Moslem Student Society suspended

By Rod Furlow
Staff Writer

An Iranian group headed by the man who was charged with battery in a brawl that broke out in the Student Center last month has been suspended by SIU-C.

The Moslem Student Society has lost its status as a recognized student organization, according to Nancy G. Harris, director of student development.

The anti-Khomeini group is headed by Nosrato Ghanbarnajad, 26, an engineering student who was arrested by SIU-C police last week and charged with battery in connection with the brawl that broke out in the cafeteria Feb. 10 between pro- and anti-Khomeini groups.

Mrs. Harris said the suspension is effective until the end of the summer semester, when the group can reapply for recognized student organization status.

Mrs. Harris said the suspension means the group will not be allowed to have organizational activities on campus.

Harvey Welch, dean of student life, has temporarily suspended the Student Center privileges of three other Iranian groups, Mrs. Harris said.

"Basically it's a cooling-off period," she said. "Mr. Welch is going to review the situation after spring break and decide if the groups will be allowed back into the Student Center."

The SIU-C police report of the brawl on Feb. 10 is being reviewed by Jackson County State's Attorney John Clemons, who issued the warrant for Ghanbarnajad's arrest and will decide if any more arrests will be made.

SIU-C police said that 17 people were involved in the fight, and a witness who asked not to be identified said that one of the participants was struck over the head with a chair.

Bruce Swinburne, vice president for student affairs, said that SIU-C's Iranian students have been requested by letter to stay off of the campus unless they are using the library, going to class, or using the food services.

"I realize we're punishing all Iranian students for something very few people are responsible for, and that's unfortunate," Swinburne said. "But measures had to be taken to stop the use of physical abuse to impose ideas upon others. We have to stop this wild West — or maybe wild East — mentality."

"I hope the letters achieve their desired effect, but I just don't know if they will," he said.

"The strongest action the University can take is to suspend someone. That's not something we want to have to do."

Swinburne said "about a half a dozen" of the 17 students involved in the fracas on Feb. 10 will be charged with violations of the student conduct code.

Swinburne said that students charged would be tried by the council's judicial board. If students choose to appeal the board's decision, they can opt for either a board hearing or an administrative hearing, in which Swinburne would review the case, he said.

Swinburne said the cases could end in suspensions being meted out, or the students could be put on probation.

State legislators scheduled to attend aid cutback hearing

By Lyndall Caldwell
Staff Writer

A hearing for East Campus dormitory residents to voice concerns on the effects of tuition increases and financial aid cutbacks, scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday, has been postponed until 8 p.m. Tuesday, so that several state legislators may attend.

The hearing, to be held in the lobby of Neely Hall, was organized by Stan Irvin, student trustee.

Irvin said the hearing will be attended by state Rep. Wayne Alstat, R-58th District, State Sen. Gene Johns, D-59th District, State Rep. Bruce Richmond, D-58th District and Bruce Swinburne, vice president of student affairs. State Rep. C.L. McCormick, R-59th District, told Irvin that he would do his best to be at the hearing. Irvin said that State Rep. Ralph Dunn, R-58th District will send an aide if he cannot attend and U.S. Rep. Paul Simon, D-24th District will send an aide.

The "Education for Everyone" hearing, sponsored by the Undergraduate Student Organization and the Graduate Student Council, will be held as scheduled from 2 to 4:30 p.m. Monday in Student Center Ballroom C.

At the USO-GSC hearing, students and student organization leaders will testify how they will be affected by tuition hikes and cuts in financial aid. The testimonies will be videotaped, and transcripts will be sent to state and federal legislators and the Board of Trustees.

Irvin said he plans to speak with students at area high schools and a junior college Tuesday. He will discuss how future college students will be affected by tuition increases and financial aid cuts.

Irvin plans to go to high schools at Marion, McLean, sboro, and Benton, and at John A. Logan Community College.

"At each high school we'll talk to seniors who are primarily college bound. At Logan the guidance department is getting a group of students together to talk about their third and fourth years of college," he said.

Todd Rogers, USO president, will accompany Irvin, and Debbie Brown, GSC president, has also been invited.

Gus says if teach-ers can't do it, maybe a rash of food fights or streakers can convince Washington that college kids are seriously in need of dough.

Trueblood's food fight lets Bluto's spirit live

By Rod Furlow
Staff Writer

Actor John Belushi was found dead in a Los Angeles bungalow Friday, but his samurai sword-swinging, food-slinging memory lives on. Especially in Trueblood Hall.

A food fight similar to the one started by Belushi when he played Bluto Blutarzky in the movie "Animal House" broke out in Trueblood Hall Friday evening, giving five food service workers about an hour's worth of extra clean-up work.

Bill Smedick, resident assistant, said he entered the hall at about 5:45 p.m. and heard several people chanting. "Food fight, food fight!"

Smedick has reason to believe the fight was to honor the pudgy, crinkly-eyebrowed Belushi, who roared into movies after ending his career as a Saturday Night Live regular.

"I heard somebody say something about Belushi, and the next thing I knew the food was flying," Smedick said. "It went on for a couple of minutes."

Smedick said two students were treated at Memorial Hospital and released after the food fight. One was hit in the head by a plate, the other was struck by a glass.

Smedick said SIU-C security police showed up to quiet the disturbance.

Some library staffers criticize book move

By Bob Delaney
News Editor

Morris Library staff members are preparing to move 60,000 books and periodicals to a Marion warehouse.

And they're not altogether happy about it — for several reasons.

Members of the staff, as well as a committee that studied the move, consider the storage of books an interim solution to a serious space problem that faces SIU-C's and many other libraries.

But they realize that the possibility of a permanent solution — adding to the library or building an annex — is remote since the Illinois Board of Higher Education is buckling down on state university building projects.

BECAUSE MONEY for library expansions is lacking, and to provide a building to house the 60,000 books and give Morris Library room to add new books for about two years, the University chose what Clarence Dougherty, vice president for campus services, called "the best available site" for storage. It turned out to be the Bracy Building, a 60,000 square-foot structure on 11 acres on North Fourth Street in Marion, which the University has leased.

Staff members and SIU-C officials are worried about the distance to the warehouse. There is concern about students' access to the stored books.

Librarians had hoped to have a twice-a-day pickup service for books requested from the storage facility, but the distance to Marion means the trip can be made only once each weekday and on Saturday, according to Darrell Jenkins, who chaired the Storage Library Committee.

The committee estimated that a half-million books could be stored in the facility. Morris Library was built to accommodate a million volumes, but now holds about 1.6 million.

ACCORDING TO Paul Lingenfelter, deputy director of the IBHE, there is no "carved-

No cause of death established; more tests set in Belushi death

LOS ANGELES (AP) — More detailed tests must be conducted on tissue from the body of comedian John Belushi, because the initial autopsy did not reveal the cause of death, officials said Sunday.

The new tests, which call for slides of body tissue that might show changes caused by disease as well as toxicological and neurological analysis, "more than likely" will begin Monday, mortuary attendant Gavino Herrera said.

Herrera said the specimens to be used in the more detailed tests probably were removed from the body during Saturday's autopsy.

Belushi, 33, who won acclaim on television's "Saturday Night Live" and starred in the films

"Animal House" and "Neighbors," was found dead Friday in a $200-a-day bungalow of the elegant Chateau Marmont Hotel on Sunset Strip.

Also on Sunday, Howard Koch, the producer of the Academy Awards presentations, said he had spoken with Belushi the afternoon before his death and the comedian had agreed to appear on the March 29 broadcast.

"He sounded marvelous — very up, very excited," Koch said. "I thought it was going to be great, the two of them." Belushi was to appear on stage with longtime friend and "Saturday Night Live" co-star Dan Aykroyd to present the Oscar for best visual effects.

Los Angeles County Coroner

Thomas Noguchi said in a terse statement read to reporters after the autopsy that the cause of death had not been established and no additional information would be released pending further tests. Philip Schwartzberg, Noguchi's assistant chief of investigations, declined to say when the next results might be expected.

Police Lt. Dan Cooke has said there was no indication of foul play.

Noguchi refused comment on a statement by a hotel gardener, who saw the body, that Belushi appeared to have choked on food.

A spokesman for Aykroyd said he was "just overwhelmed by the whole situation."

Violence marks Guatemalan election

GUATEMALA CITY (AP) — Gunmen wounded three people at a polling station Sunday and three guerrillas were killed in a shoot-out, police said, but voters appeared to be ignoring a leftist call to boycott the national elections.

Police said the gunmen opened fire at the polling place on the capital's southern edges and fled in a speeding car, shortly before voting for a new president and other officials opened.

Later, authorities said three terrorists, one with a sack full of bombs, were killed in a shoot-out with police.

At least 38 other people died in political violence on election eve.

Tanker catches fire, sinks in Atlantic

NEW YORK (AP) — A supertanker set afire by an unexplained explosion sank in the mid-Atlantic on Sunday, and the Coast Guard called off a search for nine U.S. crewmen missing and presumed dead.

Sixteen other crewmen who scrambled into lifeboats were taken aboard a Swedish merchant vessel.

U.S. Coast Guard spokesman Lt. David Klein said the empty, 892-foot-long oil tanker "Golden Dolphin" sank around 6:20 a.m. Sunday, 900 miles east of Bermuda, following the explosion in its tank Saturday afternoon.

The Coast Guard office here, which is responsible for coordinating rescue operations for the northern Atlantic Ocean, had received a distress call from the Golden Dolphin at 2:54 p.m. EST Saturday, Klein said.

Congressmen invited to El Salvador

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leftist Salvadoran guerrillas have invited House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. and other members of Congress to visit rebel-controlled territory in the Central American country.

The invitation was made in a letter from Ferman Cienfuegos, a member of the guerrilla high command, and was brought to O'Neill by three congressmen who visited El Salvador last month.

Diocese denies charge against Cody

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's largest Roman Catholic archdiocese has denied a newspaper report that it submitted false insurance documents so Cardinal John Cody's life-long friend Helen Dolan Wilson could receive an unearned pension.

However, Bernard Hanley, the spokesman who denied the allegations on behalf of the diocese, refused to elaborate on the denial.

The Chicago Sun-Times' copyright article Sunday said that for 12 years, Mrs. Wilson received a $3,000 pension based on false work and salary records given Aetna Life Insurance Co. by the diocese.

Cody, spiritual head of the 2.4-million member diocese, is scheduled to retire, as is customary, on his 75th birthday, which is Dec. 31.

Insurance plans have been subpoenaed by the federal grand jury probing Cody, Douglas Alspaugh, vice president of corporate communications for Aetna in Hartford, Conn., said in the Sun-Times.

Mrs. Wilson also is Cody's stepcousin.

She is a key figure in the federal grand jury investigation of the cardinal's financial activities.

The Sun-Times disclosed in September that an investigation was under way to determine whether the archbishop diverted up to $1 million in tax-exempt church money to enrich

Mrs. Wilson.

The newspaper said the grand jury already has subpoenaed records of bank accounts in three states belonging to Cody or Mrs. Wilson.

Cody was hospitalized in January for a chronic heart condition. He has denied wrongdoing. He had promised to answer specific accusations, but never has done so.

The Sun-Times on Sunday also criticized the archdiocese and the ailing cardinal in an editorial.

The editorial said, in part, that "the cardinal and his advisers apparently feel no responsibility to lift the burden of doubt and fear weighing on Chicago Catholics."

Council to discuss land-buying timetable

By Bob Bondurant
Staff Writer

A timetable for land acquisition and clearing procedures of the proposed downtown convention center and parking garage will be reviewed Monday by the Carbondale City Council.

Sept. 7 is set as the goal to begin demolition of existing structures. The convention center site would be conveyed to developer Stan Hoyer by the end of 1982, according to the timetable prepared by Elizabeth Byrnes, assistant city attorney.

Construction should begin in January, 1983 on the project, which must be completed by Dec. 31, 1984.

The convention center is planned for the block bounded by Walnut and Monroe streets and University and Illinois Avenues, with the parking garage to be constructed between Walnut and Elm streets, facing Illinois Avenue.

Final offers to purchase have been sent to property owners of the site, but less than a third of the city's offers have been accepted.

The city plans to begin eminent domain proceedings March 12 against property owners who have not sold their land to the city by that time.

In a related matter, the council will review City Manager Carroll Fry's report on the formation of an ad-hoc committee to speed the relocation of displaced businesses.

In a memo to the council, Fry said the committee would be capable of "fast tracking" the relocation of businesses displaced by the convention center redevelopment project, as well as the city's U.S. 51 St. Louis Spur Overpass project, part of the railroad relocation project.

The overpass project is located north of the city on U.S. 51. Businesses that will be displaced by the project are Hunter Sales Corp., Carbondale Concrete Products Inc., R. B. Stevens Construction Co., Stotlar Lumber Co. and Moose Home Association.

The committee will meet weekly to review problems in the relocation process, and expedite requests for city action to assist the displaced businesses, Fry said.

City Economic Development Director Frank Moreno will be assigned as ombudsman and problem-solver for displaced businesses, and will be the city's contact point with them.

Priority report, tenure policy changes on F-Senate's agenda

By Doug Hettinger
Staff Writer

The Faculty Senate will discuss a resolution Tuesday that approves, in principle, the Academic Priorities Task Force report, but asks that an avenue be left open for faculty to recommend changes in the ranking of academic programs.

The senate, which meets at 1:30 p.m. in the Mississippi Room of the Student Center, will also discuss a resolution that recommends changes in the promotion and tenure policy of the University.

The academic priorities report would establish a standing committee of faculty members to advise the president and the vice president for academic affairs on the ranking of the University's academic programs in times of financial duress. The ranking would be a basis for deciding which programs might be cut back or eliminated.

The resolution acknowledges the need for such a committee, but offers senate members the opportunity to recommend any changes they think should be made in guidelines of the academic priorities committee.

The senate also will consider a resolution recommending that when a department recommends one of its faculty for promotion, it is "implicitly" recommending that the faculty member be tenured.

According to the resolution, the Faculty Handbook currently provides that the vice president for academic affairs and research either accept or reject both the tenure and the promotion recommendations.

The resolution proposes that the vice president grant tenure even if he is "disinclined to accept the recommendation to promote."

The senate also will discuss alternatives offered by its faculty status and welfare committee to a task force report on rewards. The committee recommends that promotion and some forms of monetary compensation be used as rewards for achievement by faculty. These options are not included in the task force report.

The committee also recommends using several non-salary rewards that were not suggested by the task force. The committee will propose that travel pay, equipment used in a faculty member's field, summer research, reduced work loads, time off with pay, sabbaticals and other leaves be offered as rewards to deserving faculty.

The committee also suggests that the vice president for academic affairs find out how many people recommended for promotion actually get promoted, what percentage of those eligible for promotion are actually considered, and how the percentage of SIU faculty given promotions compares with that of other universities.

In other business, William Gregory, chair of the governance committee, will report on revisions to the University's procedure for filing a grievance.

Student arrested for DWI

An SIU-C student was arrested Saturday by city police and charged with driving while intoxicated and with battery.

John Heffernan, 19, 614 S. Logan, is accused of wrecking the car of Timothy Rennels, 21, 800 E. Grand, and of striking him during an argument after the accident.

Police said Heffernan was driving the car on South Wall when it skidded across Pleasant Hill road and went off an embankment, damaging the front right fender. Police said the car was towed from the scene of the accident.

Police said Heffernan's breath test showed that he had .13 percent alcohol in his blood, enough to charge him with DWI.

USO waivers benefit few at expense of all students

ON ONE HAND, the Undergraduate Student Organization, together with the Graduate Student Council, is conducting its "Education for Everyone" campaign in protest of financial aid cutbacks and tuition hikes.

On the other hand, the USO insists on instituting new services that may cost SIU-C students more money.

The USO recently passed a bill authorizing fee waivers for two undergraduates for fall 1983, spring and fall 1984 and spring 1984. In other words, the USO plans to pay the fees of eight students with the fees paid by all SIU-C students.

Granted, the plan does not yet call for an increase in fees paid by SIU-C students. Instead the waivers will be financed with extra money the USO received from the Student Organization Activity Fund — an unexpected $16,000 gift resulting from higher than expected enrollments.

BUT THE USO hopes that future administrations will continue to pay these fee waivers — a move that could result in higher student fees.

The USO hopes to promote academic success with the fee waivers. A committee of three student senators and two USO presidential appointments will decide who to grant the waivers to on the basis of academic excellence, outstanding service to the University community and financial need.

While the idea is noble, the plan is not. USO funds should be used to benefit the many, not the few. The USO should follow the example of the SIU-Edwardsville student organization and turn this money back to the students.

The SIU-E administration, in cooperation with the students, proposed to the Board of Trustees that their Student Welfare and Activity Fee be reduced — a move that will involve a cutback in student services.

In this same vein, the USO should use this extra $16,000 to start cutting student fees. While $16,000 is not a large percentage of the total SOAF funds, it is certainly reason enough to begin examining the funding levels and the services that the USO should perform.

Khomeini regime is brutal, 'fascist'

By Khalil Rabeil
Member, Moslem Student Society

ALMOST THREE years after the fall of the Shah, the Iranian people are under one of the most repressive and brutal regimes in the world. There is an average of nearly one execution per 25 minutes in Iran. Within the past seven months alone, 8,000 people ranging from 9-year-old children to 50-year-old men and women to pregnant women have been executed by Khomeini's fascist regime.

Only 4,000 of the executions have been officially announced, while there are many others which have not. Amnesty International reported on Oct. 13: "In the past three months in Iran the number of executions has exceeded 1,800, which is 600 more than all executions in the world in the past year."

Khomeini never kept his promises to the people. He deceived them, he took advantage of a disastrous social and economic situation during the Shah's regime and used it to take power.

THE IRANIAN people, who had experienced 37 years under the Shah's repressive regime, gave 70,000 martyrs freedom. A few months after Khomeini gained power, all opposition newspapers were banned; thousands of people were arrested or injured by Khomeini's club wielders; all opposition demonstrations were banned and all universities were closed. Khomeini, who called the universities "the center of anti-imperialistic struggle" while he was in exile in Paris, now calls them "the center of corruption and prostitution." Thousands of political prisoners have been tortured or are being tortured routinely. According to the Amnesty International, Dec.

29: "Amnesty International has more than 200 detailed statements alleging torture, some of which are supported by photographs and medical reports... some prisoners are reported to have died under torture."

Economically, the people are facing a terrible situation. Food and gas rationing are routine. Industrial production has fallen to 20 percent in the past three years and agricultural production has fallen to 50 percent. There are 6 to 7 million unemployed people. The inflation rate is over 100 percent. Because of the war with Iraq, Iran has suffered over $100 billion worth of damage, and two million fugitives have been left homeless. Yet Khomeini still continues the war because he is afraid of uprising or splitting in the army.

The suppression of Kurdish people and other national minorities has become intensified.

ON JUNE 26, when more than half a million angry people took to the streets of Tehran to support the People's Mojahedeen Organization of Iran and to oppose Khomeini's dictatorial rule, his so-called "revolutionary guards" shot the people. People were killed. Since then, thousands of people, most of them Mojahedeen's supporters have been executed. Khomeini's prosecutor, Lajevardi, shamelessly has announced, "anyone, even children of 12 years, all will be executed if they were caught participating in protests against the regime." (International Herald Tribune, Sept. 22)

Since savage, repression, terror, secret executions and violations of the most basic human rights continue in Iran, the just resistance of the people with all their might will also continue. The people of Iran are determined to overthrow this new tyranny.

Today, the People's Mojahedeen Organization of Iran, which is the most massive opposition force in Iran, has taken arms to overthrow Khomeini's barbaric regime. Mojahedeen have gained the support of the majority of Iranian people and have formed the National Council of the Resistance for the Independence and Freedom (NCR), in order to unite all revolutionary and progressive Iranian forces. Through this media Khomeini has routinely labeled Mojahedeen as infidels. But after three years of repression, executions and fascist rules by Khomeini, the majority of the Iranian people have found out that it is Mojahedeen who are the true Moslems and Khomeini is no more than a liar hiding behind Islam.

THE WESTERN media, especially the American media, doesn't cover the brutal and inhuman crimes of Khomeini. This is part of the Reagan administration's plan to keep the American people away from the situation in Iran. According to the State Departments official on August 30, the reason would be clear: "Although we dislike Khomeini, still we prefer him to his enemies."

We, the Moslem Students Society, supporters of the People's Mojahedeen Organization of Iran, urge all freedom-loving and progressive people to join us in our fight to overthrow this barbaric regime. We ask you to protest the atrocities committed by Khomeini's regime and to support the Iranian people's resistance under the leadership of the National Council of Resistance against Khomeini.

Education budget cuts won't really hurt students

Gee, how ignorant some of our student leaders are. They make a big fuss over Reagan's cuts in government aid to education. They think these cuts will hurt the students. This just goes to show you their simple mindedness. They don't understand that in the long run they will benefit from these cuts.

So some people will not be able to go to college. So what? Some students might even have to drop out. So what? I ask you what's more important, having many illiterate people in this country or keeping El Salvador "free" from Soviet aggression? Keeping El Salvador "free" of course. So the government there kills a few people, so what? You know those countries are overpopulated anyway.

But getting back to the real issue. We first have to cut aid to education, then use that money for increased military aid to El Salvador, Israel, Egypt and Turkey. You see that money does not really go to those countries. It comes back to our economy because those same countries use that money to purchase arms. And, of course, they will purchase arms from American companies such as McDonnell-Douglas and others. Then, using the great "trickle-down" theory, much of that money will come back to our students. So at the end there will be more money for those students who dropped out of school to collect unemployment. And there will be more money for those who could not afford school to join the Armed Forces.

You see if you really think about it, those cuts will benefit us after all. Maybe some people will not get an education. But I ask you, what has education done for use lately? Nothing compared to the great feeling we get when we help stabilize a great military regime as the one in El Salvador. — Thimios Zaharopoulos, Graduate Student, Journalism

Review wasn't 'personal attack'

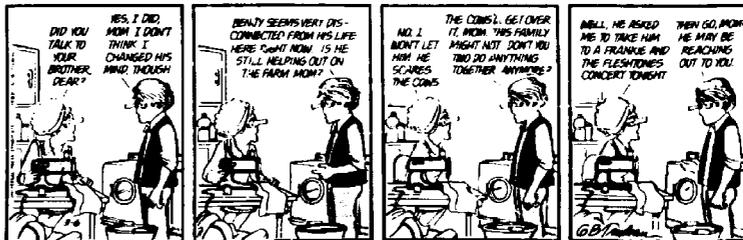

Surely Dorothy Hendrick LaBounty (Daily Egyptian, Feb. 3) read a different review of Michael Blum's vocal recital than the one I read. The review I read was written intelligently, thoughtfully and objectively by Roger Traylor. There is nothing in Traylor's review that could lead the careful reader to misconstrue it as a "personal attack on Blum" rather than the objective review that it was.

It seems to me that LaBounty's scathing diatribe was written in response to her own misconstrued interpretation of a well-written review. Of course, LaBounty has every right to disagree with Traylor's critique of Blum's concert, but what right has she (or anyone else) to censor Traylor's writing as she urges in her editorial?

I hope Traylor will continue to write his well-thought out, articulate reviews, and I hope LaBounty will be allowed the freedom to disagree with him. But please, LaBounty, leave the censorship to the fascists. — Lisa L. Goodlin, Senior, English in-stone policy about library expansion." But, he said the state is in a tight fiscal situation and that the board would encourage libraries "to find other ways of dealing with the knowledge explosion."

"We've looked at library storage as an alternative to building more space," said Lingenfelter. "The library in Carbondale has taken a lead in this."

Dougherty and Kenneth Peterson, dean of library affairs, said that the construction of a storage facility on McLafferty Road, generally the site discussed for on-campus storage, carried a price tag of $1.6 million.

An addition to Morris Library would cost $20 million, according to Dougherty.

The University is leasing the Marion warehouse from its owner, Vivien Chine, for $120,000 a year, Dougherty said, and has an option to buy.

MOVING 60,000 books there would cost $35,744, the library committee estimated. This includes the cost of shifting books left in Morris Library after the move, which is estimated at $27,140.

However, Jenkins said some of the committee's estimates — such as that for contractual services for moving the books — were incomplete.

The problem facing the library is an immediate one. The committee's report, which was addressed to Peterson in December, gives a "workable solution," Jenkins said. However, the University has not committed itself to the plan, according to division librarians.

The librarians have completed a process of selecting books, but now there is fear that funding for the move may not come since "funds haven't been identified in the SIU-C budget," James Fox, social studies division librarian, said.

"We're doing a lot of work," said George Black, science division librarian. "It will be for nothing if the commitment isn't made."

AND IF THE commitment isn't made?

"I don't know," Fox said. "We'd start weeding (throwing out duplicate books) or encroach more on seating. Both cost money. Throwing books away is not free."

Morris Library presently can seat less than 10 percent of the student body, which is far below national standards.

"In six and a half years I've seen a lot of seats go out," said Fox.

John Guyon, vice president of academic affairs and research, has received the report, but — so far as librarians know — has not responded to it. Guyon was unavailable for comment last week.

Despite the library staff's uncertainty, Benjamin Shepherd, associate vice president under Guyon, said he believed the books certainly would be stored in Marion.

MEANWHILE, BOOKS selected for storage are being reviewed by faculty and students. Librarians report that few inquiries have been received from faculty or students about the books selected.

Black said that the materials to be moved initially are "obvious" choices — 50-year-old periodicals, for example — but that the choices of materials to be moved later may stir up "excitement."

Staff members also fear that too many volumes will end up in storage. Up to a half-million books could be stored in the Marion facility.

SOME LIBRARY STAFF were concerned that the storage facility would become a branch library. However, according to Peterson, a branch library is not planned and no staff would be assigned there.

"We envision it as a warehouse. We do not plan it as a library."

The committee, in its proposal, asked for one and a half civil service positions "to assist in changing bibliographic records, to drive the van and to perform other related duties."

Jenkins and Fox, who also was a member of the committee, said they were unsure whether the employees would be working at the warehouse or in Morris.

One committee member said that if as many as a half-million books were stored, a larger staff would be needed for the facility.

OTHER PROBLEMS worry division librarians. Library users who come from out of town on weekends, for example, probably would not be able to use the books in storage. one librarian said, since the preliminary plan is to shuttle books between the library and Marion only once a day on weekdays and Saturdays.

But Alan Cohn, humanities division librarian, said, "What's the big deal? If anyone wants a book it will be here in 24 hours."

And Fox added, "What choice do we have?"

Art faculty offers reflection through U. Museum exhibit

By Laurie Landgraf
Entertainment Editor

Oscar Wilde once said art never expresses anything but itself.

But art also reflects the artist. And an exhibit which opened Friday night in the University Museum's Mitchell Gallery offered a chance for reflection by faculty members in the School of Art, both in their words and in their works.

Variety characterizes the artwork, which ranges from "Entebbe Dreams," violently-colored watercolors by Ed Shay, to soft pencil sketches by Herbert Fink which might have been misted onto the wall.

In one corner of the gallery, a crate-like structure is divided into three small "rooms." The center room is white and bare except for a small chair. Hemming it in on either side are compartments filled with black rubble, accented with cobwebs.

The art work, entitled "Survivor," is reminiscent of certain pieces in the South Bronx, according to its creator, Joel Feldman. The debris is rather ominous-looking, perhaps even nihilistic, but, Feldman said, "very often space takes on a similar oppressiveness."

On a nearby wall are paintings by Michael Onken, delicately rendered in jewel-like colors. The paintings take reconstructions of stories taken from two books of Persian history, Onken said. Myth and history blend in the books, which detail the underlying culture of the Persian civilization.

In one painting, entitled "The Dream of Kai-khobad," a man lies sleeping on a couch. Two white birds fly above him, a crown dangling from a string held in their beaks. A man approaches on a horse in the left

The fable is taken from the Shah-Nameh, a book dating from about the 15th century. Onken said. The sleeper is an exiled shah, whose crown is being returned by two white eagles. The horseman is Rustem, the shah's protector, who arrives the next day to restore the shah to the throne. Thus the painting encompasses two time sequences, a device used often in Oriental painting, Onken said.

In one of the gallery's glass cases, a tiny silver face peers out from underneath an ornate apparatus resembling an elaborate pipe organ. The face is the focal point of a headpiece created by Richard Mawdsley from sterling silver, banded agate and moonstone.

Crafting jewelry from silver presents a double challenge. Mawdsley said — the soft, heavy medium must be made so it is structurally strong and accommodates or relates to the body. Working with the tiny, clawlike silver tubes also requires a high level of concentration, according to Mawdsley, who sometimes puts in 10- to 12-hour days creating the jewelry.

Contrasting with the silver are white paper sculptures by Pat Beene Covington. White works best because the content

Ersatz singers and dancers show their talent at Theta Xi

By Joe Walter
Staff Writer

The 35th annual Theta Xi show, sponsored by the Inter-Greek Council, might have been a talent show, but with all the cheering and excitement, it seemed more like a sporting event.

Only here there were not just two teams, competing accompanied by cheering sections. There were several.

Entries were divided into three categories: small acts with one to four persons; intermediate, five to 14; and large, 15 persons or more.

The winning small act was James Barnes, leader of a local rhythm and blues group, James and the Flames, for his rendition of "On Broadway."

Ventriloquist Gavin Wilson won second place. Wilson used a pink cloth bunny named Nelson in place of the traditional wooden dummy to sing a spirited tribute to the late John Belushi. "Sweet Home Chicago."

The winner in the intermediate category was the of the work is something which color could mask, she said. To create the sculptures, she makes the paper herself from cotton, then casts it onto a mold.

She has been working with the medium about five years, she said, and she feels it offers almost unlimited possibilities for expression. For instance, her "Falling in Place," superimposes a ridged pinwheel-like image onto a dotted background. A sense of motion is created, she said. "You have a feeling it's not quite perfect, and you'll put it back in place when you feel it belongs."

In a corner of the gallery, a woman sliced from a slab of steel gazes coyly at onlookers. She is dressed in a '30s-style bathing suit and high heels.

"I think the high heels are attractive, because they're exaggeratedly feminine," said Robert Paulson, who sculpted the woman and christened her Angie Montana.

A Review

Phi Mu Alpha Jazz Band.

First-place large act was the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity and the Sigma Kappa Sorority for "American Cities." The two organizations also swept up four awards out of seven for large groups: best choreography, best sets, best costumes and best direction.

The only other large group entry, fraternity Alpha Gamma Rho and sorority Alpha Gamma Delta, won second place for "On the Robert E. Lee," for which Dave Becque, a junior in general agriculture, won an award for best male vocalist in a large group.

Selected best female vocalist in a large group was music major Valerie Butler for her solo with the Voices of Inspiration.

Prior to the second act, the Service to Southern Award and the Kaplan Memorial Scholarship Awards were presented by Bruce Swinburne, vice president for student affairs, and William Dyer, associate dean of the college of science. Diane Johnson, a senior in speech communication, won the service award, and Gale Barnes, a sophomore in geology, and Charlotte Sweeney, a junior in zoology, received the scholarships.

Ugly bartenders, take the bag off your face and enter contest

By Maggie Bardziamas
Student Writer

In a deviation from the usual beauty contests, Carbondale bars will soon be participating in an "Ugliest Bartender Contest."

The contest, which is sponsored by the Multiple Sclerosis Society, was started in Dayton, Ohio in 1978 as a fund raiser.

The St. Louis chapter of MSS will hold its third annual "Ugliest Bartender Contest" from March 17 through April 19 in the Eastern Missouri area, the Greater St. Louis area and 23 counties in Southern Illinois.

The chapter will hold three separate contests in the Eastern Missouri area, the Greater St. Louis area and the Southern Illinois area.

According to Nancy von Brecht, director for the St.

Louis chapter contest, bartenders will compete within their own area for prizes. The grand prize for the ugliest bartender is a trip for two to Las Vegas, donated by Ozark Airlines. A television, camera and other prizes will also be awarded.

Bar patrons will vote for the ugliest bartender through donations. Each 25 cent donation is one vote. Participating bartenders may also collect money through car washes and other fund-raising activities, said Pat Nightingale, coordinator for the Southern Illinois chapter.

Recht said the ugliest bartender contest is "one of the most successful contests for the MSS chapters nationwide." Last year, the St. Louis chapter raised about $70,000 with over 400 bars participating. "This year, we hope to raise $85,000," she said. "We'd like to see over 600 bars participate."

Representatives of most Carbondale bars said they will probably participate in the contest, although no definite plans have been made.

"We are still looking for volunteers from the Carbondale area to personally contact the local bars and help them with their campaign," Nightingale said. Known as "ugly agents," these volunteers help recruit bartenders to participate and encourage their efforts during the contest.

Nightingale said she is planning a Southern Illinois kickoff for March 11 at the Mt. Vernon Holiday Inn. Anyone interested in being an ugly agent can contact her at (314)241-8459.

Speaker claims schools don't prepare women for math work

By Joe Walter
Staff Writer

Women are inadequately prepared by schools to deal with a world that will demand more math skills in the future, according to University of Wisconsin Mathematics Professor Elizabeth Fennema.

Fennema, who has spent 10 years researching the problems that females encounter in math, said girls are inadequately prepared for a world that is becoming increasingly technical. On Saturday she delivered a keynote address to members of the Illinois Council of Teachers of Mathematics titled "Females in Mathematics - Is it a Problem?"

Fennema said the Susan B. Anthony dollar represents women in our culture - "less expensive than the dollar, more durable, less esteemed and seen as a problem by bankers and businessmen." She added, "In society, women are less esteemed and more service oriented."

Part of the reason women are mathematically inadequate, Fennema said, is because the notion of mathematics as a male domain is "well embedded in our mores."

The problems females encounter in math, she said, begin at adolescence. At age nine, girls tend to do better than boys in math, she said. At age 13, girls and boys are roughly equal in their mathematical abilities. But at age 17, results show girls are doing poorer than boys at math.

The reason why, Fennema said, may be because boys in high school tend to take more math classes. "It is very difficult," she said, "to learn math outside of classes."

Fennema said high school boys tend to do better at higher-level math courses, and engineering classes tend to be 80 to 95 percent male.

If a girl succeeds in school, she said, the success tends to be due to some external cause like luck or being helped. However, if a boy succeeds in school, he does not usually have much trouble taking the credit for it. If a girl fails, she tends to feel that she is the cause of the failure.

Girls that do as well as boys in math, she said, tend to be more anxious. "The brighter the girl is," Fennema said, "the less sure she is about herself. The brighter the boy, the more confident he is about himself."

Fennema also said that another reason for girls doing not as well as boys is that math teachers do not pay as much attention to their learning needs.

However, Fennema said, the problem can be solved when the behavior of male students, mathematics teachers, high school counselors and parents are changed so that girls will be encouraged to pursue mathematics and as women achieve a more equitable status.

Reagan to talk to congressmen about record budget deficits

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan plans to visit Capitol Hill this week in an effort to mend a widening rift within his own party over record budget deficits the administration concedes will be even larger than it predicted. Reagan is scheduled to meet Tuesday with all 53 GOP senators, who have roundly criticized Reagan's refusal to narrow the projected deficits by putting into his defense buildup or trimming some last year's tax cuts.

The meeting comes on the heels of a disclosure by Budget Director David Stockman that arm supports have pushed the administration's estimate of the 1983 deficit up another $3 billion to $98.4 billion. The Congressional Budget Office's estimate was already $120 billion.

Stockman's Office of Management and Budget confirmed Saturday that he sent a letter Friday to key congressional committees saying that the price supports in the next fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 will cost roughly $6.7 billion. The administration last month projected the supports would cost $1.8 billion.

Senate GOP Leader Howard Baker is assembling a list of alternatives — including higher taxes and less defense spending — that could reduce the red ink, and may take his ideas to the White House by mid-week.

Preliminary estimates last week showed the Republican-led committees would recommend spending about $10 billion more than Reagan wants, resisting many of his proposed cuts in social programs.

But Senate Finance Committee Chairman Pete Domenici, R-N.M., conceded Sunday there is not a consensus yet on what an alternative to Reagan's program will include.

"We're moving in the direction of getting a package together, but it's not there yet," Domenici said on NBC's "Meet the Press" program. "Hopefully, it won't be too far off."

He said he believes Reagan is willing to negotiate if Congress convinces him that any changes in last year's tax cuts will not be used as an excuse to reduce the spending cuts the president wants in domestic programs.

Wendy's founder gets award, will speak at SIU-C Tuesday

The founder and chairman of the board of Wendy's Inc. will receive SIU-C's 1982 International Entrepreneurship Award from the College of Business and Administration at a noon luncheon Tuesday in the Student Center.

R. David Thomas will meet with business students at a reception in the General Classrooms Building, and will give a public talk at 7 p.m. in the Student Center Auditorium entitled "The Wendy's Story," accompanied by a short film Thomas, who began his career as a short-order cook and busboy before becoming a successful franchise and regional manager for Kentucky Fried Chicken and founding the Arthur Treacher's Fish and Chips chain, opened his first Wendy's in Columbus, Ohio, in 1969.

Since then the chain — named for his daughter — has grown to more than 2,200 restaurants in the United States and nine other countries, with annual sales totaling $1.4 billion.

Ruggers roll to 22-0 victory

By Bob Morand
Staff Writer

The men's rugby club rolled over the Paducah City Club 22-0 Saturday afternoon en route to its first victory of the season.

As player-coach Dave Hanetho had expected, the Paducah club was too inexperienced to keep up with the SIU-C ruggers. And if it weren't for a sleet storm and the muddy conditions of the soccer field behind Abe Martin Field, Hanetho said, the final score could have been more lopsided. "If it would have been a dry day, we would have blown them out of the county," he said. "They didn't have any offensive play whatsoever."

Hanetho started the season on a high note by scoring two tries from the scrum halfback position in the first half.

Bob Lamplot, playing at the outside center spot, added another try, and fullback John Glotzbach converted a point-after kick to boost the ruggers' score to 14-0 by halftime.

"We played tough in the first half, but tailed off in the second half," Hanetho said. "Paducah was getting a lot of penalties, which took a lot away from the game and made it more sloppy." "Our pack played tough in the first half," he said. "It was snowing the whole game, and by the second half it was so sloppy on the field that it hurt the game."

In the second half, inside center Don Burda extended the SIU-C lead when he scored a try after an "unselfish" lateral pass from wing Mike Campbell. SIU-C's Steve McQueen ended all scoring with a try later in the half.

Secord stars in Hawks' win

CHICAGO — Al Secord, collecting his 41st and 42nd goals of the season Sunday, became Chicago's biggest pointmaker since Bobby Hull ten years ago as he led the Black Hawks to a 5-1 National Hockey League victory over the Boston Bruins.

Secord, who was traded by the Bruins to the Hawks on Dec. 18, 1980, because he had failed to live up to Boston expectations, eclipsed the mark of 41 goals for a single season set by Jim Pappin in the 1972-73 campaign. Hull, the only player in Hawk history to score 50 goals, notched 44 in the 1971-72 season.

The Hawks' triumph, only their fourth in their last 10 contests, halted a three-game Boston unbeaten streak. The Bruins suffered their 22nd loss against 36 wins and nine ties while the Black Hawks, winning their second straight game in 24 hours, improved their record to 29-33 and six ties.

Bill Gardner, Rich Preston, and Tom Lysiak also scored for Chicago. Boston rookie Bruce Crowder scored the Bruins' lone goal.

to be attributed to guard Connie Newlin. The night before against Wichita State, Newlin hit eight of 10 shots from the field while quarterbacking Drake to a 73-72 win in a semifinal game.

ISU was aware of Newlin's scoring ability — which usually comes in the form of 20-foot jump shots — and the Redbirds concentrated on shutting her down.

Newlin was held to two points but passed off eight assists by driving the lane and lofting passes to her forwards for easy hoops.

Forward Kay Riek scored 12 points, pulled down six boards, had six assists and came up with five steals.

Baumgarten said the teams success is linked to consistency.

She said that if someone has an off night there is always someone to come in and get the job done.

ISU was led in scoring by forward Kay Robbins with 20, followed by Dawn Hallett with 16. Redbird point-guard Denise Norton scored 12 points and came away with nine steals.

Besides winning the championship, the Bulldogs placed two players on the MVC all-tourney team. Newlin and Eauman were named to the team. Bauman, who scored 54 points in two games, was selected the tournament's Most Valuable Player.

Other players selected were ISU's guard Hallett and forward Robbins; Wichita State guard Karen Garofalo; and SIU-C forward Char Warring.

Fieldmen fall short of NCAAs

By Ken Perkins
Staff Writer

his best season, made his first jump at 16-0, and on his second try went for the qualifying mark of 16-6. According to Hartzog, Geiger cleared the bar but brushed it with his elbow on the way down. On his remaining three tries, he nipped the bar. Wray cleared the qualifying mark of 7-3 in the high jump but tipped the bar with his heel. After failing to qualify, the only thing he could do was breathe a sigh of relief.

"I'm glad it's over," he said. "I think if I could have had more meets, I would have made it. I had five good shots at qualifying, but I hit the bar all three times."

Wray, who finished 11th in last year's national meet, jumped 7-3 indoors and 7-4 outdoors in 1981.

"He had two real good jumps to do it," said Hartzog. "But his timing was just a little off."

Wray feels the outdoor season will be a little bit better for him.

"I'm going to be a consistent 7-1 for the rest of the season," he said. "I love outdoors."

The fieldmen weren't the only Saluki competitors at the meet. Senior Karsten Schulz, headed to the NCAAs in the mile run, warmed up by capturing the two-mile run in 8:53.6. Teammate Tom Ross, who led the field early in order to give Schulz a good time, ran fourth in 8:57.5.

Two-year letterman Ross, who ran back-to-back with Schulz in the Missouri Valley Conference meet two weeks ago in the mile and 1,000-yard runs, will also make the trip to the Silverdome to compete in the 1,000.

Dan Jeffers won the long jump, leaping 23-4, and Jim Sullivan competed in the pole vault.

As the 1982 indoor season comes to a close, the Saluki underclassmen are making the track team's future look bright. The sophomores lead the team in scoring with 204 points, followed by the junior class with 179. The freshmen are third in scoring with 76, while the senior class has tallied 71.

In the chase for the Lonnis Brown Award, given to the Saluki who scores the most points in a season, freshman Mike Franks leads with 63 points, while Smith is second with 50. Distance runner Ross is third with 46, Parry Duncan fourth with 41, and Schulz rounds out the top five with 40.

Saluki fieldmen Stephen Wray, John Smith and Andy Geiger all fell short in their attempts to qualify for the NCAA Indoor Track and Field Championships, scheduled for Friday and Saturday at the Silverdome in Pontiac, Mich.

The trio, competing in Eastern Illinois' Last Chance meet Friday in Charleston, took first in their respective events. Wray in the high jump, Smith in the shot put and Geiger in the pole vault. But they couldn't reach qualifying marks.

"They all just missed it by inches," said Coach Lew Hartzog. "I'm sorry they came so close but weren't able to qualify. They did very well." Well indeed. Smith, shooting for a mark of 59-8.5, had what Hartzog called "his best performance ever," throwing the shot 58-4 on his first attempt, and 59-6, 59-5 and 59-7 on his second, third and fourth tries. He scratched on his fifth attempt.

Smith, who ranks second in scoring for the Salukis, couldn't quite produce the remaining inch-and-a-half.

Blackman sees plus in scoring

By Paul Lorenz
Associate Sports Editor

Four points separated the women's track team from its second-place goal at the Western Illinois Invitational, but Coach Claudia Blackman wasn't disappointed in the Salukis' performance.

"I think the most important result of this meet was that we took 16 athletes with us, and 13 scored points," the Saluki coach said. "Each week they've been improving, finishing higher."

Western Illinois won the meet easily Saturday, despite the fact that they were missing some people, according to Blackman. The Westerwinds scored 90 points to second-place Bradley's 50.

SIU-C took third with 46 points and Central College brought up the rear with 20. Northwest Missouri State, originally scheduled to compete, had several athletes down with the flu and thus did not make the trip to Macomb.

The Salukis took four firsts on their way to their highest point output of the indoor season, but failed in their last chance to qualify anyone for the AIAW indoor nationals, scheduled for March 12-13 in Cedar Falls, Iowa.

Sophomore Debra Davis set a school record while winning the 440-yard dash in 1:00.2. Junior Rosa Mitchell took the one-mile run in 5:40.1.

Patty Plymire-Houseworth won the two-mile run in 11:10.5. Blackman said the senior distance runner wasn't challenged in the event, as Western's top two-miler, Chris Reid, did not compete. Reid has qualified for the AIAWs in the two-mile.

In the four by 800-yard relay, in which Western did not compete, according to Blackman, SIU-C beat out Bradley for first place with a time of 10:45.7.

Bradley's "victory" over SIU-C for second place didn't especially concern Blackman, though she noted that the Braves are a stronger team "that will have to be contended with." "If we had just dumped somebody in, we probably would have scored in more events," Blackman said. "But I don't like to use our kids in more than two or three events at a meet."

Blackman said Bradley's Charlene Dewey competed in the high jump, hurdles, long jump and shot put, and "scored a lot of points" for the Braves.

"Bradley's goal was to beat SIU," Blackman said. "We wanted to finish second, but not at the expense of the kids."

Gymnasts lose 3 duals

By Steve Metach
Sports Editor

Prior to the women gymnasts' two double duals this weekend, Coach Herb Vogel said he expected high scoring from hometown judges.

Vogel was correct, as the Salukis received their best away score of the season. SIU-C scored a 137.50 at Champaign Sunday to finish third behind Illinois' 138.90 and Indiana State's 137.60. The gymnasts finished the dual season at 10-12 for Vogel's first losing season in 19 years as Saluki coach.

"We didn't have a bad meet. We tried some new routines and made some mistakes," said Vogel. "We could have beat Indiana State if we had played it safe, but I think taking chances helped us."

Fam Turner was top for SIU-C with 35.15. She finished second in Illinois all-arounder Heidi Helmke. Lori Erickson scored a 4.25 and Val Painton added a 4.00 for the Salukis.

"Psychologically, the team felt it had a good meet," Vogel said. "We knew the meet was grossly overscored."

High scoring was also the rule at the Salukis' double dual at Terre Haute, Ind., Friday night. The Lady Sycamores took first with 138.80. SIU-C was second with 137.00 and Northern Michigan third with 127.70. Vogel said Indiana State, like the Illini, needed a high score for regional seeding.

The Salukis could have won the meet, according to Vogel, if they wouldn't have fallen apart on the balance beam. He said Turner had three flaws and ended up with a 7.6. The sophomore's Saluki teammates didn't fare much better.

Erickson missed and scored an 8.35; Painton missed and got an 8.55; and freshman Patty Reeves missed twice to tally an 8.3.

Painton won all-around with 35.00, while Turner took second at 34.95 and Erickson seventh at 33.25.

Vogel said Indiana State isn't that good, and will get "caught" at the Midwest AIAW regional meet at Columbus, Ohio, later this month.

Netters win two out of three

The men's tennis team won two matches and dropped a third at a tournament hosted by the University of Wisconsin at Madison.

The netters defeated Notre Dame 5-4 in their first match and blew out Iowa 8-1 in their second match of the tournament. In their final match, the netters fell to Wisconsin 5-4.

It was the doubles teams that shined for SIU-C in the win against Notre Dame as the teams of David Filer-John Greif, Lito Ampon-David Deslets, and Brian Stanley-Gabriel Coch all won against the Fighting Irish.

The netters will go into action with a 5-2 record against Maryland Sunday.

Men gymnasts split with LSU, Penn State

By JoAnn Marciszewski
Staff Writer

The men's gymnastics team ended its home season Sunday by splitting a pair of dual meets. A season high of 267.95 for Coach Bill Meade's gymnasts placed them above Louisiana State's 264.65, but below Penn State's total of 273.45.

The three coaches had anticipated a good meet, and each commented that the rivalry would be not only among the gymnasts, but also among the coaches, who are all Penn State alumni. Each of the three teams hope to qualify for April's NCAA's, and many of the gymnasts had performances that should keep them in the running.

"Our kids are getting better," Meade said of the Salukis. "They have not been making as many form breaks. They are executing their routines better and looking more professional."

One of the high points, according to Meade, was the all-around performance of John Levy. Levy's score of 54.50 placed him third against Penn State, and first against Coach Armando Vega's LSU all-arounders. The Saluki sophomore scored a personal high of 9.75 on his specialty to place him ahead of all the high bar performers. Also contributing to his all-around score was a 9.55 on the vault.

Lawrence Williamson topped all performers with a 9.45 in the floor exercise. Tom Slonski scored 9.65 on the rings to place him above the LSU ringmen, and second behind the 9.75 of Penn State's Randy Jepson.

The high event for the Salukis was the vault, where Williamson, Murph Melton, David Hoffman, Kevin Mazeika and Levy combined for 46.60.

The Salukis started the competition on the pommel horse, the traditional trouble spot for the gymnasts. Herb Voss was a bright spot for the Salukis with a 9.3, good for first against LSU and second behind the 9.65 of Penn State's Bill Stanley.

"The pommel horse is a tough event," Meade said, "especially to start on and I was pleased with the way they handled it."

Penn State's total of 273.45 enabled the team to score two more dual meet victories and keep it within its goal of qualifying for NCAA's. Coach Karl Schwenzfeier said that he was happy with his team's performance, but that he had some doubts about the judges' abilities, questioning their scoring procedures a few times during the meet.

During the rings competition, an LSU performer used mats thicker than four inches, which is illegal and should cost a half-point deduction, Schwenzfeier said. The routine was originally scored as a 9.5; including the deduction in that score would have made the performance perfect and it "was not that good," the Nittany Lion coach explained. "After I questioned it, they brought it down to a 9.0."

Another weakness of the judges, according to Schwenzfeier, was not recognizing a required high difficulty move on the parallel bars used by two Penn State performers, and scoring them lower because of it.

"I must have appeared as an ogre out there, complaining about the judging," Schwenzfeier said after the meet, "but the gymnasts would like the scores to be as accurate as possible. The judges were missing some information that they should have known, so I was just enlightening them."

Drake wins Valley; will go to NCAAs

By Keith Mascitelli
Staff Writer

The Drake Bulldogs are assured an automatic bid to the NCAA's Division I women's basketball championships, after winning the first-ever Missouri Valley Conference tournament.

The Bulldogs beat Illinois State 70-64 in the MVC title game at the Arena Friday to win the NCAA berth. Drake is one of 32 teams which will be vying for the national title. The NCAA finals will be played at Old Dominion in Norfolk, Va., March 26-28.

SIU-C lost in semifinal action to Illinois State 73-56 at the Arena Thursday night.

Drake, favored going into the tourney, justified its seeding by controlling the game and never trailing from the opening tip. In their usual consistent style, the Bulldogs used a slow deliberate offense to build a 15-point second half lead that never was seriously threatened by the Redbirds.

Four of Drake's five starters shot 50 percent or better, — the team shot 67 percent in the first half and 55 percent overall — while their tall, quick defense held the Redbirds to 47 percent from the field.

ISU never gave up, though. Their scrapping defense scratched and clawed and got the lead down to four points with a minute left in the game, but in doing so fouled out starters Cindy Bumbry and Debbie Benak.

The end result was too much Lorri Bauman. The Drake center scored 32 points to lead all scorers. Bauman posted ISU forwards down low and used five-foot turnaround jumpshots to dazzle the Redbird defense which could do little but watch or foul the Bulldog.

Drake Coach Carole Baumgarten was extremely pleased with the play of her sophomore sensation.

"Lorri has been as offensive phenomena all season," Baumgarten said. "On defense she's suspect but has been working to correct this. Offensively there isn't a better center in the county. She doesn't care if you double or triple team her because she'll make you pay from the foul line."

Part of Bauman's success has

Swimmers take 2nd at NICs

By JoAnn Marciszewski

Miami upset the bid of the men's swimming and diving team for a fifth straight National Independent Conference championship in the three-day meet in South Carolina.

The pre-meet favorite of most conference coaches, Miami led the field of 13 teams with 459 points. SIU-C was second with 392 points, followed by Florida State with 262 and Cincinnati with 218.

Coach Bob Steele said the Salukis were "a little flat at times" during the competition on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

"Some didn't swim well at all. Others had a lifetime best one day, and the next day they didn't qualify. They were not consistent," the Saluki coach said. "They didn't make standards, and that's what we were interested in."

Another factor contributing to the second-place finish was the strength of the other teams, Steele said.

"Quality and depth were better than last year," Steele said, "and may even surpass the quality of the Big Ten."

He said a time good enough for sixth last year would have been 12th this year in some races, while some "cooks" have swam their lifetime best and not have done anything in terms of scoring.

The Salukis went to the NICs planning on four swimmers. Roger VonJouanne, Pablo Restrepo, Keith Armstrong and Conrado Porta, to swim as fast as possible without rest, while counting on the rest of the team to provide enough depth to win the conference.

Steele said there were some great swimmers, although the Salukis' depth "wasn't as strong as I thought because of the quality of the other schools."

"Armstrong, for all the training he had been doing, was just incredible," the Saluki coach said. The sophomore set a NIC record in the 100 freestyle with a time of 44.52, and "made up about five feet," according to Steele, by swimming the anchor leg on the 400 free relay in 43.4.

Other Saluki winners included Restrepo in the 100 breaststroke with a NIC-record time of 56.9, and Porta in both the 100 and 200 backstrokes, with times of 51.03 and 1:49.73, respectively.

The only NIC event in which the Salukis met the NCAA qualifying standards for the first time this season was the 400 free relay, in which Miami's time of 3:00.6 was just ahead of SIU-C's 3:00.9.

Porta's race with Miami's Jesse Vassallo was "beautiful," Steele said.

"Porta went out hard, and Vassallo started slow and came back hard," the coach said. "It was a question of how Conrado could hold out." Porta managed to stay ahead of the Miami sophomore, finishing in 1:49.73 just ahead of Vassallo's 1:49.9.

Second-place finishers for the Salukis included Restrepo in the 200 breaststroke, Johnny Consemiu in the one-meter diving and George Greenleaf on the three-meter board. Kipp Dye took third place in the 200 freestyle, as did the 800 free relay team.

Steele was pleased with some of the performances of many of his swimmers, including several freshmen. He added that many were just off qualifying times, and may be able to reach them Saturday against Missouri, the last dual meet of the season.

Tulsa in, Bradley snubbed for NCAA

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — North Carolina, DePaul, Virginia and Georgetown were made the top seeds in the all four regions of the NCAA basketball tournament, announced Sunday as "the deepest and strongest field we've had in many years."

The top four seeds in each region were given byes into the second round. The NCAA committee selected 20 at-large teams to go with 28 automatic conference qualifiers.

Missouri Valley Conference tournament winner Tulsa, 24-5 — the MVC's only representative — received a first-round bye and will play the winner of the Houston-Alcorn State game at Tulsa Saturday. Bradley, 21-10 — the MVC's regular season champ — did not receive a bid.
