11-7-1987

The Daily Egyptian, November 07, 1987

Daily Egyptian Staff

Follow this and additional works at: https://opensiuc.lib.siu.edu/de_November1987
Volume 74, Issue 56

Recommended Citation

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Daily Egyptian 1987 at OpenSIUC. It has been accepted for inclusion in November 1987 by an authorized administrator of OpenSIUC. For more information, please contact opensiuc@lib.siu.edu.
Rain puts damper on woodland fires

By Richard Nunez and Jackie Hampton
Staff Writers

State forestry employees said a Sunday afternoon rain probably was as helpful as any store owner could have wished, as many as 156 fires that burned in Southern Illinois forests this past summer were turned to dust.

"The only place it isn't raining right now is Pope County," Glenn Campbell, an employee of the state forestry office near Benton, said. "As far as I know there is one still burning there. There have been other reports but nothing definite.

Firefighters say it will take at least another day of rain to significantly reduce the threat of further fires.

"If it rains at 90 degrees, the humidity is low and there's a five to 10 mile per hour wind, it's unbelievable how quickly a fire can dry up," Steve Springer, a state forestry firefighter, said. "If it's sunny and windy tomorrow, we could have another rash of fires by Thursday. It's supposed to continue raining tomorrow, though, and that's what we need.

Aeron is suspected in four fires that burned about 80 acres of forest south of Devil's Kitchen Lake in the Shawnee National Forest about 9 p.m. Saturday.

"Normally, when there is more than one fire, it's usually no accident," Robert Foster, a Herrin fireman, said. "This particular county has some of the most beautiful territory and people go and do something like this. There are a lot of nuts around doing stuff like this.

"It looks so attractive. Do you know what I mean?" Stine said of the fire. "The sky was glowing, I just kept thinking of hell surrounding me."

The two fires were contained around 2:30 a.m. Sunday and two smaller fires in the same area were contained earlier Saturday night.

The Williamson County Sheriff's Department is investigating.

See FIRES, Page 5

No one racing to grab Pork Prince crown

By Mary Wisniewski
Daily Egyptian

None of the possible successors for retiring U.S. Rep. Kenneth J. Gray's 22nd Congressional seat jumped forward with campaign bids as of Monday.

Gray, 62, the long-reigning Prince of Pork, announced Saturday that he will abdicate his Congressional seat after 12 terms.

The 4w Democratic candidates considered most likely to succeed Gray's 12-term legacy are state Rep. Jim Rea of Christopher and state Sen. Glenn Ponshard of Carterville.

Ponshard reported Sunday that Poshard probably announced his intentions Tuesday. Rea said he would announce his decision before Gray's retirement on Monday.

Rea announced he would run for re-election Sept. 20, but did not specify which office.

In the Republican half of the race, Randy Patchett, who lost to Gray in the 1984 and 1986 elections, said Sunday he is "not going to run now."

However, Patchett said he thought Gray's retirement "gives the Republicans a good opportunity in the next election."

See GRAY, Page 5

By Dana DeBeaumont
Staff Writer

In 1983, he was the Homecoming king; now he faces a bench trial for felony charges for theft.

Trial was set to begin for Chris Heeren, 22, of 800 E. Grand Ave., Carbondale, Tuesday in the Jackson County Courthouse.

In 1983, in a senior in speech communication, was arrested and charged with two counts of theft and two counts of retail theft April 30 for allegedly stealing merchandise valued at $8.73 from Sohn's men's clothing store in the University Mall, Carbondale Police said.

Heeren was found guilty on charges of felony theft by jury Aug. 14. At the trial, Heeren pleaded innocent to all four theft charges and demanded a jury trial, which was scheduled for Aug. 14. To the trial, Heeren brought in a video of the trial and requested a bench trial.

A bench trial the case is decided by a judge. Heeren also files, a request on June 14 to have the case tried by a different judge than he had been originally assigned to the case. The request was granted on June 16, and the case was assigned to Judge William William.

A Sohn's employee alleged that Heeren, while he was employed at Sohn's, removed store merchandise when he went into a trash at night. placed the merchandise in the trash can, returned to the trash can to get merchandise, and took merchandise. Heeren was found guilty of two counts of felony theft.

Heeren said Heeren had a "little absurdist" feeling to it because the judge was accused of being taken "very seriously."

"What happened and what people say are two different things," he said, laughing.

He had said, on the phone interview Sunday, that representatives for the state's attorney's office had called Sohn's and that the felony charges, charged with two counts of theft and two counts of retail theft April 30 for allegedly stealing merchandise valued at $8.73 from Sohn's men's clothing store in the University Mall, Carbondale Police said.

Modern, Illinois, Northern Illinois (UI), A bomb exploded Sunday inside a building near a crowd gathered for a ceremony honoring Britain's war dead, collapsing the structure and burying scores of people in a pile of rubble.

The blast, suspected to be the work of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, killed at least 11 persons in what was believed to be the greatest loss of civilian life in a bomb attack in Northern Ireland in 15 years. Police said 55 persons were injured.

Among the injured were 13 children, the ages of 2 and 15. many of them members of youth organizations who were to take part in a wreath-laying ceremony and march in Enniskillen, 75 miles west of Belfast.

After the blast, survivors, police officers and firefighters began digging frantically with their bare hands to search for those pinned underneath the rubble from the building, a former school recently used as a community center.

"We saw the arms and legs of people in the rubble crying for help," said one Boys Guides leader whose troop was standing near a war memorial 20 yards away from the building where the bomb exploded. "They were crushed. It was just terrible."

One of the dead in Sunday's attack was initially identified as a policeman but it was later announced he was retired.

More students faced theft charges for possessing property stolen from Sohn's, the charges have been dismissed, according to reports.

Donor dad

Mathew Swenson, left, five, counts to 15 for his dad, Bob Swenson, of Carbondale, while he gives blood at the Red Cross Blood Drive Saturday. The Red Cross collected 176 pints on the first day of the "World's Greatest Blood Drive." Donations can be made 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday and 12:30 to 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Student Center Ballrooms. No appointment is required.

11 die in N. Ireland bombing

By Gus Bode

The Associated Press

"I am considering most likely to succeed Gray's 12-term legacy are state Rep. Jim Rea of Christopher and state Sen. Glenn Ponshard of Carterville.

Ponshard reported Sunday that Poshard probably announced his intentions Tuesday. Rea said he would announce his decision before Gray's retirement on Monday.

Rea announced he would run for re-election Sept. 20, but did not specify which office.

In the Republican half of the race, Randy Patchett, who lost to Gray in the 1984 and 1986 elections, said Sunday he is "not going to run now."

However, Patchett said he thought Gray's retirement "gives the Republicans a good opportunity in the next election."

See GRAY, Page 5

Staff Photo by Mike Moffett

ENNISKILLEN, Northern Ireland (UPI) - A bomb exploded Sunday inside a building near a crowd gathered for a ceremony honoring Britain's war dead, collapsing the structure and burying scores of people in a pile of rubble.

The blast, suspected to be the work of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, killed at least 11 persons in what was believed to be the greatest loss of civilian life in a bomb attack in Northern Ireland in 15 years. Police said 55 persons were injured.

Among the injured were 13 children, the ages of 2 and 15, many of them members of youth organizations who were to take part in a wreath-laying ceremony and march in Enniskillen, 75 miles west of Belfast.

After the blast, survivors, police officers and firefighters began digging frantically with their bare hands to search for those pinned underneath the rubble from the building, a former school recently used as a community center.

"We saw the arms and legs of people in the rubble crying for help," said one Boys Guides leader whose troop was standing near a war memorial 20 yards away from the building where the bomb exploded. "They were crushed. It was just terrible."

One of the dead in Sunday's attack was initially identified as a policeman but it was later announced he was retired.

Donor dad

Mathew Swenson, left, five, counts to 15 for his dad, Bob Swenson, of Carbondale, while he gives blood at the Red Cross Blood Drive Saturday. The Red Cross collected 176 pints on the first day of the "World's Greatest Blood Drive." Donations can be made 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday and 12:30 to 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Student Center Ballrooms. No appointment is required.
Redshirt freshman quarterback Fred Gibson looks for running room during the second quarter of the SIU-C — Eastern game in Charleston. The game Saturday was played before a crowd of 11,485, the sixth largest in Eastern Illinois history.

Upset!
Salukis rally, score two TDs in final 2:10 to defeat EIU

By Bill West
Staff Writer

Eastern Illinois University got a taste of Saluki vengeance when SIU-C stunned the EIU Parents Day crowd with a dramatic 32-27 win over the Panthers, scoring two touchdowns in the final 2:10 of the game.

"It was a remarkable comeback. It will go down as one of the great ones in SIU football, at least this year," head coach Ray Derr said.

The Saluki offense scored in the first quarter on a 91-yard play touchdown march. The Saluki offense put the EIU defense back on its heels by opening with the passing game, then turning to a devastating ground attack.

Junior running back Chuck Harmke set up the score with a 62-yard sprint deep into EIU territory.

Spikers GCAC tourney bound

By Troy Taylor
Staff Writer

The volleyball team is going to the Gateway Conference post-season tournament despite losing to Illinois State 15-9, 10-15, 15-8, 15-9 Saturday night in the final match at Davies Gym this season.

"For a time this season it was hard to imagine that we'd be in this position. But we pulled together and got it done," Saluki coach Debbie Hunter said.

With the victory, ISU should have eliminated the Salukis' best chance of earning a berth in the conference tournament.

But the Redbirds were upset by Eastern Illinois on Friday and muddled the conference race in the process.

The conference stands as follows:

Northern Iowa is in sole possession of first with a 7-0 record after defeating Southwest Missouri (6-1) on the road in four games Friday.

ISU (13-10, 4-2) is tied for third with the Salukis (13-10, 6-3). Eastern moves up to fifth at 5-4. Indiana State, which lost to the Salukis 6-15, 15-1, 15-12, 15-8 Friday, is sixth at 3-3.

One week remains in the conference season but the Salukis, idle from conference play, will play two non-conference matches.

The top four finishers qualify for the conference tournament Nov. 19-21 at Northern Iowa.

On Saturday, Illinois State dominated the net with 61 kills and 19 team blocks.

"My kids knew their backs were against the wall," ISU coach Julie Morgan said. "After getting shot down by EIU, our kids were embarrassed..."

Chris Rehor led the Redbirds with 18 kills, followed by Angie Roll with 14 and Liz Hendricks with 12. "We worked on moving the ball around, on having a balanced attack because a lot of teams key on Rehor," Morgan said.

Mila Lanker received a $100 check for leading the team with 22 kills. However, SIU-C's service soured with 14 errors.

"Erratic is the word that describes how we played," Hunter said. "We didn't make any chances earlier this year, but I tried all overhand serves and didn't get any in. The second chance is the charm."

Lanker, who hasn't decided what to do with the prize money, said she was at most of the volleyball matches at Davies Gym this year.

Serving nets cash for fan

Mila Lanker, a 24-year-old physiology graduate student, became the first person this season to win a $100 prize in a serving contest held during each Saluki volleyball home match.

Three contestants, chosen from a drawing of ticket stubs, serve into a basket target on the gym floor.

Lanker aced four straight into the target at Saturday's match. "I think it takes underhanded serving to win," Lanker said.

"I had a chance earlier this year, but I tried all overhand serves and didn't get any in. The second chance is the charm."

Lanker, who hasn't decided what to do with the prize money, said she was at most of the volleyball matches at Davies Gym this year.

The saluki blocking trio (from left to right) of Beth Winsett, Dorothy Buchannan and Joan Wallenberg reject an Indiana State spike attempt during Friday night's match at Davies Gym. They accounted for 31 kills in the Gateway Conference win.

Hard tackle puts Yates in hospital

SIU-C's 32-27 win over Eastern Illinois may be overshadowed by injuries to key players on the football team.

Sophomore split end Wesley Yates was transferred from intensive care to a private room following surgery Saturday night in Sarah

"We were a little surprised they attacked us with the passing game," Bob Spoo, EIU head coach, said.

"Southern picked on Dale.

See UPSET, Page 13

See SPIKERS, Page 13

StafPhoto by Bill West

Staff Photo by Alan Hawes

Page 16, Daily Egyptian, November 9, 1987
Iran rejecres cease-fire, bombs several Iraqi cities

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — Iran fired at least one missile at Baghdad and attacked several other Iraqi cities Sunday after leaders of the Arab world met in Jordan to consider steps against Tehran for rejecting a U.S.-cease-fire call. State-run Baghdad radio quoted an Iraqi military spokesman as saying the missile fired 6:10 p.m. at Baghdad killed an unspecified number of women and children. He said Iran fired the missile to coincide with the start of the Arab League summit in Amman, Jordan.

Palestinian terrorists hijack Israeli boat

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — The Palestinian terrorist group led by the notorious Abu Nidal said Sunday one of its “unidentified” hijacked a boat carrying six Israelis and its children off Israel’s coast and was holding them hostage. The Fatah Revolutionary Council, held responsible for some 100 terrorist attacks, said in a statement released in Moslem west Beirut the operation constituted a “slap” against Jordan’s King Hussein, who is hosting the Arab League, and Amman in a bid to find a “unified” stance against Iran in the 7-year-old Gulf war.

Korean students riot, demand fair election

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — Riot police firing tear gas detained more than 50 people during a clash Sunday with 1,000 firebomb-throwing students demanding a neutral Cabinet to ensure a fair presidential election, police sources said. Police fired tear gas as the students hurled hundreds of firebombs and rocks, witnesses said. Police sources said more than 10 people were taken into custody during the clash. There were no reports of injuries.

Mandela’s release pending, government says

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Nelson Mandela, South Africa’s most prominent dissident, may be freed soon if the recent release of fellow anti-government leader Govan Mbeki does not trigger unrest, government sources said Sunday in published interviews. Mbeki, former national chairman of the outlawed African National Congress, which seeks to overthrow the white minority government, was released Thursday after serving 23 years behind bars.

White House cautious after Ginsburg failure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House appeared to be taking a cautious approach Sunday in choosing a Supreme Court nominee after his critics Sunday that no regrets or promises to the Senate. Mr. Reagan, urged by Sen. Arlen Specter, R-Pa., to “move quickly” to fill the void left Saturday by the withdrawal after President Bush announced a new chief justice candidate. Today’s announcement is expected to be made after the court’s new chief justice is chosen.

Program accelerates release of ill prisoners

NEW YORK (UPI) — The city is accelerating an unprecedented program under which nonviolent, terminally ill prisoners, including those with AIDS, may be granted “compassionate release” from jail, correction officials said Sunday. Since the so-called compassionate-release program was implemented in November 1988, it has been used to release a number of nonviolent crimes who have been recommended for release from city jails. Ruby Ryles, a spokeswoman for the city Correction Department, said.

Funeral service won’t signal changes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Outgoing Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger won’t signal that his departure from the Cabinet will not mean any change in the hard-line U.S. refusal to compromise on the “Star Wars” anti-missile program. In a televised interview in which he offered no regrets or apologies for his stubborn style during the past seven years, Weinberger challenged President’s designation successor, Frank Carlucci, might take a softer line on the Strategic Defense Initiative, known as “Star Wars.”

Daily Egyptian

Published daily in the Journalism and Egyptian Laboratory Monday through Friday during regular semesters and Tuesday through Friday during summer term by the Daily Egyptian Student Newspapers, Inc. Communications Building, Carbondale, IL 62901. Second class postage paid at Carbondale, IL.

Editorial and business offices located in Communications Building. North Wing, Phone 536-3111, Walter B. Josting, fiscal officer.

Subscription rates: $40 per year or $35 for six months within the United States and $35 per year or $32 for six months in all foreign countries.

Postmaster: Send change of address to Daily Egyptian, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, IL 62901.
Carbondale takes psychical look at its future

By Laura Milbrath
Staff Writer

Seated before a small table, Derold Wright watched intently as the rows of colorful tarot cards were spread before him. His Sakki cap bobbed as he nodded his head and watched the long silver fingernails of the tarot cards point out his future.

Wright, a junior in business finance, said he came to Carbondale's First Psychic Festival Saturday to satisfy his curiosity about metaphysical sciences. He left amazed at the accuracy of the reader's predictions. "She told me some things that I was thinking about without my even mentioning it to her," he said.

THE FESTIVAL was held Saturday and Sunday at the Ramada Inn and was attended by a crowd interested in all aspects of psychic phenomena. Some spectators huddled around tables of quartz crystals, turning them in the light and discussing and debating their supposed healing powers.

Others paged through books on psychic abilities and numerology. Many waited patiently in line for the chance to have their palm read or to read their astrological charts by a天nager.

Walter Berson, from Hazel Crest, who says he's a psychic clairvoyant, lectured on methods people could use to get in touch with their "higher self" to make positive things happen.

BROWN SAID the first step in using your life experience was to learn how to forgive yourself and others for past mistakes. "If you hold grudges, you pull in negativity subconsciously," he said. "You turn yourself into a magnet. Let go of the past. If you've been a failure, release that."

Brown said the next two steps are to relax and expect positive things to happen. "If we fill our subconscious mind with nothing but positive thoughts, then nothing but positive things can come out," he said.

"You' II see faces," Joseph Zilzioni, from Peoria, who also says he's a psychic clairvoyant, said almost instantly. "You're one of the people who can make the most of their psychic abilities, but most people do not choose to get involved deeply with the subject."

"PSYCHIC ABILITY is a very strange thing. It works on different levels for different people," Zilzioni said. "There is a difference between curiosity and really being involved."

Zilzioni spoke of deja vu, the feeling that one has experienced something before, and said psychics believe the feeling is caused because the mind "never sleeps and has the ability to go back and forth in time. Your mind recalls what happens when your body is asleep."

He also said when a person has dreamed something more than three times, that dream has become a premonition and the chances of coming true are great.

ONE PSYCHIC method of finding an answer to a problem is to pass a piece of paper over a candle flame while asking a question in one's mind. Zilzioni said the flames will make a smoke image on the paper. He explained, "One can see images in that smoke. You'll see faces."

Laura Tadlock, who also says she's a psychic, lectured on past life regressions, during which people go into their subconscious minds and go back in time to see past lives they have lived.

Every memory from every lifetime is stored in the brain, Tadlock said. Past life regressions bring those memories into the conscious mind to help people learn from their past to help them in the present life, she explained.

"I BELIEVE we have had many lives," Tadlock said. "Each and every life is a growing experience, a learning experience."

Tadlock believes fears and phobias have origins in past life. "When you go back and experience that life and learn about that life, it helps to absolve the phobia," she said.

Many times people reincarnate together over many lifetimes, meeting in different relationships as a parent and child in one life or lovers in another until they eventually work out a problem, Tadlock said. She added that not everyone's past lives were full of excitement. "Not everybody was Cleopatra or Napoleon," she said.

PEOPLE HAVE a choice about when they want to be read, revised and actually can design blueprints for their lives — choosing their parents and where they want to live depending on what problem needs to be solved, Tadlock said.

She added that there is room for change in the present. "There are steps we're here and you can change the blueprint," she said.

Ruth Seals, from St. Louis, who says she is a psychic consultant, has read 14,000 pages for 35 years. Seals said she was impressed with the large crowd at the festival and believes there is a never-ending interest in psychic phenomena.
Opinion & Commentary

Entertainment big leap from past ills

THIS SEMESTER HAS witnessed a satisfyingly diverse blend of entertainment programmed by the Arena and Shryock Auditorium.

In extreme contrast from years past — most notably 1983, when many "big name" acts were signed but ultimately backed out of their Carbondale performances at the last second — 1987 has been something of an entertainment bonanza for SIU-C. So far this year, the Arena has scored successes with John Cougar Mellencamp, Eddie Murphy, Def Leppard and Whitesnake, while Shryock Auditorium has appealed to other cultural tastes with the performance of the Broadway drama "I'm not Rappaport" and a concert by the world-renowned Chicago Symphony.

WHILE ALL OF these acts doubtlessly were viewed with disdain by disinterested segments of the population, the fact remains that each has a draw following at SIU-C. Whether they wear concert T-shirts and wave lighters over their heads or don a tuxedo to quietly enjoy an evening with the Chicago Symphony, these followers have money that they are more than willing to spend to enjoy their brand of entertainment.

In recent history, this money didn't have much of a chance to find its way into the Arena's or Shryock's bills. In particular, 1983 was a dreary season for University entertainment. In a two-month period Asia, Neil Young and the Kinks — all musical groups that were relatively popular at the time — canceled their Carbondale concerts at the last moment. Whether it was because of mental fatigue, MTV projects or physical illness, nationally known groups frequently found excuses to fudge their Carbondale gigs.

THE ARENA AND Shryock programmers should be commended for their success in eradicating the 1983 "no show" phenomenon, as well as for providing entertainment that appeals to the broad cultural diversity of the University and town.

Letters

Greeks never receive DE coverage

On October 29, Phi Sigma Kappa's pledge class, along with fellow pledge classes of the InterGreek Council (IGC), sponsored the Phi Sigma Kappa Safe Halloween Carnival. The event took place at the Student Center and provided about 400 local children a safe place to trick-or-treat, while playing games to win prizes and candy. At the end of the evening, the children had the opportunity to compete in a costume contest.

This event was not only the kickoff for the city's Halloween Core Committee program, but the University's main contribution to promoting a safe Halloween for the Carbondale community. Phi Sigma Kappa and the pledge classes also had the support of the USAO and about 50 local retailers, without whose support the event would not have taken place.

My complaint is to the DE for making the decision not to cover this event. Why was it that other news media felt that this event was newsworthy enough, while the DE was not concerned at all? The two weeks before Halloween were spent by the pledge class and the fellow pledge classes of IGC spent many hours trying to get the carnival organized, not only for our benefit, but that of Carbondale's children — for whom the event was held — and for the University.

While the DE is willing to print stories that attack any individual or flaw, the Greek system might have, they tend to neglect our contributions to the campus and city.

I hope that in the future, our major events will get better coverage than .that which our carnival got — which was none at all. — John J. Lukan, Phi Sigma Kappa.

No prayer at SIU-C graduation ceremonies

In the debate concerning prayer at SIU-C graduation, I have yet to read a convincing argument for its inclusion at such an event.

Ordinarily, prayer is the expression of an individual or faith community addressed to a specific deity. How that deity is perceived shapes the prayer. For instance, the God of the Moral Majority who blesses nationalism, sexism, and militarism is different from the God of Mary's Magdalcan (Luke 1:46-55) who overturns the plans and thrones of the proud in the United States, the Philippines, SIU-C, and other powers and principalities. Which God is to be addressed?

Prayer, either name-brand or generic, at SIU-C graduation can only be a "nod to God" that can neither express the pluralism religious convictions of the diverse community nor offer more than the palpable of a lowest common denominator of civil religion. Public prayer is not offered in the SIU-C classroom. Why should it be part of the graduation ritual?

— Ted Braus, Carbondale.

Letters from elsewhere

Star Tribune, Minneapolis

Slowly, Americans are beginning to realize that something different is happening in the Soviet Union. The notion that a system so ponderous can change is difficult to accept, especially when the system is that of the major U.S. adversary. When the changes seem to hold promise for the United States, acceptance is still hazy. Yanks are justifiably impatient with the glacial pace of the process — wary of the Author's "arguments." Still, the evidence grows that a Soviet shift of significance is afoot. And that it presents rarer opportunity to change the world.

Opinions

from elsewhere

No prayer at SIU-C graduation ceremonies

In the debate concerning prayer at SIU-C graduation, I have yet to read a convincing argument for its inclusion at such an event.

Ordinarily, prayer is the expression of an individual or faith community addressed to a specific deity. How that deity is perceived shapes the prayer. For instance, the God of the Moral Majority who blesses nationalism, sexism, and militarism is different from the God of Mary's Magdalcan (Luke 1:46-55) who overturns the plans and thrones of the proud in the United States, the Philippines, SIU-C, and other powers and principalities. Which God is to be addressed?

Prayer, either name-brand or generic, at SIU-C graduation can only be a "nod to God" that can neither express the pluralism religious convictions of the diverse community nor offer more than the palpable of a lowest common denominator of civil religion. Public prayer is not offered in the SIU-C classroom. Why should it be part of the graduation ritual?

— Ted Braus, Carbondale.

Letters from elsewhere

Star Tribune, Minneapolis

Slowly, Americans are beginning to realize that something different is happening in the Soviet Union. The notion that a system so ponderous can change is difficult to accept, especially when the system is that of the major U.S. adversary. When the changes seem to hold promise for the United States, acceptance is still hazy. Yanks are justifiably impatient with the glacial pace of the process — wary of the Author's "arguments." Still, the evidence grows that a Soviet shift of significance is afoot. And that it presents rarer opportunity to change the world.

Opinions

from elsewhere

No prayer at SIU-C graduation ceremonies

In the debate concerning prayer at SIU-C graduation, I have yet to read a convincing argument for its inclusion at such an event.

Ordinarily, prayer is the expression of an individual or faith community addressed to a specific deity. How that deity is perceived shapes the prayer. For instance, the God of the Moral Majority who blesses nationalism, sexism, and militarism is different from the God of Mary's Magdalcan (Luke 1:46-55) who overturns the plans and thrones of the proud in the United States, the Philippines, SIU-C, and other powers and principalities. Which God is to be addressed?

Prayer, either name-brand or generic, at SIU-C graduation can only be a "nod to God" that can neither express the pluralism religious convictions of the diverse community nor offer more than the palpable of a lowest common denominator of civil religion. Public prayer is not offered in the SIU-C classroom. Why should it be part of the graduation ritual?

— Ted Braus, Carbondale.

Letters from elsewhere

Star Tribune, Minneapolis

Slowly, Americans are beginning to realize that something different is happening in the Soviet Union. The notion that a system so ponderous can change is difficult to accept, especially when the system is that of the major U.S. adversary. When the changes seem to hold promise for the United States, acceptance is still hazy. Yanks are justifiably impatient with the glacial pace of the process — wary of the Author's "arguments." Still, the evidence grows that a Soviet shift of significance is afoot. And that it presents rarer opportunity to change the world.

Opinions

from elsewhere

No prayer at SIU-C graduation ceremonies

In the debate concerning prayer at SIU-C graduation, I have yet to read a convincing argument for its inclusion at such an event.

Ordinarily, prayer is the expression of an individual or faith community addressed to a specific deity. How that deity is perceived shapes the prayer. For instance, the God of the Moral Majority who blesses nationalism, sexism, and militarism is different from the God of Mary's Magdalcan (Luke 1:46-55) who overturns the plans and thrones of the proud in the United States, the Philippines, SIU-C, and other powers and principalities. Which God is to be addressed?

Prayer, either name-brand or generic, at SIU-C graduation can only be a "nod to God" that can neither express the pluralism religious convictions of the diverse community nor offer more than the palpable of a lowest common denominator of civil religion. Public prayer is not offered in the SIU-C classroom. Why should it be part of the graduation ritual?

— Ted Braus, Carbondale.
Administration to reveal decision on collective bargaining appeal

By Toby Eckert

University officials will announce Thursday whether they will appeal a decision on how the University and the Illinois Education Labor Relations Board (IELRB) will be represented if they decide to unionize.

"Collective bargaining is one of the most significant issues facing the University as it confronts as a University community the need to confront the specter of collective bargaining and running schools," Chancellor Lawrence Fettl said in a news release.

"To get this done, the University is committed to the Daily Egyptian Friday. "Setting the procedure for the collective bargaining (election) cannot be taken lightly."

The Board (of Trustees) and the administration are studying the implications of the hearing officer very carefully to make the administration's under the law."

The University argues that collective bargaining cannot be done systemwide and that department chairpersons should be considered administrators.

But Ira Epstein, a hearing officer for the Illinois Education Labor Relations Board, ruled last month that employees of SIUC and SIU Carbondale should bargain separately, that department chairpersons should be considered administrators and that there should be separate bargaining units for faculty and professional staff members.

The original deadlines for appealing Epstein's decision expired Friday. However, the University was granted an extension after the two unions were unable to reach an agreement in briefs and staff in collective bargaining.

University officials said the extension was needed so that the Board (of Trustees) might discuss Epstein's 140-page ruling. The board will meet Thursday in the Student Center.

Charles Zucker of the Illinois Education Association said his group is expected to file with the IELRB its agreement to the extension only after they both signed a promise from the IELRB that it would rule quickly on any appeal by the University.

As part of the agreement, the University also urged the IELRB to expedite any appeal.

"Although an extension was necessary in order to achieve the Board's schedule, all parties, including the University, seek an early resolution by the IELRB," Thomas Britton, the vice chancellor for administration, said in the Chancellor's Office news release.

Zucker said he was certain the University will appeal the decision. "It would be very surprising if they are not going to appeal," he said.

"Why would they ask for an extension if they are not going to appeal?"

GRAY, from Page 1

Patchett added that he did not think Gray "had done much at all" in his 23 years as a U.S. representative.

A number of ideas were put forward by the Republican State Central Committeeman John T. Anderson of Marion, with many others from Hardin County, and C. L. Frier of Metropolis, are possible Republican bidders for the Senate seat.

Anderson said he would not rule out running before a campaign. But he said he would encourage anyone interested to run a "proper race," he said. "Maybe an independent candidate," he said.

In a statement released Saturday, Gray said health problems convinced him to retire.

Since his visit to Brazil in 1986, Gray has battled the effects of a tick-borne disease contracted in the prior summer. As WSHU news reported Saturday that the disease is similar to Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever in its disabling effects.

Gray's press aide, Richard Darby, said health was the primary factor behind Gray's retirement.

Darby denied that the West Frankfurt native was retiring for fear of a tough 1988 Republican assault on the 22nd Congressional seat, but said, "It's hard to go through a campaign and run an office (while sick)."

Gray took a 10-year break from politics after suffering a mild heart-attack in 1975. He returned in 1984 when Paul Simon left the U.S. House to run for the U.S. Senate.

Darby said it is hoped that the next Congressmen in the office will carry out Gray's programs. The programs Darby listed as having the most future importance are the conversion of Scott Air Force Base for joint military and civilian use and federal funding for a four-lane highway through Southern Illinois to East St. Louis.

Darby says these two programs are the major achievements of Gray's career.

Since Gray won his first term in 1954, at the age of 28, he has become known for his flamboyant, old-time political style. Though often criticized for his pork-barrel politics, Gray says his policies brought in billions in federal dollars to programs to strengthen Southern Illinois.

Defending his title as "Prince of Pork" at a press conference this fall, Gray said he spent 23 years in Washington because we're taxpayers and we want our share.

Gray says the "passing the pork" has roots in the Works Progress Administration of the Great Depression. He said that like the WPA, pork creates jobs.

Police Blotter

A two vehicle head-on collision at the intersection at Illinois route 127 and 117 was reported to the Jackson County Sheriff's Department at 1:30 a.m. Sunday.

Christopher Tow, 20, of Vincennes, and David Jacob, 18, of Murphyboro, collided head-on in the southbound lane of Route 127, a sheriff's department spokesman said.

Jacquot is in the intensive care unit of Soutnwest Hospital, a sheriff's department spokesman said.

Jacquot was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Murphyrboro with major injuries. He is recovering and transferred by helicopter to Memorial Hospital, according to reports.

Tow and a passenger, Tommy Stowers, were treated and released from St. Joseph's Hospital, a sheriff's department spokesman said.

The investigation continues.

Correction

A resolution recently passed by the faculty senate was quashed by the University today. The substitute resolution, which was passed, stated that "college faculty may play a role in the determination of tenure and promotion" and called for the University community to clarify its definition.

FIRES, from Page 1

vestigating the possibility of arson. Three of the most persistent fire reported was in Rockwood, a community of about 12 homes south of New Carlisle in Pulaski County.

Forest firemen firemen have been battling fires in that area since Halloween night. The largest of a fire began Thursday, destroyed another house and threatened 12 others.

A second fire was burning in the area when a third was reported on Sunday morning. Steve Springer, a fire chief, was "lucky" in that only one house was destroyed.

Darby, said health was the primary factor behind Gray's retirement. Darby denied that the West Frankfurt native was retiring for fear of a tough 1988 Republican assault on the 22nd Congressional seat, but said, "It's hard to go through a campaign and run an office (while sick)."

Gray took a 10-year break from politics after suffering a mild heart-attack in 1975. He returned in 1984 when Paul Simon left the U.S. House to run for the U.S. Senate.

Darby said it is hoped that the next Congressmen in the office will carry out Gray's programs. The programs Darby listed as having the most future importance are the conversion of Scott Air Force Base for joint military and civilian use and federal funding for a four-lane highway through Southern Illinois to East St. Louis.

Darby says these two programs are the major achievements of Gray's career.

Since Gray won his first term in 1954, at the age of 28, he has become known for his flamboyant, old-time political style. Though often criticized for his pork-barrel politics, Gray says his policies brought in billions in federal dollars to programs to strengthen Southern Illinois.

Defending his title as "Prince of Pork" at a press conference this fall, Gray said he spent 23 years in Washington because we're taxpayers and we want our share.

Gray says the "passing the pork" has roots in the Works Progress Administration of the Great Depression. He said that like the WPA, pork creates jobs.

Police Blotter

A two vehicle head-on collision at the intersection at Illinois route 127 and 117 was reported to the Jackson County Sheriff's Department at 1:30 a.m. Sunday.

Christopher Tow, 20, of Vincennes, and David Jacob, 18, of Murphyboro, collided head-on in the southbound lane of Route 127, a sheriff's department spokesman said.

Jacquot is in the intensive care unit of Soutnwest Hospital, a sheriff's department spokesman said.

Jacquot was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Murphyrboro with major injuries. He is recovering and transferred by helicopter to Memorial Hospital, according to reports.

Tow and a passenger, Tommy Stowers, were treated and released from St. Joseph's Hospital, a sheriff's department spokesman said.

The investigation continues.

Correction

A resolution recently passed by the faculty senate was quashed by the University today. The substitute resolution, which was passed, stated that "college faculty may play a role in the determination of tenure and promotion" and called for the University community to clarify its definition.
Jim Plante has seen changes in his 17 years as a broadcast journalist.

His career, which began when he left Carbondale in 1968 to take a job at television stations in Evansville and Albany, N.Y., to ABC and finally to NBC, was "managing director for support services in New York."

His old Carbondale haunts have changed during that same period. The Lyceum is now F-e-E; The Rat Hole is The Emperor's Palace and the Club is Booby's Backyard.

The changes Plante saw, as he toured the college town he called home in the 1960s, framed his remarks to the Society of Professional Journalists Friday in the Law School Auditorium like Carbondale, the media continues to change.

UNLIKE PLANTE'S vision of Carbondale, new journalists can no longer ignore the new world of journalism and pine for the good old days when things were simpler.

"Journalists are going to have to be more aware of what is going on," Plante, who next week becomes the National Society of Newspaper Journalists, president, said. "They need a sharper editorial eye to keep up with real-time news. I hope that we journalists become more reader oriented to do things instantly."

NEWS THE WAY IT IS Plante's term for the electronic revolution that has pushed the news-gathering time lag to the point where reporters will soon be editing on ten-thirty.

"We are close to the time when we can provide news instantly," he said. "Right now, all it takes is to go to the scene, put the dish in place and find the right transponder (satellite connection) and you can begin broadcasting." He referred to the recent tragedy that occurred when an Air Force jet crashed into a hotel lobby in Indianapolis.

"Journalists are going to have to be more aware of what is going on."

— Jim Plante

"WITHIN MINUTES of the crash a reporter for our local affiliate was at the scene providing coverage for his station, our local news breaks, Cable News Network and another news exchange service," Plante said. "That is one change, we now can rely more heavily on our affiliates for spot news coverage."

"The enhanced news-gathering capabilities of local stations, the result of their satellite links with national news organizations, has changed the content of local and national newscasts," Plante said.

"National news used to be a headline service, which is kind of like trying to put 10 pounds in a five-pound bag and get as much news on the evening newscast as possible," he said. "Local stations now have that capability."

"IT CAN be the same show as our show with Tom Brokaw.

If we don't offer something different, they will be turning away from NBC." NBC news is changing the format of its news, moving away from straight coverage of breaking news to a more analytical approach said Plante. "Where we used to have 10-12 picture stories on each specific event, we now have eight," he said. "Hardly a day goes by when we don't run a special segment, an entire five-minute slot devoted to a single topic."

"We're doing more in-depth reporting. We're letting local news report on spot news, fires and disasters. We're concentrating on explaining the reasons behind political trends and so forth."

EXPANDING THE role of television news is one way to prevent it's being caught up in the electronic revolution for the sake of technology alone. "The new technology can work for you, but you have to resist the temptation to let technology take us over," he said. "When it goes beyond enhancing a story, that is when you should call it quits."

"Journalism students thinking about career goals should consider the fact that the networks are moving away from spot news, Plante said. "I'm not sure the place you want to end up in the network," he said. "Some play might be more at the local rather than the network level."

"PAY ATTENTION to what's happening, where it's happening and where you want to be. You need to be flexible, see where you want to be and then watch the technologies and try to enhance a storyline where the job you want will be."
Two string recitals set for law, arts

The School of Music will present two free recitals tonight that feature chamber works for strings and instruments.

The first recital by violinist Christine Norman is at 6:30 p.m. in Old Baptist Foundation Recital Hall on the north side of the Faison circle. The second recital, will feature cellist Daniel Mellado accompanied by pianist Donald Beattie at 8:15 p.m. in the Law School Auditorium.

Norman, graduate student in music, will play Ludwig van Beethoven's "Sonata No. 3," and Franz Schubert's "Sonatina in G minor," for the first half of the recital and "Suite for Violin and Jazz Piano" by French pianist-composer Claude Bolling, after intermission.

Accompanying Norman on the Beiling piece will be a jazz trio with Anita Huff, a pianist; percussionist Ron Miller, associate professor of music; and bassist Harold Spaeth, graduate student in music; and Harald Miller also are members of the Carbondale jazz quartet. The recital by Mellado and Beattie, both associate professors in the School of Music, is part of the "Law and the Arts" recital series sponsored by the Schools of Music and Law.

Beethoven's "Twelve Variations on a Theme by Handel" and Johannes Brahms' "Sonata in D," will represent the classical-romantic works for the violinists. The second half will reveal the cello's more contemporary aspects with Ralph Vaughan Williams' "Six Studies in English Folk Song" and Igor Stravinsky's "Suite Italienne."
Whitesnake, Great White rock Arena

By Curtis Winston
Entertainment Editor

The weekend of reptilian antics, beginning with country artist Rattlesnake Annie on Friday at Shryock Auditorium, ended with the heavy metal act Whitesnake Saturday evening at the Arena.

Led by ex-Deep Purple vocalist David Coverdale, Whitesnake slithered and writhed its way through an ear-pounding set of head bashing favorites such as "Still of the Night," and "Slide It In," as well as the popular ballads "Is This Love" and "Here I Go Again."

Concert Review

The staunchly British Coverdale proved he was a male rock singer in the grand English tradition of Robert Plant, Roger Daltrey, Rod Stewart and Mick Jagger, with his preening and prancing, combine -ing wailing, vocal acrobatics and strong, artful ballad renditions, as well as some nice microphone twirling.

Coverdale looked like a 1960s throwback, as he might have robbed Jimmy Page's closet, dressed in a flowing, silk-like, sequined stage costume. However his blues-based heavy metal had a definite, desiring 1960s style, complete with spectacular lighting effects.

Whitesnake's line-up reads like a heavy metal all-star roster with the dual lead guitar barrage Adrian Vandenberg, who had his own band, and Vivian Campbell, from Ronnie James Dio's band.

Campbell and Vandenberg each took solos in the middle of the concert, while Coverdale was back stage resting his voice. While the solos were filled with electric guitar virtuosity, they seemed like a tiring display and too became tedious and boring to listen to.

"Nailbiter" down the high-decibel madness was a rhythm section of bassist Rudy Sarzo, from Quiet Riot, and drummer Tommy Aldridge.

Sarzo was the clown of the band, playing his electric bass behind his back, between his legs, on top of his head and in just about every other imaginable position, except out in front of his body where it should have been.

Aldridge took a solo spot with thundering twin bass drums, reminiscent of the late Keith Moon of The Who. Aldridge continued his tribute to rock's great dead drummers as he threw his sticks to the audience and beat the drums and cymbals with his hands, just like Led Zeppelin's John Bonham on "Moby Dick."

Whitesnake's opening band, Great White proved itself to be an innovative metal act using keyboards, harmonica and acoustic guitar.

Puzzle answers

[Blank answer]
LADIES
SWEATERS
$20

Sites S-L. Long style with mock turtle neck and two pockets. In red/black, purple/black, royals/black, yellow/black and fushia/black.

Brand Name Off Price Clothing for Men & Women

PREFERRED STOCK of CARBONDALE

611 A.S. Illinois Ave. Hours: Mon-Sat 10-6

Only 30 minutes of your time can save someone's life

THE WORLD'S GREATEST

BLOOD DRIVE

"Come One, Come All Tell Family, Friends and Fellow Students"

Place: Student Center Ballrooms (2nd Floor)
Win: 10 speed bicycle from Sears (Drawing)
Schedule: Monday - Nov. 9 10:30am-4:30pm
Tuesday - Nov. 10 10:30am-4:30pm
Wednesday - Nov. 11 12:30pm-6:30pm
Thursday - Nov. 12 10:30am-4:30pm
Friday - Nov. 13 10:30am-4:30pm

Sponsored by:

CII-FM/ROCKIN' RADIO/WCL AM

MOVE Daily Egyptian

Mobilization of Volunteer Effort

GRADUATING FALL 1987 OR SPRING 1988?? HAVE YOU APPLIED FOR GRADUATION??????? If not, Do So Immediately!!! Tomorrow May Be Too Late!!!

Applications are available at admissions and records, Woody Hall, Records Section. Application must be filled in and the fee must be cleared by the Bursar before it is returned to Admissions and Records. Be sure the fee is cleared and be sure the form is returned to Admissions and Records.

APPLY IMMEDIATELY——APPLY BEFORE THE THANKSGIVING BREAK!!!
Official: Black image needs boost

By Tom Trotter
Staff Writer

Black people in America need to define their characters to stamp out stereotypes created by others, an NAACP official said.

Peter L. Flemister, a Chicago attorney and NAACP Illinois State Conference Legal Redress Chairman, was guest speaker at this year's Freedom Fund Banquet, Saturday in the Student Center.

"I am not Michael Jordan, Prince, Bill Cosby or Walter Payton. I am your everyday back American and I am a child of the '60s."

Peter L. Flemister by its founding fathers to be for many colors of people," he said. "Many of the founding fathers held slaves. "Therefore, we started out with a problem — America was not a democracy, but a hypocrisy," he said, adding that America would rise or fall according to how it deals with its ethnic and race problems.

"I am not Michael Jordan, Prince, Bill Cosby or Walter Payton. I am your everyday back American and I am a child of the '60s."

Monday Special

Try our new
Oreo cheesecake

McBRIDE SUB:
Ham, Turkey, Swiss on a garnished bun with chips, pickle, and a medium soft drink or draft. $3.04

Stolichnaya & Mixer $1.10

For orders of 4 or more sets! GET 1 FREE with your order of 4 or more sets! FRESH 4 YOU!}

Flemister blamed part of the misconceptions of blacks to America's history.

"America was not intended this," he said.

Blacks are described as downtrodden and helpless, that "we need to be led by the hand."

"Yet, people try to help us without asking what our hopes and dreams are," he said.

"I am not Michael Jordan, Prince, Bill Cosby, or Walter Payton," he said, "I am your everyday black American and I am a child of the '60s."

Peter L. Flemister

with two va ncement of Colored People. Association for the Chicago Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"I want to challenge you with two questions," Flemister said. "First, ask yourselves 'who do people say we are,' then ask 'who am I.'

"Unfortunately, we see in ourselves what others say they see in us," he said, and people often view blacks as poor, lazy and criminals.

"Who people say you are doesn't make you that," Flemister contended.

Today, there are as many blacks going to college as there are whites, more blacks are working than ever before and most blacks are not criminals, he said.

But to change the attitude people have toward blacks, 'black people in America must stand up and define ourselves — black people must not wait to do so,' he said.

The Freedom Fund Banquet is one of two fundraisers held annually by the Carbondale Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"I want to challenge you with two questions," Flemister said. "First, ask yourselves 'who do people say we are,' then ask 'who am I.'

"Unfortunately, we see in ourselves what others say they see in us," he said, and people often view blacks as poor, lazy and criminals.

"Who people say you are doesn't make you that," Flemister contended.

Today, there are as many blacks going to college as there are whites, more blacks are working than ever before and most blacks are not criminals, he said.

But to change the attitude people have toward blacks, 'black people in America must stand up and define ourselves — black people must not wait to do this," he said.

Blacks are described as downtrodden and helpless, that "we need to be led by the hand."

"Yet, people try to help us without asking what our hopes and dreams are," he said.

"I am not Michael Jordan, Prince, Bill Cosby, or Walter Payton," he said, "I am your everyday black American and I am a child of the '60s."

Flemister blamed part of the misconceptions of blacks to America's history.

"America was not intended with two va ncement of Colored People. Association for the Chicago Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"I want to challenge you with two questions," Flemister said. "First, ask yourselves 'who do people say we are,' then ask 'who am I.'

"Unfortunately, we see in ourselves what others say they see in us," he said, and people often view blacks as poor, lazy and criminals.

"Who people say you are doesn't make you that," Flemister contended.

Today, there are as many blacks going to college as there are whites, more blacks are working than ever before and most blacks are not criminals, he said.

But to change the attitude people have toward blacks, 'black people in America must stand up and define ourselves — black people must not wait to do so,' he said.

The Freedom Fund Banquet is one of two fundraisers held annually by the Carbondale Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.
UPSET, from Page 16

Lloyd (junior left corner/back) for a couple of big plays. They had a good game plan,” Spoo said.

The Salukis amassed more than 300 yards in total offense and 14 first downs in the first half and held a 13-3 edge. Quarterback Fred Gibson connected on 9 of 13 passes for 109 yards in the first half.

Senior flanker Nate McCloud had two receptions for 63 yards and sophomore split end Wesley Yates caught three passes for 42 yards before leaving the game with an injury.

“If Southern had any doubts, they were eliminated in the first half when they found out they couldn’t play with us. It was the kind of game I was afraid of all year,” Spoo said.

The Salukis passing attack turned dismal in the third quarter. The1982 mark

Yates gave Dawn Thompson her record-setting timing down, Cooney said.

Margaret Cooney came off the bench for nine minutes, added defensive specialist Linda Moore, who replaced an injured Ira Davis, and defended back Joan Wallenberg, the last match. They included tournament, Northern Illinois presented with roses prior to beating Ballarmine 2-1 on Marianne Wolkop’s goal in the 70th.

A goal in the victory, her scoring ladder.

her 16th scored her ninth career goal with 7th win sophomore from St. Louis, in the ends season Field Championships in Louisville, Ky.

The team finished its season with a 3-12-1 record.

Oppermann, a 5-6 sophomore from St. Louis, scored her ninth career goal in the 2-0 win over the Louisville Cardinals. It placed her 16th on the all-time SIU-C scoring ladder.

Loren Mattson also scored a goal in the victory, her second of the season.

Earlier Saturday, the Salukis were beaten by St. Louis 3-0.

On Friday, the Salukis defeated Ballarmine 2-1 on Marianne Wolkop’s goal in the second half. Oppermann scored earlier in the half.

In the first game of the tournament, Northern Illinois beat the Salukis 2-1. Wolkop scored on a penalty shot.

SPIKERS, from Page 16

the transition or sustain the rally. It was the poorest team-serving effort in some time,” The Salukis seniors were presented with roses prior to the last match. They included hitting senior Lener Wallenberg, defensive specialist Linda Walker and student trainer Kelly Halliburton.

On Friday, a senior Margaret Cooney came off the bench for nine minutes and three blocks and sparked the Salukis.

“I did well in practice and I wanted my chance to do well. I was pretty pumped. Getting the block right away got my timing down,” Cooney said.

It was a Cooney kill that gave Davis Thompson her record-setting assist on the first point of the third game. Thompson, a 5-4 junior setter, broke Barb Clark’s 1982 mark of 1,074 for most assists in a single-season.

INJURY, from Page 16

Bush Lincoln Health Center in Mattoon. Yates suffered a rupture bowel after being tackled in the first half of the game, head coach Ray Dorr said.

“I was still a little groggy Sunday afternoon, but he’s doing better,” Dorr said.

Quarterback Fred Gibson is scheduled for X-rays today to check for possible cracked ribs. Defensive tackle Brad Crouse re-injured his knee and defensive back Ira Davis suffered an ankle injury.

Running back Byron Mitchell is hobbled by a sore knee and defensive end Shannon Ferbrache re-injured his ankle. remaining, to put the Salukis up 32-27.

The Salukis raced through the EUU defense for 86 yards on 19 plays and 27 first downs.

Field Hockey ends season with 7th win

Cindy Oppermann, the field hockey team’s leading scorer, garnered her seventh goal of the season and led the Salukis to a 5-0 shutout Saturday at the Midwest Independent Championships in Louisville, Ky.

The team finished its season with a 5-6-3 record.

Oppermann, a 5-6 sophomore from St. Louis, scored her ninth career goal in the 2-0 win over the Louisville Cardinals. It placed her 16th on the all-time SIU-C scoring ladder.

Loren Mattson also scored a goal in the victory, her second of the season.

Earlier Saturday, the Salukis were beaten by St. Louis 3-0.

On Friday, the Salukis defeated Ballarmine 2-1 on Marianne Wolkop’s goal in the second half. Oppermann scored earlier in the half.

In the first game of the tournament, Northern Illinois beat the Salukis 2-1. Wolkop scored on a penalty shot.

You remember. She was always there when you were frightened. And if you got hurt, she was standing by with bandages. Wouldn’t it feel good to talk to your mother again right now?

Calling over AT&T Long Distance Service probably costs less than you think, too. And if you have any questions about AT&T rates or service, a customer service representative is always standing by to talk to you. Just call 1-800-222-0360.

Sure, your schoolwork and your friends keep you busy. But call home and find out what she’s wrapped up in.

Call your mummy.

Daily Egyptian, November 9, 1987, Page 13
Barb Rester, faculty adviser for the SIUC Weightlifting Club, was the top female lifter.

"It's pretty unusual. Powerlifting is strenuous. I feel like Patricia and I are pretty much pioneers."

— Barb Rester

with a total of 177 pounds. Bill Battle was the top lifter in the light-weight class (114-181 pounds) with a total of 1,400 pounds.

Rester was pleased with the meet. "Everybody had an outstanding meet," she said, but noted there were not as many competitors as expected. About 10 members of the weightlifting club participated in the meet.

Rester was joined in the women's competition by Patricia Hampton, who lifted a total of 64 pounds. Rester said women powerlifters are rare. "It's pretty unusual," she added.

See POWERLIFTERS, Page 15

Nutrition

Headquarters

The most complete stock of natural foods and vitamins in Southern Illinois

100 West Jackson St.
Myrtle - 682-4737

SOFT FROZEN YOGURT
in a cup or cone
All the fun of ice cream plus the good things of yogurt
High in taste, low in fat. Natural fruit flavors

This coupon and 33 cents entitle bearer to a reg. cup or cone

EXPIRES Nov. 30, 1987

Intramural-Recreational Sports

THANKS TO OUR SPONSORS

From the Seek-Hop Committee

Domino’s Pizza * SPC * Shoney’s * Rec Society * Kc’s Pizza
Jerry’s Flower Shop * LaRoma’s Pizza * Bobby’s Submarine Sandwiches
Wellness Center * Great Shapes Fitness Center * Italian Village Pizza
Maso’s Place * Kentucky Fried Chicken * Island Movie Libraries
Shuewee Tadals * The Shoe Carnival * Gusto’s Godfather’s Pizza * Kisko’s Gropes * Taco Bell * J.R.’s Fun Place
Crisiaudo’s Bakery * U-Pop Popcorn * University Housing Programming
UIC Radio * T-Bird’s * AMC University 8 Theaters * Library Archives
Papa’s Pub and Deli * Salki Gifts and More * Student Center Facilities
Video Mania * University Bookstore * Quatro’s Pizza * Marriott Corp.

Introducing

COMPTECH Personal System I

COMPTECH, INC. is pleased to announce the new Personal System I. A totally IBMPC XT Compatible System with capabilities far above and beyond the IBM personal computer system at $999.00. The best price-performance PC in today’s market.

$999.00

SPECIAL BONUS
FREE... $150.00 Value
Leading Edge Word Processing Package

COMPTECH, INC.
Computer Marketing and Assistance Group
400 W. Jackson, Suite A-Maron, Illinois 62059
(618) 997-2929

Your Business is Valued and Appreciated!
SIU-C senior Dave Grimm, a microbiology major, completes a successful lift during Saturday's weight lifting competition held at the Student Recreation Center.

POWERLIFTERS, from Page 14

said, "Powerlifting is strenuous. I feel like Patricia and I are pretty much pioneers.

Tom Smith, former SIU-C track and field star, competed in the meet for about the fifth time. "It's (usually) got good competition," he said. "This year was no exception." Smith placed second in the super heavyweight class with a total of 1,550 pounds.

Battle also won an award for the highest total in relation to each lifter's weight. Under the Schwartz formula, each lifter is assigned a coefficient based on individual weight by which the three-lift total is multiplied. By means of this equation, the advantage a heavier lifter has over a lighter lifter is eliminated.

Rester recorded the highest women's total in relation to weight.

SALUKI BASKETBALL

A RICH TRADITION

STUDENTS
Get Your Season Tickets
ON SALE NOW

Athletic Ticket Office

*Bring Athletic Event card and valid ID to pick up your season Basketball Tickets FREE!