4-10-1990

The Daily Egyptian, April 10, 1990

Daily Egyptian Staff

Follow this and additional works at: https://opensiuc.lib.siu.edu/de_April1990
Volume 75, Issue 132

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Daily Egyptian 1990 at OpenSIUC. It has been accepted for inclusion in April 1990 by an authorized administrator of OpenSIUC. For more information, please contact opensiuc@lib.siu.edu.
Lack of funding forces re-evaluation of spending plan
By Brian Gross
Staff Writer
University officials have developed a spending plan for the fiscal year 1991 budget because no new program dollars were provided in the governor's budget.

Vice President for Academic Affairs and Research Benjamin A. Shepherd asked the colleges and schools to identify their priority funding needs for help in developing his budget plans.

"The information will be useful to me for planning purposes," Shepherd said. "It will guide our decisions when we get the fiscal 1991 budget."

Shepherd said his prioritizing process is closely interrelated with Gov. James R. Thompson's proposed budget which allows no new money for programs.

"Plans have to be developed since less is expected (in the budget)," Shepherd said. "They are not budget cuts, but we are not getting new money. We have to re-prioritize our needs, scaling them down to reflect the budget."

Shepherd said his spending plan for the fiscal year 1991, despite a bleak outlook for state funding.

Benjamin A. Shepherd, vice president for academic affairs and research, sent a letter to each dean asking how they would use funds with their budgets.

"There will be less money, but I have set up priorities (based on the dean's input)," Shepherd said.

James Tweedy, dean of the College of Agriculture, said Shepherd basically asked each college, "If you had the money, would you spend it?"

Tweedy said he prioritized the College of Agriculture's needs as support cost increases, a master's degree in food and nutrition, and a new facility position for hotel and restaurant management.

"When we budget our operation funds each year, they go into two categories: personal service and support costs," he said.

Seven deans reveal top funding priorities
By Tony Mancuso
Staff Writer
Seven deans of SIU-C colleges list employees, support costs and new programs as top funding priorities for fiscal year 1991, despite a bleak outlook for state funding.

Benjamin A. Shepherd, vice president for academic affairs and research, sent a letter to each dean asking how they would use funds within their units.

"There will be less money, but I have set up priorities (based on the deans' input)," Shepherd said.

James Tweedy, dean of the College of Agriculture, said Shepherd basically asked each college, "If you had the money, would you spend it?"

Tweedy said he prioritized the priority needs. The information Shepherd gathered was also presented to the SIU-C Executive Committee for Strategic Planning.

SIU-C requested more than $8 million for new programs. The request was then cut to $2 million.

Lack of funding forces re-evaluation of spending plan
By Brian Gross
Staff Writer
University officials have developed a spending plan for the fiscal year 1991 budget because no new program dollars were provided in the governor's budget.

Vice President for Academic Affairs and Research Benjamin A. Shepherd asked the colleges and schools to identify their priority funding needs for help in developing his budget plans.

"The information will be useful to me for planning purposes," Shepherd said. "It will guide our decisions when we get the fiscal 1991 budget."

Shepherd said his prioritizing process is closely interrelated with Gov. James R. Thompson's proposed budget which allows no new money for programs.

"Plans have to be developed since less is expected (in the budget)," Shepherd said. "They are not budget cuts, but we are not getting new money. We have to re-prioritize our needs, scaling them down to reflect the budget."

Shepherd said his spending plan for the fiscal year 1991, despite a bleak outlook for state funding.

Benjamin A. Shepherd, vice president for academic affairs and research, sent a letter to each dean asking how they would use funds with their budgets.

"There will be less money, but I have set up priorities (based on the dean's input)," Shepherd said.

James Tweedy, dean of the College of Agriculture, said Shepherd basically asked each college, "If you had the money, would you spend it?"

Tweedy said he prioritized the College of Agriculture's needs as support cost increases, a master's degree in food and nutrition, and a new facility position for hotel and restaurant management.

"When we budget our operation funds each year, they go into two categories: personal service and support costs," he said.

Seven deans reveal top funding priorities
By Tony Mancuso
Staff Writer
Seven deans of SIU-C colleges list employees, support costs and new programs as top funding priorities for fiscal year 1991, despite a bleak outlook for state funding.

Benjamin A. Shepherd, vice president for academic affairs and research, sent a letter to each dean asking how they would use funds with their budgets.

"There will be less money, but I have set up priorities (based on the dean's input)," Shepherd said.

James Tweedy, dean of the College of Agriculture, said Shepherd basically asked each college, "If you had the money, would you spend it?"

Tweedy said he prioritized the priority needs. The information Shepherd gathered was also presented to the SIU-C Executive Committee for Strategic Planning.

SIU-C requested more than $8 million for new programs. The request was then cut to $2 million.

Lack of funding forces re-evaluation of spending plan
By Brian Gross
Staff Writer
University officials have developed a spending plan for the fiscal year 1991 budget because no new program dollars were provided in the governor's budget.

Vice President for Academic Affairs and Research Benjamin A. Shepherd asked the colleges and schools to identify their priority funding needs for help in developing his budget plans.

"The information will be useful to me for planning purposes," Shepherd said. "It will guide our decisions when we get the fiscal 1991 budget."

Shepherd said his prioritizing process is closely interrelated with Gov. James R. Thompson's proposed budget which allows no new money for programs.

"Plans have to be developed since less is expected (in the budget)," Shepherd said. "They are not budget cuts, but we are not getting new money. We have to re-prioritize our needs, scaling them down to reflect the budget."

Shepherd said his spending plan for the fiscal year 1991, despite a bleak outlook for state funding.

Benjamin A. Shepherd, vice president for academic affairs and research, sent a letter to each dean asking how they would use funds with their budgets.

"There will be less money, but I have set up priorities (based on the dean's input)," Shepherd said.

James Tweedy, dean of the College of Agriculture, said Shepherd basically asked each college, "If you had the money, would you spend it?"

Tweedy said he prioritized the College of Agriculture's needs as support cost increases, a master's degree in food and nutrition, and a new facility position for hotel and restaurant management.

"When we budget our operation funds each year, they go into two categories: personal service and support costs," he said.

Seven deans reveal top funding priorities
By Tony Mancuso
Staff Writer
Seven deans of SIU-C colleges list employees, support costs and new programs as top funding priorities for fiscal year 1991, despite a bleak outlook for state funding.

Benjamin A. Shepherd, vice president for academic affairs and research, sent a letter to each dean asking how they would use funds with their budgets.

"There will be less money, but I have set up priorities (based on the dean's input)," Shepherd said.

James Tweedy, dean of the College of Agriculture, said Shepherd basically asked each college, "If you had the money, would you spend it?"

Tweedy said he prioritized the priority needs. The information Shepherd gathered was also presented to the SIU-C Executive Committee for Strategic Planning.

SIU-C requested more than $8 million for new programs. The request was then cut to $2 million.

Lack of funding forces re-evaluation of spending plan
By Brian Gross
Staff Writer
University officials have developed a spending plan for the fiscal year 1991 budget because no new program dollars were provided in the governor's budget.

Vice President for Academic Affairs and Research Benjamin A. Shepherd asked the colleges and schools to identify their priority funding needs for help in developing his budget plans.

"The information will be useful to me for planning purposes," Shepherd said. "It will guide our decisions when we get the fiscal 1991 budget."

Shepherd said his prioritizing process is closely interrelated with Gov. James R. Thompson's proposed budget which allows no new money for programs.

"Plans have to be developed since less is expected (in the budget)," Shepherd said. "They are not budget cuts, but we are not getting new money. We have to re-prioritize our needs, scaling them down to reflect the budget."

Shepherd said his spending plan for the fiscal year 1991, despite a bleak outlook for state funding.

Benjamin A. Shepherd, vice president for academic affairs and research, sent a letter to each dean asking how they would use funds with their budgets.

"There will be less money, but I have set up priorities (based on the dean's input)," Shepherd said.

James Tweedy, dean of the College of Agriculture, said Shepherd basically asked each college, "If you had the money, would you spend it?"

Tweedy said he prioritized the College of Agriculture's needs as support cost increases, a master's degree in food and nutrition, and a new facility position for hotel and restaurant management.

"When we budget our operation funds each year, they go into two categories: personal service and support costs," he said.

Seven deans reveal top funding priorities
By Tony Mancuso
Staff Writer
Seven deans of SIU-C colleges list employees, support costs and new programs as top funding priorities for fiscal year 1991, despite a bleak outlook for state funding.

Benjamin A. Shepherd, vice president for academic affairs and research, sent a letter to each dean asking how they would use funds with their budgets.

"There will be less money, but I have set up priorities (based on the dean's input)," Shepherd said.

James Tweedy, dean of the College of Agriculture, said Shepherd basically asked each college, "If you had the money, would you spend it?"

Tweedy said he prioritized the priority needs. The information Shepherd gathered was also presented to the SIU-C Executive Committee for Strategic Planning.

SIU-C requested more than $8 million for new programs. The request was then cut to $2 million.
Sports

Herrin: Last year good for recruiting

By Kevin Simpson

The Salukis are looking for a few good men.

The spring signing period for NCAA basketball recruits begins April 11 and lasts until May 15. Saluki head coach Rich Herrin would like to fill his remaining four scholarships with high school juniors. Opponents say the Dawgs won't sign a junior college player or two along the way, but that they are leaning towards high school talent.

Maule named "Senior Player of the Year"

Top Saluki player overcame illness, injury to succeed

Mickey Maule, senior standout for the SIUCU-C men's tennis team, has been named the NCAA Region V "Senior Player of the Year." The selection was announced Friday by the Intercollegiate Tennis Coaches Association.

Maule, who began the season ranked 43rd nationally, was selected to play in the 1990 Rolex Indoor National Tournament earlier this year. The Aledo native also is a regional candidate for the Van Nostrand Memorial Award.

SIUCU-C men's tennis coach Dick Leonard said his senior is getting some deserved attention.

"Mickey has done a great job, and he played almost all the time on the court despite some injuries and illness," Leonard said. "He has battled an abdominal muscle pull and played around it. He has developed the confidence to win."

Maule said early in the season that he plans to join the professional circuit after graduating this spring.

Cardinals should edge Cubs this year

As usual, St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Cubs fans will be engrossed in the baseball season with high expectations.

Cubs were memorable, for the first time in a long time, the Cardinals and Cubs fans could boast of having a team in the pennant race during the final month. Last season was memorable because, for the first time in a long time, the Cardinals and Cubs fans could boast of having a team in the pennant race during the same month.

The teams were hooked up in a critical three-game series during the first week of September. Views from this classic series will return in the two times of Cardinals and Cubs fans for a long time. Maybe it was Pedro Guerrero's hot bat leading the Cardinals to an 11-3 come-from-behind victory in game one. Or maybe it was a drought-ending home run by Dwight Smith challenging the strong arm of Tom Browning in a crucial situation in game two. And there was Mitch "Wild Thing" McCarron dishing out 10 strikes in a Cardinal rally in game three. But last year is in the past. And with a good chance of the Cardinals and Cubs fans have set themselves up.

Once again, the arrogant but talented New York Mets are picked as the team to beat in the National League East. The Mets are darn good but they will get a run for their money from the Cardinals.

Sure, the Chicago Cubs are the defending champions. This proves that it is sometimes better to be lucky than good. The Cubs did not win because they were the best team in the division. They won because lady luck was on their side. Who would have thought two rookies like Jerom Walton and Dwight Smith would make the contributions they did last season? Who would have thought Williams would save 37 games? Who would have thought a guy like Mikes Bielecki would win 18 games?

The Cubs received career years from a number of players. They were a big surprise last season. But 1990 will be different. Players like Walton and Smith are not so easy anymore. Opposing pitchers will adjust and it won't be as easy for them this season.

Williams may throw harder, but National League hitters know him now. I can't see him saving 37 games again. It may be a tough situation for Williams. Here's a guy with a bigger ego than Hulk Hogan. Bielecki has never had two good seasons in a row. Too bad the Cardinals weren't as lucky as the Cubs last season.

Two of their top pitchers, Greg Mathews and Danny Cox, spent the whole season on the disabled list. During the crucial months of September, the Cardinals played without their best all-rounder player, Willie McGee, and ace reliever Todd Worrell.

If the Cardinals had been half as lucky as Chicago last season, things would be a lot different. The Cubs would have been the champs instead of the champs. The Cardinals, with an injury-riddled pitching staff, were counted out many times last season. Despite their problems, they were just one-half game behind the first-place Cubs with 23 games remaining in the regular season. Why were the Cardinals able to stay in the race despite these problems? The Cardinals have something in their corner the Cubs and Mets don't... a "White Rat." Long as Whitey Herzog manages the Cardinals, they will be a threat in the National League East. Despite the Cubs' banner year, it took everything they had to dispose of the Cardinals down the stretch.

Herzog isn't like Dwey Johnson and Don Zimmer. Herzog can win without getting banner years from his troops. Last season, he kept his team in the race with "household" names like Rick Horton, Ted Power, Bob Tewksbury and Frank Dipino. These guys will never don the cover of Sports Illustrated, but under Herzog's guidance, they almost won a division title.

Skeptics don't like the Cardinals chances without Worrell who will miss at least half of the season. But the Cardinals are used to non-believers. In 1985, they won the pennant despite losing star relief pitcher Bruce Sutter to free agency. In 1987 the Cardinals won the division, but stagger Jack Clark injured his ankle and was unavailable for the playoffs. The Cardinals defeated the San Francisco Giants though, for the National League championship.

The 5,000-meter run was won by SIUCU-C's Don Zimmer with a time of 14:52.11. The 100-yard dash was won by SIUCU-C's Jerry Sikora with a time of 10.93. Kerchav and Sikorsk are good time. Comell said.

The Salukis continued to dominate Saturday with first-place finishes in three events.

Guy Sikora, Eric Pegues, Ed Williams and Garrett Hines won the 4 x 100 meter relay with a time of 41.39. The same team also won the 4 x 200 meter relay with a time of 54.92. Cornell said the first place finishes in the 4 x 100 and the 4 x 200 could be attributed to the continuing improvement in the baton exchange each week.

"We still have some room for improvement, but each one is contributing to his part. I was really happy with the relay efforts," Ed Williams said.

The team of Sikora, Pegues, Williams and Garrett Hines won the sprint medley relay with a time of 3:32.76. Williams continued to run well by placing second in the 110 high hurdle with a time of 15.16.

See SEMO, Page 15

Reported by Richard Bailey

No. 1 Saluki tennis player Mickey Maule the University of Illinois Thursday at the tennis to make a return in a match against the University Courts.

Staff Photo by Richard Bailey
Beginning the week of April 9 the birth control update class for first-time users of birth control will be held only on Thursdays.

12 Noon
Kesnar Hall Classroom
For more information call the Wellness Center
536-4441

Announcement

More sanctions against Lithuania called for

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev’s new presidential council Monday called for more economic and political sanctions against Lithuania to fight the republic’s desire to secede. A conservative group in the Supreme Soviet also proposed that the Lithuanian parliament be dissolved and direct central rule be imposed on the republic. Lithuanian President Vytautas Landsbergis accused Moscow of making efforts to end the crisis over independence by refusing to participate in “talks or even preliminary good will contacts.”

Georgians vow to support Lithuania freedom

TBLISI, Georgia, U.S.S.R. (UPI) — Thousands of Georgians staged rallies Monday and turned their government headquarters into a massive shrine to the victims of last year’s Soviet military crackdown in Tbilisi. About 60,000 people gathered at the Georgian National Stadium and vowed to support the Baltic republic of Lithuania’s bid to break free from Soviet rule. “This Union of Soviet Socialists Republics is nothing but a modern incarnation of the Russian Empire,” Georgian National Independence Party leader Zia/B Tuemel told the stadium crowd.

Arson suspected case in Welsh ferry fire

LONDON (UPI) — A fire raging through a ferry off the coast of Wales Monday, killing one passenger and injuring nine in the second recent blaze aboard a European vessel in which authorities suspect arson, officials said. A third fire erupted late Monday aboard a third ferry, a French vessel sailing near the Isle of Wight, the British Broadcasting Corp. said. One passenger suffered smoke inhalation. There was no word on the cause of the blaze aboard the cross-channel vessel.

Greyhound files $30 million suit against union

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Greyhound Lines filed a $30 million racketeering suit against its striking union Monday, claiming the violence surrounding a 39-day walkout in a bid to settle is by those who workers can’t win in negotiations. In announcing the legal action, Greyhound executive Anthony Laumann said the union and its locals involved in the strike “have tried to use violence to achieve an inflated financial settlement they could never win at the bargaining table.”

Indicted gallery complies with judge’s order

CINCINNATI (UPI) — An art gallery under indictment for exhibiting allegedly obscene photographs complied with a federal judge’s order and turned over to prosecutors Monday copies of 174 controversial Robert Mapplethorpe photos. U.S. District Judge Carl Roberts Sunday ordered the Contemporary Arts Center to surrender the works at the request of the FBI. Judge’s order

ANNOUNCING THE CORNER FROZEN YOGURT & ICE CREAM GRAND RE-OPENING

We serve delicious sandwiches & drinks.

“One Little Taste is All it Takes”
Conveniently located close to campus! Stop by for a quick lunch, dinner, or a tasty evening snack.

Frozen Yogurt Soft Serve

Receive 40% off any size of frozen yogurt at the corner during the week of April 9-14.

OIL-LUBE-FILTER AND MINI CLEAN-UP $17.95
Tune-Ups
4 cylinder.................. $19.95
6 cylinder.................. $24.95
8 cylinder.................. $29.95
Expires 4-30-90
Sproule stresses active involvement as student trustee
By Richard Hund
Staff Writer
Lisa Sproule wants effective student representation on the Board of Trustees if elected student trustee in the April 11 election.

Running under the Student Party, Sproule said the student trustee should have a say in how administration works.

"I think student trustee is a liaison person between students and administration," she said. "You have to work equally with both, and I think I can do that."

The student trustee also must represent the views of both undergraduate and graduate students despite the majority of undergraduates at SIU-C. Sproule said both.

Lisa Sproule

Incumbent Hall wants to halt possible tuition hike
By Brian Grose
Staff Writer
If re-elected, student trustee Bill Hall said students can count on him to do what the students want, and his first goal is to eliminate the possibility of a tuition hike for students.

"Past student trustees have voted against the will of the student: because of political forces they pressured them to do that," Hall said. "I have never done that and never will." Hall said he will use his experience in successfully lobbying to eliminate a tuition hike last year to fight it again.

My urgent goal is to convince the General Assembly in the spring to give SIU sufficient money to eliminate the possibility of a tuition hike," he said. "It's going to be a tough job."

Hall, a 44-year-old senior in political science from Freeport, currently serves as the U-G vice president and was recently appointed as director of the Illinois Student Association. She also serves as Delta Zeta and the Splish Club while being involved in the traffic and appeals board and at the Carbondale television commission.

Sproule said that despite holding an unoccupied position, she has worked with graduate students this semester on such items as the Student Government's annual planning document and the housing fee proposal.

She said her experience as vice president and as a leader will help her if elected student trustee.

"I can communicate better between the two groups (students and the administration) better than the other candidates," Sproule said.

"You're giving the students' side to the administration, and you've got to do that effectively to get that view across," Sproule said.

Bill Hall

Jackson: Students and administration must work together
By Richard Hund
Staff Writer
Craig Jackson, running for student trustee in the April 11 election, stresses that students must work with the administration in order to achieve the goals of both parties.

Running with the Progress party, Jackson said he will continue his cooperation if elected student trustee.

"You're not going to get anything done if you know you're going to fight against administration," he said, noting that most students see the administration as being on the other side of the fence. "It's not 'we versus them,' it's 'we versus us.' We're all SIU-C.

Jackson, a 24-year-old graduate student in applied education, serves as a graduate assistant in Graduate Affairs, the chairman of the

Craig Jackson

What Can Make ACUVUE® Disposable Contact Lenses Even Better?

A Free Trial Pair!

We want to open your eyes to the convenience of ACUVUE® Disposable Contact Lenses. Come in for a free trial pair and get a half-price introductory offer if you choose to continue.

ACUVUE® Disposable Contact Lenses

• Board Certified in Ophthalmology
• Laser Surgery
• Diseases and Surgery of the eye
• Cataract Surgery

Lelan E. Stallings, M.D.
301 N. Robinson Circle, Cabotonda, IL 62901

Examination and other professional service fees are not included in this free trial pair offer.

THE BIGGER, BETTER DEAL!

Grosart's Pizza
FREE PIZZA
FOR 1/2 DEGREE RECONSTRUCTION OF ANY 1/2 PIZZA
LIMIT 1 PER ORDER

KU'S SMORGASBOARD
1285 EAST MAIN CARBONDALE

Steak, Chicken, Seafood
1/2 Price Introductory Offer

For a limited time Save 1/2 the regular price of these meals on our menu with the purchase of a beverage. No coupons necessary. Sale prices effective Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. No other discounts applicable.

Top Sirloin Reg. $3.00 5 oz. Sirloin Tips Reg. $2.00 3 oz.
Broiled Sirloin Reg. $5.00 5 oz. Chopped Sirloin Reg. $2.00 3 oz.
T-Bone Reg. $4.00 7 oz. Fried Shrimp Reg. $2.00 4 oz.
Fried Chicken Reg. $5.00 4 oz. Beef Ribs Reg. $3.00 6 oz.

All entrees served with yeast roll and potato.
Opinion & Commentary

Incumbent the best for student trustee

WEDNESDAY, students will be asked to indicate which one of the three candidates will be next year's student trustee. Students have been notoriously apathetic about voting in student government elections, but we should all turn out to cast ballots in this crucial election.

Students are being asked to choose between cu. rent Undergraduate Student Government Vice President Lisa Sprocle, Graduate Student for Greek Affairs Craig Jackson and current student trustee Andrew Pigott for the three candidates. Voting in the student trustee election is your chance to ensure that your student government is representative of your values.

THE UNIVERSITY student trustee serves in an advisory capacity to the SIU Board of Trustees. Both the Carbondale and the Edwardsville campuses are represented by one student representative to the board. The SIU-C student trustee is the only link the average student has to convey concerns, questions or objections to the nine members of the governing board of this University.

Without the student trustee, major decisions concerning future funding, policy changes, strategic planning and other vital functions to maintaining a high standard of education at the University would be made without consulting the very ones being educated—the students. The trustee also carries this information to the Illinois Board of Higher Education as a state agency in charge of educational allocations and policies.

BEARING THIS in mind, several things must be considered before recommending a candidate for this esteemed position. The individual must be very committed, understanding the duties and responsibilities towards student opinion, knowledgeable in the workings of the University, its administration and state government and prepared to work very hard to protect student interests.

At these qualities are exemplified in the incumbent, Bill Hall. Runnig for a second term, Hall has the experience and the maturity to continue to represent University students. He has extensive knowledge of USG, having served in both student affairs and in top administrative positions.

Hall has a record track record. What it all boils down to is the old maxim: If it isn’t broken, don’t fix it.

Proposal of awarding grants instead of loans will make higher education harder to by

First, I would like to thank Vicki DeFrank for taking the time to write a response to the letter my friends and I had previously written to the Daily Egyptian.

Secondly, I would like to thank the Daily Egyptian for their call on April 3, to cover women’s athletics much more concisely and consistently for me, I’m sure they looked forward to hearing about the success of the women.

But it seems that we still have been neglected. I have just been over to the D.E. newswoman on a delivery and I asked the sports person why there has not been an article printed yet about the field hockey club and their trip to nationals (if my memory serves me correctly they went March 23). I know that Wendy Darius and Coach Julie Illner were inter-viewed for an article over a week ago.

The reply of the sports person was that he only has two pages and I replied by explaining that softball just got back from playing and already there is an article (April 3 Daily Egyptian) on that. Then said softball is more important, hockey is “just a club.”

The reason hockey is “just a club” is because of close-minded persons like this young man. For a group of women it is a dream—a part of life—something that, over the years, has been as natural as waking up in the morning. Their dream has been put on a back burner, but they have had enough courage and determination to keep hockey as something more than a club.

Please remember that a label means nothing. It is who you are that is important. For the past three years of four the Hockey Team / Club has made it to Nationals and numerous times before that.

Who makes the decisions as to what sports are covered? Club players decide their own time and their own money to play and keep what they’ve worked for alive. I have seen full coverage on governor’s race, elections but do you want to tell me field hockey isn’t important because it is just a club.

For the fans of women’s field hockey, I would tell you how the team did at Nationals, but it is not my job to report the news. Hopefully, the D.E. will print an article in the near future—Sheri Jatts, graduate student, unclassi-fied.

Coverage of women’s teams better, but club sports consistently ignored

Quotation Quotes

"As governor of the state there is no doubt I would cut back (on marijuana smoking) because of my increased number of political functions."—Gatewood Galbraith, Democratic gubernatorial candidate in Kentucky, who has proposed legalizing marijuana to revitalize the state's depressed farm economy.

Editorial Policies

Signed articles, including letters, viewpoints and other commentaries, reflect the opinions of their authors only. Unsigned editorials represent a consensus of the Daily Egyptian editorial board. The editorial board consists of the Daily Egyptian editor, the associate editorial page editor, a news staff member, the Twice-a-week managing editor and a School of Journalism faculty advisor. Letters to the editor must be submitted directly to the editorial page editor, Room 105T, Communications Building. Letters should be typed and double spaced. All letters are subject to editing and will be limited to 500 words. Letters edited for length will be returned to the writer.

Real estate trying to resolve deposit controversy

First of all, I would like to thank you for your apology for the editorial that appeared in the April 6 edition. I appreciate your call on Sunday, as well as today’s written article.

I would like to explain my position. Real estate broker, Realtor, own a property management company and was hired by the new owners of the complex to manage their buildings. I am not the owner, have never had any ownership in the buildings and am only responsible for my actions since I became the manager.

Unfortunately, others equate me with the liabilities of the owners, possibly because of the job I do. However, I do not have and never have had prior security deposits. Any new security deposit is removed from me have their monies secured in $2 separate trust accounts.

I would like to go on record as saying that I am doing everything possible to help resolve the situation. The new owners, Sun King Realty, Inc., are also working with their attorneys, but sometimes legal proceedings are slow.

The only agreement I have with either of the articles is that I also believe that a person should not be a landlord unless he or she is willing to be responsible for the money I take. That feel that it would be hard for anyone to find a landlord more caring or fair than I am, and I sincerely hope that a solution to the security deposit happens soon for all the students. —Bonnie Owen, realtor.
By Michelle R. Walker
Staff Writer

Many of the donors who gave at SIU-C's blood drive Monday have been coming so long they can hardly remember when they first gave blood here.

Dr. George Karne s, a Carbondale dentist, has made a blood drive a part of his practice for the past 22 years. He said he tries to donate several times a year as long as his work schedule allows.

"I give because I want to help people," he said.

According to University of Missouri at Columbia has challenged SIU-C to collect more pints within the next two weeks. Last week, Monday's donors did not appear to be giving blood for the purpose of beating MISSON.

"That's not why I am here," said Ken Keller, a professor in Radio-TV department. Keller donates blood because it is a simple way to help people.

Boehm said that if SIU-C did not make it so convenient to give blood, he and others would not donate.

Vicb DeFrank has been giving blood at SIU-C for about nine years because she enjoys it.

"It's a way to help people," DeFrank said. "I can't do anything else, you can give blood.

But that is not always the case.

Twedd said personal service funding is for the salaries of faculty, staff, and other non-student employees and other staff members.

Support costs include faculty travel reimbursements, student wages, and expenditures for goods and services used in the operation of the university and other non-student employees. The cost of providing services to students is not included in this category.

"During the three fiscal years I have been dean, we have had to cancel 3 or 4 percent increases in support costs," he said.

He said the recent 45-cent student wage increase and a pending 5-cent postal cost increase will create a bigger stress on the support cost fund.

The Illinois Board of Higher Education has approved a new master's program in food and nutrition and included funding for the program, as well as for a new faculty position, in its suggested fiscal year 1991 budget.

"However, the governor's budget did not allow for funding of (other) help," he said.

Thomas Gutteridge, dean of the College of Business and Administration, said he and his colleagues were pleased with the new fiscal year's budget. He listed new faculty slots, additional administrative staff, and professional lines, other-than-salary costs, equipment costs as examples of the academic units and their department chairs were consistent with their priorities.

"I did not intend to identify weak areas for cost for elimination or downsizing," Shepherd said.

"The purpose is to identify the priority needs. If you have needs in an area, but you have a weakness there, the department is not weak. At this time, no one is thinking of eliminating a department."

Shepherd said he prioritized needs before, but he had never before had the input of people at this level of completeness and thoroughness.

"I thought it would be a good time to get a good handle on the program needs," he said. "I decided the best thing would be to go to the units and ask them. It has been a useful exercise."

Shepherd added that the Senate approved money raised from a tuition increase would only help programs if the increase was appropriated specifically.

"If tuition is increased and if the dollars from the increase are appropriated back to us, it would help us with our needs," he said.

"I don't know whether any of those will occur, but I do know we have dire needs."
PepsiCo trades soda for vodka; Soviets rely on barter system

MOSCOW (UPI) — Pepsi-Cola signed a $3 billion deal Monday to more than double production and sales of soft drinks in the Soviet Union in exchange for ships and the rights to sell more Soviet vodka in the United States.

In addition to Stolichnaya vodka, PepsiCo Inc. will receive at least 10 Soviet-built ships in exchange for Pepsi under the barter agreement. PepsiCo Executive Committee Chairman Robert Kendall called the deal the largest trade pact ever between a U.S. company and the Soviet Union.

The barter arrangement is necessary because Soviet law prohibits foreign companies from doing business in the country in hard currency and the Soviet ruble is not convertible to other currencies.

Kendall said Pepsi had been willing to work under a barter system to establish itself in the huge Soviet market.

"If you had a convertible ruble it would solve a lot of problems," he said, "(But) if you wait for a convertible ruble, by the time you have a non-convertible ruble somebody else will have the market."

The deal signed in Moscow Monday extends and expands a 1972 agreement for Pepsi to produce and sell soft drinks in the Soviet Union until the year 2000. It covers an estimated $3 billion in total sales of Pepsi in the Soviet Union and Stolichnaya in the United States.

Kendall said about 1 billion servings of Pepsi are now sold each year across the Soviet Union. Pepsi imports and sells 1 million cases of vodka in America through Monseur Henri Wines Ltd. of White Plains, New York.

"The limits at the (Pepsi) kiosks in Moscow show that Pepsi is a popular drink," Kendall said at a Moscow news conference called to announce the pact.

"Under the agreement, Pepsi will invest more than $1 billion to upgrade existing facilities and increase the number of vending machines in the Soviet Union from 24 to 50."

The agreement also calls for the development of plastic bottles and cans for soft drinks in the Soviet Union, where the drinks are now sold only in glass bottles, said Anatoly Belichenko, first deputy chairman of the Soviet commission on food and procurement.

Belichenko said, after the expansion, "all big Soviet cities will have a Pepsi bottle."

USG What Is The Undergraduate Student Government?

The USG represents SIU students in matters pertaining to student welfare, student activities, student participation in planning and administration, and student opinion. The USG initiates student activities. It is the voice of the undergraduate student body. It serves to inform students of the aims, policies and ideals of the university among students and alumni.

Why Should You Vote?

The USG representatives are elected by the student body. It is important that you vote for candidates who will represent your needs because the elected people will take part in making decisions that will directly affect your life at this campus. The USG is comprised of a President, Vice President, two Senators representing each college, eight Senators to represent East Side, eight Senators to represent West side, three Senators to represent East Campus, and two Senators to represent Thompson Point. You elect these people!

"Your vote is important!!

So students now’s your chance. Vote for who you want to be your USG representatives for next year. Your vote counts!

VOTE APRIL 11 AT GRINNELL, LENTZ, RECREATION CENTER, AND THE STUDENT CENTER

RENTAL

Health and Fitness Guide

PRE-BEGINNER AEROBICS will meet at 5 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday in the Rec Center Aerobics Room.

MASSAGE THERAPY reduces tension and soreness, improves circulation and increases flexibility. Registration and fee prepayment is ongoing at the Rec Center Information Desk. For details call 536-5231.

STUDENTS Summer Mailing Address

Please report your summer mailing address to your Collegiate Advisement Center or the Office of Admissions and Records!

Traveling Trick Shot Show

"Pocket Billiards At Its Best"

* Tom Rossman’s Traveling Trick Shot Show
  * Tom started playing at age 7, played at numerous local, regional, national, and world tournaments in pocket billiards and 3-cushion
  * Tom has held the World’s Masters Champion title since 1982, and in 1988 he released his first book of instruction and “secret systems” for pocket billiards titled Back Up a Victory.

Tuesday, April 10, 1990

11:00 A.M. & 7:00 P.M.
in the Student Center Billiards Room.

This is not time to worry about how you’re going to get your stuff home.

The good news is there is life after finals. And we can make it a little easier. At Ryder you can rent any size van or truck you need. Vans that are fun to drive. (Fun, what’s that?) Many are automatics. Most have power steering, air conditioning and AM/FM radio. You may help with boxes, hand trucks, even tips on loading a truck. Which could help take a load off your mind. Whatever’s left of it.

Make Your Reservations: Before May 1
And Get...10% off with Student ID.

RYDER TRUCK RENTAL
1817 W. Sycamore
457-4127

549-4922
Changes will come and go, but you’ll always be yourself

By Cheryl Presley
Wellness Center

Change has always been central to American life for more than a century ago, French author Alexis de Tocqueville commented, “The American has no time to tie himself to anything, he grows accustomed only to change and to regard it as a natural state of man.” By coming to college, most students have made a long-term commitment to change to attain a career, to gain economic security and to become competitive in the job market. The college environment also calls on students to continually engage in new patterns of behavior where they must revise their perceptions of themselves and their environment.

Unfortunately, there are no guide books on how to handle every aspect of the complex process of change. Our lives are unique; therefore, how we respond to and cope with the challenges of putting it all together will also be unique.

The process of change, be it a change in jobs, majors, roommates or boyfriend/girlfriend, can be painful. But this does not mean you have done something wrong—it merely means you are human. Below are some ideas to help you deal with the many changes you may encounter while college and beyond, these ideas are not intended as easy answers, but suggestions to help you internalize the process of change and regain a sense of balance in your life.

- Take your time: Even though the outer forms of your life can change in an instant, inner reaction takes time. Don’t panic!
- Arrange for a good temporary support system. Get someone to talk to.
- Don’t act for the sake of action. Step back and discover what you need to learn for the next step of your life. Make list of what you really want to have happen during and after the change.
- Recognize that discomfort is a part of change; discomfort is not necessarily a sign that something is wrong, but that something is changing. Change sometimes brings feelings of anxiety, inadequacy, and fear. This is normal.
- Take care of yourself: give yourself positive strokes for the changes you are doing well. Focus on your strengths.
- Use the change as a new kind of learning. Change is an opportunity to learn something new about yourself. Ask yourself: What did I learn about myself during this change? What strengths do I have to help me go through future changes?
- If you need some assistance adjusting to any learning from the changes in your life, there are several places on campus that you can get help. The Counseling Center, Clinical and the Wellness Center offer either counseling, consultation or workshops that can help you transfer change into a positive, growth-filled event in your life.

The Alexander Technique is a postural training technique that helps integrate body and mind for total health. It sets out to correct the alignment of the head, neck and shoulders. This workshop will demonstrate basic techniques and show how to stand, sit and move properly. Appointments may be made for a private demonstration the following day.

The Alexander Technique
Thursday, April 12
7:00 p.m. - 9:00 p.m.
Ohio Room
Student Center
A part of your SIU Student Health Program

The FDA also has no authority to force a cosmetic maker to report consumer injuries. Under the current voluntary system, only 3 percent of an estimated 4,000 to 5,000 cosmetics distributors have ever informed the FDA of injuries to consumers, the report said. "Because it is a voluntary program...FDA will never be able to require reporting from all companies, particularly those that may be least likely to report because they have experienced problems with their cosmetics," the investigators wrote.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The honor system of reporting health and safety problems with cosmetic products appears to do a poor job of protecting consumers, a federal report indicated Monday. In its first assessments of the cosmetics industry in more than a decade, the General Accounting Office raised serious questions about the government's ability to police the booming industry.

"It's incredible that the 518 billion cosmetics industry can urge millions of Americans to apply chemicals to their bodies daily and not be held accountable," said Rep. Ron Wyden, D-Ore., head of the House Small Business Subcommittee that requested the report.

GAO investigators found the Food and Drug Administration has no plans to review the safety of 884 toxic chemicals available for use in cosmetics.

In addition, the FDA lacks the power to require the cosmetics industry to perform safety testing. "FDA officials have found that many manufacturers lack adequate data on safety tests and have generally refused to disclose the results of these tests," the report stated.

"Most Americans will be stunned to learn that the government doesn't know whether the cosmetic products used by millions of Americans contain dangerous ingredients," Wyden said.

The types of injuries consumers have reported from cosmetic use include serious eye infections from mascara contaminated with microbes, respiratory problems from hair sprays and neurological damage from hair dyes. Some women have also suffered serious burns when highly flammable products used on their hair caught fire.
Filmmakers in Bangladesh learn about cultural variance

R and T students hope to market half-hour special

By Jerianne Kimmell

Staff Writer

Bangladesh is not just another Third World country, says a group of Illinois-based television students who visited there earlier this semester.

The country is about the size of Wisconsin, but has roughly the population of the United States. Situated in Northeast India, Bangladesh is bordered by the warm tide of the Bay of Bengal and the Indian Ocean.

Five students in radio-TV production, led by one faculty member, traveled to Dhaka, the capital of Bangladesh, in January to film a documentary of the people and their culture. The group will present the edited footage to the radio-TV faculty for approval next Friday.

Lance Dalley, senior from Hinsdale; Tiffany Kalva, senior from Libertyville; Marcia Stephanie, senior from Park Ridge; Sean Monday, senior from Fox Lake; Greg Steinbrecher, senior from Libertyville and Scott Hodgson, radio-television lecturer, prepared the documentary with 10 students from Duquesne University.

The group hopes to market 10 hours of videotape into a 30-minute documentary that will be aired on the Discovery Channel or the Public Broadcasting Service. Three five-minute segments dealing with the survival of different social classes in Bangladesh will make up a series targeted for the Discovery Channel's World Muscles Network.

Each student acted as a segment producer, working with students from Dhaka University, that nation's largest university. One segment offers an introduction to the country and three others look at the role of war, women and war drivers—men who pull the bicycle—powered, three-wheeled carryalls that are a primary transportation in the city—and upper-class entrepreneurs in Bangladesh.

One segment goes behind the screen to show how the documentary was produced for later use by the radio-television department. Bangladesh is a war-torn country with 1,000 outbreaks of civil war in the past 20 years. It is hit hard with natural disasters, such as cyclones, floods and droughts, but some say there is a lot of extreme poverty, and poor health conditions.

The documentary will show not only the hardships of Bangladeshis, but some success stories as well, Hodgson said.

During Bangladesh's history of growing, which is not different from the rest of the world, the country's population has doubled in population in the last five years.

The introductory segment, which focuses on the middle-class in Bangladesh, society will show the Bangladeshis as survivors.

The symbols of pride in their culture are very competitive for the limited number of jobs that are available, Steinbrecher said. Lack of jobs, not education, is the main reason some Bangladeshis cannot find work.

The people of Bangladesh work hard. The Rickshaw driver has the grueling job of pulling people and goods about eight hours a day. The Rickshaws are colorful and sometimes decorated with pictures of India's Rajput, Steinbrecher said.

Some women break up used clay bricks to use as gravel all over the city. Other workers may carry heavy loads of sugar to the city and open them for passers-by.

"Although they have so very little, they are very happy with what they do and how they do it," Kalva said.

Kalva's research before the trip showed that the women of Bangladesh have the lowest role in their society.

But the group's footage will show that the role of women is changing in a fast-paced Bangladesh. Most of the women are still housewives but are starting to get out into the working world and become more westernized, Stephanie said.

The segment on women features a woman who owns her own gift shop in a Dhaka hotel.

The entrepreneur segment, which features the "tycoon" in Bangladesh, will show a kind of force that is gaining momentum and developing Bangladesh into 21st century, Dalley said.

One upper-class entrepreneur who stars in this segment left Bangladesh to further his education in the United States. Unlike most Bangladeshis who leave their homeland, the third most depressed country in the world, A. Faisal Saleh came back to contribute to his society instead of making his own gain in a more prosperous region, Dalley said.

The Bangladeshis are incredibly friendly and curious people, he said. However, the group was not interested in becoming a man, the people would completely surround them and start. The Rickshaw shot at an intersection caused a major traffic jam.

The producers used tricks and decay, a sort of "nonviolent mission impossible," to get the people to look natural, Dalley said. The crew would set up a "decoy" camera that attracted the usual crowd. Meanwhile, they would also set up one that the Bangladeshis did not notice.

At the signal, the producers would run over to the "real" camera and film the people before they figured out what was going on and started to stare again. There were mechanical problems as well. Sometimes the crew would block fuses in the Bangladeshis' homes when setting up lights to do interviews.

"To operate and get as much footage as we did get was phenomenal," Hodgson said.

The students from Dhaka, who were getting their first hands-on experience using production equipment, were eager to run the cameras, he said.

The language barrier, Steinbrecher said the group had to use the culture shock to concentrate on its work.

"There was so much to see and hear," he said. "We had to channel that out and get down to work."

Dalley said he was most impressed by the generous and hospitable people of Bangladesh.

"They invite you to impose upon them," Dalley said. "It's amazing what they would do for you. They were disrupting their lives for a few hours. It's comforting to go to such a radically different place and be welcome so openly and completely."

The Bangladeshis invited the Americans into their homes for a meal and were excited to meet them, Stephanie said.

"Usually people feel scared to be in another country, but we felt at home," she said.

Stephanie threw off the Bangladeshis stereotype of American women, Dalley said. Kalva, a blonde, reinforced the image of American women that Bangladeshis perceived from American TV programs, such as "Dynasty," where fair-haired heroines and villains run rampant.

Stephanie, however, a brunette like the women of Bangladesh but with light skin, got most of the stares.

The Bangladeshis had no inhibitions to walk over to the Americans and touch them, Dalley said, unlike Americans who usually believe it is best not to talk to strangers.

The opportunity to go to Bangladesh was one the students were not sure they could refuse.

Making a documentary in Bangladesh, a country not commonly covered in world news, is on "pioneering-type ground," Dalley said.

Kalva said she did not mind "missing New Year's and the first two weeks of class to go on the trip."

Kinko's: the copy center

Offer good with coupon only

549-0788
AIR, from Page 1

bhibited the coal industry from using them before.

Bill Hake, vice president for Illinois operations of Old Ben Coal Company, said it's too early to tell how the legislature will affect his company.

"All you can say right now is it's not good," Hake said. "We are at the mercy of the utilities."

He said how he feels the company, which is owned by British Petroleum has customers throughout the Midwest, depends on whether the utilities choose to put scrubs or other devices to the processing plants or if they choose to go Western coal made.

Jerry Jones, president of the Union Mine Workers of America District 12, which includes all of Illinois, said the union is waiting to see how utility companies react to the legislation before the impact of the bill can be estimated.

He said cleaning up the air is a priority, but he questioned the rationale for the bill.

"It's not that we oppose clean air. It's because it's more political than substantive," he said.

Another point of opposition is the Illinois State Police, which has averaged about 60 million tons a year for the past 10 years or more. Eighty percent of that coal has been used to generate electricity, he said.

With the new requirements, he said that figure will be down to 35 or 40 million by 1995.

Ayer said that though the situation looks bad for employment now, the industry will recover and meet the new standards by the turn of the century.

The new coal processing plants have the scrubs and the available clean coal will eventually catch up to meet the demand, he added.

"Our general forecast is the industry will hang on," he said.

HEALTH, from Page 1

we're doing here is trying to counter some of those long-standing trends. We would expect it would take some time as well.

Besides core economic-damage in malpractice suits, the panel suggested developing four programs to study and test different ways of providing health care services in rural areas and providing technical aid to rural clinics seeking federal certification and dollars.

If enacted, the recommendations would help communities develop health care services, increase federal funding through Medicare and Medicaid payments to rural clinics and provide incentives to attract doctors and health care professionals — such as obstetricians — to rural areas, the task force said.

Daily Egyptian Classified
536-3311

D I R E C TO R Y

For Sale:

Auto.

For Rent:

Apartment

For Sale

Farms & Services

Homes

Homes

Mobile Homes

Mobile Homes

Pet Supplies

Computers

Electronics

Furniture

Musical Instruments

Pressure Cookers

Pet Supplies

Computers

Computers

Electronics

Furniture

Musical Instruments

Pressure Cookers

For Sale:

Classified ADVERNISMENT rates

DESCRIPTION OF ADVERTISING

Two 1/4-page, black and white, $100.

Two 1/4-page, color, $200.

Two 1/2-page, black and white, $150.

Two 1/2-page, color, $300.

Three-column, $400.

Display ad, one column, $200.

Display ad, two columns, $300.

Display ad, three columns, $400.

Six-column, $600.

Four-column, $400.

One column, $200.

Two columns, $300.

Three columns, $400.

Four columns, $500.

One to six columns, $200.

One to six columns, $300.

One to six columns, $400.

One to six columns, $500.

One to six columns, $600.

One to six columns, $700.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.

Classifieds are accepted Monday through Friday.
No current classified ads available.
Salvadoran survivor visits Carbondale

By Dale Welker
Staff Writer

There is little in Gloria Galan’s countenance that would suggest the torture and torment she has endured at the hands of Salvadoran Police.

If, however, one looks closely at her eyes, there can be perceived a cautious, almost fearful expression suppressing a once jovial personality.

Galan is a member of the Committee of Mothers and Relatives of Political Prisoners, Disappeared and Assassinated of El Salvador. CO-MADRES which was founded in 1977 by Oscar Romero, the Archbishop of El Salvador who was assassinated in 1980.

Captured and tortured several times by Salvadoran Torrey Police, Galan related her story to the Church of the Good Shepherd in Carbondale as part of an appeal to U.S. citizens to increase their awareness of what is going on in El Salvador. Two of Galan’s family members were assassinated in 1983 and two others have “disappeared,” Galan said.

Since Romero’s death more than 72,000 people have died in El Salvador—only roughly the same size as the congressional district U.S. Rep. Glenn Poshard, D-Carbondale, represents.

The United States sends more than $1 million a day to El Salvador. Military and para-military death squads, the same ones that torture and murder anyone they feel threatened by, are supported by this combined arms and monetary aid, Galan said.

CO-MADRES is one of those groups whose members are often labeled “communists” or “guerrillas” by the Salvadoran government, Galan said.

“People have been tortured and beaten by saying they are fighting a communist insurgency,” Galan said in her interpreted speech. “Anyone who still stands up for human rights is called a communist.”

The group in power now in El Salvador is the Republican National Alliance (ARENA). ARENA established the death squads in 1980, Galan said.

Galan joined the CO-MADRES in 1983 to find the members of her family who are still missing and to obtain some form of explanation for the death of her father and sister, she said.

It is largely because of Galan’s association with CO-MADRES that she has been repeatedly kidnapped and tortured, she said. But she risks torture and death, because she wants to stop the human rights abuses and the economic suppression, she added.

The fourth time Galan was abducted, on April 19, 1989, she was asked if she knew how Christina Gomez had died. Gomez was a teacher who was captured in front of her students and then found dead on the street after four hours.

“I responded that they (the death squad) had killed her,” she said.

The men, heavily armed, arrested her dressed in civilian clothing, then told her that they were going to kill her the same way and her body would be left dead on the street.

After arriving at the treasury police building, Galan was stripped and beaten. Then her mother, two sisters and three brothers were brought in and tortured, she said.

In three days, all but herself and her sister Elizabeth were released. Galan and her sister were held in a women’s prison until May 26, Galan said.

In the four times she has been abducted, Galan said she had been beaten repeatedly, kicked, thrown against walls, doused in water, suspended by a rope while blindfolded and told that she would be hanged, had a plastic bag filled with lime that burns the lungs (capucha) placed over her head repeatedly, one time until she became unconscious.

She has been burnt by cigarettes and cigars, forced to stand for three days without food or water, forced to watch family members and small children tortured and was tortured in front of them, she said.

Once she was forced to sign a peace of paper that was completely blank, she said.

“They put on these any accusations that they want to add and sometimes (one is) never able to leave a prison,” Galan said.

Galan said that U.S. citizens should help by writing letters to congressmen asking them to support a stop to aid to the Salvadoran military.

Delegations of Americans in El Salvador help stop human rights abuses because the Salvadoran government does not want anyone from other countries to witness their war,” Galan said.

Welcome to the BM PS/2 Fair

Come to the IBM PS/2 Fair. Have some fun with the IBM Personal System/2. Try it—see how you can get more done in less time. Then all about:

- easy-to-use, preloaded software
- special student prices
- affordable loan payment
The IBM PS/2 Fair is a fun way to learn how to use the new computers to get better grades, more homework done and more time for the things you love to do.

PS/2 Model 25 with DOS 3.3 starts at $905.

Date: Wednesday, April 11th
Place: Student Center Ballroom A
Time: 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.
For more information contact the Computing Information Center in the basement of Wham at 453-5155.
Comics

Jumble

ACROSS

1. Tire marks
2. Camp Calder
3. Kneeling
4. Athletic
5. 384
6. Headache
7. Nut
8. Notes
9. Uphill
10. Gambler
11. Across
12. Golden
13. A to Z
14. A Turner
15. 32
16. Handy
17. 99
18. Oxford's
19. Laugh
20. Ballast
21. Beige
22. Star
23. Artesian
24. Shade
25. Sad
26. Pride
27. Once
28. Young
29. Seasonal
30. Hug
31. Bean
32. Mackerel
33. Down
34. Beer
35. Jeep
36. Kayak
37. Sawcut part
38. Farm Jubilee
39. Mead
40. Lumber
41. Early
42. Theories
43. Grandfather
44. Show
45. Giant
great
46. Small
47. Mountain
48. Green
49. Fall
50. Just
51. Out
52. Frame
53. Couple's
54. Whipped
55. Avocado
56. Relaxed
57. Greatest
58. Of gale

DOWN
1. Green starle
2. Chair
3. Seat
4. Cornet
5. Tent
6. Hug
7. Salon
8. In GT
9. Terrible
10. Breathe
11. Cap
12. House
13. Russian
14. Carriage
15. First class
16. Fuss
17. Train
18. Under
19. Dry
20. Metro
21. Honey
22. Rock Arm
23. Ducks
24. Harp
25. Taste
26. Sweet
27. Horn
28. Whipped
29. Baked
30. Apple
31. Drink
32. Church
33. Patch
34. Postal
35. Hail
36. Large boat
37. Apocalypse
38. Potted
39. Grandstand
40. Snow
41. Giant
great
42. Small
43. Mountain
44. Green
45. Fall
46. Just
47. Out
48. Frame
49. Couple's
50. Avocado
51. Relaxed
52. Greatest
53. Of gale

Shoe

WE'VE BEEN REAL BUSY IN THE SENATE...
BURNING THE MIDNIGHT OIL WORKING ON THIS NEW CLEAN AIR BILL...

Calvin and Hobbes

ALL RIGHT, I'LL TRY TO FIND THEM. WHAT MEAN'TSTE, I'M NOT READING ALL THE CALVIN AND HOBSES.

Mother Goose and Grimm

CHIM CHERUBIM, LET US GO TO THE TUPPERWARE MUSEUM.
IT HAS CONTAINERS FROM MANY COUNTRIES; INCLUDING SOME CARRYING BACK TO FOOG SOAP...

Walt Kelly's Pogo

SALUKIS IN SPACE

Run Date: Thursday, April 19
Ad Deadline: Thursday, April 12

For More Information Call 536-3311

SALUKI BASEBALL
(Double-header)
SALUKIS
VS.
Evansville

Tuesday, April 10
1:30 p.m.
Abe Martin Field

SIU Students admitted free with a valid ID.

For Tickets Call 453-5319

Saluki Senior Tim Davis

Today's Puzzle

ACROSS

1. Tread marks
2. Camp Calder
3. Kneeling
4. Athletic
5. 384
6. Headache
7. Nut
8. Notes
9. Uphill
10. Gambler
11. Across
12. Golden
13. A to Z
14. A Turner
15. 99
16. Handy
17. 32
18. Oxford’s
19. Laugh
20. Ballast
21. Beige
22. Star
23. Artesian
24. Shade
25. Sad
26. Pride
27. Once
28. Young
29. Seasonal
30. Hug
31. Beer
32. Mackerel
33. Down
34. Kayak
35. Jeep
36. Kayak
37. Sawcut part
38. Farm Jubilee
39. Mead
40. Lumber
41. Early
42. Theories
43. Grandfather
44. Show
45. Giant
great
46. Small
47. Mountain
48. Green
49. Fall
50. Just
51. Out
52. Frame
53. Couple’s
54. Whipped
55. Avocado
56. Relaxed
57. Greatest
58. Of gale

Puzzle answers are on Page 15.
Women's tennis squad wins two matches here

By Peter Zalewski
Staff Writer

The women's tennis team opened Gateway conference play this past weekend by winning two of three matches at the University Courts.

The Salukis beat Western Illinois 5-1 Friday afternoon. There was no need for doubles play because of the singles outcome.

The first conference victory proved to be costly for the Salukis, who lost team leader Beth Boardman to a knee injury in the second set of her match.

Boardman was leading 4-1 in the second set when she twisted her right knee and fell to the court. She tried to continue but fell to the court a second time two minutes later.

Boardman strained a ligament in her knee. Fortunately, the x-ray indicated there was nothing wrong in her knee. It could take a week or two until she can compete again, coach Judy Auld said.

The No. 1 player had to retire after leading 6-0, 4-1 for the only match loss.

The loss of Boardman added pressure to No. 2 player Missy Jeffrey to speed her recovery. Jeffrey has been suffering from a shoulder injury that arose from overuse.

Auld said Jeffrey's shoulder was sore Sunday but has been improving daily.

Jeffrey, playing the No. 2 position, defeated Sarah Murfey in three sets 6-7, 6-2, 7-6. The Salukis lost to the Illinois State Redbirds 5-4 Saturday morning.

The absence of Boardman forced every player to move up a position in the lineup.

The teams split the first six singles matches to bring the final outcome down to doubles play.

The No. 1 doubles team of Jeffrey and Lori Edwards defeated Jane Williams and Isabella Kowalewski in straight sets 6-1, 6-4.

But the Salukis No. 2 and No. 3 doubles team came up short. The No. 2 team lost 6-2, 6-4, 6-1, while the No. 3 team fell in straight sets 6-2, 6-1.

"Illinois State had to play good tennis to beat us," Auld said. "We really could have beaten them."

The Salukis were able to beat the Lady Sycamores of Indiana State 7-5 Saturday afternoon.

Women's track wins 1 event at SEMOtion over weekend

By Peter Zalewski
Staff Writer

The SEMOtion Relays came and passed last weekend with the women's track team winning only one event.

The Abe Stuber Track and Field Complex in Cape Girardeau, Mo., was an unknown home to the Salukis in the non-scored meet Friday and Saturday.

Michelle Sciano provided the only first place finish for the Salukis with her time of 61.88 seconds in the 400-meter hurdles event.

"Sciano had an outstanding performance," Coach Don DeNae said.

Sciano had to pull out of the 4 x 100-meter relay because of knee soreness, her hams ring. Nacolia Moore was only 30 percent because of bronchitis.

Moore will be used marginally in the upcoming meets but is expected to be a while before a full recovery, DeNae said.

The problems with Sciano and Moore weren't apparent in the shuttle hurdle relay event and the 4 x 200-meter relay. The efforts of Amy Bollinger, Sciano, Jamie Dashner and Julie Tootischen helped the shuttle hurdle relay team to a second place finish with a time of 1:03.22. The 4 x 400-meter relay team came in fifth with a time of 4:52.9. The time ranked fifth in the StIC-C record book for the event.

The team is composed of Nacolia Moore, Crystal Constansino, Michele Williams and Angel Nunn.

The field event competition proved to be too tough for the Dawgs.

Cheryl Evans came in fifth in the discuss with a throw of 137-6.

Spot putter Jennifer Boydstun came in fifth with a throw of 44-2.

Cheryl Evans followed right behind in sixth in the shot put with a throw of 43-8. Bonie and Evans' throws were personal bests and ranked third and fourth respectively on StIC-C all-time list.

The throw of 137-5 1/2 for Jamie Dashner in the javelin event was good enough for a third-place finish. Laba Soto placed fifth in the same event with a throw of 126-6 1/2.

---

Dave Worna honored by conference

Saluki shortstop Dave Worna was the Missouri Valley Conference Player of the Week.

Worna, a senior, hit .355 (15-60-28) last week and drove in 12 runs, leading the Salukis to five victories in seven games. Three of the Salukis’ victories came over league-rival Bradley.

Worna homered in three consecutive games, one of which was a grand slam. The switch-hitting shortstop, who raised his average more than .140 points last week, hit homers from both sides of the plate during the week.

Sox nip Brewers 2-1 at Comiskey

CHICAGO (UT) — One game into the season Milwaukee Manager Tom Trebelhorn already is bemoaning his team allowing extra outs.

The Chicago White Sox took advantage of the additional opportunity to score a run in the seventh inning on a sacrifice fly by Scott Fletcher and post a 2-1 victory over the Brewers.

---

Blaze a trail across Canada!

There's a great adventure destination not far from you. And with a CANRAILPASS in your pocket, it's all yours.

Enjoy up to 45 days of unlimited train travel throughout Canada's VIA Rail network. Make as many stops as you like. Change direction whenever you want.

CANRAILPASS is the most flexible, hassle-free way to see Canada. And the train is terrific for meeting fellow travelers.

If you're 24 or under, a systemwide Youth CANRAILPASS costs just $249 in low season, $299 high season. An Eastern Region pass costs even less and gives you exciting cities like Niagara Falls, Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec City and Halifax. For complete details, see your travel agent. And see a great country the CANRAILPASS way!
SEMO, from Page 16—
of 14.0.
"My time has improved, but it always depend if the competition is there. If there isn't much competition, there is no one there to push you," Williams said.

The high note ended for (Owen) with the finishes of the distance medley relay team and the 4 x 800-meter relay team.

The distance medley relay team placed third with a time of 10:02.09 with runners Geraldf Owen, Henry, Paul Burkinshaw and Nick Schwartz.

"I really expected this team to win, usually a coach should be happy with a third place finish in an oven," Consett said. "Owen did not run up to par.

"We were definitely expecting to win, if we had run anywhere close to our potential we would have done better. I haven't been running well, lately," Gerry (Owen) and I let the team down," Burkinshaw said.

Puzzle answers

EDGE, from Page 16——
ERA) from Montreal. Smith joins lefty Joe Magrane (18-9, 2.91) and Jose deLeon (16-12, 3.05) for an impressive big three that will match up with any pitching staff in baseball. If any combination of Cox, Matthis and John Tudor bounces back from arm problems, Herzog may have another championship.

But don't worry Cub fans. With any luck, your little Bears won't hibernate all together. A third-place finish is possible — if you're half as lucky as last year. I hope you enjoy Harry Caray singing "Take Me Out to the Ballgame." That will be the only excitement in the Windy City unless the White Sox win. (Give me a break)

Then again Cub fans, you can always trade Zimmer for Herzog!

GRADUATION ANNOUNCEMENTS
ordered in February from Jostens may be picked up now

UNIVERSITY BOOKSTORE
M-F 8-5:30 Sat. 10-3

SIU Intramural-Recreational Sports 536-5531

Fishing Clinic  Caving Clinic  Sports Medicine

TONITE!  Wednesday, April 11
5-7 p.m., Campus Boat Dock  7-9 p.m., SRC Aerobic Area

Bring your fishing pole out from Basa Camp! G. some hands on experience! Jay Stopp, a professional fishing guide with 20 years experience will offer tips on casting, lure presentation & selection, & more! Stop by & learn from the pro! Call 453-1285 for details.

NEW EXTENDED HOURS! Monday - Friday: 9 am - 8 pm
Saturday: 1-5 pm

Body fast testing, blood pressure checks, S.W.E.A.T. workouts, injury rehabilitation and basic first aid will be available on a walk-in basis. The Sports Medicine Office is located on the lower level of the Student Recreation Center. Call 453-1999 for details.

GRADUATION ANNOUNCEMENTS
ordered in February from Jostens may be picked up now

UNIVERSITY BOOKSTORE
M-F 8-5:30 Sat. 10-3

SIU Intramural-Recreational Sports 536-5531

Fishing Clinic  Caving Clinic  Sports Medicine

TONITE!  Wednesday, April 11
5-7 p.m., Campus Boat Dock  7-9 p.m., SRC Aerobic Area

Bring your fishing pole out from Basa Camp! G. some hands on experience! Jay Stopp, a professional fishing guide with 20 years experience will offer tips on casting, lure presentation & selection, & more! Stop by & learn from the pro! Call 453-1285 for details.

NEW EXTENDED HOURS! Monday - Friday: 9 am - 8 pm
Saturday: 1-5 pm

Body fast testing, blood pressure checks, S.W.E.A.T. workouts, injury rehabilitation and basic first aid will be available on a walk-in basis. The Sports Medicine Office is located on the lower level of the Student Recreation Center. Call 453-1999 for details.

BLOOD DRIVE
Be A SIU-C Bloodhound... Give Blood Today!
Monday through Friday
April 9 - 13, 1990

Tues.  10:30a.m. - 4:30p.m.
Wed. 12:00p.m. - 6:00p.m.
Thurs. 10:30a.m. - 4:30p.m.
Fri. 10:30a.m. - 4:30p.m.

Ballroom D, Student Center
2nd Floor

Call 536-7768 or 529-2151 For An Appointment. Walk-ins Welcome!

DRIVE}

Be A SIU-C Bloodhound... Give Blood Today!
Monday through Friday
April 9 - 13, 1990

Tues.  10:30a.m. - 4:30p.m.
Wed. 12:00p.m. - 6:00p.m.
Thurs. 10:30a.m. - 4:30p.m.
Fri. 10:30a.m. - 4:30p.m.

Ballroom D, Student Center
2nd Floor

Call 536-7768 or 529-2151 For An Appointment. Walk-ins Welcome!