Student rights to be explained

Editor's note: This is the first of a series of articles examining the proposed Student Conduct Code.

By Ray Urchel
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Last semester 347 SIU students were involved in disciplinary cases handled by the Student Life Office.

Will Travelstead, assistant dean of student life, said many students do not understand their rights under the system. This series will attempt to explain how the system works. What happens to a student after he is "written up" for a discipline violation. What options does the student have? What are his rights? How do students appeal cases? What violations are students accused of? What sanctions can be applied?

Travelstead said SIU has a "three tier" disciplinary system. The first level where the case is heard and a verdict is reached and two levels for student appeals.

The Student Life Office maintains all discipline records, Travelstead said. For example, if a student is charged with alleged usage of drugs in on-campus dorms, the resident hall coordinator will file a disciplinary report with the coordinator of student discipline.

The coordinator of student discipline will read the report and submit it to the area coordinator for discipline at the living area the alleged violation occurred, Travelstead said.

The report is then submitted to the Student Life discipline coordinator in the living area.

"The area coordinators make their own decisions whether they are going to make charges or not," Travelstead explained.

If charges are filed, the student is sent notification of the charges and given the option of a hearing by either the area judicial board or an administrative hearing by the area coordinator.

After the student determines which type of hearing he wants, the date, time and format of the hearing are established, the hearing is held and a verdict rendered.

There are six area judicial boards. Three are at East Campus, two at Thompson Point and one at Wilson Hall.

Each of the area judicial boards consist of seven members "with a pool of alternates," Travelstead explained.

Any student in good academic and disciplinary standing with the University can apply to serve on the residential hall panels, Travelstead said.

Interviews are held to screen candidates and the area Executive Council and/or unit manager submit nominations to the coordinator for student residential life.

"In this past instance (with the supposed "drug" incident), the "J" board or the hearing officer would decide guilt or innocence and, if found guilty, the judicial board would decide the sanction," C. Thomas Busch, assistant to the vice president for student affairs explained.

According to the proposed conduct code, the student would then be given notice in writing of all sanctions being taken against the student "within a reasonable time," Busch said.

The proposed conduct code states if a student desires an appeal, the request must be filed within 10 days of the charges.

The student must state, in writing, why he wants an appeal, Busch said. The following grounds are considered when appeals are requested, he added:

—Did the accused have an adequate opportunity to prepare and present a defense?

—Was the evidence presented at the hearing sufficient to justify the decision by the hearing authority?

—Was the sanction imposed in keeping with the severity of the violation?

The student is given the options of an

Late season snow shuts area schools

By Mary Whittier
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A late season snowfall Sunday resulted in cancelled classes Monday for grade and high school students in Carbondale and Murphysboro, but no major weather-related accidents were reported in the area.

A weather bureau official at Cairo said the six and three-quarter inches of snow recorded at the Southern Illinois Airport is not unusual for this time of year. "We generally expect one pretty good snowfall in early March," the spokesman said.

Carbondale had snow crews out at 8:30 Sunday night, but were hampered when one of two trucks broke down, Wayne Wheelies of the Public Works Department said. He said crews worked until 1:30 a.m. Monday, and were back in the streets by 4 a.m. The crews were still working at 3 p.m.

Wheelies said the crew worked a regular snow route, clearing arterial streets such as Oakland, Wall and Mill, and then clearing residential streets.

Wheelies said late Monday afternoon that all the roads were "passable with caution."

SIU security police have had no reports of accidents on campus. Lt. John Hale, day shift supervisor said. Hale said the snow has not caused unusual problems on campus.

"The traffic was slower, as could be expected, but there weren't any problems," Hale said.

He said the security police have not received complaints about parking and the only problem was that the snow covered lines marking parking spaces.

The snow caused a "real problem" for students in wheelchairs, Ron Blosser, intern at Specialized Student Services said. Blosser said the problem was created when snow was cleared from the road and pushed onto the curb ramps for wheel chairs. He said the ramps are being cleared by hand in some areas, but the problem has caused a number of wheelchair students to miss classes.

Blosser said there was "virtually no traffic" in his office Monday.

SIU department heads estimated that attendance was down slightly. Paul Denise, chairman of the Community Development Department, said that both staff and students were affected by the snowfall, some being snowed-in.

Health Service officials said they did not treat an increased number of injuries due to the snowfall.

Board to wait on fee plan

By Jim Murphy
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A package proposal of student fee increases totaling $13.25 per semester will not go before the Board of Trustees at Thursday's Board meeting in Edwardsville, according to Bruce Swinburne, Vice President for Student Affairs.

Swinburne has scheduled a meeting for 3 p.m. Friday in the president's conference room in Anthony Hall. The full package proposal will be presented then.

The fee increase package, representing a $5 athletic fee increase, a $5 Student Center fee increase and a $3.25 student activity fee increase will go on the agenda for the April Board meeting, Swinburne said Monday.

"We've already had pretty good input," Swinburne said of the fee package. The fee increase proposals were initially presented by Swinburne at a meeting on Feb. 24.

He said final plans for the Student Attorney Program and the Student-to-Student matching grant program had not been completed in time for Board of Trustee consideration this week.

Swinburne said he is seeking questions about the fee package to come out of Friday's meeting before taking the final proposal to SIU President Warren Brandt.

Swinburne said the meeting Friday is open to all members of the university community and the location could be moved if enough interest is shown.

Student president bidder tells platform

By Jon Kartman
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Jim Dumont, a senior in Administration of Justice, believes that students are being priced out of college and Student Government should do something about it.

Dumont announced his candidacy for student president Friday and will run on the Aardvark Party ticket.

"There are proposed increases in housing, tuition, the athletic fee and the Student Center fee," Dumont said. "If Student Government would fight these increases, maybe the increases could be eliminated.

"I don't see where Student Government is earning their money," Dumont said. "They haven't done much in the past."

Dumont said he would like to see the spaces in the parking garage that is being built east of Faner divided on a percentage basis.

"If the students pay 80 per cent of the parking fees," Dumont said, "they should get 80 per cent of the parking spaces in the garage. Dumont feels bike registration fees should be eliminated and marijuana legalized on campus.

"I don't see where a student should be kicked out of school because of marijuana," Dumont said.

He said Student Government should be concerned with the problems of the student and should work toward bringing more and better concerts and lectures to campus.

"Helen Reddy and Charlie Pride are all right for the area and townspeople," he said, "but what about some good concerts for the students?"

He feels that William Dean Justice, the Arena Manager who books the acts in the Arena, should be replaced. Dumont said that Justice was "inept."

Dumont said if Student Government could make some constructive moves, students would be able to do something.

"Student Government should get rid of trivial matters and get on to the important issues," he said.

Dumont said the Aardvark Party might have candidates for vice-president and several Student Senate seats if the party is recognized in time for the elections.

Dumont served as a Student Senator representing Thompson Point from 1972 to '73 and has been the Student Government elections commissioner.

News Roundup

Talks started toward energy compromise

WASHINGTON (AP)—White House and congressional staffs are talking in an effort to find a compromise between President Ford and Democratic leaders on energy policy, Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb said Monday, but the crucial question of timing remains unresolved.

Zarb also told the House Budget Committee the administration maintains its support for a tax on imported crude oil, rather than only on gasoline as key Democrats propose.

But he added, "We have got to try to see that gasoline carries its share."

Zarb's testimony was the first official confirmation from the executive side that compromise efforts had moved into the phase of nuts-and-bolts discussions.

Ford invited compromise efforts by deferring last week the second and third increments of his proposed $3 a barrel tax on imported crude oil. House Democratic leaders, in response, moved to hold up a vote on overriding Ford's veto of a bill that would postpone for 90 days the entire imported oil tax hikes.

Kerner to undergo lung surgery

CHICAGO (AP)—Former Gov. Otto Kerner will undergo surgery Tuesday to remove one-third of a right lung doctors believe is cancerous.

The operation, while serious, is considered a relatively routine procedure and poses no particular threat to Kerner despite his age, 66, and a heart problem, said Dr. Arthur T. Haebich, who will perform the surgery.

Haebich said at a news conference Monday that he is 95 per cent certain a tumor about 1 inch in diameter detected in Kerner's lung is cancerous. When he told Kerner surgery was needed, he quoted Kerner as saying, "Let's go ahead with it."

Haebich said he has no reason to believe the cancer has spread to other organs or tissue and in such cases, where the malignancy has not spread, there is a 50 per cent chance a patient will live five years after successful surgery.

"In terms of the lung, we have to speak in terms of five years survival," he said.

State employe pay increase upheld

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Some 60,000 state employes are entitled to $200 each in retro-active pay increases, a Circuit Court judge ruled Monday.

Judge J. Waldo Ackerman ruled in favor of two unions which filed separate suits against Gov. Daniel Walker concerning his actions on a $100 a month pay increase bill passed by the General Assembly last July.

Walker used his veto power to reduce the size of the pay raise from $100 a month to $50 a month, but the General Assembly overrode his action in December.

The $100 a month pay raise was to have gone into effect Sept. 1, but Walker allowed only a $50 a month increase for the months September through December.

The suits, filed by the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes and the Illinois State Employes Association, asked for the additional $50 a month retroactive to September.

ICC, COT support Rock Island rail proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two federal agencies Monday threw their support behind a proposal that would allow profitable railroads to merge their operations with the financially-ailing Rock Island railroad without the government or courts giving final approval.

The Interstate Commerce Commission and the Department of Transportation both said such a proposal might be the best way to keep rail service going to shippers who now are served by the Rock Island.

However, both stopped short of wholeheartedly endorsing the plan, saying only it represented a potentially viable option that could be accomplished without a huge federal expenditure.

Rock Island President John W. Ingram said Monday the railroad may run out of cash either Monday or Wednesday of next week. If it does, he said, it may have to ask for reorganization under federal bankruptcy laws. The Rock Island operates 7,500 miles of track in 13 states.

Woman sworn in as HUD secretary

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the first time in 20 years, the nation has a woman as a member of the President's Cabinet, Carla Anderson Hills, who took the oath of office Monday as secretary of housing and urban development.

President Ford, welcoming the 41-year-old Los Angeles attorney with high praise, said Mrs. Hills faces an immense job in her new post, taking on "the very serious responsibility of administering this important department at a time of recession in the housing industry."

"However," the President told an audience in the East Room of the White House at the swearing-in ceremonies, "she has the unique skills and dedication which are vital in helping us move through a very difficult time into productivity and vitality in housing and urban development."

Ford said that restoration of the housing market was imperative.

Supreme Court Justice Byron R. White administered the oath to Mrs. Hills, while her husband, Roderick Hills, also an attorney, held the Bible and her four children, aged 4 to 13, stood alongside.

In Watergate coverage

Journalism mentor rebutes bias charges

By Dave Iбата
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Rebutting charges of bias in the media, a communications researcher said Monday the press fairly and objectively covered the Watergate affair.

David Manning White, on leave from the School of Public Communication at Boston University and a visiting professor of Mass Communications and English at Virginia Commonwealth University, said, "If it hadn't been for the press, their assiduousness and their guts, I think Nixon would still be president."

White spoke Monday night on "The Celluloid Weapon: Social Comment in American Film." He will meet through Wednesday with organizers of the Communications Studies Project (CSP) to discuss interdisciplinary projects in Southern Illinois. Class or individual meetings may be arranged through the CSP, 536-3362, extension 47.

While most reporters covering Nixon disliked the President, they tried their best to compensate their dislike with objectivity, White said. In Nixon's three campaigns for the presidency, the news media gave him "a fair shake," White said.

"I don't doubt there was a residuum of feeling, a lot of guys who probably enjoyed seeing Nixon fall," White said. "But whether this was reflected in their stories, I don't know—I don't think Woodward and Bernstein would be guilty of bias. They had a hell of a big story there."

White asked, "Aren't we still buying what Nixon had Agnew say through a carefully conceived program to discredit the press?"

David Manning White

In 1950 White undertook the first study to measure the effect of a subjective "gatekeeper" in controlling the flow of news from the source to the public. Hundreds of theses and dissertations have since verified White's findings, he said. He added, "I think the time is now, with so many hundreds of studies of the gatekeeper, to perhaps do a book drawing the whole thing together."

Editors continue to use selective judgment in presenting news, White said. "Concepts and attitudes are already ingrained by the time a person is 10 or 11, and everything that follows is embellishment," White said.

White gave one example of "gatekeeping". One summer White took a post as a copyreader for a newspaper's editorial page. A syndicated column by Westbrook Pegler offended him, he said.

"At the end of the summer, the editor said to me, 'You know, Pegler's column seems much shorter than before.'" In editing out the columnist's attack and profanities, "Definitely I was exercising my prejudice, in what I thought was good journalism," White said.

Because a newspaper uses only 10 per cent of the information it receives, the selection, or "gatekeeping," process is critical, White said.

White has participated with the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) as visiting professor to French, German and Ecuadorian universities. In 1957 he helped organize a school of journalism in Burma. He has written and edited more than 12 books on mass communications.

Snow not expected to hurt area crops

Sunday night's snowfall which covered Southern Illinois with about seven inches, will not endanger crops in the area, Bob Frank, Jackson County extension adviser for agriculture said Monday.

"We might have set a record as to the amount of snow that fell, but snow in general is not unusual for this time of year," Frank said.

Frank explained that in the last few weeks wheat and pasture areas were beginning to green up in anticipation of spring, but the snowfall will only delay the process for another few weeks.

Frank said soybeans, corn, wheat and fruit are the principal crops in the area, with fruit trees being the most susceptible to harm from inclement weather.

"Last year around March 23 we experienced a sharp drop in temperature, killing from 40 to 50 per cent of the apple crop, and about 80 per cent of the peaches," Frank said.

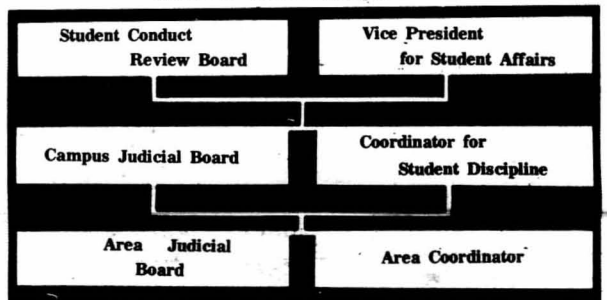

Frank said that fruit trees go through a dormant season during the cold months where the sap from the trees remains in the ground. He said the onset of spring with warm temperatures triggers the rise of the sap from the ground into the trees.

"If there is a sudden drop in temperature, say about a 50 degree drop in a 24-hour period, the apple and peach buds swelling from the sap in them can be damaged," Frank explained.

Frank also said a period of sustained freezing temperatures after the fruit trees have blossomed can be damaging.

Frank said the average Southern Illinois farmer spends snowy days like Monday doing maintenance, feeding livestock, and preparing for the coming planting season.

appeal reviewed by an administrator (the coordinator of student discipline or his designate) or by a student panel (the Campus Judicial Board), Busch said.

The appeal officer or panel do not rehear the entire case, Busch said, but determine whether there are sufficient grounds for appeal.

The appeal petition "may be denied by the hearing officer on the basis of lack of appeal," Travelstead said.

"I have one right now that says 'I'm not guilty' and offers no substantive evidence to the claim," Travelstead said.

If the student chooses to appeal to the Campus Judicial Board, three members of the panel meet to determine if there are sufficient grounds for appeal.

If the student requests an administrative hearing, the appeal is handled by the Dean of Student Life or his designate, Busch said.

After hearing the appeal by the student, the hearing board or officer has three options, Busch said:

—They may accept the report and the decision of the original hearing agent.

—Reverse the original hearing agent's decision and dismiss the case.

—Accept the original decision, but reduce the sanctions imposed.

"The appeal agent may not increase the sanction," Busch explained.

Tomorrow—SIU discipline policy offers a charged student two levels of appeal. The next part will examine these appellate levels and how they affect charged students.

Food day proposed to City Council

The Carbondale City Council was asked Monday to support a Carbondale food day April 17 at the first town meeting ever held on the SIU campus.

The food proposal was presented by Robert Greenstein, 213 West Elm st., who asked the council to study the possibility of allowing vacant land to be used for vegetable gardens.

He asked the council to also study the possibility of creating a farmers market and also of using 10 tons of food stored in a fallout shelter. The council did not know about the food but Civil Defense Director Robert Alexander verified that they are tons of food that the federal government has decided is edible.

Bruce "Buzz" Talbot, regional director of the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws, presented 1,306 signatures of registered Carbondale voters asking that a referendum be put on the April 15 ballot which, if passed, will make the possession of less than 30 grams of marijuana a misdemeanor, punishable by a $25 fine.

SIU snowballers flex muscles

By Mark Kazlowski
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Scores of SIU students were complaining of sore arms Monday after flinging and frolicking in the wet snow that blanketed the area Sunday.

Many of the missiles missed their marks, but at least eight shots were on target. SIU Security police reported six windows were broken in Mae Smith Dormitory. Two windows were broken in the Security Police Office when 50 to 75 student warriors bombarded the office from the Illinois Street overpass.

Boldness was the mood of the evening. Students from East Campus to Thompson Point to South Illinois Avenue hurled snowballs with reckless abandon at vehicles daring to pass near their ranks.

About 150 East Campus residents blocked traffic between Wall Street, East Grand Avenue and Park Street. Any vehicle trying to go through the mass of humanity was subjected to a point blank snowball barrage.

Approximately 150 more students at Thompson Point caught any vehicle driving on the slippery streets in a

Students manned sidewalks on both sides of South Illinois Avenue pummeling passing vehicles and each other with fusillades of snowballs.

Smaller gangs of snowballers formed throughout the city to unleash whizzing white spheres at fellow combatants and unsuspecting motorists.

Security and Carbondale police arrested no one for snowball-related activities during the night. Most students had returned to their books or residences shortly after midnight.

Another try

Numerous incidents during and following the recent primary campaign by several Carbondale residents aspiring city-wide offices have, in themselves, been of comment and, in some cases, criticism. Among those deserving comment was Irene Altschuler's bid to become the city's first woman mayor, write-in candidate Hans Fischer's decision not to seek the office of mayor after receiving the second highest mayoral candidate vote total, and Walter Robinson's revelation that the black residents of Carbondale's northeast side "championed" him in his primary victory. But the recent allegation by Milton Altschuler of monopoly control by the area's press corp in candidate coverage is also worthy of comment—all critical.

In a recent letter to the Daily Egyptian, Altschuler, an SIU faculty member, voiced criticism of the treatment afforded Irene Altschuler by the Daily Egyptian. The publication, he contended, "ignored the public appearances and talks given by the city's first woman mayoral candidate" and "displayed a calculating and wilful management of the news that they (the Daily Egyptian) saw fit to print." Altschuler also contended that Mrs. Altschuler's articulate, reasonable and interesting manner of presenting her views and solutions to local problems was "more than a cynical, opinionated and unfair editorial and reporting staff could cope with."

Altschuler's claims of press monopolization are totally unfounded, and, undoubtedly, based solely on personal prejudices, which may have been influenced by the fact that his wife was among the unsuccessful mayoral candidates. The Daily Egyptian published, on Nov. 26, 1974, an article in which Irene Altschuler announced her candidacy. Throughout the campaign, the Daily Egyptian continued its presentation of candidate viewpoints and schedules of candidate appearances throughout the Carbondale area.

In his letter, Altschuler also makes an issue of Mrs. Altschuler's sex, in that a good showing by her in the primary would have given Carbondale voters an opportunity to elect its first woman mayor. The fact that the candidate was a woman was interesting, admittedly, but it should not have been a factor in voters' decisions. Accordingly, the Daily Egyptian, in its campaign coverage, played down Irene Altschuler's sex.

Altschuler's contention of "ballyhooing" for a non-candidate by the Daily Egyptian, may be partially true, but the fact that a non-candidate was third highest vote-getter in the primary is newsworthy and must be treated as such.

Understandably, Milton Altschuler has reason to be upset and disappointed by his wife's inability to secure enough votes to be included on the ballot for next month's general election. But his attempt to incriminate the Daily Egyptian for Mrs. Altschuler's failure is a grave injustice to the newspaper as well as the voters of Carbondale, who, in reality, made the decisions on whom to cast their votes.

But then again, Mrs. Altschuler, by Hans Fischer's decision not to run for the office, has another chance to prove herself the best candidate. Who'll take the blame should she be defeated April 15?

Every dollar spent in Cambodia is a dollar that is wasted

Every dollar—past, present and future—pumped into the Cambodian government headed by President Lon Nol is a dollar delaying the arrival of precious food to starving Cambodian civilians. The United States should curtail all military aid to the Lon Nol regime in the hope that that government will fail quickly and fall so the United States and other humanitarian countries can send aid to the Cambodian people in the form of food and medicine only.

Before the war Cambodia was a country so rich in its food production that even the very poor were never hungry. Everyone had a piece of land, and there were always bananas and other fruit growing wild and a river or stream nearby where fish could be easily caught. Today it is a barren, charred cinder of a country controlled by Cambodian insurgents.

Hundreds of thousands of people are going hungry. According to the World Health Organization, a relief agency, the 275 grams of rice allowed each person at "government" prices is 175 grams short of the bare minimum needed for survival. Relief agencies in Cambodia estimate that there are tens of thousands of children dangerously malnourished and that dozens are dying daily. Add to this President Lon Nol's order to stockpile airlifted rice from the United States for the exclusive use of soldiers and their families and one has a dismal portrait of a war ravaged population. Such an order is contrary to the American concept of justice.

The continuation of support for the Lon Nol government prolongs the Cambodian population's agony through starvation. The Cambodian people are starving to death on a diet of Lon Nol's political philosophy with the aid of United States supplies.

If you want U.S. aid, lose the war

By Arthur Hoppe

It was in the 43rd year of our lightning campaign to wipe the dread Viet-Narian guerrillas out of West Vhtnng. At last we had achieved Peace with Honor—mainly by getting the hell out of the place.

Of course, the West Vhtnngians went right on fighting the East Vhtnngians under their dedicated military leaders, General Wyn Na Phieu and General Lu Sa Phieu. But things were going badly.

The beloved President of that bastion of democracy, General Mi Thieu, called an emergency meeting of his Cabinet.

"My brothers," he said, "and my second cousins, too, we are suffering disastrous losses."

"In Whar Dhat Province or in Wot Dhat Province?" asked General Wots Ghang Ahn, who wasn't too bright.

"No, you idiot, in Washington," said General Thieu. "The American Congress has cut our aid to a measly $700 million a year. If this keeps up, we'll suffer the greatest loss of all—namely our villa on the French Riviera."

"I've got it!" said General Ahn. "Let's win some smashing victories to restore American confidence in our ability to defend ourselves."

"Are you out of your rice-picking mind?" said General Thieu. "Boy, you sure don't understand the mysterious Occidental mind. Now, here's my plan."

Under Thieu's orders, the famous Vhtnngian general, Hoo Dat Don Dar, took personal command of the battle. Executing a series of brilliant maneuvers reminiscent of von Clausewitz, in two short weeks he managed to lose Whar Dhat Province, Wot Dhat Province, two armies and his gold-hilted sword in a crap game.

There was panic in the capital—the American capital that is. The Pentagon resumed secret flights over East Vhtnng. Hawks in Congress dusted off their dominoes and talked rustily of "protective-retaliatory incursions to find the tunnel at the end of the light."

The President personally called General Thieu. "Dee-fense, dee-fense!" said the President. "But don't worry. I am personally sending you a shipload of WIN buttons, which I have declared surplus."

"Just what we need," said General Thieu dryly.

"And I'll get you a couple of billion from Congress," said the President. "If things keep going like this..."

"They will," said General Thieu confidently.

And they did. In a month, General Hoo had lost half of West Vhtnng and Yaw Nin Gulf. Congress lost its mind and passed the Yaw Nin Gulf Resolution. Unfortunately, General Hoo got so used to losing that he lost his balance in a Gin Seng Parlor and fell into a vat of Gin Seng (a heady native brew).

In his stupor, he appointed General Wots Ghang Ahn to replace him in the field.

"Congratulations, Glorious Leader," General Ahn proudly reported to General Thieu a week later. "I have recaptured all our lost territory and our two lost armies, which I found lost in thought in a dance hall. Victory is ours! For the Americans dearly love a winner."

"A-ye!" said General Thieu calmly. "The Americans may love a winner, you fool, but they only support losers."

"I guess I lost my head," said General Ahn contritely.

"Not yet," said General Thieu. "But how about a week from Tuesday?"

Sorry, but it wasn't our fault Time to go outside channels

To the Daily Egyptian:

Upon reading the Feb. 25 issue of the DE, I came across an advertisement of a local store. One of the items seemed a good buy, so I went to the store expecting to buy it at the advertised price of 69 cents. I soon discovered that the item was marked $1.19. Upon questioning a store employee, I was told that the Southern Illinoisan had made a mistake on that item and about five other items advertised. Though I felt that I should still receive the item for the advertised price, I was told that since the mistake was made, they did not have to sell it at that price. Since I do not like to cause trouble, I decided not to see the manager, or carry the discussion any further.

But after leaving the store, I realized that the ad which I had seen in the DE, which had obviously made the same mistake. It seemed highly improbable that such a thing could happen the same way to the same ad. This gave me the proverbial "creek without a paddle."

Since there's a possibility that the DE gets its ad layouts from the Southern Illinoisan, the mistake may have been an honest one. But my general feeling was that I had been ripped off by seemingly illegal or immoral practices. The moral is to take this as a warning to question such practices and to stand up to such a system until you are satisfied one way or the other.

The Daily Egyptian was supplied with camera-ready proofs of the grocery ad in question. Neither us nor the advertiser was aware that errors in the ad had not been corrected. Both publications subsequently printed another ad calling attention to the correction and giving the correct prices. There was no attempt on the part of anyone involved to publish incorrect prices—Business Manager.

To The Daily Egyptian:

Perhaps the following chain of events—not an uncommon sort of chain for SIU—will interest some readers.

On Tuesday (Feb. 11), well before time for class, the Department of Mathematics was informed that due to illness, I would be at the clinic and unable to meet any classes for the day. They were asked to arrange a substitute.

Result: no substitute was found, and no class was even informed that I would be missing. Yet there are funds available to pay for substitutes when an instructor is missing, and there is at

Now wait a minute, APSC

To The Daily Egyptian:

The article in Wednesday's (March 5) paper titled "APSC supports Center Fee Hike" was unbelievable.

I cannot see why the Administrative and Professional Staff would oppose whether or not the students will pay five more dollars for the Student Center.

I also believe it is completely ludicrous that Dean Travelstead would propose six options for usage of the new parking garage to the obviously unbiased APSC. Even the options themselves are ridden with bias.

I think a better idea would be to figure how much of the $800,000 cost was paid by students, faculty and staff and divide the lot proportionately by that figure.

Who is this University meant for? Students, or faculty and administration?

hitting the students for another $5 to support the Student Center. Who cares what they think? The students pay for it, use it, and are even included in the name. It's none of the APSC's business

Weed news

To the Daily Egyptian:

Diana Cannon's article of Feb. 27 dealing with marijuana was as good and well-informed as the one on peyote.

May I suggest to the owner of the plants pictured with the story: If you would pinch the plants' tops they would not only grow tall but would grow bushier with more leaves.

Diana, keep up the good work and help keep us informed on the highs Carbondale has to offer.

Letters to the Daily Egyptian

The Daily Egyptian welcomes expression of opinions from all members of the University community. Writers are requested to be concise and, in the event the subject has a time element, to bring letters to the Daily Egyptian newsroom as early in the day as possible. The editors reserve the right to condense letters to permit a larger variety of opinions, to correct minor typographical and grammatical errors, and to edit out material that is considered libelous or in bad taste. Letters should be typed, double spaced, and accompanied by the full address and signature of the writer.

Feminist comedy team here Tuesday

By Paula Magelli
Student Writer

Beware, chauvinists (male and female).

"America's original and only feminist comedy duo," Harrison and Tyler, are plotting the demise of your ethnocentrism.

The method employed by these two women in their plot is a consciousness-raising comedy-happening, at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Shryock Auditorium. Free and open to the public, the show is sponsored by University Convocations.

In skits and original comedy sketches, the team uses exaggeration to depict caricatured roles of contemporary society.

Harrison and Tyler refer to themselves as "a comedy team coming from a feminist consciousness." However, they claim to be humanists, jesters and feminists, in that order.

Humor, according to the team, is a valuable weapon against social conditioning. Wielding the sword of comedy, they assault social institutions, and myths that they claim oppress us—all-sexism, racism, organized religion and advertising.

They even treat such prohibited topics as lesbianism, homosexuality and fear of homosexuality.

Humor is the razor-sharp edge of truth, the team says, but "that razor has been used to slit our (women's) throats for too many years."

While they do not believe in deprecating humor towards women or men, included in their routine are spoofs on men and their "macho-ridden" self-concepts. "We don't attack men, we attack myths. If men are behind those myths, then that's their problem," the duo explain.

This team of instigators practice what they preach. Off stage, they invaded and stopped a Rams-Raider football game, and before an audience of 65 thousand people demanded more sports scholarships for women.

Patti Harrison became the first female Santa Claus at I. Magnin in L.A. and invaded the "men's only" salon. She and Robin Tyler demanded de-segregation of the department and equal pay for women. Their plea was met.

The assertive pair will share their experiences on a personal level following their comedy routine. The last half of the show will be a discussion with the audience.

An informal social hour, sponsored by Student Government, will be held afterward to allow students to meet with Harrison and Tyler.

"State of Siege" chronicles foreign police training tactics

A movie depicting U.S. officials training Latin American police to fight urban guerrillas will be shown at SIU Friday night.

The film, "State of Siege," will be shown at 7 p.m. Friday in Wham's Davis Auditorium. Admission is $1. "Now that there are a lot of questions about the FBI and CIA and what they are doing outside the States, this is a good opportunity to see what they are doing abroad under the Alliance for Progress," said Ricardo Cabellero, president of the SIU International Student Council.

The council is sponsoring the film. "The thesis of the movie is that people who train in torture and general repression are not mad schizophrenic people, but they could be good family men who really believe in the system they are working for," Cabellero said.

The film was produced and directed by Constantine Costa-Gavras, who also produced "Z," a film about Greek repression.

Cabellero said "State of Siege" is based on the true story of the kidnapping and assassination in 1968 of Dan Mitrone, who turned out to be an American official sent to Uruguay to train police with repression activities against urban guerrillas.

Sorority schedules Sweetheart Ball

The Nu Psi chapter of Sigma Gamma Rho sorority will have its sixth annual "Missing Sweetheart Ball" from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., Saturday at the Carbondale Holiday Inn. A pre-set will be held from 10 p.m. to 4 a.m. on Friday at University City.

Tickets for the pre-set are 75 cents and it is open to the public. The ball is also open to the public and no admission charge is required. The location of an after-set will be announced at the ball.

This year's Mr. Sweetheart will be announced at the ball. Contestants are Darold Tucker, Dexter Goss, Keith Elzia, Michael Buchanan and Morris Wilson, all SIU students. The contestants are being judged on personality and interaction with the Sigma Gamma Rho sorority, according to Joanne Hawkins, publicity person for the ball.

Gordon Lightfoot concert tickets on sale

Tickets for the April 4, Gordon Lightfoot concert at the SIU Arena go on sale Tuesday at the Central Ticket Office located on the second floor of the Student Center.

Tickets are priced at $4, $4.50 and "Mardi Gras '75" is the theme of the Student Government Activities Fair to be held from 8 to 11 p.m.

Cities are classrooms

BRIARCLIFF MANOR, N.Y. (AP)—Analyzing the flow of traffic on any given street is an intricate and noisy study, according to a student completing her field research project in the Urban Studies Program at Briarcliff College, a private women's college here.

Other students participating in this Briarcliff program may not be subject to the honking of automobile horns, but they are all learning the complexities of urban problems first-hand, through field research in the field—in this case, the northeastern cities of the U.S.

Did You Know

By Moses Robbins

Only three men in history have ever scored 100 or more points in a college or pro basketball game... Can you name the only three who have done it?... They are Bevo Francis who did it for Rio Grande College in 1953, Frank Selvy who did it for Furman University in 1954, and Wilt Chamberlain who did it in pro ball in 1962.

One of the most amazing games in basketball history was a freshman game some years back between Duquesne University and St. Francis... Because of fouls, Duquesne finished the game with only three players instead of five on the floor, and they had no more left on the bench to put in—but what makes this game one of the strangest of all-time is that Duquesne ACTUALLY DID BETTER while they had fewer men playing than when they had a full team... With 7:29 left in the game, the score was tied 59-59 when a player fouled out leaving Duquesne with only four players against St. Francis' five... During the next five minutes Duquesne went ahead 77-61... With 2:23 left, another player fouled out, leaving only three players against five... But, Duquesne not only held their lead—they actually built their score and won the game!

The fourth annual commercial graphic's art fair, with more than $600 in prizes, will be held April 19 and 20 at University Mall.

The hours of the fair on Saturday, April 19, are from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. The fair's hours the following day are from noon to 5:30 p.m.

John Yack, supervisor of the commercial graphics design program, said that more money is being offered at the fair than ever. He added that the entry fee is 50 cents for high school students and $1 for college students.

Yack said that the fair, which is named "Art Fair '75," will consist of six categories: acrylic and oil, pen and ink, mixed media, photography, graphic design and dimensional media.

Yack said prizes will be awarded for the top three exhibits in each category. There will be more than 200 individuals participating in the fair, according to Yack. He added that any student interested in art is welcome to enter the fair.

The SIU Advertising Design and Illustrations Club is sponsoring the event.

Blue Ribbon quality means the best tasting beer you can get. A quality achieved only by using the finest ingredients and by adhering to the most rigid of brewing standards.

In Milwaukee, the beer capital of the world, Pabst Blue Ribbon continues to be the overwhelming best seller year after year. Blue Ribbon outsells its nearest competitor nearly five to one. That's why we feel we've earned the right to challenge any beer.

A WORKING DRAFT OF THE STUDENT DISCIPLINE INFORMATION GUIDE AND DISCIPLINE CODE FOR SOUTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY AT CARBONDALE

To the University Community:

The following is a working draft of the new Student Discipline Information Guide and Discipline Code, for Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. This draft is being presented in this manner to obtain your reactions to the various sections, and to obtain your suggestions concerning recommended changes in the Code prior to its implementation. The Code, if adopted, would replace the current Student Discipline Information Guide.

Members of the community—as individuals, representatives of constituencies, or representatives of interested organizations—are invited to submit written statements embodying their views. These written statements should be directed to specific provisions and particular language where possible. Written statements must be submitted to the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs, Room 311, Anthony Hall. The deadline for submission of such statements is March 21, 1975.

Readers should keep in mind that the following document is only a draft and that the Committee will consider revisions after statements are received and viewed by the Committee for potential changes that need to be made. This new Code is scheduled for implementation beginning Fall Semester, 1975.

The Committee which has written this draft was established by the Vice President for Student Affairs nearly thirteen months ago. Members of the Committee with the constituencies they represent or their titles are:

Thomas Penrose	Student Government Representative
Douglas Diggle	Student Government Representative
Edgar Philpot	Coordinator, Black Affairs Council
	Student Government Representative
Kathy Jones	President Graduate Student Council
Harris Rubin	Faculty Senate Representative

Helen Ellison	Unit Manager
	University Housing
William C. Bleyer	Assistant Dean
	Student Life
	School of Technical Career
Will Travelstead	Assistant Dean

	for Student Discipline

You are invited to contact any of the members of the Committee or you may choose to contact the Chairperson of the Committee directly.

C. Thomas Busch	Chairperson
	Assistant to the Vice President for Student Affairs

STUDENT DISCIPLINE INFORMATION GUIDE AND DISCIPLINE CODE FOR SOUTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY AT CARBONDALE

DIVISION I - TITLE, AUTHORITY, PURPOSE, AND ENFORCEMENT

Section 1-101 - Title

These regulations shall be known as the Student Discipline Information Guide and Discipline Code for Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, and shall hereafter in this document be referred to as the code.

Section 1-102 - Authority

The regulations contained herein are established under the authority and duty of the Board of Trustees to establish and make regulations granted by the legislature of the State of Illinois for the government and management of Southern Illinois University.

Section 1-103 - Purpose

The regulations contained herein and the sanctions for violation of the same are for the purpose of providing and maintaining an environment conducive to the educational development of students on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

Section 1-104 - Effective Date

These regulations are effective for Southern Illinois University at Carbondale from and after August 15, 1975.

Section 1-105 - Enforcement

The basic responsibility for compliance with these regulations will be incumbent upon all members of the University community. The overall responsibility for the enforcement of these regulations will rest with the administrative staff of the Student Affairs Division in accordance with the established procedures of the discipline system.

DIVISION II - COVERAGE AND DEFINITIONS

Section 2-101 - Coverage, General

A. The regulations contained herein shall apply to all students of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

B. Nothing herein is intended to limit the authority of law enforcement officers acting in the line of duty.

Section 2-102 - Definitions

The words and phrases used in these regulations, for the purpose of these regulations, shall have the meanings respectively ascribed to them as follows:

- "Admission" means admission, readmission, reentry, registration, and reregistration as a student to any educational program of the University.
- "Board" means the Board of Trustees of Southern Illinois University.
- "President" means that person appointed by the Board as the chief executive, administrative and academic officer of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale and any person authorized and directed by him to act in his behalf.
- "Code" means the Student Discipline Information Guide and Discipline Code including procedures in disciplinary matters for Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.
- "Member of the University community" means the members of the Board of Trustees, all employees of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, all registered students and all guests of the University.
- "Person" means a member or a non-member of the University community.
- "Student" means any person registered or enrolled in one or more classes.
- "University" means Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

9. "University official" means any person authorized and directed by the President or his designate to perform any delegated function.

10. "Days" shall mean all days the business offices of the University are open and shall exclude holidays and days when the University is not in session.

DIVISION III - MISSION

Section 3-101 - Preamble

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale is dedicated not only to learning, research, and the advancement of knowledge, but also to the development of ethically sensitive and responsible persons. It seeks to achieve these goals through a sound educational program and policies governing individual conduct that encourage independence and maturity. By accepting membership in this University, an individual joins a community characterized by free expression, free inquiry, intellectual honesty, respect for others, and participation in constructive change. All rights and responsibilities exercised within this academic environment shall be compatible with these qualities.

The University community has a responsibility to provide for its student members those privileges, opportunities and protections which best promote and strengthen the learning process. In striving to achieve this goal all participants must remain cognizant of the rights of others. Therefore, to insure the maintenance of the necessary features of a viable academic community and to protect this community and its members from damage or injury, the following rights and responsibilities are hereby promulgated.

Section 3-102 - Rights and Responsibilities

Students shall be free to examine all questions of interest to them and to publicly or privately express opinions. They shall be guaranteed all constitutional rights including free inquiry, expression and assembly. All regulations shall seek the best possible reconciliation of the principles of maximum academic freedom, and necessary order.

To the maximum extent feasible, all University community members shall participate in the formulation and revision of regulations governing conduct. Every regulation shall be brief, clear and specific as possible. Disciplinary sanctions shall be commensurate with the seriousness of the offense. Repeated violations may justify increasingly severe disciplinary sanctions. All regulations governing student conduct shall be made public in an appropriate manner. Procedures and sanctions used in adjudicating violations of this code are designed for their education significance or modification of behavior rather than their punitive effect. In all cases, appropriate appellate channels will be available.

Section 3-103 - Jurisdiction

This code shall apply to conduct occurring on property owned or controlled by the University. When a student has been apprehended elsewhere for the violation of a law, the University will not request special consideration for that individual because of his status as a student. The University will cooperate fully with law enforcement and other agencies with the purpose of aiding in the rehabilitation of the student. Although further sanctions after a law enforcement agency has disposed of a case, the University reserves the right to initiate disciplinary action if the student's conduct has interfered with its educational objectives or functions. Any disciplinary action taken on this basis shall conform to the provisions of this code, including appeal.

DIVISION IV - VIOLATIONS OF THE STUDENT DISCIPLINE CODE

Section 4-101 - Acts of Educational Dishonesty or Deceit

- Plagiarism: representing the work of another as one's own work, or participation in plagiarism by preparing a writing with the knowledge that it is to be used by another as representing that person's own work.
- Cheating by any method or means.
- Knowingly and willfully falsifying or manufacturing scientific or educational data and representing the same to be the result of scientific or scholarly experiment or research.

Section 4-102 - Acts of Obstruction, Interference, Intimidation, Damage and Destruction

- Physical abuse, direct threat of violence or intimidation of another person.
- Vandalism, arson, or malicious damage or destruction of private, public, or University property, including library materials.
- Unauthorized possession and/or use of firearms, explosives, and other types of arms classified as weapons as defined in the Illinois Revised Statutes.
- Intentional obstruction or substantial interference with any person's right to attend or participate in any University function.
- Participation in any activity to disrupt any function of the University by force or violence.
- Deliberate disobedience or resistance of identified University authorities acting in the line of duty.
- Theft, accessory to theft, and/or possession of stolen property.
- Any reckless behavior which represents a danger to person or property.

Section 4-103 - Acts of Misappropriation or Trespass

- Misappropriation or conversion of University supplies, equipment, labor, material, space or facilities.
- Furnishing false information to the University with the intent to deceive.
- Forgery, alteration or misuse of University documents, records, or identification cards.
- The intentional entering of false fire alarms, tampering with fire extinguishers, alarms, or other safety equipment.
- Trespassing or unauthorized entry.
- Issuing a bad check with the intent to defraud.

Section 4-104 - Acts Relating to Drugs

- Unauthorized manufacture, sale, or delivery of narcotic drugs, depressants, stimulant substances, or psycho-active drugs.
- Unauthorized possession and/or use of narcotic drugs, depressants, stimulant substances, or psycho-active drugs.
- Unauthorized manufacture, sale, or delivery of cannabis and/or its derivatives and including synthetic derivatives thereof. 4. Unauthorized possession and/or use of cannabis and/or its derivatives and including synthetic derivatives thereof.

Section 4-105 - Acts Relating to University Regulations and Policies

- Violation of University Housing Regulations, Bicycle Regulations, Motor Vehicle Regulations, the Alcohol Policy, the University Policy on Demonstrations and any other policy or regulation will be appropriately referred to the appropriate adjudicating authority.
- Matters of academic misconduct will be adjudicated by the appropriate academic unit.

DIVISION V - INITIATION OF DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS

Any member of the University community may initiate disciplinary proceedings by filing a complaint within 30 days of discovery of conduct which violates the Student Discipline Code. The complaint must be made in writing and submitted to the Student Life Office. The Student Life Office shall make a preliminary investigation of the complaint. If, after a preliminary investigation by the Student Life Office, no grounds are found for proceeding with disciplinary action, the complainant shall be notified. If the complainant wishes to proceed with a charge, a request for action must be filed in writing with the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs within ten days of receipt of the notification letter. The Student Life Office may convene disciplinary proceedings when sufficient evidence has been obtained to warrant a charge being filed against a student for violation of the code without a request for initiation first having been made. Final authority to dismiss complaints shall rest only with the appropriate hearing officer or judicial board. Any individual who:

- Initiates a complaint or charge knowing that the charge was false or with reckless disregard of whether it was false.
- Interferes or attempts to interfere with the administration of this code, including but not limited to intimidation or bribery of hearing participants, acceptance of bribes, perjury or disruption of proceedings and hearing held under the code.

shall be subject to appropriate disciplinary action.

DIVISION VI - DISCIPLINARY SANCTIONS

All sanctions shall be recorded in the individual's personal file which is maintained by the Student Affairs Division. While an individual is on probation or under suspension, the University shall include a statement of that fact on the official transcript for the duration of the sanction. An individual who is given a disciplinary sanction may petition for an early termination of that disciplinary sanction.

Restitution, where reasonable, will be imposed as a result of damage to or misappropriation of property. This may take the form of appropriate service or other compensation.

Sanctions which may be imposed for violation of this code shall include the following:

Section 6-101 - Disciplinary Censure

Disciplinary Censure is a sanction applied in writing for violations of University regulations. In the event of further violation of any University regulations while under Disciplinary Censure, the violator may expect to receive a more severe disciplinary sanction. The censure shall be imposed for a specific period of time or until specified conditions are met.

Section 6-102 - Disciplinary Probation

Disciplinary Probation is a sanction under which a student shall lose certain privileges. The probation shall last for a stated period of time or until specified conditions have been met. Any conditions or loss of rights or privileges must be clearly related to the offense and must be specified by the hearing officer or judicial board. Any misconduct during the probationary period will bring further disciplinary action and may result in suspension. Disciplinary Probation includes loss of good standing for the duration of the sanction. (It should be noted that this status may result in the loss of some types of financial assistance.)

Section 6-103 - Disciplinary Suspension

Disciplinary Suspension is an involuntary separation of the student from the University for a stated period of time or until a stated condition is met, after which readmission will be considered.

Section 6-104 - Indefinite Suspension

Indefinite Suspension is an involuntary separation of the student from the University which would require a petition to the appropriate administrative official before readmission would be possible.

DIVISION VII - ALTERNATIVE MEASURES

Alternative measures may be imposed for violations of this code only when mitigating circumstances make a disciplinary sanction inappropriate.

Section 7-101 - Written Reprimand

In cases of minor violations of the Student Conduct Code, a written warning may be substituted for official disciplinary action. The purpose of the reprimand shall be to call the student's attention to the responsibility of meeting certain minimal community standards. Records of reprimands will be maintained only at the area level and shall be used only in cases of further violations of the code.

Section 7-102 - Involuntary Withdrawal

After consultation by the hearing officer with medical, psychological or other professional personnel, an individual may be separated from the University by the hearing officer if such action is judged to be in the best interests of the student and/or the University. If the involuntary withdrawal is accompanied by conditions, then the individual shall be readmitted to the University only upon a determination by a hearing officer that the conditions have been satisfied. Any conditions must be clearly related to the circumstances causing the withdrawal, and must be specified by the hearing officer.

Section 7-103 - Interim Separation

In case the President or his designate has reasonable cause to believe that a serious and direct threat to the safety and well-being of the members and/or property of the University community will be present if an individual is permitted to remain an active member of the community, an interim separation may be imposed, but only after a preliminary hearing or the opportunity of a preliminary hearing is afforded. If it is impossible or unreasonably difficult to accord a preliminary hearing prior to the interim separation, the individual shall be afforded such a preliminary hearing at the earliest practical time. The purpose of the preliminary hearing will be to determine if there is justification for withholding the interim separation. During the preliminary hearing the student will be provided a statement of the reasons for interim suspension and an opportunity to rebut. Interim separation is temporary and shall be enforced only until the completion of a full disciplinary hearing. A full disciplinary hearing shall be provided within a reasonable period of time.

DIVISION VIII - IMPLEMENTATION

All disciplinary actions or alternative measures shall be implemented by the Dean of Student Life and approved by the President or his designate.

The disciplinary sanction will begin: (1) when the appeal period has expired; (2) when the student has waived his right of appeal; or (3) when specified by the adjudicating body.

DIVISION IX - JUDICIAL SYSTEMS PROCEDURE

Section 9-101 - Judicial System

A. Basic Principles: The adjudication of alleged violations of the Student Discipline Code and the imposition of disciplinary sanctions, when necessary, is a joint responsibility of students, faculty, and professional staff. The basic principles which shall be observed are the following:

- (1) Any student charged with a violation of the Student Discipline Code shall have the choice of judicial board or administrative hearing. This choice is to be made separately at each successive level in appellate cases.
- (2) Any student charged shall have the option of having an open or closed hearing. However, the hearing authority shall have the option to close any hearing, in whole or in part, if it is deemed that it shall be in the best interest of the witnesses or any other parties. If disruptive behavior on the part of the public attending a hearing occurs, the hearing authority after appropriate warnings, may order the hearing closed to the public, may order those engaging in disruptive behavior removed from the hearing, and may continue or suspend the hearing for an appropriate period of time.
- (3) Any student receiving disciplinary action has the right of appeal.

B. Judicial Board Structure: Judicial boards shall be established parallel to the administrative structure of the University. Matters of academic misconduct shall be handled by judicial panels or administrative personnel under procedures established by the individual colleges and schools. The student governance structure shall have sole power to arbitrate and resolve questions related to student governance. A Student Conduct Review Board shall be established at the level of the President and will handle cases of both academic and non-academic matters including any matter referred to by the President.

(1) Area Judicial Boards - Each living area shall have a judicial board appointed by the Coordinator for Student Resident Life upon nominations from the Area Executive Council and/or the area managers of the respective living areas. All voting members of the board shall be students, but each board may have faculty and/or administrative advisors. The operating procedures of the board including selection of members and organization shall be determined by the board with the concurrence of the Coordinator and the respective living areas. Any matter with this policy statement, any constituent of dispute in organization, procedure, or selection of members may be referred to the Campus Judicial Board and/or the Dean of Student Life or his designate.

(2) Campus Judicial Board - The Campus Judicial Board shall be appointed by the Dean of Student Life and shall consist of undergraduate students nominated by the Student Senate and graduate students nominated by the Graduate Student Council. The board may consider appellate cases from area judicial boards or area administrative hearing officers, and such original cases as may be referred to it by the Dean of Student Life or his designate. The board shall have faculty or administrative advisors. The organization of the board, the selection of its members, and operating procedures in matters of discipline, consistent with this policy statement, shall be determined by the board with the concurrence of the President or his designate, by the board with the concurrence of the Dean of Student Life or his designate. Any disputes over organization or procedures in matters of discipline may be referred to the Student Conduct Review Board and/or the Vice President for Student Affairs.

(3) Student Conduct Review Board - The Student Conduct Review Board shall be appointed by the President or his designate and shall consist of undergraduate students nominated by the Student Senate, graduate students nominated by the Graduate Student Council, and faculty members nominated by the Faculty Senate. The organization of the board, the selection of its members, and operating procedures in matters of discipline, consistent with this policy statement, shall be determined by the board with the concurrence of the President or his designate. The Student Conduct Review Board may consider appellate cases and any other matters referred to it by the President or his designate. The operating procedures of the board shall be determined by its own members, subject to the approval of the President or his designate.

(4) Academic Judicial Boards - Academic deans shall organize boards and/or committees to review cases of academic misconduct. Such boards shall be composed of students and/or faculty. Such boards shall operate in a manner consistent with principles of basic fairness, procedural and substantive due process, including appeal.

All judicial board hearings will be heard by a panel drawn from those boards and each panel shall consist of seven members with two alternates. A decision shall be made by a majority of the seven member panel. Any student who is currently enrolled may serve on a judicial board if that student is in good academic and disciplinary standing during the term of his appointment.

C. Professional Staff (Administrative) Hearing Officer Structure: Area-Level Administrative Hearing Officers - Judicial hearings at the residential level will be the responsibility of the Assistant Dean of Student Life or his designate. All rights and options available as provided for herein will be observed during administrative hearings at this level. President's Level of Administrative Adjudication - Judicial hearings at the President's level shall be the responsibility of the President or his designate. All rights and options available as provided for herein will be observed during administrative hearings at this level.

DIVISION X - RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE CHARGED STUDENT

Section 10-101 - Introduction

The following is the format of rights and responsibilities to be utilized during judicial proceedings. Any exclusion, modification, and/or deletion of the following must be requested from and approved by the Dean of Student Life.

A. Prior to a hearing, a student charged in violation of the Student Discipline Code is entitled to:

1. A notice of charges.
2. Be appraised of all relevant evidence.
3. Choose between administrative staff or judicial board hearing authority.
4. Choose between an open or closed hearing.
5. A notice of time, place, and format of the hearing.

(a) The hearing will be held no sooner than five days of notification of the charges.

(b) Under exceptional circumstances, changes in the hearing date may be granted by petitioning the Dean of Student Life.

It is suggested that any student charged with a violation of the Student Discipline Code participate fully in the established judicial program. Prompt response to all delivered correspondence is expected in order to expedite judicial matters and result in the most efficient application of the adjudication process. Notice of charges will be considered to have been delivered if the notice has been sent to the current local address of the charged as maintained by the Admissions and Records Office of the University. Thus, failure to notify the University of changes of address could result in a hearing being held in absentia.

(c) Respond to delivered correspondence regarding the hearing option will result in referral of the charges to the appropriate judicial board.

B. During a hearing, the charged is entitled to:

1. Advice of counsel. The counsel may be any individual of the student's choice. The role of counsel is advisory in nature, and such counsel may not directly participate in the proceedings as a principal.
2. Present witnesses and any information relevant to the case.
3. Present written statements or depositions which may be taken from person(s) that are unable to attend hearings.
4. Hear and question all witnesses and have access to all relevant information and evidence.
5. The option to have the hearing tape recorded in all cases of initial jurisdiction. However, official records will be made of all hearings, and all appellate cases and open hearings shall be tape recorded.
6. Challenge hearing panel members for cause. The removal of a panel member will be at the discretion of the remaining panel members.
7. One preemptive challenge.
8. Remain silent.

The lack of participation in the judicial process may result in adjudication of cases without the benefit of testimony of those charged. It is the policy of all hearing agents that statements, evidence, or comments given during hearings will be held in strictest confidence by members of the board and its advisor(s). No public statements shall be made by the members of the hearing panel before or during the hearing, or before or during deliberation. In all hearings, at all levels, no individual will be required to offer evidence which may be self-incriminating.

C. After the hearing, the charged is entitled to:

1. A written statement, within a reasonable time, of the decision of hearing specifying all judicial action(s) taken.

2. A written notice of the decision of the hearing and any sanction imposed. Such notices shall include the options and procedures for making an appeal. Appeals must be filed within ten days of receipt of the notice.

(a) If the hearing was closed, the decision of the hearing and any recommended sanctions will be available only to those charged.

(b) If the hearing was open, the decision of the hearing and any recommended sanctions will be posted in the Student Life Office for a period of 24 hours commencing with the time the individual was formally notified of that decision.

D. Appeal of decision and/or sanctions:

Any decision or sanction may be appealed to the next higher level of the judicial structure. However, the right of appeal does not entitle a student to a full rehearing of his entire case. Rather, the appeal board should limit its review of the hearing board's record to three issues: (1) did the accused have an adequate opportunity to prepare and present a defense; (2) did the evidence presented at the hearing justify a decision against the student; and (3) was the sanction imposed in keeping with the gravity of the violation.

The appeal agent may (1) accept the report and decision of the hearing agent, (2) reverse the hearing agent's decision and dismiss the case, or (3) accept the decision of the hearing board, but reduce the sanction imposed. The appeal agent may not increase the sanction.

The University has the right to appeal rulings that affect the admissibility of evidence.

DIVISION XI - DIVISIBILITY AND AMENDING PROCEDURE

Section 11-101 - Divisibility

Should any division, section, or subsection of these regulations be declared unconstitutional or void by any court of competent jurisdiction, the remainder of these regulations shall remain in effect. Under such circumstances, the President or his designate shall have the authority to establish a new division, section, or subsection for that which has been declared void or unconstitutional, without resubmission to the Board, in order to give full force and effect to the intent and the purpose of these regulations. New divisions, sections, or subsections, shall be submitted through the amending procedure to the Board for ratification as soon thereafter as possible.

Section 11-102 - Amending Procedure

At the request of any recognized constituency or the Vice President for Student Affairs, the President shall appoint an ad hoc committee to consider amendments to this code. The committee shall consist of two undergraduate students, one graduate student, one faculty member, one representative from the University Housing Office and one representative from the Student Affairs Area. The student and faculty members shall be designated by their appropriate constituencies.

A two-thirds vote of this committee shall be necessary for amendment of the code. The President shall submit any amendments to the Board of Trustees for ratification as soon as possible.

Offices for student services awaiting move to Woody Hall

SIU is in the process of moving many of the student service offices into Woody Hall.

Dave Grobe, of the Facilities Planning office, is supervising the project. Grobe said that the job could not be completed before the beginning of fall semester, because extensive remodeling is needed before the new offices can be moved into the building.

Grobe said SIU is trying to move most of the offices that are oriented toward meeting students' needs into one building. He added Woody Hall would be convenient because it is centrally located. Time spent in going to different buildings for different services could be reduced.

The Student Life office, located in the T 40-42 barracks, northeast of Morris Library, is one office that will be moved into Woody Hall. The Student Work and Financial Assistance office and the Counseling Center, located in the A and C sections of Washington Square, will also be moving into Woody Hall in the next school year.

The A and C sections of Washington Square will be taken over by the Security Office. The Security Office is presently located in various houses and trailers northwest of the student dorms.

Bifocal or single vision contact lenses can be fitted now with the aid of a computer. Bifocal lens has no segment or line to distort the vision and looks like a single vision lens.

With the use of a PhotoElectric Keratometer called PEK Mark III a photograph of the eye is made. The photo, along with the prescription is sent to the Visual Data Center in Chicago where they are put into a computer. The computer calculates the structure, size, tear layer and the RX required.

The advantage of the lens is usually more comfort and longer initial wearing time.

World model to forecast future trends

By Kenneth Johnson
Student Writer

A sophisticated model of the world, designed to forecast future trends, will be tested on SIU's IBM 370 computer in March, as part of an evolving study of systems science research.

Systems science "is the science of complex organizations which deals with basic concepts, principles and properties observed in complex systems," states a paper submitted by Hermann Haas for the Systems Science Committee. He sketches the background of the "systems efforts" on the SIU-C campus and projects into the decade ahead.

Ervin Laszlo, philosophy professor from the State University of New York at Geneseo, will conduct the world model project. He is commissioned to continue research for the Club of Rome, an organization of 80 international leaders in politics, economics, science-technology and humanities who published results of early world model research in 1972. In the book "Limits to Growth," the club predicted that world crises of resource depletion and overpopulation will occur within 25 to 30 years.

"Our first phase of research calls for comparing existing world models of complex socio-cultural organizations," said Laszlo, who is the author of 19 books on systems science. The research is directed toward improving the club's first model for simulation of national and individual values, morals and ethics.

He said he will be working closely with Aurelio Peccei who heads the Club of Rome and manages the European-based economic and engineering consulting firm, Italconsult, and with the chairman of the United Nation's Commission On the Future, Philip DeSeynes, who is also a Club of Rome member.

"The unique situation one finds at this university is attractive," Laszlo said. He said the SIU computer has the capacity to handle complex world models for large scale systems simulation. He also said the results of Haas' six-year effort to develop a systems science program here had impressed him. SIU's Systems Science Committee recently commissioned Laszlo to act as consultant for developing new programs.

Professor John Voigt of SIU's Botany Department, former dean of General Studies, said SIU leads higher education in developing undergraduate, graduate and continuing education levels of the system science study "that our very survival may very well depend on."

About 50 students enrolled this semester in GSA 125, "The Systems Nature of Man's Environment," the first of two classes in the new program. Voigt said the class introduces students to the principles of systems science. A second class will be added fall semester that concerns value judgments.

Voigt, who heads a systems science subcommittee set up to generate funds for the new program, said the committee will meet with Laszlo to receive recommendations on further funding for the program that Dean Kenneth Serfass, of University Programs, directs. Serfass is chairman of the Systems Science Committee.

The committee's 29 voting members are from 18 academic departments. One more voting member will be accepted, but voting membership will be limited to 30. Serfass said applications for the voting membership should be made by the applicant's dean.

Judge overrules board

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A Circuit court judge ruled Monday that the Illinois Racing Board did not have the authority to revoke the concessionaires' licenses of Cahokia Sports Service Inc. and Cahokia Sports Parking Inc.

Any number of associate members or guests may attend the committee's open meetings. Associate members are placed on the committee's mailing list, Serfass said.

He said Laszlo will be on campus March 14, April 11 and May 2 to continue his lecture sequence which began Feb. 21. From an introduction to systems science theory, Laszlo will continue lecturing on values and world systems science modeling.

The new course will be taught by Steve Schneider, a graduate student in special education at SIU. Schneider has studied hypnosis about 10 years.

The course will meet Wednesdays from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Registration will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. March 17 at the YMCA.

The course will cost persons on the family program plan $5, basic YMCA members $10 and non-members $18.

Schneider said the course will cover history, theory, characteristics, misconceptions and applications of hypnosis.

SOME THINGS YOU'VE ALWAYS WANTED TO KNOW ABOUT TRANSCENDENTAL MEDITATION

THE TECHNIQUE

TM is not a religion or philosophy. TM involves no change in life style or diet. TM is a simple natural technique practiced twice a day for 20 minutes, while sitting in a comfortable chair.

DURING MEDITATION

Extensive research in over 40 institutions, including Harvard Medical School, has demonstrated a striking reduction of metabolic rate during TM, also the breath rate slows and the workload of the heart lessens.

LEVELS OF REST

Change in Metabolic Rate

AFTER MEDITATION

Persons practicing TM enjoy better health. TM provides a chance for the body to carry out repairs and adjustments which are not possible during activity and not accomplished during sleep. Longstanding stresses are spontaneously eliminated through the deep rest of T.M., thereby removing the root cause of "psychosomatic diseases" and leading to a broad range of positive development of the individual.

Fitness instructor says students 'flabby'

By Lester Winkler
Student Writer

How physically fit is the average SIU student?

According to men's physical fitness instructor Ken Ackerman, "He's not where he should be, but he's not beyond repair."

"The students enrolled in GSE 102 ('Physical Fitness') are generally below average in strength and trunk flexibility, and about average in endurance fitness compared to published studies," Ackerman said. Ackerman said this flabbiness is due to the technological nature of society which stresses physical activity less than in the past. "We have to make exercise a priority. We don't get it in our daily life," he says.

Active people function more efficiently, have lower cholesterol levels, handle stress better and are generally leaner, according to Ackerman. A study by Per Olaf Astrand, a Swedish physiologist, states simply, "People who are physically active have two or three times less heart attacks than less active people," the fitness instructor notes.

Ackerman also cited the need for programmed exertion, rather than reliance on the daily physical activity associated with campus life as a step toward physical fitness. A person has to go beyond his daily routine to attain a higher degree of fitness, Ackerman noted.

Ackerman believes that in today's society the first step toward fitness may be mental. The realization of the importance of exercise is the first step toward fitness. But while exercise is important of itself, it must be done correctly, according to Ackerman.

To ensure the appropriateness of an exercise program before GSE 102

Fiedler called national resource

BALTIMORE (AP) — Arthur Fiedler, who was 80 on Dec. 17, was honored by the U.S. Information Agency on a visit here to be guest conductor of the Baltimore Symphony.

The Certificate of Appreciation and Voice of America's Anniversary Medal were presented by USIA director James Keogh who said, "The Voice of America has been fortunate to draw upon the Fiedler Treasury. For our music service he has been a veritable national resource."

students begin conditioning themselves, a profile is constructed on the basis of their relative fitness.

Each student is tested in five areas: strength, muscular endurance, trunk flexibility, cardio-respiratory and the 12-minute walk-run test. Skin folds in selected areas of the body are also measured to calculate fat content. As a result of these tests the student is shown his weaknesses and can concentrate on correcting them.

Students are given latitude in setting their own goals and programs. In the lecture portion of the class, basic anatomy and physiology is taught as well the design of exercise programs to incorporate into daily life.

Daily fitness programs may be as simple as walking or riding a bicycle to class rather than taking a car, or as complex as specific weight-lifting and exercise programs.

Workshop will give Greeks chance to discuss problems

By Jim Melby
Student Writer

The Inter-Greek Council workshop-seminar, "Futura 76," will give Greeks at SIU a chance to air views, discuss problems and set goals for their fraternities and sororities.

The workshop is set for Saturday, March 15 on Greek row beginning at 10:00 a.m. Each of the seven Greek houses will sponsor one of the seven sessions, which are open to all fraternities and sororities.

Delta Upsilon Fraternity initiated the idea of the workshop and Inter-Greek Council will sponsor it. Dean Bidle and Ralph Rosynek, both of Delta Upsilon, are co-chairmen of the "Futura 76" committee.

Bidle said, "The purpose of the workshop is to analyze ourselves and to set short term as well as long term goals. Greeks have undergone a drastic improvement over last fall and are starting to stabilize as well as build up."

"We hope to discuss goals for the next six months and also goals that can be established five to six years from now such as building a Greek row off campus."

A tentative schedule of the workshop has been sent out to the fraternities and sororities. The workshop will begin at 1 a.m. with a retreat for presidents and vice presidents of all fraternities and sororities discussing goals.

At 1 p.m., groups of five to six people will discuss specific topics ranging from housing to finances.

At 3 p.m., the goals established earlier will be presented. Finally, the Office of Fraternities and Sororities will give an informational talk about its services.

To encourage attendance at the workshop, a traveling trophy will be awarded to the organization with the highest percentage of members participating, Bidle said.

Legal, financial fund set for four area policemen

Approximately $2,000 in cash and $500 in pledges have been donated to the financial support and legal aid fund for four Carbondale policemen charged with illegal restraint.

Detective Mark Berkowitz, coordinator of the fund raising effort said Friday, he is pleased with the response the local people have shown. He stressed that now is the time the money is most needed. It appears the case is going to be a lengthy one, he said.

The four policemen, Sgt. Marvin Voss, and Patrolmen Mel Krekel, Robert Goro and William Holmes, are accused of abandoning Sylvester Moore, a 34-year-old Carbondale man, in a rural area about 30 miles southwest of Carbondale.

After the preliminary hearing Thursday, the four policemen were ordered held over for a grand jury hearing.

Berkowitz said the fund raising effort is not associated with the Carbondale Police Department or the Police Officers Association. He said donations may be made by contacting Michael Travelstead at the University Bank.

Congressman's wife says women can alter politics

By Tim Hastings
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

"I have great hopes for women in politics," Mrs. Paul Simon said Sunday night at the Newman Center.

Mrs. Simon, wife of Congressman Paul Simon, spoke on "Woman-power and Politics," for the Newman Lecture Series, sponsored by Catholic Knights and Ladies of Illinois.

"Women will help alter the political structure in this country. Their efforts will not just benefit women, but all members of society," Mrs. Simon said.

Women have always identified with oppressed people, as a result, crime, education and peace are problems they try to solve through politics, he said.

Mrs. Simon has been a member of the Illinois Bar since 1948 and served as a delegate from northern Chicago to the Illinois General Assembly from 1956 through 1960.

The general assembly is an easy place for women to start in politics, she said. In the past two years, the number of women elected to state legislatures has increased 50 per cent, she explained.

Mrs. Simon said the Democratic party gave her no support in her first campaign for the state legislature. "I never had to worry about losing party support because I didn't have any," she said.

As a representative, Mrs. Simon characterized herself as a leader, not a follower. In 1957 she voted against the Right to Work Bill even though it was supported in her district. She did not favor the bill because it would have ended the closed shop.

In the legislature, she was never "one of the boys" and did not care to be. She allied herself with an independent voting block even when partisan pressure was greatest on women.

Though a supporter of the E.R.A., Mrs. Simon said she prefers to be called by her husband's name because he is the head of the house.

She ended her own political career when she married her fellow assemblyman Paul Simon and moved to his Southern Illinois district. "I have never regretted that decision," she said.

Mrs. Simon left office before what she terms the neo-feminism movement began. "The movement has been making more than just political changes. It is trying to knock down entrenched sex roles," she said.

Mrs. Simon said she was sorry about the apparent failure of the E.R.A. in the Illinois House last week. "Most Southern Illinois women do not want the E.R.A. to pass. We need to flood the house with letters in favor of the amendment," she said.

Emotional lobbyists, such as the woman in Springfield last week, may do more harm than good. Sometimes they just make the legislators mad, she said.

As a legislator, Mrs. Simon said she listened to her constituents, colleagues and the lobbyists, but her final decision was based on how "I felt about it."

Grain futures lower

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures closed mostly on the weak side Monday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Soybeans had been down about 16 cents a bushel and wheat was 10 cents under Friday's close before both rallied minutes before the final bell. Corn futures were mixed at the close, while oats lost about 1 cent. Soybean meal was $3 a ton lower, while soybean oil was down the limit of 10 points in a very slow trade.

Beg your pardon

The Daily Egyptian incorrectly reported Saturday that the Student Senate began the annual Joint Fee Allocation Board's (JFAB) process of allocating fees to student organizations.

Student fee allocations are handled by the Student Fee Allocation Committee.

The Daily Egyptian also incorrectly reported the composition of the SFAC panel which hears budget requests. The panel is composed of three members of the Student Senate Finance Committee, one other member of the senate and two members appointed by the Student Body President.

Contrary to a story appearing in Thursday's Daily Egyptian, a $600,000 allocation from the Student Welfare and Recreation Fund to the Student Health Service last fall has resulted in more than just the hiring of three additional doctors.

About $20,000 of that allocation was used to pay for hospitalization insurance, specialty care and accidental life insurance added to the student health benefit plan.

SIU police apprehend man on theft charge

SIU Security Police assisted Carbondale police in the arrest of Sylvester Moore Saturday on charges of theft under $150.

Moore, who signed a complaint against four Carbondale policemen charging them with illegal restraint, allegedly attempted to steal a package of razor blades valued at $1 from the Davie's A-G store at 201 N. Washington Ave.

Kenneth Davie, owner of the store, told SIU police that Moore attempted to conceal the razor blades under his coat. Davie said he stopped Moore and attempted to hold him until police came to pick Moore up.

SIU police were contacted by Carbondale police to make the arrest. Carbondale Police Chief George Kennedy said Carbondale police are trying to keep from having any "undue contact" with Moore until the legal proceedings are concluded.

Moore was allegedly abandoned in a rural area about 30 miles southwest of Carbondale Feb. 19 by three Carbondale policemen on orders by a fourth officer. The grand jury hearing for the four policemen charged with illegal restraint began Monday. The four are Sgt. Marvin Voss and Patrolmen Mel Krekel, William Holmes and Robert Goro.

The SIU police report said a photographer and several people were present when the arrest was made.

Moore had not posted the $500 bond as of Monday afternoon. He was appointed a public defender and court date set for March 17.

Student is victim of burglary

SIU Security Police reported a burglary Saturday in which a student lost goods valued at $2,205.

Mary Jo Pallardy, 350 Wilson Hall told police she left the room with her parents about 11 a.m. Saturday. When she returned about 3:50 p.m.

the apartment had been ransacked, she told police.

She reported 62 items stolen. Among them were a television, two radios, a typewriter, a calculator, a camera, clothes and other personal items.

Church topic to be art

A follow-up meeting to discuss "Opportunities for the Creative Arts in Carbondale" will be held Wednesday at 4 p.m. at the Lutheran Student Center.

The meeting is to pursue the art-related issues raised at the first meeting of "Breaking Barriers in Carbondale" sponsored by the Carbondale Interchurch Council. An informal potluck dinner will be held during the meeting.

The dates of the remaining meetings in the "Breaking Barriers in Carbondale" series have been changed. The new dates are March 20, "Social Change and the Schools"; April 11, "Alternative Living Styles and the City Ordinances"; and May 7, "Human Priorities in the Use of Carbondale's Natural Environment."

Arena curtain partition plans could expand concert variety

By Tim Hastings
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A partition of curtains planned for the Arena could increase the number and variety of concerts presented there, Arena Manager Dean Justice has announced.

Many popular music groups cannot draw a crowd large enough to fill the 9,000-seat Arena. The proposed curtain will block off a 3,500-seat section on the east side of the Arena which will accommodate these groups, Justice said.

More concerts can be scheduled in the Arena when the curtain is installed. The small section won't interfere with the classes and practices held there during the day, he said.

The installation of the partition has been delayed for several years, but Justice said he hopes it will be built this summer.

The price of tickets for concerts in the small section will be the same as for full-size concerts. The musicians will play on a proscenium stage in front of a backdrop of curtains.

Some groups do not like to play in the Arena because they lose rapport with the audience. Acoustical artists, like Joan Baez or America, never play in halls with a capacity over 5,000. Justice hopes the partition will solve this problem.

In the 3,500-seat section, it will be possible to book jazz, blues and soul groups which would have been lost in the full-size Arena, Justice said.

Groups like Herbie Mann; Chic Korea; Freddie Hubbard; Earth,

Wind and Fire and Cool and the Gang are in this category, Justice said.

The cost of the partition system will be between $20,000 and $25,000, which Justice considers a very good investment.

The design of the partition is very simple and should be fairly easy to install. The curtain will hang on batten rails which will be hoisted from the ceiling of the Arena. The curtain can be taken down very quickly after each concert, Justice said.

The plans for the partition are nearly completed and the curtains have already been requisitioned. Once the project is approved by the University, the Physical Plant can begin the installation, Justice said.

Work increases for computer staff

The Department of Information Processing is expecting an even heavier workload by the end of the semester, because activity is already 60 per cent over mid-semester last fall.

The department's computer workload has reached 2,000 jobs a day, said Thomas Purcell, head of Information Processing.

Computer activity is expected to increase even more by the end of the semester, Purcell said. "We're going to have some problems earlier this semester than in past semesters. You can expect some heavy work load times ahead."

The department serves the entire university community, according to Purcell. Students may take classes involving the use of the computer to solve problems, faculty and graduate students may use the computer to process research data and administrative personnel may use the computer to process office reports.

Purcell voiced concern about the future of the work loads in the department. There is 24-hour operation Monday through Friday with partial operation on Saturdays. Purcell said he is considering a shift in staffing to accommodate more activity on weekends. It is a matter of staffing to keep the operation moving at potential, said Purcell. The increase in jobs only reflect the rate of batch jobs that are handled by the department. These jobs include listings and statistical research. In addition to the increase in these jobs, all terminal work still must be handled by the department.

Dorm council fails to ratify overnight parking proposal

A lack of a quorum at a Thompson Point Executive Council meeting prevented last week the passage of a proposal to extend parking privileges at Thompson Point to all residents, said Cindy Elliot, member of the area executive council.

The proposal, which was submitted to the Parking and Traffic Safety Committee, would have allowed Thompson Point residents to park on one side of all area roads. Only the first six rows of Communications lot No. 4 are now open to residents for overnight parking.

Two SIU security patrolmen had cautioned that open parking at circle lots presently restricted to civil service workers may give rise to conflict, Elliot said.

The proposal also asks temporary parking times be extended from one-half to one hour and certain spaces be designated for Resident Hall Counselors.

Haydn ariettas found

VIENNA (AP) — Two early works of Josef Haydn have been discovered in the City Library of Vienna. H.C. Robbins Landon, musicologist and Haydn scholar, came across the scores in the only surviving copy of Count Erdödy's Theater Almanac of 1788, which the library acquired in 1936. Neither piece is listed in the Hoboken Catalog of Haydn's music.

Both compositions are ariettas from Haydn operas that were introduced in Count Erdödy's theater in Bratislava in 1786.

Three teams see little hope

Gymnastics qualifying here

Editor's note: This is the first of a two-part series concerning the visiting teams and individuals competing in the NCAA Eastern Qualifying Meet for gymnastics at the SIU Arena, starting Friday.

By Ron Sutton
Daily Egyptian Sports Editor

It's not the most enjoyable situation facing the third- and fourth-ranked teams in the country in the regionals.

But that's what four teams will be doing Friday and Saturday at the SIU Arena in the NCAA Eastern Qualifying Meet.

The compulsories will begin at 10 a.m. Friday, starting off the meet, with optionals and team competition set for Friday night at 7:30. Final competition will be Saturday at 2 p.m.

Tickets are $1, and can be used for both the compulsories and optionals Friday.

Three of the six teams probably could just as well take seat tickets and enjoy the competition in comfort. Illinois State, Northern Illinois and Ball State appear to have little else to shoot for, other than a few individual qualifiers, while Penn State may have an outside shot. Illinois State, despite being ranked 13th nationally, looks to be an outsider riding primarily on the talents of all-around contender Craig Larson. He also poses a threat in parallel bar competition.

Tom Diederich and Mark Land could place in pommel horse competition, also.

The Redbirds totaled 211.40 points in their top effort of the regular season to gain their 13th place ranking, but none of the individuals are recognized in national statistics.

"Illinois State has a good, solid team," Saluki coach Bill Meade judged recently in anticipation of the climactic meet. "I don't think they'll be in the team competition, but they've got some individuals that could qualify, just as they did last year."

The Salukis won easily in a dual meet at Normal Feb. 4, 214.60-209.65. Larson placed second in all-around competition with 52.60 behind SIU's Jim Ivceek's 54.05. He grabbed second in parallel bars with a 9.25.

Tom Veritek was the only Redbird winner in that meet, placing first with a 9.5 in floor exercise. Meade, however, did not mention him as a contender in the big meet this weekend.

Northern, likewise, has no individual ranked nationally—and neither is the team. John Ranck is the team's top star as an all-around contender and could place in the rings, vaulting or parallel bars competition.

Tom Ware is the only other likely threat, providing the other half of a possibly tough rings duo.

"Northern may have some top individuals, but I don't think they'll get in there," Meade said. "They're coming off the hardship of losing a couple of gymnasts around Christmas time."

Two of the huskier gymnasts, including the freshman brother of Ranck, were killed in a car accident in Florida, where the team was attending a clinic during the holidays.

The Salukis coasted past the Huskies in DeKalb Feb. 8, 215.25-197.60. Northern had scored over 205 points a few nights earlier at Indiana State, but, either way, the team doesn't stand as a major threat.

Ball State, of Muncie, Ind., appears to be in an even more hopeless situation. Just Steve Potaczak in the rings and Mark Gaertner in vaulting stand as possible threats to place.

"Ball State is an awfully young team," Meade said. "They score around 200, so they won't be a threat in team competition."

Salukis ground Panther runners

By Dave Wiczorek
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

A panther is usually known to be a fairly quick cat, but Friday evening the Saluki track team showed Eastern Illinois' Panthers who is superior when it comes to the track oval.

SIU ended its brief indoor dual schedule up in Charleston with 94½-45½ thrashing of EIU.

SIU's times were not its bests of the year overall, in winning all but two events (shot put and hammer throw), but coach Lew Hartzog had nothing but praise for his team.

"This was a low pressure meet, and I thought the kids did an out standing job," Hartzog said. "We didn't try to run up the score, but we ran well."

"It wasn't a real fast track we ran on," he continued, "and, if you try to run too fast, your feet can slip. Cook (Pat) ran well. He was less than a second off the field house record."

The coach said that he was also pleased with the efforts of Dennis Kern, freshman, who won the 800-yard run in 1:55.5, and Gary Mandehr, who outdistanced Eastern's Bert Meyers, winning the mile in 4:15.9.

"Mandehr got out in front, set the pace and ran a real nice mile," Hartzog said. "The real headliner of course, was Hancock. He did just a super job."

It's getting difficult to come up with a different adjective to describe a Hancock performance, so Hartzog sticks with "super" which might indeed be the only word to describe the high jumping Hancock.

This week he set another field house record, leaping 7-foot-1. Hancock has been jumping "super" all year, but he will have to be more than super this coming weekend at the indoor championships held in Detroit. Seven-foot-two jumps have been common around the country this past season.

Lonnie Brown continues to display his extraordinary abilities, winning two events.

"Brown let up in the high hurdles," Hartzog said, "and still set a field house record."

The senior set a Lantz Field House mark with a time of 7.4 seconds in the 60-yard high hurdles.

Brown also won the long jump, soaring 23-foot-5½. Hancock finished second in the hurdles, two-tenths of a second behind Brown.

Wayne Carmody was a winner for the Salukis in the 440-yard run, covering the distance in 59 seconds flat. Mike Monroe took 60-yard dash honors with a time of 6.3 seconds.

Joe Laws and Brown finished 1-2 in the 300-yard run with times of :32.2 and :34.5 respectively. Junior Goerge Haley won the 600, edging Panther Joe Sexton by a half second.

In the triple jump, Saluki Phil Robins continues to dominate the field, leaping 48-2¾ to win the event, and teammate Ken Lorraway finished third at 47-11¼.

The only other 1-2 finish for SIU was in the 3-mile run with Jack St. John winning in a time of 14:13.2 and Jerry George, the runner-up, four seconds behind.

SIU also won the mile relay with a respectable 3:21.3, a time that failed to qualify the team for the national indoor championship, however.

The third field house record was set by freshman pole vaulter Gary Hunter at 16-foot-¼. His nearest competitor was Gerry Byrne of Eastern, who finished second at 15-5.

Hartzog will be taking six men to the national indoor championship next weekend—Robins, Lorraway, Monroe, Hancock, Hunter and Brown.

Phils still seek Allen

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Personnel director Paul Owens of the Philadelphia Phillies said Monday that new trade talks have been held with the Atlanta Braves for slugger Dick Allen.

Top officials of both teams discussed nine Phillies who Owens said he would be willing to trade to Allen.

Owens, Phillies' Manager Danny Ozark and farm director Dallas Green huddled with Atlanta Vice President Eddie Robinson over dinner Sunday, tossing around the names which could figure in a deal.

"Robinson has gone back to talk with his people," Owens said Monday.

Owens refused to name any of the nine players on the list submitted to the Braves, but it is believed that rookie outfielder Alan Bannister, considered an excellent prospect, is one of those being offered. Reportedly, the Phillies could be trying for a multi-player deal which would include Braves catcher Johnny Oates.

Owens said he did not expect any immediate action in the negotiations. He pointed out also that if he came to agreement with the Braves on players, he would have to go to Philadelphia first for a face-to-face talk with Allen.

"I have to be sure that he will play for us and will observe a few simple rules we have on the ball club," Owens said. In the past Allen has been known to work under his own rules, missing curfews, games and batting practice and in general flaunting team regulations. Owens says the Phillies will not give up any front line talent to obtain the controversial first baseman.

Women lose at regional

The Saluki women's basketball team lost in its second encounter at the regional tournament at Illinois State Friday, 69-50, to Bowling Green of Ohio.

The Salukis were defeated by Calvin College of Michigan 53-50 on Thursday, followed by Bowling Green game which ended their season.

Jan Winkler led the Saluki scoring drive against Bowling Green with 20 points, but her efforts alone were not enough to keep the Salukis in the lead. Pam Berryhill, usually the team's second highest scorer, scored only seven points, followed by three other team members who scored six each.

At the half the Salukis were down by only eight, but Bowling Green capitalized when the Salukis lost Winkler and Nancy Rist on fouls. Rist is the Salukis' best ballhandler, and the team is really hurt when she is out of the lineup. No other team member picked up more than one foul.

Friday ended the Salukis' season and post-season play with a record of 13-8.

SIU-Pittsburgh drawn for opener

By Ron Sutton
Daily Egyptian Sports Editor

"We didn't particularly want to run into you guys."

That was Pittsburgh assistant coach Fran Webster's reaction Monday to news that the Panthers had drawn SIU as a first round opponent for the 38th annual National Invitational Tournament.

The two teams will clash at 7 p.m. Saturday night at Madison Square Garden in New York City in the third of eight first round games. St. John's (19-8) meets Lafayette (22-5) in the second half of the doubleheader at 9 p.m.

Massachusetts (18-7) and Manhattan (13-11) open the tourney action Saturday afternoon with a 1 p.m. contest, followed by Providence (17-10) and Clemson (17-10) at 3 p.m.

The Salukis would face the winner of that game in the second round Tuesday night if they get by the 17-10 Panthers Saturday.

Sunday's first round games find South Carolina (18-8), which knocked out SIU six years ago at the NIT, meeting Connecticut (18-8) at 1 p.m. Princeton (18-8) and Holy Cross (19-7) battle at 3 p.m.

Sunday night Memphis State (20-6) meets Oral Roberts (19-7), who split two games with SIU this year, and St. Peter's (15-11) faces Oregon (18-8).

Memphis State ranks as the top offensive club in the tourney, averaging over 90 points per game as one of the top ten in the country. Princeton is ranked among the top five nationally in defense, allowing just over 60 points a game.

Pittsburgh has what Webster terms "apparently a very similar team to Southern Illinois."

"We blast a team out, then another team we should blast out, we don't," he said by telephone Monday. "It should be a good ballgame."

The club, coached by Buzz Ridl, who along with Saluki head coach Paul Lambert was in New York Monday for an NIT luncheon, utilizes seven main players, much the same as SIU. In all, nine players see considerable action.

Kirk Bruce, a 6-foot-4 senior guard leads the team in scoring with a 17.6 regular season average. His running mate 8-foot junior Tom Richards averaged 16.6 points per game.

Keith Starr, a 6-7 junior forward, anchors the front line with a 13.3 average, opposite 6-5 senior Lew Hill, averaging 8.6. Freshman center Mel Bennett, a 6-7 freshman, scored at a 10.1 clip.

Larry Harris, a 6-7 freshman forward, and Jim Bolla, a 6-8 senior center, are the Panthers' key backup men. Willie Kelly, a 6-6 junior, and Bob Shrewsbury, a 5-10 junior, also see considerable playing time.

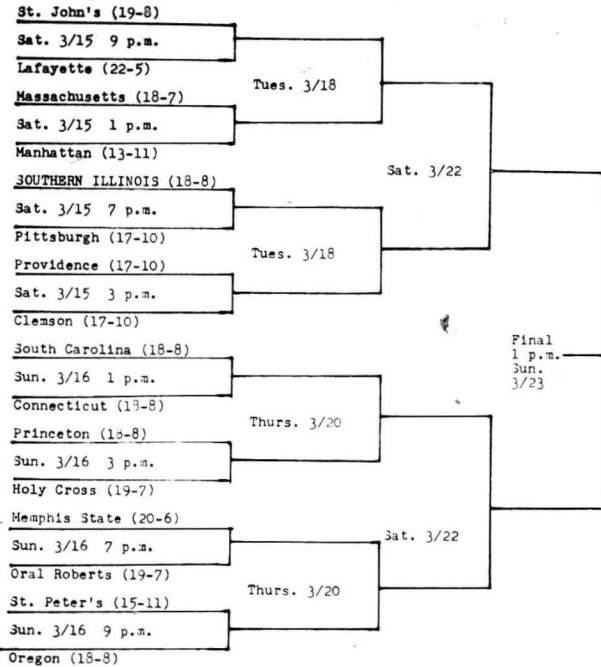

The scoring figures do not include the Panthers' two-game tournament trail. Pittsburgh was seeded no. 1 for the Eastern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference's post-season playoffs, which sent the winner to the NCAA, but the Panthers didn't make it.

Georgetown, the eventual NCAA pick, topped Pittsburgh by two points, before the Panthers polished off host West Virginia in the consolation game by 25 points.

The team's most impressive regular season performances were wins over Marquette and Notre Dame and a two-point loss at South Carolina.

The Panthers dumped Marquette 65-58 in a home game and whipped Notre Dame 84-77 in a game held on a "neutral" Pittsburgh court.

"We change our patterns according to the type of teams we play, and I'm sure we'll change something for Southern," Webster remarked. "I imagine they're adjusting for us, too."

Tankmen 'fantastic'

By Dave Wieczorek

"Just fantastic!"

Those were the only words that Saluki swimming coach Bob Steele could find to describe the performance of his team at the National Independent Championship in New Orleans this past weekend.

SIU finished in third place behind winner South Carolina and runnerup Miami. The team didn't come home with a carload of first place finishes, but it couldn't have swam much better than it did.

Out of 31 Southern swimmers, 20 times were lifetime bests and 24 were season bests.

"I haven't had a team make this kind of drop in times as consistently as this team," Steele said Monday afternoon. "The team was really enthusiastic and spirited despite being the smallest group there."

SIU took just 12 simmers to the meet, compared to 18 taken by most other teams.

Junior Jorge Delgado and sophomore Dave Swenson continue to outdo themselves meet after meet. Delgado won the first event of the meet, the 500-yard freestyle in meet and pool record time, 4:35.5. Swenson finished three seconds back in fourth.

Delgado then teamed up with Mike Salerno, Paul Schultz and Dennis Roberts in the 400-yard medley relay to finish fifth in 3:32.4.

The Saluki captain, Swenson, was a multi-record setter in the 1650-freestyle. His time of 9:29 was a meet, pool and SIU record.

That wasn't the extent of Swenson's workload, as he stroked to his lifetime best time of 4:10.3 in the 400-individual medley.

After a brief rest, Delgado returned to the water in the 200-freestyle, claiming a close second. Teammates Rick Fox and Dave Boyd collected fourth and fifth, respectively.

Although finishing second in the 100-backstroke, Salerno broke his school record, establishing the new mark of :52.6.

Freshman Steve Jack also broke a school record and qualified for the NCAA championships with a one minute-flat time in the 100-breaststroke. Paul Schultz put together a 2:11 in the 200-breaststroke to qualify for the NCAA and finished sixth. Minutes later, Delgado won his final individual event of the weekend, setting a new meet and pool record in the 200-butterfly with a 1:52.27 effort.

Other personal bests were recorded by Jamie Powell and Salerno in the 200-backstroke, as they finished third and fourth, respectively.

Rick Fox, Tony Wickham, Dave Boyd and Delgado combined their talents to capture first in the 800-freestyle, establishing a pool record, and the Salukis finished second in the 400-freestyle with a time of 3:08, which qualified them for the NCAA.

"We just put everything together," Steele remarked. "Everything went the way we expected it to for the most part."

"We'll start working everyone hard now, even the guys who have been resting," the coach said, obviously pointing to the NCAA championship meet coming up in about two weeks.

"The sophomores have really come into their own this year," Steele praised. "The big thing is that they have confidence in themselves and confidence in what I am doing. I'll be sorry to see them when they're seniors, because that's the last year I'll have them."

The swimmers will now have almost two weeks to prepare for the NCAA championship which gets underway Thursday, March 27, in Cleveland, Ohio. The meet will run through Saturday.

Ricci awaits final word

The jury remains out in the case of Saluki cager Tim Ricci's foot injury.

However, a decision will be reached Wednesday when an orthopedist examines the senior forward's broken metatarsal to decide if a cast is needed.

Team physician Dr. William Hendrickson of the SIU Health Service returned from a trip Monday to review the x-rays, and he backed the earlier "common knowledge" diagnosis of a broken metatarsal.

Team trainer Robert "Doc" Spackman had asked physicians to delay putting Ricci's foot in a cast until Dr. Hendrickson saw the x-rays. Not being a physician, Spackman was not empowered to veto the Health Service's decision as had been reported in Friday's Daily Egyptian.

"We can't put a cast on until the swelling in the foot goes down," Hendrickson said Monday. "That's the reason the cast isn't on. In all probability, he won't be playing."

"He's an expert in fractures and two heads are better than one," he said of the decision to bring in an orthopedist. "Ricci's a senior and this is the NIT, so we'd like for him to play. We're more interested in the patient's health, though."

The two-year Saluki starter injured the foot during last Monday night's regular season finale against Creighton. He wasn't bothered by the injury, however, until the following day.

"He didn't complain after the game at all," Hendrickson said. "He complained Tuesday and was x-rayed. We're just trying to keep the swelling out, although some doctors would have us cast it."

"March Fracture" is what they call it," he added. "It's fatigue of the bone, which is common in soldiers—that's why they call it that."

"The term came from World War I. It's a spontaneous thing which you don't even feel until the next day."

Ricci isn't the only starter hurting, but, apparently is the worse off of him and guard Perry Hines. Hines, who pulled a leg muscle during the next-to-last game against Evansville, practiced at near full strength Monday.

SIU Cycling Club training ends for Chattanooga opener

Dave Casebeer time trialed to victory Sunday in the SIU Cycling Club's final training event before starting its 1975 national competition season.

Casebeer completed his trial, which is an all-out speed event without the tactics or maneuvering of a race, on a twisting and windy course, at 22.7 miles per hour. Dan Casebeer was second at 22.5 mph, with Steve Loete third at 22.1 mph.

Other SIU time trialers, in finishing order, included Ralph Campoverde, Oscar Meyer, Michael Jenkins, Skip Ricketts, and Frank Altschuler.

While each SIU team member trains individually each day, in addition to training events, bad weather recently has restricted training time. According to Ralph Campoverde, while the team has hopes for a victory in Chattanooga, "we can only hope the weather has been as bad in the South as it's been in Southern Illinois."
