Speaker of House endorses Poshard

Students protest Wright's activities

By Richard Goldstein
Staff Writer

House Speaker Jim Wright's campus visit to endorse Glenn Poshard's campaign for Congress drew picketers — both pro and con.

About 15 SIU-C College Republicans squared off against about nine Southern Illinois Latin America Solidarity Committee members Friday in front of the Student Center.

"I am just a little bit offended," Wright said when asked about the protest. "Here I am, Speaker of the House, and they couldn't get but 10 people to protest!"

The College Republicans accused Wright of jeopardizing national security by releasing information on Central Intelligence Agency covert activity in Nicaragua, while solidarity committee members said the American people have a right to know the CIA is trying to promote anti-government protests in Nicaragua.

As the opposing protestors signs read, what the issue boils down to is "Wright wrong" or is "Wright right."

The College Republicans echoed Republican Congressional candidate Patrick Kelley's charge that Poshard should not have Wright campaigning for him while he is under investigation by the House ethics committee.

The ethics committee is looking into Wright's dealings with a Texas savings and loan on whose behalf he allegedly interceded while it was un-

Marilyn Quayle attacks Dukakis, 'lazy' media

CHAMPAIGN — The wife of Republican vice-presidential candidate Dan Quayle attacked the Democratic party and its stance that her husband is too inexperienced to take over the role of president.

"He proved (during the debate with Lloyd Bentsen) he was a man of great integrity and stature and definitely capable of assuming the role of the president," Marilyn Quayle said during a stop Thursday in Central Illinois.

Dan Quayle has shown the necessary skills to lead the nation, she said, and in Congress he has dealt with problems that will confront the next president.

Quayle has served two terms in the U.S. House of Representatives and is presently serving his second term in the U.S. Senate, where he is a member of the Armed Services Committee and the ranking Republican member on its subcommittee on Conventional Forces and Alliance Defense.

She described Dan Quayle as an "expert" in national defense, contrasting him with Democratic presidential candidate Michael Dukakis, who, according to a member of the Carter administration, has very limited knowledge of the national defense process.

"Dan Quayle's experience is not the issue. It's Michael Dukakis' inexperience." Marilyn Quayle said the continuous questioning con-

Palestinians hold protest to inform public of conflict

By Diana Mivall
Staff Writer

Silently protesting with signs and literature, the General Union of Palestinian Students stood outside the Student Center Friday afternoon to inform University students how they are being affected by the conflict in Palestine.

"It does not matter where we live, we have a nationality and we have to fight for it," Fidah Khaleel, treasurer of the union said.

"When our families get shot, those tanks say U.S. made. When a Palestinian's home is shot at they see it as Israel and the United States."

Zuhair Nofal, senior in civil engineering, said most students don't care about politics and are not aware of the amount of money going to places like Nicaragua and Israel.

"We are here to give out information to let them know what is going on. I don't think they read them (the literature). I think they throw them into the trash," Nofal said.

"From every tax dollar, a percentage is sent to Israel," Khaleel said.

"Mostly people with jobs want to know about the situation because they aren't getting their taxes back," Nofal said.

Mahmoud A. Mahmoud, graduate student in journalism, who stood among the protesters said, "The United States has strategic interest in the Middle East. It is a source of energy. If we can convince the United States to look at the problem and construct for solutions, the first would be the homeland that represents the Palestinian people."

"We do not want to eliminate Israel, likewise Palestinians have rights to their own homeland," Mahmoud said.

Mahmoud said the protest is an effort to make the public aware of the people who are suffering "unjustly, especially innocent people like women, children and the elderly."

Union undecided on off-campus voting

By Jackie Spinner
Staff Writer

The Illinois Educational Labor Relations Board will decide on the voting procedure of off-campus faculty sometime this week, IELRB Executive Director Robert Perkovich said.

Union representatives were not able to agree on the voting procedure of off-campus faculty when the parties met with the administration and an IELRB agent last Thursday in Springfield.

The Illinois Education Association wants all off-campus faculty to be sent a ballot on an involuntary basis, IEA organizer Don Keck said.

However, the University Professionals want the ballots sent only upon request of the off-campus faculty, UP president Herbert Donow said.

The IEA and UP are two unions vying for faculty representation in collective bargaining.

"Since everyone else gets the option of voting and faculty on sabbatical leave have to request a ballot, we think sending the ballots directly to off-campus employees would be inappropriate," Keck explained.

The University has about 30 employees stationed overseas and other off-campus faculty located on military bases around the country.

Donow said the issue is a technicality and is not going to effect the election very much.

Meanwhile, the parties continue to make final preparations for the Nov. 16 collective bargaining election.

A list of all University employees and their titles is being compiled by the University and should be

PLO heads approve plan for document of statehood

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — PLO leaders meeting in Tunisia approved plans to renounce terrorism and proclaim an independent Palestinian state in the Israeli-occupied territories, the Middle East News Agency reported Sunday. In the dispatch from the Tunisian capital of Tunis, the agency said the document approved at a two-day meeting would be debated at a session of the PLO's parliament-in-exile to be held in Algiers this month or early next month.

Czechs expect biggest shake-up since 1968

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (UPI) — Czechoslovakia's government will undergo one of the biggest personnel shake-ups since the 1968 Warsaw Pact invasion when the Communist Party meets Monday, sources close to the government said Sunday. The changes will affect both progressives and hardliners in the government and the party and are apparently meant to eliminate many leaders deemed responsible for the country's economic decline.

Authorities move to block violence in Titograd

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI) — Police patrolled the southern city of Titograd Sunday with orders to block further demonstrations in the wake of violent clashes between authorities and protesters demanding the resignation of Communist Party leaders. In Titograd, capital of the southern Republic of Montenegro, police patrolled the streets in pairs to guard against a repeat of Saturday's violence outside the regional parliament building.

Violence, riots continue for fifth day in Algeria

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI) — Authorities arrested two cameramen working for a British television network Sunday as they filmed tanks in the Algerian capital on the fifth day of rioting over government austerity measures. Doctors and witnesses said at least 50 people had been killed since the start of the violence late Tuesday night, and some reports cited by Western diplomats estimated the death toll to be as high as 200.

Report: Reactor shutdown could hurt defense

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nuclear reactors at the Savannah River Plant, closed since August for safety reasons, may be out of service so long the United States will be unable to maintain all its nuclear weapons at operational readiness, The New York Times reported Sunday. Quoting senior administration officials, the newspaper said that if the two-month suspension extends for several months at the nation's only manufacturer of a vital material for nuclear warheads, the United States might be forced to start deactivating nuclear warheads.

Critic advocates campaign spending controls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An "arms race mentality" of raising huge amounts of campaign money is cementing incumbents in office and eroding representative government by driving away challengers, a critic of campaign laws said Sunday. The problem is most critical on Capitol Hill, said Fred Wertheimer, president of the citizens lobby Common Cause, where "money becomes a vehicle for buying political influence and for creating a one-party system in Congress in which 98 percent of the House incumbents are re-elected."

Gunmen storm Long Island fraternity party

STONY BROOK, N.Y. (UPI) — Several men in camouflage fatigues stormed a fraternity party on the State University campus early Sunday, firing a machine pistol and slashing at least one person with a knife, police said. Several men fitting the description of the attackers were taken into custody an hour after the 2:45 a.m. assault when police stopped the car the attackers used to drive onto the Stony Brook campus of the State University of New York, Suffolk County police said.

Technicians destroy cylinder; end evacuation

NITRO, W.Va. (UPI) — Technicians hauled a rusty 30-pound cylinder to a bunker and set off an explosion that burned off poisonous hydrogen cyanide Sunday in an operation that "went just like clockwork." Nearly half the town's residents were evacuated before the explosion. Roadblocks were dismantled about 1 1/2 hours after the demolition operation began at noon.

Attorney: Deposits can be protected

Editors note: This article is part of a series about off-campus housing.

By Kimberly Clarke
Staff Writer

Not getting all of a damage deposit returned at the end of a lease term is one of the major complaints that the Student Legal Assistance Office deals with, Steve Roger, attorney at the office, said.

A damage deposit is a fee paid by a tenant when renting, to cover any damages that may occur. The fee is supposed to be returned to the tenant if no damage occurs or if the damage deposit has not been breached by the tenant.

Some tenants do not have their deposits returned, and feel that they are kept unjustly by the landlord, Rogers said.

A good piece of advice is, when moving into a place, check everything, Rogers said. Furniture, appliances, plumbing, electrical fixtures and the structure of the place itself should be carefully inspected by the tenant, he said.

Going through the dwelling with the landlord or some other witness and using a checklist to itemize the condition of everything included in the unit is a good idea, Rogers said.

The inventory should be signed and dated by the tenant and landlord or witness, he said.

When moving out, the same procedure should take place, and the condition upon leaving the dwelling should be compared to the condition prior to moving in, Rogers said.

Any excessive damage should be listed in detail and described as fully as possible.

Another way for tenants to protect themselves is to take pictures of the dwelling and everything that was included upon moving in, he said.

These also should be signed and dated by the tenant and witness.

The landlord should only charge the amount of money it takes to restore the place to the condition it was when the tenant first moved in, and the damage deposit refund for some apartments is protected by law, he said.

According to Chapter 80, Section 101 of the Illinois Revised Statutes on property containing ten or more units, the landlord must, within 30 days after the tenant vacates the premises, either return the entire deposit, or provide an itemized statement of the alleged damages and the estimated or actual cost for repair work, cleaning, and replacement, plus copies of paid receipts.

For advice concerning the rights a tenant has, the Student Legal Assistance Office or the Landlord-Tenant Union, both located on the third floor of the Student Center can help.

Forestry club in 'Olympics'

By Loria Roberson
Staff Writer

SIU Forestry Club members have been in training since August practicing speed chopping, log rolling and tobacco spitting in preparation for the "Forestry Olympics," said Kraig Moore, club president.

The 4th Annual Midwestern Foresters Conclave is scheduled for Oct. 21 to 23 in Minneapolis and Moore said he feels they have an excellent team.

"We started practicing the first week after school started and I've seen definite improvements during the practices," Moore said.

Moore said team members have been working on their techniques, and just before the competition they will work on speed. Fifteen to 20 members, male and female, are going to the competition, he said.

One of the competitions, the "Jack and Jill," a two-person, cross-cut sawing, usually involves two team members of the opposite sex. If one team has a male and female for the event and the other doesn't, the event would be forfeited, Moore said.

Blacks dropping out, but SIU-C is failing

ACCORDING TO a recent task force study, about 75 percent of the University's black students drop out before graduation. If this statistic is correct, than the University is facing a serious problem.

The high drop-out rate among black students most likely can be attributed to one of two reasons, or a combination of the two; discrimination and poor elementary and high school education.

MANY OF THE black students who attend SIU-C come from the inner-cities, such as Chicago or East St. Louis. On the average, high school and elementary education in the inner-cities is poor, and students graduate with a lower level of education than their posh suburban counterparts. Some even graduate lacking certain basic skills.

BECAUSE SIU-C'S admittance standards are liberal, (which is something the University should continue), these students find it easier to be accepted here than at other major colleges.

In accepting these students, University officials must ask themselves if they are prepared to offer them adequate remedial education for the skills denied them in elementary and high school.

THE UNIVERSITY'S Center of Basic Skills offers remedial education, but the high drop-out rate indicates the program is not wholly effective. The University must reassess its Basic Skills program to adequately assimilate these students to the University's standards. The program may be offering the necessary education, but, for some reason, the University has failed to help these students.

DISCRIMINATION IS a problem faced by many black students at SIU-C. Although discrimination usually is not blatant, the more subtler forms run rampant at the University.

For example, in a DE story on discrimination at SIU-C, a black student looking for someone in the Communications Building was told to check downstairs at WSIU. A white student didn't know whom the student was looking for, so he sent the student to a black co-worker. The co-worker didn't know whom the black student was looking for either.

MANY MAY not see this act as a form of discrimination, but it points to a classic example of race relations at SIU-C. Black students know black students and white students know white students. Rarely do black and white students interact socially. One look at the Strip on a Friday or Saturday night would illustrate this point. Because black and white students are not socially integrated, many black students are not actively involved in a lot of student activities and organizations, which are dominated mostly by white students.

BECAUSE BLACK students are, for various reasons, excluded from student activities and organizations, they may find themselves alienated from the University community, feeling they are not being accepted for discriminatory reasons. These feelings most likely are well-founded.

The University must find some way to break down racial barriers and integrate black and white students socially, academically and institutionally. They could learn a lot from each other.

Quayle's grasp of economics allows for foreign landlords to run America

SOMETHING SEN. Dan Quayle cheerfully said during the debate has lifted a heavy load of worry from my mind. It came after Sen. Lloyd Bentsen pointed out that under the Reagan administration, we have become the number one debtor nation in the world.

As Bentsen said: "They've (foreign nations) bought 10 percent of the manufacturing base of this country. They bought 20 percent of the banks. They own 46 percent of the commercial real estate in Los Angeles. They're buying America on the cheap."

Mike Royko

Tribune Media Services

a living in 20 or 25 years.

But now, thanks to Quayle, I don't worry. I know they will have jobs.

Maybe one of them will be tending the California garden of some wealthy Japanese family. Another might be working behind the counter of a sushi house, slicing up those dead fish. Or, when the Japanese achieve their ultimate goal of owning all our golf courses, I might have a grandchild fortunate enough to mow the greens and rake the traps.

See? The American dream lives on.

What a sense of relief I felt, knowing that being up to our ears in foreign debt has made us the envy of the world.

BECAUSE I don't have Quayle's grasp of economics, there are still a few things I don't understand about our being the envy of the world.

For example, I can see that it is good if Americans have jobs making Hondas and shipping them to Japan, since that means these Americans draw paychecks from the Honda Corp.

However, the profits from these cars goes to Honda, which makes the Japanese company richer, which means it can buy more American banks, industry, and real estate and have more leverage over our economy.

SO, IN MY ignorance, it would seem better if Americans were making Pontiacs or Fords and selling them to Japan or Korea. That way, American workers would still be drawing paychecks, but General Motors and Ford would make the profits, which would be passed along to Americans who hold stock in these companies.

Then these stockholders could buy American real estate and American-made products, or put their money in banks owned by Americans or in stocks of American-owned companies that would manufacture products that we could sell to other countries.

I recall, that's the way we used to do it. But maybe we were being economic fuddy-duddies in those days.

NO, QUAYLE has the right idea. Let our debt pile up so that the Japanese, the Arabs and everybody else can come in and buy up the whole country on the cheap.

Quayle is no dummy. He's surely noticed that our highways are crumbling and crowded, our bridges are sagging, many of our factories are outdated, and cities are falling apart. And we don't have the money to get them in shape.

So when we're a colony and foreign countries own us 100 percent, ha-ha, the joke's on them. They'll be stuck with all the repair bills. And if they don't do the job right, we can haul them into Housing Court as negligent landlords.

And what can they do about it — evict us? Do you realize how many sheriff's deputies it would take to put the furniture of 240 million people out on the sidewalks?

NOW I MUST go. I'm taking a night school course in the ancient art of making those little bonsai trees. My old man always said a person should have a trade to fall back on.

Oh, one more thing. About all those Hondas Quayle said we've started making and shipping to Japan?

During the first six months of this year, we shipped 2,630 Hondas to Japan. And they also let us sell them 3,527 Americans cars.

But in 1987, the Japanese shipped 2,191,797 of their cars to this country.

Boy, are we on a roll.

WRIGHT,

dergoing restructuring by the federal government

Wright also is under investigation for royalties he received from a book his staff allegedly wrote.

John Hopkins, a 22-year-old senior in finance, said, "We really don't understand why Poshard would like to align himself" with Wright.

Georgeann Hartzog, spokeswoman for the Latin America Solidarity Committee, said of the CIA's instigation of anti-government protests in Nicaragua, "Our CIA should not be engaging in those kinds of activities."

Wright said he is comfortable with Poshard's stands on certain issues, which are considered out of the Democratic main stream.

Wright defended Poshard's certain differences with the Democratic Party, saying, "We (the Democratic Party) don't have any organized orthodoxy."

Referring to Poshard's anti-abortion stance Wright said the abortion issue is "not a party position. That's a personal choice."

Wright said of Poshard: "I'm impressed with his credentials, with what he's done not just what he said."

On Thursday, Patrick Kelley, Republican candidate for Congress, said "owing campaign favors to Jim Wright is not a good way to become an independent voice in the House."

Correction

The Supreme Court has not made a decision concerning commercial presentations in public university dormitories. The case is still under review.

This information was incorrectly stated in Friday's Daily Egyptian.

cerning her husband's experience during the vice presidential debate last Wednesday "was redundant, especially since he answered the question on the first go around."

She considered Bentsen's "You're no Jack Kennedy" remark uncalled for and an effort by the Democrat to make up ground in the debate.

"Dan Quayle did not compare himself with Jack Kennedy. He said he had more experience than Jack Kennedy," she said.

Marilyn Quayle said her husband was "in complete control of the debate" and did exactly what he planned to do. "He was able to point out the areas of Michael Dukakis that are out of touch with mainstream America," she said.

"We need new leadership. We need new ideas to deal with the new technology in this fast-paced world."

Marilyn Quayle described George Bush's choice of her husband as a "bold move" and one that "certainly isn't hurting the ticket."

She said Quayle's stay in the National Guard "is not an issue" and said it was an attempt by "lazy reporters" to create a story from rumors.

Chancellor Lawrence K. Pettit said the administration will be conducting its own information campaign before the election.

"The campaign up to this point hasn't been on bargaining but on the mechanics of bargaining," he said.

The IEA is also making sure that collective bargaining information goes out, IEA organizer Angela McGregor said.

"We will be working our tails off and trying to touch base with the people who haven't been reached, she added.

Douow said, "The faculty has enough information, but it's a question of getting focused with the faculty who have been throwing that information away."

Some events, such as tobacco spitting, don't require physical fitness, but Moore said most of the events require body conditioning, such as the log rolling event.

"It's a dreadful event," Moore said. "It's a back-killer and it's tiresome."

The log-rolling event consists of team members maneuvering a log on a course by walking on top of it, Moore said. "It's not the kind that you usually see where the log is in the water," he said. "Only the professionals do that event."

Another event with potential danger is the bolt-throw, which is similar to javelin competitions. A 6-foot log that weighs about 30 pounds is thrown for distance, Moore said. Three men on the team can throw the log at least 27 feet, he said.

Aviation students could get training-site choice

By Jon Maguire
Staff Writer

The SIU-C aviation program could soon make an agreement with TWA for an internship program.

The program already offers an internship with United Airlines to qualified students.

Capt. William H. Traub, vice president of TWA's Flight Standards and Training, will come to the University for a banquet and seminar sponsored by the Aviation Management Society Oct. 11.

TWA will return Oct. 17 to see what the University has to offer and possibly agree to a program similar to the one with United.

"During the second semester of their junior year and first semester of their senior year, the students are prepared from a flight standpoint to help them apply for the program to go out to Denver," Dave NewMyer, coordinator of Aviation Management and

Requirements for acceptance into the program are stiff. Students must be certified pilots and be able to fly multiengined airplanes.

Airway Science, said.

Denver is the location of one of United's flight centers.

When students are selected they go to Denver for two or three weeks. During this period, they are given a tour of the facilities, ground school training on one of United's airplanes, a simulator ride in the plane they are studying and a practice job interview to get firsthand knowledge of what United is looking for.

If students successfully complete their training, they are invited back for a full semester to work as an administrative assistant to a flight manager. The flight managers are in charge of training on United's airplanes.

"The requirements for acceptance into the program are very stiff," NewMyer said. Students must be certified pilots and be licensed to fly multi-engined airplanes.

They also must be licensed as commercial pilots and instrument pilots, which means being able to fly in bad weather. Almost all of the students sent to Denver have had at least 300 or more hours of flight, NewMyer said.

A career expectation seminar will be held Oct. 12 to brief students on the cooperative program with United. The application period for the program also will be opened.

"I expect TWA to ask us a lot of questions about what we are doing with United," NewMyer said. "They will probably do something similar to what we are doing with United, but they will probably do some things a little different."

One of the advantages of a deal with TWA is their flight center is located in St. Louis. This deal would also give students a choice of training sites, NewMyers said.

"What this is all about is the students getting jobs. That is what we want for our students. We want them to be technically trained and happy," he said.

Police Blotter

Ronnie Allen, 23, of Town and Country Trailer Court, was arrested and charged with possession of a controlled substance Saturday morning, Carbondale Police reports said.

Allen was stopped for a traffic offense in the 100 block of East Walnut Street at 12:46 a.m. Police found Allen's license was suspended and while processing, drugs were discovered in the vehicle, according to the report.

Allen was taken to Jackson County Jail, according to the report.

Kelly D. Thomas, 21, of 516 S. University Ave., reported a purse, credit cards and identification stolen from her residence sometime before 7:07 p.m. Oct. 6. Loss was estimated at $259, according to Carbondale Police reports.

Simone E. Zelitch, 28, of 406 W. Elm St. reported a portable Panasonic AM-FM cassette player was stolen from her residence between 10:30 p.m. and midnight Friday. Value of the item was listed at $100, according to Carbondale Police reports.

Carolyn A. Wilson, 39, of Carbondale, reported the windows of her vehicle, parked at 200 E. Oak St., were broken at 11 p.m. Friday. Damage was estimated at more than $300, according to Carbondale Police reports.

Women's task force sets agenda

By Jon Maguire
Staff Writer

The newly appointed chairwoman of the University Women's Professional Advancement Committee, Dr. Uma Sekaran, said she is eager to start her new position and already has made a list of things she would like the committee to tackle.

One item on her agenda is the reinstatement of an internship that was canceled two years ago because of lack of funds. The internship allowed one or two women to be trained in the administration or president's office.

Now that funds are available, the internship will be offered next fall.

The committee also is working on the revision of the sexual harassment policy.

The revision has been completed and is being reviewed by the different constituencies. If it is approved it will become policy.

Other topics on the agenda include salary equity, placing more women in administrative positions, recruiting more women faculty and creating a job bank from the surrounding area to help the spouses of prospective employees find jobs.

The committee is made up of 18 people, six of whom were chosen by Sekaran. She has added four people from three different constituencies: civil service, administrative personnel and students.

"Everyone will be equal on the committee," Sekaran said.

Poll: Bush leads big in South

United Press International

A poll of 15 Southern states published Sunday found Republican George Bush apparently has locked up Dixie but race-watchers said Democrat Michael Dukakis still can build momentum by speaking to uncertainties about the economy.

With less than a month before the Nov. 8 general election, the poll by the Atlanta Journal-Constitution also showed that Democrats who left their party in 1980 and 1984 for Ronald Reagan are clinging to Bush.

The candidates, save for Bush, took Sunday off; the Republican nominee visited the Chicago suburb of Cicero, Ill., for the Houbay Day parade — an annual celebration of the mushroom.

Though heavily Democratic, Cicero's sizable population of Eastern European immigrants voted for Reagan in 1984. Bush, in brief remarks, told the thousands gathered for the parade: "None of us will ever forget there is not freedom in Eastern Europe and I have pledged as president to never forget that."

Bush and his wife, Barbara, rode in the parade on the back of a fire truck and he smiled at a group of people holding up signs for the Democratic ticket. One sign said, "Hey George, I went from steelworker to janitor. Is this how you have created jobs?"

The coming week could provide a watershed event, as Bush and Dukakis square off in their second debate. On Thursday or Friday depending on scheduling for the Major League Baseball playoffs — the candidates meet in Los Angeles to take up where they left off Sept. 25, their first debate of the campaign.

Bush campaign chief of staff Craig Fuller said the vice president met Sunday morning with Richard Darman, a key aide to campaign Chairman James Baker, for debate preparation. Darman posed as Dukakis in mock debates with Bush before the Sept. 25 showdown.

With time running out on the campaign clock, Democratic pollster Peter Hart told NBC's "Meet the Press" that Dukakis can tighten the race against the Republican because voters "haven't learned to love George Bush."

Hart and pollster Kevin Phillips also said Dukakis can capitalize on impressions from Wednesday's vice presidential debate.

Emotional surge carries Eastern

By Troy Taylor
Staff Writer

CHARLESTON — Don't ask Eastern Illinois coach Bob Spoo about preparation, conditioning or strategy. Nope, the 50-year-old coach said the Panthers' 34-3 rout of the Salukis was the sole result of an emotional outburst by his team.

"We were on an emotional high tonight," said Spoo, whose team was looking for a Gateway Conference victory after dropping a 24-12 decision to Indiana State the week before.

Eastern Illinois (4-2 overall, 2-1 conference) stays in the thick of the conference race because of the win. The Panthers play league-leading Western Illinois (6-0, 4-0) on Saturday.

"I think it's an attitude, an

emotion," Spoo said. "I just tried to make the guys believe that things can happen if they stick together for 60 minutes."

Spoo said the biggest turnaround in confidence came from sophomore wide receiver Ralph Stewart, who set a career-mark of 201 yards receiving. Prior to this game Stewart was struggling. In the five previous outings he amassed only 195 yards total.

"We've been trying to raise his self-esteem," Spoo said.

Stewart traced his success — which included two touchdown receptions of 70- and 39-yards — to execution rather than emotion.

"I felt that this game right here was a good chance to come out," Stewart said. "I tried to keep my mind on running those route techniques. I disciplined myself."

In all, Eastern Illinois dominated the Salukis, piling up 439 yards of total offense to the Salukis' 288.

"I tried to give him and keep my mind working; come out with my head screwed on straight. It is pretty easy to run a slot."

Saluki defensive coordinator Jim Tompkins said Stewart played a good game, but the defense played him incorrectly.

"He is a good athlete and receiver, but we didn't play him correctly," Tompkins said. "We weren't ready mentally, and didn't play techniques like we are supposed to play them."

Rhoades said the Salukis tried to mix things up against Stewart, but failed to ever contain him.

"We tried not to give him the same thing on more than one occasion," Rhoades said. "We obviously did not do the job."

Saluki quarterback Fred Gibson, who completed eight of 17 attempts for just 86 yards, said the Panthers did what they set out to do.

"They came out to whip our butts and that is about what they did," Gibson said. "They had a great offensive scheme and also had great defense. We did not get the ball outside like we wanted."

Gibson said his knee, which was swollen most of last week and a source of concern, was not a factor in his play.

Rhoades said his team will now shoulder the task of picking out something good from the remaining carnage.

"We did not play a physical game. It is not ever good to play like this, but we will try to find something good that came out of it."

Men's cross country wins second; Cornell deciding league runners

By Robert Baxter
Staff Writer

The men's cross country team took a step Saturday toward deciding who would compete for the Salukis in the Missouri Valley Conference Championships this season.

In the process, the Saluki's finished second in a five-team meet, behind the performance of their second-string runners.

The meet was held in Murray, Kentucky, home of the Murray State Racers. It was a last minute addition to the Saluki's 1988 schedule.

Coach Bill Cornell was giving his younger runners, what he considers his B-team, a chance to compete. He said the team's overall performance was very encouraging.

"I was pretty happy with their performance," Cornell said. "It gives the younger kids a chance to build confidence."

Cornell said he wanted his younger runners, many of whom haven't competed so far this year, to be able to run and see just what they could do in a competitive setting.

"This race will give our younger runners a morale booster heading toward the end of the season," Cornell said. "The purpose of this meet was to help round out the team and decide who would run later in the conference championships."

SIU-C runners fared well in the competition, placing five runners in the top 20.

Paul Burkinshaw lead the way with a third-place finish with a time of 26:26 followed by Mark Stuart who was eighth in 26:51, Paul Glanville 12th in 27:25, Craig Steele 13th in 27:26 and Edwin Taylor 19th in 27:55, a full minute ahead of his previous best. Mike Danner and Bret Garrett also finished strong for the Salukis. Danner was 23rd in 23:28, and Garrett was 28th in 23:36.

Cornell said Glanville and Steele are the leading candidates to fill the last two spots,

Women's tennis rebounds from loss by beating Aces

Minus two of its veteran players, the women's tennis team took a beating this weekend against Louisville, 2-4, but returned the favor against Evansville, 5-1.

The Salukis forfeited the No. 6 singles match against both teams. Maria Coch, the No. 5 player from Bogota, Columbia, suffered head and neck injuries from a bicycling accident last week. The extent of her injuries has yet to be determined.

Beth Boardman, the No. 1 player, also did not play this weekend. The absence of Coch and Boardman, who missed for a personal reason, forced the Salukis to move up two positions from their regular spots.

The Salukis are 6-2 in dual matches.

Panthers wallop football team, 34-3

By David Gallianetti
Staff Writer

CHARLESTON — Eastern Illinois coach Bob Spoo knew his team would get back on the winning track eventually. He just had no idea it would do so well.

"I believed we could win, but I had no idea we could keep them out of the end zone," Spoo said following the Panthers' 34-3 thrashing of the Salukis Saturday.

SIU-C coach Rick Rhoades said the Panthers were obviously prepared for the Salukis' arrival.

"The bottom line is they were ready to play and we weren't," Rhoades said. "We have got to get more prepared during the week. I didn't feel we had the best of weeks."

"We were never able to break through anything. That was the real key to the ballgame. We got our tails whipped."

The Salukis are now 3-2 overall, 1-2 in the Gateway Conference.

The Salukis' lone score came in the first quarter on a 27-yard field goal by freshman John Bookout. The Panthers' defense stifled SIU-C for the remainder of the contest.

"(Panther right end John Jurkovic) played a great game and (right tackle Jeff Rolson) was not too far behind him," Rhoades said. "You don't accept it, you don't like it, but you don't commit suicide either."

Eastern Illinois was led by sophomore quarterback Eric Arnold and sophomore wide receiver Ralph Stewart. Arnold passed for a career high 292 yards, hitting 12 of 21 attempts.

The Salukis' pass-rush never pressured Arnold, allowing him to throw for two touchdowns and rush for another.

"You can't give anyone that much time to throw," Rhoades said.

Stewart, an honorable mention All-American last season, had a career-high 201 yards on eight receptions.

"I was in a slump the last couple games, but this game I just worked on technique and got open for the coverage I was in," said Stewart, who came into the contest averaging 39

Volleyball team 2nd in Southern Classic

The volleyball team's three-year hold on the Southern Classic title was broken by Texas A&M, which took advantage of the Salukis' growing fatigue in the 2 hour marathon match Saturday.

The Aggies defeated the Salukis in the championship 15-5, 15-11, 8-15, 8-15, 15-9.

SIU-C's Nina Brackins was named the all-tournament most valuable player for the second year in a row. Brackins had a season-high 20 kills, and added 11 digs and five block assists to her match totals.

Sue Sinclair, a senior setter, also was named to the all-tournament team. She had 47 assists and 14 digs against Texas A&M. Sophomore Amy Johnson added 13 kills for the Salukis.

Texas A&M's senior Cheri Steensma had 24 kills and senior Vivian Viera had 14 kills. Both were chosen for the all-tournament team.

"We work a lot on arm swing. Quick arms hit the ball quicker," Texas A&M coach Al Givens said.

The fifth game was tight early. But after the score was tied at 8, the Salukis were a step slow getting to the ball. From that point, the Aggies pulled ahead.

"We thought we could overcome our slowness," said

Saluki coach Debbie Hunter, whose team never made another run at Texas A&M.

The Salukis, 6-10 overall, had five service errors and seven reception errors in the second game. But they did overcome the two-game deficit with a change in the defensive alignment.

"We've changed our defense system so that we are deeper on the court," Hunter said. "Our fighting was fortified."

In the fourth game, the Aggies pulled out to a 6-0 lead. SIU-C then surged ahead to win as Texas A&M had five hitting errors at crucial moments.

"The kids were pressing on their own. They were playing as individuals, not as a team," Givens said.

Oakland wins to complete playoff sweep

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — The Oakland Athletics, a second-division team most of the decade, swept into their first World Series in 14 years Sunday, riding Jose Canseco's power and Dave Stewart's arm to a 4-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Canseco belted his American League playoff record-tying third home run in the first inning and Dave Henderson doubled home a run in the third before the Athletics sealed their four-game sweep with two runs in the eighth.

No American League team had swept the playoffs since 1964, when the Detroit Tigers prevailed in the final year of the best-of-five format.

Oakland, which so far in this decade had finished fourth three times and fifth once, opens the World Series next Saturday night in the home stadium of the National League champion.

Stewart earned the victory, giving up four hits over seven innings. He walked three and struck out five before Ellis Burks' leadoff single in the eighth knocked him out. Rick Honeycutt got three outs before Deanis Eckersley entered for his fourth save.

In front of an Oakland Coliseum crowd of 49,406, first-game loser Bruce Hurst allowed two runs before leaving after four innings.

The chance to turn the field hockey team's season around was postponed once again.

St. Louis spoiled the Salukis' home opener 2-0 at Stehr Field on Friday.

The loss was the third straight for the 3-9 Salukis, and the second at the hands of the Billikens this season.

"Our intensity on our two goals was the difference," St. Louis coach Kelly O'Connell said. "We kept plugging away. Theresa (Pelligreen) stuck with it and put it in the cage."

Pelligreen, a sophomore forward, scored from within the circle on an assist by forward Julie Gering at 7:25 of the first half.

Pelligreen's second goal came off a deflection and an assist by Jen Jakerst at 31:54 of the second half.

"We gave up too many things near the 25 (yard line),"

Salukis' coach Julie Illner said. "They scored on rebounds. They anticipated where we were going to clear the ball out and they were putting it in. They are quick in there."

St. Louis had 14 shots on goal, the Salukis 12.

"We're just not capitalizing as a team when we get near the goal. We had our shots," Illner said.

Cindy Oppermann, the Salukis' leading scorer, was moved from the inside to left wing.

Illner said the position change was designed to get the Salukis to move the ball downfield.
