Fall Term Examinations Schedule Runs 5 Days

The final examination schedule for fall term has been announced by Registrar Robert A. McGrath. Exams will begin on Monday, Dec. 12, and continue through Friday, Dec. 16. All exams, except for classes which meet only one or two hours a week, will run for two hours. Tests for these short classes will last only one hour.

McGrath stressed the fact that students may not take examinations before the time scheduled. Those missing the finals will be given a "W-12" for the term. The final may then be taken within the next year.

The examination schedule:

- Monday, December 12
  - 4 o'clock classes 4 p. m.
- Tuesday, December 13
  - English 101, 8 a. m.

200 Attend Pilot Plant Dedication

About 200 people attended the dedication and open-house of the Wood-Products Pilot Plant at Southern Acres Saturday.

The new plant will serve as a training center and research laboratory for wood-products, especially Southern Illinois native hardwoods.

In his dedicatory address, E. L. Bruce said there is a need for research in the wood industry, as well as a need for training programs for potential employees.

Bruce, chairman of the board, E. L. Bruce Co., a flooring firm, said the new VPI Pilot Plant is a big step toward sound research and the training of people in the various phases of woodworking.

The day's program opened with songs by the SIU AFROTC Singing squadron.

Pes. Delte W. Morris welcomed the crowd.

A talk on the use of the Pilot Plant was given by R. D. Lane, forester in charge of the Forest Research Center, Carbondale.

Following the main address by Bruce, a pork barbecue was held on the grounds.

An open house and conducted tours of the plant completed the afternoon part of the program.

Madrigal Singers To Appear In Shryock, On St. Louis TV

The SIU Madrigal singers and Dr. Glenn Watkins, organist and music department faculty member, will be featured in the third in a series of Vesper recitals at 4 p. m. Sunday in Shryock Auditorium.

The Madrigals under the direction of Dr. Floyd Wakeland appeared on the "Look, Listen and Learn" television series on KWK TV, St. Louis, Thursday.

The Wakeland singers will repeat some of the numbers they sang over television.

Those numbers were "Weep O

'Reading For Children' Topic Of Book Fair

"What can reading do for children?" That will be the topic of a panel discussion at 8 p. m. Wednesday in the University School Auditorium.

The panel will include Dr. Ted Bagdale, professor of education at SIU, who will make suggestions on how the teacher can aid the child in reading; Miss Louise Anthony, director of school reading in Alton, who will discuss the librarian's part in the reading program; Mrs. Carl Scribner, who will furnish the panel's point of view.

The panel is only one event in the Children's Book Fair to be held on the SIU campus Wednesday through Saturday.

The Fair, sponsored by the Carbondale branch of the American Association of University Women, is designed to encourage good reading. It will feature special programs for children, students, parents and teachers.

Prize To Speak

Dr. Herbert S. Zim, professor of education at the University of Illinois and widely known author of science books for children, will speak at 8 p. m. Friday in University School Auditorium.

Stories will be told every day of the fair at 4 p. m. by Miss Kathleen Fletcher of the Department of Library Service and Mrs. Majorie Snell, University School Librarian.

New and old books, which will be displayed for children every day of the fair from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. at 907 University, will be available for sale.

Miss Loraine Waters is directing the displays which are being prepared by the SIU Museum.

Dorothy McGinnis is chairman of the Fair Fair Committee, which consists of Thelma Mathis, Mrs. George Long, Kathleen Fletcher and Loraine Waters.

Workmen Use Lift For Alloy Nail Job

A new hydraulic lift is being used this week by Physical Plant workmen to lift building materials to the top floor of the Allvin Building.

The lift was obtained by the university, three weeks ago for use by the Physical Plant. The carriage of the lift will go about 23 feet, but additional extensions can be put on the lift, so it can obtain a maximum height of 60 feet.

"The lift is a great time saver; the workmen no longer will have to carry supplies up and down steps; when they work and the lift is used instead," Bill Howe, Physical Plant Director, said.

300 Participate In Student-Faculty Mixer

More than 300 students took part in the student-faculty coffee hour on Wednesday afternoon in the Student Union.

The occasion was highlighted by the drawing of ballots for the Parents Day tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Lockman of West Frankfort were chosen to reign over Parents Day.

This particular coffee hour was the first of six to be held during the school year. A different department of faculty members will host each time.

The Kappalers, musical group affiliated with the fraternity Alpha Kappa Psi, were featured entertainers.

The series is sponsored by the Student Union council.

New Press Club Honors Clayton, Elects Officers

The Southern Press Club, a newly-organized journalism organization which hopes to affiliate with Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity, honored Charles Clayton, Sigma Delta Chi past national president and now assistant to the publisher of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, at a dinner Tuesday evening in the home of Dr. H. R. Long, SIU journalism director.

The Press Club recently elected Harry Thiel, president; Gene Cretter, vice-president; and Don Hecce, secretary-treasurer.

After the group is organized well, it hopes to apply for a petition to become an active chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, according to Press Thiel.

"Our purpose is to band journalism students together for their benefit and to stimulate better understanding between them," Thiel said. "We hope to give students the chance to join by pledging this spring."

The group now has only eight members but "we will grow," he said.

Symphony To Open Season Here Tuesday

The Southern Illinois Symphony Orchestra begins its seventh concert season here Tuesday with a program in honor of Finland's Jean Sibelius.

The season opening concert, beginning at 8:15 p. m. in Shryock Auditorium, will feature violin soloist John Warton, of the SIU music faculty, in Beethoven's "Romance in F" for violin and orchestra.

Climaxing the concert will be a group of three Sibelius favorites: "The Swan of Tuonela, Legend," "Valse Triste" and the famous tone poem, "Finlandia." The program has been arranged to coincide with a world wide testimonial to Sibelius on his 90th birthday.

The first half of the concert program will consist of "Overture and Allegro from 'La Sultana Suite'" by Darius Milhaud and Francis Coppenier; "Four German Dances" by Mozart; and "Symphony No. 1 in C Major, Opus 21" by Beethoven.

The orchestra, organized in 1948 by Walter Kueser, chairman of the Music Department, is being sponsored for the third year by the Carbondale Business and Professional Women's Club. Membership in the group is composed of part-time musicians from all over Southern Illinois.

Admission to the concert will be 50 cents. Season tickets for all three concerts scheduled for the school year are $1.

Salvation Army Band To Play At Game

With a flourish of flugelhorn, euphoniums, melodions and bass trombones, one of the country's noblest brass bands blows into town Saturday for a concert and matching performance.

St. Louis' Salvation Army Staff Band, directed by a cornet playing dentist, will give a one hour free concert in SIU's Shryock Auditorium beginning at 10:30 a. m. The band will perform at half time of the SIU-Northern Illinois football game that afternoon.

Dr. Leslie Malpass, chairman of the Carbondale Salvation Army Citizen's Committee, said the famed 50 piece band, whose volunteer members hold music degrees from universities all over the country, is celebrating the Salvation Army's 75th year.

In addition to the conventionally keyed brass instruments, the band includes many rarely heard horns and variations of standard brass section equipment.

The band, conducted by Maj. Cecil Exeter, will also play a concert the same night, beginning at 7:30, in the West Frankfort High School auditorium.

Pi Lambda Theta Initiates 17

17 new members were taken in at the fall initiation of Alpha Upsilon chapter of Pi Lambda Theta, national honor organization for women in education, Thursday at the University Cafeteria.

Following the initiation ceremony a short business meeting was held during which Miss Yvonne Dempsey, faculty member of the women's transferred her membership.

West Frankfort Couple To Reign For Parents Day

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Lockman from West Frankfort will reign over Parents Day activities here tomorrow.

The "lucky" parents were selected at a drawing during the student-faculty "coffee hour" Wednesday. The names had been submitted by students of the parents from Monday through Wednesday at special booths located in Old Main and the Student Union.

Mr. and Mrs. Lockman are the parents of Terry Lockman, Freshman at SIU.

The winning parents and their son will occupy a special box at the game tomorrow against Northern as guest of Pres. and Mrs. Delte W. Morris. In addition, they will also be honored at a dinner for all students and their parents to be served at noon in the men's gym.

Other parents also celebrating this occasion who prefer to mingle with the students may sit with their sons or daughters in the student section.

Parents of members of the football team will be given special recognition at the game. The fathers, with their son's number on their back, will sit in a reserved section in the east stands.

More than 5,000 invitations have been mailed to parents of students at SIU, for this sixth annual Parents Day. This year's attendance is expected to top last year's estimated 700 parents.

In most of the organized houses, signs are being hung in the yard, on the window, and over the door, welcoming the parents.

"We hope to create an ever increasing interest in Parents' Day and we realize that such a desire requires the cooperation of all SIU students," Don Boehmer, general chairman for Parents' Day, said.

A program has been arranged to entertain the parents from the 11:30 a. m. until the schedule of events for tomorrow is:

- 10 a. m.-noon-Campus tour
- 11:30 a. m.-1 p. m.-Luncheon at the Men's Gym
- 1:30 p. m.-Southern-Northern football game
- 5:30 p. m.-A pizza supper, sponsored by Delta Epsilon Chi

Following the game, many students of organizations are planning coffee hours.

The luncheon at the men's gym will be continuously served from 11:30 a. m. until the "kick-off" for the football game. Mary Edwards, is the chairman for the Parents Day Luncheon Committee.

Each student whose parents are present are requested to conduct a "kick-off" program.

"As a parent of a student at Southern, you are an important part of the University and it is our hope you will visit the campus often, not only for Parents Day, but for other occasions throughout the school year," Pres. Morris said in the invitation.

Pres. Morris and the Parents Day committee are trying to establish better parent-student and university relationship. This is being done through acquainting the parents with the University's program and facilities.

Tickets for the football game may be purchased today on campus by students who wish to secure their parents reserved seats in the student section. The price of a reserved seat ticket is $1.25 a person. Mothers and fathers who prefer may purchase a ticket at the gate for other members of the family or for friends.

Preparations are being made for Parents' Day, a program has been arranged, and now it's left to the students of SIU to greet them.

By Clarence Luckett

The names of the winning parents of the "Parents of the Day" contest are drawn by Marilyn Liebig (left), taking the card from Marilyn in Wayne Oldham, chairman of the contest committee. The drawing was held at the student-faculty coffee hour in the Student Union Wednesday.

Students Find Many Places To Solve Problems

The mathematics department isn't the only place where problems are solved at Southern.

A number of offices on the campus are helping students cope with personal difficulties. And with a record enrollment of nearly 5,500 students this year, SIU's problem solving business is booming.

A special pamphlet provided to students tells them where to go when problems arise. It even lists in alphabetical order, 63 problems most frequently encountered by the college student, ranging from "academic difficulty" to "withdrawal from university." A corresponding code number tells the student where to go to talk over his troubles.

Among the suggested problems are "concentrating on studies," "not interested in school" (not to be confused with "distlike of college"), "failure to make friends" and "marriage, planning for."

In most cases, the problem-burdened student is directed to the Office of Student Affairs where he may confer with the dean of men or dean of women, apply for a loan or find out what the chances are for draft deferment.

Elsewhere on the campus he may take psychological tests, get a medical exam, learn to improve study habits, receive advice on dating or marriage, apply for a part-time job or obtain spiritual guidance.

Main object of the problem-solving program at SIU is twofold: to keep the student in balance and in school.

Poston To Speak At Antioch College

Richard W. Poston, director of the community development program, will outline the department's program in an assembly at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, Tuesday.

The students from Antioch College who are research assistants at SIU went with him. They were Gordon Lipman, Marion Malvan and Harriet Feltman.

Poston will also meet with Arvid John Morgan, of Antioch College and on Friday will hold their

Oliver Gish Recalls Being Called World War I Spy

"On two occasions I was accused of being a spy," said Dr. Oliver Gish as he was reminiscing about his experiences in Germany before World War I.

Dr. Gish, SIU geophysicist, who was earning his master's degree at the University of Goettingen, said for America 18 days after the war started.

"Shortly before leaving the country I decided to photograph the scenery around Goettingen," he said. "I had stopped to catch a bit of scenery on film when the German soldiers came up and I wanted to see my exposures."

"Where are they?" asked the soldiers. I answered that they were in the camera. It seems like the two Germans knew very little about cameras. One of them said I looked like a spy. I said if I was a spy I would open the camera and destroy the evidence."

"They took the camera so that the pictures could be developed. Later my camera was returned but not the plate holders." He recalled another brush with the Germans which occurred when he was bicycling in the fields. This time it also concerned the camera.

"Something went wrong with my camera and I had to travel back to my apartment in the city to repair it. Enroute a man on horseback halted me, and again I was questioned about the camera."

"The man would not let me go until a motorist in a little red automobile came along and persuaded my capturer that I wasn't a spy. Cars were a rarity in Germany, the peasant probably respected my defender's opinion because he owned one."

"Later, after being released, he saw me again and said the peasant thought I was a Frenchman carrying money to the Russians and that he didn't know whether to shoot me, or turn me over to the police."

Traveling by train to Hanover, Germany, the conductor led Gish to a second-class compartment in the rear; he had been in a fourth-class car. They told him that here he could smoke, and "anyway they didn't want foreigners smoking bridges from the rear of a train."

Let There Be Facts

It is interesting to receive the Student Council Investigative reports at The Egyptian office.

For the editors, it is valuable for one reason—the pages of rambling prose provide copy for the newspaper when it might otherwise be lacking.

We have agreed to publish these reports for the benefit of the student body, but we would like to make a few suggestions.

At present, they satisfy only the university administration. In the two reports already published, the committees went to one source only for the information—administration representatives who gave what we think is a censored, preapproved report.

What the reports should contain is student comment and constructive contributions to alleviate problems of interest to the student body.

If they do this, the Student Council committees will provide something of real value. It will take more work and real digging, but what the students want is "the facts, man" and not just from a University spokesman.

Late Student Checks

Many SIU students jumped out of bed Tuesday morning, looking at the calendar and felt secure.

For Tuesday was the 15th of the month and that meant just one thing—student checks were in.

But to the dismay of these expectant students, they weren't. Wednesday came, but the same story resulted.

The only consolation given to the disappointed, was "student checks are late" and they may not be in till next week.

The news would probably appear of little consequence to some, but to others who have to work their way through school living and budgeting one day at a time, late student checks create a very real problem.

As if the tension of studies and exams aren't enough, financial insecurity through no fault of their own, could be the "hair that broke the camel's back" for some.

Mail Box

Dear Students: I want to take this opportunity to thank you for your wonderful cooperation in making the card section a big success at this year's football games. You, the students, made this card section a success. No matter how much planning and work was devoted to the project, it would have been in vain without your backing and cooperation.

The card section will celebrate its first birthday tomorrow—Parents Day. One year ago the coaches of the ROTC performed Southern's first card tricks and tomorrow will mark the fourth and final appearance of the section this year.

We hope that you won't let us down. We need your cooperation tomorrow just as much as we need it at the first.

Let's show our parents the best card tricks ever to be shown at Southern.

Thanks again—we'll look for you in the card section. Sincerely, Frank Mizenko

Driver Education' Topic of Meeting

"Upgrading Safety Education" was George Mathis' subject at the area high school driver education meeting Monday morning in the University School Auditorium. Mathis is state supervisor of safety education.

Dr. J. E. Grinnell, dean of the College of Education, made the welcoming address to delegates from the high schools of the area.

After a luncheon provided by the Egyptian Motor Club of Harrisburg in the University Cafeteria, Lindell Rockwell, Illinois State Police sergeant spoke on "A Day of Enforcement and the Teenage Driver" problem.

Delegates from Carbondale Community High School, Mount Vernon, University High, Pinckneyville, Herrin and Saline were present at the meeting.

Student Earns Colledge Year As 'Food Man'

By Marion Hughes

"It has taken more than I possess," stated Vince Farrell. "He had come to a lot for me. I hope to be able to repay him someday."

Vince, a junior majoring in speech, is student pastor of Marion Street Baptist Church.

He and his wife, Pat, are working for that degree. On the side, they run student houses for boys on East Park Street.

Pat is pretty well tied down with their two boys, aged six and eight, and their two girls 2½ and one, but she manages to add quite a lot to the family income by typing in her spare time. Vince must devote a large part of his time to his church.

Together they operate a portable restaurant. Pat begins late in the afternoon making sandwiches, pies, cakes, brownies, chili, and sometimes pizza. Everything is ready by Vince by 9 p. m. He begins his route to Barrett's Dormitory, fraternities and sororities and organized houses. Then, he becomes known as the "food man."

"She's my backbone," said Vince about his wife.

"We've still got a long way to go, but we can look back and see that we've been over the hardest part."

The tall, serious minister hopes to be able to attend Golden Gate Seminary in California. Then he plans to settle down either in Oregon or in Washington or Oregon to begin his ministry.

The curly-headed Navy veteran is 25, as is his wife. They plan on at least seven more years of school for Vince.

With the time that's left from his various duties and occupations, Vince carries 15 hours. His study time usually begins at midnight when he gets home from his route.

Young engineer decides what colors are best for G-E reflector lamps

Which color of light makes people look natural? Should a blue light be used more often than a red? What kind of effect does a violet light have on merchandise?

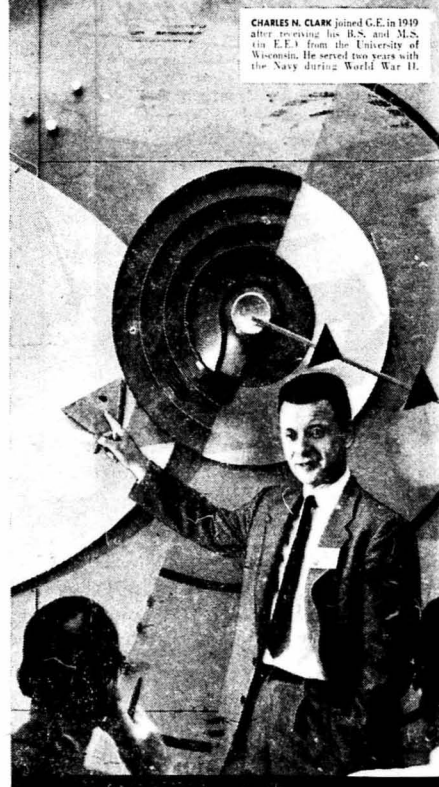

In recent years, color lighting has become so important in stores, restaurants, theaters, and displays that General Electric developed a line of new easy-to-use color-reflector lamps for this market.

The man responsible for deciding which colors are most effective for dealers of these lamps is 29-year-old Charles N. Clark, Application Engineering Color Specialist for General Electric's large lamp department.

Clark's Work is Interesting, Important

In a recent series of tests, Clark made a critical appraisal of literally hundreds of color-filter materials to find the ones that produced maximum results but were still suitable to high-production techniques, practical stocking and simplified selling. This experimental work also had to take into account all the information on human perception of color.

25,000 College Graduates at General Electric
When Clark came to General Electric in 1949, he already knew the work he wanted to do. Like each of the 25,000 college-graduate employees, he was given his chance to grow and realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: When fresh, young minds are given freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the company, and the country.

Progress Is Our Most Important Product

Salukis Meet Northern Huskies In IIAC Finale Here Tomorrow

SIU's gridlers wind up conference play here tomorrow against Northern Illinois. The Salukis, who beat Illinois Normal last week, can finish at least third by beating Northern.

A victory over Northern would give the Salukis their best season since 1947, when they won seven, lost two and tied one.

If the field is dry, Jerry Hart may take to the air to supplement a well-stocked running attack. Hart's favorite receiver is end Wayne Williams, who has snagged 6 passes for 328 yards so far this season.

Northern will be out to stop halfback Jack Schneider, who is averaging over six yards per carry this season.

Northern hopes are somewhat brightened by a fine showing week. The Huskies played the Illions on even terms but were edged 13-6 for their fourth consecutive loss against one team.

Chief cog in Coach Bob Kahler's offense against this week probably will be Bob Snider, elusive Huskie halfback. Snider picked up 75 yards in 15 carries against Michigan Normal, grabbed five passes for 72 yards and returned two kick-offs for 70 yards.

The Huskie line gave up only 19 yards to the Hurons.

Ed Johnson, senior halfback, is playing his fourth season of football for the Salukis. Johnson, who played football in the Marines for four years, has lettered three times as a Saluki before this year.

Duck Hunting To Improve

If you were one of the early season hunters who has tried this season without success, don't give up yet.

Prospects for one of the best duck hunting seasons in many years have been good. It is estimated primarily by the fact that there is not many of the birds have shown up at Crab Orchard Park, where the season opens on Nov. 15. The season opens on Nov. 15 and will close on Nov. 30. The season is open to all who have a valid hunting license.

Hunters are required to use a federal duck stamp if they have reached their annual quota. The fee for the stamp is $2. All hunters, regardless of age, are required to have the state hunting license. This license also costs $2.

Duck season opened earlier this year than ever before. In previous years it opened at the same time as goose season. Goose season opens Nov. 5. Change in the duck and goose seasons are being conducted on an experimental basis.

Illinois Wesleyan at Illinois Normal (non-league)

Football action in the IIAC this fall is anticlimactic as Central, Central Michigan and Michigan Normal completed league action as co-champions for the second consecutive year.

In games tomorrow Western Illinois travels to Eastern Illinois. Southern Illinois hosts Northern Illinois, and in non-league action

Illinois Normal hosts traditional rival, Illinois Wesleyan.

After this week only one game is scheduled. Southern Illinois completes its schedule by hosting non-league, Bradley Thursday.

The two Michigan schools finished league play with identical records of the wins and one loss. Central Michigan ended its season with a 48-14 win over Eastern Illinois and Michigan Normal won over Northern Illinois 14-6. This marks the fourth consecutive league championship.

Southern strengthened its hold of second place by defeating Illinois Normal 25-14. Bolstered by the return of quarterback Bill Vandermere, Western Illinois downed a stronger St. Ann's team 19-13 in a non-league game.

Cosch Wes Stevens will bring his Western Illinois Leathernecks into Charleston to do battle with Eastern Illinois. Fourth place in the league is virtually assured the Leathernecks, regardless of the outcome of the game. However, should winless Northern Illinois upset Southern Illinois a tie for third place between Western and Southern would result. Last year Eastern and Western played to a 12-12 tie. Coach Pat O'Brien's Eastern team is vastly improved over last year and have been tough at home.

Two new coaches in the league will tangle for the first time when Southern hosts Northern. Al Kaval, the new Southern mentor, has litted them from last place to third. Bob Kahler, in his first year as head coach at Northern Illinois, has played his freshman team most of the season. Despite this they managed to field co-champions Michigan Normal to 15 points last Sunday. The Huskies did this minus the services of three top backs, Chuck Boudreau, Dan Ritter and Tom Skubich. Bob Snider paced the Huskies in their last meeting. Last year Northern defeated Southern 24-7.

In a rivalry marred by 103 games Illinois Normal hosts its rival, Illinois Wesleyan. It will be the final game of the year for the Redbirds, who have completed league play. Last year Normal won

Football Excuse For Absences . . . Sometimes

Football games are a valid excuse for absences from one of Dr. William Freberg's classes.

List I on the class roll is a graduate course in Head Coach Al Kaval's Carman Piccone, SIU backfield coach; Bob Franz, line coach and chief scout; and Jim Sells, assistant junior varsity coach.

The class, in the outdoor education curriculum, meets on Saturday mornings, so football would trips really cut down the attendance—16 are enrolled in the course.

Dr. Freberg, chairman of the recreation and outdoor education department, says the excuse isn't too important. "They're all good students, so we just let them make up the time later."

Students Earn Credit For Fly, Bait Casting

For years students have skipped school to go fishing, but this performance Saturday, has rolled up 502 yards rushing in eight games so far this season. Schneider is averaging 6.8 yards per carry for 74 tries.

The credit is earned in a new fly and bait casting course offered for the first time this fall. About 50 sophomore male students are enrolled in the three classes.

"School was never like it was for former students may say, but Dr. Edward J. Shea, chairman of the physical education department, explains the new course in this way:

"Adults are reluctant to learn new skills or do not receive the full amount of pleasure from many activities they have not completely learned. Skill learning in such activities as this one should take place early in life."

One of the two instructors, Dr. Cecil Frank, believes that fishing has a great "carry-over" into actual life — much more than the activities taught in most college physical education classes. "Why not teach the students skills they will use for years to come?" he observed.

So far, classes have held one "div-runs" with casting techniques being emphasized. In early November the classes hope to go to some of the nearby lakes to test their newly-learned abilities.

The course, which offers one hour of credit, meets twice a week. Instructor Joe Fedora reports that interest is high and that some of the students have made considerable progress since the opening of school.

Dr. Shea says that several more casting classes are scheduled for spring term.

Under SIU's physical education program, freshmen take required courses in physical education while sophomores have choices of different sports, "angling" being the newest one.

Dr. Shea feels that many people underestimate the growing importance of leisure time and that it is important for developing profitable ways to spend it. "Spending leisure time wisely," he said, "is a great help in relaxing from the fast tempo of modern life."

Meanwhile, the Salukis are still looking for a Saluki.

Schneider Tops Salukis In Rushing And Scoring

Jack Schneider, by virtue of his performance Saturday, has rolled up 502 yards rushing in eight games so far this season. Schneider is averaging 6.8 yards per carry for 74 tries.

Schneider's nearest competitor is Hank Warfield, who has been kept inactive the past two games because of an ankle injury. Warfield has 265 yards in 61 carries for a 4.3 average.

Jerry Hart still leads in the total yardage department with 681 yards, running and passing. In the passing department, he has completed 35 out of 86 tries for 560 yards. He also has picked up 121 yards on the ground.

Warne Williams is tops in two departments. He has headed in 16 of Hart's aeriels for 323 yards, which is tops for the squad and puts his name among the leaders in the IIAC in that department.

Williams specialists, however, is punting. Williams is averaging 39.6 yards per punt in 6 punts this season, which has kept him out of the first four games among the top punters in the nation.

Schneider also leads the scoring column with 42 points on seven touchdowns. Near is Bill Spratt with 23 points on two touchdowns and 11 extra points.

SIU holds an edge over opponents in all categories except scoring. Southern has rolled up 2,019 yards rushing and passing to 1,069 for the opposition.

In scoring, however, opponents hold an edge of 118 to 109.

Varsity quarterbacks at Northern Illinois State College were given evidence that their position is not dead set on a football team. In a scrimmage prior to the opening game, signal caller Bob Casady of Northern Illinois suffered a sprained ankle and kept him out of the first four games. Then a Cosdon of Crete, who started a quarterback against Wheaton, received a broken nose in that game and missed the next game. Then Chuck Boudreau broke his leg in scrimmage before the Western game.
