Old Main Will Get New Look

Work has been started on a projected two-year face lifting operation in the oldest building at SIU, Old Main.

The objective of the work, according to the SIU architect's office, is redesigning the entire first floor of Old Main to accommodate the SIU Museum and its offices. It, and the Department of Music, now share Altgeld Hall.

First step is converting two southwest corner rooms (111 and 112) and an adjoining hallway into a three-room unit for the Museum. Workshops and exhibit-preparation facilities now in Altgeld will be moved to the remodeled space in Old Main.

The short hallway will be converted into a room by closing its outside entrance to regular traffic and changing an archway at its other end (opening on the main corridor) to a small door.

SIU-Washington

Tickets on Sale

Five hundred tickets for the SIU-Washington University basketball game to be played Wednesday night in Evansville, Ind., will go on sale at 9 a.m. today at the ticket office in the Arena.

There will be no reduction in ticket prices for students. All seats will cost $2 each.

Free bus transportation to the game will be provided by Student Government and Student Activities.

Students can sign up for the bus trip any time between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. today and from 8 until 12 noon Wednesday. The buses will leave from in front of the University Center at 4 p.m. Wednesday.

Students will have to leave their horns at home since Evansville prohibits the use of any kind of noise-makers at their games. Admittance will be refused to anyone with a horn.

If Southern is successful against Washington University, game tickets for Thursday night's game will go on sale at 9 a.m. Thursday.

Jacobini to Talk

About Viet Nam

The International Relations Club will present H. B. Jacobini, professor of government, in a "Contemporary Discussion of Viet Nam," at 7:30 p.m. today in Studio Theatre at University School.

Panel to Discuss Students vs. Law

THOMAS LEFFLER

A student forum on "The College Student vs. The Long Arm of the Law," will be held at 4 p.m. today in Ballroom A at the University Center.

Thomas L. Leffler of the SIU Security Office; Elza Brantley, captain of District 13 of the Illinois State Police, Du Quoin; and A.E. Ramsey of the Carbondale Police Department will compose a panel of experts for the forum.

Leffler will discuss student conduct in connection with the immediate campus and associated facilities.

Underage drinking and conduct in downtown Carbondale will be Ramsey's topic. Brantley will discuss the treatment of the college student who violates the law as compared with the average law-breaker. The forum is sponsored by a group of speech students.

Christmas to Give Shakespeare Talk

Eric Christmas, artist-in-residence at Southern, will present his second public lecture at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Southern Playhouse.

The lecture is sponsored by the Department of Theater.

Christmas will speak on "The Comedy in Shakespeare's Tragedies."

He directed the SIU production of "King Lear."

Faster Sectioning to Be Goal Of Registration System Study

Delta Zetas, Delta Chis Grab Championship In Theta Xi's 18th Annual Variety Contest

"All American," a take-off on a Broadway musical about a college football team, won for Delta Zeta sorority and Delta Chi fraternity the championship of the 18th annual Theta Xi Variety Show.

The groups' performance in the show last weekend placed them above the production of two-time winners Alpha Gamma Delta sorority and Phi Kappa Tau fraternity, who won second place this year with a skit, "Circus on Parade."

Third place in the production numbers went to Sigma Sigma Sorority and Sigma Pi fraternity for their rendition of "The Wonderful World of Color."

The Pointers, a barbershop quartet, won first place in the individual category, and second place went to Charles D. Trentham.

Winners of the small group act was the Justin Singers, a campus folk song group, who nosed out the Dusty Road Boys and their blue grass music. The latter took second place.

The show was kept lively with the help of Bob Holt, announcer and special effects man from KMOX radio in St. Louis, who was master of ceremonies.

Before the show opened Friday night, the SIU Service to Southern Awards were presented to Pamela Ann Newberry of Decatur, and Terry L. Cook of Waukegan, both seniors.

Runners-up in the Service to Southern Award were Richard L. Cox, a member of the Daily Egyptian editorial conference, and Charles P. Rahe, editor of the Obelisk. Among the women, runners-up were Linda J. Atwater and V. Ann Phelps.

The Leo Kaplan Memorial Scholarship was awarded to Kenneth M. Wilkening, junior from Buckley.

The scholarship has been presented each year by Theta Xi since the death of Leo Kaplan in 1962. He had been adviser of the fraternity for 10 years. Funds for the scholarship come from the variety show proceeds.

Wilkening is assistant editor of the Obelisk as well as business manager and sports editor for that publication. He serves on the University Center Programming Board and the steering committee for summer activities.

Change Sought By Fall Term

The registration system currently employed on the Carbondale campus is being reviewed to study its effectiveness and possible changes that might be instituted, according to Robert A. McGrath, registrar.

Two reasons for the study are the fact that the system has been in operation for some 10 years without a review, and the rapid growth of the student body.

The basic question under consideration is how the sectioning process can be expedited to move students through that stage of their registration procedure faster, McGrath said. Within the next few years it is expected that sectioning will be done by machines, but other changes are currently being investigated.

The group studying the registration process consists of those in the Registrar's Office and Sectioning Center who are supervising the registration process, and David E. Carter, Student Council senator from General Studies.

McGrath hopes that some procedural changes may be effective with the advance registration for the 1965 fall quarter. Students desiring to submit ideas should write or contact Carter at the Student Government Office in the University Center.

Randall Proposes Card Duplication

A recommendation has been submitted to Robert W. MacVicar, vice president for academic affairs, to reproduce the card catalogues of the Edwardsville and Carbondale campus libraries to aid in cutting down on unnecessary duplication of research materials.

Ferris S. Randall, head librarian at Morris Library, said this would mean the duplication of over 700,000 cards at Morris Library alone.

Randall indicated that he hopes the reproduction could be accomplished by the start of fall quarter on the Carbondale campus and after the library at Edwardsville is housed in its new building.

3 SIU Students Win Awards At Evansville Arts Exhibition

Three SIU students were among prize winners at the recent Mid-States Crafts Exhibition held at the Evansville Museum of Arts and Sciences. Competing for awards were craftsmen from six states.

Joel F. Crowe of Carbondale, a senior in metalworking under Brent Kington, assistant professor of art, received the $100 purchase prize for his sampler set of six sterling silver chessmen.

Crowe is designing a complete chess set, but submitted only one casting each of the king, queen, bishop, knight, rook and pawn. The 22-year-old Crowe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Crowe. His mother is head of the Department of English at University High School. His father is an instructor at the SIU Vocational and Technical Institute.

Newcomers Club to Sponsor Tour of Little Grassy Area

The University Newcomers Club is sponsoring a bus tour of the SIU facilities at Little Grassy for its members.

The group will board the bus at 9 a.m. Thursday at the University Center and will return by 11:15 a.m. Babysitting services will be available for children of members at the Unitarian Church.

According to Mrs. Edwin R. Ashworth, program chairman, newcomers to the University often fail to take advantage of the recreational facilities in this area because they lack the knowledge of what is available and where it is located. The tour attempts to familiarize the club's members with the area to enable them more fully to enjoy their new life in the area.

A guide will accompany the tour group and explain the background and development of the area and will also indicate how the University facilities are used.

Mrs. Herbert Bloom, who is in charge of reservations, said they will be accepted through today.

Miss Vandermark, L.C. Keel Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. L.R. Vandermark of Edwardsville, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Lou Vandermark, to Lowell C. Keel.

Miss Vandermark, an SIU graduate, teaches physical education in the Mornence Community School District.

Keel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Truman Keel of Carrier Mills. He is a graduate of Carrier Mills High School and is attending Southern, where he is enrolled in the School of Technology. The wedding is planned for June 19.

To Fight Them, Know Them

The best way to understand what makes a car run is to get under the hood and work on the engine; the best way to figure out a mathematical problem is to pick up a pencil and work it; and the best way to understand the workings and peoples of the Communist party is by personal observations and study.

Colleges and universities have proven that experience is a good teacher; however, this method is not always accepted by members of our culture.

Three weeks ago, Herbert Aptheker, a top Communist and Marxist theoretician, addressed a meeting on campus. He was brought to SIU by the Socialist Discussion Club and Students for a Democratic Society, both of which are recognized by the University.

These two groups offered students a chance to confront a member of the Communist party first hand, to see how he thinks and acts. But to hear people talk, or to read the story in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat the day after Aptheker spoke, you would think SIU is becoming an incubator for Communism.

A headline in the St. Louis paper said, "SIU Refuses to Deny Red Campus Forum." This is misleading, because the story was not concerned with SIU's refusing to deny the speaker the right to appear, but rather with a statement of the University's policy on speakers.

And, to our knowledge, no one or no office of any consequence appealed to the school to deny Aptheker the right to speak.

The next week, city councils of Herrin and Johnston City passed resolutions protesting Communist speakers at state-supported schools. In relation to the value of education by first-hand exposure and experiences, this seems to be a rather narrow-minded attack on the University.

Morris L. Ernst, New York attorney, and a crusader in the fight for civil liberties, addressed a meeting on campus last week, and expressed the following idea on the subject of Communist speakers on American college campuses:

"American schools should have more members of the Communist party speak to students. The only way to fight a sneaky bunch like that is to get to know them personally." It is Ernst's opinion that in a discussion American college students would, figuratively, tear the speakers to pieces.

Students in the College of Education benefit from a system by which they practice-teach for a quarter to get classroom experience. Medical students work several years as interns to gain life-saving experience. Why not give the students of a democratic society the benefit of a first-hand experience in talking with members of the opposing society—communism?

Democracy is bound to benefit from such experiences, unless you think America's young people can be persuaded to exchange their present living conditions with those of the Russian or Chinese Communists.

Frank Messersmith

No Pulling Back

The escalation of the war in Viet Nam has undoubtedly caused draft-conscious young men on the SIU campus quite a bit of anxiety, and justly so. The prospects of an intensified conflict, on the same level as the Korean police action, increase with each new attack. If such a war should develop, many students at Southern would lose their 2-S Selective Service status and be drafted into the armed forces. So the anxiety is well founded.

But despite this turn of events and the frightening prospects it causes, we feel that the U.S. should not pull out of Viet Nam or attempt to negotiate a settlement at this time. Not only would we weaken our commitment in that country, but such action would endanger millions of people and thousands of miles of territory. A gateway to Southeast Asia for communism would be opened if the United States abandoned Viet Nam. And there can be no negotiation favorable to the U.S. or to South Viet Nam until Communist activity south of the 17th parallel is stopped.

For these reasons President Johnson cannot back down in his policy now. Those on campus and elsewhere who advocate such action must realize that we must accept the prospect of an escalated war in Viet Nam in order to avoid a larger war deeper in Southeast Asia.

John Epperheimer

Operation 'Bootstrap'

The success of this year's basketball team has produced probably the greatest amount of interest and publicity ever enjoyed at Southern.

In addition, basketball is making money for the first time at SIU. And as the student body and area fans become used to having enough seating space available and to seeing a good team playing a strong schedule, more income will be produced.

Why not use this money to develop an equally good football program? In addition to excelling at minor spectator sports like gymnastics and swimming, why doesn't Southern act to insure having just as good a football team? Big-time football will direct an enormous amount of publicity and interest toward the University.

We feel that this could be of tremendous help to Southern, and funds from basketball can go a long way towards achieving this goal.

Sectioning Shuffles the Cards, Deals a Winning 'Hand' by Proxy

I recently dared to try the new system for sectioning and, three weeks ago, left my cards and a tentative schedule at the Sectioning Center.

I knew there was no guarantee that the sectioner would even glance at the schedule I had so carefully planned and checked, but I had nothing to lose.

Well, this week, after having nightmares of a schedule consisting of Saturday and night classes, six 8 o'clocks, alternate classes in the Arena and Home Economics Building, and maybe even a class on the Edwardsville campus, I received my schedule.

Believe it or not, it was exactly as I had planned it! I'm wondering...can this be true or was it a mistake?

If this has happened to anyone else, let us join together and be the first to congratulate the Sectioning Center on a fine, new idea.

Elevator Riders Need a Chance

After doing my undergraduate work at Southwestern Illinois University (also called the Edwardsville campus of SIU) where there are no elevators, I cannot help but find myself appalled at the bad manners of Carbondale campus students everytime I use the elevators at Morris Library.

While traditional etiquette calls for persons getting on an elevator to wait for those getting off to make their egress, the general practice here is for those getting on to try to jam into the car without letting anyone out—they almost seem to make a game of it. Perhaps we small-town students aren't familiar with the ways of Big Campus life, but if would seem that a few manners could go a long way toward making life at school easier.

Peace Convocation Draws Enthusiasm

By Robert M. Hutchins

The great convocation held by the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions on the Requirements for Peace exceeded the expectations of everybody who attended it. It even exceeded the hopes of the center.

In the first place, popular interest was surprising. Four hundred accredited representatives of the press, radio and television appeared. Every minute of a three-day performance was put on video tape for use on television. The educational television stations—90 of them—are broadcasting the whole of the sessions.

Twenty-two hundred invited guests sat listening all day and then demanded admission to the evening meetings that had been planned for the press alone. One had the impression that the audience would have gone on indefinitely, that its members thought correctly that peace was the most important thing in the world and that it was too important to leave to governments.

Then there was the array of speakers. The meeting opened at the United Nations with Paul Hoffman, honorary chairman of the center, presiding. Adlai Stevenson, Hubert Humphrey, U Thant and Alex Quaison-Sackey, president of the U.N. General Assembly, spoke.

The same level was maintained throughout the three days. For example, the delegates heard the chief justice of the United States, two judges of the International Court of Justice, the chairman of the Japanese constitutional commission and a leading Mexican lawyer discussing the possibilities of world law.

Representatives of Poland and Western Germany, of Jordan and Israel, of Yugoslavia and Italy, of France, India, Britain, Nigeria and Russia explored with candor and good will ways to achieve something beyond a thermonuclear truce.

The sense of urgency was reflected in the extraordinary seriousness of the speakers and the audience. Every person who spoke, without exception, felt called on to abandon platitudes and propaganda and to address himself to the practical, political question: How do we make peace?

The sense of urgency was intensified by the plight of the United Nations. The recurring theme of the convocation was the necessity of maintaining the U.N.

The small nations saw the United Nations as their only protector. The large ones knew they could not get along together without having the U.N. as a place to meet for daily conferences on common problems.

And so, even at a time when the United Nations seemed about to fall apart, everybody turned to it as the great hope, now and in the future.

The United States has imperiled the United Nations by insisting that nothing can be done there until France and Russia pay their share of the cost of the organization's peace-keeping operations.

The legal position of the United States is unassailable. Its wisdom is highly questionable.

Edmund Burke's advice might have saved America for England. He said England might have the legal right to tax the colonies, but that it was inexpedient for her to do so. It was essential to maintain the connection.

As the American government now seems to realize, it is essential to keep the United Nations alive and make it more effective. Legal and constitutional problems will have to be solved, but they should not be pushed so hard as to destroy the organization.

The convocation took as its platform the last encyclical of Pope John XXIII, Pacem in Terris, Peace on Earth. In that document the Pope called on all men everywhere to come together to work out the ways to peace, to frame a charter of practical agreements.

The convocation offers hope that such a charter is possible. It was an unprecedented gathering. It seems likely that its message will resound through the world and bring us nearer to a just and durable peace.

Bounce Back After Rout

Negroes in Alabama Preparing Another March to Montgomery

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Negro leaders cautioned their followers against hate and panic Monday as they made ready for another right-to-vote march to Montgomery, the Alabama capital.

Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. prepared to return to lead the demonstration. He said in Atlanta that he had called for religious leaders from throughout the nation to join the march planned for today.

Attorneys for civil rights leaders headed for federal to prevent state troopers from halting the procession as they did in Sunday's bloody rout.

A petition was drawn up for submission to a federal judge in Montgomery.

King missed the first march. He promised, however, to lead the hiking Negroes today in what one of his aides, the Rev. Andrew Young, described as a "peaceful petition to Gov. George C. Wallace for the right to vote and to protest police brutality."

King said Sunday night that he and his staff decided at the last minute he would not lead the Sunday march because it would be blocked by state troopers. He said his staff suggested he remain in Atlanta for church work and to mobilize national support.

Young said that 25 religious leaders from Washington, D. C., were on their way to Selma by chartered airplane. Another group, he said, from the National Council of Churches from various cities also was scheduled to arrive for the march.

Other members of King's staff, together with field workers of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, conducted workshops at the old twin-spired Browns Chapel A.M.E. Church to prepare the marchers for what they might face.

The instructors emphasized the danger of panic if the gasmasked state troopers fired tear gas into the marchers as happened Sunday. They also warned the Negroes against acts of retaliation.

Said the Rev. James Velvel, a Mississippi-born field lieutenant in the drive: "The main thing we are trying to get across is not to be afraid. Tear gas will burn your eyes and pinch your skin, but the main thing is not to be afraid of it."

Some Negroes hurled rocks and bottles at sheriff's deputies in front of the church after they had been chased back across the Alabama River bridge and through the streets.

Inside the red brick church, the command post for the seven-week-old voter drive, field packs and bags of clothing, unused Sunday, were piled up for today's march.

Outside in a driveway stood a truck loaded with four portable toilets. Trucks also carried tents, blankets and other field equipment for camping out. The march route stretched 50 miles from Selma to Montgomery.

Attendants at Good Samaritan Hospital and Burwell Infirmary said 83 Negroes were treated for tear gas sickness and injuries following Sunday's violent dispersal of the marchers.

Rev. King: Violence Shocking

ATLANTA (AP) — Martin Luther King Jr. said Monday he did not expect the forceful dispersal of Negro marchers Sunday in Selma, Ala.

"I expected arrests," said King in an interview before departing for Alabama again. "I was very shocked at the violence."

He said threats against his life had multiplied many times since the Alabama drive to register Negro voters began.

Q: Was the violence by police officers what you expected?

A: No. I expected arrests. I was very shocked at the violence. I thought that after the criticism of state troopers for their brutality in Marion, Ala., they would use different methods. I did not think they would beat anybody.

Q: Is violence what your nonviolent movement wants?

A: No. We do not seek to precipitate violence. However, we are aware that the existence of injustice in society is the existence of violence, latent violence. We feel we must constantly expose this evil, even if it brings violence upon us. But we felt that the march would have been dramatic enough if there had not been one aspect of violence.

High Court Upholds U.S. Bid To Sue State in Rights Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court upheld Monday the right of the U.S. attorney general to bring suit against a state and its officials to protect the voting rights of Negroes under federal law.

The unanimous ruling reversed a decision by a three-judge U.S. District Court in Jackson, Miss., dismissing a suit against Mississippi filed by the attorney general under federal voting laws.

Justice Hugo L. Black, speaking for the court, said Mississippi would "without justification in reason diminish the power of courts to protect the people of this country against deprivation and destruction by states of their federally guaranteed rights."

He said the suit should be brought to trial without delay.

The high tribunal also unanimously struck down as a violation of the 14th Amendment protecting Negro voting rights a Louisiana law requiring applicants to interpret reasonably any section of the state or U.S. Constitution. Louisiana has abandoned this law but other states have similar ones.

And the court agreed to review a decision upholding Virginia's $1.50 annual poll tax as a requirement to vote in state and local elections.

In a rare decision rejecting an appeal by a Negro complaining that he was convicted of a crime by a jury without Negro jurors, the court decided 6 to 3 that a Negro is not necessarily denied his rights when peremptory challenges by the prosecution result in no Negroes being chosen from a venire which includes Negroes.

In the Louisiana case, Black said of the state voter test law:

"As evidence showed, colored people, even some with the most advanced education and scholarship, were declared by voting registrars with less education to have an unsatisfactory understanding of the Constitution of Louisiana or of the United States. This is not a test but a trap sufficient to stop even the most brilliant man on the way to the voting booth."

Black said it was an arbitrary device registrars used with unlimited discretion to purge from the voting rolls "thousands of Negroes, but virtually no whites." He noted that a similar Alabama law had been declared unconstitutional by the high court.

Sanity Trial Set

For Jack Ruby

DALLAS (AP) — A defiant and apparently alert Jack Ruby, condemned killer of President Kennedy's assassin, will return to court March 29 for a jury trial to determine whether he is sane.

Natally dressed as usual, Ruby, 53, appeared heavier and healthier at his court hearing Monday than at the time of his conviction a year ago Sunday.

Ruby, under a death sentence for the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald, was shuffled amid guards in and out of the courtroom. He said little.

Marines Dig In at Da Nang

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two battalions of U. S. Marines, newly landed by sea and air, dug in methodically Monday night to reinforce defenses of the Da Nang airbase. The muzzles of recoilless rifles and machine guns bristled from their lines.

A single sniper's bullet symbolized Communist objections to the build-up of American forces at the base, a key installation for strikes against both the Viet Cong and North Viet Nam.

The bullet plowed harmlessly into one wing of a C130 transport inbound with a load of Leathernecks from Okinawa. The plane landed normally.

Abroad, however, there was a barrage of criticism from Communist quarters. And some nonCommunists, including leaders of the left wing of Britain's ruling Labor party, joined in the outcry.

In a typical comment, the Soviet government paper Izvestia charged the landings were "a new phase of the aggressive policy of the U.S.A. in South Viet Nam" that showed Washington has decided to widen the war.

A Viet Cong representative in Peking, Nguyen Minh Phong, said the Red guerrillas were considering retaliatory action.

About 400 Viet Cong attacked a special forces camp in Binh Dinh Province, 120 miles south of Da Nang.

Johnson Requests New Weapons for War on Crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress to give the government new weapons for a war on crime and ban the kind of mail order firearms sales that put a rifle in the hands of Lee Harvey Oswald.

Johnson called for tighter control over drugs, new efforts to rehabilitate narcotics addicts, federal aid to help train policemen, and a stepped-up drive against organized crime.

"Crime will not wait while we pull it up by the roots," Johnson said.

"I believe the way to do so is to give new recognition to the fact that crime is a national problem—and to intensify our crime prevention and crime fighting at all levels of government," the President said in a message Monday to the House and Senate.

Cardinal's Condition 'Not Encouraging'

CHICAGO (AP) — Intravenous feeding of Albert Cardinal Meyer was discontinued today but a doctor said the Roman Catholic prelate "is a seriously ill man."

The cardinal, who will be 62 Tuesday, underwent surgery Feb. 25 in which a cancerous tumor the size of a large walnut was removed from his brain. As yet he has not been informed of the malignancy.

"We cannot be very encouraged by his lack of responsiveness," an attending physician said in reporting the end of intravenous feeding.

Stratton Fails In Directed Verdict Bid

CHICAGO (AP) — Former Gov. William J. Stratton lost Monday his bid for a directed verdict of acquittal of income tax evasion charges.

Judge Hubert L. Will of U.S. District Court denied a defense motion that he direct the jury to acquit the Republican chief executive of Illinois from 1952 to 1960.

The denial came after a hearing of arguments on the motion with the jury excluded from the courtroom.

Both sides rested a short time before. The trial has been in progress since Jan. 4.

Earlier, a Waukegan banker called by the prosecution as a rebuttal witness testified he delivered $9,000 of contributions in behalf of Stratton to a Republican fund raiser.

The witness, William F. O'Meara, president of the Citizens National Bank of Waukegan, said he assumed the funds were for political campaigning.

O'Meara said he turned over the $9,000 to Ward Just, Waukegan newspaper publisher, for the 1956 and 1960 governorship campaigns. Stratton, a Republican, was elected to a second term in 1956 but was defeated by Otto Kerner, Democrat, in 1960 when Stratton sought a third term. In November Kerner was re-elected to his second term.

Stratton is charged with evading $40,964 in taxes on unreported income of $83,069 from 1957 through 1960, the last four of his eight years as chief executive of Illinois.

The government contends Stratton diverted political contributions to his personal use and failed to report this as income. Counsel for Stratton maintain the funds were unrestricted gifts and were not taxable.

O'Meara testified he was the "professional receiving station" for funds for Stratton in the 1956 and 1960 campaigns.

Morris, Fellow Educators Cite Pressures on U.S. Colleges

President Delyte W. Morris was one of the speakers at the 20th. National Conference on High Education where he, along with other speakers, cited that American colleges and universities are under too much pressure.

The speakers said it's a wonder colleges have time to think about education. Approximately 2,000 college presidents, deans and faculty members attended the meeting in Chicago, according to the Associated Press.

Morris told of one recent period in which SIU had been asked to call a series of conferences for labor leaders, establish a Small Business Institute, conduct research on consumer analysis, water resources and demography, and to conduct training programs for towboat pilots.

Other speakers told of pressures from the federal, state and local levels of government, industry, labor, business, an excess of students, a shortage of teacher, the U.S. role in world affairs and just plain pressure groups.

Samuel K. Gove, professor from the University of Illinois, said that one of the heaviest pressures applied by the state governments on tax-supported colleges and universities is for an increase in tuition.

"Behind that state pressure may well be the private universities that, lacking guaranteed tax sources, have made substantial tuition increases themselves.

Roland R. Renne, former president of Montana State College and now with the Interior Department of Washington, said that taxpayer's associations make education a special target.

McLeod to Speak At AAUW Meeting

Archibald McLeod, chairman of the Department of Theater, will be the guest speaker at tonight's meeting of the Carbondale branch of the American Association of University Women.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in Morris Library Auditorium.

McLeod's topic will be "Achieving Understanding of India Through the Theater."

DAVE LEE

Lee Voted Outstanding Player In Great Lakes Tournament

Dave Lee, SIU's scrappy 6-1 guard from McLeansboro, was selected as a member of the Great Lakes Regional all-tournament team and also voted the most outstanding player in the tournament.

Lee, who is known for his defensive tactics that unnerved opposition, turned offensive star for the Salukis in the tournament when he poured in 40 points in two nights to lead his team in scoring.

Lee's career high of 26 points was scored Friday night against Concordia Teachers College. His two jump shots in the final minutes against Concordia brought the Salukis from behind to a victory.

Lee was joined on the all-tournament squad by teammate Joe Ramsey, Don Edwards of Central Michigan, Dave Schrader of Concordia and Jerry Yarbrough of Jackson State.

The players were selected by the press, radio and television men who were covering the games.

A favorite of Salukis fans, Lee received a standing ovation when presented his award.

Loyola Tops Southern Again In Indoor Track Competition

Loyola University of Chicago, well known for its basketball teams, also knows its way around an indoor track.

The Rambler track squad knows its way around a little too well, in fact, to suit SIU track Coach Lew Hartzog and the Salukis mile relay team.

The Chicago team turned spoiler for the second time this season Saturday and for only the second time Hartzog's relay quartet went down to defeat.

It wasn't a loss Hartzog could especially feel bad about. The Saluki quartet of Robin Coventry, Bill Cornell, Jerry Fendrich and Gary Carr equaled their best time of the season, 3:16.4.

That time had stood for three weeks as the best among college teams in the nation. Saturday, though it wasn't quite good enough as Loyola took an early lead and managed to hold off a determined SIU bid.

Saluki quartermile ace Carr, anchoring the quartet, ran a blazing 48.0 leg, almost catching the Rambler's anchor man. The junior from Mt. Vernon, Ind., started out far behind the Rambler runner after a poor baton exchange, but closed the gap until by the finish the race was awarded identical times.

The Loyola victory was the second of the year over the Salukis. In Southern's opening triangular meet with the Ramblers and Wisconsin, Loyola finished second to the Badgers but ahead of the Salukis, who were third.

Towering Tigers Take Third In Great Lakes Regional

Jackson State's towering Tigers used their height to capture third place in the Great Lakes Regional as they slipped by Concordia 90-80.

Jackson tied the Arena record of 76 rebounds in taking the victory. The Tigers' Lyvonne LeFlore also set a new individual rebound record of 23 for the night.

Both teams had trouble finding the range in the first half as neither hit consistently enough to pull away from the other. The two opponents fought evenly through the first 15 minutes of the game before Jackson tallied seven straight points to take a 28-21 lead. Concordia fought back in the final three minutes to trail only 34-30 at the intermission.

Jackson State made only 14 of 47 shots from the field in the half and Concordia was even colder as it made 13 of 51.

But both teams looked like different outfits at the start of the second half as the scoring broke wide open. The Tigers used their superior height to build up a sizeable lead in the early stages of the half. Dave Wegehaupt kept Concordia in the game during Wisconsin's winning time in that one was 3:18.3 while SIU was clocked in 3:19.1, with Loyola sandwiched in between.

Despite the close loss in the mile relay, SIU's representatives did win two events. George Woods set a University of Chicago Field House record in winning the shot put with a toss of 58 feet 8 3/4 inches. Dan Shaughnessy topped the field in the two mile run with a 9:14 effort.

SIU's freshmen pole vaulters, Mike Bull and Richard Ellison, also came up with top efforts. They tied for third at 13 feet 7 inches, which set an SIU freshmen indoor record.

Broad jumper John Vernon erased another SIU freshmen mark as he leaped 22 feet to break the record he set only last week.

Another top performance was turned in by freshman Dwane Brooks who finished second in the 60-yard dash in 6.3.

Other SIU finishers were: Ralph Galloway, 5th in the shot put, 47-6; Eugene James, 3rd in the broad jump, 21--2 1/2 and Bob Ingsdall, 4th, 21-2; Mitchell Livingston, 4th in the high jump, 6-0 and Joe Janecz, 5th, 6-0.

John Trowbridge, 3rd in the mile, 4:26.9; Tom Curry, 3rd in the two-mile, 9:26.7 and the two-mile relay team of Carr (1:57), Fendrich (1:55.4), Ackman (1:57.2) and Cornell (1:55.2) and in the two-mile relay with a time of 7:44.4. Loyola won in 7:40.5.

this time as he scored 14 of his teams first 22 points in the second half.

With five minutes left in the game, Jackson was leading only 74-73 before it got hot to pull away with the victory. Big Ed Manning led the drive for the Tigers' as he pumped in nine points and did a fine job on the boards.

Jerry Yarbrough was high man for the night as he paced Jackson with 25 points and 12 rebounds. Austin Dumas added 23 followed by Manning with 17 points and 15 rebounds and LeFlore with 19 points and his record 23 rebounds.

Dave Schrader led Concordia with 20 points followed by Dave Widenhofer's 18. Other Cougars in double figures were Tom Ruppert with 15, Chris Rau with 13 and Wegehaupt with 14.

Free Throw Meet To Start Sunday

The intramural office's three-day free throw tournament will wind up today in the Arena.

Contestants who accumulated 45 free throws at the end of the second round will then move to the final round starting at 6:30 p.m. in the Arena.

The contestants will then shoot 35 more free throws and the one with the highest total for the three days will be the winner of the tournament.

COACH JACK HARTMAN AND JOE RAMSEY ACCEPT TROPHY

Southern Goes Cold

Lee Leads Salukis To Edge Concordia

Southern took the first step toward the National Collegiate Athletic Association's finals in Evansville, by squeaking past Concordia College 71-70 here in the first-round battle. The Salukis went on from there to beat Central Michigan University and move into the finals.

The hot-shooting Cougars threw one of the biggest scares of the season into the heavily favored Salukis. The small Lutheran school from River Forest shocked the home crowd and stayed surprisingly close to the Salukis throughout the game. In fact, Concordia held the lead throughout the middle of the second half.

The game got off to a slow start before Southern pulled out to a 12-6 lead after six minutes. The torrid-shooting visitors chopped away at the lead and finally tied the score at 14-14 midway through the first half.

But from here, Dave Lee took charge and carried the Salukis to a 23-17 lead by scoring all nine of Southern's points after the tie. The scrappy guard was taken out shortly after, but only after tallying 13 of Southern's first 23 points.

Coach Jack Hartman then shuttled the reserves into the lineup in the closing minutes of the first half and the Salukis led 34-30 at the intermission.

Concordia fought back to tie the score again early in the second half and eventually took the lead. Southern hit a cold spell midway through the final half, going four minutes without scoring.

The two teams battled on even terms throughout the latter stages of the second half. With the score tied at 61-61, Lee pumped into two long goals to give Southern a four-point lead with only two minutes remaining.

The stubborn Cougars fought back again to narrow the final margin to one point, but that was enough for the Salukis.

Lee led the scoring for both teams with 26 points. The junior guard set his career high record by making 11 of 16 field goal attempts and adding four free throws. George McNeil and Joe Ramsey were right behind with 15 and 14 points respectively. Dave Wegehaupt was high man for Concordia with 21 points, followed by teammate Dave Schrader's 20.

Austin-Healeys Take First Places In Sunday Rallye

Austin-Healeys swept the first three places in Sunday's "March Maneuver Rallye" staged by the Grand Touring Auto Club.

Driver-navigator team Jack F. Erwin and Frances B. Walker finished first in the two-hour run over back and country roads southwest of Carbondale. Second and third were John Jennings and Paul B. McBride, and Chuck Osborne and Bob Beckenbough. Twelve cars, including four Volkswagens, a Triumph and four American sedans, competed in the event. Dennis J. Downs served as rally-master.

The sports car club, which stages monthly competitive events, including rallyes, gymkhanas and autocrosses, meets on the first Thursday of each month at 8 p.m. at Epps Motor Co., Route 13, east of Carbondale. Next event is a gimmick rallye slated for April 11.

Proceed to Evansville

Salukis Take Lead Throughout, Beat Central Michigan 90-62

Southern scored the first basket, the last basket and most of those in between to sweep past Central Michigan 90-62 in winning the NCAA Great Lakes Regional tournament.

The victory entitles the Salukis to move on to the NCAA college division finals in Evansville this week where they will meet Washington University of St. Louis in the first round.

Looking like a different team than the one which had trimmed Concordia by one point the night before, the Salukis were in command all the way Saturday night.

Joe Ramsey, an All-Tourney selection, got the Salukis going right from the start as he dropped in two long shots from the side. The Chips got their offense into swing shortly after and traded the Salukis basket-for-basket until midway through the first half.

But with 10:53 showing on the clock, Dave Lee and George McNeil teamed up for eight straight points to give the Salukis an 11-point lead which the visitors couldn't overcome.

The Salukis held on to their lead the remainder of the first half through the fine play of Ramsey and Ralph Johnson, who came off the bench to replace starter Boyd O'Neal. Johnson tallied eight points and Ramsey 13 in the first 20 minutes to give Southern a 47-34 lead at the half.

Southern got off to a tremendous start at the beginning of the second half as a flurry of action brought the home crowd to its feet and the visitors to their knees.

After George McNeil had sunk a jump shot from the side, O'Neal stole the ball from the Chips and raced the length of the court to stuff the ball through the net.

McNeil followed up after a miss by the Chips with a layup. After another Michigan turnover, Ramsey got the ball on a fast break and dunked one of his own to put Southern ahead 55-34.

Midway through the half Southern was leading 69-42 when coach Hartman began substituting freely.

At one point in the second half, Hartman had one of the tallest quintets on the floor the fans have seen for some time. Johnson at 6-7, O'Neal 6-6, Thurman Brooks and Clarence Smith, both 6-4, and Bill Lacy 6-1 were in the lineup at that time.

Southern's biggest lead of the game was 80-49 with 5:36 left. The second unit was very impressive for the Salukis as they took up right where the starters had left off.

Balanced scoring once again highlighted Southern's game as Ramsey led with 19 points. Ralph Johnson made one of his best showings in the game as he pitched in 15 points and pulled down 12 rebounds. McNeil also had 15 and Dave Lee added 14.

Don Edwards, Central's All-Tourney selection, paced his team with 17 points while teammate Bob Bruder followed with 14.

Southern outshot its opponent .468 to .363, but the rebounding played a big factor in the victory as the Salukis nabbed 62.

Walt Frazier III, Still on Team

Contrary to campus rumors, Coach Jack Hartman says that Walt Frazier is still very much with the basketball team.

The 6-4 sophomore who is the team's second leading scorer missed both games of the regional tournament, and rumors of all sorts quickly spread around the campus that Frazier would be leaving SIU.

Hartman said Frazier did not play because he was sick, and added that this was the only reason. The coach said that anything else that was said or printed was inaccurate.

Robert Spackman, the team trainer, said that Frazier had "a bad cold and a touch of the flu. He had it off and on last week," said Spackman, "but he got real bad Friday, and Saturday he was feeling awful." The trainer said he treated Frazier both days and he was still feeling bad Sunday.

Frazier worked out with the team Sunday afternoon and may be ready to go against Washington U. at Evansville on Wednesday when the college division finals open.

'Prep' Tournament Tickets Still Available

A few tickets are still available for the first-round state high school basketball tournament games Thursday and Friday in the SIU Arena.

A few hundred tickets were still available Monday noon, according to Robert E. Robinson, assistant principal of University School. Tickets are being sold in the main office of that school. The price for SIU students and adults is $1.30. High school students may purchase tickets for 75 cents.

Robinson said several thousand tickets have been sent to each participating high school and any of these tickets which are unsold must be returned by this Thursday and will be put off sale—here they end of the week.

The schedule for the Carbondale sectional calls for Sparta to play Meridian at 7 p.m. Thursday. The Centralia-Marion game will follow.

The championship contest will be at 8 p.m. Friday.

University School officials point out that the Illinois High School Association does not allow any horns, whistles or mechanical noisemakers in the gym during the tournament games. SIU students are advised that their Alpine horns will not be allowed.

9 SIU Students Are Awarded Scholarships

Nine SIU students have been awarded $225 Sahara Coal Company forestry scholarships for the current school year, according to John W. Andresen, chairman of the department of forestry.

The students are Dale R. Baer, Summerfield; David Blankenship, Mulberry Grove; David H. Magers, Chester; Robert L. Marlow, Herrin; Ray Alan Newbold, Marion; Tharon E. O'Dell and Robert A. Raines, Carbondale; John J. Reeder, Shelbyville; and John L. Teply, Harrisburg.

Under provisions of a 1961 grant of $9,000 from the Sahara Coal Company of Chicago, forestry students meeting certain scholastic and residence requirements are provided these scholarships because of the present demand for trained foresters.

To qualify for one of the scholarships, an entering freshman must rank in the upper half of his high school class. Students previously enrolled in college must have at least a 3.0 grade average. Preference in awarding scholarships is given first to students from Saline County, where the firm has coal mines, and then to other applicants from Southern Illinois.

Hoffman Wins Judo Tourney

Ron Hoffman of the SIU Judo Team won his weight class as well as the all-tournament grand championship at the Eastern National College Judo tournament last weekend.

After winning the 200-pound class, Hoffman went on to defeat the winners in the five other classes to take the grand championship. Among those he had to defeat was the East Coast Open Champion, a student at Virginia Military Institute.

Representatives from 52 colleges, including West Point and Annapolis, competed in the tournament at Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., last Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

1st Prison Newspaper Contest Set by Journalism Department

The first nationwide contest for prison newspapers throughout the country is being sponsored by the SIU Department of Journalism.

Called the American Penal Press Newspaper Contest, it is designed to encourage interest in prison journalism as a part of modern penal methods and to promote better newspapers in these institutions. Charles C. Clayton, director of the contest, said.

Clayton, professor of journalism, said the contest will be an annual event covering the period Oct. 1 to Sept. 30. A sweepstakes award will be granted the best prison newspaper each year, and other prizes will be for the best news story, best sports story, best feature story, best column and best picture or picture series.

Clayton, former assistant to the publisher of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and past president of Sigma Delta Chi, the national professional journalism fraternity, is believed to be first professor in this country to teach a college credit course in prison. In 1956 when SIU began providing journalism instruction for staff members of Menard Prison, the prison newspaper at Menard State Penitentiary in Southern Illinois, Clayton taught the first class. He also was adviser to the publication.

In return for his enthusiasm and contributions to penal journalism, Menard Time recently gave Clayton a certificate of appreciation.

Seminar on Desert Slated Wednesday

The last in a series of seminars presented by Paul B. Sears will be at 4 p.m. Wednesday in Room 323 of the Life Science Building. It is entitled "The Desert Peninsula" and is sponsored by the Department of Botany.

Sears, professor emeritus of Yale, is visiting for this quarter only. He will leave SIU on March 18, for his home in New Haven, Conn.

The illustrated lecture is on Baja, Calif., "one of the most interesting and unspoiled deserts in North America," Sears commented. It will encompass the geology, the plant and animal life and some of the human activity in the region.

Sears includes a meeting of the National Association of Science Teachers on March 28, in Denver, Colo. in his plans for the immediate future. He will speak on what the science teacher can do to teach conservation.

After attending several other conferences in the spring, he will lecture at the Institute on Man and Science at the University of New York this summer.
