Tuition hike is likely

By Susan Curtis
Staff Writer

It is "quite certain" that SIU administrators will have to recommend a mid-year tuition increase to the Board of Trustees, Chancellor Lawrence K. Pettit said Monday.

Pettit said he has discussed the amount of the increase with the campus presidents. However, he would not disclose any figures, because he said the figures could get lower.

More information will be available after the Board of Trustees meeting Thursday, but Pettit said he thinks the tuition increase will be lower than the $100 per semester increase that was imposed last year.

Administrators are "determined to make it less" than that, but it is ultimately up to the Board of Trustees to decide, Pettit said.

Pettit said earlier that SIU's

Reagan to visit DuQuoin farmer

By Christine Cedusky
Staff Writer

President Reagan Thursday morning will talk to a Du Quoin farmer, who has been in "everything but politics," to learn about agricultural losses from the drought.

Reagan is scheduled to arrive at Williamson County Airport in Marion about 9:30, then travel to the farm of Herman Krone of Du Quoin.

Krone, 63, farms 2,800 acres of corn, soybeans, wheat and milo and owns 150 to 160 cattle. Krone's farm is located west of the Du Quoin State Fairgrounds, and he said he has known about the 'our since last Tuesday.

"We feel like it's an honor," Krone said, "but I know Mr. Reagan can't make it rain."

During his visit with

Reagan, Krone said he will express the feelings of distress caused by the drought among county farmers.

"In a two-county area, there is a lot of stress," Krone said.

Krone, a lifetime farmer, said he does not have much admiration for "overnight farmers who squeal at the first sign of trouble."

He said he looks ahead and will try to stay on top.

Krone said he believes less federal interference and regulation in agriculture is best, but that the government has been prompted to act because of farm bankruptcies. Overall, he agrees with most government policies on the drought, as long as they are not designed to gain unfair profits.

Krone wants drought policies to compensate for losses.

"More like a survival kit, because I don't want to see any pocket-filling," he said.

Krone questions the government's plan to distribute hay and feed grains to livestock producers because he does not know where the government will get surplus feed.

"Somebody calls me everyday wanting hay," he said, adding that he has been 60 percent short on hay this year.

Krone said he receives calls from out-of-state farmers needing extra hay shipments.

Pastures are gone, Krone said, and he's paying $100 a day to feed his livestock.

Terrorists attack Greek liner; at least nine dead, 60 wounded

ATHENS, Greece (UPI) — Three terrorists fired machine guns and grenades on a Greek cruise ship "full of foreign tourists" off the coast of Athens Monday, killing at least nine people, wounding 60 others and leaving scores missing, authorities said.

Merchant Marine Minister Evangelos Yannopoulos said the ship, the City of Poros, with 400 passengers and 71 crew members on board, came under attack around 5 p.m. as it was returning from a daily island cruise in the Aegean Sea at the height of tourist season.

Yannopoulos told a news conference at least nine people were killed in the attack and 60 others were injured — many with grenade wounds. An undisclosed number of others jumped from the ship and were missing.

The ship's captain, George Mavromatakis, told United Press International, "The ship was full of foreign tourists, mostly Germans, Swedes, British and Americans." Their identities were not immediately available.

One Swede who suffered an arm injury and identified himself only as Ulf said he was on the deck when he heard the first shots and several explosions.

"I saw many people jumping overboard in the panic," he said.

There were conflicting reports on details of the attack that took place about 40 minutes after the ship left the Island of Aegina in the Gulf of Athens to return to its mooring place at Trocadero, 5 miles south of the Greek capital.

Yannopoulos said three attackers were on board the cruise ship and fired machine guns and grenade launchers before escaping on a small boat that approached the vessel after the assault.

But Antenna No. 10, a private Greek radio station, said the assailants came on speedboats, boarded the ship and then began firing.

New services offered at Wellness Center

By Richard Goldstein
Staff Writer

The new acting director of the Wellness Center said she will introduce new services and begin implementation of a drug prevention program that is already in place.

Patricia M. Fabiano said the drug prevention program, expansion of the parenting and pregnancy education program, a proposal for a faculty and staff health promotional program and a comprehensive evaluation of the Wellness Center are on her list of priorities.

The Wellness Center received a $110,000 federal grant to develop a drug prevention program, Fabiano said.

"This year you'll really see the beginning of the effect of the large drug prevention grant."

Fabiano said 300 "S.O.S." or students dedicated to "Self Over Substance," will be trained to provide resources on drug and alcohol issues and set an example by the way they live their lives for other students to follow.

Fabiano said the program will be directed toward faculty, staff and students. She said she wants to get the faculty involved in drug prevention by making it aware and responsive to the problem.

The Wellness Center is accumulating an audio and video library on drug and alcohol issues that will be available to increase drug awareness.

The parenting and pregnancy education program presents workshops called Family Ties for couples who are having or are planning to have a child. Fabiano said the workshops teach basic prenatal and postnatal care.

The program also produces a pregnancy manual which will be translated into foreign languages, Fabiano said.

"It's a real statement that we care" about the health needs of foreign students, Fabiano said.

Fabiano said students will translate the manual into Malay, Arabic, Chinese, Spanish and French.

But this is only the beginning, Fabiano said.

"The next phase is to recruit foreign students to become Health Advocates so they can do the workshops in the foreign languages," she said.

Haitian lawyer found dead in apparent political killing

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (UPI) — Leading human rights lawyer Lafontant Joseph was found mutilated and beaten to death Monday in the first apparent political killing since the military seized power last month, a radio station and a family source said. Port-au-Prince police had no immediate comment on the killing. An opposition politician condemned the new military government for the slaying.

Leak smelled by worker before rig explosion

ABERDEEN, Scotland (UPI) — An oilman who used to work on the stricken Piper Alpha North Sea platform said Monday he had reported a gas leak on the rig two days before it blew up, killing 166 people. The allegation was made to the Evening Standard newspaper by electrician Bob Ballantyne to back up gas leak reports by the girlfriends of two men who died in the world's worst oil rig disaster.

Nicaragua expels eight Embassy officials

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — The government Monday declared U.S. Ambassador Richard Melton "persona non grata," and gave him and seven other American diplomats 72 hours to leave the country. Foreign Minister Miguel d'Escoto called Melton to his office to deliver him a letter addressed to Secretary of State George Shultz that contained the government's decision. "Keeping in mind the interventionist policy of Mr. Melton in the internal affairs of Nicaragua, we are declaring him 'non grata' and giving him 72 hours to abandon the country together with seven other officials of the U.S. Embassy," d'Escoto said.

Gorbachev suggests arms reduction summit

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev suggested Monday convening a summit of Western and Eastern European countries aimed at reducing conventional arms and offered conditions under which the Soviet air force would withdraw from Eastern European bases. Gorbachev, in a speech to the Polish parliament, said the Soviet Union is willing to pull out its air force from advanced bases in Eastern Europe if NATO agreed not to locate 72 F-16 fighter-bombers in Italy.

Reagan has 'him' in mind to replace Meese

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, his mind apparently made up about a successor for Attorney General Edwin Meese and an announcement likely this week, told reporters Monday, "You've probably heard of him." White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater advised reporters not to hold their breath for an announcement Monday, but indications were the decision could be revealed Tuesday.

Company warned to toughen brake standards

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Transportation Safety Board warned Monday that McDonnell Douglas Corp.'s standards for brake wear on its DC-10 jetliners are deficient and could lead to a disaster during an aborted take-off. In a letter advising the FAA to require the company to toughen its standards immediately, the board said it was concerned that many DC-10s might be operating with worn brakes that probably would fail during an aborted takeoff.

Two inmates captured after helicopter escape

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI) — A helicopter swooped into the New Mexico state prison Monday, picked up three inmates and escaped through a hail of gunfire. Two inmates were captured after a 90-mile aerial chase and the third remained at large, officials said. The Aerospatiale Gazelle helicopter flew 90 miles south to Los Lunas, where two inmates jumped from the aircraft during a gunfight with a pursuing U.S. Customs helicopter.

O-ring seal damage delays booster test firing

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — A mistake by engineers damaged an O-ring seal in a redesigned shuttle test booster, delaying a crucial test firing, but officials said Monday the impact on the first post-Challenger launch was not yet known. A NASA official who asked not to be identified said the booster problem was the result of a mistake by engineers with rocket-maker Morton Thiokol Inc.

Arts festival will bring culture to Carbondale

Robin Houdek, left, Cartersville, gets assistance in making a mask from Laura Basanta, Murphysboro, at Stone House Thursday. The Masks will be used for a masked ball at the Carbondale Armory on Oct. 1.

Masks give art festival a face lift

By Carrie Ferguson
Entertainment Editor

Strips of brown paper bags and mulberry paper covered the faces of 13 women Saturday morning as they attempted to create the perfect mask.

The Designer and Exhibition Mask Workshop, held at Stone House, is part of Arts in Celebration '88. Marilyn Boyesen of Cobden coordinated Saturday's workshop and will coordinate a similar workshop on July 16.

"I thought it would be great to teach people how to make elaborate masks and then exhibit them," she said.

The women sat patiently in front of make-up mirrors — with only their eyes and mouth exposed — and glued small strips of mulberry paper to the paper bag base.

Mary Blossom, Carbondale, said she has always been interested in masks.

"I have collected masks from Central America and Africa. I like the different qualities you take on when you put on a mask," she said.

Laura Basanta, member of the Associated Artists Gallery, said she is making her full-headress mask look like a flamingo.

"I'll probably use satin in feather shapes," she said.

Anne Sharpe, Carbondale, said she will give her mask an Local artists are hoping to increase Southern Illinois' interest in the arts by bringing an arts festival to Carbondale, organizers said.

Co-coordinator Kathleen Sanjabi said organizers are hoping Arts in Celebration '88 will give the arts "a place to be seen."

"This is the first time this has been attempted in Carbondale," Sanjabi, who is a member of the Associated Artists Gallery, said. "Two years ago we told the Illinois Arts Council what artists in the area needed."

"At the end of a community meeting in March 1987 we summarized ideas and sent people the information," she said. "This has been a two-year project."

The festival, which will take place Oct. 1 and 2 at Turley Park, will feature dancers, musicians, artists and craft makers from Southern Illinois. Sanjabi said the music will range from folk to classical and there will be many activities for children.

On-site activities for children will range from fish printing to banner making to mask making. Sanjabi said the Cobden Apple Singers, along with the Cairo grade school band, will perform during the festival. There also will be a drama workshop, she said.

For the adults, there will be jazz, clog dancing and classical music along with wandering performers. International students from the University also will participate and perform during the celebration.

Sanjabi said there will be art exhibits, workshops and projects to begin the festival celebration. Three Southern Illinois artists will exhibit their work at the Carbondale Public Library from Sept. 25 to Oct. 7.

The Highway 13 clothesline, Sanjabi said, will be made of hand-colored multi-dyed satin. Sandy Johnson will work on the fabric during the day, hang it up and then take it down at night.

"The community will see a work of art develop right before its eyes," Sanjabi said.

A masked ball will be held at the Carbondale National Armory, 900 W. Sycamore, on Oct. 1. The ball is a fund-raiser designed to help fund the celebration. Tickets are $25 per person.

A workshop, coordinated by Marilyn Boyesen of Cobden, was held Saturday at the Stone House to help participants design original and elaborate masks.

The masks also can be entered in an exhibition to be held at the Associated Artists Gallery Sept. 27 to Oct. 2. Another workshop will be held July 16. The cost is $10. Entry forms for the Gallery exhibit must be received at the gallery by Aug. 15.

The Fine Arts Competitive Exhibit, she said, will be a competitive exhibition housed at the Carbondale Public Library and the Carbondale Unitarian Fellowship Hall Sept. 25 to Oct. 7.

The exhibit is a regional competition open to anyone who lives south of Interstate 70, Sanjabi said. Works such as paintings, drawings, prints, photography, mixed media

Guyon's AD decision 'unbelievable'

I was shocked, appalled and disgusted after hearing President John Guyon had named Jim Hart as SIU-C's new athletics director. It was, to say the least, an unbelievable decision.

Charlotte West came to SIU-C some thirty years ago because it was an university considered to be a leader and pioneer in providing equal opportunities for women, both academically and athletically. Now, after three decades of "progress" for women rights, SIU-C's Directorgate ordeal provides an ominous example of how women are still being discriminated against.

The Thursday June 20 issue of the Daily Egyptian, published prior to Guyon's decision, was an accurate summary of the athletics director search. The story read, "Jim Hart is considered a favorite for the position because of his background as a St. Louis Cardinals quarterback...Charlotte West, interim athletics director, has received a lot of attention because she is a woman." Nothing could have been more true at the time. The University was conducting a search for a major administrative position, yet the two most popular candidates were judged on totally irrelevant factors. Hart was favored because he played football, West drew attention because of her sex.

It's a shame that President Guyon didn't put more credence in the pertinent, relevant factors, like administrative experience, educational background, and past track record. It's a shame he didn't listen to Hart, who admitted that he will not be able to handle the administrative duties of his new position. The whole thing is a shame.

Making a mistake is always tough, but at least it offers and opportunity to learn. Making the same mistakes twice without learning anything, however, is an unforgivable sin. Twice SIU-C has had the chance to hire West, twice the University has balked. On both occasions, the University opted for salesmen. Despite the fact that West sits on the powerful NCAA Council, and the fact she enjoys a national reputation in collegiate athletics, she did not get the job she was aptly qualified for. Despite the fact she is a widely published academician, and the fact that she's coached, taught and administrated for over 30 years at SIU-C with unwaivering loyalty, Charlotte West did not get the position she so richly deserved.

Speaking for myself, I can honestly say that it will be difficult to truly enjoy another SIU-C event. The last two searches for an athletics director could have been avoided simply by naming West as athletic director. In short, the actions of SIU-C's administrators and good ol' boys has left a bad taste in my mouth that will be hard to wash away. I only hope that, for the good of intercollegiate athletics and the University, that Dr. West puts all of this mess behind her and continues to work as hard as she always has. This may sound hard to believe right now, Dr. West, but I know that one day you'll be rewarded for your dedication and perseverance.

"I've never made a mask before, so I thought this would be fun," she said. "I hope (the celebration festivities) will bring some community spirit to the area."

Another first-time mask-maker Frances Youngblood, Carbondale, said: "I thought it would be fun to learn something new, but I thought we were just going to take paper bags and cut the eyes out."

A masked ball to raise money for Arts in Celebration will be held Oct. 1 at the Carbondale National Guard Armory, 900 W. Sycamore. Tickets are $25 per person and the attire will be semi-formal, Boysen said.

Kathleen Sanjabi, a coordinator of Arts in Celebration '88, said masks will be for sale at local businesses for people who wish to attend the ball, but can't make their own masks. These businesses include Kaleidoscope, 209 S. Illinois, and Ruthie's, 702 S. Illinois.

A mask invitational gallery exhibition will be Sept. 27 to Oct. 2 at the Associated Artists Gallery, 213 S. Illinois Ave. Deadline for entries is August 15.

Organizers said the mask invitational has been designed to introduce the public to the collector mask.

Artists may submit a total of four masks. The categories are artistic expression and elegant evening attire. All masks, Boysen said, must be of quality craftsmanship and artists should pay close attention to detail.

Anyone can register for the July 16 workshop, Boysen said. The registration fee is $10.

Inquiry into death of baby set

By John Walblay
Staff Writer

The inquest into the cause of death of an abandoned baby probably will be held Thursday, said Don Ragsdale, Jackson County coroner.

After the coroner's jury reaches a decision, the case will be turned over to the Jackson County State's Attorneys office, which will decide if charges will be filed, Ragsdale added.

On May 15, the baby was found in a purse inside a dumpster behind 305½ E. Freeman St.

In late June, a 25-year-old University student from Joliet admitted to being the mother of the baby after being questioned by Carbondale police detectives. The woman's name has not been released.

Two charged in sexual assault

By John Walblay
Staff Writer

Bond was set Monday for two Carbondale men who were arrested and charged with criminal sexual assault following an incident at 2 a.m. Sunday on Carbondale's northeast side.

Reginal Glispie, 26, of 1417 N. Barnes St., was charged with one count of criminal sexual assault, and Felipe H. Martin, 24, of 606 E. Burke St., was charged with two counts of criminal sexual assault, according to the Jackson County State's Attorneys office. Bond was set at $5,000 for each man.

The victim, identified as a 20-year-old black female, said the two men forced her to have sex with them, said Carbondale police. The assault took place at Glispie's home, police said.

Board of Trustees has a reputation for keeping the tuition as low as possible.

The increase will not be recommended to the board until September, Pettit said, and the board will not act on it until October.

The increase would go into effect in January, as the last one did, he said.

Vice Chancellor James Brown said money from a tuition increase probably would be put into a general fund and be used to meet the ongoing operational costs of the University.

Other state university administrators also are recommending tuition increases, Pettit said.

The University of Illinois may increase tuition by as much as $150 per semester beginning in September, Pettit said. The University of Illinois' board will vote Thursday on a recommendation to raise tuition $300 to $400 per year.

Other systems probably will go with a mid-year tuition increase, he said.

A tuition increase would offset the loss of revenue that would have been generated by new state taxes.

Weatherman says rain too late

By Christine Cedusky
Staff Writer

Parts of Southern Illinois got as much as two inches of rain over the last two days, but it is too late for some crops, a weather observer says.

Meteorologist Doyno Horsley said enough rain fell in selected areas to be beneficial, yet other areas received none.

The least amount of rain reported was one-half inch. Marion got two inches, Horsley said.

Horsley said one farmer thought his corn crop had grown overnight because of the rain.

Some areas got enough rain to last three weeks, yet it may be too late for areas where crops already are dead, Horsley said.

Horsley predicts continued showers and thunderstorms for today and a return to hot and dry temperatures through Friday. He said the next chance of precipitation is Saturday.

These rains are no indication of a wet summer, Horsley said. Continued hot, dry conditions are expected.

Jet victims compensated for through third party

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, citing "compassion for the innocent," authorized compensation Monday for families of the victims aboard downed Iran Air Flight 655 but ruled out any reparations to the government of Iran.

With Iran pushing for U.N. condemnation of the United States, Reagan bucked American public opinion in ordering payments for the 290 people killed when their jetliner was shot down July 3 by a U.S. warship in the Persian Gulf. "I, from the first, have said that we are a compassionate people," he said during an Oval Office photo session, "and I think that we all have compassion for the families of those unfortunate people that were on that plane."

Later, a senior State Department official, who asked not to be identified, told a news conference the United States would not pay Iran for the French-made Airbus A-300 destroyed in the incident because the administration position is, "Iran is to blame."

Overruling warnings that his actions might set a bad precedent or be viewed as a new bid to ransom American hostages in Lebanon, Reagan approved a plan to work through third parties, such as the Red Cross, to compensate the families.

The decision was announced without admission of guilt in the Navy's destruction of the plane or hint of desire to use the affair to re-establish the direct dialogue between Washington and Tehran severed in 1980.

No specific amounts were tendered. White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said those details had not been settled and the United States would not be bound by other cases in calculating the payments.

But the State Department official said the administration "could look to the limits set under the Warsaw Convention," which sets compensation guidelines in civilian disasters. However, those limits are not necessarily applicable to the Iran Air incident, since it involved the U.S. military.

The convention sets a payment limit of about $20,000 a person; if the guidelines were used for the 290 people aboard the Iran Air plane, the United States would pay a total of $5.8 million in compensation.

The United States has sought a reported $1 million for each of the 37 U.S. servicemen killed in the May 1987 missile attack on the USS Stark by an Iraqi warplane in the gulf.

U.S., Soviet officials agree to take steps to avoid military incidents between the two WASHINGTON (UPI) — The top military officers of the United States and the Soviet Union agreed Monday to take steps to avoid dangerous military incidents between the superpowers.

Marshal Sergei Akhromeyev, the visiting chief of staff of the Soviet armed forces, and Adm. William Crowe, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, released a statement following a Pentagon news conference saying they intend to pursue policies to avoid such incidents.

The two officers said they intend to establish a joint military group to recommend ways to avoid military incidents that could escalate to crisis proportions and would institute the training needed to meet this goal.

In June, the Soviets apologized for the March 24, 1985, killing of U.S. Army Lt. Col. Arthur Nicholson, who was shot by a Soviet soldier in East Germany while he was a member of a two-man patrol of a U.S. military liaison team.

In December, the Pentagon also accused two Soviet warships of deliberately bumping Navy ships in international waters in the Black Sea near the Soviet coast. The Soviets blamed the Navy.

The Pentagon news conference was delayed because of a last-minute White House meeting between Akhromeyev and President Reagan. Akhromeyev's visit was a result of improving relations between the superpowers and the White House session underlined the new era of contacts.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said the Soviet military official called on Reagan in the Oval Office at 9:30 a.m. while the president was meeting with his national security adviser, Army Lt.

Gen. Colin Powell.

Akhromeyev said, "As far as the intelligence reports concerning the withdrawal of our troops from Hungary, I can't tell you anything about it. Those sources are not reporting to me and they have not been supplying the information to me."

He accused Pakistan of allowing Afghan rebels to continue training forces in Pakistani camps and moving them across the border into Afghanistan.

"We have serious concerns to address to Pakistan because the Pakistani (military) command is violating the agreement."

NOTICE FROM STUDENT WORK AND FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE.

ALL UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS MUST COMPLY WITH THE FOLLOWING SATISFACTORY PROGRESS POLICY IN ORDER TO RECEIVE FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE.

SATISFACTORY PROGRESS POLICY FOR UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS AT SOUTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY AT CARBONDALE

The Federal Government, the States, and Southern Illinois University at Carbondale have invested large sums of money in order to provide financially needy students the opportunity to attain a post-secondary education. Financial aid recipients are responsible for using the funds provided in an acceptable manner. Therefore, a student who wishes to benefit from the receipt of financial aid funds must maintain "satisfactory progress" as defined in this policy.

AUTHORITY

The Higher Education Act of 1965 as amended and the final regulations set forth by the Department of Education in 34 CFR 668 require that institutions of higher education establish reasonable standards of "satisfactory progress." A student who does not meet these standards is not eligible to receive federally funded financial aid. Southern Illinois University at Carbondale shall make these standards applicable to all state and institutional aid programs for the purpose of maintaining a consistent and reasonable financial aid policy.

SATISFACTORY PROGRESS STANDARDS

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale requires that a student be making "satisfactory progress" toward a degree if that student wishes to receive financial aid funds. A student is making "satisfactory progress" toward a degree if successfully meeting two basic academic standards. First, a student must complete a reasonable number of credit hours toward a degree each academic year. Second, a student must maintain a scholastic standing, derived from grades, that allows for continued enrollment at the University under current academic guidelines. The following parameters will be used to define these two basic academic standards:

MODEL FOR FULL-TIME ATTENDANCE

	SIUC Academic Terms Completed	SIUC Cumulative Hours Passed
1) Maximum time to graduate: A full-time, eligible student is expected to complete a degree in six academic years (12 semesters). A half-time, eligible student is expected to complete a degree in twelve academic years (24 semesters). In order to be sure that a student is progressing toward that goal, each student's progress will be measured annually after Spring Semester to determine the progress made for the last academic year of attendance. Each term of at least half-time attendance shall be included in the annual review whether or not the student received financial aid for the term. The following chart will serve as a model to determine if each student is meeting this requirement of "satisfactory progress."	1	8
	4	32
	5	42
	6	52
	7	62
	8	72
	9	84
	10	96
	11	108
	12	120

2) Grades: A student must remain in compliance with the University's policy concerning scholastic standing, grades, and grade point average as defined under the topic "Grading, Scholastic Regulations, and Credit" in the current Undergraduate Catalog Bulletin. A student who is on Scholastic Suspension is not maintaining "satisfactory progress." A student who is scholastically suspended may be readmitted under Scholastic Probation status by the appropriate academic dean and remain eligible for financial aid. Each student's scholastic standing will be monitored after each semester or term of attendance.

A student who does not meet either or both of the standards set forth above and who cannot show "mitigating circumstances" is not maintaining "satisfactory progress" toward a degree and is no longer eligible to receive financial aid funds. (See Appeals.)

Nothing in this policy shall be construed as a reduction of external requirements by other federal, state, public, or private agencies when they award or control financial aid. Examples of such agencies are: Veterans Administration, Vocational Rehabilitation, and the NCAA.

DEFINITIONS

Credit hours completed shall be defined as the total number of academic credit hours for which a student receives any grade other than a failing grade. Incompletes, withdrawals, audits, and remedial courses which do not count toward a degree shall not be considered as credit hours completed. Credit hours received for repeated courses shall be counted only once.

Eligible students shall be defined as those students who are admitted to the University in a degree-seeking classification. All other students are not eligible for financial aid.

Full-time attendance for undergraduates shall be defined as enrollment in twelve (12) hours or more per semester.

Half-time attendance for undergraduates shall be defined as enrollment in more than five (5) hours and less than twelve (12) hours per semester.

Undergraduate shall be defined as a student who is a freshman, sophomore, junior, senior or a senior with a bachelors degree seeking a second bachelors.

NOTIFICATION OF TERMINATION

It shall be the responsibility of the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance to publish this policy and to notify by letter any student who is no longer eligible to receive financial aid funds. Said notice shall be addressed to the student's most current home address on file with the University. IT SHALL BE THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE STUDENT TO INFORM THE UNIVERSITY OF A CORRECT HOME ADDRESS AT ALL TIMES. Student's academic deans shall receive copies of all notice letters.

REINSTATEMENT

Students will have their eligibility to receive financial aid reinstated when they have reached the level of satisfactory progress required of them by this policy. They may achieve this status by the completion of incomplete grades, correction of incorrect grades, and by earning more than the required number of completed hours for a term or terms without the benefit of financial aid.

APPEALS

Any student who cannot meet the grades requirement or the cumulative credit hours completion requirement, shall have an opportunity to appeal in writing to explain "mitigating circumstances." The appeal should be sent to the Financial Aid Advisory Committee within 15 days of the notice of termination. The Financial Aid Advisory Committee will review the "mitigating circumstances" documented in the appeal and provide a written decision within 20 days after receipt of the appeal.

Dawson is not on his pace of a year ago, but he's belted 15 homers and driven in 47 runs. The addition of Grace has made the Cubs' infield one of the most solid in the league.

All-star second baseman Ryne Sandberg is not having a typical Ryne Sandberg year, but he's hit 10 home runs and stolen 15 bases despite a .264 average.

But pitcher Greg Maddux is the biggest reason the Cubs are where they are now, seven games out of first place. The 22-year-old right-hander leads the league with a 15-3 record and has an earned run average of 2.14. The rest of the staff is not exactly following Maddux's lead, but they're doing a respectable job. Calvin Shiraldi has just recently shown signs that he feels comfortable in the role of a starter, and Jamie Moyer, who has a 5-6 record despite a 3.05 ERA, can't get any run production from his teammates.

The catcher's spot, which has been faithfully occupied for the past six seasons by workhorse Jody Davis, may have a new star soon. Drew

This year the Cubs have that element every team yearns for, no matter how much talent it possesses. The Cubs play well together.

Berryhill, who is currently on the disabled list, should push out the aging Davis by spring training, if not sooner.

The Cub's fate started to change soon after the front office decided to deal the overrated, overpaid Leon Durham to Cincinnati. The trade freed up future star Mark Grace, and it's paid off. A similar trade involving Jody Davis is what the Cubs now need. Davis could still bring a quality player, and the Cubs could use another pitcher for the second half of the season.

Chicago has had good players in the past, but the killer instinct seems alien to them. They are so bad so often that they've become a novelty in the baseball world, and are not to be taken seriously. They are the team that is notorious for jumping out in front in April then settling into fifth or sixth place by mid-June, where they usually remain until season's end.

This year the Cubs have that element every team yearns for, no matter how much talent it possesses. The Cubs play well together. Just ask the Cincinnati Reds, one of, if not the, most stocked teams in baseball. For the past three years the Reds have had all the players necessary to win, but it never comes together for them.

The Cubs are young and they're playing inspired baseball. This may not be the year for them to take it all, and next year may be too soon, as well. But for the next five years or so, there won't be many teams more exciting to watch.

While Cub fans should revel in the successes of the near future, the next five years could be hard to swallow for Cardinal fans.

individual events, they will qualify to go to the Olympic games in Seoul, Ingram said.

Lori Rea, NCAA's fourth best 100-meter Butterfly swimmer, and 10th rated NCAA 200 freestyle swimmer Scott Roberts, have the best chances of qualifying.

Tim Kelly has until July 25 to make his time for the trials at the last regional qualifier.

Saluki foreign exchange students Harri Garmendia and Alex Yokochi have both become Olympic team members in their respective countries. Garmendia will represent Spain in the 200 butterfly and Yokochi, who finished his eligibility to swim for SIU-C last year, will compete in the 200 breaststroke for Portugal.

Garmendia, a veteran of the 1984 Spanish Olympic team, is a Spanish record holder and All-American in the 200 butterfly.

Yokochi, also a 1984 Olympian, was All-American in the 200 breaststroke and took second place in the event in the 1985 European Championships and fifth in the 1986 world Championships.

instructional league as a third baseman." Radison said third base and catcher are positions that require the most defensive skill and they would be valuable for Hall to know.

Kisten has not shared the success of Hall. In three games he's pitched eight innings, given up 10 hits and yielded six runs, four of them earned. He has nine strikeouts and two walks. Despite the shaky start, Radison still praises him.

"Someone made a big mistake in not drafting Dale," Radison said. "I've been using him in short relief, but I'd like to start him. He's too valuable to us right now, though."

"I think he's got a chance to move on to a higher league, he's pitched outstanding. He could make a good short reliever because his ball really drops and he's got a good curve."

The team started out with a 14-3 record, but has lost seven of its last eight games.

"We've lost a lot of players who have moved up," Radison said. "We're struggling right now."

Hart's 1st fund goal: $50,000

By Beth Clewin
Staff Writer

Jim Hart, recently named athletics director, has begun work on his first fund-raising promotion to bring $50,000 to Saluki athletics.

Hart's appointment still has to go before the Board of Trustees Thursday for final approval, but he told Sports Information this "First Fifty" promotion will be a starting point for Saluki fund-raising efforts regardless of the director.

"I'm somewhat confident everything will be in place soon, but I didn't see any sense in sitting around for two weeks when we could be doing something positive," Hart said.

"And, what the heck, if the board doesn't approve of my appointment, I will have at least attempted to get the Salukis' fund-raising drive under way," he said.

"Raising $50,000 isn't like creating a new wheel, but if we can have a little fun in doing it ... and get the job done in a relatively short period of time, then it will be worth doing."

"We're talking about green cash, not gifts in kind, and we plan on getting the job done in just 50 days. It'll be ticked off Wednesday and wind up Aug. 31 ... that's precisely 50 days," he said.

Athletics department staff members said they will give $1,000 to show their support for Hart and his new plan.

"Every contributor, from a $1 donor to a person giving us $1,000, will become a registered member of 'The First Fifty Club' and will receive appropriate — and immediate — acknowledgement from the director — that's me," Hart said.

"We're also looking for involvement from our fans throughout the area and country. If we wind up having 50,000 people giving us $1 each, it'd be a great sign of interest in our program and that's another thing we're looking for in addition to the financial support."

Fifty thousand dollars would be 25 percent of the goal for SIU-C's athletics operations during the 1988-89 school year, according to a press release.

The "First Fifty" campaign will be supported by buttons and bumper stickers that will be sent to each contributor.

Cubbies changing image

By Jeff Grieser
Staff Writer

The Chicago Cubs, the team that has been major-league baseball's trademark of utility for countless years, are changing their image.

Chicago, which has not won a World Series since 1908, and has not been in one since 1945, is desperately looking to return to post-season play. Cub fans will forever remember the Cubbies' ultimate choke to San Diego in the 1984 League Championship Series, when they watched the Padres come back to win three straight after losing the first two.

An opportunity like the one in 1984 comes around for the Cubs about as often as Haley's Comet, but this year's squad is attempting to break tradition. The 1988 team has elaborated on the long ball, which for years has been its only means of salvation. This year's Cubs have added base-stealing, aggressive defense and a strong young pitching staff to the ever-present supply of heavy hitters.

A recent surge has lifted the Cubs ahead of The St. Louis Cardinals and they are now flipping with the Pirates for second place behind the powerhouse Mets.

Manager Don Zimmer has his Cubs playing exciting baseball, something uncharacteristic of past teams. Cubs' television broadcaster Harry Caray has a renewed enthusiasm, and the fans, always loyal but too often bored, seem to sense something is different this season.

Shawon Dunston is finally living up to the label attached to him three years ago. Dunston is hitting .287 with 13 stolen bases, eight home runs and 42 RBIs.

Four other Cub starters are hitting over .300. Left fielder Rafael Palmeiro is hitting .311, rookie first baseman Mark Grace is at .309, and Andre Dawson and Vance Law are hitting .305.

Wheelchair tennis lacks competition

By Nora Bentley
Staff Writer

Tennis requires a great deal of energy and activity. Players run after the ball and leap to return the one over their heads.

It also is a sport in which wheelchair athletes can compete against able-bodied and disabled players, Kathie Kurtz, graduate assistant of disabled student recreation, said.

With one major exception, standard tennis rules apply to wheelchair tennis — the wheelchair player is allowed two bounces. Also, wheelchair players play mostly from the baseline to minimize rushes to the net. Players use manual wheelchairs except for quadruplegic players who use electric chairs.

"In tennis you have to have good control over your chair because balance is needed while swinging the racket," Kurtz said.

Dexter Rheaume, junior in engineering, has been competing since last summer. He is the University's only player. He travels to tournaments with limited funding from the Recreation Center and from his own pocket, Kurtz said.

"The Rec Center furnishes equipment, but he has to petition every tournament to get financial support. He doesn't have sponsorship he can count on," Kurtz said. He would welcome outside sponsors, Kurtz said.

"My goal is to get the tennis program going here," Rheaume said. He practices in St. Louis with the St. Louis Wheelchair Association and wants people in this area to get involved.

"Since my first tournament I've been trying to get people to play with me. I need competition," Rheaume said.

Rheaume said he plays tennis because it's good exercise and he likes to travel and meet people on the circuit. Rheaume competes in the novice division and he said he has made it to the semifinals "numerous" times.

Rheaume will attend a tournament August 12 through 14 at the University of Illinois in Champaign.

Cardinals rookie coach calls ex-Salukis great

By Jeff Grieser
Staff Writer

Former SIU-C baseball players Joe Hall and Dale Kisten have earned the respect of their new manager.

Hall and Kisten, teammates on the St. Louis Cardinals Rookie League team in Hamilton, Ontario, have helped the team greatly, manager Dan Radison said.

"They're two of the best players I have here," Radison said. "These people are very well prepared. Ichy (Jones, manager of the baseball Salukis) does a great job preparing his players for the pros."

"It's amazing to me how many other players from schools with more money and more notoriety come in here and don't have any idea what to do. They (Hall and Kisten) come in and do the job."

Radison has had first-hand experience with Jones' coaching tactics. He played first base for Jones' Salukis in the early 1970s.

Dale Kisten

Joe Hall

Hall continues to be a force at the plate. Through 19 games he has a .338 batting average. He's scored 16 runs, and has 25 hits, including three doubles and a triple.

"Joe has just been outstanding," Radison said. "I like his versatility. A guy like him can be very valuable to a major league team with the 24 man roster."

Radison said Hall has played first base, outfield, and has been a catcher in some games.

"He's played the best in the outfield so far, but I don't know what his best position is yet. We're going to take him to the Four men and two women will represent the Saluki swimming team at the Olympic team trials in Austin next month, and two foreign exchange students have already made the Olympic teams of their native countries.

Men and women's swimming team head coach Doug Ingram said the six swimmers qualified for the trials by meeting the Olympic standard qualifying times.
