Noise complaints bring revival to an early end

By Steve Hahn
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

All that remains in Carbondale of the World Outreach Revival and the Deliverance Tabernacle Revival evangelists who joined forces in town two weeks ago, are two trucks, a camper and two latrines slightly used and uncommonly muddy.

The revivalists left town Wednesday two days before they planned, because they assumed a city appeal to state appellate court to stop their use of electronic amplification equipment would be a financial burden they could not afford to fight.

But an opinion given by an appellate court judge supported a ruling by Circuit Court Judge Peyton Kunce Friday which prevented the city from any action against the revival.

Judge Charles E. Jones of the Fifth District Court in Mount Vernon wrote in his opinion that the revivalists could use the sound equipment for their religious services to the extent that it is "reasonably necessary" to present their views "on the immediate pretexts" as long as the noise level doesn't disturb area residents not attending the revival.

Darrell Stafford, one of the revival's main preachers said: "The Lord forewarned us: we didn't feel good about it." Stafford was arrested last week for disorderly conduct after city police received complaints from area residents about loud music coming from the tent on West Grand Street.

"The reason we closed is because we didn't want to take money out of the congregation to pay law fees," Stafford said. The original court action before Judge Peyton Kunce cost the revival $450 in lawyer's fees he said.

Don Prosser, the revivalist's attorney said he could not comment on the rate of his fees.

"We were sent to Carbondale by the Lord to do his work. Had it been our own town, things would have been different," Stafford said.

He said the World Outreach Revival is a corporation based in Ranzi, Miss., and the Deliverance Tabernacle Revival is a corporation based in Marion.

He said both groups made a total of $1,500 during their stay in Carbondale while incurring costs of about $1,400, including labor, transportation and legal fees.

When Judge Jones handed down his order, no one was present to represent the revivalists. But Stafford said it didn't make any difference because his group had begun taking the tent down before the court was even in session.

"This is going to bring a reproach against this town—going against the word of God," Tommy Davis, one of Stafford's co-workers, said as he munched on a doughnut in the field where the tent once stood.

The above graph shows the approximate percentage of the legislature's 1976-77 budget cut in dollars, with an appropriation of $9.3 million less than requested.

The U of I's $9.3 million cut amounts to a 2.9 percent reduction. The legislature cut $2 million, or 1.7 percent from the combined budgets of SIU-E and SIU-C.

The legislature approved a $112.6 million budget for both SIU campuses in 1976-77.

The government cut more dollars-per student from the Illinois Legislative. The appropriations per student in the state universities, based on fall 1975 enrollment figures, are as follows:

University of Illinois, $4,343; SIU-C, $3,502; SIU-E, $2,794; Sangamon State in Springfield, $2,663; Governor's State in Park Forest, $2,664; Eastern Illinois, $2,178; Illinois State, $2,145; Northern Illinois, $2,087; Western Illinois, $2,043; and Northeastern Illinois, $1,867.

The above graph shows the approximate percentage of state university students enrolled at each university in the fall of 1975. Total state university enrollment at that time was 195,774.
Board OK’s CCHS budget deficit approaches $1 million

By Steve Hahn

The Carbondale Community High School District 165 School Board approved a $3.4 million operating budget for the fiscal year, 1978-79, in a special meeting Tuesday night. The new budget is $46,500 less than last year.

The $3.4 million figure, based on projected revenue, will fall short of anticipated expenses creating a $130,000 deficit in the 1978-79 budget. According to District Superintendent Reif Martin, the district currently is carrying a deficit of $200,000 to $300,000 which will result in a total deficit of nearly $1 million at the end of this fiscal year.

Martin said the biggest reason for this year’s deficit is the cost of special education programs. He estimated the district will have to pay $300,000 this year for the program which was not included in last year’s budget. Inflation and the rising cost of teachers’ salaries have also been cited as reasons for the increasing deficit.

A public hearing has been scheduled for July 26 to discuss ways to cut expenses, but Martin would not speculate on what programs of materials might be cut. He said the school board has cut the budget by $250,000 over the last 10 months, mainly through reducing the purchase of supplies.

New costs will not involve personnel now working for the district, but no new employees will be hired.

However, some monetary problems are not within the school district’s control. According to a spokesman for the County Assessor’s office, county tax bills will not be mailed until September, and payments are not due until the end of November. The bills are usually mailed out June 1, with the district receiving funds around the beginning of September.

Main allocations and expenses in the budget include: $2.36 million for basic student and teacher needs, $85,000 for building operation and maintenance, and $24,000 for site work and construction.

Walker vows aid to Howlett, Carter

CHICAGO (AP)--Gov. Daniel Walker vowed Wednesday that he'll actively campaign for Michael Howlett, who defeated him in the March primary for governor, and he said election of Jimmy Carter as president is of vital national interest.

Walker said he had not heard for any promises of a position in a Carter administration should the Georgia Democrat and likely party nominee win the presidency in November. And, he said, "absolutely none" had been given.

But he implied that Carter's request for a Walker endorsement of the state party ticket had been of key importance in his decision. "It took a lot of things and that was one of them.

Walker also said that he hadn't changed his position on a number of issues, over which he and Howlett differed during the Democratic primary, such as party slate-making and construction of the Oratown Expressway in Chicago. He said he could campaign for him nonetheless.

The governor announced the endorsement Tuesday of Howlett and the entire Democratic state ticket while at the National Governor's Conference in Hershey, Pa. He met there with Carter beforehand. Carter had not mentioned Howlett specifically, said Walker.

Howlett and the other victorious Democratic candidates for state office were supported by Mayor Richard J. Daley, with whom Walker has battled during his four-year term in office.

Syria blasts Palestine defenses

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Syrian artillery pounded Palestinian guerrillas and Lebanese leftist Moslems on two fronts Wednesday, supporting a Christian advance in the north and cutting fuel supplies in the south. The Palestinian guerrilla command said Syrian artillery blasted leftist forces on the northern edge of the Christian enclave some 10 miles south of Beirut, where Christians claimed advances across a broad front.

Israel claims Uganda aided hijackers

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Israel prepared on Wednesday to defend before the Security Council its military rescue operation in Uganda and to provide what is said was evidence of Ugandan President Idi Amin's cooperation with the air hijackers. "We believe the Ugandan government was part and parcel of this operation," Israeli Ambassador Chaim Herzog said in an interview on the NBC "Today Show." The Organization of African Unity asked the council to take up the charge that Israel had committed aggression against Uganda, though some Africans had misgivings about defending Amin.

Many U.N. diplomats privately expressed the feeling that Amin did cooperate with the hijackers.

Deficit figures lower than estimated

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal budget deficit for 1976 could be $9 billion less than estimated three months ago, largely because the Food administration significantly overestimated expenditures, government officials said Wednesday. One benefit to the economy of the reduced deficit may have been "a modest contribution" to lower interest rates, a Treasury Department official said.

Preliminary budget figures for fiscal 1976 won't be known until after the first week in March, the official said.

Teamster queried on pension fund

WASHINGTON (AP)—La bor Department investigators interrogated Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons about the union's Central States pension fund Wednesday amid reports of questionable loan practices involving possible fraud and embezzlement. Neither he nor any of the Labor investigators would comment about the interrogation.

Illinois abortion law challenged

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Several provisions of the Missouri abortion law which were found unconstitutional last week by the U.S. Supreme Court are contained in the Illinois law currently being challenged in federal court, an attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union said Wednesday. The high court struck down parts of the Missouri law which required a husband's consent before a woman could have an abortion and a parent's consent if the woman were single and under 18 and a provision outlawing the saline amniocentesis method of abortion.

State to hold hearings on death penalty

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—A seven-member legislative committee will hold hearings this summer and early fall on proposed new death penalty legislation for Illinois, Rep. Harold Katz, chairman of a House judiciary committee, said Wednesday. Katz, who will serve as chairman of the special committee, said hearings will be held in Chicago, Elmhurst, Joliet and Springfield.

Students need Cranston Amendment

But consumer advocate Ralph Nader, supporter of the amendment said the legislation is needed in order to teach students what the true democratic operation is like. "Students live in an artificial world where they are forever held as adolescents," said Nader.

The president of the National Student Association, Clarissa Gilbert, said, "At issue is whether or not schools have the right to set policy for the use of (activities fees), but whether or not students can be shoved aside... any time their activity... goes beyond the tolerance threshold of a few persons given enormous power."

The crux of the matter then is whether or not students will be allowed to govern the use of their own money. Although this legislation will not affect SIU directly, it would provide insurance should the administration or the board of trustees consider one activity unworthy of money despite the majority's wishes.

This particular legislation would affect the University of Illinois, though, which has no mandatory activity fees.

In an effort to show solidarity and to keep alive the move for more student power, students through their student representatives should support this amendment. We should let the Washington legislators know that we are still concerned about who and what runs our lives even in this "artificial world" of ours.

Richard Ogilvie, where are you?

The Illinois legislature has done it again. Every year, it's the same old thing. They can't adjourn on time, nothing much gets accomplished and a flurry of last-minute compromises are agreed upon more for the sake of expediency than in the best interests of the people of Illinois. One could read newspapers for the last two years, three years back, and see the same headlines, the same stories, the same accusations of general ineptitude hurled at our lawmakers.

There is one rather large difference though, between this past session of the General Assembly and sessions of years past. The state is broke. As of Saturday, Republicans and Democrats had a fragile compromise going in order to quickly pass hundreds of millions of dollars worth of bills just to keep the state operating. Illinois is at the point where the Governor is obliged to recommend a speedier state operating. Illinois is at the point where the state functioning. Play, reenactments recall Fort de Chartres past

By Chris Moneich
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The second performance of “To Cover The Body,” by SIU Theater Department, directed by Rodney Allen will be presented Saturday and Sunday at Fort de Chartres Rendezvous in Prairie du Rocher.

“To Cover The Body,” says the case involves a Fort de Chartres warehouse attendant accused of killing another settler.

In the play the accused, a friend of local Indians, is brought to the court which is near the present town of Prairie du Rocher. Many local tribesmen appear at the trial and in consequence the military commandant presiding as judge dismisses the case in order to maintain friendly relations with the Indians.

Terry Allen, who will direct and act in the play, was commissioned by the Illinois Department of Conservation to write the play for its first performance last year.

Other cast members include Zo Nutt, Kim Brewster, Morgan Smith and Rodney Higginshal, all graduate students in the SIU Theater Department; Charles Johnson, senior in theater; and Fred Vallenre, senior in zoology. Indians and extras will be selected from local participants in the Fort de Chartres Rendezvous.

The fort will be part of the seventh annual rendezvous sponsored by the Illinois Department of Conservation. The rendezvous will be Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Fort de Chartres in Prairie du Rocher.

The fort site is reminiscent of the French period in Illinois, 1720-1770. The fort is restored for historical significance by the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Darrel Duensing, manager of Fort de Chartres, said, “The rendezvous gets larger every year. What we show is very French-oriented to commemorate their significance in early American history.

The festival begins Friday, with flintlock, rifle, and musket target shooting competition. Eight contests will be held at noon.

Duensing said anyone may enter if they are dressed in buckskin clothes and bring their own flintlock rifles or muskets to fire.

Ford signs food stamp limitations bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford signed a bill making food stamps available for the elderly who hold them and the money they collect. The bill, H.R. 1654, is one of several short of meaningful reforms.

The act does not affect the widely publicized food stamp abuses, Ford said. "The legislation was not intended to authorize food stamps promptly deposit the cash on hand."

The House gave final passage to the bill on June 22. It regulates food-stamp handling by the more than 14,000 banks, credit unions, post offices, and private firms licensed by the Agriculture Department to sell:

Dealer devises homeowner plan

NEW YORK (AP) — A Wharton School professor has designed a financial plan that would enable elderly homeowners to receive a regular income from their homes while being guaranteed lifetime occupancy.

If implemented, the plan has the potential for greatly relieving the financial problems of elderly persons while simultaneously assuring their independence and security in familiar surroundings.

Jack Guttentag, who holds the chair in banking at Wharton, the business and finance school of the University of Pennsylvania, has put his plan in the public domain, for possible promotion by insurers, government and savings institutions.

So far, he said, one large bank has seriously considered the plan, and many individuals have expressed interest, but it is not yet being marketed, even though he believes it can be offered with actuarial assurance equal to life insurance policies.

Guttentag's ideas, contained in "This Bulletin," the New York University Graduate School of Business Administration, include two new financial instruments, a split equity plan and a nonrepayable loan plan.

In the split equity concept, the income of a property is divided in two components, a life-time interest or right of occupation, and the residual equity, which is the right to dispose of the property after the occupant’s death.

To implement the elderly occupant sells the residual equity, but instead of obtaining a lump sum payment from the buyer, he or she receives a lifetime annuity or guaranteed income.

Upon the death of the occupant, the buyer ceases further payments and takes possession, sometimes obtaining a more substantial property for the money than would have been possible in a conventional transaction.

The possibility exists, of course, that the elderly owner or owners will enjoy a life span greater than those listed in the actuarial tables, in which case the buyer would have to pay a lump sum.

Large institutions, however, can benefit from the laws of large numbers, which generally dictate that extreme averages are not.

The nonrepayable loan, the other instrument in the professor's concept, is simply a loan secured by a mortgage, repayable only upon the death of the borrower or the prior agreement.

Guttentag believes the time is right for the development of these instruments in the United States.

With the proportion of elderly in the population steadily rising and concern for wealth bestowed through estates declining, the potential market is increasing rapidly, he said.

There is also a strong social interest in the development of these instruments, he believes, because the need comprise a large part of the poverty problem.

The median income for households over 65 is less than half that for all households.

Despite the same problems of many elderly, home ownership is higher than that for the population in general...

Statewide public hearings planned; will probe agriculture inspections

By Les Chadik Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A subcommittee of the Illinois House Appropriations Committee headed by Rep. Bruce Richmond, D-Monticello, will hold a series of hearings this summer to review inspection procedures of meat, poultry and livestock by the Illinois Department of Agriculture.

Richmond said that the subcommittee was appointed to probe allegations, raised during appropriations committee hearings, that the investigation is needed for physical, small meat processing and locker plant operations. Richmond said the explanation that certain state inspectors are assigned to plants and are responsible in their demands upon the plants.

Richmond said a common complaint raised by inspectors is that operators have charged plant operators with serious violations of the inspection code when the plant is only in violation on a given day.

Other complaints are that inspectors demand costly improvements in plant facilities which the small operator cannot afford, Richmond said.

The subcommittee will hold four to six public hearings throughout the state, the first hearing to be held in August.

Humphrey starts return to Senate

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey filed for re-election to the Senate. Humphrey, 65, was among the early filers for Minnesota elections, planning to check Tuesday to get his name on the Sept. 14 primary ballot.

Humphrey said he hopes his 72 pledged presidential delegates will support Jimmy Carter, the former Georgia governor who is all but assured of the Democratic presidential nomination.

"I tell them, I hope they see fit to vote for Mr. Carter," said Humphrey, who will be seeking election in the senate for the fifth time.

"We want to be sure there's not any gerrymander-type action taking place and that the inspectors are doing their job which is to protect the consumer. If corrections are needed, we'll make recommendations in our report back to the appropriations committee," Richmond said.

London flooded by rich Arab spenders

LONDON (AP) — Rich Arabs are flocking to London on a pot Lid speculative spree, buying everything from candy to corn chips to carloads of dining room furniture. The British government estimates that Arab buyers have spent $400 million since July, and the property market has been revved up.

A working-class area of north London, for example, has experienced a 30 percent rise in property prices, making it the new downtown. "There is a lot of demand," says one local estate agent. "People want to be near the city center." But the surge has also brought concern about the impact on local residents.

In addition, the influx of Arab buyers has raised questions about the future of the local community. "We're losing our own people," says one man. "They're taking our jobs and our houses." But others argue that the influx is good for the economy. "We need the money," says one resident. "It's helping us to pay our bills." The debate continues as the trend continues.

Time capsules contain t-shirt, yo-yo

By the Associated Press

The year is 1976, and Bob Dylan III, great-grandson of American folk hero Bob Dylan, is preparing to launch a new career. In his Las Vegas home in Vernon, Conn., he hopes to be a time capsule that will be buried in the ground in a local dispute with a crowd examining one relic left by America's folk hero. In the words of the Bicentennial 1976, before the war, when the troops who served were among the men and women, standing at the small, round, plastic, yo-yo attached to a string.

"My yo-yo used to be a weapon," one man says. "Or a yo-yo, says simply.

Auto strike may cause plant shutdown in Trenton, Detroit

TRENTON, Mich. (AP) — Some 4,000 Chrysler Corp. engine workers in Trenton are threatening to strike if Chrysler does not increase wages by 17 percent. A shutdown of the plant could force the shutdown of several assembly plants.

"If we don't get a raise," says one worker, "we'll walk out and take our chances." Chrysler officials say they're willing to negotiate.

Booker to run

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Minority Democratic precinct committees Tuesday night selected acting county treasurer Shirley Dillinger Booker to be the Democratic candidate for Jackson County treasurer in the November general election. The Jackson County Board appointed Booker acting treasurer after the death of her father, Raymond Dillinger last January. He was elected to the post in 1974. Because Dillinger died after the filing date for the March 16 primary, a special primary has been scheduled for Aug. 8, but legislation passed last week allows county party organizations to fill vacancies on their tickets.

The candidate elected treasurer in November will serve the remaining two years of Dillinger's term.

Essian, Dent singles lead Sox over Boston

BOSTON (AP) - Jim Essian drove in the winning run, and Bucky Dent followed with a two-out single in the 10th inning and Bucky Dent followed with a two-run single to give the Chicago White Sox a 6-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Al Ban尼 started the Chicago 10th by beating out a grounder to short. Joel Anderson singled and was out at first when a lemon fanned for the second out. Golumes second and Jim Spencer was walked intentionally. Left that it led up to Essian, who lined a sharp single to left, scoring Omar Vizquel's throw to the plate. Essian took second on the throw and scored behind Spencer on Dent's line single to center.

Chicago starter Bart Johnson, 7-7, earned his fourth consecutive victory in pitching the first nine innings. Dave Hamilton worked the 10th and earned his second save of the season. While the Red Sox scored on a leadoff double by Jerry Willoughby, 2-1, took the loss.

Chisox hurler moves into lineup for hitting skills

BOSTON (AP) - The Chicago White Sox ignored the American League's designated hitter option and permitted left-handed pitcher Ken Brett to bat in a game with the Boston Red Sox earlier this week.

Most observers agreed that Brett became the first pitcher to take his turn at the plate on a regular basis in a meaningful game in American League with the DH rule four years ago. However, the Oakland A's have allowed their pitchers to bat after clinching the AL West Division championship to get them ready for the World Series.

Brett, who broke into the major leagues at the age of 18 with Boston's league champions in 1967, is noted as an outstanding hitting pitcher.

Before Tuesday night, he had 87 career hits in 324 at bats for a .269 average, including 10 home runs, one triple, 18-doubles and 42 runs batted in.

With the Philadelphia Phillies in 1967 Brett set a Major League record for pitchers with his 324 at bats in four consecutive games in which he appeared.

Saddle clubs schedule nine-day trail journey

The Associated Saddle Clubs of Southern Illinois have planned a nine-day trail ride in the scenic hills of Pope County from July 23 to August 8.

Riders will camp at One Horse Gap, about eight miles north of Golconda. Each day, riders will visit such landmarks as Indian Kitchen, Lusk Creek, War Bluff, Sand Cave and Garden of the Gods, according to Nancy Gillespie, of Murphyboro, who is helping to organize the ride.

Gillespie said this is the tenth time the association has sponsored a ride through the Shawnee Forest. She said over 1,000 people took part in the rides last year.

"At least one overnight ride is planned for this year. Many of the trails cross privately-owned land and are only open to our riders," said Gillespie.

A registration and information booth will be located at the camp. A charge of $3 will be made for each horse. Riders camping or riding. No horses will be rented, said Gillespie.

"We are planning on a good time for all," said Gillespie. "There will be entertainment in the camp's cookshack and lots of dancing with plenty of music for dancing planned. She said the association has planned a Night of Western Square Dancing, a Night of Rodeo Horseback Riding and a Night of Hanblomton, and possibly an amusement ride.

For further information contact Gillespie at Route 2, Box 205, Murphyboro, or call 684-5852.

Cubs win fourth straight over Padres

CHICAGO (AP) - Manny Trillo's three-run homer highlighted a five-run third inning and Rick Reuschel hurled the Cub's third straight shutout as Chicago ran its winning streak to four games with a 10-9 romp over the San Diego Padres Wednesday.

Trillo's blast, only his second homer of the year, came off starter Dave Freisleben, 6-4. Reuschel, 6-6, walked open the big inning and scored on Rick Monday's triple. Bill Madlock's double with one out drove home Monday.

Freisleben then walked Jerry Morales, setting up Trillo's two-out home run. The Cubs added a run in the sixth on Steve Swisher's solo home run, his third of the season, and two runs in the seventh on a walk. Joe Cardenal's run-scoring double and Madlock's sacrifice fly.

An error by shortstop Ted Kubik opened the way for two unearned Cubs runs in the eighth. Reuschel gave up four hits, walked four and fanned two.

Minister's advice helps out boxer

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) - The fighting advice of a minister took big John Tate off the streets as a brawler and put him into the ring as the heaviest weight on the U.S. Olympic boxing team.

"As much as you like to fight, you ought to be a boxer," said the Rev. Charles Fleming, pastor of the 21-year-old Knoxville, Tenn., truck driver, after Tate was cut on a shoulder in a street fight.

A week later the 6-foot-4 Tate went into a gym. That was only about 18 months ago, but in that time Tate has crammed in 58 fights, winning 31 of them. And in that time his progress has been slowed by cuts, the flu, separations of both shoulders and a few decisions with which Big John didn't agree.

One of those decisions, which was boomed by the crowd, was when he lost in a boxoff June 30 to Marvin Stinson of Philadelphia, a man he had beaten in the Olympic Trials final June 5. This necessitated a third fight, and Tate won his way to Montreal.

"When I'm training down home in Knoxville," Tate said at the boxing team's camp at the University of Vermont, "I work out to a James Brown record called 'Pay the Cost to be the Boss.' And that's what I've done."

"I told everybody I'll be the No. 1 heavyweight when it comes time to fight for the Olympics," said Tate.

In the semifinals of the Olympic Trials at Cincinnati, Tate met Mike Doakes, the Pan American Games runner-up to Cuban Teodillo Stevenson, the 1972 Olympic gold medalist, and the

One and struck four in recording the Cub's fifth shutout this year but only the first which was not a combined no-hitter.

The shutout extended to 29 the number of scoreless innings by Cubs pitchers during their last four games.

The Cub pitching staff, which entered the game with the worst earned run average in baseball at 4.72, has not given up an earned run in 35 innings. The team's current streak of a complete game has been slowed by cuts, the flu, separations of both shoulders and a few decisions with which Big John didn't agree.

A one-out double by Enzo Hernandez and a two-out walk to John Grubb put runners on second and third. Tate was ground out to first ending the third.

The Padres' only serious scoring threats came in the third and ninth innings, when they left runners on base in both.

A one-out double by Enzo Hernandez and a two-out walk to John Grubb put runners on second and third. Tate was ground out to first ending the third.

Monday saw Reuschel's shutout in the ninth after a walk to Jerry Turner and Dave Winfield's two-out double. Monday came in from center to snare Mike Ivie's sinking liner to end the game.

Basketball camp

The participants may be younger, but the action's just as frantic on the SU Arena floor as the Saluki basketball camp swings into action this week. About 50 area basketball players are participating in the ten day clinic, which is headed by Saluki coach Paul Lambert. (Staff photo by Carl Wagner.)

Chisox hurler moves into lineup for hitting skills

BOSTON (AP) - The Chicago White Sox ignored the American League's designated hitter option and permitted left-handed pitcher Ken Brett to bat in a game with the Boston Red Sox earlier this week.

Most observers agreed that Brett became the first pitcher to take his turn at the plate on a regular basis in a meaningful game in American League with the DH rule four years ago. With the Philadelphia Phillies in 1967 Brett set a Major League record for pitchers with his 324 at bats in four consecutive games in which he appeared.

Starting pitcher Frank MacConnaught of the Detroit Tigers batted three times officially and reliever John Hiller once after Brett had gone to the dugout on June 27 because Manager Ralph Houk merely entered him out with his lineup card, not with his lineup card, of Rusty Staub and Jack Johnson as starting pitcher.

The mistake was pointed out by the Red Sox after the game had started. Since Staub batted in the first inning and then took his position in right field, a position not listed on Houk's card, the umpires ruled that he was the right fielder and designated John Johnson as the DH in the lineup, forcing the pitcher to bat in the sixth spot.
