Stratton Cuts SIU Budget $77 Million

Southern Gets $5.5 Million For Building

Gov. William G. Stratton cut Southern's budget request by approximately $77 million Tuesday.

In his budget message to the Legislature Gov. Stratton allocated Southern $5.5 million for buildings. This figure is $57 million short of the $62,123,000 which Southern had requested for its building purposes.

The building appropriation, for the two year period beginning July 1, will assure the beginning of Southern's new Physical Education and Military Training building this summer. The first stage of the building is rated as top priority on the SIU building list, and is to be built at a cost of $2.5 million.

The governor also cut the SIU request for $47,807,889 for operation expenses to $27,117,000.

The governor's budget did not include anything for buildings at the proposed Edwardsville branch campus. The University had requested $20 million for buildings and site development there.

"The governor's cut in the budget leaves Southern's budget situation in a very unenviable position and we hardly know what to do next," explained President Delyte W. Morris.

Dr. Charles D. Tenney, SIU vice-president, declined to say what buildings other than the Military-Physical Education building might be started, pending receipt of the governor's total figures.

He also pointed out that the governor's report does not indicate whether the cut was made entirely on Southern's general revenue appropriations request or if fee income also was cut. SIU's operating expenses request included $1,575,000 of the University's own fees and tuition income.

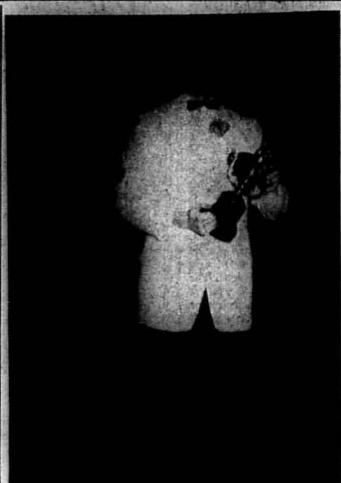

In his budget report Gov. Stratton also included a 234 million dollar appropriation for the University of Illinois to acquire the site for its Chicago branch.

The governor also recommended $125,052,300 in operating expenses for the U of I and a buildings appropriation of $14,190,000.

INDUSTRIAL ED MEN RETURN FROM EASTERN

Five members of the SIU industrial education department faculty returned from a meeting of Roundtable 21 industrial education teachers at Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, Dr. H. H. London, president of the American Vocational Association and chairman of the University of Missouri industrial education department, discussed objectives of professional industrial education teachers at the meeting.

Attending from SIU were John Erickson, Marvin Johnson, Wayne Rupp, J. H. Schroeder, and James Young.

SIU Pharmacy Now Operating

The SIU Pharmacy, a branch of the Health Service, went into operation last week. The pharmacy will dispense the medicine prescribed by the Health Service for a fee of 50 cents to $2 to students.

John Batson, a registered pharmacist from Murphysboro, has been hired to supervise the pharmacy.

Dr. Richard Lee, director of the Health Service, said that the pharmacy is in an experimental stage to see if it can be operated this way.

The amount of money charged the student will be kept to a maximum of $2 per visit at the request of President Morris. This is the highest amount that will be charged no matter how much medicine is purchased. Lee said.

Dr. Lee said that $2,200 a year was being spent for medicine for students. Last year operating with $3.15 per student and running laboratory and X-ray services, and free medicine, the Health Service used $4,000 "in the red." They were faced with three choices: to increase the activity fee, stop paying for hospital bills, or stop giving drugs and medicine to the students free of charge.

The Student Council was approached last summer and the decision to charge the students some price for medicine was reached. The price is still, however, much lower than if purchased at a regular drugstore.

Lee said that Southern charges less for the type of services in question than any other college he has seen. He cited Purdue as an insurance in which each student

Campus Has Chest Drive This Month

The Campus Service Commission of the Student Government is sponsoring a Campus Chest Drive scheduled for April 27 to May 1.

The funds to be collected are for a combined charity drive for the American Cancer Fund, Cerebral Palsy Fund, Egyptian Assn. for Mentally Retarded Children, and the Southern Illinois Association for the Handicapped, Inc.

Funds collected in the drive will be given directly to those groups as a gift from the students at SIU. The goal is set at $1,500 or about 25 cents per student.

Collections will be taken at Freshman Convocation April 30, and between 5 and 7 p. m. that same day on campus. The girls' Rally, Sphinx Club and APO will assist in the fund drive.

A team will canvass the University as follows: Off-campus housing will be canvassed by Mary Kay Sharkey and John A. Baker, Greeks by Becky Jeffries, Dowdell and South Illinois Christian Foundation by Jim Sappenfield. Convocation a staff communitarian by Bill Fels, Chaatsuga by Bill Imer, Thompson Point by Ladd Kugler and Woody Hall by Dede Lingle.

The Drive will feature "The Little Man with a Quater," which appears on the numerous posters on campus.

Chairman of the Campus Chest Drive is Mary Kay Sharkey; vice-chairman is Jim Sappenfield.

X-17 Missile At Southern May 2-7

The AFROTC Detachment at SIU has arranged with the Air Force to have the Lockheed X-17 put on exhibit in the Carbondale area May 2-7.

The X-17, which weighs six tons and stands higher than a four story building, is a ballistic missile with a drive of 1,500,000 horse power in its second stage. It travels at ten times the speed of sound as it returns to earth.

The X-17 helped solve the problem scientists call "re-entry"—the return of a missile to the earth's atmosphere after it has been shot into the ionosphere, several hundred miles above the earth's surface.

The intense heat generated by a hypersonic speed requires a nose cone the material and shape of which is capable of keeping this heat generation at a minimum and of withstanding the heat that is generated. The presence of those qualities insures that the cone will not be destroyed by fire.

Scientists have, through their experiments with the X-17, developed the smoothest surface known to man for use in the nose cone of the various missiles in the defense arsenal of the United States. During its testing flights, the X-17 radiated back information which told scientists on the ground whether the tail nose cone was the answer to their research problems.

Present plans call for the Museum of New Mexico at Santa Fe, where the original journals are located, to publish them in a four-volume work. Lange and Riley will edit portions pertaining to the American Southwest which were written between 1880 and 1892.

Engineering Bill Recommended By Committees

Bills to remove engineering degree restrictions from Southern were recommended for passage by both the House Education Committee and the Senate Education Committee Wednesday.

The House committee voted the bill through with a 29-4 decision. The bill passed in the Senate committee with a 9-8 vote, with two members abstaining from voting.

The next step for the engineering proposal is to go to the floor of each Legislative house, according to President Delyte W. Morris, who attended the hearings in Springfield. It is possible that the bill will appear on the floor next week, but how soon it will come up for action cannot be determined, President Morris explained.

Southern Has Educational TV

Southern's first step in educational television began recently when the SIU Broadcasting Service originated an adult education course in typing.

Directed by Richard Uray, Director of the SIU Broadcasting Service, the program is carried over Channel 3, Harrisburg, on Mondays and Thursdays at 1:30 p. m.

Chester Johnston, typing instructor at VTI, is teaching the TV course, a special presentation of the Broadcasting Service. This is the original venture of Southern into the educational-televasting field.

Tentative plans, according to Uray, call for special help to be provided in central areas for those people who desire extra help.

Korean Students Organize; Hold First Meeting

Southern has another new club — Korean Student Club. This latest of SIU's many organizations was formed last week by several Korean students. The first meeting took place at Giant City.

President of this new group is Dr. Myung Sun Moon, who was formerly with the Seoul Women's Medical College. Other officers are Churl Suk Kim, vice president, and Byung Th (Hoon) Lee. Dr. Moon is employed at the Methodist Hospital, the vice president is a senior math major here at Southern, and the secretary-treasurer is a journalism freshman.

Size Of 5 Pools

Opening Of Thompson Lake Set For Last Of June

Thompson Lake, which will be about the size of five normal-sized swimming pools, will be ready for use by the latter part of June.

A little more than four feet of water is needed to complete the filling of the lake, and if the expected amount of April rainfall, the amount will be sufficient for the opening in June.

However, if the April rainfall is less than the amount expected or more than the amount expected, the opening may be earlier or later.

Plans call for lighting at night for fishing and canoeing, though the lake itself will not be lighted.

The recreation area will include the lake, a boating, swimming and fishing area, and a picnic area for both individuals and groups.

The "vast majority" of the picnic areas will be for spontaneous use, and a "very few" areas will be for reservations.

The swimming will be restricted to one area, in order for the water to be chemically treated. The swimming area is shaped like a bowl, in that the water is about five to five-and-one-half feet deep in the middle, but the beaches on each side slope upward.

Fishing piers have been installed, and the lake has been stocked with an adequate supply of bass, though the lake is not yet "fishable."

Boating, which will be supplied for the 40-acre lake, will be available both day and night, under the present plans. A nominal fee will be charged for renting the boats, in order to maintain the craft. Eventually, canoes, rowboats and sailboats will be available for student use.

Informal swimming instruction will be given to interested students, and sailboat lessons will also be given.

A patch has been constructed around the lake, and a loop road will be soon be built. Students have been requested to not use the lake until it is entirely completed for sanitation, health, and safety reasons, plus the added fire hazard danger in the recreation area.

According to Bill Berry, a member of the committee on area, it is much like the incomplete home Economics Building, in that no part can be used until the complete area is ready.

Special Vote For 4 Areas Set May 12

A special election for temporary men's residence halls, off-campus organized men, off-campus organized women and family housing will be held concurrently with the regular all-school election May 12.

The special election for the four areas is being held because there were no petitions filed for the senatorial positions during the regular spring petitioning period.

Petitions were left Thursday, and must be returned no later than 4 p. m. Tuesday. Certification will be made by the Election Commission Wednesday and candidates will be notified Friday. A list of the candidates will be posted on the door of the Student Government Office in the Student Union.

The Student Government Constitution states "vacancies which occur among the elected senators shall be filled by special election by that area which they represent." Since the all-campus elections call for no primary, the special election is being held the same day as the regular election.

During the past decade, research and testing programs have grown rapidly at Southern.

Jobs For Camp In Michigan

Jerry Broadway will be on campus today to interview students for jobs at Camp Martin Johnson in Michigan. Information on this camp is available at the Student Employment Office.

Broadway will be at the Student Employment Office from 1 to 5:30 p. m. to interview any one interested in these jobs.

A representative of the California Packing Co. (Midwest Division, Mendota) will be on campus Wednesday morning to take applications and employ workers for the pea harvest this summer. All persons interested in this work should report to the Student Employment Office at 10 a. m. Wednesday.

STAFF MEMBERS RECEIVE GRANT

Charles H. Lange and Carroll L. Riley, SIU anthropology department and museum staff members, have received a $1,000 grant from the American Philosophical Society, Philadelphia, to assist in research connected with editing the journals of Adolph F. Banderier, early scholar on the anthropology and history of Indians of Spanish America.

Banderier is said to have lived in Highland, Ill., at one time.

Present plans call for the Museum of New Mexico at Santa Fe, where the original journals are located, to publish them in a four-volume work. Lange and Riley will edit portions pertaining to the American Southwest which were written between 1880 and 1892.

The Editors' Opinions

More Than Classes

Education is more than attending classes and reading texts. Education at Southern is not a selfish striving for individual achievement, but a spirit of helping others. With this thought in mind, the student body can show their true colors by supporting the campus chest drive which begins Monday.

The consolidation of the various charities into one fund alleviates the problem of giving "a bit here and a bit there." A number of worthwhile organizations will benefit from the amount collected in the united drive. The students and faculty can contribute "once and for all" and know that the donations are going to good causes.

The goal for the first campus drive is aimed at $5,000. This amount sounds like a fairly large stack of "green stuff". But if each individual digs in to his pocket or wallet and contributes 25 cents, the goal will be reached without much stress on anyone.

If Southern's student body shares their limited finances with others, then the true "Southern Spirit" will reign again. Support the campus chest drive and support Southern.

Have Your 'Say So'

Elections will occur on campus next month. This will be the opportunity for the entire student body to have their "say so" in the campus government. Also, the students will be able to select those individuals best qualified to lead various campus activities during the year.

The Student Council and the Campus Elections Commission have worked hard to facilitate the election procedures. Serious and diligent thought has gone into the present polling system. The requirements for candidates lead to a more qualified and active group of campus leaders.

The candidates themselves exert their efforts and give of their precious time to fairly conduct their campaigns. The students, selected to work at the polls will give their time and abilities to correctly govern the polling procedure.

Regardless of the candidate which you choose, go to the polls and cast your ballot in the campus elections.

A Student At SIU

Freshman McIlrath Works, Supports Two Children

He works four hours per day, is married and the father of two children, an Army Veteran, and attends college full time—that is Bob McIlrath, a Student at SIU.

The 24-year-old third term freshman hails from Woodson, a town not far from Jacksonville. Bob spent two years in the Army, and decided to come to college after getting married to his hometown sweetheart.

An agriculture major, Bob says being married and going to college has its advantages, but there is little time for studying when he has to work four hours a day. "Actually, married life on campus gives problems just like any other mode of life," he says. "But it has advantages, the main trouble being the lack of time."

"It's just hard to get around to getting things done." Bob says being in the service helped him to realize that a college education was necessary.

"Intelligent People Helps" "Just being around intelligent people helped me to know that college is all that will keep a person from being a peon," McIlrath said seriously.

"Before I was married, however, I was grinning, 'I didn't want to go to college. It was only after I married Connie that I decided to come to Southern."

"The main thing that attracted me to SIU is the Agriculture Building. I heard so much about it that I chose Southern over some of the closer colleges, and I've never regretted doing so."

"Although I have a car, I still walk to school," he says, changing the subject. "However, I can see the general complaint of the students, and I think they are justified in what they say."

"If a person is old enough to own a car, there is no reason why he shouldn't be given permission to bring it to college. Everybody should have equal opportunity to have cars on campus and should be given parking privileges.

Parking Lot In Woods "Provisions could be made for parking lots, if they had to build one in the middle of the woods. Instead of planting every tree they can find, they should use the space for parking lots."

Bob says the University should take every student that wants to come to college, as long as they can handle the enrollment. He says the proposed entrance examinations will be detrimental to some of the Illinois colleges and universities.

"It depends on the size of the school," he mused. "If they can handle the enrollment, then most students should be allowed to enter. It's more important for every body to have the opportunity to go to college, than forcing some people to lose out because they don't pass tests."

"After all, some people never begin to settle down or become serious about school until they enter college."

"Here, the students are representative of all parts of the world, and everybody gets along well. A combination of the reputation that Southern is building, the work of President Morris, added incentive to attend college and the good publicity released about Southern have caused it to become a prime target for high school graduates."

"The Greeks and independents get along fine, which is another good mark of the school. Belonging to a group, whether it be a fraternity or an independent organization, is good because it gives a person a feeling of belonging."

Bob sat up in his chair and glanced at the clock. Unwinking, he said, "Well, it's

VIVE LE POPCORN!

The other day as I was walking down the street picking up tinoli, (Mariboro, incidentally, has the best tinoli, which is not surprising when you consider that they have the best cigarettes, which is not surprising when you consider that they take the best filters and you put them together with the best tobacco and rush them to your tobaccon counter, fresh and firm and loaded with smoking pleasure). The other day, I say, as I was walking down the street picking up tinoli, (I have, incidentally, the second largest ball of tinoli in our family. My brother Eleanor's is bigger—more than four miles in diameter—but, of course, he is taller than I). The other day, as I was saying, while walking down the street picking up tinoli, I passed a campus and right beside it, a movie theatre which specialized in showing foreign films. Most campuses have foreign movie theatres close by, because foreign movies are full of culture, art, and esoterica, and where is culture more rare, art more rampant, and esoterica more endemic than on a campus?

Nowhere; that's where.

Also, his flashlight battery is burned out

I hope you have all been taking advantage of your local foreign film theatre. Here you will find no simple-minded Hollywood products, marked by treasely sentimentality and machine-made bravura. Here you will find life itself—in all its grimness, its poverty, its naked, raw passion!

Have you, for instance, seen the recent French import, Le Croyon de Monsieur Ours ("The Moose"), a savage and uncompromising story of a man named Claude, whose consuming ambition is to get a job as a meter reader with the Paris water department? But he is unable, alas, to afford the flashlight one needs for this position. His wife, Bon-Bon, sells her hair to a wigmaker and buys him a flashlight. Then, alas, Claude discovers that one also requires a leatherstee bow tie. This time his two young daughters, Arnel and Nougat, sell their hair to a wigmaker. So now Claude has his leatherstee bow tie, but now, alas, his flashlight battery is burned out and the whole family, alas, is bald.

Or have you seen the latest Italian masterpiece, La Donna e Mobile (I Ache All Over), a heart-shattering tale of a boy and his dog? Malvolio, a Venetian lad of nine, loves his little dog with every fibre of his being. He has one great dream: to enter the dog in the annual Venetian dog show. But this, alas, requires an entrance fee, and Malvolio, alas, is penniless. However, he saves and scrapes and steals and finally gets enough together to enter the dog in the show. The dog, alas, comes in third-third. Malvolio sells him to a vivisectionist.

Or have you seen the latest Japanese triumph, Kibudo-Son (The Radish), a pulse-stirring historical romance about Yamoto, a poor farmer, and his daughter Ethel who are accosted by a warlord one morning on their way to market? The warlord orders Yamoto in half with his samurai sword and runs off with Ethel. When Yamoto recovers, he seeks out Ethel's fiancé, Red Buttons, and together they find the warlord and kill him. But, alas, the warlord was also a sorcerer and he wickedly turned Ethel into a whooping crane. Loyal Red Buttons takes Ethel home where he feeds her fish heads for twenty years and keeps hoping she'll turn back into a woman. She never does. Alas.

The University Health Service is planning to give students polio immunizations next month, so Gus is trying to gather up all his "wild-west" courage to be "shot."

Gus doesn't mind if students ride bicycles on campus, but he wishes they would look ahead of them and not run over him; instead of running over him and then looking back to see if it was by chance a faculty member.

Chesecake is all right in the campus paper, Gus mutters... but he wishes that more frosting be put on the cake sometimes.

Summer Stock Programs Here This Summer

The Southern Players' Summer Stock will present their summer program of plays on the SIU campus this year. The troupe began their annual summer presentations in Branson, Missouri, and then moved to New Salem for two years.

Plays to be presented are: "Private Lives," which will run July 1 through July 5.

"Class Menagerie," running from July 8-12.

"The Copperhead," to be given July 15-19.

"Morning's at Seven," running from July 29-August 2.

"The Most Happy Fella," presented on August 7 and 8.

The first four plays will be given in the Southern Playhouse for five evenings. Wednesday through Sunday. The musical comedy, "The Most Happy Fella," will be produced in conjunction with the Opera Workshop for two evenings in Shryock Auditorium.

A limited number of students who are enrolled for 12 credit hours will be selected to form a summer stock which will produce these plays under the direction of Dr. Sherwin Abrams.

SIU MEN WRITE ARTICLE ON LOGAN

John Allen, SIU historian, and Ed Hase of the Information Service staff have written an article on the career of Jackson County's Maj. Gen. John A. Logan. Titled "His Proudest Achievement," in reference to Memorial Day, the three-page article will appear in the May issue of The Link, a magazine for men in the Armed Forces.

Charles Zoelker, Christian Moe and William Taylor.

Applications for students wishing to apply are now available from any member of the theatre department staff. Applications should be filed by April 30.

Season coupon books will be available for all five plays for $2.50. Dr. Abrams said. Tickets at the boxoffice will be $1.

During the performances of "Major Barbara" last fall, the theatre group took a poll to see how many people would support a summer theatre program. Eighty per cent of the people polled said they would buy season tickets which include summer shows.

Two 10-ton air-conditioning units are being installed in the Playhouse, with completion of the project scheduled for June 15.

Childs Speaks As John Dewey Lecturer

The second lecture of the John Dewey centennial celebration series is scheduled to be heard Thursday evening, April 30. Speaking at 8 p. m. in the Morris Library Auditorium, visiting professor, emeritus John L. Childs from Columbia University, will give his views on "John Dewey's Theory of the Educational and the Philosophic Function."

Childs, who has been active in professional functions and public affairs since 1911, is the author of several books on international politics and education. He has been an active member of the American Federation of Teachers for over 20 years and has served on its National Commission on Educational Reconstruction.

A student under Dewey and Kilpatrick, Childs, who claims to be in the "progressive wing of American education," has dedicated "Education and Morals" to the famed professors.

Dean Charles Tenney will preside at the meeting and will introduce the speaker.

Since NATO not an inch of territory lost

FREEDOM is something you take for granted—until you lose it. Freedom to live and work and worship as you please.

But ask the people in Hungary about freedom! Ask them in East Germany! Then remember that ten years ago the menace that was blotting out freedom in country after country in Europe was sweeping westwards—in your direction.

The formation of NATO, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, in 1949 put a barrier of defense between you and the growing Soviet bloc. To the Reds and other would-be aggressors it said: "An attack on any one of our 16 nations will be an attack upon all." And since NATO has become a fact not one inch of territory in the Atlantic area has been lost.

NATO today is much more than the most powerful military peacetime alliance in history. It is a living shield of free men working together to bring prosperity into the lives of us all. NATO deserves your support in the new challenges that face it today; it is your best bet against another World War.

NATO INFORMATION, Box 88, New York 21, N.Y.

- WHAT NATO HAS ACHIEVED
1. Stopped Soviet aggression in Western Europe by building up military forces under unified command.
  2. Spread the cost of defense against Communism. NATO has enabled us to combine our vital resources and share our obligations with 14 allies.
  3. Secure behind the NATO shield, we and 480 million other free men in the Atlantic community are progressing toward greater political, economic and social well-being.

Rain, Rain Go Away: Salukis Host Eastern Michigan For Three Games

Weather Washes Out Evansville Game Tuesday

By Ron Jacober Sports Editor

Of Man Weather, busily working at his favorite pastime of soaking Southern Illinois, provided SIU's baseball Salukis an added day of rest this week.

Tuesday's game with Evansville College was called because of wet grounds and will be rescheduled at a later date.

This weekend the Salukis will attempt to capitalize on the extra rest as they return to IAC action against Eastern Michigan.

Today the Salukis entertain Eastern's Hurons in a single game, and tomorrow the boys from Michigan are on hand for a double header.

The Salukis just returned from Central Michigan where they took two of three IAC tilts from the Chippewas. Southern now is 6-3 on the regular season, 12 in conference play, and 12-5 overall including the spring sweep through the south.

Who will be the starting pitcher? Coach Glenn (Abe) Martin has a whole handful from which to pick, but will probably go with Larry Tucker, leading Saluki hurler with a 3-0 won-lost mark, and Harry Gurley (2-1, another freshman, and Jim Woods (1-1), a sophomore from New Athens. Tucker, a freshman from Lemay Mo., is making his first start today's opening contest while Gurley and Woods will toss the twin bill.

Other pitchers that may see action in the event the Hurons get men with the bats are Charles Sutton, (3-0), freshman from Perkins Grove, N. J., Roger McKnight (2-1) who owns a shut-out over Illinois, and Ken Nauen, (0-1), freshman from DuQuoin.

len to a sub-par .288. Jones was hitting .326 going into the Central Series last weekend and about .450 after the southern tour. Rocky Bridges, .330 slugger last season, is hitting .286 thus far.

Following the Huron series, Southern will play four non-league games beginning April 28 at Washington University in St. Louis.

Coleman To Run Mile

The SIU track immortal, Phil Coleman, the top distance runner ever produced in Southern Illinois, will run an exhibition mile race during the second annual Carbondale Relays at McNeese Stadium tomorrow afternoon.

More than 25 high schools and 300 athletes will participate in the meet.

Coleman, who has been running indoor mile races against the nation's best miler all winter, will race against a college competitor if one is available. If not, he will run against four high school runners, who will each run a quarter of a mile.

Coleman, holder of the SIU mile and two-mile record, has never approached to "magic" four-minute mile barrier but has been running the mile consistently in less than 4:09. Phil, son of Dr. E. C. Coleman of the SIU English Department, was a member of the 1956 U.S. Olympic team running the 3,000-meter steeplechase.

The most valuable baseball player in the IAC last year was outfielder Ron Little of Western Illinois.

Should Win Two

Tennis Squad Swings North, Meet Bradley, Wisconsin Over Weekend

A change in climate will be on tap for the Saluki tennis team this weekend as they swing through the North.

Today the Salukis meet the Bradley Braves in Peoria and Saturday they will again venture into the Big Ten ranks against Wisconsin at Madison.

The Salukis, after winning two of three meets on the home court last weekend, sport an 8-5 overall record including a 4-3 mark on the spring tour of the Southeast.

In those three matches last weekend, the Salukis romped over Eastern Illinois (8-1) and Big Ten champ Iowa (7-2) for the two victories. They dropped a squeaker to the University of Indiana, 5-4.

Budzelek, Cohen Lead

Southern, defending Interstate Conference champions, are paced by Jerry Budzelek, Gary, Ind., number one singles, and Marvin Cohen, Milwaukee, freshman. Budzelek sports a fine 10-3 won-lost mark in match play. Cohen, in the hospital over last weekend, has a 7-3 mark.

One of the top doubles teams in recent years at Southern consists of captain Jim Jarrett, senior from Decatur, and freshman Ron Underwood, Granite City. The pair have compiled a 10-2-1 match mark. They have lost only to doubles teams from the University of Georgia and the University of Indiana. The tennis twins have beaten top-notch squads from Alabama, Minnesota, Florida State, University of Florida, Tennessee, Ohio State and Iowa.

Bradley East

Four of eight ten losses have come at the hands of Northern Illinois University. The Huskies finished sixth in the IAC tourney and are not regarded as powerhouses.

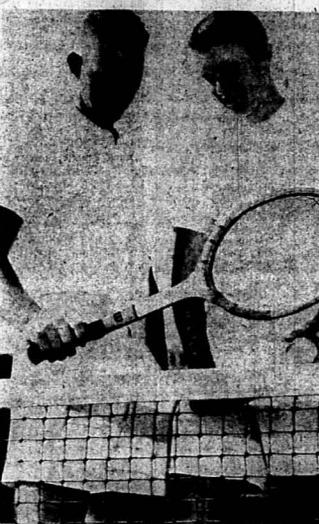

Only Ron Gerner, playing number one singles, has the makings of a respectable record. He has won 111 games while losing 120. In sets it looks like this. Gerner has won 10 and lost 11. He has won four of nine matches.

Only two other men have even won matches. Ed Whitman and Bud Belbin has won one while losing nine. Four other men have not won a match and have lost a combined total of 14.

The doubles team of Belbin and Gerner have won six matches while losing only four and should be a good match for Underwood and Jarrett.

Different At Madison

Conditions may be a little different Saturday in Madison. The Badgers of Wisconsin won four last season while losing nine. They opened their season against Illinois last Saturday and drop.

SWINGIN' COMBO

ped an 8-1 count. They meet Northwestern today at Evansville.

Varsity coach Carl Sanger calls the 1959 season a "rebuilding year" for Wisconsin tennis. Sanger did not plan it that way when the academic year started last September.

Five Returning

At that time he counted on five returning lettermen and a host of promising sophomores to lift the Badgers in prominence.

In the past six months, the Badger coach has worked his team hard and often on the indoor courts. Yet, he has seen four of his best prospects drop from the sport for assorted reasons.

Straight "A"

Tim Frautschi, number two singles last season, has marked up a straight "A" average in his first seven semesters at the Madison school, and had decided to give up tennis in his final year of competition, "to concentrate on his studies."

Squadmen returning from last season include Dave Medenwald, Peter Herried and Keith Anderson.

"The boys will have to work hard this year against rugged competition," coach Sanger said recently. "But they should imagine the experience they will gain as the season progresses."

The Badgers meet every Big Ten during their rugged schedule.

Following the Wisconsin match, the Salukis travel to Vanderbilt on April 28 (next Tuesday) for a single match with the Commodores.

Psychology Club Gives Speakers For Term

Jerry Groff, president of the Psychology Club, has announced the program for the remaining meetings of the spring term.

"The next meeting will be May 14, when Drs. William Westberg, Leslie Malpass and Israel Goldiamond will speak on "Careers, Opportunities, and Salaries" in the psychology field. Dr. Westberg will give information for the industrial and personal aspect of psychology; Dr. Malpass will present information for the Clinical Counseling side; and Dr. Goldiamond will discuss training job opportunities in experimental psychology.

Might Get Hit But ...

By Ron Jacober Sports Editor

Klotz says that his new court is just what everyone is waiting for. "You will be able to use any type of shoes on it," said Dr. Don, "and it will require less care than any other court ever has. It will also be much easier on tennis balls. They should last much longer."

He received a patent on the court last year, and now he says the only thing holding up its release is that a suitable color has not been found yet. "It will probably be a dark green," Klotz added.

The tennis ambassador continued to ramble about his interpretation of the origin of the game of tennis, and just about anything connected with the game that came to his mind.

"When I finally managed to get a question into the conversation, I asked him about Art Andrews, the brilliant Big Ten singles champ from Iowa. (Andrews didn't make the trip because of an examination.)

"The only thing we can do is keep our fingers crossed," added the colorful coach. "It is really hard to give him completion. He is so much better than any one else. In practice I usually start him in the hole and give his opponent a 3-0 love or 4-0 love lead.

"He shouldn't have too much trouble in the Big Ten. He's a great player. (Andrews was runner-up in the NCAA last year, losing the finals in three sets.)

Klotz also has a very high opinion of Saluki chaf Dick LeFevre. "Coach LeFevre is doing one of the really outstanding jobs in tennis today. Not only in varsity tennis at SIU, but on promotional work all over the state.

"I like to think of myself as a physical educator first and a coach second. This should be the role of all coaches and Dr. LeFevre typifies this attitude.

"In this day of winning, I'm glad to see someone like Dr. LeFevre working to help the youngsters of this area. Varsity tennis is pointless unless a coach goes out to help improve high school tennis.

"We all like to turn out winning teams, but if at the same time this aids the overall education program, wonderful!"

Klotz also expressed a dislike for the best of three sets so now played in tennis. He pointed out that it is such a long ordeal and that the game could probably be enjoyed more if a different setup was arranged.

Dr. Don Klotz is certainly a man that anyone interested in athletics of any kind could listen to for hours, or even days. He is certainly an asset to the game of tennis and an ambassador in promoting amateur tennis.

Speaking of tennis, which seems to be dominating this column, Earl Bucholz, nationally known tennis professional from St. Louis, will conduct a clinic at Eastern Illinois University on Thursday, June 11, during the National's tennis championship matches.

Bucholz's clinic will be held at 8:30 p. m. on one of Eastern's five lighted tennis courts. No admission will be charged for the clinic. It may be worth attending if you are a tennis enthusiast and live in the Charleston area.

The battle for the NAIA title at Eastern could take on an international flavor judging from early looks at the nation's leading tourney candidates.

Among the NAIA's top tennis hopefuls for the national championships at Charleston are three netters from Sao Paulo, Brazil, one from Henley-on-Thames, England, and a highly ranked amateur from Bareilly, India.

Also judging from the relationship between Southern and some of the schools in the NAIA (mainly the Interstate Conference) any entries from Southern will probably be regarded as "foreigners" also.

AMBASSADOR ON THE COURTS

One of the most active men in tennis was on the SIU campus last weekend.

Dr. Donald Klotz, varsity tennis coach of the University of Iowa, has probably done as much as any man in the United States in promoting amateur tennis.

All anyone has to do is mention the subject of tennis and Klotz begins expounding on his countless experiences like a little boy that had just seen his first big league ball game.

Set Up Programs

Klotz has help set up amateur programs all over the Midwest, and in fact, all over the country. He is probably just about as busy at this time of year as anyone can be. Between jumping all over the country setting up programs, and coaching a Big Ten champ (whom Southern beat 7-2), he is developing a court of his own in his spare time.

The Salukis placed three men on the first all-conference baseball team last season. Richard Dillinger, "I c h y" Jones and John Gilmore were named to the squad.

Nine-Game Grid Slate Approved

A tough, nine-game schedule has been approved for new head coach Carmen Picoone and his 1959 Saluki football team.

Only newcomer to the slate, announced today by the SIU athletic department, is Bowling Green, Ohio, University. Southern will entertain the Falcons of the Mid-American Conference Nov. 7.

The Salukis, who compiled a 7-2 mark last fall, will be coached for the first time by Carmen Picoone, who was named to the post last winter. Some 65 candidates are now working with Picoone in spring practice.

The complete schedule:

- Sept. 19, Evansville College at Evansville, W. Va.
- Oct. 3, Northern Illinois at Macomb (Homecoming)
- Oct. 17, Eastern Illinois, H (Homecoming)
- Oct. 24, Illinois Normal at Normal
- Oct. 30, Eastern Michigan at Ypsilanti
- Nov. 7, Bowling Green, H.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Southern's track team will be gunning for its third consecutive dual meet triumph today at Rolla, Missouri. The Salukis will run against the Missouri School of Mines team, who currently possess a 2-2 seasonal mark in dual competition.

Southern's relay team composed of Ron Helberg, Dale Cleghorn, Lee King, and John Flamer placed fourth in the distance medley at the Kansas Relays last Saturday.

Saluki Coach Doc Lingle is pleased with Southern's performance this year.

"We are weak in one or two places, but we have scored well as a dual meet team," Lingle pointed out.

"This meet will be close, but we should win," the coach stated.

Cindermen Meet Miners At Rolla; Look For Third Win

Southern's track team will be gunning for its third consecutive dual meet triumph today at Rolla, Missouri. The Salukis will run against the Missouri School of Mines team, who currently possess a 2-2 seasonal mark in dual competition.

Southern's relay team composed of Ron Helberg, Dale Cleghorn, Lee King, and John Flamer placed fourth in the distance medley at the Kansas Relays last Saturday.

Saluki Coach Doc Lingle is pleased with Southern's performance this year.

"We are weak in one or two places, but we have scored well as a dual meet team," Lingle pointed out.

"This meet will be close, but we should win," the coach stated.

Sig Taus Win Second Straight Greek Title

Sigma Tau Gamma successfully defended its Greek Track Title last Saturday afternoon in the annual event held on the varsity track in McAndrew Stadium.

Sig Tau piled up 51 1/2 points as all nine fraternities competed. Sigma Pi took second place honors with 38 1/2 points and Phi Kappa Tau finished third with 32 1/2 points.

Individual champions and times:

- Sigma Tau Gamma won the SIU fraternity track title Saturday by scoring 51 1/2 points as all nine campus fraternities competed. Sigma Pi took second with 38 1/2 points and Phi Kappa Tau had 32 1/2.

- Mile Relay: 3:24.2, Boor Kacyrski, Anthony Velasco, Ver non Spreche and Sam DeNeal, 1955.

Linkmen Close Home Season Against Eastern Michigan

There won't be any tears, but the SIU golfers will certainly bid farewell with regrets to their "home" at Franklin County Country Club, West Frankfort, after a double header this weekend.

Coach Lynn Holder's Salukis have won six straight on the par 72 course and will be reluctant to hit the road and unknown pastures.

The two remaining matches at West Frankfort pit Southern against potent Eastern Michigan. Friday's round begins at 1 p. m. and the Saturday tour starts at 8:30 a. m.

Southern, 11-2-1 last year, has taken its six wins from South-east Missouri, St. Louis, Allen Longmeyer, Bob Hetzel, Ullrich Tucker, 1 minute, 44 seconds.

Four Named To Election Group

Four new members were named to the Election Committee at the Student Council meeting Thursday night. They are Kay Campbell, Lynda Love, Keith Loveland, and Don Wolfe.

In other Council action, Arthur Miller, representing the International Relations Club, appeared before the Council to request that the World University Service be considered in the organization to benefit from the coming Campus Chest Drive.

The World University Service, according to Miller, derives its support from students, and assists in such things as sending books to libraries in need all over the world. The Service figured in getting to SIU the four Hungarian students who are presently attending, Miller said.

The bill likewise lists equipment to be carried by all craft, including rowboats and sailboats among which must be lights, fire preservers, proper mufflers, whistles, fire extinguishers, etc.

The bill covers careless operation, reckless operation, interference with navigation, overcrowding, overcapacity of operator, riding on decks and gunwales and restricted area. The department is given the right to designate certain areas as restricted, to swimming, fishing, water, skiing and other activities.

Accident report, owner's responsibility, boat rental responsibility and local regulations are spelled out explicitly.

Penalties established by the bill would set fines from $10 to $500, and prison terms of 30 days to 6 months, depending upon the type of violation.

Illinois boats will be designated by the prefix "IL" on the boat's number which must be painted plainly in 3-inch letters and figures on the prow of each craft. Registration will be recognized in other states having reciprocal acts, according to the bill.

Concerning The Outdoors

By Larry Myer

SIU researchers undertaking a long-term study of seasonal fish movements have come up with some little known facts about the Crab Orchard Lake fish population, according to information released by the SIU Information Service.

In a poisoning operation preceding his field project on fish dispersal, Edward Lyles, graduate zoology student from Paducah, Ky., removed 200 pounds of fish from one and three-quarter acre cove of the lake. The gross pound age indicates that Crab Orchard is productive enough (150 pounds of fish per acre, is considered par), but even more interesting is the makeup of the bag.

73 Pounds Bass

The haul included 73 pounds of small yellow bass, eight large-mouth bass totaling 15 pounds and 15 pounds of carp. Fifteen other species, mainly crappie and shad, made up the rest of the poundage.

Of these, 10 per cent were of catchable size. Ideally, up to 80 per cent should be eligible for the fisherman's creel and as new fish management methods are ironed out the actual should more nearly approach that ideal. But even with the low percentage of keepers in all classes, Lyles says, Crab Orchard still appears to harbor a good population of large bass.

Repopulation?

The study's main aim, outside of netting Lyles a master's degree thesis, is to determine when fish—especially largemouth—repopulate the cleaned-out cove. Previous completion of Southern Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory indicate that lake fish may scatter abroad in a major redistribution movement during April. During the other 11 months of the year they will stay, in a limited area, particularly bass.

Dr. William Lewis, director of the Fisheries Laboratory, suggests that if bass redistribution can be shown as a strictly springtime phenomenon, it might provide an effective management method that can be based on the knowledge. This would involve "sectional" management of such hard-to-handle bodies of water as Crab Orchard, whose hundreds of coves and peninsulas might provide the best area for improvement.

The technique used by Lyles is one perfected last year by the Laboratory. It includes the use of a chemical that delivers a quick knock-out blow via the gills, but whose effects can be quickly counteracted by fresh water. When the fish surface in a stupified state, desirable game species are placed back in fresh water containers and rough fish weeded out.

Began In March

With the cooperation of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, overseer of the sprawling Crab Orchard Refuge area, Lyles began his controlled experiments late in March. Assisted by SIU zoology students working in the Fisheries Laboratory program, he sealed off the cove and seeded it with chemical pellets. In 30 minutes fish started surfacing, most of them small yellow (or striped) bass which rarely grow longer than six inches in Crab Orchard Lake and are considered a bait-eating pest. Then shad and white perch began to appear, followed by bass, bluegill and crappie. Carp, bottom feeders who are most resistant to the poison, didn't show up for hours.

Lyles' next steps will be monthly stinnings of the cove to check on repopulation. The ultimate data will be crisscrossed against the original record of species cleaned out.

The study is but one example of dozens carried out in the area each year by Southern's Fisheries Laboratory. Research has resulted not only in new management techniques (such as utilization of the new "chemical" bait in some cases, complete rehabilitation of ponds and small lakes where fishing had gone to pot. Lyles says, "there is actually so little known about the science of maintaining and developing balanced fish populations that every step forward is a big one."

New Boating Regulations

New regulations for boating in Illinois, drawn to meet the heavy increase of boats and boat owners in recent years, were introduced in the House of Representatives Wednesday with the backing of the administration of Governor William G. Stratton.

This information was released by Lynn Callaway, Supervisor of Information of the Illinois Department of Conservation.

The new boat regulation and safety act, which includes licensing provisions for motorboats, both inboard and outboard, are designed to increase water safety on the rivers and lakes of the state, and would become effective March 1, 1960.

Governor Stratton, in announcing the introduction of the measure, pointed out that there are now more than 350,000 motorboats in operation in the state, and that the number is growing steadily. The rate of growth in numbers is estimated at 40,000 boats a year.

A federal act controlling the use of motor boats would become effective in Illinois if the state does not adopt its own act. Conservation Department officials said.

A nominal fee of three dollars for three years would be charged for the registration of motorboats only, but other regulations in the proposed law ap-
