City Council will seek funding for convention center

By Robert Baxter and Christine Cedusky

The Carbondale City Council will allow the Downtown Revitalization Committee to explore state funding for a convention center.

The committee has proposed creating a Metropolitan Exposition and Civic Center Authority that can apply for a state grant to build a civic on land the city owns on South Illinois Avenue.

The civic center authority must also be approved by the Legislature, Don Monty, Carbondale director of community development, said. No funds are currently available for civic centers, but there could be money available in the future, he said.

The city has been trying to find a use for the land since it was purchased and cleared in the mid-1970s to make way a downtown convention center.

The plan for the center fell through, even though the city obtained a $2.071 million federal grant for the center because private investors could not raise their share of the findle the funds.

the funds.

The revitalization committee was the idea of a University professor to create a comprehensive plan for the downtown area. The Council has held public hearings to solicit ideas on uses for the area and sponsored a retreat where 70 business and civic leaders discussed proposals for using the land.

The Council also approved a liquor license for a new bar on South Illinois Avenue.

Rompers, a bar being ouilt by SIU-C students Todd Zarn and Pat Weadick, is being built at 611 S. Illinois. Zarn and Weadick said they expect the bar to be open in August.

Reagan's war on drugs sets sights on students

THE REAGAN ADMINISTRATION is trying to expand its arsenal of drug war legislation. A proposed weapon in the zero-tolerance policy of seizing property for even minute amounts of drugs, threatens drug users with the loss of student loans and drivers licenses.

loss of student loans and drivers licenses.

One approach would punish colleges and universities by withholding federal funds if they don't join the national war on drugs. State and local governments and other taxpayer-funded institutions also would have to join the flight or risk having the federal-money faucets turned off.

Under the proposal, students obtaining federal money would sign a document stating that being convicted of drug use could mean the loss of loans or grants. The logic being, students who use drugs probably use federal loan money to have drugs and the loss of loans or grants.

HOWEVER, THE PUNISHMENT shouldn't be permanent. After the convicted drug-using students have proved that they have mended their ways, they should be allowed that they have mented uter ways, they should be allowed to obtain federal funds again.

College students are in school because society expects that we get degrees to make a significant contribution to the betterment of society. By taking away the financial aid used to attain a degree, college students would be forced out onto the streets, burdening, rather than helping, society

Another approach of the zero tolerance expansion would revoke your drivers license if you are convicted of drug use. This also seems logical, but only if drug use directly affects the way you drive.

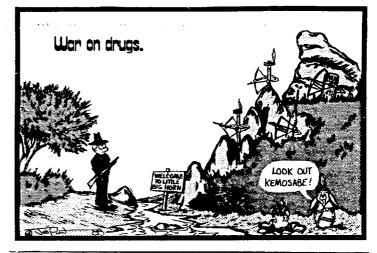

ALCOHOL AND OTHER drugs are known to distort perception and hinder motor skills. Anyone getting high at the steering wheel is definantly a menace to the road and should be punished.

But if you don't drink and drive you can't be punished for driving under the influence of alcohol. If you don't use drugs and drive, you shouldn't have your license revoked for drug use

The automobile has become a necessary component, not to just get down the road, but further ourselves in-tellectually and financially. Without a car, people are likely to turn to the kind of behavior that leads to drug use.

A Justice Department official likened the proposed measures to a "2-by-4 between the eyes" to cure the American public of its "insatiable appetite for drugs."

The American public should ram a 2-by-4 between the eyes of Attorney General Edwin Meese III and his National Drug Policy Board before laws that lack foresight and thought are enacted.

Productivity lowered by smoking

With only a few days left before the University's Clean Air Policy goes into effect I would like to comment on behalf of the smokers on campus.

I feel the policy is very biased toward non-smokers as are the research results being stated. There also is research that shows it would take years of working in an office with one or two smokers for a non-smoker to inhale the equivalent of one cigarette.

Why be so drastic and ban all asking smokers to use Smoke Grabber ashtrays?

Not much time was spent on the AIDS issue. More than half of SIU-C students are probably under the age of 21. Yet the University condones pre-marital sex by purchasing condom vending machines, and AIDS kills too.

The beer parties and underage drinking on Greek Row go unnoticed all the time, and drunk driving kills.

We hear about smoking's side effects all of the time. Smokers know the consequences and choose to smoke. It's our right.

I have worked here for four years and as long as I was able to smoke and have coffee at my desk I have not taken breaks. In order to be cour-teous to non-smokers, I will take breaks and less work will

The quantity of work I do in a month will be greatly reduced. Over the last four years I have given 520 hours more to my job by being able to smoke at my desk. This adds up to $3,000.

Why not be fair to everyone?—Lynn Naumann, purchasing.

West running against discrimination

I fail to understand the controversy surrounding the position of Athletics Director. Anyone with intelligence is aware that Charlotte West is aware that Charlotte west is the most qualified candidate for the position. Her ex-perience in athletic ad-ministration and her loyalty to SIU-C put her light years ahead of the rest of the com-retition. petition.

she will However, she will not receive the job since she is a woman competing in the male-dominated world of SIU-C athletics. You only need to check the past record of decisions regarding the athletics department to realize that sex discrimination is the rule in SIU-C athletics.

For example, the womens' gymnastics team was eliminated. Also, the womens' basketball team operates on less money than the mens' team. The budgets should be the same. In fact, based on the win-loss records of recent years, the womens' basketball team should have a larger budget.

The only instance of reverse discrimination is the absence of a mens' volleyball team. Somehow, this does not seem to balance out.—Jack Mummert, graduate student, mathematics.

Library faces 2 percent axe

By Richard Goldstein

The higher cost of books, periodicals and bindings will hurt the library more than possible budget cuts, a Morris Library administrator said.

The library's budget will be reduced by 2 percent if Gov. James R. Thompson's tax increase plan fails. But, Assistant Director of Library Services Joseph Starett said, the cut "pales in comparison" to an 11.7 percent inflation rate for library materials.

The 15-year old transmitter, located southwest of Greek Row, has been plagued by technical difficulties in recent weeks. Last week, the station was silent for several hours due to rewiring mistakes.

Station officials blame the problems on the transmitter's age and the difficulty in fin-ding replacement parts.

McEnroe defeats Austrian on the grass at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Three-time champion John McEnroe, saluted by the fans who once scorned him, won his opening match Tuesday in straight sets in his first appearance at Wimbledon since 1985.

The 29-year-old New Yorker held his temper during his easy triumph. McEnroe won Wimbledon in 1981, 1983 and 1984 but endured some of his more exasperating moments at the All-England Club. He declined to play the last two years.

McEnroe, the No. 8 seed, said he still needs to sharpen his game, but warned: "I think I am on the road back."

No. 5 Jimmy Connors, who won the title in 1974 and 1982, also advanced to the second round with ease, beating fellow American Leif Shiras 6-3, 7-6 (7-4), 6-1.

"I'm going to be 36 (in September) but I'm not dead yet," Connors said. "I can still get around a litle bit."

Sweden's Mats Wilande West Germany's Steffi Graf, both halfway to the Grand Slam after winning the Australian and French Opens, Austraian and French Opens, scored impressive first-round victories in the $4.3 million championships.

Wilander, the No. 2 seed, defeated Argentina's Eduardo Masso 63, 64, 7-6 (7-4). Graf, No. 1 month the recomer.

Masso 6-3, 6-4, 7-6 (7-4). Grat, No. 1 among the women, overwhelmed American Hu Na, 6-0, 6-0. The Chinese emigre, who defected to the United States during the 1982 Federation Cup in California, managed only 22 points.

"I try to get the points over," Graf said. "Everything has to be fast."

Sabatin also won.

Navratilova beat Sabrina
Goles of Yugoslavia 6-1, 6-2;
Shriver overcame South
Africa's Dinky van Rensburg 6-2, 4-6, 8-6; Evert defeated Alexia Dechaume of France 6-1, 6-2; and Sabatini of Argentina routed Carling Seguse of Canada 6-1, 6-1. No. 11 Claudia Kohde-Kilsche of West Germany withdrew West Germany was because of a knee injury.

West Germany withdrew because of a knee injury.
Wilander faltered briefly against Masso, missing a match point and then recovering from a 4-0 deficit in the second round along with Ivan Lendl, Pat Cash, Stefan Edberg and Boris Becker, all winners Monday.
"I am never ever going to feel grass is the natural surface for my game," Wilander said. "I am never going to be the kind of player who likes to take risks."

Kevin Curren, the last player to beat McEuroe at Wimbledon in the 1985 semifinals, suffered a firstround defeat to Chile's Ricardo Acuno, 7-6, 6-7, 7-6, 6-4.

Acuno, 7-6, 6-7, 7-6, 6-4. The men also lost their first seed, No. 14 Andrei Chesnokov of the Soviet Union, a 7-5, 6-4, 6-4 victim to West Germany's Udo Riglewski.

Graf, who lost in the finals last year to Navratilova, used powerful groundstrokes to dismiss her opponent in 46 minutes.

"I was trying to do a lot of top spin backhand," the 19-year-old West German said.

Connors victorious: fights off foot injury

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Jimmy Connors, off to a brilliant start Tuesday at his 17th Wimbledon, at age 35 relishes taking on the youth of tennis.

"I still enjoy the tennis, the playing of the matches," said the fifth-seeded American after a 6-3, 7-6 (7-5), 6-1 victory over 28-year-old compatriot Leif Shiras of Milwaukee.

"I enjoy playing guys 15 or 16 years younger than me. I like the battle against youth their strength, their mobility,' Connors said.

"I'm going to be 36 (in entember) but I'm not dead yet, I can still get around a litle bit."

Though he obviously revels in playing Grand Old Man of in playing crand ou man or the game, Connors freely admits he's now battling against an injury which could force him to retire — a pair of broken bones under a toe in his right foot

'It gets inflammed — big, ody and ugly,'' Connors d after his afternoon of sliding comfortably on the soft and forgiving grass. "It's not too bad on grass, worse on hard court. When I rest it, it doesn't hurt."

"But if I need an operation, that's when I quit."

Shriver struggles in 1st-round victory

WIMBLEDON, England (UP!) — Pam Shriver staged a late :ally Tuesday to overcome South African Dinky van Rensburg 6-2, 4-6, 8-6 in a first-round match at Wimbledon England that left the victorious No. 3 seed far from satisfied.

"It's hard to jump up and down after beating Dinky after being 41 down in the third," Shriver said. "I'm just glad I'm still in the tournament. I made life tough on myself out there for awhile."

Shriver advanced to the second round along with doubles partner and second seed Martina Navratilova, No. 1 Steffi Graf and No. 4 Chris

Shriver, who strained a groin muscle last week and withdrew from her semifinal match at a grass court tour-nament at Eastbourne, England, recovered from a 4-1 deficit in the deciding set on an exhibit court outside court,

Van Rensburg got in the last word in the 10th game after Shriver had saved a set point.

Michigan prof urges contact of college players and agents

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Direct cash payments to student athletes and encouragement of contact between agents and college players were proposed by a Michigan State professor Tuesday at the concluding session of the NCAA Presidents Commission Presidents Commission National Forum.

Cecil Mackey, a professor of economics, delivered his remarks to more than 500 NCAA delegates as a two-day meeting turned to the issue of the proper basis of financial aid for student athletes. On Monday, the National Forum discussed NCAA membership structure and legislative procedures. The National structure and legislative procedures. The National Forum, which has met three times in the past 18 months, will conclude with a Jan. 9 national meeting in San Francisco in conjunction with the annual NCAA Convention. "Our present system for "Our present system for supervising and regulating intercollegiate athletics is essentially unenforceable essentially unenforceable," said Mackey, whose broad proposal could spark NCAA legislation in January. "This same system, however, has proved to be incredibly effective at undermining the basic credibility of higher education. The NCAA rules are a convenient mechanism for the schools to determine collectively, what the maximum cost of acquiring the athletes' services will be, and then enforcing that limit on the athletes.

Mackey's proposal called for everal marked changes in

NCAA policies:

— Allowing each student-— Allowing each studentathlete to receive a "modest" direct cash payment (perhaps

Holland hits finals in soccer playoffs

HAMBURG, West Germany (UP!) — Holland defeated West Germany 2-1 Tuesday night on a goal by Marco van Basten with a minute left to advance to the finals of soccer's European Chamcer's European pionships.

Van Basten's winner began with a sweeping move by Ronald Koeman. Jan Wouters then passed to Van Basten, who turned on the ball and sent it past goalkeeper Eike Immel.

"We were extremely unlucky to be beaten," West Germany Coach Franz Beckenbauer said. "It was especially hard luck to concede a goal in the last minute of the gome One and the same and the same of the gome One and the same of the gome of the g of the game. Our team didn't deserve that."

Van Basten, who scored three goals against England earlier in the tournament, carried the Dutch into the final of Europe's most prestigious soccer event for the first time. The result marked the first time in 32 years Holland defeated West Germany.

In Munich Saturday, Holland will play the winner of Wedgame in Stuttgart between Italy and the Soviet

From Campus Lake big fish tale comes

By Jeff Grieser

Leong Wai Kin has been fishing for a long time and now he's got the ultimate fish story to tell.

Kin was fahing with Frank Peng at Campus Lake May 25 when he pulled in a 30-pound grass carp. The fish is more than 37 inches long. Kin said it was by far the largest fish he'd ever caught.

"The best fish I've ever caught was three or four pounds," Kin said.

Kin and Peng went to Campus Lake at about 10 p.m.
May 25, but it wasn't until after midnight that Kin, with plenty of help from Peng,

'It took about 45 minutes to an hour to bring him in," Kin said. "If I was there alone, I would have had to cut the Kin, 26, is Malaysian. He has done a lot of sea fishing and fresh-water fishing in his homeland. Kin was in Car-bondale between the end of the spring semester and the start of summer classes. Fishing was about the only thing to do,

"I do a lot of fishing," he said. "I would go every day over break because there is not a lot of things to do."

Kin didn't have a lot going for him that night, but he said he never even thought about giving up.

"It was cold out, really cold," he said. "He jumped out of the water about three times but I still couldn't tell what it was, I just knew it was huge. I felt I was going to lose it with a ten pound line." A ten pound test line is one that should hold at least ten pounds, but can break if it is jerked quickly, especially when pulling a 30 pound fish.

"My equipment is 0.K. but it's nothing special," Kin said.
"I use dough balls mixed with to 30 or 40 pounds.

"They're from Europe and Asia and sometimes over there they get as big as 100 pounds," Heidinger said. "Over here they normally don't get much bigger than about 40 pounds. They get to that size after about three years or so."

After debating whether to throw the fish back in, Kin has decided to have it mounted.

"I kept it in the bathub and I.

'I kept it in the bathtub and I called the Department of Conservation to find out about it. The fish meets the Department's regulations so I submitted it to them to receive

And where is the fish now?

"I've sent it to be mounted," Kin said. "It should be ready in a couple of months."

Kin said he doesn't know where he's going to put it yet. "Maybe in the living room, I'm not sure," he said.

Swimmers get recruits, look for strong finish

West says academics important in athletics

Interim Athletics Director Charlotte West said Tuesday that academics should play an important role in how an athletics program works.

West, who is applying for the job and was speaking at an open question-and-answer session in the Student Center Auditorium said, "We've tried throughout the year to keep the emphasis on the 'student' part of the student body."

She said that more than one third of the students in athletics "have a B or better average."

She said she hopes to increase that.
