Tuition protesters going to SIU-E

By Toby Eckert
Staff Writer

Student government leaders are expected to voice their opposition to the planned mid-semester tuition increase at the SIU Board of Trustees meeting in Edwardsville today.

The board is expected to approve an 18 percent tuition increase for the SIU system. The tuition increase is needed to recover $6.2 million cut from the University's budget, Chancellor Lawrence Pétit says.

Under the proposal, tuition for SIU-C undergraduates would rise $103.20 in the spring of 1988. Medical School students would experience a $200 tuition increase, and law students would face a $121.80 increase.

Undergraduates at SIU-E — which is on a quarters system — would experience a $92.70 tuition increase. SIU-E graduate students would see their tuition rise $102.50. Students at the dental school in Alton would experience a $188.40 increase.

Leaders of the Undergraduate Student Organization and the Graduate and Professional Student Council say they are resigned to the fact that the board will pass the increase. However, they fear the precedent the board may be setting and intend to protest the tuition increase.

USO President John Attard said he plans to tell board members that "We can't afford this, we can't support this. We understand the position you're in, but we can't pay any more."

Attard said he also would ask the board to attach a rollback clause to the tuition increase proposal, so that the increase may be rescinded if the Legislature restores the 4 percent cut Gov. James R. Thompson made in the state's higher education budget in July.

USO OKs protest funding

By Dana Schulte
Staff Writer

After much debate, the Undergraduate Student Organization approved at its meeting Wednesday night $1,000 in funding to various registered student organizations including $450 for the Day of Action to take place Oct. 21, at the Capitol in Springfield.

Originally, the USO asked for $625 for the Day of Action but $175 for promotional materials was cut from the budget by the USO finance committee.

Andy Leighton, USO Senator, said the funding will enable the organization to get two buses, holding 40 people each, to take to Springfield for the state-wide protest of tuition increases at Illinois universities.

Chancellor Lawrence K. Pétit proposed a $100 tuition increase for spring semester at the September Board of Trustees meeting.

The Board is expected to vote on the tuition increase proposal at its meeting tonight in Edwardsville.

John Attard, USO President, said he will attend the Board meeting and will present a piece of legislation expressing the USO's protest of the proposed increase.

"We anticipate we can fill two buses (for the rally) without any problem at all," Leighton said.

Also discussed at the meeting was the on-campus rally to take place on Oct. 21.

American graffiti

One of several slogans painted on walls in the Faner breezeway looms over Kingston Lisk, a junior in English, as he takes a break Wednesday afternoon. The graffiti was reported to SIU-C Police at 8 a.m. Wednesday, Bob Harris, director of Campus Security, said. Harrel Lerch, superintendent of building maintenance at the Physical Plant, said workers will remove the sayings with sandblasters today. "We tried to use paint thinner and other graffiti removal," he said. "It wouldn't touch it." Harris said the police will be "watching the area a little closer."

Thieves find parking stickers a 'steal'

By Dana DeBeaumont
Staff Writer

Guard your parking stickers — thieves have removed 32 SIU-C stickers this semester.

Merilyn Hogan, campus parking manager, said 23 car stickers, eight motorcycle stickers and one bicycle sticker have been reported missing.

Hogan said nine stickers have been recovered. Sgt. Robert Drake of the SIU-C Police Department said the number of stolen stickers is no higher this year than in past years.

"Individuals who find their parking stickers missing need to report the missing sticker to the campus police and pay a $2 sticker reissue fee at parking office," Hogan said. "The $2 fee will be refunded when the stolen sticker is recovered."

She said students steal parking stickers because they want to park without paying for a permit, want blue stickers to park in the blue lots and red stickers if they aren't qualified to receive one legitimately.

Hogan said she gives a "hot list" of stolen decals to SIU-C police officers every Monday.

"It (the list) is just like a stolen car sheet," she said. "Campus police look for the stickers on the list."

Drake said campus police officers check parking sticker numbers daily during rounds.

Two bands added to Halloween slate

By Jacke Hampton
Staff Writer

At least two more bands will be signed for the Halloween festival on South Grand Avenue, the Halloween Core Committee learned Wednesday.

The committee has enough money, $2,750, to pay for two bands on each of the two nights of the festival, Gary Gibula, a radio reporter and a member of one of the bands that will play, said. If $400 more is contributed, two more bands will be added to the bill, he said. Jim Prowell, the committee's vice president, solicited donations from throughout the community to raise the $2,750.

"That's the figure as it will stand as far as my fund-raising activity," Prowell said Tuesday. "I'm turning my attention to getting some excellent prizes for the costume contest."

Gibula, however, has agreed to continue seeking funds for bands.

Gibula, who committed $100, hopes to attract sponsors by offering places for advertising banners on the stage.

Gibula's band, Four-On-The-Floor, and October's Child are the two bands originally scheduled to play. The band Lucky Mary Blond also is scheduled.

Each will play a one-hour set with recorded music by the WCIL Jam Van provided between sets, he said.

The Carbondale Park District has agreed to provide additional security fencing for the stage area, Gibula said.

"This is to compensate for the fact we have fewer security personnel than have been there in the past," he said. "We're still working to get as much volunteer support as we can and anyone is welcome to help out."

Solid Fresno defensive unit a test for Saluki offensive

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

When grid fans think of Fresno State football, images of high-scoring, all-out aerial attacks, a la West Coast style, pop into mind.

But FSU coach Jim Sweeney, despite being an admitted addict of a tightly thrown spiral pass, might take (pardon the expression) offense to that remark.

"People always seem to think that we don't teach defense around here," Sweeney said. "We've always been solid defensively, but the fans and the media always make the offense the focal point."

"Defense is what's winning football games for us this season and there's no doubt about it."

Two weekends ago the Bulldogs lost to UCLA, then ranked No. 3 in the nation, 17-0, but Sweeney calls the loss a moral victory. FSU racked up 10 sacks against a hefty UCLA offensive line and held the high-powered Bruin offensive unit to a below-average 17 points.

The Bulldogs were shelled 41-24 by Washington State to open the season, but Sweeney regards the loss as "one of those things."

SIU-C's leading linebacker form one of league's toughest tandems

Senior inside linebacker Mike Carbonaro was named Gateway Conference defensive player of the week for his performance in the Salukis' 16-15 loss to Kansas.

Carbonaro, a 6-foot-2, 238-pound junior college transfer, had 14 tackles, one for minus yardage, a fumble recovery and a quarterback sack against Kansas.

Two weeks ago, Carbonaro racked up 17 tackles against Illinois State in a 38-7 SIU-C win. Included were four tackles for losses, a fumble recovery and a sack.

Although the Salukis have played only five games of a 11-game schedule, Carbonaro already has 74 tackles, just three shy of his 1986 season total of 77.

A food and nutrition major, Carbonaro has 43 unassisted tackles and 31 assists, with 11 tackles for minus yardage.

This is Carbonaro's second Gateway player-of-the-week honor. He earned player of the week honors in 1986 when the Salukis downed Southwest Missouri 35-14 in Springfield, Mo.

Although Carbonaro gets more ink, Ezell Shelton, the Salukis' other inside linebacker isn't far behind Carbonaro with 63 tackles, including four for losses and two quarterback sacks.

"Carbonaro and Shelton are probably the best linebacker tandem in the conference," Saluki coach Ray Dorr said. "They really compliment each other well. Carbonaro handles the strong side that gets a lot of running plays and Shelton is quick enough to run down people from behind."

Southwest Missouri freshman quarterback DeAndre Smith earned Gateway Conference offensive player-of-the-week honors for his performance against Indiana State. Smith rushed for 102 yards for two touchdowns in 14 attempts in SMSU's 42-0 win over ISU.

Spikers hurt but preparing for tournament

By Troy Taylor

Coach Debbie Hunter hoped that she could rest and rebuild her 6-11 Saluki volleyball team during the 12-day layoff between the Arizona Classic and Southern Classic to be held Friday and Saturday at Davies Gym.

But Monday's ankle injury to junior Dorothy Buchanan, which will sideline the team's leader in kills and blocks for up to six weeks, has forced Hunter to reconsider all her preparations for the second half of the season.

"Last week I really thought we were sitting in a nice position. We were basically only two or three matches off where I had hoped we'd be when I put the schedule together."

Home runs, near perfect pitching send 'Cards to Candlestick tied

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Will Clark and Jeffrey Leonard flexed San Francisco's home-run muscle and Dave Dravecky contained St. Louis' speed Wednesday, helping the Giants even the National League playoffs with a 5-0 victory over the Cardinals.

Clark hit a two-run homer in the second inning and Leonard added his second homer in as many games, sending the best-of-seven series to Candlestick Park tied at one victory apiece.

The Giants have named left-hander Altee Hamaker, 10-10, to work Game 3, scheduled for Friday. If recovered from a stiff neck, Danny Cox, 11-9, will pitch for St. Louis. Otherwise, rookie left-hander Joe Magrane, 9-7, will start. Cox had been expected to start Game 1, but could not because of his neck injury.

San Diego, allowed only six baserunners and two hits, tying for the fewest ever allowed in a championship series in either the National or American leagues. He struck out six and walked four.

Clark quieted a Busch Stadium sellout crowd of 55,331 by hitting a 1-0 delivery from John Tudor over the right-field fence in the second inning to give San Francisco a 2-0 lead and help hand St. Louis its first home loss in seven LCS games.

St. Louis received four leadoff walks — one was caught stealing, two were erased in double plays and one became the only St. Louis base runner to reach second base. It was just the second home shutout of the season for St. Louis.

The St. Louis right-handed lineup generated only two singles without injured slugger Jack Clark, and the usually reliable defense misplayed two consecutive balls in the fifth inning.

After the Giants went out 1-2-3 in the first inning, Candy Maldonado opened the second with a single. One out later, Clark, who slammed four of his 35 regular-season homers against St. Louis — but none in Busch Stadium — hit a high flyball. Right fielder Jose Oquendo backed up against the wall and watched ball sail over for Clark's third game-winning homer run against St. Louis this season.

Leonard opened the fourth inning by hitting a home run to dead center, nearly the exact spot he homered the previous night. Once again, he made a slow trot around the bases, gesturing to a friend in the third-base VIP box. Once again, the crowd boomed him. Leonard collected three hits,

Scott's cagers nab 2nd preseason ranking

Coaches likes national attention but want to prove worth in games

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

Despite a No. 17 ranking in Dick Vitale's preseason basketball poll, Saluki women's cage coach Cindy Scott is ready to put the preseason hype aside and hit the hardwoods.

"I'm glad we're ranked but I'm just anxious to hit get in the gym and see what we're capable of doing," Scott said.

Scott, assistant Julie Beck and former Saluki star turned graduate assistant Marialice Jenkins won't have to wait long to see their players. Practice begins on Oct. 15, the first day allowable according to NCAA rules.

SIU-C also ranked in one previous national poll and is expected to rank in the first

Associated Press and United Press International polls. Scott said she likes the respect the team's getting but she hopes the team will be able to follow up with solid play on the floor.

"Getting national respect is encouraging to all of us," she said. "I think we've earned it and I hope it provides some incentive."

"Both Julie and I have been out recruiting for the biggest part of the last three weeks, so we haven't really been in touch with the team," Scott said. "But I'm not expecting any problems or any injuries."

Last year, the Salukis finished 28-3 with an 18-game winning streak and a perfect 20-0 mark in Gateway Conference play. After bowing out to in the NCAA regional semifinals to Louisiana Tech, the Salukis finished with a No. 16 national ranking in the final AP coaches poll.

Scott and squad will be shooting for a sixth-straight 20-win season during the 1987-88 campaign, a second-straight undefeated conference schedule and a third-straight NCAA tournament appearance.

Tamil separatist guerrillas kill 185 in ethnic violence

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (UPI) — Tamil separatist guerrillas massacred 40 train passengers Wednesday and attacked villagers with knives and sticks in an outburst of ethnic violence that killed more than 145 Sinhalese Buddhists and three Sri Lankan soldiers. Indian peace-keeping troops and Sri Lankan forces were under orders to shoot on sight anyone who "resorts to violence" in the island nation at India's southern tip.

Iranian guards attack Saudi tanker in gulf

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — Iranian Revolutionary Guards in three fast launches attacked a Saudi Arabian tanker in the Persian Gulf Wednesday, but sped away when military aircraft buzzed overhead, shipping sources said. The Iranian irregulars fired rocket-propelled grenades at the 122,770-ton Raad al Bakry VIII and sprayed it with machine-gun fire about 20 miles off the United Arab Emirates port of Ajman. Damage was minor and the tanker continued its voyage from the main Saudi oil terminal at the port of Ras Tanurah to the Red Sea port of Jeddah.

Sandinista troops observe partial cease-fire

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Regrouped near towns on the fringes of former combat areas, Sandinista troops Wednesday began observing a partial, unilateral cease-fire declared by Managua but rejected by Contra rebels who vowed to keep fighting. President Daniel Ortega, in New York to address the United Nations today, has warned that the army troops are under orders to counterattack if the Contras violate the cease-fire.

Workers find Dominican shipwreck victims

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI) — Rescue workers Wednesday began recovering the corpses of dozens of refugees who were thrown from a capsized vessel and drowned or were torn apart by sharks as they screamed for help, authorities said. More than 100 of the estimated 160 Dominicans, possibly bent on illegal entry into the United States, aboard the 40-foot boat bound east toward Puerto Rico were missing and presumed dead after the Tuesday disaster, said Eugenio Cabral, Dominican civil defense director.

U.S. supports naval blockade in Persian Gulf

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. officials are pushing for a U.N.-sponsored naval blockade in the Persian Gulf to cut off the flow of arms to Iran if the Khomeini government refuses to agree to a cease-fire in its war with Iraq, administration sources said Wednesday. Pentagon, State Department and National Security Council officials arrived at the strategy as a way to enforce a proposed worldwide arms embargo, sources said.

Two members of AIDS commission resign

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The two top members of President Reagan's controversial AIDS advisory commission quit Wednesday in an unexpected turn of events blamed by its departing vice chairman on internal turmoil and a lack of administrative support. Chairman W. Eugene Mayberry and Vice Chairman Woodrow Myers Jr. announced their resignations in separate cities, immediately raising questions about whether the commission would be able to fulfill its obligations.

Reagan, Bork promise to fight opposition

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan and his Supreme Court nominee, Robert Bork, together vowed Wednesday to carry the bruising confirmation fight to the Senate floor, but Bork supporters said the conservative judge still is considering withdrawing his name. As Bork weighed the possibility of giving up the battle, eight more undecided senators — including six Southerners — announced their opposition, further shrinking the list of undeclareds that the White House had been counting on. Democratic opponents said those declarations gave the anti-Bork forces 56 votes, five more than required to defeat the nomination.

Rivals criticize Gore for 'phony' differences

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic presidential rivals ganged up Wednesday on Sen. Albert Gore for trying to set up "phony" differences among the candidates to win the votes of conservative Dixie Democrats. In the third straight debate among the six Democratic candidates, Gore tried to distance himself from the others in the race. Gore advocated a strong defense.

Tickets go on sale for Miss Ebonyess Pageant

By Susan Curtis
Staff Writer

Tickets for the Miss Ebonyess Pageant, sponsored by the Beta Eta Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity Inc., went on sale this week at the Student Center ticket office.

The pageant, made up of eight contestants, will be held on Oct. 17 in Shryock Auditorium. All seats for the 16th annual pageant sponsored by the fraternity are $5, Paul Cunningham, member of the Black Affairs Council and Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity, said.

This pageant is different from a beauty contest, he said, because "contestants aren't judged for their exterior looks."

Judges are appointed in advance so that they can interview contestants before the pageant, Cunningham said. Contestants are also judged on evening wear and a stage performance, which could range from modern dance to classical piano.

Four semi-finalists are then selected to answer questions from the judges, Cunningham said.

The winner of the pageant will win a $400 academic scholarship provided by the fraternity, he said.

About 750 people attended last year's pageant, Cunningham said. "Because of all the publicity we're getting this year, we expect that to increase to 850-900."

The pageant may be taped and aired on WSU as it was last year, he said.

Directory planned for December

By Mary Wisniewski
Staff Writer

The Student Directory will be out by the first week of December, and the annual long waits for the book should be obsolete by next year, said David Steck, USO representative.

The Undergraduate Student Organization is responsible for producing the directory. The USO plans to secure a contract next week with University Directories, an East Coast company which specializes in producing student directories, Steck said.

"We're looking for consistency," said Steck. "Our goal is to get it printed as early as possible and at no expense to students."

Steck said he hopes contracting with one professional company for "at least three years" will solve the USO's problems in producing the book.

This year, University Directories will solicit ads from local businesses to pay for producing the directory, Steck said. The company will be paid by ad revenues.

Once the police spot a stolen sticker, they scrape the sticker from the vehicle and have the vehicle towed, he said.

However, Drake said it's difficult to remove the stickers.

"It's pretty hard to pull off a sticker in one piece," he said. "Everytime that I've tried to remove mine, it comes off in pieces."

Drake said stickers can be removed because some people tape the sticker to the vehicle and others lose their stickers before they are attached.

Hogan declined to describe how stickers are removed to avoid telling would-be thieves how to remove them.

To recover a vehicle that displayed a stolen sticker, students must pay $50, any outstanding tickets on that sticker and $2 to reimburse the student who the sticker belonged to, she said.

There is no way to get around paying the stolen sticker fees, Hogan said.

"If students refuse to pay, I just put it on their bursar's bill," Hogan said. "When students refuse to talk about it, I say OK, I'll write a state ticket and you can tell it to the judge. Fortunately, most people don't want it to come to that."

People caught twice with stolen stickers are required to go to court and to talk with Student Life.

Students found with a stolen sticker on their vehicle lose campus parking privileges for one year and their cars "go on the campus tow list and are towed every single time they are spotted on campus," Hogan said.

pressing legislators to restore the funding, and local legislators have said they are confident the money will be restored. However, unless the Legislature also passes a tax increase, the money may simply not be available. The chances of a tax increase are slim to none, legislators say.

GPSC President Darrell Johnson also intends to voice opposition to the tuition increase.

"What I'm considering is asking the board to direct the Chancellor's Office to press that state for more money," Johnson said Wednesday. "If higher education isn't going to go to the state and ask it for more money, they're not going to be in a position not to raise tuition again in the fall because they will be uncertain about the economic situation next year."

Indeed, at September's board meeting, Pettit predicted that if the Legislature failed to pass a tax increase during its upcoming session, the University would be forced to increase tuition again in the fall of 1988.

Phil Lyons, the student member of the board, said he would tell the board that "a real effort has to be made and keeping being made to let legislators know that not raising taxes does not guarantee re-election."

By failing to raise taxes and thereby sparking the cuts in the education budget, the Legislature is sabotaging the state's economy, Lyons said. Legislators fail to see how valuable an asset educated citizens are to the state's economy, he said. They also are underestimating the economic impact students have on the communities surrounding the state's universities and colleges, he said.

The board also will review a preliminary design plan for the fitness center addition to the Student Recreation Center. Hastings and Chivetta, a St. Louis-based architectural firm, was awarded the design contract in July.

The addition is expected to cost $6.2 million.

Closing of debate a C & P mistake

IN AN UNCHARACTERISTIC move, the Department of Cinema and Photography opted to hold a closed debate last week concerning the controversial pro-Palestinian photography exhibit being shown in the Cinema and Photography Gallery. A Daily Egyptian reporter was told that the debate was closed for "space reasons."

A spokesperson said that the department wasn't closing the debate to shut anyone out; it simply didn't have enough room in the gallery or Room 1122 of the Communications Building, where the debate was held, for everyone who might want to attend.

But this brings up an even more pressing question: If the department was able to foresee this problem soon enough to come to the decision to close the debate, why didn't it go to the trouble of getting a bigger room to alleviate the problem? If it knowingly was shutting out people, why did it bother announcing the "closed" debate at all?

THE CINEMA AND photography department has long been known as a program that vigorously fights against censorship. Daily, the department displays exhibits of sensitive and possibly offensive photography class materials in the heavily traveled hallways of the Communications Building for anyone — not just cinema and photography students and faculty — who might happen to wander by.

James Hugunin, cinema and photography instructor and director of the gallery, told a Daily Egyptian reporter that he selected the exhibit because it could provide a forum for thought-provoking debate. Closing the resulting debate turns the event into a travesty and shuts out the very people the exhibit aimed to provoke.

The arts of cinema and photography, at their most ambitious, aim to transcend the creations themselves, to widen our perspectives and our awareness of the world around us. By not only passing up, but refusing the opportunity to open the eyes of those at SIU-C, the cinema and photography department has ignored a vital aspect of the creative process.

THE DEPARTMENT ALSO also has shirked its responsibility to the University as an institution of learning. By preventing what could have been an educational experience from reaching a broader portion of the University population, the department has failed one of the tenets of higher learning — that of sharing its knowledge and discoveries with the rest of the community when that possibility arises.

The hearings on President Reagan's nomination of Judge Robert Bork to the U.S. Supreme Court have thus far produced no shocking new insights into Bork's character or personal history.

They have, however, adequately framed most of the questions that the Senate will need to examine before voting on his confirmation. ... It is neither historically unprecedented nor politically illegitimate, as the Reagan administration suggests, to apply ideological standards to that determination.

What it comes down to ... is this: Reagan sent up the Bork nomination for ideological reasons that the president more or less spelled out, not only in the nomination announcement ... Reagan wants somebody on the court who will get prayer back in schools, ban abortions and so on. Now the White House is saying that Bork is not such a person and would do no such things, that he is the apostle of judicial restraint.

Help bridge gap between races

The year is 1987 and we still are experiencing a culture shock at SIU-C. Why are we continually finding ourselves in awkward situations when a person of a different ethnic background is present?

Well, the reason is simply it's time to close the gap and form a bridge between the different races on campus. You may read this and ask yourself: How can we close a gap that has been spreading for a number of years? (1) We must eliminate the stereotypical mentality by interacting with members of every race on campus; (2) We must rewrite history, starting today. Allow the past mistakes of our ancestors to be a lesson and a reminder that we don't want to live lives that are filled with hatred and prejudices based on fear, as they did; and (3) Examine yourself and determine whether you, as an individual, extended yourself to a member of another race on campus and tried to get acquainted with them.

I would in no way suggest that in interacting with another race you lose your own identity. Identity is what makes each and every race fit in. My purpose is for people to share the culture values they were raised on with members of every race, rather than losing your identity to another race's culture. — Ernest Brown, administration of justice.

Cartoon was blasphemous, infuriating

I am writing because I, along with many others, am furious with the satirical cartoon in the Oct. 2 edition of the DE.

I do not know what kind of people run the DE, but it looks like they obviously are not educated enough or they would know not to insert a cartoon which quotes from a book which they do not even spell correctly.

I have kept quiet when you have printed cartoons which defamed and ridiculed Arabs, but I find this latest act blasphemous, and I am sure that the other Muslims on campus agree with me 100 percent.

The trouble with the DE, along with many other American "institutions," is that it tends to make fun of something which it knows absolutely nothing about. The DE obviously felt comfortable printing this cartoon because it hid its embarrassment. I went to know how many people on the DE staff have even seen a Qur'an, much less opened it and read it.

I challenge the DE and others who have prejudiced opinions of Islam to explore their minds and try to learn something about it before they are so quick to laugh and slander it. You will be surprised at what you will learn, and it may cause you to think first before you do or say anything that is totally abhorrent (i.e. the cartoon).

By the way, Qur'an is not spelled Koran. That is another mistake misinformed non-Muslims have invented. — Maher K. Abou-Jabal, graduate student, electrical engineering.

Story misrepresented councilman's view

Your Sept. 30 correction of the Sept. 29 article on my report "Downtown Redevelopment in Carbondale," still left some inaccuracies that need clarification.

At no point in my report did I suggest that SIU-C become involved in financing a hotel downtown, either with the current project or any alternative project which involves a hotel. One of my main problems with the current project has always been the damage a new large hotel could do to the existing hotel business in town. Why would I suggest that SIU — let alone any other concern — put their money into a hotel?

My references in my report concerning SIU-C were clearly placed in my discussion of alternative uses to the currently proposed project. The University was suggested as a partner in future options by myself and several people Clifford Glasberg and I interviewed; no one from the University was directly interviewed for the report.

I hope SIU officials will do whatever they can to contribute to the planning process for downtown Carbondale, and I am sorry the misrepresentation of my statements may have brought undue criticism to those officials. — Keith Tuxhorn, Carbondale City Council member.

Letting loose

"Get all the way out," the jumpmaster says. My adrenalin pumps and my palms sweat as I slide my hands along the wing strut facing into the 75 mph wind. I quickly glance down at the ground 3000 feet below me before stepping off the landing gear. My feet dangle in midair behind me as I hang on to the wing strut. I make eye contact with the jumpmaster and he says, "Look up," my signal to let go.

"Go!" My fingers uncurl, one thousand, two thousand, three thousand...I count as I float backwards. The plane shrinks while time seems suspended amid absolute silence. Thump. I look over my shoulder to see my parachute open; what a relief! Gliding down, the radio attached to my waist crackles, "pull left toggle," obeying the ground observer's radio instructions I make a slow-motion left turn. I enjoy the bird's eye view as I glide to the landing zone. The ground rushes up, and I hear "flare." I pull both toggles and the sport chute eases me to the ground. Fantastic!

I had wanted to parachute for a long time and the SIU-C Skydiving Club made my wish a reality. The club makes jumps from City Airport in Sparta with training and equipment provided by Archway Parachute Centre. The first jump course cost $95, includes club membership, and is approved by the U.S. Parachute Association. The club will meet in front of the Student Center at 8:30 a.m. this Saturday and Sunday and provide transportation to Sparta. For details, call R.D. Aut at 549-2137.

R.D. Aut, president of the SIU-C Skydiving Club, demonstrates the fun of free fall skydiving as he leaves the plane on a jump at Sparta. Aut is a jumpmaster instructor at Archway Parachute Centre in Sparta.

Bob Adams of Herculaneum, Mo., yells go and lets of the wing strut of the Cessna 182. Adams was making a static line jump in which the chute is opened by a line attached to the plane.

Fire protection conference date set

By Deedra Lawhead
Staff Writer

A countywide fire protection conference aimed at improving rural fire protection will be held from 1 to 4:30 p.m. on Nov. 2 in the Jackson County Courthouse.

Four speakers, including a member of the Fire Protection District Association; the State Fire Marshall's Office; the Insurance Service Office, which rates fire departments; and a local insurance representative, will speak at the conference, David Conrad, chairman of the Ad Hoc Fire Committee charged with planning and holding the conference, said.

In addition, the chief of the Makanda Township Fire Department will speak on his township's fire district, which the committee feels is successful, Conrad said.

Then the conference will break into four small study groups with one speaker available to answer questions for each group, he said. One committee member will head each group.

Lyle Attig will head a fire protection study group; Lawrence Dietz will head a finance study group; and Larry Lipe will head a dispatching and communications study group. The finance study group will discuss how fire departments are financed.

Ike Kirkikis, of the Greater Egypt Regional Planning and Development Commission, will head the survey study group.

The survey group will discuss results and any problems discovered through the fire protection surveys that Greater Egypt sent to the 11 fire departments in the county. Conrad said problems such as areas in the county not covered by fire protection and overlapping fire districts may be found.

Each group will be given a list of problems, and committee members will have to draw conclusions from what is said in the group, he said.

The committee will put together the results from the study groups and present them to the Jackson County Board, Conrad said.

Employee Council rejects salary resolution

By Jacke Hampton
Staff Writer

A resolution opposing tuition-based salary increases passed 9-6 when David Saunders, the council chairman, cast the deciding vote Wednesday at the Civil Service Employees Council meeting.

"Having found out that there was never any intention of using it (tuition), this seems like a hollow, meaningless gesture to say we don't want it when we weren't going to use it anyway," Dennis Barnes, a library employee, said.

"Before I vote no on this, I want everyone to know that I don't want a salary increase to come from a tuition increase, it's just I think a hollow gesture," Geraldine Kelley, a member of the council, said.

"I voted in favor of adopting it, it may be a hollow gesture, but it says something about our stance," Saunders said.

"It is a statement that we are not sitting here living off the backs of students and their parents. It is a statement to the state that they should start supporting the University and the salary increases it needs."

Halloween campaign to stress teamwork

By Jacke Hampton
Staff Writer

The Halloween Core Committee will begin an advertising campaign to promote a safe Halloween festival at a press conference at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the Ohio Room of the Student Center.

The campaign, designed by students in the Public Relations Student Society of America, stresses teamwork.

"It is all built around the slogan, Join Our Team for a Safe Halloween, Chris Durkin, who co-chairs the campaign committee with Paula Mannon, said. "This theme says we want everyone in the community, not just students and University administrators, to become involved.

"We are asking anyone who's interested to join the team and come together in an effort to have a safe Halloween."

Tentative plans are to put a large tent near the Blue Barracks to house a first aid station, information booth, designated driver program and information center.

"According to police statistics, 88 percent of the arrests that are made on Halloween are not students," Mannon said. "Out of town people tend to get in trouble when they become separated from their friends. This information center would provide a place for people to meet their friends at a designated time, so they don't become separated and frustrated."

Ike Hoda has agreed to sponsor a Yellow Cab to provide rides to festival-goers "who really need it," she said. The students are also working with local churches to provide food for the booth and with local businesses to provide coffee. Both the food and coffee will help keep the crowd sober, she said.

Negotiations are also underway with General Telephone for a group of mobile telephones to be located near the tent, she said.

EZ Rental has agreed to provide a large tent free of charge, Ed Buerger, an associate director of University Relations and the committee member working with the students, said.

Among details yet to be worked out are locations for street banners, requests to use business marquis to promote the campaign and a sponsor for a designated driver program.

The students are planning to make presentations at the dorms and throughout the community to promote the campaign and ask for support.

Franz Schubert, Oscar Straus, Rudolf Friml, Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart and the "Waltz King," Johann Strauss II.

Viennese works included waltzes such as Strauss' "Tales from the Vienna Woods" and "The Blue Danube," which was described in the program as being to Vienna as "America the Beautiful" is to America.

However, some of the most classic Viennese-sounding pieces weren't by Austrian composers. Perhaps the most fitting example of this was American composer Richard Rodgers II's "Edelweiss," from the musical "The Sound of Music." Arranged by the Mantovani Orchestra, it had the orchestra's distinctive easy-listening sound.

A large part of the cascading, floating feeling came not from the string section, but from the vibraphone, a mallet percussion instrument that is fitted with electric fans underneath each bar to give the vibrating effect.

The novel classical work included a toy drum, baby rattle, a coo-coo whistle, a bird whistle and a "squeaky spider" as lead instruments.

Everything the orchestra played was accessible enough for anyone to appreciate. Singers Kimberly Parsons and Richard Kennedy helped the audience catch a glimpse of elegant Vienna with beautiful singing in plain, understandable English.

Soprano Parsons, who looked ravishing in a silky, white, ballroom gown, sang "My Hero," from Oscar Straus' operetta, the "Chocolate Soldier." Tenor Kennedy became a gypsy with

"Play Gypsies, Dance Gypsies."

Parsons and Kennedy also added a touch of humor toward the end of the first half of the concert with Joseph Haydn's "Toy Symphony." The novel classical work included a toy drum, baby rattle, a coo-coo whistle, a bird whistle and a "squeaky spider" as lead instruments.

Parsons was quite nonchalant in the way she played the baby rattle and didn't seem to mind playing a "squeaky spider." Kennedy seemed proud to play not just an ordinary bird whistle, but a "nightingale whistle."

Parsons and Kennedy returned for more lighthearted antics with a duet titled "Sympathy," by neo-romantic composer Franz Lehar. In this song Kennedy, playing a kind-hearted geek and Parsons, playing a coy tease, sought sympathy from each other because their respective covers had run off.

Sunglasses

I remember when I was younger and my dad and I had long talks as we walked around this very lake.

My parents were never the understanding sorts...

but then dust mops have never been known for their compassion.

Auto driving competition gives students chance to win cash, car

By Todd Mounce
Staff Writer

Students wishing to test their driving skills are encouraged to compete in the sixth annual National Collegiate Driving Championships.

Students will compete behind the wheel of Dodge Daytona Shelby Zs against the clock on serpentine, pylon-lined courses. The course will be set up on the SIU-C's Safety Center parking lot across from the campus beach. Competition will be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. today and Friday.

The cars will be locked in first gear and have a remote control kill switch to keep the drivers from straying off the course.

Winners from throughout the nation will compete in the National Grand Finals at Daytona Beach, Fla.

First prize in the finals is a $5,000 scholarship and the use of a Shelby Z for one year. Second prize in the finals is a $3,000 scholarship and the use of a Shelby Z for one year. Third prize is a $2,000 scholarship and the use of a Shelby Z for one year. Fourth through sixth-place finishers will receive sets of tires from Goodyear.

The event is sponsored by Dodge and co-sponsored by Goodyear and SIU-C's Society of Automotive Engineers. The event is supported by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and the National Safety Council.

Safety is emphasized and drivers will be required to wear safety belts and helmets.

Homecoming golf tourney nets proceeds for scholarship fund

The School of Technical Careers Alumni Constituent Society will sponsor a golf tournament at 10 a.m. Oct. 16 at the Jackson County Country Club west of Carbondale.

The inaugural STC Alumni and Friends Golf Tournament is designed to provide funds for STC's educational programs and the Alumni Scholarship Fund.

George A. Williams, tournament scholarship chairman and president of the constituent society, said he hopes it will become an annual event.

There is a $100 entry fee per golfer for the team scramble tournament and each participant will receive two tickets to the SIU-C

Homecoming football game against Western Illinois on Oct. 17.

The tournament is limited to 144 golfers and teams will be handicapped. Door prizes and trophies will be presented and refreshments will be served following the tournament.

Harry G. Miller, dean of STC and a member of the tournament planning committee, said response to the tournament has been very good. "Right now it's been fantastic," he said. "We are anticipating $12,000."

Miller, a non-golfer, said he borrowed a set of golf clubs, checked out a book on golfing technique and rented an Arnold Palmer video in preparation for the tournament.

Ray Burroughs, chairman of the tournament, said, "The key to the success of this thing is everyone having a good time. We want to give the alumni another reason to come back."

The last day to register is Tuesday. Entry forms are available from Burroughs, co City National Bank, P.O. Box 389, Murphysboro, IL 62966.

Western leading Gateway pack, enjoying I-AA national rankings

In this week's only Gateway Conference football matchup, two of the league's three unbeaten teams will battle when nationally ranked Western Illinois takes on Eastern Illinois in Charleston.

The Leathernecks, 3-0, 4-1, have won their last three games and take a No. 13 national ranking into the game. Led by quarterback Paul Singer, three-time Gateway offensive player of the week, Western sports the league's best overall defense and offense. WIU ranks first in six of the league's 17 statistical categories this week and second in two more.

Eastern, 1-0, 3-2, was ranked No. 14 in last week's NCAA poll, but fell out of the rankings after a 24-10 loss to I-A Akron.

Preseason conference favorite Northern Iowa, the league's other undefeated team, takes on the Big Eight's Iowa State. The Panthers haven't beat the Cyclones since 1900, but the time could be right for a UNI win. Last week, Iowa State, winless in four outings, was crushed by Oklahoma, 56-3, while UNI lost to nationally ranked I-AA opponent Montana State.

Southwest Missouri will rest a week after rushing for 363 yards last week in a 42-0 drubbing of Indiana State. At 2-1 in league play, the Bears still have Gateway title hopes. After the week off, they'll play Northern Illinois.

Meanwhile, the Sycamores will have to rebound on the road at Georgia Tech. After winning the first game of the season, ISU has dropped four straight. The Sycamores have lost 12 of their last 14 games. Tech, 1-3, is riding a three-game losing streak capped by a 17-0 loss to North Carolina State last weekend.

Defensive coordinator Cliff Hysel agrees that the Bulldog defense is still building and improving.

Hysel said the Bulldogs use a 3-4 alignment and will shift to a multiple alignment in certain situations. He said stunts and blitzes are a big part of FSU's defensive game plan.

If there is a weak spot in Fresno defense, it is the secondary. Western Illinois quarterback Paul Singer exploited the Bulldog deep defenders for two touchdowns and 312 passing yards in a 20-17 Fresno win earlier this season.

Overall, Fresno allows an average of 202 passing yards per game.

Another area that has Sweeney's concern is SIU-C's veer-option offense.

"We haven't faced a veer-option team in eight or nine years," Sweeney, who employed the veer option while coaching at Washington State himself, said. "It is a potentially explosive offense capable of controlling the ball."

Hysel agreed, adding that the play of Fresno's linebackers and down linemen would be crucial in thwarting SIU-C's bread-and-butter running game.

"The only option experience we have at all is from the University of Pacific game last season and they run a wishbone," Hysel said.

Considering what was lost from last year's defense, this year's defensive performance looks even better.

The Bulldogs lost 12 lettermen, including eight starters, from a 1986 team that led the PCAA in total defense and scoring defense. Included were three UPI honorable men in All-America selections.

That squad teamed up to record 70 sacks in 11 games, an impressive feat considering the NFL record for sacks is 72, set by the 1985 Chicago Bears.

This year, the Bulldogs have recorded 24 sacks in five games, 17 in the last two games. All-America candidate Jethro Franklin leads the charge with eight sacks for 57 yards in losses.

Right now we are having a hard time working on team systems when the numbers keep changing," Hunter said.

To salvage the season the Salukis must finish among the top four teams to qualify for the Gateway Conference Tournament, with just two available seniors on a roster of nine, Hunter has turned to three eager freshmen to pick up the slack.

They are Margaret Cooney, a 5-11 middle blocker from Houston, Texas; Amy Johnson, a 5-11 middle blocker from St. Paul, Minn.; and Lori Simpson, a 5-10 outside hitter from Cedar Falls, Iowa.

However, with the Salukis next match only a day away, Hunter hasn't tabbed one as a starter. "All three may see significant time on the court."

We'll use the one the situation calls for."

Faced with adversity, Hunter is impressed that the regulars haven't given up. "They are putting forth the effort. Each is playing determined ball."

Nina Brackins, who is suffering from a mild case of bronchitis, did not practice Wednesday. She is expected to play this weekend.

raising his two-game total to five.

San Francisco hit 205 homers this season, second-most in the league. St. Louis hit only 94, and 35 came from Jack Clark, now sidelined with a sprained right ankle. Head-to-head this season, the Giants out-homered St. Louis 16-8. They have out-homered the Cardinals 3-0 in the playoffs.

Leonard helped San Francisco build two insurance runs in the eighth. Leonard and Maldonado singled and Chili Davis sacrificed. Will Clark received an intentional pass and, one out later, shortstop Ozzie Smith booted Uribe's grounder for a two-run error that sent most of the spectators from the game.

Balancing act

Gymnast Jay Demn, a newcomer to Saluki coach Bill Meade's squad, works out on the parallel bars at the Arena. This year, Meade's squad will host three home meets and will compete in 14 other events. The season officially begins on Dec. 4-5 at the Big Eight Invitational. The first home meet is on Feb. 21 versus Iowa State.
