A damaged welcome...

The "Welcome to SIU-Carbondale" sign at the Poplar street entrance to the University and four campus yield signs were damaged by an automobile driven by an SIU-C student at about 3 a.m. Wednesday, according to Capt. Carl Kirk, campus police.

Patrick Perino, 800 E. Grand 39D, was charged with drunk driving and damaging state-supported property, Kirk said.

The mishap caused more than $500 in damages, he said.

A person affiliated with the University called the campus police to report the incident and describe the vehicle, Kirk said.

Perino was arrested at his residence and taken to the Jackson County Jail shortly after the incident.

He was released Wednesday.

Department chair to bring grievance to Judicial Board

By David Sheets

The Anthropology Department chair is preparing to appeal his grievance against the College of Liberal Arts dean before the University's Judicial Review Board.

Lionel Bender, anthropology chair, said he is seeking legal advice on the matter but must present his case to the JRB by July 24.

The grievance stems from Bender's charge that John Jackson COLA dean, granted him a salary increase for Fiscal Year 1987 below the amount he received in FY 1986 and below what comparable instructors with full professor status would receive.

According to the University's Approved Grievance

Procedure for Faculty, which was revised in April, Bender's matter must pass from the COLA dean to John Guyon, vice president for academic affairs, before the JRB can rule on an appeal.

Bender said Guyon reaffirmed Jackson's decision in a letter to Bender dated July 2.

Guyon was unavailable Wednesday for comment.

Bender reluctantly elaborated on his grievance, and said if the matter is heard by the JRB, he hoped the board would not make a decision based on what was printed in the Daily Egyptian.

"My grievance is against both the merit and equity amounts," Bender explained. "My monthly pay is 85 percent of the average of what people at my level are getting, or 15

Board of Trustees to vote on presidents' 1987 salaries

A resolution involving fiscal year 1987 salary increases for the SIU-C and SIU-E presidents is scheduled to be voted on at the Board of Trustees meeting Thursday.

The increases, not yet specified, would be percentages of the current salaries of Albert Somit and Earl Leason, according to the resolution. At the June meeting of the board, salary distribution plans for faculty and staff were approved.

The meeting will begin Thursday at about 11 a.m. after the committee meetings, which begin at 9 a.m. It will be held in the auditorium of the School of Dental Medicine, Building 280, Alton.

The building of a training and locker room facility at Abe Martin Field will also be voted on by the board. The estimated cost of the project is $140,000 and is expected to be funded from three sources.

About $35,000 will come from student fees, $65,000 is expected from private contributions and $40,000 in donated labor will come from various union crafts.

The matter still has to be submitted to the Illinois Board of Higher Education for review and approval as a non-instructional capital improvement.

Another resolution involves the replacement of roofing and the addition of attic insulation to the 39 buildings in Evergreen Terrace. Student housing fees reserved for repair and replacement will be used to fund the project if approved. The estimated cost is $150,000.

New city commissioner outlines goals, plans

By Toby Eckert
Staff Writer

SIU-C students often have "the wrong attitude" toward their relationships with the city and a misconception of their status as Carbondale residents, says new Undergraduate Student Organization City Affairs Commissioner Michael Greer. "We are residents of this community," Greer said Wednesday. "This is home for the majority of us. We spend more time within this city than the home from where we came."

Greer was appointed city affairs commissioner by USO

President Phil Lyons in early July. His appointment is temporary and must be approved by the Student Senate in the fall.

Greer, a sophomore in English, is one of a growing number of "non-traditional" students on campus. He is 23-years-old and has a wife, Debra. Prior to being appointed city affairs commissioner, he served as a member of the city's Liquor Advisory Board, a position he intends to keep.

Greer said his primary goals are to improve the rapport between students and the city and to voice student concerns on city issues.

Former USO President Tony Appleman's administration failed to follow up on many city issues affecting students, Greer charged, adding that the Lyons' administration would try to work "hand in hand" with city officials on such issues. I think former City Affairs Commissioner David Madelener worked hard on these issues he was concerned with," Greer conceded. "I think we just have to pick up where he left off and continue on the issues he was working on."

"City bureaucracy moves slow," he added. "You're not going to see any results in one year or two years. You won't see the results for four or five."

The city affairs commission is more "reactionary" than other USO commissions, Greer said, noting that it often plays more of an adversarial than a goal-setting role. Still, city officials are receptive to the student opinions relayed by the commission at least 90 percent of the time, he said.

"I think the City Council realizes they have the power of the city, they are in control. But I've never experienced a

Democrats insist on 2nd vote in controversial judge nomination

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democrats will strongly protest any effort by Republican leaders to prevent another vote on the controversial judicial nomination of Daniel Manion, Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill., said Wednesday. In remarks prepared for delivery before the Chicago Council of Lawyers and released in Washington, Simon called on the Senate to "render a full, free and clear decision" on the nomination, which has been in limbo since an initial vote of approval June 26.

"We need to clear the taint of the earlier vote," said Simon, who has been leading the fight against the nomination of Manion to the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Manion was opposed by

Democrats who said he was too inexperienced and too extreme for the job. Manion, whose father was a founding member of the John Birch Society, has testified he did not know the policies of the extremist organization. President Reagan, in an interview Wednesday, told the New York Daily News that "the attack against Manion is unfounded" and "based on a number of outright falsehoods."

"I will never send a name up there that I do not believe is fully qualified for the position," Reagan said of his judicial nominations.

The battle over the conservative Indiana lawyer has escalated into a major test of Reagan's ability to win confirmation of his choices for the federal bench. His critics say Reagan is choosing candidates based on their conservative ideology instead of their legal qualifications.

After a dramatic parliamentary gamble, Senate Democrats lost a prime opportunity to defeat Manion outright by a single vote.

However, the 48-46 vote led to a parliamentary deadlock when Senate Democratic leader Robert Byrd of West Virginia moved to reconsider the vote, which put the nomination off until after the July Fourth recess.

A Senate parliamentary action Wednesday the Manion vote will stand as confirmation if there is no effort to reconsider the vote by the time the Senate adjourns this fall.

Illinois coal mine disaster leaves 3 dead

WALTONVILLE, (UPI) — A roof collapsed at a Southern Illinois coal mine Wednesday, killing three men — including a father and son — in the second accident at the mine in the last three weeks.

A fourth person feared to be trapped in the rubble was found unharmed.

The accident occurred at about 11 a.m. CDT at the Freeman United Coal Co.'s Orient No. 6 mine near Waltonville in Jefferson County. Killed were Kenneth Hartford, 36, a mine manager from Stonefort; Bobby Ray Perry Sr., 52, a section foreman from Lake of Egypt; a small community 8 miles south of Marion; and Bobby Ray Perry Jr., 23, also a section foreman from Lake of Egypt.

The Perrys had only worked at the mine for about 3 weeks, while Hartford was employed there about 6 months. They were all "experienced workers," said James Ryan, vice president of Hylan Resources for Freeman.

The collapse of a "fairly sizeable" section of rock and shale roof took place about 780 feet down and 1,500 feet back from the opening of the mine, which was in the second week of a vacation shutdown, Ryan said.

The workers were supervising other miners in repair work when the collapse occurred.

France, Soviet Union agree to 2nd joint space flight

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev and French President Francois Mitterrand held a third round of talks Wednesday, agreeing to a second joint manned space flight in two years and talks on international terrorism, a Soviet spokesman said. Mitterrand in a rare television address to the Soviet people by a visiting foreign leader said that although France is trying to "strengthen its armed forces" it also wishes the military forces of the East and West "be reduced to the lowest level."

Aftershocks stall earthquake clear-up efforts

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Aftershocks rumbled and shook the swank desert resort of Palm Springs Wednesday, a day after the area's strongest earthquake in seven years caused at least $2 million in damage. At least six people remained hospitalized and cleanup of cracked and boulder-strewn highways leading into the posh community in the Coachella Valley was hampered by fear of more aftershocks. The area experienced at least three aftershocks a Caltech spokesman said.

Accused spy likened to crown jewel guard

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Prosecutors in their closing arguments Wednesday in the spy trial of Jerry Whitworth said the ex-Navy radio operator entrusted with the most vital code secrets was like a "Brink's guard of the crown jewels." The thin and bearded Whitworth was described by the government as a trusted Navy radioman who sat at his desk day after day inside the vault where top-secret cryptographic codes were stored and photographed them for sale to the Russians.

Acid leak stopped; evacuated return home

MIAMISBURG, Ohio (UPI) — Crews pulling a damaged railroad tanker of toxic phosphorus opened another hole in the car Wednesday, sending up a corrosive plume of acid that quickly dissipated after they doused the leak with water. There was no repeat of the mass evacuations of Tuesday, when about 17,500 people in Miamisburg and nearby communities left their homes after seven cars of the Baltimore & Ohio freight train derailed. All except the 6,000 residents of Miamisburg were allowed to return early Wednesday.

Chilean police disrupt funeral with tear gas

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Riot police firing tear gas and water cannon Wednesday disrupted a funeral procession of 2,000 mourners, whisking away a hearse carrying the body of a youth believed burned to death by soldiers during a demonstration. Four mourners were injured and the U.S. ambassador to Chile was trapped briefly in the panic after police moved in while the coffin of 19-year-old Rodrigo Rojas, a Chilean-born resident of Washington, D.C., was carried out of the Chilean Human Rights Commission after his funeral.

Bomb explodes in Paris police office; kills 1

PARIS (UPI) — A 22-pound bomb ripped through police offices overlooking the Seine River Wednesday, killing an officer, wounding more than 20 people and sending rubble and glass raining down on passersby. The powerful bomb wrecked the offices of the Brigade de Repression de Banditisme on the waterfront Quai de Gesvres when it exploded on the fourth floor. The unit works on criminal cases and is not involved with terrorists.

Israel denies it obtained illegal U.S. secrets

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Defense Minister Yitzhak Rabin strongly denied Wednesday that Israel tried to smuggle cluster bomb secrets, saying the allegations were an attempt to undermine U.S.-Israeli ties. Rabin was responding to news reports that U.S. authorities issued subpoenas ordering eight Israelis and 12 American executives to answer questions in an investigation of claims that U.S. technology was illegally exported to Israel to produce the bombs.

Floods, landslides result in Philippine typhoon

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — Typhoon Peggy cut across the rice-producing northern Philippines Wednesday, triggering floods and landslides that left at least 18 people dead and forced thousands of families to evacuate, officials said. Peggy, the first major typhoon to hit the country this year, pounded eight northern provinces with peak winds of 109 mph. Its fringe winds brought heavy rains to the capital and the fertile central plains on the main island of Luzon.

Community activists to discuss 'hot topics'

It takes more than economic development to develop a community, says Jnanabrata Bhattacharyya, a local organizer of the Community Development Society's 1986 conference.

Bhattacharyya, associate professor in community development, said when innovators in the field converge in the Student Center July 28 to 31, they will exchange ideas about how to promote community development, and not just by attracting industry.

He said community developers emphasize the idea of participatory democracy in building healthy communities; they ask what defines a good society and what can be done to create one.

"WE HAVE an action orientation. We want to change things, bring about change," he said.

At the conference, Bhattacharyya said community activists will try to gain insights and understandings about how to help communities prosper.

In addition to speeches by some top community development scholars, the conference will include workshops, seminars and presentations of papers on topics related to development.

Topics to be discussed at the workshops and seminars include the role of health and the arts in community development, waste management and resource recovery, improving the public image of a community, how to initiate development and the role of economic development in community development.

BHATTACHARYYA SAID there will be a "tremendous influence" on the role of economic development at the conference because it's a hot topic right now.

But he noted that most development leaders believe all aspects of a community, including religion and the relationships between members, affect its development.

Among the speakers set for the conference is sociologist and author Peter Berger. Berger's writings have been discussed, among other things, the process of modernization and the problems it causes and political ethics.

Bhattacharyya described Berger as a "neo-conservative" and a powerful figure among Republican intellectuals.

FURURIST HAZEL Henderson is slated to speak at the same session as Berger. Putting Henderson, who is considered a liberal "new age" thinker, next to Berger may bring some fireworks to the discussion, Bhattacharyya said.

Richard Poston, professor emeritus and one of the founders of the Community Development Department, the first of its kind, is also on the speaking roster for the conference.

Bhattacharyya said Poston is nationally recognized for promoting self-help remedies for communities striving to develop.

Harry C. Boyte, political activist and community organizer, is also a slated speaker. Boyte stresses using grass-roots organizing and initiative to meet local needs.

A.Z.M. OBALDULLAH Khan, Bangladesh ambassador to the United States and a respected scholar on rural development, will give a luncheon address on the final day of the conference.

Khan, who is well known for his poetry, is a former minister of agriculture for Bangladesh.

Bhattacharyya said other community development leaders from outside the United States have been invited to speak at the conference but, since the society cannot afford to pay their travel expenses, few are expected to attend.

HE SAID travel and registration costs are likely to bar several potential participants from attending. "Community developer are proverbially poor," Bhattacharyya said.

The $150 registration charge for non-society members and $120 charge for members will go toward paying the costs of the conference, including honorariums for speakers and three meals for participants. Student members of the society can attend for $60, but other students must pay $75.

Throughout the conference, Bhattacharyya said, music, arts and crafts representative of Southern Illinois will be featured.

To register for the conference, contact the Community Development Department. Registration is open until the first day of the conference.

Benefit concert nets $700 for Good Samaritan House

By Mary Wisniewski
Staff Writer

A concert performed by about 35 members of the University Orchestra raised an estimated $700 for the Good Samaritan House in Carbondale.

The "Summer Pops Concert," was conducted by Daniel Mellado, assistant professor of music, and featured popular classics. The event was held Tuesday at the Carbondale Community High School.

The concert was sponsored by the School of Music.

Mellado said members of the University Orchestra had the idea for the concert.

"A couple of students told me they really wanted to play this summer," Mellado said, "so I decided a benefit for the Good Samaritan House would be a very worthwhile excuse."

The program included Strauss' "Emperor Waltz" and an exciting rendition of Bizet's "L'arlesienne Suite." Featured performers were bass Richard Best, School of Music faculty member and veteran of the Metropolitan opera, and Rachel Mellado, an 11-year-old violinist.

Rachel Mellado, who is Mellado's daughter, played solo violin for the last movement of Felix Mendelssohn's "Violin Concerto."

Young Mellado, who will be attending Lincoln Central Junior High School, said she has been playing violin since she was four.

"I don't know if I'm going to do this forever, because I might get tired of it," Rachel Mellado said. She added that she practices up to an hour and a half a day.

The Good Samaritan House, 608 E. College St., is affiliated with the Interchurch Council of Carbondale.

Elsie Speck, director of the Good Samaritan House, said since April 1985, it has been offering temporary shelter and various kinds of financial aid.

Speck said it now shelters about 17 people and offers a food bank three mornings a week.

"We get about 15 to 20 families a week at the food bank," Speck said. "I think there's a real need."

435 more students awarded Pell Grants in fall

By Janet Anderson
Student Writer

A total of 435 more SIU-C students will be eligible for Pell Grants during the 1986-87 school year, Joseph Camille, director of student work and financial assistance, says.

The increase stems from approval of additional funds by Congress.

About 6,250 students were eligible for Pell Grants before the increased funds were approved, according to Daniel Mann, assistant financial aid director.

The federal action also permits award increases from $19 to $361 for 1,650 students, Camille said.

Award amounts range from $150 to $2,100, depending on student need.

The U.S. Department of Education bases a student's need on several factors, including the amount of income and the number of people in the student's household, the number of people in the household attending college, the student's expenses and the student's assets.

After the Department of Education determines the student's need, the student gets a Student Aid Index number and the department sends the information to the student's school.

At the school, the financial aid office determines the student's need based on the Student Aid Index number and other factors including the cost of attendance, the number of hours for which the student has enrolled and the student's previous financial history, Mann said.

Students eligible for an award and those receiving increases will be contacted by the Department of Education.

Camille said the students should submit their paperwork for processing as soon as possible.

The Pell Grant award amounts should appear on the student's account statement for the fall semester, Camille said.

The student voice in city government

AN IMPORTANT EVENT has occurred, one that affects all SIU-C students. But many students will remain unaware of this event because it involves campus-city politics, an arena few ever become involved in, in any capacity.

David Greer has been appointed city affairs commissioner by Undergraduate Student Organization President Phil Lyons, and as such is probably the most important liaison between the misunderstood student body and that evil empire — the Carbondale City Council.

You know about the City Council—they're the people who regulate where students can live through the use of R1 family zoning.

Greer, like his predecessor David Madlener, will attempt to represent student interests to the council, such as the proposed campus-citywide bus system and proper upkeep of off-campus student housing.

BUT THERE ARE BOUND to be other issues affecting students that will never reach the City Council, simply because the city affairs commissioner won't hear of them — unless you tell him. He's on campus in the USO offices on the third floor of the Student Center, your very own city ombudsman.

Many students are Carbondale residents, if only for a short time. And the city affairs commissioner is their only real voice in city government.

Good luck, Mr. Greer. As your precursor, Mr. Madlener, can tell you, the city affairs commissioner has the busy, tough, and sometimes thankless job of being the USO's spokesperson at City Council meetings. It is an important job that few would be willing to tackle.

Letters

Facts have been skewed

It has been said that SIU-C is a party school. Could it be that it is also a skewing school?

I refer to the DE editorial of June 27 and to the statements of my colleagues Dave Christensen, Bill Garner, and Bill Perk in the July 3 DE.

Every person mentioned has skewed the following three sets of facts.

1) Nicaragua is governed by a Marxist-Leninist dictatorship, and by decrees from Daniel Ortega and eight other Marxist-Leninists whom I can name. This has been the case since 1979, in spite of a PR window-dressing election five years later. It is still governed by a totalitarian set-up, and one of the last decrees, Oct. 15, 1985, abrogated the last vestiges of civil rights and further limited freedom and expression and religion. My sources: David Nolan, "The Ideology of the Sandinistas," La Barricada, official paper of the FSLN; La Prensa, originally a leading daily of Latin America, reduced to baseball and religion for several years completely closed; Alberto Mayorga, a Nicaraguan English teacher, whose wife was shot by Sandinista snipers in 1979; Fidel Castro, whose front-page interviews in Mexico's leading daily reveal that his is a heavy hand in Central American affairs. Agui y alla, el yanqui morira!

2) Beginning in the 1970s, the Soviet bloc has, through thousands of Cubans — who did bring medicine and Marxist teachers — built up an army and an armed population several times the size of all the neighboring countries combined. My sources: La Barricada; Mike Wallace on 60 Minutes; the U.S. government.

3) As I have stated elsewhere, peace could come to Central America this fall if the Sandinistas would agree to the stipulations of Contadora, one of which is that open elections be held, including all opposing factions. For months Elliott Abrams has been working on this, but Ortega refuses to talk to the opposition. My source: Ortega's statement on NBC and other media, June 26, 1986, and the statements of Abrams for several months.

The American media have long been skewing around on these issues, but it is sad to see academic professionals in a "community of scholars" defending a political outlook by skewing! — Lincoln Canfield, professor emeritus, Spanish.

Threat to democracy costly

By Martin Harry
Law student

THE JULY 3 front page DE article pertaining to Contra aid revealed beyond a doubt the ignorance of some who so authoritatively assert their "expertise" on the subject of Latin America. The article deserves scrutiny.

David Christensen reportedly claimed that there is no proof that the Sandinista government poses a Marxist threat that might justify U.S. intervention. Apparently we should do nothing until an actual threat is posed — something that probably would require a more costly remedy. Our aid does not rest on this alone, though. In a similar context, U.S. aid to the Afghan rebels is given to support their fight for freedom and independence from the Soviet Union. Given Christensen's logic, the Soviet-installed government poses no threat to the United States and therefore the Afghan rebels are unworthy of support.

CHRISTENSEN WENT beyond this, however, and absurdly likened the Communist influence in Nicaragua to that in France and Italy. The most blatant difference is that the Marxists are in power in Nicaragua and have never held power in France or Italy. In 1962, Francois Mitterand, a Socialist, was elected president, and in 1984 Bettino Craxi became Italy's first Socialist premier. Both governments denounced the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan and supported NATO's decision to deploy U.S. medium-range nuclear missiles in Western Europe. A casual observation reveals that there is a stark contrast between the governments of France and Italy with the Nicaraguans.

Professor Garner stated that

the Reagan administration has made the Sandinista's Marxist leanings a "self-fulfilling prophesy" by forcing them to seek aid from the Soviet bloc. He conveniently ignored recent history. The Nicaraguan people fought for liberation from the Somoza regime and rallied behind the only viable movement presented them — the Sandinistas. In 1979, when the Sandinistas assumed power, its five-member junta begged for aid. From the United States, Nicaragua received millions of dollars in loans and aid. Actually, more U.S. aid was given the Sandinistas than was ever given Somoza.

PRESIDENT CARTER, sensitive to the argument articulated by Garner, delivered the goods when Ortega summoned. Unfortunately for the Nicaraguan people, the Marxists quickly consolidated power. It should be noted that the independent daily newspaper La Prensa was shut down by Somoza prior to his downfall. Just recently, the daily has again been shut down by the Sandinistas. Shutting down the press in Nicaragua is no less oppressive than government censorship in South Africa. Yet the struggle for freedom is perceived differently by Reagan's critics: in South Africa the U.S. should impose sanctions and support the opposition, but in Nicaragua the lack of support for the government is blamed for its oppressive nature. The assertion that U.S. policy forced the Nicaraguans to become Marxists belies fact. It is amazing how this argument survives historical con-tradition. Linking Marxist ideology with the absence of U.S. support is nothing but an attempt to rationalize history from a rigid, liberal perspective.

WILLIAM PERK reportedly said that U.S. actions in Nicaragua are comparable to those taken by the Soviet Union to install a Marxist government in Afghanistan. How, he did not elaborate. This illusion is easily refuted. The Soviet Union occupies Afghanistan and is fighting against those seeking liberation. In Nicaragua, the United States is supporting rebels against a Soviet-backed government. The U.S. objective is the development of democratic institutions in order to promote the peaceful resolution of domestic conflict. As under Somoza, the opposition has no means of expressing political opposition except by force. The Soviet Union seeks to suppress and eliminate opposition, not accommodate it.

There is a consensus in Congress that the Nicaraguan government is reprehensible. The debate now centers on how the United States can best achieve regional stability. Governments that do not permit peaceful change are inherently volatile.

FOR THIS reason people may differ. Christensen, Garner and Perk, however, continue to argue that conditions in Nicaragua are perfectly acceptable. Without discussion, the evident slant intended by the article's author who pursued these three like-minded individuals unified in their opposition to the Contra aid, suffices to say that their incredulous arguments indicate the lack of substance beneath the mostly emotional denunciations of U.S. policy in Latin America.

RSO activity funds running out; USO short of funds in fiscal '8

By Brett Yates
Staff Writer

Because of few funds available in the Undergraduate Student Organization account for allocation, Registered Student Organizations may have to rely on their own resources for much of their funding this fiscal year, said USO President Phil Lyons.

The USO allocated $1,355 Tuesday to two RSOs. Iota Phi Theta received $600 to attend a two-day convention July 18 and 19 in Maryland, and Alpha Phi Alpha received $755 to attend a week-long convention in Washington, D.C.

The groups had requested $1,200 and $2,000 respectively.

The USO allocated a total of $234,973 to RSOs for the 1986 spring and summer semesters.

The USO received $272,161 in student fees for fiscal 1986, which ran from July 1, 1985, to June 30, 1986. After fee allocations in spring 1985, the USO had $60,307 left for general funding for the 1985-86 school year.

After a USO Senate vote Feb. 19 to allocate $4,327 to 13 RSOs, all general funding for the fiscal year had been exhausted.

Lawrence Juhlin, assistant to the vice president of student affairs, said the USO received 253,479 from student activity fees for fiscal 1987 and a $5,100 carryover of unused RSO funds from fiscal 1986.

After deductions of the spring and summer fee allocations, the USO has only $18,912 in its Student Organization Activity Fund, which is set aside for small RSOs. Lyons said he expects between $6,000 and $8,000, which would be earned from the sales of advertisements in the student directory, to be added to general funding.

Lyons said the USO will still be short of funds during fiscal 1987 and any USO funds allocated will probably only be supplemental to what organizations need. Lyons said he hopes the USO will not exhaust its funds before the spring semester.

Porn panel asks 'watch groups' to uproot damaging smut material

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- The head of a government pornography panel headed Attorney General Edwin Meese a controversial report Wednesday explicitly detailing smut in America and calling for local "watch groups" to use it as a blueprint for rooting out obscene materials.

Official presentation of the panel's 2,000-page report was largely ceremonial since its sweeping recommendations and conclusions have been known for months. The panel's work, which has already been challenged in court, calls for revamping of federal and state laws to more rigorously pursue pornographers.

At a news conference at the Justice Department, Henry Hudson, chairman of the 11-member Attorney General's Commission on Pornography, rigorously defended the report as something the public wanted.

Dismissing objections from civil liberties groups and others that the commission's findings are unscientific, Hudson said, "If we relied on scientific data for every one of our findings, I'm afraid that all of our conclusions, or all of our work, would be inconclusive."

"My common sense tells me that there are a lot of citizens concerned about obscenity," including thousands who believe it is "socially wrong," said Hudson, an anti-pornography state prosecutor in Arlington, Va.

"For those people who have so stridently asked that there be some government effort to control obscene materials, I believe this report gives them a blueprint for establishing an approach against obscene materials."

White House looks to approve final tax bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration signaled Congress Wednesday it could accept the emerging outline of a final tax reform bill -- a plan that keeps the Senate version's low rates, but boosts some business taxes to give individuals a better deal.

Although stopping short of endorsing any specific business tax hikes, White House Chief of Staff Donald Regan said in interviews released Wednesday the administration may be willing to agree to more taxes on certain industries, such as banking, if that would help mold a final tax overhaul bill.

Both the House and Senate tax reform bills would curtail numerous tax deductions in return for lower individual and business tax rates, but there are major differences.

The bill passed by the Democratic-controlled House has a top individual tax rate of 33 percent and would raise taxes on business by about $140 billion in five years. The measure approved by the Republican-majority Senate has a top personal rate of 27 percent and would hike corporate taxes by $100 billion in five years.

Despite the lower top rate, the Senate bill has been criticized as providing too much help to the wealthy and not enough to the middle class.

In the past two weeks, the outlines of a possible compromise have taken shape, with House Ways and Means Chairman Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., and Senate Finance Committee Chairman Bob Packwood, R-Ore., noting they may try to keep the low tax rates from the Senate bill, but raise some business taxes to provide more relief to the middle class.

Regan, asked about such a deal, indicated the White House was not opposed to more business taxes, if they fell on selected industries.

"There are some industries that are not terribly affected by this (the Senate) bill, and we would want to take a look at if something there -- not singling out any, but some of the financial industries seem to make out pretty well under this," Regan noted. "Well, if a little more were taken from them, would that be damaging?"

However, Regan also indicated the administration would oppose efforts to hike taxes on the oil and gas industry, noting that with the low price of oil, "you would have to wonder ... what are you doing to that energy industry."

Aquino demands revolt leaders' loyalty pledges

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — President Corazon Aquino demanded loyalty pledges from the leaders of a failed revolt Wednesday and banned all demonstrations that would "further the rebel cause" of ousted ruler Ferdinand Marcos.

The Foreign Ministry revoked the passports of former Sen. Arturo Tolentino — who led the 36-hour revolt that ended at dawn Tuesday — and 24 other Marcos supporters, the state-run news agency reported.

"Certain people have trifled too long with the dignity and stability of the present government and the new constitutional order," Aquino told a news conference.

"Therefore, even as I am thankful for the peaceful resolution of the problem, I am compelled by reason of national interest and unity to require a pledge of loyalty to the constitution from the leaders in that illegal act of defiance."

Aquino did not specify what action would be taken if the plotters refused to pledge allegiance. But Joker Arroyo, her executive secretary, said the measures would be "appropriate" and sedition charges were among the options.

Tolentino, 75, Marcos' vice presidential running mate in the fraud-tainted Feb. 7 election, proclaimed himself acting president Sunday. Backed by several hundred soldiers and 8,000 civilians, he took over the luxury government-owned Manila Hotel and claimed it as his seat of government.

Southern Illinois Arts aims to provide cultural events

By Debra Keen-Cooper
Staff Writer

There is a very special organization in Southern Illinois that is dedicated to programming the arts.

Southern Illinois Arts, originally the Community Educational Arts Association, was established in 1975 as an extension of Southern Illinois community colleges.

David Thomas, executive director of SIA, said the organization was formed to unify arts programming.

THE SIA HAS about 50 member organizations located throughout the lower 34 counties of Illinois. Thomas said SIA is governed by 21 directors, 11 of which are representatives from the member groups and 10 are from Southern Illinois counties.

SIA, a non-profit organization, depends upon a regranting program, sponsored in partnership with the IAC, to raise additional funds for arts activities. During 1984-85, 28 organizations received $15,000 through regranting. This year, SIA received $12,000 from the IAC, which they matched with $4,800 from fund raising and donations to make the $16,800 available for projects.

"BEGINNING IN September, organizations start applying to us," Thomas said. "There is a panel which reads all grant applications and critiques them on a specific set of criteria."

The applications are rated according to their service to the community. The panel then decides, based upon the rating criteria," he continued, "which organization projects will receive the full amount requested or a partial amount."

SIA SOLD beer on Grand Avenue during the last Halloween celebration and conducted two benefit concerts featuring world-class pianist, Ruth Slenczynska.

Thomas said he convinced Gov. Thompson to declare May 3 "Build the Arts Day" in Illinois and an extensive street corner campaign was held in several communities in the region.

Proceeds were evenly split between member organizations and SIA. Pepsi gave a donation of coupons for the event that read "Support Illinois Arts," he said.

"ARTRAIN," WHICH came through Carbondale last fall, was another project the SIA sponsored. Viewers were estimated at 5,000. Thomas said, and more than 2,000 students went through the exhibit.

SIA recently held an essay contest for senior citizens. "Memories of Southern Illinois," ran through several stages, which resulted in local and regional finalists. The essays were read by a panel with backgrounds in journalism, English, history and folklore.

"THE ESSAYS gave us a wonderful insight into how Southern Illinois has changed in the past 50 to 60 years," Thomas said.

"We received about 800 well-written, informative essays on everything from mine disasters and political functions to terrible storms," he said. Plans are in the works to publish these essays, compiling the history of Southern Illinois as told by the people who lived there, he added.

Timberlake said he is interested in creating a network among artists and organizations in Southern Illinois.

"I WOULD like to see Southern Illinois change from a cultural wasteland to a cultural cornucopia," he said.

To aid in implementing an arts network, Apple Corp. recently donated four Macintosh computers to the SIA. The terminals are located in Olney, Centralia, Edwardsville and Carbondale.

Timberlake said he would like to see a computer bulletin board started to speed up correspondence between member organizations and make the transfer of material goods quicker and easier.

A REVITALIZATION of the Chautauqua's, traveling cultural programs that went on curcuit, is in the works for this fall, said Thomas. The name originated in Chautauqua, N.Y., where people stayed on the banks of Chautauqua Lake to take part in culture programs and lectures for a week during the summer.

The program became so successful it was taken on the road to reach the smaller communities. It was most successful in the Mid-west. SIA's Chautauqua will feature impersonators of Mark Twain, Eleanor Roosevelt and Abraham Lincoln, as well as local performers.

THE PROGRAM theme will consist of "living history" presentations, with specific focus on the development of Southern Illinois. The Chautauquas will be held Sept. 25-28 in Harrisburg and Oct. 2-5 in Carbondale.

Long-term plans of the SIA include a fall festival of the arts in 1987.

"We've been talking with the Carbondale Convention and Tourism Bureau about the possibility of such a festival," Thomas said.

Thomas said the nice thing about an organization like SIA is that cultural events generate more income for the community.

White Sox are not leaving Chicago

By Steve Merritt
Assistant Sports Editor

From the Press Box
Steve Merritt

Some people have no sense of history or appreciation for tradition. Their fixation with "modernization" threatens Comiskey Park in south Chicago, built in 1910 and standing today as the oldest major league park still in use.

Besides Fenway Park in Boston (opening day April 4, 1912) and Wrigley Field in Chicago (opening day April 20, 1916), no parks remain from the age before cocaine, million-dollar contracts and player strikes — the days when baseball was baseball.

On Tuesday, the owners of the White Sox — Jerry Reinsdorf and Eddie Einhorn, never the favorites of loyal Sox fans — conceded that they would move the Sox to another city if they weren't allowed to move to a new park in DuPage County. In addition to be more exact, a Chicago suburb northwest of the Sox' present home.

Moreover, the controversial tandem announced they would need a substantial state subsidy to complete the move — and if these conditions aren't met, the two say, they'll move to another city.

Sox fans, don't sweat it — the White Sox are going nowhere. Even though the owners have the backing of Big Jim Thompson, our beloved governor, too many people in important places are against it.

Big Jim offered $42 million of state funds to finance the move and even offered to cover one-half of any deficit incurred by the owners during the first year after the move. But that deal wasn't approved by the Legislature (thank God they still have some common sense) and it can't be voted on again until November, when the dynamic duo and Big Jim plan a blitz based on a smaller financial assistance package.

Here's a rundown of estimated costs if the stadium in DuPage were to be built — $105 million for construction, $15 million for surrounding public works and $10 million to $15 million for highway improvements in the immediate area.

Reinsdorf and Einhorn also had a plan to build south of the Loop, but that plan also met with disfavor from Chicago-based politicians. The costs for that project would have been higher — $35 million construction and $55 million for public works.

The pair had planned to use the DuPage stadium for more

Francona's sacrifice fly lifts Cubs to 4-3 victory over San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Terry Francona's one-out sacrifice fly scored Keith Moreland in the top of the 10th inning Wednesday to lift the Chicago Cubs to a 4-3 victory over the San Francisco Giants in a game that featured a triple play by the Cubs.

With one out, Moreland singled to center off Juan Berenguer, 1-2, and Jody Davis walked. Frank Williams replaced Berenguer and walked pinch hitter Ron Cey to load the bases before Fran-cona lofted a fly to left. Moreland scored and Davis was thrown out going from first to second after the run scored.

Lee Smith, 6-6, pitched one and two-third innings of relief for the victory. Ray Fontenot pitched the 10th for his second save.

With Chicago leading 3-2, Chili Davis sent the game into extra innings with a leadoff homer in the ninth inning. The Cubs helped starter Ed

Lynch out of a jam with a triple play to preserve a 0-0 tie in the fifth inning.

Chili Davis led off the inning with a walk and advanced to third on Chris Brown's single. With Brown running on a 3-2 pitch, Mike Aldrete lined to Lynch for the first out. Lynch threw to third baseman Davey Lopes to catch Davis off the bag and Lopes relayed a throw to first baseman Terry Francona, who easily retired Brown.

Franco, Hall help Indians down Sox

CHICAGO (UPI) — Julio Franco went 5-for-5 and Mel Hall hit a two-run homer to pace a 14-hit Cleveland attack Wednesday and help the Indians defeat the Chicago White Sox 6-3.

Franco collected five singles for the first five-hit performance of his career.

Phil Niekro went the distance and allowed six hits and collected three strikeouts and did not allow a walk in raising his record to 6-6. Niekro earned his 306th career victory, putting him one win behind Mickey Welch for 14th on the all-time victory list.

Hall's two-run homer keyed a four-run fifth inning for Cleveland that gave the Indians a 6-3 lead. With one out, Tony Bernazard and Franco singled and Joe Carter hit a two-run double to center, giving Cleveland a 4-3 lead.

percent below the average." Bender said that out of an estimated 8-percent salary increase for FY 1987, an average of roughly 5 percent would be administered to faculty on the basis of merit — money as a reward for above-average performance, Bender explained — but he was given only 3 percent.

In addition, Bender said Jackson granted him only $50 for equity increases — money put aside for those that the University administration believes are behind in salary relative to peer employees, Bender said.

In an earlier interview, Bender said the "below average" salary increase could be related to Bender's opposition to the University's 2-percent plan for increasing faculty salaries.

In addition, Bender said the increase was a "slap in the face" and a punishment for his activism in the Illinois Education Association-NEA opposition to the 2-percent plan.

But Bender recanted more recently, and said he did not want to enumerate the reasons Jackson gave him for the salary increase in a June 19 reply to the grievance.

"The pay raises are being used as a punishment by the dean for what he considers poor performance," Bender said.

Bender defended his performance record, stressing his four years as department chair and his 10 publications, ranging from articles to book editing, in the past year.

Jackson declined to comment on the grievance, saying only that he "would not argue the case in the Daily Egyptian."

"n."

Bender is a member of the University's IEA-NEA Faculty Organizing Committee but is not a dues-paying IEA-NEA member. He said he is now only seeking legal advice from an IEA-NEA grievance officer and may not have the IEA-NEA represent his appeal.

Bender brought the equity increase into his case because he discovered that his salary had fallen behind that of faculty of comparable rank and service.

He said he made the discovery after reviewing a faculty salary study in the Academic Affairs office that he said outlines average faculty salaries.

But Ernie Lewis, associate vice president for academic affairs, said the study is not an average but a "prediction" compiled from four categories of study findings at the national, state, regional and University levels.

"Some people say, they should be getting this amount of money after reading the study," Lewis said. "But it's just a prediction. The study does not take into account each faculty member's true worth to the University."

Bender said his salary does not match the University level prediction, let alone the other three categories.

"And with my service to the department, they're only giving me $50 for equity?" Bender said.

Bender said he would have to get $436 more each month "starting right now" to make up the 15-percent gap between his salary and the average salary for a comparably qualified faculty member.

Including equity, merit and a University-wide, across-the-board salary increase, Bender said he received a $394 per month raise in FY 1986, $150 more than FY 1987.

According to the Grievance Procedure, the five-member JRB "exists to assist the faculty in the grievance process and the administration in resolving problems of grievance and of charges of unethical conduct."

The procedure also states that a grievance must be filed with the JRB within 15 days of a decision made by the academic affairs vice president. Following the decision, a panel of three of the five JRB members hear the grievance. The JRB then reports its findings in writing to the University president.

Reagan says he's hopeful arms agreement is near

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan said in an interview Wednesday he is hopeful the superpowers are coming closer to eliminating differences blocking an agreement to reduce nuclear arms.

Exuding optimism derived from recent Kremlin proposals, Reagan said he would like to see the Geneva arms negotiations produce an agreement before his next summit with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

In lieu of such a dramatic breakthrough, Reagan expressed hope he and Gorbachev could use the summit to develop the broad framework for an agreement, which would be turned over to negotiators in Geneva for refinement.

No date has been set for a second summit, although the two leaders agreed during their Geneva get-together in November on a 1986 meeting in Washington and a 1987 meeting in Moscow.

Reagan said he is hopeful a Washington summit will be held late this year.

Differentiating between the "get-acquainted" aspect of their first meeting and expectations of what a second summit might hold, Reagan said, "At least now we would be sitting down, facing each other with quite an experience between us of concrete offers and counteroffers to work on."

complete disregard for our position."

While Greer credited Mayor Helen Westberg and City Manager Bill Dixon with being particularly receptive to student concerns, he went on to say that no city official can completely disregard students' opinions.

"The University affects the city in a big way," he said. "I don't think you can say that there's any one individual on the council that represents the students or leans more towards the students. I think they all, in one capacity or another, have a relationship with the student population."

Greer said the USO intends to continue working on the two main city issues facing SIU-C students: the proposed citywide bus service, and the continuing controversy over the city's recent decision to enforce single-family residence zoning regulations in areas of the city zoned R-1.

As for the busing issue, Greer said, "We're going to have to sit down with the city and really find out where we stand and if they want to go on with this."

He said he plans to meet soon with city officials to discuss the issue and that if nothing develops out of the meeting, the USO would begin discussing with University officials the possibility of developing a University-run bus system.

Although Greer opposes the city's decision to enforce the R-1 zoning ordinance, he does not think city officials can be persuaded to change their minds on the issue. Rather, he would like to see the city adopt a "selective enforcement" policy under which city officials would make more of an effort to enforce code violations and other landlord transgressions affecting the welfare of student tenants.

If the city does aggressively try to enforce the R-1 rule, it could spell disaster for students, Greer said. "Trying to enforce that policy, they're going to find a lot of people pushed out onto the streets," he said.

So far, Greer said, no cases of attempted enforcement of the R-1 code have been brought to the attention of the USO. He suggested that media publicity and student outcry over the issue may have softened the city's stance toward enforcement of the ordinance.

Student response to the R-1 issue contrasted sharply with the usual lack of student interest in city issues. Greer thinks that lack of interest is a mistake.

City issues "affect us," he said. "If you want to celebrate Halloween this year, the can ban is going to affect you. If your house is falling down around you, you need to be involved in city affairs," Greer said.

Group seeks homes for foreign students

By Lisa Eisen, Staff Writer

The International Friends Club is looking for help.

The group that tries to make international students' stay comfortable in Carbondale needs host families for the students.

Inga Sollberger, coordinator of the host families program, said she has 10 students on a waiting list for families. Approximately 50 families are now taking part in the program, 30 fewer than when enrollment peaked a few years back, she said.

Most of the students who come to SIU-C from other nations are from large, close-knit families, Sollberger said, so as soon as the excitement of moving to Carbondale wears off, homesickness often sets in. She said many Americans don't realize that international students who attend U.S. colleges come from the cream of their homelands' student crop and must be proficient in English to study in the United States.

Because they are bright and adept at the language, the students can bring families insight into the culture and traditions of other nations, she said.

Sollberger said all households, including single-parent families and unmarried adults, are eligible to become hosts.

Learning to study in a foreign environment and language is tough, Sollberger said, but families can help ease international students' transitions into a new environment and introduce them to U.S. culture and traditions.

"When the students sit in a dormitory room, they never come in contact with American people," she said. Though most host families are affiliated with the University, Sollberger said some families from as far away as Salem and that small towns near Springfield and Golconda have taken part.

Those interested in the program should contact International Programs and Services at 453-5774.
