Advisement Scheduled

Students can get advisement appointments for pre-registration for winter term starting Wednesday, according to Amos Black, executive assistant in General Studies.

Seniors can obtain appointments on Wednesday, and juniors will make appointments Thursday, Black said. Upperclassmen will make appointments under a new decentralized system which will require them to make appointments at their respective schools or colleges.

Students who are majoring in education, business or fine arts, however, will make appointments in the Olympic Room of the University Center. Upper-class appointments will be made on a walk-in basis.

Students in General Studies can make appointments Friday, Monday and Tuesday in the Olympic Room. Students in General Studies will not be separated by first letters of last names as in the past, but will be given appointments on a first come, first-serve basis, Black explained.

Today is the deadline for program changes to be made by graduate or undergraduate students.

Anyone wishing to make a change must go to his adviser and then to the Sectioning Center before dropping a class or picking up another. Fees can be paid at the Bursar's Office.

Vehicle Parking Stickers Required

All motor vehicles on campus should have been registered by 8 a.m. Monday, according to Joseph F. Zaleski, assistant dean of student general affairs.

Vehicles on campus without registration stickers will be ticketed, Zaleski said.

He also announced that two-wheeled vehicles must be left only in those parking areas designated for motorcycle parking.

Last year's regulations did not specifically rule out parking in other areas.

Students must also register motorcycles with the Security Office. This registration aids in identification of the vehicle if it is stolen. Price of registration is one dollar.

Motorcyclists are reminded that they are not permitted to operate on sidewalks or on the Harwood Avenue pedestrian crosswalk.

Police have announced that motorcycles will be subject to all of the same regulations that apply to automobiles. This will be strictly enforced especially in the areas of speeding and passing, officials said.

Conditions of 2 SIU Students 'Improved' Following Crash

The conditions of two students who were injured in a motorcycle-car collision were reported as improved Monday by Doctors Hospital.

Arthur C. Schreyer, 18, and Connie Owen, 18, both of St. Joseph, were injured about 4 p.m. Saturday about two miles south of Carbondale on U. S. 51.

State Police said Schreyer had severe head cuts and Miss Owen a compound fracture of the left leg.

They said Curtis G. Amason, 49, of Centralia, made a left turn in front of the northbound motorcycle. Amason was driving a car with a trailer tow, Schreyer and Miss Owen were thrown over the trailer into the southbound lane and barely escaped being hit by a car driven by Marvin L. Pepper, 27, of Morrirstown, police said.

A motorcycle driven by James C. Ragsdale, 17, of Carbondale ran into the rear of Pepper's car. Ragsdale suffered minor injuries.

Amason was charged with making an improper turn.

Scholarships, Student Work, Financial Aid Combined Into Single Operation for Year

Financial assistance programs for SIU students have been combined into a single operation under a reorganization announced by President Delyte W. Morris.

The new Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance incorporates the student work program, financial assistance, and scholarships. It is a University-wide operation under the supervision of Ralph W. Ruffner, vice president for student and area services, and John S. Rendleman, vice president for business affairs.

Frank C. Adams, head of the student work program, will serve as director of the unified program. Raymond P. De Jarnett and Alice P. Rector are assistant directors for the Carbondale campus, with Philip L. Eckert serving as assistant director for the Edwardsville campus.

The program is designed to operate on an experimental basis until June 30, 1966, when it will be evaluated for inclusion in the University's planned Student Special Services Division, according to the announcement.

"With this new organization, we are able to provide within a single program a variety of assistance and work experiences for any student in keeping with his individual needs and capabilities," Adams said.

Southern's student work program is one of the nation's largest and most diversified, with some 4,000 students working in more than 200 different jobs on campus and more than 3,000 employed off-campus in 200 communities throughout Southern Illinois.

In addition to providing part-time student employment, the office currently administers more than 3,500 scholarships, awards, and loans.

Adams emphasized that the new organization would permit his staff to coordinate decisions as to whether individual students would benefit most from a scholarship, loan or job.

3 Students Burned Out In House Trailer Fire

Three SIU students were burned out of their home when a fire destroyed the trailer in which they were living Saturday.

Carbondale firemen were called at 12:15 a.m. to the Pleasant Valley Trailer Court on the Snider Hill Road. They fought the blaze until 2 a.m.

Ron Leonard, John Beulli and Ron Kurch, occupied the trailer. Only Leonard, however, was home at the time of the fire. Firemen said the fire may have been started by a cooking stove.

Faculty Council Okays Change

After a year of experimentation with its system of final examinations, SIU has returned to a formal "finals week" similar to that used in the past.

The last week of each quarter again will be set aside as a testing period, with examinations given according to campus-wide schedules. During the trial period, this system was abandoned and regular class meetings continued to the end of the term. Each teacher was free to give a final examination during a regular class meeting if he desired.

Robert W. MacVicar, vice president for academic affairs, said the change is being made upon recommendation of academic officials with unanimous approval of the Faculty Council. Both faculty members and students had been asked to voice opinions on the matter.

A Faculty Council report said returns from a questionnaire given teachers and students indicated mixed reaction, but were somewhat more favorable to the examination week system.

The new plan will include different examination schedules for the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses, based on specific recommendations voiced by faculty representatives. The Carbondale campus schedule will include 50-minute examination periods, the Edwardsville campus schedule 100-minute periods.

MacVicar said evaluation and review of the matter will be continued during and at the end of the current year. In making such evaluation, he said, "It is expected that student reaction will be sought as it was during the period of experimentation just closed."

Doctoral Student In Psychology Gets $5,100 Fellowship

Cynthia Scheuer, of New York, SIU doctoral student in psychology, has been awarded a $5,100 pre-doctoral fellowship by the National Institute of Mental Health.

The fellowship was given primarily on the basis of her previous research, according to William Wagman, assistant professor in the Department of Psychology and sponsor of her doctoral studies.

Miss Scheuer's research is in the area of approach-avoidance gradients, or the effects of "psychological distances," and is a continuation of research for her master's degree. She has reported on her work in papers before various scientific groups.

During the past summer Miss Scheuer was director of a psychology research program for high school students enrolled in the summer science institute sponsored at SIU by the National Science Foundation.

A graduate of Adelphi College, Garden City, N. Y., she received her master's degree in psychology from Southern.

Needed: Progress in Ethics

I have returned from two scientific conferences in Europe convinced that we shall eventually know how everything works. Then we shall be able to make everything work the way we want it to.

John Kendrew, the British biologist who won the Nobel prize for his researches, stated categorically at one meeting that it was possible to produce life in a test tube and that it would be done. At both conferences there was a lot of talk about how man was now in charge of evolution. This means that man can make the world, including himself, whatever he wants it to be.

These meetings also convinced me that we are just as unenlightened as we ever were about what we want, that we have no idea where we are going, that we are bemused by the rush of scientific and technological "progress" and that the great issue of our time is how we can gain some control over our destiny.

At the conferences nothing was more striking than the sublime confidence of the scientists in the ultimate solution of all scientific and technical problems and the complete confusion of everybody, including the scientists, about every other kind of problem. The scientists refused to consider political issues, even those which affect them directly, such as the consequences to science of regarding it as the principal instrument of national power.

The rush of scientific and technical progress has produced resentment and fear. These have paralyzed the mental processes of large sections of the population, as could be seen by watching the riots in Harlem and Brooklyn and the Republican convention in San Francisco. Of these two phenomena, the riots were easier to understand than the convention. The Negroes had years of injustice on their backs. The Republicans seemed to be proclaiming an irrational preference for a bygone system that existed only in their imaginations and that would in any case be intolerable today.

HUTCHINS

We can make anything work except our society. We can understand everything except ourselves. We cannot look to science and technology to tell us what to do about ourselves and our society. They can't even tell us what to do about science and technology.

Obviously, we need education — real education — not training for jobs. Obviously, we need information — real information — not advertising, entertainment and propaganda.

But what we need most is discussion. There is no "scientific" answer to the question: What is the good life or the good society? There are principles of ethics and politics, but they are guides and not answers.

For example, justice is the cement that holds a society together. At one time it was possible to imagine a "just" war. Now, as the last Pope intimated in his great encyclical, "Peace on Earth," a nuclear war, with its inevitable destruction of the innocent, cannot be just.

What is just is a question science cannot answer. In the nature of the case it is a question that can never be finally answered in the sense in which a scientific question can be.

A question of this kind can, however, be clarified. The method of clarification is discussion. Justice in a particular case can be done by deliberation among men who by continuous argument have sharpened and refined their conception of justice.

The Founding Fathers understood this very well. The First Amendment, guaranteeing freedom of speech, the press, religion and assembly, is the heart of our Constitution. The great task before us is to live up to the obligation the Founding Fathers placed upon us and to establish the institutions and practices that will promote the public discussion essential to the survival of our democracy.

China Is Future's Greatest Nuclear Threat; Anti-Missile Defenses May Be Only Answer

(Editor's note: This is the first of three articles in which Edward Neilan discusses the threat of nuclear proliferation in Asia.)

By Edward Neilan
Copley News Service

SAIGON—Asia today is the scene of both the world's hottest war and the greatest possibility for nuclear proliferation.

These two factors comprise the most dangerous situation since the Cuban missile crisis of 1962.

The only nuclear weapons ever to be dropped in anger fell on Asia. They were dropped by the United States on the Japanese cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki in 1945 when it appeared that Japan would "fight to the death."

Now a dozen countries around the world—including Japan—have the means and the motivation to possess nuclear weapons.

The steadily escalating conflict in Viet Nam threatens to enlarge further. The possibility that tactical nuclear weapons will be used in Viet Nam is remote but cannot be ruled out.

Some military thinkers argue that Communist China, already a fledgling nuclear power, will keep pushing North Viet Nam toward the brink and that the use of maximum force is the only way to insure a Communist defeat.

A halt to nuclear proliferation has been described by many prominent figures as the most urgent task facing mankind today.

Dr. Edward Teller, a physicist who was instrumental in development of the atomic bomb, advocates a strong defense as the best way to avoid future nuclear threats.

"Stopping the spread of nuclear weapons is an obvious response to the danger of proliferation," Teller says. "But the weakness of such a suggestion has always been that we do not possess the proper framework and tradition on the basis of which international behavior can be effectively regulated and enforced.

"International agreement without the possibility of enforcement is likely to be as self-defeating as prohibition was in the United States."

Teller also feels that wiping out nuclear installations of enemy countries also has some drawbacks: "Violent suppression of new members in the atomic club carries the seeds of hatred and discord. An optimistic encouragement of proliferation for the purpose of deterrence is dangerous, but peace can probably be secured by appropriate defensive power in the hands of those who want to secure peace," he says.

"Specifically, though the United States should, without delay, put the greatest possible stress on anti-missile defenses. We can secure the lives of a great majority of the American people against a surprise attack from the Chinese or anyone else."

Although Russia has a far larger nuclear arsenal than Communist China, it is the Chinese—renegades in present world society—who are most feared.

China's first atomic test on the desert around Lop Nor was a blast heard around the world.

Analysis by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission indicates that the Chinese employed uranium, and not, as had been expected, plutonium in the first test device. This indicates that the Peking regime almost certainly has an operating gaseous diffusion plant for the production of weapons-grade uranium 235. The plant is believed to be at Lanchow. A large plutonium reactor is supposedly under construction at Paotow.

France's gaseous diffusion plant is estimated to have cost about $1 billion, compared to the $50 billion or so that a nuclear reactor would cost a developed country.

This would be a modest reactor capable of producing one bomb per year.

The costs of the Chinese operation were probably several times greater, according to estimates by experts.

Communist China has not only a diffusion plant, but two reactors producing weapons-grade plutonium. The reactors' efficiency is upgraded by the use of weapons-grade uranium.

Given these facilities, the Chinese may well be able to produce more than the one to two bombs per year previously estimated.

OPERATION SANTA CLAUS

U.S. 'Toys' With Plan: Assault Sans 'Battery'

By Arthur Hoppe
San Francisco Chronicle

BIG HO (shuddering): Don't open it.

Three weeks have gone by since we launched the most fiendishly inhumane weapon ever conceived by the mind of man against the civilian population of North Vietnam. And still they haven't surrendered. What fanatics those peasants must be.

In keeping with tight security regulations, only one story has appeared in the press. And that was a brief one. It said merely that (1) we had begun bombing the North Vietnamese with toys; (2) the Communist government was furious; and therefore (3) we were stepping up the attack.

Some naive Americans have, of course, questioned this revolutionary method of warfare. "Why are we dropping toys on North Vietnamese children?" they want to know. "Instead of bombs?" But those of us who realize the sinister implications feel it would perhaps be more merciful to hit them at once with an H-Bomb and put them out of their misery.

For all we have to do to understand the diabolical ingenuity of this new weapon is to visualize what is now going on in any North Vietnamese village.

Scene: Any North Vietnamese village. Little Ho Chi Wiz, a tousle-haired moppet, comes running into the family hut, a big box tied with a red ribbon in his arms. His father, Ho Mai Got, draws back in alarm.

LITTLE HO: Daddy, daddy! Look what dropped from the sky.

BIG HO: It's a bomb!

LITTLE HO: No, it's a toy for me, Daddy. See the picture on the box? It's a genuine Model 217-A Super-Whammo, Automatic, Electric-Powered Turbo-Flyer. Easy to Assemble.

LITTLE HO (tearing open the box and dumping 4738 pieces on the ground): Put it together for me, please, Daddy? Please? Please?

BIG HO (with a sigh common to daddies everywhere): Okay. Now, let's see, here are the Easy-to-Assemble Instructions: "First, take Part 9-B-316 and insert toggle bolt through flange of Part 71-923-VI, taking care not to..."

Well, all we daddies know what happens next. What happens next is that a week later the local commissar comes around demanding to know why Big Ho's shashlik production has dropped 38 per cent. He finds Big Ho, red-eyed and semi-catatonic, crawling around on his hands and knees mumbling something about "a little grey piece with a hook on one end and a thingamabob in the middle..."

Eventually, given the unholy zeal common to Communists everywhere, Big Ho may actually manage to put the thing together. Oh, what a proud moment! There it stands, gleamingly beautiful, as Little Ho dances up and down in happy anticipation.

Big Ho then reads the last step of the Easy-to-Assemble Instructions, Step 786: "To operate your Super-Whammo Turbo-Flyer, simply install two Type D-6 batteries, available at your neighborhood drug store..."

Naturally, they don't have neighborhood drug stores in North Vietnam. And even if they did, the stores wouldn't have the right batteries. They never do.

No, these peasants can never stand up to this fiendishly ultimate weapon of our modern technology. We can expect their surrender as soon as they put the things together. Which, speaking from personal experience, could happen any month.

Pitkin to Direct Meeting Of State Historical Society

William A. Pitkin, associate professor of history, will preside at the annual business meeting of the Illinois State Historical Society at Dixon Oct. 8-10.

He is president of the organization.

More than 300 persons are expected to attend the meeting which will include two tours of historical sites in the Sterling - Rock Falls - Dixon area.

The Sunday tour will include a visit to Hazelwood, the estate of Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen on the edge of Dixon. The historians will see the nationally famous gardens which are opened each summer for the Garden Walk of the Illinois Garden Clubs for the benefit of the Abraham Lincoln Memorial Garden in Springfield.

Hazelwood also has a log cabin and a barn which were built by "Governor" Alexander Charters, the original owner of the estate, in 1837 and 1838, respectively. These buildings have been restored and now house the Walgreen collections of Americana which include collections of Lincolnia, about 900 guns, dolls, copper and pewter.

The Saturday tour will include the Village of Grand Detour, about six miles northeast of Dixon, where the visitors will see the home of John Deere, which was built in 1836 by the inventor of the self-scouring steel plow. It is furnished in the style of a 19th century New England home-stead and is maintained by the John Deere Foundation.

The two tours will also include other historic sites in Grand Detour, Dixon, Sterling and Rock Falls and will pass through White Pines Forest State Park.

In addition to the tours the historians will have two luncheon meetings, a banquet and their annual business session.

Speaker at the banquet on Saturday night will be Joseph Dain Jr., president of the John Deere Foundation and vice-president of Deere & Co., who will discuss "The Story of John Deere."

Gunnar Benson, principal of Sterling Junior High School and a director of the State Historical Society, will give a slide-illustrated talk Friday evening on the subject of historical buildings, people and notable events of the area.

Mrs. Ellen Whitney of Springfield, who assembled the Black Hawk War collection of the Illinois State Historical Library, will discuss that subject following Sunday's luncheon.

study how such programs might be improved.

Clark's address will be presented on the University of Illinois campus at a general session of four organizations: Illinois Junior High School Principals' Association, Illinois Association of Secondary School Principals, Illinois High School Association, and the Illinois Secondary School Section of the North Central Association.

Clark, who believes the primary battleground for the war on poverty is in the nation's schools, suggests approaches that include special institutes and seminars to help teachers and administrators meet needs of disadvantaged children, special preservice programs to prepare teachers to work with disadvantaged, curriculum revision so materials and procedures in schools will be more appropriate for disadvantaged children, revision of the adult education program to try to improve home environment, and opportunities for academically talented and creative disadvantaged children to extend their education to higher levels.

Dean Clark will discuss summer experiences on the advisory committee of Project Aware, in which he visited community action programs and institutes for teachers of disadvantaged children to

U.N. Security Council Seeking Ways to Bolster Shaky Truce

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Members of the United Nations Security Council plunged into private talks Monday on how to keep the shaky Indian-Pakistan truce from collapsing.

Informed sources said they were considering a joint appeal by U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, council president, and Secretary-General U Thant to both countries to heed the U.N. cease-fire.

Goldberg summoned Thant to take part in the consultations as India and Pakistan accused each other of violating the cease-fire. Thant has been directed by the council to enforce its demand for a cease-fire and withdrawal of troops to positions they occupied before Aug. 5.

In New Delhi Indian Prime minister Lal Bahadur Shastri ruled out any role for a U.N. peacekeeping force, and a member of his government spoke of making nuclear weapons for defense purposes.

There was no immediate move to convene a formal session of the Security Council to consider stronger action to compel adherence to the cease-fire.

Both Pakistan and the Indian armed forces appeared to be digging into occupied positions in disregard of the council's demand for troop withdrawals.

Pakistan Foreign Minister Z. A. Bhutto conferred for an hour with Secretary of State Dean Rusk at the U.S. mission to the United Nations in New York.

"The cease-fire seems to be in a very bad way," Bhutto told reporters. "It seems to be shattered on many points. This bears out our fear that a cease-fire won't be lasting unless there is a satisfactory settlement."

Bhutto said he appealed to Rusk for U.S. support on a permanent settlement of the Kashmir dispute that caused the Indian-Pakistan undeclared war.

Bhutto reaffirmed Pakistan's demand for a plebiscite in predominantly Moslem Kashmir, saying that was a matter of fundamental importance "on which we cannot negotiate."

He said if the Security Council comes up with a workable cease-fire and withdrawal agreement, Pakistan will give sufficient time for it to be carried out.

D.C. Home Rule Bill Passes House Test Vote 213 to 183

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to give District of Columbia residents self-government reached the House floor Monday and its backers won two quick test votes.

The public galleries were crowded. A hush settled over the chamber as the reading clerk droned through the first roll call, a vote on whether to take up the question. When it was over, home rule cleared its first hurdle 213 to 183.

Thirty-one Republicans joined 182 Democrats in the majority on this test vote, while 96 Republicans and 87 Democrats voted against.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., in a speech prepared for the long debate that followed, said the home bill is as much a civil rights bill as the voting rights bill.

"Why should any legislator resist endowing 800,000 Americans in the nation's capital with the same right possessed by 190 million of their fellow citizens?" the Negro congressman asked.

"The answer to that question is as simple as it is tragic. The only reason home rule for the District of Columbia is an issue today is because a majority of the citizens of this city are Negro," Powell said.

"That single shameful truth about this legislation obscures and overrides all other considerations. Deep in our hearts, we all know that the numerical fact of life about our nation's capital—that a majority of its citizens are black—has alone shoved the home rule bill into the watershed of controversial legislation."

Cardinal Wyszynski of Poland Plans Visit to U.S., Canada

CHICAGO (AP) — Preparations are being made by Roman Catholics in the United States and Canada to time celebrations of Poland's 1,000 years of Christianity with a visit to the countries by Polish Cardinal Wyszynski next year.

The program for extensive visiting by the prelate, Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, between Aug. 24 and Oct. 11, 1966, is already well under way, a special reception headquarters said Monday.

The swing of nearly seven weeks will close in New York.

The arrangements are being made largely through the Most Rev. Aloysius J. Wycislo, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, who is in Rome currently.

Bishop Wycislo's office said that one of the first visits by the Polish primate will coincide with a celebration in Soldier Field, massive open-air stadium in Chicago where the Cardinal will officiate at a Pontifical Mass.

Red Liberalism?

Soviet Boss Maps Economic Progress

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin outlined Monday his scheme for invigorating the lethargic Soviet economy at a closed meeting of the Soviet Communist party's powerful Central Committee.

Kosygin was believed to have proposed extending profit motive and other liberal economic concepts.

Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev is to address the committee Wednesday and announce the date for the 23rd congress of the Soviet Communist party, expected in March.

The listing of Kosygin and Brezhnev as the main speakers appeared to substantiate reports from Communist party sources that there would be no major leadership changes at this meeting.

Former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev was ousted at a similar meeting last October and his duties assigned to Kosygin and Brezhnev.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said Kosygin's speech was titled, "On improving the management of industry, perfecting planning and strengthening economic incentives of industrial production." It did not print any of his remarks.

Kosygin, former chief of the Soviet textile industry, has been a leading figure in economic changes instituted since Khrushchev's downfall.

After Kosygin completed his speech, the issues he raised were debated by various party leaders, Tass, said, but this usually means the other speakers echo the words of the main speaker.

The Central Committee, with some 175 members, has met only once since removing Khrushchev and that meeting, in March, dealt with agricultural problems.

Brezhnev had said in advance that this meeting would concentrate on industry, including the Soviet economic plan for 1966-70.

Wilson Attempts to Head Off Party Rebellion at Convention

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson had a trouble-free run through the opening phase of the Labor Party's annual convention Monday despite displays of rebellion against his policies.

Using a combination of argument and cajolery, the British leader and his lieutenants sought to head off open defiance—and even possible defeat—of the leadership on key foreign, economic and racial issues.

Inside the five-day conference and behind the scenes, party managers called for the loyalty and unity of the 1,600 delegates at this crucial moment in the life of the 11-month-old administration.

With Labor clinging to power by only two votes in the 630-member House of Commons after 13 years in the wilderness, Wilson's men count on the probability that even left wingers would not dare to risk an open split by pressing their demands for more full-blooded socialism. Ray Gunter, party chairman and minister of labor, keynoted his approach with a plea to everyone in the 6.4-million-member party not to rock the boat.

Hoping to mute or muffle coming quarrels over Viet Nam, wages and nonwhite immigration policies, Gunter added the warning: "The government no more dictates to the party than the party dictates to the government."

Wilson spread word through associates of his own mood of undaunted confidence in the outlook for Labor, and confidence in the government's ability to ride the political blizzards of the winter ahead.

MANILA (AP)—Some Philippine policemen are in line for a shave and a haircut if the civil service commission heeds a public opinion survey. The poll is said to have produced 85 per cent replies expressing distrust of "be-moustached and longhaired policemen."

U.S. Raps Wanton Viet Murders

SIAGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The United States denounced Monday as wanton murder the execution of two more U.S. soldiers by the Viet Cong, but the South Vietnamese government declared such reprisals against Americans would not stop its execution of Communist agents.

Word of the executions came as U.S. and Vietnamese forces made scattered contact with the Viet Cong on the ground and American and Vietnamese planes continued to pound Communist targets. Radio Hanoi identified the executed Americans as Capt. Humbert R. Versace of Baltimore, Md.; and Sgt. Kenneth M. Roraback, whose wife lives in Fayetteville, N.C. The broadcast said they were shot Sunday morning by a Viet Cong firing squad in reprisal for last week's execution by South Vietnamese of three Viet Cong sympathizers.

prisoners of war convention and "can in no way be justified as reprisal for the Vietnamese government's recent execution of three civilian, nonuniformed Viet Cong agitators."

He said, however, the United States does not plan to bring pressure on the Vietnamese government as a result of the executions.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, declining direct comment on the shooting of the Americans, said his government would continue public executions "because I think they are needed."

"The Viet Cong have carried out more acts of wanton murder against military prisoners," an official U.S. spokesman in Saigon said. He said the executions violated provisions of the 1949 Geneva

Louisville Defeats Salukis Despite Four Trips Deep Into 'Birdland'

Saluki football Coach Don Shroyer, who was a little displeased at the showing of his forces Saturday in Louisville, will be viewing the game films carefully this week in an effort to discover where the trouble lies.

The 13-0 defeat was a frustrating one for the Salukis who had four potential touchdown marches snuffed out by an alert University of Louisville secondary that picked off four of Jim Hart's passes, all of them in Cardinal territory.

From another standpoint, Saturday night's victory was a sweet one for the Cardinals, who had lost 17-13 a week earlier to Western Michigan University, and who also picked up their first victory in three tries against the Salukis.

Southern's Hill Williams received the opening kickoff on the five-yard line and returned it 17 yards to the 22.

Three running plays netted just five yards, so the Salukis were forced to punt on fourth down.

Louisville took over the ball on its own 38 and in three plays—the last a 45-yard scoring heave from quarterback Benny Russell to end Mike Dennis—had its first score.

Dennis also kicked the extra point and Louisville had a 7-0 lead with less than four minutes gone in the opening quarter.

Southern again took the kickoff and this time moved for two first downs before Clarence Spencer intercepted a Hart pass and returned it to the Cardinal 47-yard line.

A 15-yard clipping penalty against the Cardinals on Spencer's run put the ball on their 30, but the penalty didn't slow down the Cardinals.

With Russell effectively mixing his running and passing plays, Louisville scored its second touchdown eight plays later, the last a 10-yard pass from Russell to end Jim Zamberlan.

At this point Louisville elected to go for two points, but halfback Al MacFarlane was caught short of the goal on a pitchout and Louisville led 13-0.

Louisville threatened throughout the rest of the half, but couldn't push the ball across Southern's goal line.

Southern had a potential touchdown march under way near the end of the first quarter, but another pass interception killed the Salukis' chances.

In the second half Southern continually moved the ball into Cardinal territory only to see its threat die short of the goal.

Southern got as far as the Louisville 21-yard line in the third period, but the Cardinals held them there on downs.

Later another Saluki march ended on the Cardinal 26-yard line when Zamberlan intercepted a Hart pass.

Another Saluki offensive drive midway in the final quarter was stopped on the Cardinal 20 as Hart threw his third pass interception.

In the final minutes of the game Southern again drove downfield just to see the drive end when the Louisville secondary picked off a fourth interception, this time on the Louisville 38.

Varsity Second

Freshman Runners Win Track Laurels

Freshman Oscar Moore of the Saluki Track Club holds the initial record for the new cross - country four - mile course near the Arena.

Moore, as a freshman, was ineligible to run for the school in Saturday morning's meet with Southeast Missouri, as was second - place finisher Dave Chisholm. Both ran for the Track Club.

"Moore is in great shape, and this was obviously shown by his performance Saturday," commented Coach Lew Hartzog on his standout freshman.

"It will take Dan Shaugnessy a few more weeks at least before he takes shape, but he will improve to become one of our top runners," Hartzog said.

Chisholm's time was 20 seconds short of Moore's first - place clocking of 19 minutes, 57 seconds. Chisholm and Jeff Duxbury of the Track Club, who was third, are both transfers from Oklahoma State.

Clyde Miner of Southeast was fourth and Jack Leydig of the SIU varsity was fifth.

The Southeast team, from Cape Girardeau, Mo., scored 48 points to 39 for the SIU team to a winning 33 points for the Track Club. The scoring system is based on penalty points, and the low score of the meet wins.

The next event for the varsity will be at Kansas, Saturday, which Hartzog predicts will be one of the toughest teams his squad will have to face this season.

"I expect Kansas and DePaul to be our real tough competitors," Hartzog said, SIU meets De Paul at Chicago on Oct. 9.

Hartzog says spectators are welcome to attend home events, which will again be second run on the hilly four-mile course that loops around parking lots and practice fields south of the Arena.

Bill Cornell, assistant coach and a former SIU track star, said most of the new course can be seen from the start-finish point south of the Arena.

Salukis Share Crying Towel; Five on Schedule Lost, Too

At least Southern wasn't alone in losing Saturday. Five of this year's opponents joined the Salukis in the losing column last weekend.

Only Northern Michigan, Ball State, Drake and Southwest Missouri State were victorious.

Southern's victim in the first game, State College of Iowa, dropped its second game 20-7 to North Dakota State.

The next opponent, Youngstown, lost its second game to Morehead State College (Ky.) 12-9. Youngstown is now 1-1 after beating Central Michigan 35-14 in its opener.

Lincoln, Southern's next home opponent, lost its first game to Arkansas AM&N 19-6. The Tigers had won their opener 6-0 over Peru State (Neb.).

Wichita opened its season by losing to Montana State 17-6. Southern plays the Shockers there on Oct. 23.

The Salukis' homecoming rival, Tulsa, suffered its first defeat Saturday at the hands of Arkansas 20-12. Tulsa was leading 12-10 at the half before the Razorbacks came back with a strong second half to win their 14th straight.

An ominous preview of what's in store for the Salukis was shown by the fact that Bill

Anderson, the quarterback who succeeded Jerry Rhome, completed 24 of 41 passes against Arkansas. Anderson's aeriels were good for 223 yards, 200 yards more than the Hurricanes gained rushing.

On the winning side of the scoring sheet, Northern Michigan, Ball State and Southwest Missouri State kept their records unblemished.

Northern Michigan edged Bradley 19-15 and Ball State beat Valparaiso 14-6. Both are now 2-0.

Southwest Missouri State unleashed its impressive offense again Saturday to roll over Panhandle A&M (Okla.) 35-13. Southwest scored 73 points in winning its first two games.

Drake, the Shrine game opponent, evened its record at 1-1 with a 17-0 victory over South Dakota. Drake lost its first game to Iowa State, 21-0.

Open House Scheduled

Grand Touring Car Club Sets First Fall Event for Sunday

Grand Touring Auto Club, Inc. will open its fall program with an autocross Sunday at the Murdale Shopping Center.

The autocross will be divided into seven classes, including sports car, sedan and ladies' categories. Seat belts will be required and silver trophies will be awarded to class winners.

Registration for the event will be from 11:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m.

The club's first regular meeting of the quarter will be at 8 p.m. Oct. 7 at Epps Volkswagen on Illinois 13 east of Carbondale. Persons who need rides to the meeting may call Mrs. Frances Walker, activity chairman, at 684-6631.

The meeting will feature sports car movies and a discussion of basic rallying techniques for beginners.

Denis J. Downs, club president said anyone interested in sports cars is welcome. He said that because drivers and navigators compete as teams in a number of events, not all members need sports cars.

First rally of the term will be Oct. 10. The event, "The Grand Tower Trek," has been set up with classes for both novice and experienced rallyists, and is intended to be a suitable rally for first-time competitors, Downs said.

Registration for the rally will open at noon at Epps. The rally will be followed by a picnic and trophies will be awarded to winning drivers and navigators.

Education Club to Meet

The Special Education Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Room 105 of the University School. Plans for the group's Chicago convention Oct. 14-16 will be discussed.

Pennant Flies Over 'Dead' Cities; Repeat Batting Champs Likely

MINNEAPOLIS—ST. PAUL (AP)—The American League pennant Monday fluttered over the home of the Twins—symbolically, anyway—but if the average baseball fan wanted to do a victory snake dance down the streets he would be a little frustrated.

The real uncorking of hometown pride probably will await return of the baseball heroes themselves, probably Friday.

The Twins not only nailed down the pennant on the road, but did it on the one day of the week—Sunday—when you could shoot a cannon down the main streets of both Minneapolis and St. Paul with little danger of winging anybody.

And Monday—well, everybody had to be back to work, pennant or no.

The first Series game here is Oct. 6.

Meanwhile, with Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh leading the National League by 10 points and Minnesota's Tony Oliva heading the American by six, the majors are likely to have the first repeat batting champions since 1952.

Stan Musial of St. Louis and Ferris Fain of the Philadelphia A's, in 1951 and 1952, were the last players to put back-to-back titles together at the same time, Musial in the NL and Fain in the AL.

Ted Williams of Boston captured AL titles in 1957 and 1958. However, Richie Ashburn of Philadelphia was the NL's top man in 1958 after Musial's seventh and last victory in 1957. Tommy Davis of the Los Angeles Dodgers was No. 1 in the NL in 1962 and 1963, but Boston's Pete Runnels paced the AL in 1962 and Carl Yastzuzemski, also of the Red Sox, won in 1963.

With only one week remaining in the regular 1965 campaign, Clemente is hitting .333 while Hank Aaron of Milwaukee is at .323. The Pirates' outfielder lost two points last week, collecting six hits in 20 tries. Aaron slipped three points with a 7-for-27 performance.

Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs rushed to grab third place with a six point gain to .317. He had 10 safeties in 20 times at bat last week. San Francisco's Willie Mays dropped one notch to fourth at .316, a loss of four points on a 4-for-19 showing.

Oliva increased his average four points to .321. He had eight hits in 18 attempts. Yastrzemski remained second with the same .315 mark he had a week ago.

Baltimore's Brooks Robinson is third at .304 followed by Fred Whitfield at Cleveland at .300.

$150,000 for Willie Mays?

Pennant First, Athlete Says

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie Mays said Monday he hadn't given any thought to asking for $150,000 in 1966 but he added "I'd sure like to get it."

Mays, the highest salaried baseball player with an annual pay of $105,000, said he never had any trouble talking contract with Horace Stoneham, owner of the San Francisco Giants.

"Right now I've got a pennant to think about," said Mays. "Salary talk will come later. I never had any trouble with Mr. Stoneham and I don't expect any this time."

Mays, 34, is having one of his best years. Going into Monday's game his batting average was .316 and he had hit 50 homers and driven in 108 runs to lead the league in home runs and second in RBIs.
