SIU gymnasts savor NCAA championship

By Jim Braun
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

AMES, Iowa—Perhaps freshman Ed Hembd of the Southern Illinois gymnastics team best summed up the squad's almost subdued jubilation upon winning the 1972 NCAA meet in Ames, Iowa, last Saturday afternoon.

"I guess you might say that we're feeling pretty happy," the reserved Hembd said nonchalantly after SIU bested defending champ and host Iowa

State in the final session to record its fourth NCAA title in nine years.

Optimism had been a major team trademark since the season's beginning, way back in November. And not even the single blemish caused by Iowa State in SIU's 14-1 dual-meet campaign could dim the gymnasts' confidence.

"I knew all along that our team could win this whole thing," added Gary Morava, who advanced to Saturday evening's individual finals in four of six events.

The Prospect Heights sophomore won the vaulting title, while recording fourth places on floor exercise and horizontal bar and sixth on parallel bars.

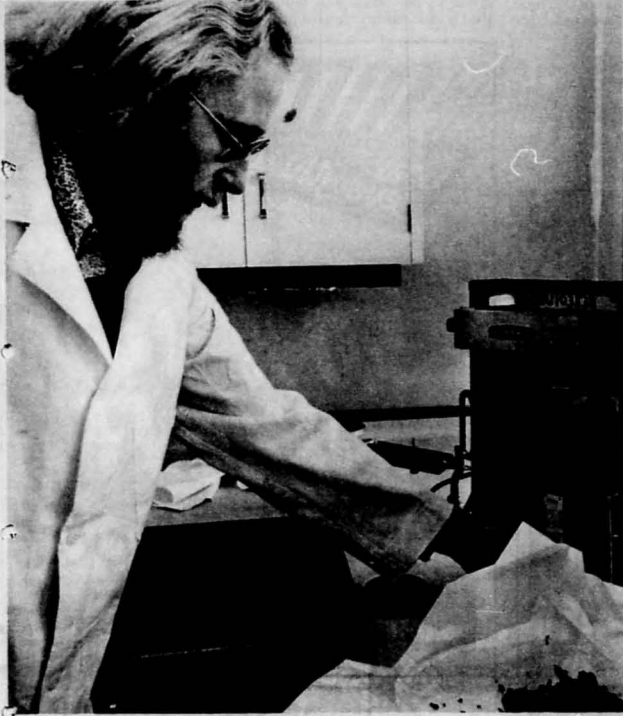

Tom Lindner, the only other Saluki finalist, won horizontal bar competition after receiving college gymnastics' prestigious Nissen Award. It's annually bestowed upon the college senior who best demonstrates abilities in "gymnastics, scholarship and sportsmanship."

In addition, Morava and Lindner finished second and fourth respectively in all-around competition.

"We were worried about Southern when the season opened," coach Ed Gagnier of the runner-up Cyclones said. "It's really no disgrace when you finish second to a great team like the Salukis."

The champs recorded 315.925 points in capturing their first NCAA cham-

$300 wheelchair stolen during Turner concert

By Barry Cleveland
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

SIU Security Police reported Monday the theft of a $300 wheelchair from an SIU student during the Ike and Tina Turner concert Friday night in the Arena.

Robert Sewell, Cambria, told police he parked the Everest and Jennings Premier Junior manual wheelchair belonging to his wife, Alex Sewell, near Section HH of the concourse bleachers at about 7:30 p.m.

Sewell said the wheelchair was missing when he and his wife returned to the area following the show, at about 10:50 p.m. A search of the area failed to find the wheelchair.

Mrs. Sewell, a graduate student in rehabilitation administration, said Monday an older wheelchair is being repaired for her use pending location of the missing one.

Police also reported the theft of two pairs of skis and ski poles and a back pack from a car parked in Lot 14 Sunday morning. The items taken were valued at $234 and belonged to two women visiting the campus, police said.

James E. Keane, Carbondale, reported the theft of his 1969 Mustang from the Varsity Theater parking lot between 8:30 p.m. Saturday and 1 a.m. Sunday.

SIU, IRS to discuss wage increase violations

By David L. Mahsman
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

April 18 has been set as the tentative date for a meeting between C. Richard Gruny, University legal counsel, and officials of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) to discuss the recent IRS ruling that four SIU administrators have received pay increases in violation of federal law.

Gruny set the meeting up Tuesday afternoon and said it will probably take place in Springfield. He said April 18 was set as the date because the IRS will be busy with the income tax until then. Deadline for filing federal income tax is April 17.

Last week, SIU Presidents David R. Derge and John Rendleman, Chief of Board Staff James Brown and former President Robert Laver were notified by the IRS that their wages are in violation of the Economic Stabilization Act. In the case of Laver, only the salary he received in the last months of his presidency is in question.

Gruny said the University will be preparing its case between now and April 18. He said that if the IRS recommends a court injunction against the pay increases after hearing the University, it will be up to the IRS' regional counsel to seek that injunction.

The IRS could recommend a fine against SIU if it finds that the SIU Board of Trustees raised the salaries in willful violation of the law, Gruny said.

He added, though, that there was no willful violation, so there should be no fine.

If the IRS rules against the University and seeks a court injunction, the University could follow the normal court appeal route as high as the U.S. Supreme Court. But Gruny said he does not think the case will go that far, but will probably end in a compromise.

"I really can't predict what will hap-

U-Senate keeps Expro proposal

By Richard Lorenz
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The University Senate Monday night defeated a motion by a 11 to 21 vote a motion that would have sent the Interim Board's report on Expro to the School of Journalism.

The motion was made by Robert Campbell, chairman of the Management Committee. Campbell told the senate the committee had received the opinion of Richard Mager, legal counsel, and Mager told the committee that the senate does not have jurisdiction concerning Expro.

C. Addison Hickman, graduate faculty representative, argued if the motion was adopted that the senate was just ratifying the legal counsel's judgment. Other senators argued the Screening Committee had already decided the jurisdiction question and Mager's opinion was not necessary. The report will remain with the senate pending further action.

Expro is a plan which would supposedly add more student control and more student participation in the news gathering operations of the Daily Egyptian. The senate approved the plan in essence last summer. The Interim Board, an ad hoc committee of the senate, was formed to implement the essence of Expro. The report was sent to the senate in February after which the committee was disbanded. It was decided the management committee would make recommendations based on the report.

The senate also refused to consider a legislative proposal to revise and expand the presidential advisory group recently appointed by President David R. Derge to study tenure, salary and promotion.

The proposal was made by Jim Peters, undergraduate representative and student body vice president. In order to consider the proposal Monday, approval of 26 senators was necessary. The vote on a motion to consider the plan was 15 to 15 with 2 abstentions. The proposal will be on the May agenda.

Under Peters' proposal, the group would be expanded to 12 members with six students as six faculty. There would be an equal number of male and female members in both constituencies.

The scope and authority of the group would be expanded to include research for possible new creative and innovative teaching methods.

The senate also refused to consider a legislative proposal made by Gary Dickerson, undergraduate representative, concerning a community fee. The vote on immediate consideration was 10 to 22 against immediate consideration.

Under Dickerson's proposal, the senate would have approved the concept of a community fee which would be used to fund such University-wide services as the Daily Egyptian, the Health Service, campus recreational facilities and the U-Senate.

Italy to build world's largest suspension bridge

ROME (AP)—The Italian government is planning to build the world's longest suspension bridge across the Strait of Messina to Sicily. It will be 9,000 feet long, take five to eight years to complete and include a six-lane highway.
 The bridge will have four massive towers, each 100 to 650 feet taller than New York's Empire State building.

educational opportunity grants, law enforcement educational loans, national defense loans and the federally financed portion of the student work program.

Charles E. Gray, assistant to the director of SIU Student Work and Financial Assistance, said the U.S. Office of Education now will require that students who claim to be independent of their parents must submit certain proofs of that fact in order to qualify for the four types of federal aid. Gray said it is possible that many students who now consider themselves independent may be reclassified as dependent under the new regulations.

Nearly 2,800 students are listed as independent and have filed ACT financial need analysis forms which are required before the student can qualify for federally assisted financial aid programs.

Under the new guidelines no student can be classified as independent and self-supporting if his parents have claimed him as an exemption for income tax purposes during the preceding year, if he lives with his parents four months or more each year, or if he receives $200 annually in cash or otherwise from his parents.

Gray said those students who wish to be considered independent must provide the University with a notarized statement completed by his parents that he does not fall into any of the three categories. Previously the decision whether a student was dependent or independent was largely at the discretion of individual financial aids officers.

Gray said that a student whose classification is changed under the new regulations still may qualify for aid under some other programs such as the state student work program, Illinois guaranteed loans, SIU tuition scholarships and junior college scholarships. These programs do not come under the federal guidelines.

pen," Gruny said. "It's not up to me to agree to a compromise. It's up to the Board and to the individuals involved."

Gruny explained that each of the four receiving notices from the IRS could take a personal appeal to court if their salaries are cut.

The four raises in question were part of a group of raises approved by the Board last December. When figured individually, the raise for Loyer, Rendleman and Brown amounted to about an 18 per cent increase. Derge's $50,000 salary represents an increase of some 32 per cent.

The Carbondale Federation of University Teachers (CFUT) had criticized the pay raises and indicated intentions of filing a complaint with the federal Pay Board in Washington. However, Jonathan Seldin, who was CFUT president when the raises were announced,

Area thefts include auto, bicycle, skis

Kari March, 19, Carbondale, told police her three-month-old puppy is missing from her trailer in Carbondale.

Miss March said the dog was locked in her bedroom when she left the trailer Saturday morning but was gone when she returned later in the day.

The dog, a gray and white Husky with a black back, answers to the name of Tony, she said, and was wearing a silver choke chain. She put its value at $100.

A five-speed Schwinn bicycle belonging to Kevin Veiten, 20, Carbondale, was reported stolen Friday.

Veiten said the bike, a brown Sport Collegiate valued at $75, had been chained to a pole in front of Wilson Hall. He said the chain had been cut.

Donna Burney, 28, Carbondale, reported the theft of two blackwall tires from near Evergreen Terrace Saturday.

The woman told police the tires, valued at $60, were lying on the ground at 9 a.m. but were discovered missing at 8:50 p.m.

Bambi Ware, 17, Mae Smith Hall, reported her wallet missing.

has said the complaint which eventually was filed was not filed by the organization.

"I am pleased to hear the result," Seldin said when the IRS action was disclosed.

Garth Gillan, current president of CFUT, also said he was gratified by the IRS ruling.

"We have always felt that an injustice is done to the faculty who receive minimum raises when administrators receive salaries out of proportion to those who teach," he said. "This is especially true with our limited resources and the number of teachers who have been released."

Gillan said the pay raises given administrators had created a "tremendous morale problem among the faculty."

Raises granted former systems vice presidents I.P. Brackett at Carbondale and Ralph Ruffner at Edwardsville apparently were not affected by the IRS ruling. An increase from $33,000 to $34,320 for Brackett was approved by the trustees in December and he was appointed vice president for academic affairs in January. Ruffner became a vice president for the Edwardsville campus and got the same pay raise.

Editorials Overkill

For the past few years the United States has been trying to solve its pollution problems. The law has been cracking down on industries which pollute lakes, drivers who pollute highways and factories with billowing smokestacks. Glass and like materials not easily disposed of are being recycled. There is much of this "save our environment" going on, but it seems that trying to solve one problem only creates another. A good example is the 1972 automobile.

Car manufacturers are trying to follow the guidelines of the Clean Air Act of 1970. The Act requires manufacturers to remove 90 per cent of the pollutants from emissions by 1975. At the same time, they must conform to pollution standards of local and state agencies.

The automobile manufacturers, therefore, have been trying to perfect a way to cut down on emission pollutants. At present, they are setting the carburetors to allow more air than fuel to pass into the combustion chambers of the engine. This has reduced pollutants but the cars now have trouble starting.

The new engines are also being designed to burn gasoline faster to reduce pollutants. The heat used to burn the gasoline could increase mileage, but the new cars are getting fewer miles per gallon.

The United States may be going overboard with the pollution bit. It is pointless to set a specific deadline for car manufacturers, to cut pollution. Trying to make a complete changeover from any established system may create more problems than existed before.

This is usually the case for industries. They are trying to make the world a better place to live in and no one can do everything at once. It takes time. If they devote all their time to stop pollution, something else will have to be slighted.

You can't have your cake, and eat it too!

'Back-room politics'

To the Daily Egyptian:

As I left the Carbondale City Council meeting Wednesday night, I was hard put to understand why the council had voted down a resolution supporting the sale of beer on campus. A month earlier Mayor Eckert endorsed the idea as a partial answer to the Illinois Ave. "Street Party" problem. WSU-TV, "Spot Light On Southern Illinois", devoted a program on the question and it was clearly shown that the students and administration approved of Beer in the Student Center. I appeared on the WCIL-Radio "Hot Line" show with a liquor merchant, and a student from the Baptist Center, to debate the question. Listeners were asked to call the station and vote on the issue...three-fourths of the vote was in favor of beer on campus.

One councilman said he didn't like the idea of the University selling alcohol. Another said that students shouldn't have to be forced to associate with beer drinking students. And probably the best reason given was that of Councilman Jones who said "...I just can't see it." He didn't say what he couldn't see, but he made it clear that it wasn't in sight. I addressed the council and explained that the University wouldn't sell alcohol, Interstate United would hold the license and vend the alcohol, also that beer would only be sold in the "Big Muddy" room of the Student Center and that non-drinking students would not be forced to associate with drinking students. The councilmen had no comment. It might look like a little "back-room politics."

Anderson rapped

To the Daily Egyptian:

M.C. Chagla is a distinguished Indian Jurist. It is reported that he chaired a recent meeting in Bombay in which he extolled the services of the Prince of Muckrakers—Jack Anderson.

Granted that Anderson pulled-off a significant coup in inducing a disgruntled democratic appointee to unload a series of Minutes—what was new in them? Anyone who followed Mr. Nixon's career can read for himself that the President is opposed to the Socialist policies of a series of Indian Administrations. The result of Mr. Anderson's self-serving revelations was prolonged misery for the twice-smitten Bengalis. If he had also analyzed the necessity for a war at that juncture, he would have thrown light to the debate.

On the other hand, by choosing the sensational over the constructive, he managed to increase his clients and create bitterness between India and the United States, which claim to be democratic. By sensationalizing the obvious, he indirectly caused the death of more people than the number of American boys killed in Vietnam.

Richard Nixon's achievements are many; a Liberal columnist would probably call them iniquities. Of course, one cannot explain away Jaundiced vision. On the other hand, American journalism produced giants who counseled governments. The sagacity of men like William White and Walter Lippman can never be disputed.

It must be admitted to the eternal discredit of Richard Nixon that he brings out the worst from these Liberal columnists. To think that a man whose modus-operandi involves garbage inspection, whose veracity is never one hundred percent, to whom objectivity is alien, and who always shared the "comics" section, should become the lion of American fourth estate...Oh! Richard Nixon, what evil hath you wrought?

So, the question remains, what did Jack Anderson really achieve, at what expense, and when will he go the way of Westbrook Pegler?

Allen support

To the Daily Egyptian:

On February 18, 1972, immediately after the Board of Trustees meeting on the Edwardsville campus of SIU, the Student Government of SIU Edwardsville came out with the following resolution:

Whereas: The Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees has by its denial of tenure to Douglas M. Allen severely hampered the educational stature of the University in the eyes of the students;

And whereas: But its action the Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees has moved toward an academic atmosphere of totalitarian rule disregarding and denying the right of freedom of speech and belief;

And whereas: The Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees has significantly encroached on traditional areas of academic freedom;

Be it resolved: That we, the Student Caucus of the University Senate of Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville forward this vote of no confidence in the Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees and their decision regarding Douglas M. Allen, and call for the immediate resignation of all Board members voting in favor of denial of tenure to Douglas M. Allen.

Concerted effort

To the Daily Egyptian:

Due to the enormous crowds who turned out to see "Triumph of the Will" (2,200 to be exact), we were often unable to show the second film, "Night and Fog." As this Tuesday is Warsaw Ghetto Memorial Day, we will show it free at that time in the Student Center Room A. Both films contain one of the most important messages of that disastrous event; that is, the murder of 6 million Jews was not the work of a few madmen. It was accomplished with the full knowledge and energetic effort of blue and white collar workers, professionals, the academic community, and many within the Christian clergy. Such a fact makes no nation on earth immune from such another deadly epidemic.

You are what you eat

By Arthur Hoppe
Chronicle Features

"It's knowing what you're eating that keeps you going," my friend, Buckwall, who is something of a health nut, is fond of saying.

At least that's what he used to be fond of saying. Then the other day the Food & Drug Administration finally made public that amounts of rodent droppings, insect fragments, worms, rat hairs and the like that it allows in processed foods. Disaster looms!

It's not merely publishing the list of rodent droppings, insect frag... (Let's not talk about it.) We Americans, thanks to years and years of experience, are amazingly conditioned to read such things in our morning paper, shudder, and forget the whole matter within an average of 7.3 minutes.

The problem is that some fanatic is bound to demand that the Food & Drug Administration start enforcing the Truth in Packaging Laws.

There's my friend, Buckwall, bleakly awakening and pouring his bracing, eye-opening glass of chilled tomato juice—which, he reads on the can, "contains tomatoes, benzoate of soda, artificial coloring and no more than 10 fruit fly eggs or larvae in 100 grams."

"Who wants eggs for breakfast?" says Buckwall, shaking himself like a wet dog. And he reaches for the grapefruit juice instead.

He takes a sip before seeing his Government has guaranteed him that every 250 millimeters has in it no more than "ten drosophila eggs or two drosophila larvae."

"Good Lord!" he cries, feeling the glands in his neck. "I've got drosophila!"

Staggering to the freezer, he pulls out the kippers. And quickly puts them back. "No more than five per cent of the fish herein," boasts the label, "have a definite odor of decomposition over no more than 25 per cent of their bodies."

"Fruit," he mutters, "that's the ticket." And he grabs the raspberries—which, he notes, "contain an average of fewer than ten larvae and insects per 500 grams, not counting thrips, aphids and mites."

"When it comes to thrips, aphids and mites," mumbles Buckwall, who is beginning to look a little dazed, "who counts?"

He now faces a difficult choice of whether to put apple butter or peanut butter on his cornmeal fritters—until he discovers that the apple butter may have four rodent hairs per 50 grams, the peanut butter only one and the cornmeal two. But the cornmeal may also contain two rodent pellets as well, not to mention...

"Rats!" he screams and he throws the whole mess out.

Of course, Buckwall can live on nuts, no more than ten percent of which are "rancid, moldy, gummy or shriveled." Or brussel sprouts, where they do, unfortunately, count the aphids and thrips. Or popcorn, which is very low in rat hairs. Or...

Well, you might think Buckwall and the rest of the Nation will starve to death. Not Buckwall, though. Knowing him, he'll turn to a diet of alcohol, which is at least sterilizing. And he'll drink himself to death.

But he deserves it. For he's dead wrong. In this great land of ours, the only thing that keeps us going is not knowing what we're eating.

What kind of world?

Tax reform emerges again

By Harry S. Ashmore
Los Angeles Times Syndicate

By the time the Democratic presidential hopefuls came to reckoning in Wisconsin, the bitter, pervasive complaints of the electorate had begun to show signs of jelling into one comprehensive issue: tax reform.

The ground in the Badger State had been well plowed by her two outspoken U.S. senators. Gaylord Nelson is at work on a comprehensive tax reform bill aimed at plugging the loopholes that benefit the affluent. And shocking evidence of the gross maldistribution of the tax burden is piling up under the skilled probing of William Proxmire's Joint Economic Committee.

The graduated federal income tax enacted in 1913 was hailed as a capitalistic society's answer to the Socialist demand for redistribution of wealth. It was designed to promote social equity under a progressive scale that placed the heaviest burden of taxation upon those of greatest wealth, with the proceeds going to pay for services of benefit to all citizens, including those too poor to pay any share of the cost.

Two generations of special interest finagling and congressional tampering with the income-tax structure, however, has all but reversed the principle upon which it was founded. A Brookings Institution study prepared for Senator Proxmire's committee documents the manner in which the progressive element has been all but eliminated, thereby placing a disproportionate tax burden on low-income families.

The poorest one-fifth of American (some 6 million families subsisting on approximately $3,000 a year) takes home only 3.4 per cent of the national income, while the top on-fifth (over $12,000 a year) gets almost one-half the total.

Despite individual income tax rates running from 14 per cent to 70 per cent, income distribution is not significantly different before and after taxes. The actual spread of tax payments between poor and rich is only 8 per cent.

The total of "tax subsidies" (credits, exclusions and so forth) largely of benefit to the affluent now stands at $63 billion annually.

The preferential tax treatment for capital gains, as opposed to earned income, results in tax savings of $12,320 a week for millionaires, against 17 to 46 cents per week for average taxpayers.

The National Committee for an Effective Congress suggests why these evident inequities have been so long emerging as a prime issue in national politics:

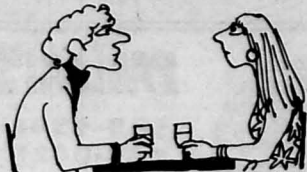

"When the Democrats put Richard Nixon on the spot on tax reform, they put themselves on the spot. One reason the issue of unjust taxation has languished is because complicity in the Treasury raid is bipartisan. Recalling the 1969 attempt at tax reform which turned into a Christmas tree, one Democrat says in disgust: 'After all our palaver about new priorities for the Seventies we gave away over $100 billion in tax cuts, mainly for the wealthy.'"

Now, with mea culpas sounding among Democrats powerfully placed in Congress, and finding an echo among the stumping candidates, the party shows signs of recognizing an issue the Nixon Administration may not be able to finess with its usual public relations technique.

The White House inner circle's affinity for privileged interests is blatantly evident in the handing out of tax rulings, merger approvals, SEC findings and the like—so much so it subordinates the record of the opposition when it was in position to dispense these favors. "Most politicians have constituents," Sen. Nelson says, "but this Administration has clients."

The kind of sweeping tax reform needed would literally redirect the nation's economic course. To accomplish it, we must begin with a recognition that we are faced with, above all, a moral question. "It was the issue of Rome, of the French and American revolutions," NCEC reminds. "The scandal today is that, with full representation, U.S. taxation has been grossly unfair in its distribution of the benefits and burdens of our affluence."

Gallery 51 schedules art exhibits

A spring quarter schedule of exhibits for Gallery 51, a new art gallery in the old Student Center bookstore windows, has been announced by Clarence G. Dougherty, director of the Student Center.

The current exhibit, featuring works by Larry Clark, a junior majoring in art, will continue until April 20.

From April 21 through May 4, student work from the Drawing 441 class taught by Dan Wood, professor of art, will be displayed.

This will be followed by an exhibit of plastics and sculptures made by Aldon Addington, professor of art, and a display of photographs by John Steele of the University of California at Berkeley. Both exhibits will be on display from May 5 to May 19.

The final exhibit of the quarter will be the winners of the Graduate and Undergraduate Art Show. This exhibit will be on display from May 19 through June 2.

Mrs. John Wright of the Carbondale Garden Council was among the speakers at a brief ceremony Monday to mark Carbondale's Arbor Day. A small crowd gathered to watch on the northeast corner of Wall and Walnut Streets, where six large trees were planted Saturday. Area school children will plant 2,000 seedlings in addition to 25 larger trees planted Saturday. The trees were donated by SIU. (Photo by John Lopinot)

Stevenson to talk at political dinner

Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., will be in Carbondale Friday to speak at a fund-raising dinner in behalf of Kenneth V. Buzbee of Carbondale, Democratic candidate for state senator from the 58th Legislative District.

The dinner is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. Friday in the Renaissance Room of the SIU Student Center. Tickets are $25 per couple and can be obtained by phoning 549-7052 or 684-4928. Dinner chairman is C. Horton Talley, dean of the College of Communications and Fine Arts.

Two-day run too short

'Deux 18' deserves longer exposure time

By Glenn Amato
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

"Deux 18," which The Southern Repertory Dance Company opened Saturday and then shut like a mousetrap Sunday at Furr Auditorium, deserved, like last quarter's "Poor Polluted Me," longer exposure. The senior concert production, co-choreographed by Dan Fehlig and David Westphal, had a certain style and flair that proved to be its saving graces when things began to fall apart near the finish.

The production was very classily put together—lots of handsome lighting, costumes and platforms that the company arranged and rearranged like grizzled pros who have been hanging around the wings for years—and for their part, Fehlig and Westphal provided some equally classy choreography.

The opening "Fanfares" featured the ladies of the company swaying to Janacek's "Sinfonietta for Orchestra, Op 60"—an unusual piece with staging and costuming to match, with the ladies wearing Ku Klux Klan-like sheets.

"Westwind," danced to Aaron Copland's "Billy The Kid," was an interpretation of the pioneers' westward movement—the men's conviction of a better life, their women's fears, the frontier town's lawlessness and the sense of limitless expansion. It's a stirring, massive theme, and Westphal contributed choreography to match.

"Duets" and the "Up Where The People Are" turkey trot from "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" were fast, amusing bits; they ended as fast as they began and had a nice heels-in-the-air flourish.

The last two numbers in the program, "Chopsticks" and "Night Rush," which was danced in three sections, were letdowns. While watching "Chopsticks" I had the impression that it had been lifted straight out of one of the company's shows from last quarter. The resemblance wasn't so much amazing as it was ultimately disappointing: why, I wondered, did Fehlig and Westphal bother padding their production with this nonsense when it had been done before (and not very well at that)?

The problem with "Night Rush" was one of Fehlig not knowing when to call it quits. It began well enough, with a rather sweet laziness, but then began to stretch on and on like some endless piece of taffy. In attempting to explore the outer limits of his creative abilities—using electronic music, flashing lights and so forth—Fehlig scored a cropper with this arch and interminable emptiness.

Both choreographers used their stage space cleverly, with little groups moving in counterpoint and then joining en masse for the finale. When the music had sweep, or was bright and brassy, all was well—and for most of "Deux 18," all was well enough.

Information offered about monorail system at SIU

Students interested in learning more about the proposed monorail system for the SIU campus should contact Tom Miller of the Student Senate Campus Physical Facilities Committee.

Miller said Friday that he hopes to educate people on the subject because a University wide referendum on the project is tentatively scheduled for May 17.

Miller said interested students may contact him in the student government offices on the second floor of the Student Center.

IPIRG to tell fat content of Carbondale ground beef

The Illinois Public Interest Research Group (IPIRG) will announce findings Wednesday of tests of ground beef bought in Carbondale grocery stores.

Walter Saraniecki, food and nutrition sciences senior and IPIRG member, said tests of fat and water content were conducted April 6 on samples of ground beef bought in 13 Carbondale stores.

Results of the tests, conducted with a Hobart meat analyzer machine in the food and nutrition department, will be published in the Daily Egyptian.

"Since a vast majority of students live on a ground beef diet, IPIRG decided to investigate the quality of the ground beef that students buy," Saraniecki said.

He said IPIRG studies had indicated students know nothing about the fat and water content of the meat they buy.

This is the second survey-test of ground beef from local stores conducted by IPIRG. Last fall the group reported that ground beef from two stores among those tested had fat content exceeding the 30 per cent limit allowed by state and federal regulations.

"In some areas," Saraniecki said, "the food stores include in their advertising the fat and water content levels of their ground beef. IPIRG hopes that the same sort of project can be started in Carbondale."

Saraniecki, who conducted the meat analyses, said the Hobart machine is accurate to within 1 per cent in measuring the fat and water in ground beef. The machine is used to test meat bought by the University.

One-pound packages were bought from each of the stores, he explained. From each of these samples, two ounces of meat were measured and molded into doughnut-shaped forms, which were placed on a metal screen over a funnel and electrically heated for 15 minutes in the analyzer machine.

Saraniecki explained the process separates the fat and water, which run into a test tube beneath the funnel and are measured.

The IPIRG spokesman said that although ground beef cannot contain more than 30 per cent fat and still be labeled ground beef under the law, the content of water and volatiles other than fat can be higher and the product can still be good.

"A hamburger which has low water and volatiles content is dry and usually tasteless," he commented.

IPIRG is a non-profit, non-partisan group concerned with consumer protection and other social issues and is supported by student government funds.

Hillel observes ghetto uprising

A program sponsored by the Hillel Foundation to commemorate the Warsaw Ghetto Uprising will be offered Tuesday starting at noon in Ballroom A of the Student Center.

Each hour thereafter until 6 p.m. there will be a free showing of the movie "Night and Fog." The film deals with the Nazi concentration camps of World War II.

The Hebrew month of Nisan, which corresponds to April, has been set aside since 1945 to commemorate the extermination of Europe's six million Jews.

Socialist, Demo to debate issues

Laura Miller, representing Linda Jeness, presidential candidate of the Socialist Worker's Party, will meet Danny Day, who will represent Edmund Muskie, Democratic candidate for president in a debate at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Student Center Ballrooms.

According to a Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) representative, each candidate will present a 10-minute speech to be followed by debate and questions from the audience.

The event is sponsored by the student government and the YSA.

Statute prohibits Ogilvie's intervention in Allen case

By Richard Lorenz
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Graduate Student Council (GSC) has been told Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie does not have any authority concerning the question of Doug Allen's tenure.

The information was contained in a letter from John P. Dailey, special assistant to the governor, to D. Reid Clark, president of the GSC.

"The statutes of Illinois do not vest the governor with authority in the matter of faculty tenure in state universities," Dailey said. "The matter is appropriately an issue with the Board of Trustees and the courts."

Dailey's letter was in response to a letter sent by the GSC to Ogilvie. In the council's letter, the GSC called the board's justifications for not granting Allen tenure "unsupported" and "hopelessly inane." The council asked Ogilvie to take appropriate action to insure Allen is granted tenure.

Chorale to make debut concert performance

By University News Service

The 65-member Chorale, newest performing ensemble in the School of Music, will make its public bow on the campus Friday.

The group, organized and conducted by Dan Pressley, assistant professor of voice, will present the Midwest premiere performance of Benjamin Britten's "Cantata Academica," featuring soloists, chorale and orchestra.

Officers of the new ensemble are Michael E. Dixon of Bronx, N.Y., president; Vicki Mayo of Plymouth, secretary; Lucretia Aldridge of Wolf Lake, treasurer; Alyce L. McMeen of Carbondale, and Stephen Hamilton of Boone, Iowa, accompanist; and Jerome S. Rogers of Downers Grove, manager.

Pressley, whose music degrees are from the University of Michigan, joined the SIU faculty last fall. His chorale ensembles at other universities—Heidelberg College, Hillsdale College and Midwestern University—have toured extensively in the United States, and his own recent performances have taken him to Europe, Canada and Mexico as well as the U.S.

The Chorale concert will be presented at 8 p.m. at the First Methodist Church. It is open to the public without charge.

Bicycle clinic to commence Wednesday in Student Center

A bicycle clinic sponsored by the SIU Cycling Club and Student Government's cultural affairs committee will be conducted 1 to 5 p.m. Wednesday in Ballroom B in the Student Center.

Michael Olson, Cycling Club president, said the purpose of the clinic is to give information on general maintenance and basic repairs of bicycles.

Olson said information will include flat tire repair and adjusting a bicycle to body size.

In addition to numerous bikes on display, Olson said a special feature will be a stationary bicycle. An EKG machine will be provided so that visitors can test their heart action after a ride on the stationary bike.

"The clinic is open to the public.

Tina Turner invades Arena late; presents worthwhile performance

By Glenn Amato
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

And now, if you'll excuse me, I'm going to write my own little love letter to Tina Turner—the thing to do these days, it seems, and the correct thing, too.

She entered—no, invaded—the Arena Friday night after what seemed like an eternity of waiting—since last December, to be exact—but when she began singing "Do You Like Good Music?" and hammering the tune down with her very busy feet for emphasis, one knew immediately that the wait had been worthwhile.

To be sure, her voice is not pretty. At times she had to really screech to make herself heard above the deafening arrangements, and since she is not a soft-spoken performer to begin with, the effect was uncomfortable, rather like listening to someone running her carefully manicured nails across a blackboard.

But she is a complete performer, and that in itself is a rare enough asset. The lady is a born dancer; she not only moves but takes absolute command of whatever space she happens to be occupying. She throws herself completely into the song and dance—"Get Back," "Proud Mary," "Higher," "Honky Tonk Woman," whatever—and never once loses her cool nor our at-ention. She makes everything look effortless, which is her very special genius, and when she struts across the stage, or grins, or begins a dance buildup, she knocks everyone and everything else on its ear.

The production is centered around her, which is fortunate, because it was lost without her. The opening group sounded as if it had never laid eyes on an arrangement sheet before. They played sloppily ("Shaft" sounded as if the parts had been telephoned in), and having been wired for the kind of sound that the Arena can't tolerate, came across as an electronic blizzard.

Things picked up tremendously in

ITT tattler speaks Wednesday night

Jan Tranchita
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Called the "modern muckraker" by the New York Times and the "Scourge of Washington" by Time Magazine, Jack Northman Anderson has switched jobs in the last few weeks. Instead of just writing news, he is making the headlines.

Anderson, who writes "Washington Merry-Go-Round," a controversial column that has disturbed quite a few people in recent weeks by disclosing information linking the Republican Party and ITT, will speak Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Student Center Ballrooms, not at 2 p.m. as previously reported.

Anderson will be the opening speaker in Journalism Week activities and will deliver the Elijah P. Lovejoy lecture. This yearly lecture honors the pre-Civil War editor of Alton, Ill., who was murdered in 1837 as a result of writing anti-slavery editorials.

The columnist is doing a lot of television appearances, radio spots, and campus speeches in an effort to explain his recent charges against ITT and the GOP. In February, he reported that the Justice Department settled an anti-trust suit against ITT on terms favorable to ITT. ITT allegedly gave a $400,000 donation to the Republican party at the same time. So goes the story.

Anderson, with three legmen who do the running and digging for facts, is able to come up with some in-depth reporting that have reportedly sent a number of officials hurrying to hide and destroy a few things.

The 49-year-old Mormon is a staunch admirer of Ralph Nader. The two compare notes and share ideas, all in an effort to defend the people's right to know.

Anderson attributes his muckraking passion to his Mormon teaching, that there is a "struggle between force and freedom, and that good guys are on the side of freedom."

Candidates violate rules in poster placement

By Randy Thomas
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Several candidates for the positions of president and vice-president of the student body and for student senator seats have violated the Student Senate election by-laws concerning campaigning, according to John Conlisk, chairman of the Student Senate Elections Committee.

Conlisk said Monday there has apparently been some misunderstanding concerning a new regulation which prohibits campaign posters from being placed outside on campus or in Carbondale.

Violators of election regulations, according to Conlisk, will have 48 hours to correct the situation. Failure to do so could result in disqualification of the candidate. Conlisk also said that candidates are personally responsible for all of their posters no matter who places them.

- The following is a list of the student senate by-laws concerning campaigning:
1. No posters shall be displayed anywhere outside, either on campus or in Carbondale.
  2. No posters on University bulletin boards shall exceed 11" by 14".
  3. Posters or other campaign material may be displayed where authorized on University buildings, however, posters may only be displayed from residence halls windows if the permission of the resident and his fellow is obtained.

4. No literature may be placed on cars that are parked on University property without the consent of the owner.

5. No candidate shall cause a letter written by him to appear in the Daily Egyptian during the week before elections.

Conlisk said that any student who witnesses a violation of these rules should contact him in the student government offices on the second floor of the student center.

Student opinion about summer term is sought

By Richard Lorenz
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A questionnaire which will try to determine student opinion on summer quarter is going to be distributed to 6,000 undergraduate students this week.

According to James Benziger, chairman of the University Senate Subcommittee on Calendar and Scheduling, the questionnaires will be distributed through the different colleges.

The questionnaire is an attempt to get student opinion on what would constitute the most effective summer quarter. Special emphasis will be placed on the possibility of changing the length of summer quarter.

Students will be given a choice between a full summer quarter of approximately 11 weeks, an eight-week quarter or two successive terms of equal length. The students will be asked to list their preferences on a one to three scale.

"I should like to observe that those universities which run two successive five or six-week summer terms usually offer in these shorter periods most of their regular courses," Benziger said. "The compression is achieved by classes meeting more days a week and for a longer period each day. Under these arrangements students take two, or at the most three, courses during a short term, and those students who wish to attend both short sessions may complete about the same number of credit-hours as during one long summer session."

The questionnaires will be given to Roland Keene, professor in higher education. Keene will tabulate the results.

In addition to the undergraduate opinion, Dean Stuck, assistant dean of graduate studies in the College of Education, will send the questionnaire to several thousand graduate students and teachers who might attend SIU summer quarter.

The questionnaires are another part of the subcommittee's attempt to get some input about summer quarter. Previously, the subcommittee sent questionnaires to all deans and chairmen.

Roughly 10 per cent of the deans and chairmen favored the present summer session. About 45 per cent favored two equal sessions and about 45 per cent favored one, eight-week session.

SIU coed cited at Angel Flight's Dallas convention

Linda Henman, a senior majoring in speech education from Lebanon, was selected first runner-up for the "Little General" award at the national convention of the Arnold Air Society and Angel Flight last month in Dallas, Texas.

Linda represented Illinois, Indiana, Tennessee and Kentucky. Debbie Shawmeyer, SIU Angel Flight commander, said the girls were judged by about 340 convention delegates on participation in the Angel Flight, overall grade point average, extracurricular activities, extemporaneous speaking, personality, overall beauty, figure and poise.

Six men from the SIU Arnold Air Society and 14 girls from the SIU Angel Flight also participated in a singing performance Monday at the national conclave and received four standing ovations from the more than 1,000 people in attendance.

Audience needed for TV program taping session

An audience for the TV program "The Session," is needed for the Wednesday taping in the WSIU-TV studios at 9:30 p.m.

Bruce Scafe, producer of "The Session" said the audience is needed to accommodate the Gand Family Singers, a traditional folk song trio.

Scafe said the Gand Family Singers have appeared at Expo'67 and have performed at the Berkeley Folk Music Festival, the Old Time Fiddler's Convention and the Arkansas Folk Festival.

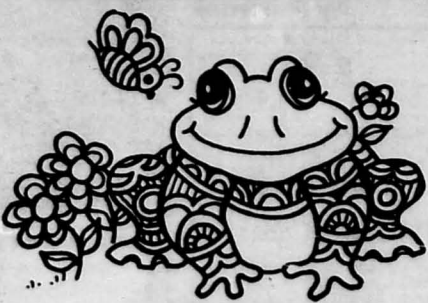

According to Scafe, "The Session," which is broadcast on more than 30 tv stations across the country, needs about 50 people for the audience.

Carbondale installs signal lights to improve city traffic progress

The city of Carbondale has installed nine sets of new traffic signals in a $130,000 attempt to speed the progress of vehicle traffic within the city.

The signals have been activated at the following intersections, according to Harold Hill, city director of streets and sanitation: Walnut Street with Wall, Washington, Illinois and University; Oak Street at University and Illinois; College Street at University and Illinois; and at Sycamore and Ill. 13. Hill said the signals' time cycles have been set by hand to allow traffic to move as evenly as possible through several intersections. However, synchronization of the signals via the use of telephone lines may be completed within a month, allowing traffic to move smoothly within about five miles of the speed limit in a particular area, he said.

Downtown signals will be set on an 80-second cycle during the day and a 60-second cycle at night, allowing main flow traffic about 50 and 40 seconds of "green light" during those periods.

The signals west of downtown on Ill. 13 will be set for a 70-second cycle permanently, allowing more time for left turns, Hill said.

Motorists seemed to adjust well to the new traffic system, with only one minor accident apparently resulting from the changeover from stop signs to signals, Hill said.

Grad operating paper approved by 80 percent

By Monroe Walker
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Nearly 80 percent of the graduate faculty members voting by mail ballot approved the Graduate Council's proposed operating paper. Of the 447 ballots returned, 356 approved, 90 disapproved and one abstained.

The operating paper details the functions and operations of the Graduate School, the duties of the dean, membership and powers of the faculty and the composition and powers of the council. The paper has been reviewed and accepted by the Graduate Council.

The council voted March 10, at its monthly meeting, to send drafts of the operating paper to members of the Graduate Faculty for vote by mail ballot.

The council also voted to send a statement concerning the relationship between standing committees and joint standing committees of the council and the University Senate as an opinion poll to determine the feelings of Graduate Faculty members.

The statement reads: The Graduate Council at the present time maintains standing committees dealing with (1) educational policy and (2) research. Concurrently there are also joint standing committees for these areas in the University Senate. A "yes" vote would indicate your approval of maintaining the authority for these functions in the Graduate Council. A "no" vote would indicate your desire to abandon the Graduate Council committees and transfer authority to the University Senate joint standing committees.

Nearly 90 percent of the graduate faculty members sending in ballots vote "yes." Forty-five of the 444 members voted "no" and five abstained.

I'm too busy to take special reading course.

If you took the course, you wouldn't be so busy.

Stop reading like they did 100 years ago.

100 years ago people read the way you read now. Word by word. Or around 100 words a minute.

A century ago that kind of reading didn't cause any problems. You could keep up with what was happening fairly well.

Now you can't. There's simply too much to read. Too much homework. Too many magazines. Too many books. Too many reports and memos.

The solution is to learn to read faster and more efficiently.

It can be done. So far over 40,000 people have done it. People of all kinds of work with different backgrounds, occupations, professions, religions, etc.

These people have all taken a course developed by W.L. that would get education who spent a great portion of her life learning how to read faster and how to learn others to read faster.

Almost everyone who has taken Mr. Wood's course has at least tripled his reading speed with equal or better comprehension. Most have increased it even more. Some have increased it 10 or even 25 times.

Think what that means now. You can read all of them—even the longest now read an average novel in less than two hours. They read this in 8 or 10 normal school hours.

This doesn't stop or start reading and they actually understand more, remember more and know more of what they've read than they did before they took the course.

You can make the same kind of progress. Even if you're a relatively slow reader.

We're so confident of the results of this course that if you don't triple your reading ability, it won't cost you a cent.

This is the same course President Kennedy had his Chief of Staff take. The same one 25 U.S. senators and representatives have taken.

The course is 8 weeks long and consists of 2 1/2 hour class which meet once a week.

The best way to find out what the course is all about is to attend an hour-long Mini-Lesson.

The Mini-Lesson will introduce you to our classroom procedures. It shows you how we extend your retention and recall. It gives you a glimpse of our retention and recall techniques. The length of even the Mini-Lesson reading faster than when you came in.

Netmen stop three foes

By Ernie Schweit
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

When the 1972 tennis season began, SIU coach Dick LeFevre said his Saluki team could become the school's best ever.

He wasn't kidding. After a disastrous 2-5 Southern trip, the Salukis streaked to their sixth consecutive victory over the weekend with quadrangular wins against Northern Illinois, Memphis State and Illinois on the SIU courts. The Salukis are 8-5.

SIU notched two victories Saturday, beating Illinois, 7-2, and Memphis State, 5-4. On Sunday they iced the victory cake, defeating Northern Illinois, 7-2.

The previous weekend SIU won another home quadrangular when they took Indiana, Northern Iowa and Missouri.

In six matches thus far, Southern Illinois held Missouri and Northern Iowa scoreless while permitting three other teams, Indiana, Illinois and Northern Illinois, only two points apiece. The closest they came to losing was against Memphis State, 5-4.

Against Memphis State, Southern secured four of the six singles matches with Graham Snook, Mike Clayton, David Whitehead and Ray Briscoe all getting victories.

In doubles, however, Memphis State captured two matches when Kevin Green and Davis Moser defeated Snook and Jorge Ramirez while Mark Booth and Bob Leopold defeated Clayton and Briscoe.

The victory margin was provided by the No. 3 doubles team—Chris Gunning and Whitehead—when it defeated Memphis State's John Nichols and David Berryman.

But perhaps the most satisfying weekend victory was the 7-2 against Northern Illinois, and its twins, Tom and Tim Gullikson.

"We've got to go into the Northern match really psyched up," said

SIU's Clayton before the contest. "The Gulliksons are perfectly capable of winning three points against us (two singles and one doubles) and if two of us lose, that's five points gone."

The Gulliksons never had a chance in singles competition as Snook and a healthy Ramirez took the No. 1 and No. 2 singles matches respectively.

Snook defeated Tom G. at the No. 1 spot, 6-3, 6-4 while Ramirez used the same score in beating Tim G. at No. 2.

Snook used an incredibly accurate baseline shot that seemed to have eyes to gain his sixth victory against no setbacks.

"I didn't expect to lose that badly," said Tim after his match with Ramirez. "I expected to win."

The team's next action is Friday when it travels to Terre Haute to meet Indiana State followed by Saturday's encounter at Notre Dame.

Golfers third in Tennessee

Southern Illinois' golf team finished third in the Mid-South Class in Sewanee, Tenn., last weekend.

The Salukis scored as follows in the meet abbreviated to nine holes by bad weather:

Richard Tock, 36; Brad Miller, 36; Geoff Young, 37; Jock Olson, 37;

Vito Saputo, 39; and Jay Wilkinson, 40.

Oddly, the top two teams were also from above the Mason-Dixon Line and in the Midwestern Conference. Illinois State won (142 strokes) and Indiana State (144) was runnerup. Southern Illinois had 146 strokes.

O'Boyle no-hits Kankakee College, 11-0

Kevin O'Boyle threw a no-hitter last Saturday as Southern Illinois' junior varsity baseball team blanked Kankakee Community College, 11-0.

Because the Salukis owned more than a 10-run lead, the game was called after five innings.

O'Boyle's victory came in the season opener and was followed by Bob Ryman's 6-4 win over Kankakee, completing a doubleheader sweep.

On Sunday, reserve varsity pitcher Robin Derry hurled a two-hitter for the jayvees as Southern defeated Three Rivers Junior College, 9-1.

Wayne Venckes absorbed SIU's only weekend loss. The Salukis lost the second of two, 4-0, to Three Rivers.

During the weekend, Dennis Feigenbaum collected six hits in seven trips while Tim Koselke was 5-10.

ptionship since 1967. Other national titles occurred in 1964 and 1966.

Iowa State, who had beaten the runner-up Salukis in last year's affair, dropped one notch to second last weekend with 312.325 while Penn State (311.250) occupied the same position—third—that it has held for the past two NCAA meets.

Final tallies, however, do not reflect an amazing comeback registered by Iowa State which allowed the Cyclones, to surge past Iowa and New Mexico to reach Saturday's three-team finals.

Gene Wettstone, head coach at Penn State, said Friday morning that "Iowa State is out of contention," after the Cyclones suffered through a miserable compulsory round the previous day.

The first session produced a fifth place for ISU (148.40), more than six points behind then-leading Penn State at 154.55. Iowa (153.95), SIU (153.50) and New Mexico (150.90) were others ahead of the host school.

But 5,000 screaming fans in Friday evening's optional round produced what Saluki head coach Bill Meade called a "steamroller" night for Gagnier's crew.

Suddenly, it was the Cyclones, not New Mexico or Iowa, that surged into Saturday's finals and was fiercely gaining momentum.

"That Iowa State crowd kept pushing and pushing them down the line," Meade said.

"But I was proud of my boys and the way they kept their poise while not letting anything rattle them."

By virtue of a combined average score of 158.175 in compulsories and optionals, SIU led Penn State (156.650) and Iowa State (156.050) entering the final session.

"I was most concerned about Iowa State Saturday," Meade stated. "I didn't feel Penn State could do an adequate job on optionals."

Southern amassed 157.750 points in the finals to the Cyclones' 156.275, thus widening it's victory margin.

That individual Saluki mark was lower than SIU's nation-leading season average of 163, but the NCAA meet utilized the Olympic judging procedures.

A gymnast was given a maximum 9.4 score if he flawlessly showed the necessary parts to his routine. Other tenths would be added only for "difficulty, originality and virtuosity."

Southern Illinois had dedicated the meet to former SIU gymnast John Arnold, killed in a December, 1970, auto accident near Ames while SIU headed for competition in the Iowa Invitational.

Speaking of the team title, Meade offered, "We had to feel pretty hopeful of our title chances at the beginning of the year. If I'm not, then how can the guys on the team expect to be optimistic."

The majority of Southern Illinois gymnasts return next season. Only graduates include Lindner, Steve Duke and Jerry Boddy.

Other Saluki gymnasts on 1972's national championship squad are Bill Beebe, Dan Brunging, Jeff Farris, Hembd, Steve Holthaus, Jack Laurie-Morava, Dave Oliphant and Jac. Willard.

Also Rich Hawthorne, who competed all season but missed the nationals due to a sprained ankle.

Just what does Meade expect for an encore in 1973?

"Actually this is the best team that I've ever coached, But next year," his voice trailed off, "next year could even be better."

Who'll catch doubleheader with Illini?

By Mike Klein
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Richard "Itch" Jones claims he's not disappointed with the .229 combined hitting of catchers Larry "Moose" Calufetti and John Raibley.

Nevertheless, Jones wasn't sure Monday afternoon who'll start behind the plate when Southern Illinois journeys to Champaign for a 2 p.m. Tuesday doubleheader.

"It'll depend on their pitching," Jones said. "If they throw a rightie, it'll be Raibley. If it's a lefty, Calufetti will start."

Raibley has yet to better .250 since the early going and .220 represents a climb from the .160's Calufetti was hitting three weeks ago.

"I think Calufetti's the better hitter but he's just been in a slump," Jones said. "Raibley's hit the ball well; they just don't always fall in."

Jones hinted he'll platoon catchers until "one of them gets hot and can give us the extra hitting we need." The other will likely be groomed for pinch-hitting.

Most certainly, Calufetti's a hitter. He's a slow, very strong 215-pounder who's been victimized by some fielding gems of late.

"I feel sorry for the guy," speedster Danny Thomas said the other day. "He's got to hit it out of here to get on base."

Calufetti's hit the ball out just once, a screaming liner that rattled Memphis State's brains 10 days ago. Two doubles are Calufetti's only other extra base hits.

His has been a season long slump that follows strong hitting last fall and shiny performances in the 1971 College World Series and summer Pan-American Games.

The "Moose" led all World Series hitters with .533 and earned selection to the All-Tourney team after a season spent backing up All-Midwestern Conference catcher Bob Sedik. Then "Moose" split catching duties for the United States Pan-Am entrant and wound up an All-Pan Am selection.

So over the long haul, "Moose" should be alright.

Raibley's a much traveled 25-year old who's been to Murray State and Vietnam since his original Saluki days four years ago.

He walked on last fall, beat out all contenders for Calufetti's back-up and

NBA bypasses Greg

Associated Press reports through the Daily Egyptian's late deadline Monday night did not reveal Greg Starrick had been drafted by any National Basketball Association team. The NBA conducted its draft Monday.

Starrick was selected by the NBA Portland Trailblazers in last year's talent hunt. The ABA Floridians retain rights to Starrick should he choose the younger league.

LaRue Martin of Chicago Loyola was Monday's first pick. He went to Portland.

Weather an obstacle Trackmen win twice in Kentucky Relays

By Ken Stewart
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Southern Illinois, other track teams and unattached athletes found an unexpected foe at the Kentucky Relays last weekend—the weather.

"It was miserable," said SIU coach Lew Hartzog about the 35 degree temperatures and 25 mph winds that greeted his men in Lexington, Ky. Furthermore, "they had to put salt on the track to melt ice from the night before."

Being without a field house during the indoor months, the Salukis took this early spring chill in stride by sweeping two relays. They won a second, third, two fourths and a fifth in other events.

With Eddie Sutton, Terry Erickson, Stanley Patterson and Ivory Crockett working together SIU won the 880-yard relay in 1:25.4, followed closely by Indiana (1:26.5). Fellow Midwestern Conference member Illinois State was third.

The same SIU four-man squad also ran away with the 440-yard relay in 40.9, three-tenths of a second behind Indiana's meet record set two years ago.

Kentucky State and Tennessee were second and third with identical times of 41.5. ISU was fourth.

In the 100-meter dash, Crockett finished second after a very close finish with winner—and old nemesis—Jim Green. Both men were clocked in 10.5.

The loss was a heartbreaker for Crockett. As Hartzog put it, "Ivory got out of the block real good and led Green most of the way by about a foot. But Green leaned forward at the end in a photo finish."

Hartzog went on, "I thought that the 100 and the 40.9 (440) relay were exceptional. The weather was so cold we didn't have good passes in the 440 and 880 relays but they did an outstanding job."

Southern's Mike Bernard finished third in the high jump with a 6-8 effort. Finishing second, also with a 6-8, was world-record holder (7-6½) Pat Matzdorf of Wisconsin. Dennis Adama of Indiana won at 7-0.

Saluki newcomer Phil Robins was fourth in the triple jump at 47-10, while SIU placed fourth in distance medley and fifth in the sprint medley relays.

Freshman Jack St. John finished the steeplechase in 9:25.9, six-tenths of a second better than the SIU record set by Joe Thomas in 1961.

The new mark didn't count because St. John was off the line when timed. But Hartzog said it will only be a matter of time before the lanky Des Plaines product breaks the school mark.

Although no team scores were kept, Southern's two relay wins were matched by only one other school—Bowling Green State in the sprint medley and mile.

Hartzog said the Salukis are fortunate to have gotten away from Lexington minus injuries.

"I'm happy about this because our U. of I. dual meet is this weekend and we'll need everything that will go."

Owners add $400,000, players say 'No thanks'

Major league baseball owners added $400,000 to their offer to striking players, their chief negotiator said Monday, but, because of a condition, it was received unfavorably by the players' top representative.

John Gaherin, speaking for the owners, told The Associated Press that, after meeting in Washington earlier in the day with Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association, and chief federal mediator J. Curtis Counts, he and Miller returned to New York where the new offer was made—and all but rejected.

Gaherin said the owners "adjusted our proposal of yesterday Sunday upward conditionally."

"We offered to agree to using $400,000 of the gains in the pension plan for additional pension benefits in addition to our commitment to a health program of $490,000."

Prior to this year, the owners provided $5.4 million yearly for the pension plan. The players demanded a 17 per cent increase in pension payments and struck when the owners refused.

But the condition-covering back pay for games or dates already lost in the 10-day strike—apparently will bring a rejection of the offer by the players, Gaherin suggested.

The problem here is that the players want to be paid for the full season if all 162 games are played. But the owners base a full season if all 162 games are played. But the owners base a full season on 162 days, not 162 games, and thus would deduct from each player's salary the pay which would have gone to him for each day of the strike, even if games already lost are made up later.

In general figures, this means that, if the players accepted the offer and games were played Tuesday, the average player—one making $22,500—would lose $1,236 for the 10-day strike.

Later, Miller and the player representatives engaged in a conference telephone call with Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.
