Latest Stockman gaffe results in resignation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — David Stockman, whose number-crunching prowess spurred dramatic cuts in federal spending and whose loose tongue earned him a trip to the White House woodshed, resigned Tuesday as President Reagan's budget director.

Stockman's resignation, effective Aug. 1, coincides with a drive by Reagan to break a congressional deadlock on the 1986 budget — a plan plagued by disputes over social and military spending and huge deficits that have persisted since the budget and tax-slashing frenzy of 1981.

Stockman, 38, who served two terms in the House before being tapped to spearhead Reagan's attack on federal spending, will take his long-expected leave from government to join the New York investment banking firm Salomon Brothers.

In accepting Stockman's resignation, an acknowledged master at wrestling the octopus of government programs lumped together in the annual budget, Reagan said:

"Dave Stockman has served with dedication and distinction. His tireless efforts to bring fiscal discipline to the federal government and ensure economic stability for the country are deeply appreciated."

Stockman was not available for comment.

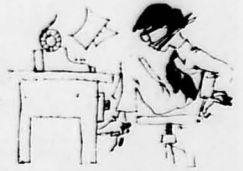

White House aides said there were no immediate plans to name a new director of the Office of Management and Budget, but speculation quickly focused on Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige or White House aide Jack Svahn as possible choices.

Budget office spokesman Edward Dale said Stockman told Reagan last winter that he would stay only through the current budget cycle.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes, who announced the resignation, told reporters Stockman informed Reagan of his decision to leave the government at midday Tuesday.

Stockman, the youngest member of the Reagan team with Cabinet rank in 1981, has served longer than any budget director since World War II.

Third World ideas sought in workshop

By Ken Seeber
Staff Writer

Despite financial difficulties, some University workshop participants are trying to develop ways to solve the housing and urban development problems of Third World countries.

Toward New Initiatives in Central America is offered by the Office of Community Development and runs through July 19.

William Perk, co-director of the workshop, says he is confident the project's goals will be met despite the problems.

"Part of our long-range goal is to take the ideas developed in this workshop to Nicaragua in December and try to apply them to real-world problems," Perk says.

The project has three phases. The first two are during the summer workshop, in which participants will design and develop population, housing and agriculture ideas to help Third World nations.

Perk is hopeful that the final phase will be in December when he and two graduate assistants take the ideas to Nicaragua and apply them.

He estimates the cost of the trip at $1,000 per delegate, but is unsure if he can get the funds for the two-week stay.

Several Nicaraguan officials were scheduled to participate in the workshop, but the Office of Community Development couldn't raise the $7,500 needed to bring them here.

Since he does not represent the U.S. government, Perk was unable to get assistance from either the U.S. or Nicaraguan governments. He tried to solicit funding from 15 state and national corporations that do business in Central America, got plenty of positive feedback, but not the money he needed.

Officials from one Illinois corporation told Perk that the subject of Nicaragua was too controversial.

Perk says that in the workshop's developmental stage uses gaming simulation techniques to help develop theories for solving problems of any 12 regions of the world during the next 30 years. Through this technique, the problems become more realistic to the players.

The workshop will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday in Blue Barracks Room 102. Anyone interested may play the Global Paradigm Game, developed by workshop co-directors Perk and Mary Joyce Hasell. Hasell is visiting the workshop from the University of North Carolina-Greensboro.

Perk says the games help develop solutions to local problems as well as global ones.

"You can't understand what to do with local problems until you can understand how they are connected to the global scale," Perk says.

SIU gets grant to attract minority staff and faculty

By Paula Buckner
Staff Writer

The University has received $235,000 as part of a higher education cooperative act to attract minorities to faculty and staff positions at state institutions of higher learning.

The funds were allocated for SIU-C's new Illinois Minority Graduate Incentive Program during Tuesday's meeting of the Illinois Board of Higher Education in the Student Center.

As part of the Higher Education Cooperation Act, the board approved the program as part of a $995,000 allocation for five projects in the Minority Professional Development Program. Fiscal year 1986 is the first time the development program has been appropriated.

As one of the five projects, the graduate incentive program is sponsored by SIU-C. Funds are awarded directly to the University and then divided among eight other cooperating institutions: University of Illinois-Chicago, University of Illinois-Urbana, Illinois Institute of Technology, University of Chicago and Loyola, Northwestern, and Illinois State and Northern Illinois universities.

The goal of the incentive program is to increase the number of minority faculty and professional staff at Illinois colleges and universities by establishing special fellowship programs.

Recipients of the fellowships will agree to pursue employment in a suitable faculty or staff position at a state college or university upon completion of the doctoral program.

Summer enrollment down from last year

By University News Service

Summer session enrollment at SIU-C is down slightly from last year, but the decrease is less than anticipated.

"It's what we expected," said B. Kirby Browning, director of the Office of Admission and Records. "We have maintained programs."

Total enrollment is 11,390, down 153 from last summer, according to admissions records. The figure includes both on- and off-campus students.

Browning said officials had expected about a 2 percent drop from last year, compared to the 1.3 percent decrease this summer.

On campus enrollment is 8,603, down 135 from last year. Another 2,787 are enrolled in off-campus programs including those at military bases across the country, down 18 from last summer.

Undergraduate enrollment is 8,146, down 169, while law and medical student ranks increased by 23 students to 293. Graduate enrollment fell by 7 to 2,951.

Browning said the entire University summer program has remained fairly constant. "We have a number of workshops, short courses and all kinds of configurations and those are very successful."

Of the 13 academic units, seven reported enrollment increases. The top three units are the bachelor's degree program in the School of Technical Careers, up 137 to 1,310; The College of Engineering and Technology, up 22 to 1,320; and the College of Education, up six to 1,345.

Other units showing increases were the School of Agriculture, the College of Business and Administration, the Evening and Weekend Program and the Medical Education Preparatory Program

Soviets accuse Reagan of sponsoring terrorism

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union Tuesday denied President Reagan's charges that it has a close relationship with terrorist states and, along with Libya and Cuba, accused the United States of sponsoring its own brand of terrorism. Responding to Reagan's speech to the American Bar Association, the Communist Party newspaper Pravda accused the United States of sponsoring terrorism in Central America, Southeast Asia, Africa and the Middle East.

Reagan may cut defense to end budget battle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, pushing for an end to the budget deadlock, said Tuesday he would accept $6 billion less in defense spending next year and will consider taxing Social Security benefits for the rich. The president told Senate Republican leaders the nation has "run out of time" for debating the issue and he pressed on several fronts to break a legislative stalemate that has the budget mired in a congressional conference committee.

Military mission to free hostages ruled out

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan Tuesday ruled out a military mission to free seven kidnapped Americans in Lebanon because their location and captors are not known and a rescue effort could mean "bringing home a body instead of a human being." Reagan said that although U.S. intelligence agencies do not know where the Americans are being kept or by whom, they have gathered indications the captives are periodically moved to keep their location secret.

Soviets hint at some 'Star Wars' concessions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet officials have floated the idea of accepting some "Star Wars" research in a new arms control treaty, but the Kremlin has not made a formal proposal at the negotiating table, U.S. officials said Tuesday. State Department spokesman Bob Smalley said there is no sign the Soviet Union has changed its position and is ready to accept "Star Wars" research, but welcomed the possibility of the Soviets moving toward allowing research.

Contractors progressing on 'Star Wars' plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Declaring "the force is with us," the head of the "Star Wars" project said Tuesday 10 teams of competing contractors are making progress on the futuristic space defense system. In addition, Air Force Lt. Gen. James Abrahamson told a news conference that eight countries have sent technical teams to the United States to see if they can help develop a shield against hostile nuclear missiles. He declined to identify the foreign teams.

Lebanese say U.S. boycott of airport will fail

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Romania resumed air service to Beirut Tuesday as Lebanese officials predicted failure of a U.S. campaign to boycott Beirut's international airport in the wake of the TWA hijacking and hostage crisis. Inaugurating weekly service to the capital, an airliner operated by the Romanian carrier Tarom landed at Beirut and taxied past the Trans World Airways jet, which was hijacked June 14 by Moslem gunmen.

Turkish supertanker set afire by Iraqi missile

By United Press International

Iraqi warplanes fired a missile Tuesday into an oil-laden Turkish supertanker, setting it afire near Iran's Kharg Island oil terminal in the Persian Gulf. Lloyd's of London said it was the largest ship ever hit in the nearly 5-year-old war with Iran. "We are on fire, attack from unknown aircraft," said a distress call from the M. Vatan, which had just received a load of Iranian oil and weighed 392,799 tons. No casualties were reported.

Officers dismissed in ashtray investigation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Navy investigation into the purchase of aircraft ashtrays for $659 apiece at a California installation found the senior commander blameless but upheld the dismissal of two other top officers, the Navy said Tuesday. Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger and Navy Secretary John Lehman ordered the dismissal of all three May 30 before an investigation into spare parts purchasing at the Miramar Naval Air Station could be conducted.

IBHE director praises education reform plan

By David Sheets
Staff Writer

The recent approval of an education reform package by the Illinois Legislature makes the 1985 session the "single greatest legislative session in this century as far as elementary and secondary education is concerned," Richard Wagner, executive director of the Illinois Board of Higher Education, said Tuesday.

Wagner made the statement during the board's meeting in the Student Center, the first IBHE meeting at SIU-C in more than five years.

WAGNER PRAISED the reform package as a whole, noting specifically the three broad categories of the package as outlined by the IBHE and documented in the IBHE meeting report: staff development, curriculum and instruction and proper preparation of new teachers.

Specifically, the IBHE report classified these areas as "those in which institutions of higher education either have a primary responsibility or have special expertise which they may lend to efforts to achieve improvements."

Basically, the reform package applies to teacher education in universities for elementary and secondary instruction.

"WHEN THIS package got legislative approval, everyone felt that they were a winner all across the state," said

Wagner. "The legislators felt good about what they were enacting."

The IBHE report states that the package's categories fall under recommended state incremental funds for public university programs labeled "initiatives for better schools."

Plans for staff upgrading include expanding teacher knowledge in the areas of writing, reading, mathematics, the sciences and computers.

Programs in this area sponsored by SIU-C include an academy on leadership for regional elementary and secondary school principals and the Fifth Annual Conference on Microcomputers in the Classroom in Springfield.

THE IBHE specifies as to curriculum and instruction "include assistance with identifying students' strengths and weaknesses and classroom-oriented assistance with teaching methods, instructional materials and curriculum design."

Preparation of new teachers would include increasing requirements for practice student teaching and including highly comprehensive teacher qualification tests.

Projects involving SIU-C that have new incentives in curriculum and instruction include Project Upward Bound, a motivation program for academically talented students, and The Clinical Center.

PRIMARY FUNDING for the reform package will come from Senate Bill 370, recently passed by the Illinois Legislature and awaiting the governor's signature.

The bill provides for the outline of various unspecified reforms in higher education and provides additional revenue for higher education projects through telecommunications and cigarette taxes.

THE SUBSTANCE of the reform package was questioned by Gaylord Donnelley, IBHE board member. But Wagner said he could not offer any consolation to Donnelley's skepticism

Building Commission gives OK for county jail site negotiations

By John Krukowski
Staff Writer

The Jackson County Building Commission has directed its attorney to go forward with final negotiations in purchasing a site for a new county jail house.

The commission's decision came at a special meeting Tuesday afternoon at the Jackson County Nursing Home, Murphysboro.

The commission's attorney, William Schwartz, said if the purchase offer is not accepted by the owner of the property, the county will reluctantly take advantage of its right of eminent domain.

"We're at the point of preferring to have a voluntary sale rather than a court action," Schwartz said, after the meeting.

When a governmental body invokes its right of eminent domain, the government takes the property from its owner but purchases it at a fair market price as determined by a jury.

Schwartz estimated the process of eminent domain could last three to six months.

Schwartz declined to divulge the size or exact address of the site, but said it is in the municipal boundaries of Murphysboro. Whether the county will purchase the site or will be forced to take court action should be known within 60 days, he said.

Jackson County is under order by the Illinois Department of Corrections to provide new jail facilities which conform to department standards.

The department last inspected the present jail facilities May 23.

Pay boost for IBHE passed during executive session

By David Sheets
Staff Writer

The Illinois Board of Higher Education approved pay increases coordinate with four new classification titles for the board's members Tuesday.

The measure was approved during an executive board session that lasted 45 minutes, almost half of the time consumed during the board's entire meeting at the Student Center.

In the deputy director classification, the current salary range of $48,000 - $66,000 will be upgraded to $50,000 - $70,000. The associate director salary will be raised from a $35,000 - $53,000 range to a $37,000 - $56,000 range.

The assistant director salary range will increase from $22,000 - $40,000 to $23,000 - $41,000; and research associate, from $13,000 - $25,000 to $14,000 - $26,000.

An adjustment made to the proposal raised the executive director's salary to the $90,000 level.

The resolution also authorizes the executive director, with the concurrence of the chairman, to carry out the measure and fix the compensation of other professional, technical, clerical staff and other assistants "as deemed necessary" and "within the constraints of the appropriations and grants available."

Selfish legislators victimize citizens

IN THEIR SCRAMBLE TO GET their share of the pork from the Build Illinois program, last Thursday Republican members of the Illinois House showed us just how petty and selfish people in control of public funds can be.

When there was a threat that some legislators might not get their pet projects tacked onto Build Illinois, Republican House members refused to approve a $3.4 billion public-aid budget. The Republicans used powerless Illinoisans as pawns in a scheme to assure that Democrats in the House did not reject the additions to Build Illinois proposed by Gov. Thompson. This in effect forced 100,000 of Illinois' poorest residents to be without their main source of income over the long Fourth-of-July weekend.

As Rep. Anthony Young, D-Chicago, accurately noted, while the politicians sat in Springfield talking about "how to cut a political pie," the people who could least afford it were being denied money they needed to stay alive.

It's not uncommon for legislators to tie their support for a bill to their opponents' support for another, but in this case Republican legislators went overboard by threatening the livelihood of tens of thousands of Illinoisans.

Perhaps the legislators who pulled off this dirty scheme thought that since they had to work over the holiday they could get away with making life rough on so many other people. Perhaps they were too busy calculating what they would do with their share of the Build Illinois pork barrel, which has since been approved, to consider the harm they were doing. Regardless, the Republican legislators' behavior was insensitive and wrong. If nothing else, they deserve to be publicly chastised and made to apologize to the people they took advantage of.

Helms should stay out of foreign policy

The Chicago Tribune

AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICY is conducted by the White House and the State Department — with the advice of the National Security Council and the two foreign policy committees of the Congress — when Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., will permit it.

Lately, that's not been too often. At the moment, Mr. Helms and a handful of ideological henchmen have been holding up the approval of some 29 major State Department appointments on the Senate floor because Mr. Helms has gotten it into his head that Reagan foreign policy conservatives are getting short shrift from the Reagan administration. He's made it clear he intends to keep up this obstructionism until what he considers satisfactory State Department posts are found for six ideologues he feels are being purged by Secretary of State George Shultz.

The Senate "hold" on nominations is a longstanding if not always sensibly applied courtesy extended to members who might have a question or qualm about a nominee for a federal post. Traditionally, "holds" have been applied on an individual basis. Mr. Helms is blocking these people en masse, not because of specific objections to each but because he finds it politically useful to keep them hostage until his demands are met.

This flagrant legislative extortion comes at a time when the United States has its hands more than full of serious international problems. Some of the appointments involved are quite major, involving arms control, Latin America and other highly sensitive areas.

No one elected Mr. Helms or his two troublemaking staff aides, said to be the principal architects of his scheme, to run American foreign policy. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee managed to sweep Mr. Helms and his games aside and get these nominations out onto the Senate floor. Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole should be just as resolute when the full Senate returns from its July 4 recess.

Essential trust denied to student workers

I am writing in response to the article concerning the use of SIU student identification cards as proof of age to purchase alcoholic beverages. I am not opposed to the change in the liquor code.

As a 22-year-old, using my driver's license is just as convenient as my SIU ID. The fact of the matter is that, in my four years at SIU-C, I have never altered any of my identification cards, including my SIU ID. My objection is to Mrs. Benning's remarks on the topic.

Mrs. Benning stated that "Because the cards are made by student workers chances are increased that the cards will be falsified." Mrs. Benning has insulted every student who has ever worked on campus by assuming that students would falsify other student's IDs so that they can be served at local bars.

Since Mrs. Benning puts little trust in the student workers at the Registration Office, I wonder if she feels the same about other student workers? Do the students who work at the Bursar's Office alter tuition and fee records so that some students do not have to pay as much as others to attend SIU-C?

Do the students who work at Admissions and Records occasionally push a "C" up to a

"B" for a friend. Do the students who work at the Student Center's Check Cashing Office slip a fellow student a dollar or two more than what they wrote the check for.

Considering many of today's student workers will eventually be in jobs that require similar "confidence," such as access to credit rating and payroll information, perhaps the United States' greatest threat is not the Soviet Union after all but rather the incompetent, bribable personnel who will be running the country. — Micheal Zurek, senior, Political Science and Journalism.

U.S. need not lower itself to terrorist level

The hostages are free, and this singular act of terrorism is over. But this is not the last time America will be victimized by terrorism. America must fight terrorism, but we must fight it in order to reduce it, not to feed our egos. There is much talk of retaliation, but what is retaliation? We could kill a few people and bomb a few targets and then claim that we had "significantly reduced the strength of the enemy." That might make us feel better but it would almost certainly do more harm than good. We have tried this method at least once before and it took us over a decade to realize it wasn't working.

How about economic sanctions? Against who and with what? Economic sanctions rarely punish the guilty and they are often merely futile attempts to do "something" in the face of frustration.

We should deal with potential terrorists in a way that would probably surprise them and in a way that might require a little more humility on our part. We should listen to them before they feel the need to start shooting in order to get our attention. This will not stop all terrorism, but it might stop some, and it almost certainly wouldn't cause any, as military retaliation would.

If we categorize all terrorists as mindless foreign criminals (probably commies) who know nothing more than how to hold a gun, we will probably see more violence, perhaps even on American soil. These terrorists, criminals in Beirut, have resorted to despicable acts of violence. Violence in any form cannot be tolerated. The United States is the most powerful country in the world. We should be powerful enough to know that we do not have to stoop to the tactics of terrorists in order to beat terrorism. — Tim Larson, Geography Department.

Trudeau's anti-racist humor misunderstood

Recently a reader wrote in against a Doonesbury cartoon saying that the cartoonist was making light of racism, a serious subject.

Unlike that reader, I found the recent Doonesbury cartoons to be appropriate and useful in the fight against racism.

Mr. Trudeau was not making light of racism, he was making fun of racists. He was not applauding it, he was pointing it out to us — telling us that it still exists.

Although I am not always in agreement with Mr. Trudeau on all social issues, I found his recent cartoons on racism to be an effective tool in pointing out the stupidity of racists and racism. Racists deserve to be laughed at. Bravo, Garry Trudeau. — Glenna Spencer, graduate student, MBA Program.

BY GARRY TRUDEAU

Strip bared racism

This letter is in response to a letter written in the Daily Egyptian (July 9) concerning a series of Doonesbury cartoons and the issue of racism.

With all deference to the struggle of blacks everywhere searching for an equal opportunity, the cartoon was merely exposing prejudices still existing among upper class whites in posh areas of the United States and all around the world. Taking time to view another frame of reference can often reveal another meaning.

— Jeffrey S. Moellering, junior, University Studies.

Anti-spy law would stiffen punishment

By John Krukowski
Staff Writer

A U.S. House of Representatives subcommittee will hold hearings this summer on legislation for tougher punishment of convicted spies.

Congressman Ken Gray co-sponsored the bill, said Patrick McCaffrey, Gray's press secretary. The bill was submitted June 24 in the House by Rep. Ike Skelton, D-Mo. It advocates a mandatory life sentence without suspension, probation or parole for people convicted of spying.

The current penalty for espionage is death or life imprisonment. Because the Supreme Court has ruled capital punishment unconstitutional on the federal level and life imprisonment is subject to parole after 10 years, the authors of the bill thought the punishment for spying should be more severe, McCaffrey said.

"The idea is that it's a thinking man's crime and this gives them something to think about," McCaffrey said.

No provisions have been worked into the bill to deal with the severity of the crime, so all convictions would be treated equally, McCaffrey said.

The bill has been assigned to a subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee, McCaffrey said.

Coal Center gets grant for faculty research

The SIU-C Coal Research Center has been given a $147,000 grant for its Illinois Mining and Mineral Resources Research Institute, a research and scholarship program.

Part of the grant will be used to support faculty research in mining and reclamation.

Grants are made annually by the Department of the Interior's Bureau of Mines to 31 mineral institutes.

Faculty receiving $10,000 grants are Shirshak K. Dhali, assistant professor of electrical engineering; W.D. Klimstra and Jack R. Nawrot, researchers with the Cooperative Wildlife Research Laboratory; and Vivak M. Malhotra, assistant professor of physics and astronomy.

Also receiving grants are John L. Sexton, professor of geology, and A.K. Sinha and Richard J. Sweigard, assistant professors in mining engineering.

Graduate fellowships were awarded to Kumar Chandrashekar, Charles A. Cole, Mark A. Pasley, Thomas R. Roscetti and Josiah Scott.

Alan D. Kern and Del A. Reeves, seniors in mining engineering, will receive tuition waivers and $1,000 each.

'How the Other Half Loves' set for double trouble at McLeod

By Martin Folan
Entertainment Editor

A double dose of comedy is staged for the third Summer Playhouse '85 production at McLeod Theater Thursday through Sunday with Alan Ayckbourn's "How the Other Half Loves."

Known as the British Neil Simon, Ayckbourn sets the scene in the living rooms of the Fosters and the Phillips. The audience will be taken back and forth between the two rooms in this fast-paced comedy about the male-female conflict of two couples — the Detweilers and the Phillips, — whose spouses cheat on each other in double play affairs with their neighbors.

Truth unfolds during a Thursday-Friday night dinner when the Detweilers appear at two dinner parties at once. Ayckbourn's control of time and space is best wrapped-up in the action between the two rooms.

Visiting theater professor Richard Shank, a 30-year director of plays, musicals, operas and television shows in Canada and the United States, brings the British production to McLeod Theater, exemplifying the ordeal of how certain classes handle marriage infidelity.

The cast includes professor Christian Moe, founder of the Theater Department's playwrighting program; Brigid Corrigan, last seen in "Best Little Whorehouse in Texas"; Theresa Larkin, lead actress in Woody Allen's "Call Me Kaiser"; and Gary Graves, playwright of "The Work," which will be shown on WSU-TV during the fall semester.

The cast also includes Regina Pugh, who will be in all four Summer Playhouse '85 productions; and Eric Ewan, performing in his fifth season with the Summer Playhouse.

Tickets are $6 for Thursday and Sunday performances and $7 for Friday and Saturday. All performances begin at 8 p.m.

Computer intro session taught

An introductory session for Morris Library's computer system will be taught by the staff from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. Thursday in the Central Card Catalog Room. To register for the session, call 453-2708.

Young musicians to perform in Great Pianists Concert

By Martin Folan
Entertainment Editor

The Great Pianists Concert, featuring 15 high school pianists and 15 young string players, is scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday at Shryock Auditorium.

The concert will display the musical talent of 30 of the 400 students who attended the Great Pianists Program — the fifth program of a four-week music camp at the University.

High school students from the Southern Illinois to as far as Watford, Conn., have studied the works of many classical composers in preparation for the concert.

Saturday's musical score includes the premier of a documentary entitled "The Return of the Great Pianists" — a production of the piano students and Donald Beattie, assistant professor at the School of Music.

Also on the musical score is a special tribute performance to the 300th anniversary of Johann Sebastian Bach's birth. It features pianos, strings, flute soloist Debbie Reeves, violin soloist Kiala Cox and Beattie playing the harpsichord.

Daniel Mellado, assistant professor at the School of Music and SIU-C orchestra member, and his wife, Fairya, will direct the string players.

'Live Aid' expected to draw record funds

By United Press International

The Live Aid rock concerts in London and Philadelphia this Saturday could raise $50 million for African famine relief in a single day, while at the same time attracting one of the largest television audiences in history.

Some of the top acts in rock music — from Mick Jagger, Paul McCartney, Bob Dylan and the Who to David Bowie, Madonna, the Cars, Hall and Oates and Tina Turner — will appear during the shows.

The entire concert, scheduled to start at 6 a.m. CDT in London's Wembley Stadium and end at 10 p.m. CDT at JFK Stadium in Philadelphia, will be carried live on MTV, the cable music station.

Concert highlights will be broadcast on ABC-TV from 7 to 10 p.m. CDT. More than 100 radio stations and 105 television stations have arranged to carry all or most of the Philadelphia concert before the ABC broadcast begins.

The producer, Worldwide Sports and Entertainment, said as many as 350 million households around the globe may tune in to the concerts, which would tie the viewership of the current recordholder — the 1982 World Soccer Cup.

Concert audiences will not see famine pictures from Ethiopia or the Sudan, but hourly "inspirational messages" from the likes of Jimmy Carter, Bishop Desmond Tutu, Carl Sagan, Geraldine Ferraro and others will urge people to make donations.

There also may be taped messages from President Reagan, Pope John Paul II and British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher.

The project is the brainchild of Bob Geldof, the rock musician who triggered the charity superstar recordings with the British single "Do They Know It's Christmas?"

The British musicians he assembled for that song, calling themselves Band Aid, inspired Harry Belafonte and manager Ken Kragen to form USA For Africa, whose "We Are the World" record and merchandising is expected to raise $45 million.

Whiplash

The Dynamics Of An Accident

A fender bender! Worse than that! A neck bender!

Whiplash neck injuries can be very serious. You can be a victim and not know it, for weeks, or even years. The untreated whiplash takes its toll... in severe migraine headaches, extreme nervousness, insomnia or even arthritis. The accident appraisal is... your fender can wait... your neck can't! Clinical research has shown the doctor of chiropractic is the doctor of choice in treating whiplash. We're here to help you.

Salukis to join new I-AA football conference

By Mike Frey
Sports Editor

The SIU-C football team will have a new conference to play in beginning this season.

The Salukis, who were left without a conference to compete in when the Missouri Valley Conference announced it would drop football as a league sport after 1985, will compete in a six-team I-AA football conference which includes SIU-C, Illinois State, Eastern Illinois, Western Illinois, Northern Iowa and Southwest Missouri State, Fred Huff, SIU-C men's assistant athletic director, said.

"The six university presidents and/or their representatives met Tuesday and agreed to form a I-AA football conference," Huff said.

The presidents decided to begin competition immediately so the conference can gain an automatic bid to the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs by 1987. A new conference must be in existence for two years before it can receive an automatic bid.

"That's one of the reasons it was decided to act immediately," Huff said.

The presidents also decided to allow each member school to use 70 scholarships, the limit set by the NCAA for I-AA schools.

The conference has not yet been given an official name. Stanley Rives, president of Eastern Illinois University, has been given the responsibility of finding a name for the league.

Formerly known as the Mid-Central Conference, the conference will be a multi-sport league with an eight-team basketball conference which remains intact. Wisconsin-Green Bay, Cleveland State, Valparaiso and Illinois-Chicago are the league members which do not play football.

SIU-C will still remain a member of the MVC for basketball, as will Illinois State. Both schools will also remain in the Valley for its final year of football, meaning they will compete in two conferences during the 1985 season.

Rumors of the collapse of Valley football have circulated since six of the league's members were redesignated as Division I-AA schools prior to the 1983 season. Tulsa and Wichita State remained on the Division I-A level, creating a disparity because I-A schools are allowed to offer 25 more scholarships than I-AA schools.

Tulsa also refused to play I-AA schools, such as SIU-C, on the road because of the low money guarantee such schools offered the Golden Hurricane.

Two I-AA MVC schools — Indiana State and Drake — declined an offer to join the new league. However, Huff said both schools could conceivably join the conference before the season starts.

"Indiana State was represented at the meeting but it was not ready to make a commitment at this time," Huff said. "Drake is not ready to commit either. But this doesn't mean they won't join in the future."

All six conference schools have scheduled each other for next season except SIU-C and Northern Iowa. The Salukis and Panthers have played one another in each of the past two years but dropped the rivalry after last season. SIU-C's game at Arkansas State Nov. 9 has been designated as a conference game, as has Northern Iowa's game against Indiana State.

Huff said he believes University officials are happy with the formation of the conference and said he thinks it's a positive step for SIU-C football.

"I think everybody here feels strongly about it," Huff said.

Jones stays sharp during off-season

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

Hard-hitting Saluki outfielder Robert Jones is spending his summer facing some of the top collegiate baseball players in the nation.

Jones is playing for the Harwich Mariners of the Cape Cod League, a summer amateur league for collegiate-level players. The CCL, along with the Alaska League and the Valley League of Virginia, is considered one of the best amateur leagues in the nation.

"It's pretty nice up here," Jones said in an interview Tuesday afternoon. "We see some of the best players in the nation and by playing every day, I keep myself at the top of my game."

Last season, Jones hit a team-high 11 home runs and drove in 43 runs for a Saluki club that finished 28-29. He hit .315 while getting four game-winning hits.

Jones is presently hitting .335 for the Mariners with only one home run. He figures to improve on both of these figures in the spring, when he is once again in a Saluki uniform.

"We're using wooden bats up here, and that's something a little different," Jones said. "The ball doesn't jump off the bat quite as hard as it does on aluminum." Jones said that he believes the change in bats can take as much as 10 or 20 points off a power hitter's batting average, as well as taking 10 or 20 feet off long fly balls.

The CCL consists of an eight-team division, with winners of league games being awarded points for victories. A win is worth two points, a tie worth one and a loss nothing. At the end of the season, the top four teams in the league compete in a double-elimination tournament to determine the league champion.

Jones said that the CCL was an invitational league, with some of the best players in the nation invited to attend. The league provides the players with a job and housing for the summer. Jones played for the Mariners last summer, and calls his participation an invaluable experience.

Jones, selected by the Milwaukee Brewers in the 27th round of the June amateur baseball draft, said he will return to SIU-C for his senior year.

Jones was the 12th choice overall by the Cincinnati Reds in the first round of the 1982 June draft. He had just completed an outstanding career at Proviso East High School in Maywood and turned down a $75,000 signing bonus to attend SIU-C.

Ali fights apartheid

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Former heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali Tuesday threw his support behind a statewide campaign against apartheid in South Africa.

"Wherever I find injustice, I do my best to help," Ali said at a news conference called by the American Roundtable, a statewide coalition of religious leaders and anti-apartheid activists.

The initiative would require the governor to urge the legislature, the president and Congress to enact laws "implementing the public policy against any form of government using apartheid as a means of political, social and economic exclusion."

Jules Bagners III, executive director of the American Roundtable, said his group has until Nov. 14 to collect the 500,000 signatures needed to place the measure on the June 1986 ballot.

He said the group has set a target date of Sept. 12.

Sandberg lifts Cubs to win

Injuries plague Cubs' staff

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Cubs continue to play musical chairs with their pitching rotation in the wake of injuries.

Manager Jim Frey has had to shake his rotation up because of the injury to Rick Sutcliffe and the arm problems of Dennis Eckersley. Sutcliffe was placed on the 15-day disabled list again Monday. He has muscle problems stemming from a partial hamstring tear in May. Eckersley will miss two starts this week and won't pitch until July 18.

In his place, the Cubs will summon Larry Gura from Iowa of the American Association and will move Dick Ruthven from the bullpen into the rotation.

"We want to give Eckersley the extra rest," Frey said before Tuesday's game with San Diego. "Rick is eligible to come off the DL on our West Coast trip and we're hopeful he can be ready then."

home run in either case.

"My job is to get on base," said Sandberg, who also singled and scored in the fourth. "When the wind blows out though, you have a chance if you can get it up into the wind."

Sandberg has had 14 RBI in his last 21 games, doubling his production through the first 60 games. Sandberg also stole his 25th base of the season in the contest.

Steve Trout, 8-4, and George Frazier, who earned his first save, combined on a four-hitter for the Cubs. Frazier blanked the Padres over the final two innings.

"It was an important game for us because of the way our pitching staff has been hurt," said Trout, who permitted three hits in seven innings. "The way Ryno has been hitting it was good to get this win."

Williams conceded Trout, who gave up a three-run homer to Steve Garvey in the sixth, had a good sinker.

"He pitched a helluva game," Williams said. "I think the only mistake he made was one up to Garvey."

Billy Hatcher, who had three hits and two RBI, led off the first for Chicago with a double to right and scored on Sandberg's homer over the left field fence on a 3-1 pitch.

In the second, Trout singled with one out and scored on Sandberg's homer into the center field bleachers.

In the fourth, Larry Bowa led off with a double, went to third on Trout's sacrifice and scored on Hatcher's sacrifice fly. Sandberg singled and came around to score to make it 6-0.

In the sixth, Jerry Royster walked with one out and Jerry Davis reached on an infield single before Garvey blasted his 13th homer of the season.
