Students Ignore Rain, Vote in New Union

Southern students showed their interest and desire to see the University grow and expand as they went to the polls in Tuesday's election and voted the "yes" need for the new Student Union referendum.

Rain forced the voting booths to be moved inside Old Main, the Library, and the Student Union, but 2,220 students turned out to vote.

Since a large proportion of students voted and a very large percentage (80) of those voting in favor of the bill, it will be sent to the Board of Trustees for final approval. If approval is granted, construction will begin on the new union in 1957.

Bowling alleys, banquet areas, food areas (snack bar, cafeteria, and dining area), terraces (for dining, dancing, and lounging); large ballroom (can be divided into smaller areas); book store (gifts, supplies); lounge areas, (for computers, and quiet reading areas); game area (billiards, ping pong, chess, cards); conference room; organization area; and a locker area are some of the many facilities which will be available to students in this new building if the bill is approved.

Wright visited all student homes except Greek houses this year and has come up with these results. Out of the 366 regular rooming houses, 122 were unapproved.

Geography Class Visits Cave

Mammoth Cave, one of the seven wonders of America, was visited by the physical geography classes on their field trip May 13-14.

"Leaving before breakfast was pretty rough on some of us," said Dr. Dallas A. Price, associate professor of geography, who accompanied the group. They left early Sunday morning by bus.

The 26 people who made the trip first went to an electric energy station at Joppa where they discussed the amount of water used and its location. The Joppa station uses enough water daily to supply Chicago for a day.

Before going to Mammoth Cave, they observed Kentucky Dam.

The group spent the night at the Mammoth Cave cabins. "I thought the group would be tired to move after Sunday's long trip," said Dr. Price, "but they squandered that night as if they had rested all day."

Monday morning the group visited the cave. "We were interested in the formation, rock structure, surface conditions, and drainage of the water streams," said Dr. Price.

Mammoth Cave has more than 150 miles of explored corridors with many features. According to geologists the limestone in the cave was the floor of an inland sea 240 million years ago.

The geography students observed the first stage of the cave formation which creates barren rooms and corridors. Then they observed the formations of dripstone, or secondary minerals. Next they saw water dripping from cave walls forming sheets that hung like folded draperies and masses that resemble fountains.

Located in south-central Kentucky, the cave is about 85 miles south of Louisville, Ky., and the same distance north of Nashville, Tenn.

Charles Gruner, assistant debate coach, was elected membership in the order of instruction. Gruner was also presented with the "Kappa" award. This award is given to the person who has made the most "goofs" during the debate season.

Dr. Horton C. Talley, Dean of the School of Communications, presented the awards.

Pretty Good

It's all over now except for the shouting. What is? The election, of course. And a good election it was.

Good because of the number of votes cast, not just because it came out the way we have been advocating.

From the multitude of votes cast, 2,220, it appears that the apathy toward campus politics and issues is beginning to be dispelled. This is an encouraging sign.

Odd Jobs Get Many Through College Here

Working your way through college? That is a common question heard by almost every college student. Bill Ater, a sophomore dental major from Argent, Ill., is working his way through school by doing odd jobs. "Odd jobs" are lawn jobs, putting up screens, household chores done for local residents.

Bill, who got his jobs by going to the Student Employment Office, works every day from 5 p. m. to 11 p. m. Bill has five weekly regular jobs and several other semi-monthly jobs.

"I have more than I can really do," said Bill, when asked about his jobs. Bill said that he wants to give some of the jobs away because he is so busy that he can't handle all of them.

"I try to please my customers," said Bill, "and do my best to satisfy them, then they tell someone else, and I get another call. I wanted to prove to myself that I could work my way through and these jobs pay a lot better than the University jobs."

The Student Employment Office gets many calls from local residents wanting student help. The pay ranges all the way from 75 cents to $1.25 for different jobs. A student wanting a job should go to the Student Employment Office.

Salukis Make Bid For IIAC Crown Tomorrow

SIU will make its final bid for the Interstate Conference baseball crown by tangling twice with league-leading Michigan Normal there Saturday afternoon.

By winning both contests, SIU would finish the season with an 8-4 conference mark, which would be good enough for a tie for the championship unless Illinois Normal or Western Illinois wins four remaining games.

The Salukis just missed moving into a first-place tie last weekend when they dropped a 2-1 decision to Central Michigan. Southern came back with a ninth inning rally to edge past Central, 4-3, in the second game.

A wind-carried pop fly single in the infield gave Central Michigan its only runs in the first game, while SIU scored its run by a long first-inning homer by second baseman Roger Walls of Venice. The game featured a pitched duel between Southern's Ronnie Ayers and Central's Wally Reiman. The two pitchers struck out a total of 19.

Ayers is slated to pitch Saturday's first game while Gordon Lambert will hurl the second contest.

Present Interstate Conference standings:
TEAM W L Pct.
Mich. Normal 7 3 .700
Western Ill. 5 3 .625
Ill. Normal 5 3 .625
Southern Ill. 6 4 .600
Central Mich. 5 5 .500
Northern Ill. 3 5 .375
Eastern Ill. 1 9 .100

Vogel Paces Batters With .351 Average

For the second straight year, Norby Vogel is leading the SIU baseball team in batting. Vogel led the team last year with a .341 average, and is currently leading the sphere at a .351 pace. In second place is Capt. Ray Tabacchi with a .333 average. Two more Salukis are hitting above the .300 mark. The averages: (Ten or more times at bat)

PLAYER	AB	H	AVG.
Vogel	74	26	.351
Tabacchi	87	29	.333
Orlando	37	12	.324
Wells	83	27	.307
Williams	75	20	.267
Bryan	49	13	.265
Scheibel	53	14	.264
Sanders	35	9	.257
Sasek	51	13	.255
Joe Shields	15	3	.200

Workhorse Ronnie Ayers (6-3) is shown working out in preparation for the crucial doubleheader with Michigan Normal tomorrow. He is scheduled to hurl the first game.

Little Grassy Weekly Camps Start July 1

Boys and Girls, aged nine to 14, who are interested in outdoor life and nature can now apply for entry in one of six Little Grassy Lake weekly camps to be offered this summer. The program, in its fourth year of existence, opens July 1 and last until August 10.

Jim Wilkinson, SIU physical education instructor, will be in charge of the camp for the third straight year.

"The program is set up primarily for camp counseling of young kids," said Wilkinson. "We expect to have a staff of about 35 to handle the children. Between 90 to 130 kids will be on hand each week throughout the summer season. Activities will include rifle, archery, handicraft, nature study, fishing, canoeing, boating, swimming and wood craft.

"A big emphasis this summer will be on the waterfront and the surrounding beaches. Bob Franz, physical education instructor, is handling that aspect and will teach swimming, canoeing, boating and sailing.

Special Events Added
"We'll also have special events that will supplement our regular activities," Wilkinson remarked. Hayrides, weekly cook-outs, exploring old Indian mounds, visiting former Indian campsites, collecting arrowheads, and studying rock plant and animal formations are some of them.

"Another feature in the program this year," Wilkinson said, "is that we'll have an astronomer from Indiana (Robert Lloyd) who'll lecture to the kids on constellations.

"We intend to hit the nature program harder this summer. There will be campfires every night, a time when the children will sing songs, and tell stories which seem to bring out the initiative in children and their creative abilities."

"Other special events at night," the wrestling coach stated, "include a game, steel the flag, which all boys seem to be popular. Usually there are sides of 30. The girls, meanwhile have a contest to see who can design the most unique type of hat made from leaves and other forms of earthly material."

Facilities Improved
"We've got new facilities on these two," Wilkinson noted. "There's a new mess hall, a vastly improved beach and shower house for both boys and girls. In addition to Robert Lloyd, we'll have Dick LeFevre who will instruct the student counselors, teach first aid and be responsible for proper health knowledge, and Mrs. Ruth Smoots of Brocton College, N. Y., who will be in charge of the girls. "Physical Education majors and students from all academic departments over the campus will be on hand to assist in counseling."

Golf Team Picked To Make Best Showing At IIAC Meet

Coch Lynn Holder's golf team is picked to make the best showing for SIU in the IIAC golf, tennis, and track meets today and tomorrow, with the tennis and track teams expected to make just a fair showing.

More than 30 athletes from Southern will compete during the two-day affair at Central Michigan College.

The golfers tied Evansville College 6-6 last Friday to close their dual meet season with a 9-2 record — best in Southern's history.

Western Illinois, winner of last year's golf championship, is favored to repeat again this year. Coach Leiland (Doc) Lin-gle's tracksters are not expected to finish much higher than last year when they came in fifth. Michigan Normal and Central Michigan are co-favorites for the crown, with Eastern Illinois conceded a chance. The SIU track team has a 3-3 dual meet record this season.

The Salukis' best prospects are Sammie DeNeal in the 440, Marion Rushing in the javelin, and the mile relay team. All three have been coming close to school records the last half of the cinder season.

Southern's tennis team, tutored by Dick Le Fevre for the first time, finished its dual competition with a 5-5 record. They lost to Illinois Normal, which has never lost an Interstate Conference meet, 7-2, last week.

SIU's probable contenders are as follows:
Golf—Andy Barnett, Bill Belvity, Bob Donarski, Charles Goldstein, and Walt Zukowsky.

Tennis—Jerry Green, Don Jarrett, Jim Shanklin, and Omar Winter.

Bernard Kabot, Ron Hellberg, Ray Canterberry, Walter Bishop, Joe Betts, Vic Belanger, Robert Butera, Don Lucas, Edward Long, and Edwajil Brunner.

Normal Defeats SIU In Tennis

The results:

Jerry Varkus N beat Jim Jarrett S, 6-1, 6-4
