Council opposes tournament during Halloween

By Toby Eckert
Staff Writer

Despite the protests of SIUC Rugby Club President David Graham, the City Council Monday overwhelmingly supported City Manager Bill Dixon's recommendation that SIUC officials be encouraged to prevent the annual All Ghouls Tournament from taking place Halloween weekend.

The recommendation was contained in a memo from Dixon to council members. The memo contained several other recommendations to promote safety at the Halloween festival.

Although Dixon claimed he was not singling out the rugby tournament as being particularly detrimental to safety at the celebration, he said several sources had informed him that rugby players were involved in the throwing of beer cans at last year's street festival.

Graham answered Dixon's allegations by saying that in the last four years no problems have been experienced with the players' behavior.

"I think you may be basing your opinions of the rugby club on past behaviors," Graham said. "But within the past four years, I don't think there have been any major problems with the rugby players."

The club has been holding the tournament on Halloween weekend for the past eight years, Graham said.

"My comments are not directed at SIUC students or SIUC rugby players," Dixon said. "We realize that rugby players

Bush promises to rid U.S. of drug problem

By Patricia Edwards
and JoDe Rimer
Staff Writers

MOUNT VERNON — Vice President George Bush pledged Monday to rid the United States of "merchants of death" by eradicating the country's drug problem.

Bush, on a visit to Mount Vernon campaigning for Republican congressional candidate Randy Patchett, said that the key to solving the nation's drug problem is an educational process and commended Nancy Reagan's "Just Say No" program.

Patchett said in a later interview that he would support voluntary drug testing but warned against mandatory drug testing except in professions where drug use creates a specific hazard — air traffic controllers, police officers and firefighters, for example.

Patchett said many drug problems occur when youths are influenced by rock stars, athletes and movie stars. He said he will work toward the educational aspects of drug reform, which, he added, "is an important issue for both Republicans and Democrats."

Patchett charged that his opponent, Rep. Ken Gray, D-West Frankfort, has broken promises.

"Ken Gray promised in 1954 to bring jobs to Southern Illinois. Thirty-two years later there is still unemployment," Patchett said.

Commenting on full-page ads taken out in local newspapers by Gray, which included a 1985 photo of Gray and Bush, Patchett said, "I'm glad he spent the money on it," saying the ads helped Bush more than Gray.

Bush said his wife, Barbara, has joined an effort to combat illiteracy, and urged the nation to renew its emphasis on the traditional values of reading, writing and arithmetic.

He said the nation should "get the federal control out of the schools and parental control back in, and get the drug dealers off the campuses and out of the schools."

Referring to journalist Nicholas Daniloff, Bush said Daniloff said the Soviets "grabbed (Daniloff) just because we picked up a spy in New York, found him red-handed spying, now they have to go and retaliate."

He called Daniloff's arrest a trumped-up charge that was bound to make U.S.-Soviet relations more strained unless the Soviets release Daniloff.

Commending President Reagan's record on foreign affairs, Bush said the invasion of Grenada and bombing of Libya "were proud moments in the history of this country."

"I am glad to serve a president who doesn't go around apologizing for America."

Bush said of Libyan leader Moammar Gadhafi, "We will hit him again."

Patchett pledged to bring more defense research to SIUC despite an outcry by the student population against two professors who have already received grants for research on the Star Wars anti-missile program.

"I think that the research dollars are going to go somewhere," Patchett said. "We need the jobs and we need the research. We'd like to have some of our universities involved in it because it is going to happen and it is going to be a lot of money. It's going to be a

Assassination attempt sparks violence in Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Security forces, empowered with state-of-siege authority because of an assassination attempt against President Augusto Pinochet, arrested opposition leaders and priests Monday, cracked down on the news media and surrounded the radical slums of Santiago. "This is a war between Marxism and democracy," Pinochet declared at the presidential palace in Santiago, where he returned Monday after spending the night at a villa southeast of the capital.

"The country must decide between the chaos promoted by that flock of degenerate politicians and the government, which is seeking a logical road to democracy," Pinochet told hundreds of cheering supporters.

Interior Minister Ricardo Garcia declared the state of siege Sunday night, hours after 15 suspected leftist rebels attacked Pinochet's motorcade with machine-gun and rocket fire. Five of Pinochet's guards were killed and 10 were wounded. Pinochet suffered a slight wound to his left hand.

Pinochet vowed to get tough with Marxists and said: "All those who work with human rights and other things should be expelled from the country or locked up."

Police conducted house-to-house searches and arrested six Roman Catholic priests, including two U.S. and two French missionaries, church officials said.

The reason for the priests' arrest had not been disclosed.

The American priests, members of the Maryknoll order, were identified as Tom Henehan and Terence Cambias. The French priests were Daniel Carriet and Pierre Dubois, who both work in the shantytown of La Victoria.

The government also banned the British news agency Reuters from dispatching news on Chile under the state-of-siege authority. A military edict ordered the agency to suspend its news services until further notice.

"We don't know what the reason is for this measure," Reuters staffer Luis Alvarez said.

No other foreign media had been affected by the state of siege.

Voter registration drive falling short of goal

By Bill Ruminaki
Staff Writer

The eight-day total from the Undergraduate Student Organization's voter registration drive has David Madlener heading back to the drawing board.

Madlener, the USO voter registration coordinator, is rethinking his plan because the drive has not attracted as many students as he first expected — only 600 new voters have registered. The USO goal was to register 10,000 new voters during September.

"We probably won't make the goal, but this isn't a presidential election," Madlener said.

"If we can register 3,000 or 4,000 people it will still be one of the largest drives in the state," he said.

The low turnout has been compounded by not having tables set up in the residence hall cafeterias and a shortage of deputy registrars, said Madlener, "but we're doing along now."

Madlener, in addition to adjusting the goal, has scratched two of the four rallies scheduled for the Free Forum area. Instead of having a rally each Wednesday in September, he plans to have rallies on Sept. 7 and Sept. 24.

The first registration rally, featuring music by The Implications, will be in the Free Forum area Sept. 17 from 1 to 5 p.m.

"The students need to vote down here," he said. "The race between Patchett and Gray is one of the best dogfights in the country."

Republican Randy Patchett is running against incumbent Democrat Ken Gray for the 22nd Congressional District seat.

Paris bomb kills woman; police suspect Arab group

PARIS (UPI) — A bomb exploded Monday just before closing time in the crowded post office at the Paris city hall, killing a woman and injuring 18 other people, including a three-year-old girl, police said. There was no immediate claim of responsibility for the bombing, which occurred a week after a shadowy Arab group warned it would renew a campaign of bombing public places in the city.

Kurds take eight hostages with fake grenades

PARIS (UPI) — Ten Kurds with fake grenades took eight hostages Monday at an Iraqi Airways office, then surrendered to police in a brief protest against an Iraqi offensive in an area they call their homeland, police said. No injuries were reported.

Trade rep wants to expand trade regulations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. Trade Representative Clayton Yeutter said Monday he is prepared to walk away from the negotiating table at upcoming trade talks if other countries try to block top U.S. priorities. Yeutter said the United States will take "very strong and aggressive stances" on broadening international trading rules to include services, investments and protection for "intellectual property" rights such as trademarks, patents and copyrights. Ninety-two nations will meet in Punta Del Este, Uruguay, next week to talk about revising the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

Teachers reach agreements, return to class

By United Press International

Striking teachers reached agreements in three school districts in Illinois, Michigan and Washington state Monday while 117,000 students idled by strikes in 23 other districts nationwide and two colleges faced another week without school. Work stoppages halted regular instruction for 17,600 students in Illinois, 5,800 in Massachusetts, 17,471 in Michigan, 4,100 in Ohio, 45,496 in Pennsylvania, 1,900 in Rhode Island and 1,500 in Washington state.

Low finance rates increase used car supply

DETROIT (UPI) — About 1.5 million used cars will show up on dealer lots and in classified advertising sections as a result of the latest round of record low finance rates by the major automakers, industry analysts said Monday. The latest offers, sparked Aug. 28 by General Motors Corp. when it introduced financing as low as 2.9 percent on more than one million 1986-model cars and trucks, make it a good time for those unable to afford new cars to start looking at used ones.

Prosecutor forgets incriminating statements

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The former prosecutor in the "Twilight Zone" involuntary manslaughter trial of director John Landis and four associates testified Monday he did not remember a key witness telling him of incriminating statements made by Landis. Deputy District Attorney Gary Kesselman testified he did not recall movie production secretary Donna Schuman telling him that Landis and associate producer George Folsey Jr. had expressed fears about going to jail over the illegal hiring of two child actors who died on the movie set in July 1982.

Corn, soybeans excellent, agriculture officials say

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — Fall harvest has opened in Illinois on a "selective basis," with 4 percent of the corn acres and 3 percent of the soybean crop already harvested for grain, state agricultural officials said Monday. No corn or soybean acres had been harvested this early in the past five years, the Illinois Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said. All but 2 percent of this year's corn crop was rated excellent or good and the same was true for 89 percent of the soybean crop, the weekly crop report said.

Illinois students compete for scholarships

EVANSTON (UPI) — The list of semifinalists for 1987 National Merit Scholarship awards includes 789 students from 245 Illinois high schools, program officials announced Thursday. The semifinalists from Illinois were among some 15,000 students nationwide who are competing for about 6,000 Merit scholarships worth more than $21 million, it was announced in a news release.

Simon urges Illinois to vote Democratic

By Ellen Cook
Staff Writer

Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill., carried two messages to Southern Illinois Monday: Illinois can do better and voting for Illinois Democrats is the way to do it.

Simon, chairman for the Illinois Democratic Party's 1986 campaign, and Vince Demuzio, chairman of the Democratic Party of Illinois, were at Williamson County Airport Monday to lend their support to local candidates.

Simon said all factions of the party are coming together around the ticket headed by Sen. Alan Dixon and gubernatorial candidate Adlai Stevenson.

"Now momentum is starting to move in the right direction," Simon said. "We have to keep that momentum going, and I think that it will keep going and Illinois is going to benefit from that."

Simon said that any farmer who likes corn prices falling to near $1 per bushel should vote for the Republican Party.

"If they don't like dollar corn, if they want to see this economy change for agriculture, for jobs, generally, and for other things, I think people ought to be seriously thinking about voting Democratic, and I think a lot of them will," he said.

Although Stevenson's independent candidacy will make it difficult to vote a straight Democratic ticket this year, Demuzio said he doesn't think the extra effort needed to vote for Stevenson will hurt the party.

"Certainly we're in a little bit of a peculiar position because we're going to have to punch three numbers in order to get the straight Democratic ticket," he said.

"To suggest that there is any type of confusion or that our people cannot punch three numbers for the straight Democratic ticket in Illinois is simply nonsense. We're going to do it," he said.

"The fact that Adlai Stevenson now has been able to concentrate on the issues, he's been able to put aside some of the other things that have befallen him during this campaign, indicates to us that there is a seriousness now among Illinois voters, that they're going to be concentrating on the issues in this campaign," he said.

Referring to the close race between Stevenson and Gov. James Thompson in 1982, Demuzio said the Democratic Party now has the tools to compete with the Republicans. Every county chairman in Illinois will receive a letter from the state party this week informing them that they now have access to voter files that were previously unavailable.

"I think that might afford us that opportunity to have that margin of victory on our side by virtue of the fact that we've given our committeemen these new tools," he said.

Simon and Demuzio are confident that the Democratic Party will do well in this year's election.

"I think we're going to have a Democratic year," Simon said.

Grad student hit by motorcycle

By Carolyn Schmidt
Staff Writer

An SIU-C student was in stable condition at Carbondale Memorial Hospital Monday with leg, collar bone and head injuries after she was struck by a motorcycle driven by another student.

Lynn Otterson, a second-year graduate student in journalism, was walking through a crosswalk on Lincoln Drive east of the Communications Building shortly after 1 p.m. Monday when she was struck by a motorcycle driven by Kevin E. Kammermeyer, SIU-C Police Sgt. Jerry Brown reported.

Kammermeyer, an sophomore in general studies, was ticketed by police for failing to yield to a pedestrian.

Police Lt. Amos Covington said Kammermeyer struck Otterson while passing cars on Lincoln Drive that had stopped for pedestrians. Kammermeyer's view apparently was obstructed by the cars and he slammed on his brakes before striking Otterson, Covington said.

Otterson was taken by ambulance to Carbondale Memorial at approximately 1:30 p.m. She suffered a compound fracture to her left leg, a broken collar bone and a cut on the head, a family member said. Otterson underwent surgery on her leg Monday night, hospital personnel said.

Brown said Kammermeyer was not exceeding 25 mph when he struck Otterson.

Japan announces plans for 'Star Wars' entry

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan, the only nation ever to suffer an atomic attack, announced a long-awaited decision Tuesday to take part in the U.S. Strategic Defense Initiative, saying it was aimed at the "total abolition of nuclear weapons."

The announcement was made by Chief Cabinet Secretary Masaharu Gotoda immediately after the decision was made at a morning Cabinet meeting.

Japan's entry into SDI came more than 18 months after the United States formally invited its participation and made it the last major U.S. ally to issue a decision.

Gotoda said the Japanese government would enter into formal talks with the United States to set up a framework for a Japanese role in research on the space-based missile shield project, popularly known as "Star Wars."

Any formal agreement, however, is expected to face stiff opposition in the Diet, or parliament.

Japan's participation has already provoked resistance from pacifist and anti-nuclear elements that say it violates the country's formal ban on arms exports and nuclear weapons research, and a 1969 resolution by the Diet that space would only be used for peaceful purposes.

"The U.S. government consistently stressed that SDI will be carried out in parallel to disarmament negotiations with a view to attaining the total abolition of nuclear weapons," Gotoda said. "This basic concept conforms to Japan's position to build itself as a peaceful nation."

Senior officials have said Japan likely will not become a full partner, like Britain, and will follow the West German model, in which Bonn agreed to allow private companies to take part but decided against a direct governmental role.

The decision came after three Japanese delegations visited Washington to discuss SDI. The last mission, in April, included experts from 21 Japanese defense contractors, high-technology and electronics firms.

A potential Japanese role appears to focus on the intricate, high-speed tasks involved in identifying, targeting and aiming weapons at Soviet nuclear missiles, then determining which have been destroyed.

The Pentagon has expressed interest in a range of Japanese advances in supercomputer memory chips, fiber-optics, high-speed communications and a range of computer-related technology.

Recycling program should be saved

NEWSPRINT RECYCLING HAS BEEN around for a long time. And until July, the University and Carbondale each had a recycling program. Carbondale's program was temporarily suspended because of a lack of bids for the franchise. The University's program was discontinued because of low market prices.

The University should not have allowed its program to slide so easily; it should have worked on alternative methods to keep it in operation. There are about 100 tons of recyclable materials stored at the Physical Plant equipment storage on McLafferty Road. Pollution Control has been unable to ship the paper products it has collected since May 1985.

CLARENCE DOUGHERTY, VICE president for campus services, says the program has outlived its usefulness. How can a program that is environmentally sound and resourceful outlive its usefulness?

Neither of these programs had to meet such a terrible fate. Some cooperation between the city and the University could have made the difference.

Instead of operating individual programs, the two could combine efforts in a joint recycling program.

THE MAJOR COST IN RECYCLING is shipping, which gets more expensive if newsprint has to be hauled out of state. If a joint program were in use, the shipping costs could be shared.

Another way recycling programs could be revived is if people who set out bundled newsprint by their curbs were given credit on their trash pickup bill. In the course of a year, that could add up to a pretty hefty savings.

CARBONDALE'S RECYCLING PROGRAM has an estimated participation rate of only 30 percent. If more people would bundle their newspapers and set them out on the curb, a process that really doesn't take much time, many more tons could be collected and the volume could offset the current low market value.

Chances are the other 70 percent of Carbondale residents who haven't participated in the program aren't aware a recycling program exists. More promotion and education about the program are obviously needed.

ONE WAY TO GO ABOUT THIS WOULD be to let marketing students at SIUC figure out a usable strategy. This would give them practical experience and the recycling program more visibility and maybe even a new lease on life.

The recycling programs in the area should not be discontinued because of a temporary market problem. It would be too costly in the long run.

Opinions from elsewhere

At least it didn't go off

Chicago Tribune

Government documents just released show that a hydrogen bomb was accidentally dropped from a plane near Albuquerque, N.M. in 1957.

Of course, the bomb did not go off. If it had, you would not be reading this. Indeed, not many Americans would be reading anything. The word "Americans" would refer to inhabitants of a former nation, now little more than a number of still-habitable areas surrounding a radioactive desert.

The bomb that fell was reported to be in the 10-megaton range, meaning that its explosive force would equal more than 10 million tons of TNT and would be some 625 times more powerful than the bomb that wiped out Hiroshima.

When it slipped off the Air Force plane its high explosives detonated on impact and made a crater about 12 feet deep. But no one was injured. The bomb fell in an uninhabited area, and as experts were careful to explain, "there really wasn't much danger of a nuclear blast."

Living in a world where such accidents can cause not just tragedy, but also a cataclysmic change in geography and human history, we need all the reassurance we can get.

This incident was kept secret for 23 years. Have there been any others like it that our government does not want us to worry about?

Letters

More blacks needed on TV

The recent article on the image of blacks in the mass media was understandably limited due to space. It could not treat the subject comprehensively. But I think some of the limitations are also in the examples cited by Tripp and Shaw. There is much they failed to mention.

What of Philip Michael Thomas' role as Tubbs in "Miami Vice," which is surely an updated "I Spy" in its use of "pepper and salt" leads? What of Shari Belafonte in "Hotel" or any of the blacks on the daytime soaps?

What of the very realistic portrayals by blacks on "J. Elsom" and "Hill Street Blues"? Robert Guillaume's "Benson" is hardly a supporting character. Nor are Nell Carter's in "Gimme a Break" nor Tim Reid's in "Simon and Simon." Magnum has a black sidekick and Scarecrow and Mrs. King answer to a black boss.

Although the black presence on television could be larger it certainly is larger than the article led one to believe.

I also have to disagree with Mr. Shaw's bleak forecasts about cable television. BET may target black audiences, but other networks serve black viewers; some better than others, but that makes them no different from the commercial networks.

Mr. Shaw is correct in stating that we — blacks and whites — have "accepted status quo." This has been pretty much the case since the mid-1970s.

Americans were burned out on the issues and television followed suit by drifting away from the "relevant" programs that had been featured in earlier years.

We rushed to elect a fecked president and settled on the couch to watch "Family Ties." The quest switched from social justice to social mobility.

Television didn't create the change, it merely reflected the shift of interest among the "buppies" (black yuppies) away from politics and toward investment counseling.

To get the television you want is to get the television you deserve. — Carlos Drazen, Carbondale

Rehnquist attackers quick to judge

Justice William Rehnquist, nominated by President Reagan to succeed Warren Burger as Chief Justice, was confronted with an attack launched by liberals on the Senate Judiciary Committee when he went before it earlier this summer.

The artillery of the left included the revelation that there were restrictive covenants in the deeds to two pieces of property owned by Rehnquist. Senators Ted Kennedy, D-Mass., and Joseph Biden, D-Del., were two who harped on the existence of the covenants.

Perhaps the senators should reconsider their own qualifications, subject to the same criteria they applied to Rehnquist. In its August 11 issue, U.S. News and World Report reported that the late President John Kennedy purchased a home when he was a senator in 1957, which is still owned by members of the Kennedy family, containing a covenant stating that no part of the land "shall ever be used or occupied by or sold, conveyed, leased, rented or given to Negroes or any person or persons of the Negro race or blood."

As for Biden, the Center for Judicial Studies on August 7 exposed the fact that Biden lived in a home subject to a covenant barring blacks when he ran for the Senate in 1972.

The Rehnquist critics point to the restrictive covenants and infer racial bigotry. Those making the inference, however, are clearly applying the usual double standard. — Martin Harry, Law student

Saints not the only show in town

Please, D.E., we can't take it anymore. No more articles about the Modern Day Saints written by staff writers with school-girl crushes. Carbondale has made local heroes out of the Saints.

I guess I'm just slower than the rest of Carbondale. After all, if 90 percent of Lewis Park likes it, you know it's quality.

As far as I'm concerned, the D.E. has done nothing to cover the local band scene. Last year was the most exciting year for Carbondale music since 1980 or 1981 and it wasn't because of the Saints. — J.A. Townsend, senior, Radio-Television

Hijack survivors return to U.S.

By United Press International

Friends and relatives offering flowers and cheers Monday welcomed home a Michigan family who survived the hijacking of Pan American Flight 73, including a girl credited with saving a toddler.

Ann Marie Sundareson, 16, her head still bandaged as a result of a shrapnel wound, said upon her arrival in Detroit that she did not stop to think about what she was doing when she returned to the airliner to get a crying toddler.

The teenager from Troy, Mich., was in danger of being trampled at the foot of the plane's escape chute at the international airport in Karachi, Pakistan.

As a result of her heroic act, the high school junior was separated from other members of her family for more than four hours. They eventually found her at a Karachi, Pakistan, hospital.

Returning home with Sundareson were her father, Alastair, a physician, her mother, Omana, and her sister, Rose Marie, 13. They were not hurt in the incident.

The Sundaresons were returning home from visiting relatives in India when they became involved in the hijacking. When she got off the plane in Detroit, Ann Marie Sundareson was wearing an Indian dress.

She and other family members were greeted by signs, cheers and flowers when they deplaned at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

Also returning home Monday was Mousa Patel, 21, who lives with her uncle and aunt in Brownstown Township, Pa., who had been visiting her parents, sister and brother in India, was not hurt in the incident.

In Chicago, hostages Nasser Mahamoud and his sister, Tahira Khalid, arrived at O'Hare International Airport on a flight from West Germany and avoided a throng of reporters by taking service stairs to the ramp, where they were whisked away in police cars.

lot of jobs. It's going to be a lot of things good for the University if they want to participate."

Commenting on coal research at SIU-C, Patchett said, "The chief concern of the Illinois coal industry is to get more grants for research to find ways to burn the coal more cleanly."

He referred to federal legislation designed to put stringent restrictions on sulfur-dioxide emissions. The legislation being considered would also penalize regions that put high amounts of sulfur dioxide into the atmosphere by causing utility rates to rise.

The pending legislation is already hurting coal sales Patchett said. He promised, if elected, to work against passage of the legislation.

from all over the Midwest are in town that weekend.

"We don't know, specifically, what individuals from what universities threw the cans. But there's enough of a consensus that rugby players were responsible" for disruptive behavior at the celebration, he said.

Jim Frowell, executive director of the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce, backed Dixon's allegations, saying the Halloween Core Committee had received similar reports.

Graham asked Dixon to reconsider his stance on the tournament, saying the club had attempted to schedule the tournament on a different weekend, but had been misinformed about the date on which the Halloween festival would be held this year. Thirty teams had already been notified about the tournament, Graham said, and it would be impossible to reschedule the event because no slot are open in the club's schedule.

Graham offered to mount a publicity campaign urging players to "tone down the level of their celebration" after this year's tournament.

But Dixon refused to reconsider, saying the ultimate decision on the matter would have to be made by SIU-C officials.

After the meeting, Graham said the club planned to protest the matter further. He said the club executives would meet later in the evening to discuss the matter.

Cancellation of the tournament could cost the club as much as $2,000, Graham said. "It's a major fund raising event for the club."

About 500 to 600 people attended the reception held for Bush at the Mount Vernon Holiday Inn. At the reception, Patchett gave Bush an SIU jacket with the vice president's name embroidered on the front.

F-Senate slates speakers

The Faculty Senate invited Chancellor Lawrence K. Pettit to speak at its first meeting of the fall semester.

Pettit will attend the meeting to offer his comments and acquaint himself with the Senate. Also speaking will be President Albert Somit; John Guyon, vice president for academic affairs and research; and Ray Dorr, football coach.

The meeting will be at 1 p.m. Tuesday in the Mississippi Room of the Student Center.

'Diamond' David Lee Roth strutted his stuff on stage Sunday night at the Arena.

What Roth lacks in music he makes up in sheer gall

By Mary Wisniewski
Entertainment Editor

"Chutzpah," a Yiddish word that means nerve and brazen arrogance, has a lot to do with rock and roll.

David Lee Roth, who played at the Arena Sunday night, has a lot to do with chutzpah. Strutting, swearing and applauding his all-star band, Roth showed that the force of ego is as important to power rock as the force of decibels.

Since splitting with Van Halen in 1984, Roth scored hits with "California Girls" and "Just a Gigolo" off his E.P. "Crazy From the Heat."

ROTH HAS since formed a new band with former Frank Zappa guitarist Steve Vai, former Talas bassist Billy Sheehan and drummer Greg Bissonette. Roth's latest album, "Eat 'Em and Smile," has hit number eight on the charts and is featured in this concert tour.

There is no question that, with talents like Vai, Sheehan, and Bissonette, Roth picked the finest of the metal crop. Solos were so fast and complicated, all three musicians seemed like magical rock mutants possessing 20 sets of fingers and 10 sets of feet.

IT WAS MORE difficult to judge Roth's own musical performance, since the vocals were so muddy it was sometimes hard to distinguish what was his voice and what was speaker static.

Baptists say lyrics immoral

But Roth's musical abilities were much less important to the shape and coherence of this concert than was the force of his arrogance. A headliner for a band that seemed more like a parade of solos than an ensemble, Roth's cocksure attitude was needed to dominate the group and give it a stylistic, if not musical, center.

Indeed, Roth's amazing sense of self-importance became a show in itself. Dressed in garish and not very flattering spandex, Roth threatened to "take all my clothes off" and made sexual suggestions to audience members nearest the stage.

ROTH DID not, however, let his own show steal attention from his band. Vai, Sheehan, and Bissonette all had equal turns in the spotlight, and Roth would frequently leave the stage to suit the focus to the other musicians.

One problem with the show was that these amazingly competent musicians never seemed to be performing together. Though there were many good solos, the band never worked to create anything special in ensemble. Between solos, the band sounded bland and fuzzy, and accompanied by Roth's indecipherable lyrics, it made for some truly empty places in Sunday's concert.

SO WHILE arrogance is perhaps a key to hard rock or rock and roll in general, too many egos not working together produces poor-quality results. There were so many great musicians in Roth's lineup Sunday night, it is a shame that they were not more of a group and less a gathering of stars.

Opening for Roth Sunday was a wretched metal combo called Cinderella. Their sound had no virtue beyond volume, and their on-stage gyrations and guitar flips looked awkward and forced.

Cinderella seemed to be trying very hard to be Aerosmith but were so short on polish they would barely make a decent bar band. Whatever fairy godmother landed them, the Roth gig should spare the world the pain.

Baptists disapprove of rock lyrics

By Mary Wisniewski
Entertainment Editor

Two members of the Murdale Baptist Church were at the David Lee Roth concert Sunday night to warn concert goers against "unwholesome" music.

"What you listen to controls you," said church member Roger Lipe. "If you listen to unwholesome lyrics about violence and sexual immorality, it affects how you behave."

Lipe and church member Phil Nelson said they have attended other Arena shows, including KISS and Ratt concerts. "We didn't come out to hassle anybody," said Nelson. "We just think there are people here we can teach."

Nelson said that militant anti-rock preachers like Steve Peters, who presented a seminar called "The Truth About Rock" at the Grand Avenue Baptist Church in Cartersville last March, may be "throwing out the baby with the bathwater."

Lipe said that the lyrics of Roth's opening band, Cinderella, were too difficult to understand to be objectionable. This was in contrast to the KISS concert, he said, where the lyrics were easy to understand and "blatantly immoral."

"Some parents don't understand what they're letting their children in for when they let them attend these concerts," Nelson said. He added that parents should "take responsibility" for the kind of music their children are listening to.

Lipe and Nelson said that before they got tickets for the show, they talked to ticket-holders waiting in line outside the Arena.

"We just want to express that God loves them," said Lipe. "We want them to know that God wants something better for them."

"We're not here to battle rock," said Nelson. "We don't object to the style of music. We just object to some of the things they are saying, whether it's forwards or backwards."

SPEAKING OF HEALTH...
What is Chiropractic Care?

Chiropractic care has come of age; it is a form of wellness health care that emphasizes correct spinal alignment and good posture. There are many different musculo-skeletal problems each one with a different treatment plan. The typical steps of patient procedure are:

FIND THE PROBLEM: The qualified chiropractor is very thorough. The case history, physical exam, x-ray pictures, and skilled hands are used to locate and identify the problem. After a careful analysis of all the information a diagnosis is established.

SET A PLAN OF ACTION: A treatment program must be tailored to the person's age, sex, problem, and lifestyle.

IMPLEMENT A TREATMENT PROGRAM: The treatment plan consists of evenly spaced visits designed to allow the body time to heal. Therapy done in the office includes the chiropractic manipulation (pushing the vertebrae into correct alignment by hand) and physical therapy. Therapy done at home includes exercise, nutrition, and other therapy known to aid in healing.

MONITOR THE HEALING PROCESS: There are many indicators of improvement; removal of pain is only one. In fact, pain is often the last indication of a problem that has been developing for years. Reexamination of the patient at certain intervals is a necessity for determining progress.

If the spine is aligned correctly the muscles can relax and chemical/physical nerve interference is all but eliminated. Pain most often disappears as well as some problems with the body organs that might mimic disease. Because the body no longer has to put energy into pain management, good health and a feeling of well being results. This is wellness at its best and enables a person to be effective and efficient naturally.

BETTER HEALTH THROUGH CHIROPRACTIC, NATURALLY!

Bandy will speak on affirmative action

Nancy Bandy, assistant director of athletics, will speak at noon Wednesday about affirmative action and the search for SIU-C's intercollegiate athletic director.

She will speak at the semester's first meeting of the Women's Caucus, in the Thebes Room of the Student Center.

The search caused controversy last year when Charlotte West, former women's athletics director, was not among the final five candidates for the position. West is now associate athletic director of intercollegiate sports.

West's supporters claimed that the search process was in violation of affirmative action guidelines since the University's Affirmative Action office was not involved until after the five candidates were selected.

Bandy will play portions of a tape recording of her testimony to a state legislative committee hearing on affirmative action at SIU-C and will discuss the positive and negative effects of the athletics director search. She will also suggest how violations of affirmative action rules can be avoided.

Fisher leaving WSIU airwaves for Florida

WSIU Station Manager Jane E. Fisher has accepted a job as station manager of the University of Florida — Gainesville's public radio station, WUFT-FM.

Fisher came to WSIU as an associate director of the SIU-C Broadcasting Service in 1978.

She became manager of WSIU in 1981.

In recent years, WSIU managed to give more attention to the professional sound of news and other programs, Fisher said. The student and professional staffs of WSIU are a close knit group, she said, "I'm going to miss them very much." Fisher is a December graduate of the SIUC School of Law. She is a member of the bar in Illinois, Missouri and Pennsylvania. Lee D. O'Brien, director of the SIUC Broadcasting Service, said no decision has been made about replacing Fisher.

Journalist to speak on Third World, American relations

Journalist John Maxwell Hamilton, director of "Main Street America in the Third World," a project of the Sigma Delta Chi Foundation, will speak on campus Tuesday through Thursday.

Hamilton will present a Society of Professional Journalists — Sigma Delta Chi sponsored lecture on the relationships between American communities and Third World countries at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday in the University Museum Auditorium in Fayer Hall.

He will also assist School of Journalism students with the "Southern Illinois and the Third World" project.

Hamilton consults with newspapers on working Third World connections into coverage and with journalism schools on working coverage into journalism training.

He began his career on The Milwaukee Journal and has reported from Washington D.C., Latin America, the Middle East and Africa. He has contributed to a variety of newspapers and magazines as well as ABC radio.

Hamilton has a doctorate in American Civilization from George Washington University and is a visiting professor in the Medill School of Journalism, Northwestern University.

Self-help aids grieving parents

The I Lost A Child will have its monthly meeting from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday in conference Room 1 at Memorial Hospital of Carbondale. The self-help support group is for parents who have experienced the loss of a child from illness, accident, suicide or murder.

Inquiries should be directed to Deborah Robinson, Lay Bereavement Counselor at 253-0721; Jean Loemaker, Social Service Director, Memorial Hospital of Carbondale at 543-0721.

EATING WELL ON CAMPUS

Sinou sets course record in CC victory

By M.J. Starshek
Staff Writer

SIU's women's cross country team, led by senior Vivian Sinou, won a season-opening triangular meet Saturday against Murray State and host Eastern Illinois University.

Sinou set a course record with a time of 17:42 which placed her third on the Salukis' all-time top 20 list.

Prior to the meet, Saluki coach Don DeNoon said that Sinou had become one of the top two long-distance runners in the conference in the track season and that there was "no doubt about it" that Sinou was the Salukis' No. 1 runner.

SIU placed first in the meet with 29 points, avenging last year's loss to the Murray State Racers. Murray State was second with 40 and EIU trailed with 63 points. The victory was the first over MSU since DeNoon came to SIU in 1984.

SIU's Lisa Judiseak of Universal City, Texas, finished in third place with a time of 19:09.

DeNoon stated that Judiseak, the team leader, is more mature and aggressive than last year and is "ready to have an outstanding cross country season."

Finishing fifth for the Salukis was Amber Wiencek with a time of 19:22. The Michigan City, Ind., native was described as "an outstanding long-distance runner" by DeNoon.

Other SIU runners that finished high in the standings include Cathy Brown, who crossed the line in ninth place with a time of 19:46, and Susan Johnson, 11th at 19:55.

Tickets without the picnic package deal for the 7:30 p.m. contest are $5 and are available from the athletic ticket office at the Arena.

In other traveling Saluki news, Bruce McCutcheon, assistant athletics director in charge of marketing and promotions, said three different package deals were being offered for the Saluki game in Lawrence, Kan., against the Kansas Jayhawks of the Big Eight Conference.

Package A includes round-trip rail transportation from Carbondale with breakfast on the way there and dinner on the return trip. Also included are deluxe accommodations (double occupancy) for both nights (Friday night at the Holiday Inn in Lawrence, Saturday at the Westin Crown Center in Kansas City) and a cocktail party with open bar on Friday night. Saturday's schedule will include brunch, transportation to and from the game, a game ticket in the Saluki block of the stadium, a Saturday night victory dinner, a souvenir name tag and luggage bag and a Saluki souvenir.

Cost of package A is $264.95, or $236.95 with transportation provided from St. Louis.

Package B features all of the package except transportation to and from Lawrence and is priced at $154.95. Package C offers all of Saturday's activities, without transportation to and from Lawrence, for a cost of $116.95.

McCutcheon said that although the deadline for the package deal was Sept. 1, people could still get in on the offer by calling the Alumni Office at 453-2408.

Women netters shock IU

By Wally Foreman
Staff Writer

The Saluki women netters shocked Indiana University players, according to coach Judy Auld, in the Midwest Fall Invitational during the weekend at Bloomington, Ind., in a tournament shortened by rain Sunday.

Auld said she was pleased with the first weekend of competition.

Three singles players and one doubles team opened the tournament playing against Indiana University players. Auld pointed out that the players on the Hoosier team were very talented and that the No. 5 player could be the No. 1 player at most colleges.

The No. 1 player for SIU-C,

Ellen Moellering, played her first match against the No. 1 Hoosier, Reka Monoki, losing 4-0 and 3-6. Moellering ended the tournament with a 1-3 record against some strong competition, Auld said.

Dana Cherebetiu, the No. 2 Saluki, played the No. 5 Hoosier, Jane Paulson, losing 4-6, 7-6 and 4-6 in a match that Auld said could have gone either way. Cherebetiu finished the weekend with a record of 2-2.

Beth Boardman, No. 3 for SIU-C, opened the tournament with a loss against the No. 4 Hoosier, Janet McCutcheon. Boardman finished very strong with a 3-1 record that ended with a big win over the No. 5 player for Miami of Ohio, Jane Filus.

The No. 4 Saluki, Julie Burgess, had a 1-2 record. Sherri Knight, No. 5 for the Salukis, finished with a 0-2 record. Auld said that both were lacking in mental toughness, out hit the ball well. Sue Steuby, the No. 6 Saluki, had a 2-1 record and could have won another match that was canceled because of rain. Tricia Yeager, No. 7, and Patsy Hoskins, No. 8, both finished with 0-3 records.

In doubles, No. 1 Moellering and Boardman and the No. 2 team of Burgess and Cherebetiu both posted 1-1 records. The No. 3 team of Knight and Steuby and the No. 4, Jones and Yeager, both posted 0-2 records.

Women golfers take fifth at ISU

By Anita J. Stoner
Staff Writer

The Saluki women's golf team overcame first-tournament jitters and moved up to a fifth-place finish in the Illinois State Invitational.

In the 54-hole event played last weekend, the Salukis opened with rounds of 330 and 331 Friday and held the sixth spot in the nine-team field. Saturday, the Salukis fired a 316 to charge past Western Kentucky for a final total of 977, falling 15 strokes shy of fourth-place Missouri.

But the Salukis' 977 trounced the host, Gateway-rival ISU Redbirds, who totaled a dismal 1,038 strokes.

"We killed them on their own course and that was sweet," Saluki coach Diane Daugherty said.

Indiana captured the event for the third straight year, with a total of 919 strokes. Michigan State placed second with a 930 total, followed by Northern Illinois at 954 strokes.

"I'm not disappointed at all — we'll get better and we can play with the better schools," Daugherty said. "Three of our players had never been in a collegiate tournament before, and they were nervous. By the third round, I think they were a little more calm — three were in the 70's."

Saluki junior Tina Kozlowski tied for seventh place in individual competition, with scores of 78, 81 and 78 on the par-72 ISU golf course.

Placing second among

Salukis, junior Vicki Higginson tallied rounds of 84, 84 and a career low 77.

Senior Pat Putman paced the third spot with rounds of 85, 77 and 86.

Freshman Julie Shumaker made a comeback debut, topping opening rounds of 87 and 89 with a final day 79. Another Saluki freshman, Lisa Merritt, shot consistent rounds of 83, but skied in the middle round with a 91.

A senior with one semester of eligibility, Dana Todaro, also made her college debut with rounds of 91, 90 and 87.

"Everybody came back and showed real good, promising signs at one time or another," Daugherty said.

Oklahoma, Tulsa victims of spikers in weekend action

By Wally Foreman
Staff Writer

The Saluki volleyball team met its weekend goal for the Oklahoma Invitational, coach Debbie Hunter said. SIU-C won two of three matches for a 4-1 record over the weekend and an overall 3-1 record for the season.

In the Friday match, the spikers defeated Tulsa by the score of 15-11, 15-4 and 15-5. Pat Nicholson lead the team in kills with 14 against the Hurricane. Joan Wallenberg had six kills and Jan Tremblay had five.

The second team the spikers faced was Texas Tech on Saturday afternoon. SIU-C lost the match to the Red Raiders by the score of 13-15, 14-16 and 13-15. Hunter said she was not happy with the way the spikers performed against Texas Tech.

"Their blocking and defense was stronger," Hunter said. "Texas Tech had a hustling and assertive team." Hunter also stated that the Salukis made some youthful mistakes.

Teri Noble led the spikers in kills against the Red Raiders with nine. Dorothy Buchanan had seven kills and Tremblay had six kills for SIU-C.

In the third and final match Saturday evening, the spikers were able to finally put away Oklahoma by the score of 15-11, 15-5, 15-11, 14-16 and 15-12.

The match against the Sooners was very exciting, Hunter said. "We let them come back in the third and fourth match." According to Hunter, the spikers were able to pass a little better than the Sooners. SIU-C was also better in the service ace to error ratio.

So far this season, the spikers have been fortunate in that two or three players have pulled the team through, Hunter said.

Hunter said she is pleased that the team has been able to win, but she wants them to work harder. "We need to focus on being consistent match in and match out," Hunter said.

The players still need to get acquainted with each other on the court so they will be able to play smoothly, Hunter said. "We need to work on a lot of things."

All three setters for the spikers played during the weekend and each still needs to improve to make the team play better, Hunter said. Sue Sinclair, who just returned to the team from a knee injury, has an understanding of the offense, but needs to improve her mobility.

Backup offense a result of early grid casualties

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

Saluki football coach Ray Brown is dancing his way around injuries that are taking a toll on his team as quarterback Kevin Brown became the latest player to waive into a red shirt.

Brown went down in the fourth quarter of Saturday's 24-17 home opener against Austin Peay State and will be out for at least eight weeks, Dorr said. Brown has no redshirt eligibility left and is pretty much gone for the season, considering nine games remain on the schedule.

Brown was at home recuperating Sunday afternoon, but was moved to the student infirmary Sunday because of pain in the collarbone area.

The loss of Brown, along with All-America candidate Byron Mitchell and the temporary loss of Johnny Field, has hit the Saluki offense hard.

Dorr is concerned that the loss of such offensive firepower will put more pressure on both the offensive and defensive units to play sound fundamental football with no turnovers.

Before the season started, Dorr said the Saluki defense would be one of the best ever and that it would be the definite strong point of the team. Now the third-year coach thinks the defense will have an even more important role.

"If you go back to the championship season of '83," Dorr said, "it's obvious that the defense was exceptional, and we'd like to think that we have a comparable defense this year."

Dorr said he was also concerned that the injuries would take away the team's aggressiveness in practice sessions.

The injury to Brown has moved junior Pat King into the QB starting role and Joe Graves into the No. 3 position. Freshman Reggie Edwards has moved up No. 3 on the depth charts.

King, a 6-3, 190-pounder from Pittsburgh, Pa., was recruited the same year as Brown and has played off and on throughout his career. In '84, he hit on 41 of 82 pass attempts for 478 yards and two touchdowns. In '85, he completed 22 of 66 attempts with four touchdowns.

The cause for concern comes from King's tendency to throw interceptions, as 11 of his passes in those first two years were picked off.

Dorr said he has confidence that King can run the offense if he can stay away from the interception.

Pitts, Kropke GCAC players of the week

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

DuWayne Pitts, a junior running back for Eastern Illinois, has been named the Gateway's offensive player of the week for his 158-yard rushing performance in EIU's 41-31 victory over Northeast Missouri State.

Pitts ranks as the conference's top rusher: through two games, Pitts has run for 183 total yards for a 5.7 yards per carry average and a 91.5 yards per game average.

The conference's defensive player of the week is John Kropke of Illinois State, who recorded 14 tackles (two assists and 12 solo) in the Redbirds' 17-16 loss to fellow-Gateway member Southwest Missouri State. Kropke was also credited with two sacks for minus-8 yards and a tackle for a safety.

The Redbirds had led 16-3 going into the fourth quarter, but SMSU stormed back and scored the winning touchdown with 3:35 left on the clock.

Statistically, SIU-C's several players listed among the Gateway's leaders.

Mel Kirksey, SIU's senior fullback, is third in rushing through two games with an 83 yards per game average. Kirksey is also in fifth place on the scoring list with two touchdowns. He also ranked sixth in receiving yards per game. The 5-4, 177-pounder has seven receptions for 78 total yards for a 3.5 catch per game average.

Ed Fashew is ranked fifth in punt return average (six returns for 48 yards; 7.8 average) and fourth in kickoff return average.

Punter Drew Morrison, whose seven punts against Austin Peay on Saturday included kicks of 66 and 83 yards, is ranked fourth in punting average with a 42.8 yards per kick average.

As a team, the Salukis are ranked third in rushing offense (164 yards per game), fifth in passing offense (108.5 yards per game) and fourth in total offense (272.5 yards per game). Defensively, the Salukis rank third in passing defense (122.5 yards per game), fifth in rushing defense (145 yards per game) and fourth in overall defense.

Football pregame picnic plan set

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

When the football Salukis travel to Murray, Ky., this Saturday, the alumni association plans to follow and take some Saluk pride along.

Roger Neuhaus, assistant director of the alumni association, said a pregame "picnic" would be held for booster club members, alumni and friends at the Holiday Inn banquet room in Murray, Ky., from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. A package deal, including the picnic and a game ticket, is being offered for $15, or $10 for those who have already purchased tickets.

Neuhaus said the deadline for the package deal will be noon Thursday; those interested in purchasing the package deal should call the Alumni Association office before the deadline at 453-2408.
