AGREEMENT: Beggs will not return as dean of the College of Education.

SIUC Chancellor Donald Beggs has formally announced he will not be a candidate in the chancellor search in accordance with an agreement he made with SIU President Ted Sanders.

"Media attention and comments have prompted me to reaffirm that I would not be a candidate or that I would actively seek the position," Beggs said. "It was my perspective that it would be most appropriate to eliminate any potential confusion that might exist in people's minds both within the SIUC executive, faculty and candidates interested in the position both on and off campus."

Last week, both Faculty Senate President Steve Jensen and Undergraduate Student Government President Dave Vingren said Beggs should be a candidate in the search, which began in July.

Beggs became chancellor after Chancellor John Guyon retired last summer. Beggs and Sanders then agreed that Beggs would serve for two years and not be a candidate once a national search was conducted.

Beggs said that his retirement is "an issue of integrity." Vingren was unavailable for comment.

Witness implicates Neal in murders
FINGER POINTING: Defense hammers witness it claims committed crime.

A prosecution witness in an area double-murder retrial on Friday recounted a whispered conversation in which the defendant allegedly admitted to shooting two teens in August, 1996.

The witness, Reggie Cavit, 16, of Carbondale, who the defense says murdered two Carbondale teens, was declared a hostile witness because of his uncooperative nature and conflicting testimony.

Labron Neal, 18, of Carbondale, is charged with six counts of first-degree murder in the Aug. 11, 1996, shooting deaths of Terrance Mitchell, 16, of Carbondale, and James Austin Campbell, 15, of Murphysboro, outside a party at Carbondale Mobile Homes.

Had the first trial ended in a hung jury July 24, Campbell’s father, James Allen Campbell, is an SIUC associate professor in curriculum and instruction.

"Do you know who shot Terrance Mitchell and [James] Austin Campbell?" Jackson County States Attorney Mike Wepsiec asked Cavit. "I think I do," Cavit answered. "What makes you think that?" "He told me," Cavit said. "Who is that?" Wepsiec asked. "Labron (Neal)," Cavit answered. "Labron (Neal)," Cavit answered. "Labron was declared a hostile witness by Jackson County Circuit Judge William G. Schwanz after Wepsiec argued Cavit’s attitude and demeanor were adversarial," Wepsiec said, "and repeated testimony from that of the previous trial. Cavit also was declared a hostile witness in the first trial.

Members of the jury watched closely as Defense Attorney Paul Christianson hammered at Cavit during

Student Center to offer 24-hour study facilities

Students now have a 24-hour study site in the Student Center with the designation of the Big Muddy Room as "the ideal study environment" by administrators and student leaders.

The room was earmarked for all-night studying last week after University constituencies hashed out the plan in response to students' demands that they be given a study area with extended hours.

The Big Muddy Room is located in the basement of the Student Center near the Arts and Crafts Center.

Students interested in after-hours study sessions can enter through the south end doors next to Neckers Building.

Mother Teresa, 87, dies

Mother Teresa, the Roman Catholic nun who made decades of devotion to the world's poor, died Friday in her religious order's headquarters in eastern India. She was 87.

She won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1979 for bringing hope and dignity to millions of destitute people. Her simple message was, in her words, "The poor must know that we love them." Mother Teresa said her divine call to work among the poor had come in 1946. She opened her first slum school in Calcutta, India, in 1949. She took the name Teresa, after France's Saint Therese of the Child Jesus. In mainly Hindu India she was simply "Mother."

EQUALLY OPPORTUNITY:

Sorority originally formed to help new Hispanic students, but all are welcome to join.

NICOLE CASHAW

DAILY EGYPTIAN REPORTER

With a picnic full of food, fun and games for all students, Sigma Lambda Gamma, the newest sorority at SIUC, welcomed everyone to join in a welcome picnic Saturday at Campus Lake.

Although the majority of the members are Hispanic, Julie Flores, a founder of the sorority and a first-year graduate student in workforce education from Norridge, said anyone is welcome to join.

"We want to help new Hispanic students on campus by letting them know we're here to help," Flores said.

Sigma Lambda Gamma, which received its chapter at SIUC in June, and its brother organization, Sigma Lambda Beta, an known nationwide and receive a lot of attention on campus, said Antonio Gutierrez, a first-year unclassified graduate student:

"We Sigma Lambda Beta have 39 chapters and 17 colonies nationwide," Gutierrez said.

Flores said the organization has expanded because it is not limited to Hispanic students.

"A lot of people think the sorority is only for Hispanics," Flores said. "Our sorority isn't only for Latinos. We want to share our culture with everyone else. Our main concern is our academics. And we also look for women of a good moral standing."

Since the organization began, the sorority has accomplished all the goals it set out for.

Our Word

Jim Hart's flirt with politics hampers Saluki athletics' future

WOULD-BE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS Jim Hart gave most people the impression that he was ready to abandon his post as SIUC Athletic Director as he toyed with running for political office.

Now that Hart has decided against running for U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello's 12th Congressional District seat, the SIUC community has to question the unexpected flip-flop. Is Hart really as committed to his SIUC position as he now wants us to believe, or was he only wanting everything he wanted in his position as the head of the Athletic Department.

A word of warning for Mr. Hart — you have not raised the $2.3 million you said our troubled Athletic Department needed, and it is known that fundraising was one of the reasons you were hired in the first place. One of your wishes has been granted — mostly reluctant SIUC students will help fund your departure with the bloodied $85-percentage increase in the athletic fee you proposed. But didn't you want to oversee the improvements in the athletic program you said money would provide?

Hart has given SIUC men's basketball coach Rich Herrin a basic "do or die" ultimatum to turn around the basketball program within the next year. He also has a new football regime to guide as the new SIUC football coach he hired, Ian Quairals, begins the new football season. Both Saluki teams are less successful now than when Hart became athletic director in 1988.

NOW, LET'S ALL CONSIDER THE CASE HART inadvertently has placed before us when he decided not to run for Congress. He said "uncomfortable business" at SIUC contributed to that decision. He specifically mentioned bringing SIUC's Athletic Department back to prominence as a significant factor. It now appears that Hart does not believe he has accomplished everything after all.

Hart, a former quarterback with the St. Louis Cardinals, was hired to bring "name recognition" to SIUC as he sought funds to help the Athletic Department. Almost a decade later, "name recognition" was what local Republicans were after as they courted Hart as a possible candidate for Congress. At a recent Republican dinner on campus, attended by the Republican Party's Illinois candidates for the 1998 elections, speculation mounted that Hart would indeed run.

HART'S CHANGE OF HEART SURPRISED political pundits, but his contradictions in his commitment to SIUC still leave a bitter pill for us to swallow so early in the school year.

"Our Word" represents the consensus of the Daily Egyptian Editorial Board.

Non-native pines compose the canopy layer, or top level, of the Smith Springs, said the goal of John Wood, forester at the Forest Service. A second method Forest Service are in agreement that the hardwood ecosystem should be accomplished. A court ruling last year placed the Forest Service in the 16 days after Natural Heritage Division and the Forest Service’s plan. A court ruling last year that the shortleaf pines were logged in the Forest Service in the 1860s, they were intended to serve two purposes: to control erosion and to provide a continuing supply of timber for U.S. citizens. There are two methods to achieve hardwood regeneration. The first allows the shortleaf pines to live the natural course of their lives, which is estimated between 30 and 58 years. A second method supported by Forest Service biologists is to remove the non-native pines.

The restoration of a hardwood ecosystem will allow for a greater span of bio-diversity and general improvement to the Bell Smith Springs area, Hupe said.

"There will be an increased number of species, plants and animals," Hupe said. "Our proposition (for pine removal) has been supported by the state of Illinois Natural Heritage Division and the Department of Conservation.

The hardwoods needed sunlight to grow to their full potential. We are delaying the biological benefits on having this natural ecosystem in Bell Smith Springs."

The estimated $454,000 cost of logging Bell Smith Springs could be better spent to enhance tourism, Hupe said. "We have seen tourism grow exponentially in the last 10 years," he said. "With tourism, the state promotes a small but sustainable revenue year after year after year.

"In the end, the land being degraded by logging, the value of the land could be enhanced through interpretive trails, trail maintenance and creek telling at this point," Hupe said. "The presence of logging equipment would disturb the soil. Advanced erosion could take place, but what's important here is achieving the objective of creating and preserving the biodiversity of the area."

In the U.S. District Court's August ruling against logging at Bell Smith Springs, Chief Judge J. John Smirthe found the Forest Service's arguments for logging "disingenuous" and "not worthy of the court.

For now, Smirthe will wait and see what happens in Bell Smith Springs, Wood said. "It could be a year before we begin to log in Bell Smith Springs again. It's difficult to tell at this point."

RELATIONSHIPS:
College creates a good atmosphere for meeting and making friends.

LAKEISHA GRAY
DAILY EGYPTIAN REPORTER

Marshal Chandler was mindful of the chance of being exposed to scores of women and a shot at love when he came to SIUC, although he set out on a quest for higher education and networking skills.

Chandler, a sophomore in radio-television from Chicago, said he was forewarned by his parents to focus on his classes, but other aspects of college life allowed him time to look for a relationship.

"Personally, my parents instilled in me the value that education should be my main goal, and women would always be there," he said. "But in college, you have a lot of free time to find a mate opposed to when you go to the work force.

"And now that I'm in college with my girlfriend, she's making the experience a lot easier because of the trust and love we have for each other."

Mary Wolfe, an outreach group counselor at the Women's Services, said that while many students do get involved in relationships, conflicts may arise.

"I think college is probably the easiest place to meet people," she said. "It's the prime time in terms of how many people you come in contact with in classes and in organizational clubs. But, in terms of the time some students want to devote to a relationship, it varies and depends on what that students' priorities are."

Another conflicting issue related to a college relationship is commitments goals for the future, and awareness of this issue may scare some students away from relationships.

Samuel Goddy Sykes, a senior in administration of justice from Chicago, said college is the wrong time to pursue a committed love affair.

"If you're an ambitious person, then you are here to get your education," he said. "So, you really don't have time to be in a relatiionship because you're only here for a short time, and more than likely you will go your separate ways afterwards."

Sykes said he still chooses to lapse to bring more than one black hole weighing more than the three-Sun limit. The magazine said V404 Cygni and Nova Scorpii 1594 are objects which are considered as black holes along with Cygnus X-1.

"But some astronomers point out that proving that an object is too heavy to be a neutron star does not necessarily nail it as a black hole. It could still be something more exotic that nobody has yet thought of," New Scientist added.

Ramesh Narayan of the Harvard-Smithsonian Center for Astrophysics in Cambridge, Mass., and Reinhard Genzel of the Max-Planck Institute for Extraterrestrial Physics near Munich and other astronomers have devised their own theories about explaining the existence of black holes.

FORBIDDEN FRUIT: Cuban cigars move onto customes' hit list.

SAN DIEGO—The sweetest forbidden fruit at the border nowadays is not white, powdery or from Colombia.

And it may not seem like the biggest threat to the Western world. But U.S. Customs Service officials are all fired up about a recent spurt of the smuggling of Cuban cigars into San Diego.

In recent weeks, there have been back-to-back record seizures at the San Diego border, netting a cache of nearly 5,000 cigars with an estimated value of $263,500 on the black market. San Diego Customs spokesman Bobbie Cassidy said.

The August seizures put San Diego squarely on the map of the smuggling of the Cuban contraband cigar trail, an inspector said at the San Ysidro border, noting a spate of new cases the past three years, to more than $1.1 million worth in fiscal 1996, according to the Customs Service.

That's a leap from $318,401 in 1995 and a mere $142,014 in 1994, according to an agency spokesperson, which officials say reflects an increase in black market prices for the cigars as well as in seizures.

"It's the forbidden fruit factor," said Mike Sheehan, spokesman for Customs in Miami, where Cuban cigars have become a status symbol for the terminally hip of the South Beach area.

"The fact that it's illegal and difficult to obtain makes it all the more desirable," Sheehan said.

San Diego got its first whiff of the problem Aug. 1, when customs inspectors at the San Ysidro border crossing found 2,025 cigars in the trunk of a U.S.-registered Cavalier driven by John Daniel Powell, 33, of Miami Beach. A second defendant was arrested in the same smuggling scheme.

The, defendants often get probation and financial penalties, Customs officials say.

SIUC spikers fall in Saluki Invitational

MORAL VICTORY: Volleyball team finds bright side after second-place finish.

SHANNON RICHARDSON
DAILY EGYPTIAN REPORTER

A slow start turned out to be the deciding factor in the SIUC volleyball team's loss to Austin Peay State University in the championship match of the Saluki Invitational Saturday. The Salukis lost to the Lady Govs, 15-10, 15-12, 15-9, earning the team a second-place finish in the tournament.

SIUC defeated Morehead State University Friday and the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay Saturday afternoon.

Senior captain Erika Holladay said the team got behind early against APSU because of its inability to focus in the beginning.

"We started slow and never got in the groove," she said.

"Mentally we were there, but we didn't have enough tactics. We were doing the same thing over and over again," Holladay said.

APSU was led by tournament Most Valuable Player Laura Pier, a junior from Michigan City, Ind., bumps the ball during a home game against Austin Peay State University Saturday at Davies Gymnasium. The Salukis lost 15-10, 15-12, 15-9.

"We didn't have enough tactics. We went right on theirs," Locke said. "It's still too early in the season to hang our heads," Locke said.

"We have to blow it off, because if we dwell on it, they're not going to grow in any aspects," Holladay said.

Though SIUC finished second in its own tournament for the second consecutive year, the team managed to achieve some positives.

SIUC won its first home match of the season against MSU Friday, 15-10, 15-13, 15-13. In the final game of the match, SIUC scored the final eight straight points to overcome a 13-7 deficit.

Locke said it was a relief to finally get a win after the team's 0-3 showing in the Carolina/Nike Fall Invitational in Chapel Hill, N.C., last weekend.

"After coming home 0-3, it's kind of nice to get that goose egg out of the way," she said.

SIUC defeated the UWGB Saturday afternoon, 15-10, 15-8, 15-5, Juniors Lindsay Fisher and Laura Pier led the way, recording 14 and 10 kills respectively. Pier and Fisher were named to the All-Tournament team.

Fisher said the team played as a unit.

"We communicated a lot better this time," Fisher said. "We communicated a lot better this time."

"It's not that others did not do a good job, but these two did what they had to do when they came in."

"We communicated a lot better this time," Fisher said. "It's not that others did not do a good job, but these two did what they had to do when they came in."

With a record of 2-4, the Salukis play host to Southeast Missouri State University 7 p.m. Tuesday at Davies Gym.

Locke said the season is young and the team has not hurt its chances of achieving its ultimate goal.

"It's still too early in the season to hang our heads," Locke said.

"I don't want to lead anybody astray to say that all our matches aren't important, but our No. 1 goal is to win a (Missouri Valley Conference) championship. That is something that has eluded this program ever since we got into this conference."

FOOTBALL

"We didn't make anything happen, didn't come away with anything," Quarless said. "You just can't get in that situation and not And it did."

Scoring effort in the third quarter freshman Kyle Leisher.

Mississippi State finished in ninth place with a time of 18:37.4. Lindenwood finished with 43 points. Salukis were sophomores Matt Lumar and a 13-yard TD run by tailback Kendall Joseph.

"I didn't know what to expect, so I was really happy with where I played," Downing said. "It was an experience to run with college athletes. I think we can push people to the extreme."

Rocca fires 9-under 62 to win European Masters

Italy's Costantino Rocca shot a 9-under-par 62 Sunday to win the European Masters. The win gave him his first European PGA Tour victory since he won the Volvo PGA Championship in 1995.

Rocca finished with a 72-hole total of 18-under-par 268. He has now won four times during his career on the European Tour and will be playing in the Ryder Cup later this month.

Scotland native Scott Henderson finished in second place tied with Sweden's Robert Karthaus. Karthaus was trying to win his second straight tournament after he won the BMW Open last week.

Royals activate Offerman from 15-day disabled list

Kansas City Royals' infielder Jose Offerman, who had been sidelined with a fracture located above his right elbow.

Hollandsworth returned from the 15-day disabled list Saturday. Offerman went 1-for-5 and knocked out once during a losing effort in which Kansas City was defeated 9-3.

The infiel-de is hitting .304 and has hit two homers while driving in 32 runs for Kansas City in 645 games.

Hollandsworth was named the National League Rookie of the Year in 1996. But because of injury, he won the 10-year career, Myers has played in 90 games and has a .254 batting average. He has three homers and 27 RBI.

Hollandsworth was placed on the 15-day disabled twice since Aug. 15-day disabled twice during this season. He missed several games during the summer with chickenpox.

Last year's top rookie returns to Dodgers' lineup

Los Angeles outfielder Todd Hollandsworth returned from the 15-day disabled list Saturday as a pinch runner and scored a run in the 9-5 victory against the Florida Marlins.

Hollandsworth had been placed on the 15-day disabled twice since Aug. 15-day disabled twice during this season. He missed several games during the summer with chickenpox.

Royals trade Myers to Twins

The Minnesota Twins traded catcher Greg Myers to the Atlanta Braves for a player to be named later.

Myers struck out in a pinch-hitting situation in the 31st game against the San Diego Padres Friday. The 31-year-old catcher has hit .267 this season to go along with five homers and 28 RBI in 62 games with the Twins. In his 10-year career, Myers has played in 645 games.

Salukis men sprint to first place

Dawgs blanked by Nicholls State 33-0

ON THE RUN: Women's team places second behind Kansas

CORY CLECK
DAILY EGYPTIAN REPORTER

Led by a combined effort from seniors Joseph and Jeremy Parks, the Saluki men's cross country team opened the season with a first-place finish at home Saturday.

The men beat rival University of Illinois at Springfield and Lindenwood College. The SIUC women's team, led by sophomore Jenny Monaco, finished in second place behind Kansas and just ahead of Mississippi State University and Lindenwood.

On the men's side, Joseph Parks found himself in an all-out sprint in the last 300 meters of the race with Lindenwood's Sharif Kare in first place. Parks, however, could not push ahead of Kare and finished one-eighth of a second behind him for a second-place finish and a time of 24 minutes and 54.9 seconds.

"I was trying to lose him (Kare) the whole race, but he is a good runner, and at the end he had a little more speed than I did," Joseph Parks said.

The SIUC football coach Jan Quack-less said in his postgame radio show, "It's just disappointing. I felt we'd be in the lid quarter after a 7-yard touchdown run by tailback Nakia Sibert."

Both teams set the tone for the SIUC had a chance to knot the game early on, as SIUC took the opening kick but fumbled offensively. Quarterback Keith Shonti threw two incomplete passes, and the Salukis were forced to punt from their own 25-yard line.

With regard to offense, things continued poorly for SIUC for the rest of the game as Nicholls State controlled the ball for 40 minutes and 33 seconds and held SIUC to just 19:27 in time possession.

The Colosis took advantage of their opportunities early and often, grabbing a 7-0 lead with 5:33 remaining in the first quarter after a 7-yard touchdown run by tailback Niall Lamar.

SIUC had a chance to knot the score after a Nicholls State miscue on a punt attempt, but the Salukis' kick was blocked. Nicholls State's next possession resulted in the ball being returned to the Salukis' 46-yard line.

"I was still very pleased with my time, though. That was my best time I've ever run on this course," Not far behind Joseph was twin brother Jeremy, who finished in fourth place for the Salukis with a time of 25:18.4. Along with the twins, sophomore Andy Broak finished in sixth place with a time of 25:55.2.

Bosak said the competition was solid preparation for the rest of the fall season.

"I think the majority of the team saw the competition for the first time," Bosak said.
