SA, Greeks Hold Political Conventions

By Warren Talley

Amid waving placards and cries of "point of order" and "what's happening?" the Greeks Monday evening selected candidates for the forthcoming all-school election.

Confusion reigned at the rally in Shryock Auditorium, which saw 15 students emerging as candidates after three and one-half hours of "political" activity.

In a setting that could only have been made more realistic by television cameras and supporters of "Joe Smith", six sororities and 10 fraternities from the SIU campus were represented.

Dr. David T. Kenney, assistant professor of government, served as parliamentarian for the rally with J. B. Williams, Phi Tau, acting as platform chairman.

Mixed sentiment was evident among the participants, as some groups voiced vigorous protest against the nominations "being settled over the telephone the night before."

An example of this appeared when Eldon Klein, Sigma Phi spokesman, in presenting his group's vote, said, "Wait just a minute while I check my commitments."

Early in the program, before the voting had begun, the attendees, the queen's court, and the 1956 homecoming queen candidates were announced.

These girls were selected Sunday, Oct. 14, by voting in each of the individual Greek houses.

After a vote count by the platform chairman, aided by counters both on the stage and in the audience, the actual nominations from the floor were introduced.

The Greek's used a vote counting procedure based on one vote for each group. Individual voting was not permitted, as the entire organization cast its vote together.

The base number was 21, and each group that had persons present over the total of 21 received 01 vote for each. The larger groups, for example, with 55 members present, would have a voting power of 1:14, while a group with only 21 or less would have a flat voting power of one.

The actual power of each organization's vote, however, was a fluctuating number, as members failed to attend and throughout the rally, necessitating an almost continuous process of "head-counting" to determine a group's strength.

Early in the session, a motion was made by the Theta Xi fraternity concerning the order of voting. The Theta Xi's vote in favor of having the voting done alphabetically, rather than by the seating arrangement procedure used.

Before the selection of one candidate had been completed however, the Theta Xi's made request for another motion.

Their motion, request, to hear the qualifications of the candidates as they were nominated, was denied by the platform.

Twice later in the session, this same request was voiced by the Delta Chi delegation, but the organizations voted only to give their candidate's name.

"We're only fighting for principles, not to stall things," said Eldon Klein in connection with a request that had been demanded by the Sigma Pi's on the basis of an error by the counters.

The tie-count was taken, and a tie vote, Theta Xi, was winner by a small 70 margin over Alpha Chi Omega.

Health Ed Begins M. S. Curriculum

The SIU Health Education department has instituted a curriculum, which began this fall term, that enables a student to obtain this fall term, that enables a student to obtain his master's degree.

There are twelve courses in all six fields are new to the Health Education department.

One of the new courses is entitled "Health Appraisal of School Children". The course includes a study in the role of the teacher in the health appraisal of the school child.

Methods and Materials in Family Life Education is another of the courses designed to enable the student work on a masters. This course is for the purpose of preparing the prospective teacher to instruct in various phases of family life education.

Another course, "Methods and Materials in Secondary School Health Education," is designed to show the prospective teacher the fundamental processes involved in the teaching of health education at the secondary level.

There are three additional courses at the 500 level that have just begun primarily for work on the masters.

'State Fair' on Movie Hour Monday

Will Rogers and Janet Gaynor will star in the original screen version of "State Fair" Monday, in the Delta Chi Auditorium.

In peace and quiet any library would crave, the Independent Students Association held its nominating convention Wednesday evening at Shryock auditorium with much enthusiasm and little attendance.

A question and answer session preceded the nominations, with ISA president Gene Flore explaining to a curious members just what the ISA meant to the student.

"It is an association for the independent students," the respected president said, "and its goal is to provide/fellowship to students through social activities."

Following the question and answer session Dean L. Clark Davis spoke to the handful as to what direction the ISA can take.

"It has to meet the needs for the student whose needs are not currently met," Davis said.

"Twenty five per cent of the students at SIU commute and a large group live in private homes. They should have a chance to belong to a group and have expression."

No hectic, fiery campaign speeches were made, nor was there wild, disorganized conduct. The procedure moved sharply and efficiently.

Spring Festival chairman, class officers, student council representatives, the homecoming queen candidate, her court and attendants were nominated.

A general enthusiasm was noted, but the confident handful who attended the convention seemed to be vigorous despite the attendance.

"Of course, I'm very much disappointed and disappointed with the attendance," Flore said. "With more than 5,000 independent students here at SIU, only a few were interested enough to attend the ISA nomination."

The ISA had sent out more than 1,000 printed form sheets to many houses on campus and off. It had a public address system in the Student Union for publicity purposes.

But despite this only a few people came to express their opinions. Bob Ferris, senior class president nominating, voiced his disappointment, but was optimistic about the future.

"I'm a little disappointed, but an interested group is here, so it will become better, I hope," she said.

Another nominator, Marsha Sperry, said that if the ISA were a "political power, it would result in a better organization."

At least twice a year (at homecoming and a spring festival) there will be enthusiasm.

Dean Davis also spoke of political power. He outlined three questions that the group should ask, and told of two roles the ISA plays in the university.

"Shall it be a political force, primarily? Or should it be a political force, secondarily?"

Or should it combine itself with stronger groups, and try to reach the commuting people and those who fall under the private home category.

On the other campuses a student who commutes and who lives in private homes, gets a chance to have the voice of expression.

"The ISA should go in the way the school should want it to go," Davis said. It can't last very long, if it can't meet the needs of the constituents.

The courses to be held on November 12, are: Benton High School, a course on crop production by Herbert L. Portz, assistant professor in the school of agriculture; Steeleville High School, a course on farm management by Harvey S. Where's the Fire? Campus Cops Lead Firemen to Missing Fire

By Gary Heape

A pile of burning leaves added a spark of excitement to the SIU campus last Monday night.

The no-toracious, but confusing-causing blaze occurred in front of Anthony Hall about 11:10 p.m. setting the students, fire department, and local constabulary in a "tizzy."

Sammy Wilson, a resident of Anthony Hall, discovered the fire. He told his roommate, Joe Huracy, about it and Joe rushed to call the fire department.

Immediately the fire fighting figures approached their engine, started the motor, and roared right past Anthony Hall and out into the country.

The people around the fire were seemingly confused as to whether there was another blaze, or the fireman navigator had a wrong look.

There will be no parking on S. University Ave. from 8 a.m. to noon on Oct. 27. No one will be allowed to park from Sycamore to Grand, because of the parade that is scheduled to come south on University at 1 a.m.

Students will be allowed to park on SIU parking lots even if they do not have parking permits. This will be for that day only.

The club's presentation of the water show, at the University Pool, will mark the beginning of "Big time aquascades to the SIU campus," the president added.

The Aquascades, a women's swimming club, will assist the Dolphin Club's aquatic exhibitions last year.

The name of the show, will be a variety type of program. Eight entertaining acts are scheduled.

The program includes an exhibition by the SIU gym team; a specialty act by Pat Cook, whose pantomime exhibitions last year gained much popularity; a water ballet by the Aquascades; fancy diving; comedy diving; eight land numbers and the selection of the Dolphin Queen.

The highlight of the aquascade will be the selection of a dolphin queen.

Her majesty will reign at the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, a regional swimming championship meet which will be held at SIU next spring. Also, the Aquascade will reign all swimming events throughout the entire school year.

The club's presentation of the water show, at the University Pool, will mark the beginning of "Big time aquascades to the SIU campus," the president added.

The Aquascades, a women's swimming club, will assist the Dolphin Club's aquatic exhibitions last year.

Show Them Around

Oct. 26 is Homecoming. It is idea for all the groups which might entertain alums to show the old grads around the campus. They might be interested in the information as to what happened to the "canteen" or what the new library looks like on the inside.

If you happen to see people during the day who you think might be alumni don't hesitate to talk to them and offer some information. Twenty years may have passed but you might be in their shoes.

ITOT

You can call me an ITOT'er. A week means fewer days because the professor's hair gets "longer" and his lectures more complex... day by day. The bar-raiders grow more uncomfortable while the stairs a lot steeper... day by day. My typewriter makes more mistakes and my money gets more scarce... day by day. I forget more, and my interest dwindles... day by day.

I'm not a TGIF'er (Thank God It's Friday), but IS TOMORROW ONLY TUESDAY?

IN CHICAGO
Dr. Walter J. Willis, acting dean of the school of agriculture and recently elected co-chairman of the Rural-Urban Relations Committee, traveled to Chicago yesterday to attend a meeting of this committee.

This group was formed with the idea of promoting and sponsoring community activities between the rural and urban population. In doing this the committee hopes to promote better relations and deeper understanding between the urban and rural members of the community.

It was nice of the University administration to call off classes on Homecoming day, but it was unnecessary. Nobody would have shown up anyway.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

THAT'S MR. HAWK - HE'S IN CHARGE OF FRESHMAN ORIENTATION

MAIL BOX

Editor:

Many students throughout the campus no doubt think of SIU as a university of minimum caliber, ranking on as low grade scholastically, socially and athletically with other "name" universities such as Illinois, Michigan, etc.

To attack this question unabashedly on the grounds of experience is something I can do. Ever since I was big enough to leave the high chair and bib, I was under the misrepresentation that you only get what you pay for.

This I found to be a great untruth as far as Southern Illinois University is concerned. In my three years of bending under the brow of college professors, I have attended three universities, including Southern. The tuition I have paid in the two years I have been on this campus could not come close to what I have gotten out of it, or I should say what has been offered to me.

When I was a freshman, I attended the University of Louisville on football scholarship. Louisville has one of the finest medical and engineering schools in the country, and the tuition runs accordingly. To make a long story short, without the scholarship I could not have shelled out the $274 (which did not include books) tuition every semester.

Athletically, Louisville comes through with flying colors, with its basketball team being in the national picture year in and year out. Socially, Louisville catered mostly to the upper crust, with debutantes, nose held high, being the rule instead of the exception. As a rich man's school, he quest on most asked was "What does your Dad do?" not "How are you doing today?"

Scholastically, U. of L. was adequate in its general school (Arts and Sciences) which I was in, but was still no great shakes. The Ph. D. on campus was the exception and not the rule.

With a wandering eye and an inferiority complex, I left U. of L. at the start of the second semester and enrolled at Mississippi Southern. Tuition was not near as high as U. of L., but I soon delived more than ever in the old saying, "You only get what you pay for."

At Mississippi Southern, athletics was supreme with "book learning" being a half second. An example of this which hit me most of all was the fact that while tutoring three freshman football players for a final English exam, after being in freshman English for one complete year, they could not point out a single verb in a sentence.

Socially, Mississippi Southern was a good "party" school. At most everyone tired to be friendly and easy to get along with. Therefore, Mississippi Southern ran strong athletically and socially, but poor academically.

The fall of my sophomore year I hit upon the university at Carbondale known as SIU. Here was a university that charged only $100 a year tuition (books included). Being a little more wary than a green freshman, I looked before I leaped. Most of the students here were in the same financial category I was, and the turned up nose was only seen when a coed thought a guy was trying to get fresh with her.

The thing that most astounded me, was that the size of Illinois was $1,000 a year to SIU for every student. This then, accounted for the large number of Ph. D.s on campus. Even though I am a journalism student, I found out that any student could specialize and never find bowls to fit their heads in, engineering and dental included.

Wildroot Cream-Oil Gave Him Confidence

"I'm starved for affection," wailed Sheedy, "but the girls think I'm just a co. Whenever I pass to talk to one she makes tracks for the tall chimneys and hides." Poor old Sheedy felt so lousy he wanted to pack up and flee. "Don't be such a shaggy dog," said his Mother. "Get yourself some Wildroot Cream-Oil and spruce up." Now J. Paul's the most popular wolf in the forest, because his hair looks healthy and handsome, the way Nature intended... neat but not greasy! Try Wildroot Cream-Oil yourself, in the bottle or handy tube. You'll soon be a howling success with the girls.

Wildroot Cream-Oil gives you confidence almost anything, even hotel and motel management.

To me, SIU is neither too big nor too small a university and in one sense this is an important factor. With a large university such as Illinois its bigness tends to draw away from the over all friendliness and spirit that a smaller school like Southern has.

Most big name schools to the common man and student have been made through the use of publicity, athletic wins. Southern has not that big name on the gridiron will race with the best academic and social wise. Along with the opening of this university, SIU athletics will grow. A good example of this was the improvement of our teams last year.

A college degree is suppose to tub you as an educated person. Whether the degree be from Harvard, Yale, M.I.T. or SIU, it's what behind the degree that counts. Southern has facilities and atmosphere to give you a balanced education and make a well-rounded person out of you. Look somewhere if you will: Southern make a believer out of me.

St Sutowski

What will the political "egg-nalists" do now, that the price of our graduates have gone up? They will get a degree (excluding medical, law, engineering and dental) and be the home haunts.

Dr. Martire Added To Psychology Staff

Dr. John G. Martire is one of the 1956 additions to the SIU psychology staff.

Martire, whose specialty is psychotherapy and personality theory, recently taught at the University of Iowa.

A native of New York City, Martire did his undergraduate work at Washington and Lee, obtained his masters degree from Columbia, and his Ph. D. from the University of Michigan.

While at the University of Iowa he was Senior Clinical Counselor in the psychological clinic.

During W.W. II Dr. Martire spent three-one-half years in the army.

He has a wife and three children.

Experts say that the reason for football popularity is that it is like war but without the horrible circumstances. Oklahoma fans must have felt the same way after the Kansas State game that the Germans felt after Hitler conquered mighty Poland.

Are you a nosy note-poacher?

Let's hope not! But we'll wager you know one. The nosy note-poacher's distinguishing characteristics are empty hands, a free-loading nature and a lack of friends. Why? Because this character relies on borrowing other people's notes. Never has a notebook, filler paper or pen to take notes himself. Now isn't that silly? Somebody ought to tell him how easy it is to drop in for supplies. We've stocks and stacks of everything from ring binders to typewriter answers. So make sure you never have to abuse your friends. Salukis Battle With Eastern Michigan For 2nd In IAC

The battle for second place in the Interstate Conference race will take place tomorrow night as the SIU Salukis play host to the Eastern Michigan Hurons.

Bob teams sport 1-1 conference marks and are currently tied for third in the IAC. The second place, Illinois Normal, however, will meet league-leading Central Michigan in a game which probably will send Normal into second division.

After losing its opening loop game to Central Michigan, 32-13, SIU rallied to blank Eastern Illinois, 33-0 at Charleston last Saturday. Meanwhile Eastern Michigan was upset by Illinois Normal, 22-7. Eastern Michigan tied for the IAC championship last year and is reported to have an even stronger squad this season.

Eastern's star player is halfback Kerry Keating, who raced for three touchdowns in Eastern Michigan's 21-6 win over Western Illinois two weeks ago.

Huron quarterback Bill Amell has a fine passing record and Eastern's line is heavy and experienced. Both SIU and Eastern Michigan have 2-2 marks for overall play this season.

Speardhead SIU's offensive attack is Carver Shantz, sophomore halfback, who scored four touchdowns against Eastern Illinois to tie a league record for conference scoring in a single game. He picked up 165 yards in 12 carries in the game plus a 32-yard punt return for a touchdown. In 14 out of 15 games he has scored 51 points.

Leading Southern defensive player is end Marion Rushing, who broke through several times against Eastern Illinois to throw ball-carriers for losses.

Depth in the backfield is a big asset of the Salukis this year as Coach Al Kaval has no less than a dozen backs ready to carry the ball. Reserve backs like Cecil Hart, Charles Hamilton, Don Miller, and Paul Detry (who he played for the first time last week after being sidelined with a pre-season injury) have looked good in recent games.

Kaval was well-pleased with his team's showing against Eastern Illinois, pointing out that the Panthers needed only 57 yards rushing while Southern picked up 297. Pass defense is still an SIU weakness, but more work on that is scheduled for practice sessions this week.

After meeting Eastern Michigan this week, SIU will host Western Illinois in the Homecoming tilt here Saturday, Oct. 27.

Brown Jug on Top in Indee Bowling League

The SIU Independent Students' bowling league moved into its new campaign with Brown Jug recording the lone sweep at the expense of the Five Aces with Dean Hailer's 470 the top pin getter for the winners.

Newman Club 2 captured top honors with 2367, which was good for a narrow title conquest against Duke Dorn in a close match, 2-367 to 2326. Red Merriam and Joe Ducey collaborated their respective efforts of 486 and 477 for the winners with Bill Eildon anchoring a 472 set for the victims.

Anchor man Jim Loftgren piloted the Opium Pit to a 3-1 victory over Newman Club No. 1 with able assistance from Jim Ingram's 473. Loftgren's 537 highlighted the season. The victims had the assistance from Ben Novotny's 501 for their lone win.

Intramurals

By Joe Melesi

The touch football intramural program is now in full swing with all loops beginning action this week.

Five scheduled games were played Monday and Tuesday with the other three being figured.

In the Men's Residence Hall circuit, two games were played, one was forfeited.

The Chautauqua Braves slipped over a touchdown to sneak by the last Resort 6-0. The White House, in a game decided by downs, nipped the Clowns. The game was tied 0-0 after regulation time. In this case, the decision is given to the team with the most downs. The Clowns had three. The White House got none.

Two other games scheduled for Monday were forfeited. U. D.'s grabbed a forfeit from the Brown Jug, of the Organized House League, and the Carbonade Jungle was also a victim for forfeit from the Anthony Deuces.

On Tuesday, Oct. 16, there games of the fraternity league were played while one was forfeited.

Theta Xi nipped Sigma Pi 7-6. Phi Tau blanked Kappa Alpha Psi 12-0. And the TKE's whitewashed Sigma Phi Epsilon, 7-0.

60 Turn Out for Opening of Cage Practice; 5 Lettermen Back

Five lettermen plus several Junior Varsity players and a host of freshmen were among the more than 60 players who turned out for the opening of cage drills at Southern last Monday.

A lack of height, but plenty of speed may feature this year's Hammond (6-1), Alton; Clifford Christian (6-4), Peoria; Don McGee (6-5), Chester; Tom Hallam (6-3), Albion; Richard Hughes (6-2), Shawnee; Joe Gonzales (5-10), Granite City; Don Curry, Aurora; and Don Dudaek (6-2), Edwardsville.

Among the most promising newcomers are two Southern Illinois guards, Richard (Itchy) Jones (5-8), Herrin, and Don Griffin (5-7), West Frankfort.

"Considering their size," said Holder, "these two were among the best high school guards in the state last year."

"The big question is not their height but whether they can get their shot off quick enough against tall opponents," he added. "Both have the advantage of being shift-y."

If Borgsmiller and Marvin Jones break into the top 10 as forwards, Holder said they may shift Bryson, Talley, and Welch to guard positions.

NAILED FOR LOSS

Quarterback Bill Norwood shot into the Eastern Illinois backfield last Saturday to nail Verlon Myers before he could pitch out to his halfback. The Salukis blanked the Panthers, 33-0.

"The school administration is against the 'little folk' and for the overclassmen. How can an honest freshman watch the World Series when he is forced to take a twelve-o'clock class and miss most of the game?"
