USDA estimate was 1,531,355,000 bushels.

Kansas, the leading producer, was estimated to produce 330.4 million bushels this year, compared with the June forecast of 384.2 million.

Wheelchair athletes going overseas

By Elynn Boyd
Student Writer

Four SIU Squids have been selected to the U.S. International Wheelchair Team which will leave for England July 17 to compete in the Stoke Mandeville Games.

Ray Clark, Leon Sturtz, D. Wenado Howard and Elynn Boyd were nominated for overseas competition recently at the 18th National Wheelchair Games in Spokane, Washington. Approximately 65 persons were nominated from some 350 athletes at the nationals. The list was then narrowed to 45 athletes who will be competing against persons from 35 countries around the world.

Clark is the only Squid who is a veteran of overseas competition. In the summer of 1971 he participated in the U.S.-Pan American Games competing in Jamaica, where he won one gold and two silver medals in field events and a gold for his participation on the U.S. basketball team that defeated Argentina.

In 1972 he was selected to the U.S. Olympic team participating in the Paralympics in Heidelberg, West Germany. He won two golds and one bronze medal, setting world records for discus and pentathlon. In 1973 he was a member of the U.S. team attending the World Games in England, winning five golds and one bronze.

In England he set a world record for pentathlon and was one of the leading scorers on the U.S. basketball team.

Also in 1973, Clark was a member of the U.S. team competing in the Fourth Annual Pan-American Games in Lima, Peru. There he won three gold medals and two silvers, and again set new records for the discus and pentathlon.

as well as helping the U.S. basketball team place second to Argentina.

This year in England he will compete in the pentathlon, discus, javelin, shot-put, swimming events, and archery, as well as being a member of the U.S. basketball team.

Sturtz, Howard and Miss Boyd will be competing for the first time overseas.

This year in competition, Sturtz won two gold medals for novice archery at the Detroit and Ohio track meets, as well as receiving a first place trophy for the event at the National Wheelchair Games.

At the Detroit regionals, he also took first in javelin and billiards, second in team relay and discus, fourth in the 100 yard dash and fifth in the shot. While competing in Ohio he took firsts in team relay and archery, second in discus and fifth in javelin.

Overseas Sturtz will compete in archery, discus and basketball for the U.S. team. This is Sturtz' first year in wheelchair athletics, however before being paralyzed in a car accident, he lettered in sports in high school.

Howard's competition at Detroit earned him a first in slalom, second places in javelin, team relay and backstroke swimming and third in achery.

At the Ohio meet, Howard took firsts in the 25-yard backstroke, freestyle swimming, team relay and slalom, second in the 440-yard dash and third in archery.

At the Nationals, he received a first place trophy for freestyle swimming and the hurdles and a fourth place in the team relay.

In England, he will participate in swimming events, the pentathlon, and be a member of the U. S. basketball team.

Miss Boyd's competition this year at the Ohio meet earned her four firsts in the 60-yard dash, slalom, billiards and novice archery, second place in the javelin and third in the discus. At the Detroit regional, she set a new Michigan record for the 60-yard dash for Class III women with a time of 15.3. She also received firsts for the team relay, slalom and novice archery, second in billiards and the javelin, fourth in the discus and fifth in the shot-put.

At the National Wheelchair Games, she took firsts in the 60-yard dash (setting a new record for Class III women with a time of 15.7), the 440-yard dash with a time of 2:01.8, the hurdles and the slalom.

Her first year in overseas competition will see her participate in the 60-yard dash, the slalom, the women's U.S. relay team, novice archery and the javelin.

"SIU is one of two universities in the nation that has had athletes on the U.S. team for the past 10 years," says Coach Clark. "This is the largest number of people SIU has sent overseas in its history."

Press box options considered

By Mark Tupper

The proposed McAndrew Stadium press box that was recently bid at nearly four times the predicted cost, now faces two alternative solutions, T. Richard Mager, vice president of development services said Thursday.

The structure was designed by Engineers Collaborative of Chicago and estimated to cost $50,000. But the low bids received on June 27 totaled $183,101.

"There are several alternatives, two of which are now under consideration," Mager said. "The first of these is a revision of the plan to make the press facility smaller and fit within the budget. This would be rebid at a later date.

"The second alternative involves a plan to put two 45-foot, double width trailers up for the press box." Mager said these would be designed to accommodate media necessities and would have an open side facing the field. "We can do this well within the present budget," he said.

Mager also said that delays in the delivery of steel for the remainder of the stadium are now "more realistically expected in August," rather than a July 15 date named earlier.

However, Mager said the delays in the construction of the stadium would not jeopardize the status of four home football games scheduled this season, starting Oct. 19 against Northern Illinois University.

"Seating or no seating we'll devise a system of ticket sales that will guarantee student tickets in the available seating," Mager said. The only available seating presently is the section of seats on the west side of the field, directly under the old press facility and about 15 rows of endzone bleachers.

The breakdown of the bids included $96,600 for general contracting, $10,431 for plumbing, $890 for ventilation, $29,561 for electrical work and a $45,619 steel platform to accommodate television equipment.

"I'm very disappointed," Ivan Elliott, chairman of the SIU Board of Trustees said at Thursday's board meeting. "The TV coverage would have been good public relations for the university."

The remainder of the SIU home football schedule includes games Oct. 26 against Arkansas State, Nov. 9 against Northern Michigan and Nov. 23, to close out the season, against Illinois State.

Reds score in 10th to beat Chicago, 4-3

CHICAGO (AP)—Dave Concepcion scored from third on Johnny Bench's 10th-inning grounder Thursday, giving the Cincinnati Reds a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Concepcion and Joe Morgan singled to start the 10th inning and Burt Hooton, 3-7, wild-pitched the runners up a base. Bench then hit a roller between first and second. Second baseman Billy Grabarkewitz made a diving stop but his only play was to first and Concepcion scored.

Rick Monday's 11th home run of the baseball season for Chicago tied the game in the eighth inning. Cincinnati had built a 3-2 lead in the fourth when Merv Rettenmund doubled and scored on pitcher Clay Kirby's single.

Sub-par Player holds lead in British Open

LYTHAM ST. ANNE'S, England (AP)—Steeley Gary Player strode resolutely through a second sub-par round for an imposing five-stroke lead Thursday that left his rivals in a scattered, disillusioned array in the 103rd British Open Golf Championship.

South Africa's black-suited precisionist threatened to turn the tournament into a runaway.

"It demoralizes everybody," said the strong advance favorite, Jack Nicklaus, who failed to harness his shotmaking power and found himself nine shots off the pace with 36 holes to play.

"Gary is playing fantastic golf. Whether anybody can catch him now depends on Gary himself. Strokes change rapidly on this course and in these conditions. If he slips a bit, maybe there's a chance."

Player, intent and confident, showed no indication of slipping as he fired a three-under-par 68 to go with an early 69 for a halfway total of 137, five-under-par.

Nobody else in the original 154-man field could claim a victory over the knobby, skinny fairways, the craggy rough and the fickle elements of the Royal Lytham and St. Anne's Club course.

Two players were tied at even par 142—a fine-swinging South African compatriot of Player's named Bobby Cole and Britain's hope, Peter Oosterhuis, who lists himself as playing out of the Fiji Islands.
