A Little Traveling Music Please:

Basketball Bouncing Boys Depart For Cape Today

A group of off-campus students with a slight touch of spring fever will depart for Cape Girardeau at 9 a.m. today—the hard way.

They will bounce a basketball all the way from Carbondale to the gymnasium on the campus of Southeast Missouri State College where SIU plays a game tonight.

The students, all residents

Firecracker Display Results In Work

at The Troops, off-campus dorm at 704 S. University Ave., came up with the bright idea yesterday.

It sounded like a great idea when they were kicking it around the living room at The Troops. But when they started checking their troubles began.

"We called the state police at DuQuoin to ask for clearance," said Bill Ballard, spokesman for the group, "but they told us not to do it."

Next Ballard and his friends called Vice President John E. Grinnell for his counsel and advice.

Grinnell referred them to L. Clark Davis, director of student affairs. Davis, in turn, referred the students to Thomas Leffler, SIU Security Officer.

Leffler put a call through to the State Police Superintendent in Springfield. And he in turn called the DuQuoin post and ordered a police escort for the trip.

"We hope to start out at 9 a.m. and each of us will take turns dribbling the ball for about a half-mile," Ballard explained.

"There will be two car loads of us, so we shouldn't have any trouble making it."

The planned route was to take the dribblers out West Main street to Murphysboro, down Route 124 to Route 145 and then over Route 3 into Cape Girardeau.

Meanwhile, another SIU group started getting into the swing of spring by wiring President Kennedy that it was willing to respond to his recent hiking campaign.

In a telegram to the President, members of Tau Kappa Epsilon vowed to hike 50 miles Saturday from Cairo to Carbondale in less than 18 hours.

One member of the fraternity admitted that it was "more or less for publicity." But he added: "It could be more beneficial than seeing how many people can squeeze into a telephone booth."

Baffled Students Bemuse Profs With Bad Answers On Tests

The man who first observed that "If you become a teacher, by your pupils you'll be taught," may have had SIU instructors in mind.

As professors grade their quarterly crop of midterm examinations, new examples of student understatement and mis-statement appear. Student essays, for instance, often analyze life's problems.

"The three stages of life are childhood, adolescence and adultery," one SIU student said on an exam recently. "Some people never reach the third stage," he added.

"When a boy and girl go steady, really steady," one girl confided, "they can get into all kinds of trouble."

"Much is lacking in the homes where sex education is concerned," one theme advised. "This is an asset to juvenile delinquency."

SIU literature teachers often pick up unusual bits of information from test papers.

"Hamlet," one instructor learned, "is a revenge play with a duel and all that." The play's central character is "very moody," another writer explained, "because of all the hard knocks he received."

In Sinclair Lewis's novel "Babbitt," "the bunch was a group of flivverous characters," one SIU professor was told.

Poetess Elizabeth Barrett Browning was a "criple," one boy wrote, explained later that he chose that term because "I didn't know how to spell 'invalid.'"

"Satin and his Angles," turn up regularly in discussions of Milton's "Paradise Lost," another teacher reports.

Theme subjects may be treated in a variety of ways, instructors have discovered.

Assigned to write on the difficulties of commuting, one SIU student handed in a paper on "Hardships of Commuting from Chicago."

Another explained that he

US-USSR Clash At Arms Talks

Demand U.S. Pull Nuclear Arms Out Of Foreign Lands

By The Associated Press
GENEVA

The Soviet Union and the United States collided Tuesday at the reopening of the 17-nation disarmament conference.

The Soviets submerged a message of cautious optimism from President Kennedy by proposing the United States liquidate its nuclear deterrent force on foreign lands and seas.

U.S. and British sources denounced the Soviet proposal as a political maneuver to force the West on the defensive.

Shortly after the U.S. negotiator, William C. Foster, read Kennedy's message, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov presented a draft East-West treaty that would leave the United States with only U. S.-based intercontinental ballistic missiles as a chief nuclear deterrent.

The Soviet proposal would require the United States to abandon its Polaris submarine and rocket bases abroad and to bring home aircraft carriers and planes capable of delivering nuclear bombs.

Kuznetsov turned the tables on the disarmament talks which had been devoted almost exclusively to a nuclear test ban treaty as a step toward disarmament.

Both the United States and Britain went into the conference—which had been in recess since Dec. 20—with the expressions of hope some progress could be made toward a test ban treaty.

Kennedy's message called

Broken Water Main Keeps Drive Closed

A segment of a campus drive near the SIU Physical Plant has been closed since a water main broke during the recent cold wave and ice and frozen mud rendered auto traffic impossible.

Traffic is being detoured around that portion of the drive. W.A. Howe, director of the Physical Plant said, the segment of the road will not be opened "until the weather gets warm enough to thaw the ice and enable earth moving equipment to get in to repair it. Otherwise, we might be forced to use dynamite to loosen the debris."

on the participating countries to seek a safeguarded treaty that would promote confidence and trust among nations.

He said complete agreement still was not in easy reach but he added the "prospects seemed more encouraging than before because of the acceptance of the Soviet Union on the principle of on-site inspections."

Kuznetsov promptly threw cold water on that by refusing to modify the Kremlin position of two or three on-site inspections a year on Soviet soil. He implied the inspections could only be carried out if the inspectors are officially invited.

The West wants eight or 10 inspections each year.

In all disarmament negotiations since World War II, the Russians have tried repeatedly to force a closing of American overseas bases.

goes home weekends "to get a bowl of his mother's vitals." Still another theme-writer revealed that her most precious possession is her "chester drawers."

"The most explosive mixture of hydrogen and air is one that is ignited," one warned.

New versions of history occasionally turn up. One SIU student identified the Lusitania as "a German aircraft shot down somewhere over the South Pacific by the Japanese."

Now and then instructors receive advice on how to run their courses.

$2 Million In Checks Cashed In Two Years

The check cashing service at the Bursar's Office was instituted less than two years ago but already an estimated $2 million worth of checks have been cashed there.

More than 100,000 checks, including both personal and payroll, have been cashed through the service since it was started on May 15, 1961, according to Tom Watson, bursar. About 75 per cent were personal checks.

One problem the office has is students failing to have the proper identification and then becoming angry when they are told their checks can't be cashed. Under rules of the service, a student is required to have his student identification card plus a current activity card or fee statement.

A $25 maximum is also placed on personal checks cashed. This limit does not include student payroll checks, traveler's checks, postal money orders, bank money orders or cashier's checks. Checks of these types can be cashed for more than $25.

Watson said the reason for the $25 limit on personal checks is that "we have to have some limit on risk." If the checks are not good or can't be collected, he said, they must be paid out of the Student Welfare Fund.

"We have been well pleased with the success of the service," Watson said. "Since the check cashing service was instituted in May of 1961, it has been necessary to make good only six checks out of the Student Welfare Funds."

Part of these six checks have since been made good by the students through the efforts of the Office of Student Affairs.

The check cashing service was started after the Student Government proposed that such a service be offered and the plan was given support by officials in Student Activities and the Office of Student Affairs. The administration then granted the Bursar's Office permission to institute the service.

The ruling that students present a current activity card or fee statement with their identification card when cashing a check is necessary in determining if the students are currently enrolled in school, Watson said.

"Students often get perturbed when we won't cash their checks unless they present a student I.D. card," Watson said. "They expect us to break our regulations just because they have neglected to take the time to get I.D. cards."

Another problem sometimes occurs in the vacation period between quarters when students may not have fee statements for the coming quarter. This is rarely a problem except in the long break between summer and fall quarters when students working on campus may need to cash checks, Watson said.

A written statement from the Student Work Office that the student is employed on campus can serve in lieu of a current fee statement in that situation, he said.

The Bursar's Office is open and will cash checks at the window from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. each weekday, said Sam Rinella, assistant bursar. "We have to close at 4 p.m. so we can check out the cash and balance accounts by the end of the day," he said.

DEAR BLUSHING PINK, You need not be blushing. You were fortunate to have had your towel. It's encouraging to hear that you take a bath now and then, however, your clothes also need a bath occasionally. My advice to you is to borrow your roommate's clothes and wash your own at the SUDSY DUDSY, 606 S. Ill. Your clothes are much too strong for you to handle. After SUDSY DUDSY cleans your clothes, you, too, may be sitting in the living room with a date.

Associated Press News Roundup:

Senator Dirksen Calls Cuba 'Serious Threat'

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, Illinois Republican, said Monday Cuba is a "military bastion" which constitutes a serious threat to the western world, particularly the nations of Latin America.

He described Cuba as a "Russian suburb" and said nobody knows whether Russia has removed all its missiles from Cuba, but added that it would be premature to suggest what the U.S. should do about the threat from the Communist-dominated island.

Regarding the Cuban invasion, Dirksen said:

"The Bay of Pigs was a sleeping dog for about 20 months" until Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy stated no air cover was promised to the invaders. "I don't like to see these things go unchallenged," he said, and added information from numerous sources will be presented to a Senate committee in about two weeks.

The Senate Republican minority leader was in Springfield for a Lincoln Day observance.

WASHINGTON

Pierre Salinger, portly White House press secretary, said Tuesday the role of the fat man does not encompass 50-mile hikes, and announced his plan to lead newsmen on a 50-mile hike Friday has been canceled.

Salinger noted that President Kennedy's Council on Physical Fitness said earlier Tuesday that while 50-mile hikes are fine for Marines and those in top physical condition, others should approach such efforts in a spirit of moderation.

Conceding that "my shape is not good," Salinger said, "I may be plucky but I am not stupid."

CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C.

Marines led by Brig. Gen. R. McC Tompkins went on a fifty mile hike yesterday to prove their physical fitness.

The 34 Marines were complying with a 1908 presidential directive issued by Theodore Roosevelt ordering Marine officers to march 50 miles in 20 hours. President Kennedy re-issued the order on Feb. 5.

Lt. Marty Shimek led the officers covering the first 12.1 miles in a killing pace of one hour and 45 minutes. Gen. Tompkins finished the first 6.3 miles in an hour and 31 minutes.

In Okinawa a Marine corporal claims to have marched 100 miles in 16 hours and 42 minutes.

Cream Puffs:

A Valentine Treat That's Hard To Beat

A valentine treat that would drive any Cupid's arrow home, is quick and easy cream puffs. This idea is great to show-off your ability as chef with something fancy.

To make the shell, add 1/2 cup margarine to 1 cup boiling water in sauce pan over flame. When butter is melted, add 1 cup flour, quickly stir and cook until mixture leaves the sides of the pan and forms a ball around the spoon.

Remove from fire, add 4 eggs in two portions, beating until well blended.

Drop on lightly oiled cookie sheet. 1/4 of recipe will make 4 large cream puffs. Small ones are made with 1 teaspoon batter. These bake more quickly.

Accounting Office said Tuesday. The GAO also reported to Congress the Navy had scheduled the purchase of another $1 million in excess of its needs when the government auditors stepped in.

Bake at 435 F. for 20-25 minutes, reduce heat to 325 F. for 15 minutes, turn off heat and allow to stand for 10 minutes.

As anyone knows, the filling is what "dresses up" cream puffs. It can be varied in many ways to fit the occasion.

Blend 3/8 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons flour, 1/8 teaspoon salt, and 1 tablespoon butter. Add milk. Cook over low heat stirring constantly. Continue cooking until mixture slightly thickens. Then pour some of the hot sauce over 1 slightly beaten egg yolk. Stir until well blended then pour back in sauce pan and let simmer about one minute. Add flavoring and cool.

Traffic Signs Disappearing

A number of stop signs and other traffic signs have recently been stolen from locations on campus and also throughout Carbondale, according to Thomas Leffler, SIU security officer.

"This removal of stop signs is not a funny matter," Leffler said. "It is immature behavior and could cause a person to get killed." He said that people not familiar with city streets and the locations of stop signs might drive into the path of another automobile as a result of a stop sign being missing.

Persons caught with traffic signs or tampering with them will be turned over to city authorities, Leffler said.

Gorelik Play Opens In New York

"The Firebugs," a classic European play co-directed, designed and adapted by Mordecai Gorelik, research professor of theater at Southern Illinois University, opened Monday in New York.

Gorelik wasn't on hand for the American premiere at the off-Broadway Maidman Theater, however. After spending most of the fall term in New York lining up the production, then seeing it delayed and postponed because of the city's newspaper strike, he's had to return to his SIU classes.

The curtain-opening will mark a triumph for both Gorelik and Max Frisch, Swiss author of the play originally titled "Biedermann and the Firebugs." Although well known in Europe where his works are widely played, Frisch had never been introduced to American audiences.

While conducting research for the Rockefeller Foundation in 1950, Gorelik—a professional Broadway scene designer and proponent of "Epic" theater combining action and exposition—recommended Frisch as "one of the most talented of Europe's dramatists."

The Foundation sponsored a trip by Frisch to visit U.S. theaters.

Three years ago Gorelik directed some scenes from "The Firebugs" in a Project of the Actors' Studio sponsored by Elia Kazan and Cheryl Crawford, with comedian Zero Mostel performing the lead role.

Richard Fulkerson Named Top Debater At Tournament

Richard Fulkerson of Carbondale, a member of SIU's varsity debate team, was voted the outstanding debater at the Owen L. Coon Memorial debate tournament at Northwestern University Saturday.

There were 156 debaters from 63 schools participating.

Fulkerson and his teammate, Phil Wander of Bloomington, had a 6-2 record for the meet, defeating Butler University, University of Alabama, Kansas State Teachers College, University of Illinois at Chicago, Brigham Young University and Ripon College. They lost to St. Olaf College and Brandeis University.

A second SIU team, Glenn Huisinga of Calumet City and Jeffrey Barlow of Benton, also won six debates and lost two, defeating Dartmouth College, Southeast Missouri State College, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, University of Pacific, George Washington University, and North Texas State, last year's tournament winner. They were defeated by Purdue University and Wheaton College.

The subject debated was:

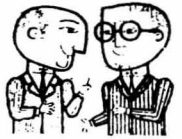

Modern Painter Visits Campus For Art Talks

New York painter Edward Dugmore, one of the original abstract expressionists in modern American art, will spend two weeks at SIU.

Dugmore, whose paintings have been exhibited in nine one-man gallery shows since 1949, arrived yesterday and will lecture to graduate and undergraduate art students and give critiques on their work. He was a visiting lecturer at SIU two years ago and some of his work has been purchased by SIU for its permanent art collection.

Born in Hartford, Conn., Dugmore moved to the west coast where he studied under Clyfford Still, a founder of the "San Francisco" school of abstract painting. His most recent one-man exhibition was this year at New York's Howard Wise Gallery.

Monstrous Machine

A few months ago the city of Carbondale appropriated thousands of dollars in order to purchase a monstrous machine to sweep the city streets. I am very certain, however, that the city residents are not comforted by the fact that beneath the layers of snow and ice there dwells no dust or dirt. Doesn't it seem more practical to have safe streets than unclean ones???

Sound Effects

Many students say they find it difficult to study in the library, but I find that the library is a very good place to study. I love the sound of riveting above my head and the banging of hammers in my ears. But most of all I thrill to hear the gab of students who use the library as a meeting hall. The rustling of candy papers and the beat of popping gum is music to my ears. I'm sure experts would agree that the above sounds help a student to concentrate on his studies.

More Signs

Because there has been a rash of tickets issued for parking on the Thompson Point Drive, I feel some more informative signs should be placed along the west side of the drive. The car-owning student who has business at "the Point" is easy prey for the "ticket writers" in the existing situation. There are presently two signs on the west side of the drive and they are approximately 250 yards apart.

Freshman Likes Egyptian; Offers Suggestions For Improvements

Although I am only a Freshman, I have already found a great deal of enjoyment in reading the Egyptian. I believe this is one of the binding ties between the school and student. I have three suggestions, however, that might prove to be of some value to the publication.

Since the literary page has already found great acceptance, could it be that the Egyptian is "missing the boat" in not presenting similar articles on art, music, and drama (one in each of the four issues). I am sure that this would produce the desired amount of "cultured lineage" and yet not stale in any one facet.

I realize that the administrative

Voices Were Heard

Recently the Egyptian and part of the student body united to protest the operation of the cafeteria in the University Center by a private corporation. As a result, this corporation has begun to sell meal tickets to students.

I think this is just one example of what can be accomplished if the Egyptian and the student body unite in a common cause, and I think that both deserve congratulations for their effort. Bob Reincke tration in this school, as in others, frowns upon segregation of students according to social affiliations (i.e. Greek letter organizations, private clubs, etc.), but I firmly believe that one column out of four issues could be devoted to Greek News.

Since Southern Illinois is fortunate enough to have competitive superior sporting teams, why not pick the SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK? With wrestling, basketball, and swimming seasons in full swing, candidates for this weekly honor would be numerous.

Good Work, Egyptian

Students have reason to be proud of the Egyptian's growth this year. Coverage of important national and international news provides a needed service for students. The recent addition of book reviews is informative and interesting. More information identifying the reviewer, however, would be helpful.

Congratulations! to the staff of the Egyptian.

Why So Stale?

What's wrong with the people who land the advertisements that are published in the Egyptian? Haven't they as yet become aware of the fact that the copy and the photographs being used over and over in every edition, without variation, are no longer eye-catching but mere space fillers.

Why not exercise a little tact and make a few subtle suggestions to the retailers who buy this advertisement space to give their product a new sales approach.

What, No Bus?

I would like to know why there is no ten a.m. bus to VTI. Personally, this is an inconvenience, and I know several others who are in the same situation. Not only does this inconvenience the students who want to catch the ten o'clock bus to VTI, the ten-thirty bus to SIU, but it also causes an overload on the 9:30 bus to SIU and on the 11:00 bus to VTI

Tales Of Woe Seem To Be Stock

In Trade For Campus Newspaper

For the past four years I have been reading the Egyptian, and I never cease to wonder at the amount of complaints that come in to you.

These gripes are directed at almost everything on and off campus. They range from complaints from students that can't understand why they can't have cars, to tales of woe from people who can't find room in the present parking facilities.

How many times have irate students charged into your office ready to tear you to shreds because you didn't print the news of their group's latest social feat? And how many times have they left highly embarrassed when they found that their secretary hadn't sent in the information?

My hat is off to you, baby sitting with twelve thousand lost children is no easy job.

Allen Lasater

Thanks For AP

Bouquets to the news staff of the Egyptian and serious congratulations on the addition of AP wireservice news to the offerings of the paper.

Every day the students' world expands to include more of the far-reaching affairs of the national-international scene. The Egyptian's recognition of the advantages of presenting brief summaries of this "outside" news along with campus items is a definite step forward toward a most comprehensive college newspaper.

Oh, How Slick!

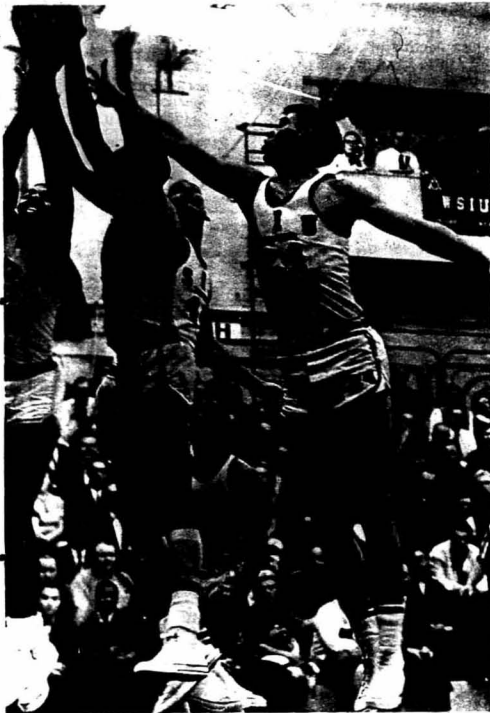

It would be interesting to know whether Carbondale has facilities for snow and ice removal from the streets. Naturally, the removal of snow was quickly completed on the commercial thoroughfares here because of traffic. But what about all the other streets here in town? Driving, and even walking on the icy roads is quite hazardous.

It might be that the snow each winter takes the people here by surprise. The off-campus students here are however, very well aware of this problem as they slip and slide to school. Let's see what next winter brings.

SIU Cagers Invade Missouri Indians' Teepee

Salukis To 'Shoot It Out' Tonight In Battle For Fifth Straight Win

SIU puts its four-game winning streak on the line tonight at Cape Girardeau, Mo., when it takes to the floor against Southeast Missouri in an 8 o'clock game.

Southern now has a 13-6 record and would like to avenge an earlier 72-70 loss at the hands of the Missouri Indians.

Jack Hartman's squad is fresh from impressive wins over Central State of Ohio and Austin Peay. The Salukis now have won four straight games dating back to the narrow win over Chicago Teachers.

Paul Henry, a 6-1 junior guard from Indianapolis who transferred to Southern from Coffeyville (Kans.) Junior College, has taken over the scoring lead on SIU's cage squad. He has scored 224 points for an 11.8 per game average.

Dave Henson, captain and senior forward from Dupu, is in second place with 218 points for an 11.5 per game average.

Lou Williams, SIU's 6 foot 4 inch center, is in third place in scoring with 167 points. He is leading in rebounds with 166.

Hartman apparently has found the five boys who work the best together. For the last six games—five won by Southern—Frank Lentfer, Harold Hood, Henson, Henry and Williams have been in the starting lineup.

The quintet impressed the crowd both nights last weekend with their scoring and rebounding ability. The outcourt shooting of Hood, Henry and Henson delighted the crowd. Also the rebounding by Lentfer and Williams attracted the applause of the partisan crowds.

SIU is confident of victory tonight against the once-beaten Indians. Southeast has lost only to Arkansas State in 17 games and hopes to add the Salukis' scalp to the collection tonight.

"We should have won here," Hartman commented, "but the ball wasn't going through the basket early in the game. We were out-rebounding them but the tip-ins would not fall for us.

"It could be a different story tonight," Hartman added.

Last time out against Southeast Missouri Southern used a full-court press the last 10 minutes and almost pulled the game out of the fire. With reserve guards Eldon Bigham and Rod Linder supplying the pressure, the Salukis came from 10 points down to within two, but it wasn't enough as the Missourians held on for the win.

Athletics Still Striking High In SIU Faculty Bowling League

Athletics continued to roll on in the SIU faculty bowling league. University Center slipped but Rehabilitation Institute fell flat.

Athletics is in first place for the fifth straight week with 40 points. Chemistry II is hanging on doggedly at 39 points.

University Center is third with 37 and Industrial Education fourth with 35. Rehabilitation is next with 34.

Jim Wilkinson, SIU wrestling coach and a member of the league-leading Athletics team, rolled the individual high game with 242. Athletics rolled the team high game.

Meade Rates Wolf Top Gymnast With Bright, Victorious Future

You could never tell from talking with Dennis Wolf that he is one of the top gymnasts in the U.S.

The bashful, reserved 18-year old sophomore already has compiled a list of achievements which belong in Robert Ripley's Believe-It-Or-Not book.

The diminutive 5-foot 4-inch athlete from Pico Rivera, Calif. has attracted nationwide attention with his gymnastic ability. He has accomplished in five years what it has taken many gymnasts a lifetime.

Last season as a freshman, Wolf won the National Junior All-Around title which surprised just about everyone—including Wolf and his coach Bill Meade.

He wasted little time this season to prove that last year's all-around victory was no fluke. At the Midwest Open in December, he won the still rings title by beating last year's NCAA champion, Dale Cooper of Michigan State.

During the Christmas holidays at the East-West gymnastic clinic in Tucson, Ariz., he tied with Iowa's brilliant sophomore Glen Gallis for first place in the still rings event. Last month Gallis beat Wolf at the SIU-Iowa meet here.

Both are considered co-favorites to win the title at the NCAA championships, March 29-30 at the University of Pittsburgh.

Meade is quite outspoken when talking about the modest gymnast. "He is one of the top gymnasts already," Meade said, "and he will get better with experience.

"He is only a sophomore so he still has a lot to learn," he added. "He is a dedicated and hard working individual which will help him in the future. He likes to practice and it goes without saying that it will make him better."

JIM WILKINSON
SIU Mat Men
Vs. Oklahoma
Here Saturday

SIU meets the top wrestling team in the U.S. Saturday night when it goes against Oklahoma State at 7:30 in Men's Gymnasium.

Oklahoma State has won the NCAA wrestling championship for two consecutive years and is favored to retain its title this year.

Jim Wilkinson, SIU wrestling coach, encourages all students to attend the meet because some of the top wrestlers of the U. S. will be performing.

Mark McCracken, Oklahoma State's outstanding wrestler, is wrestling at 130-pounds this year after finishing second at 115 pounds in last year's NCAA meet.

Phil Kinyon is another of Oklahoma State's strong wrestlers who is expected to wrestle at 157-pounds Saturday night. He won the NCAA title in 1961 but last year finished second.

Larry Kristoff, SIU's leading heavyweight and one of the favorites to win the division at the NCAA, will face Joe James of OSU in one of the main attractions of the evening.

James is a member of the U.S. Pan-American Games wrestling team, and unbeaten this year. He placed second at 191-pounds in NCAA last year.

Mad Dogs Put Bite On Motel In IM Play

The Mad Dogs continued its drive for the SIU men's intramural basketball championship with an easy 45-36 win over Crab Orchard Motel. Randy Roberts scored 14 points for the winners.

The Mad Dogs are made up of SIU football players and some former members of SIU's basketball team. Harry Bobbitt, Vern Pollock and Charles Hamilton are members of SIU's football team and appear to have shifted successfully from the gridiron to the basketball floor.

The Alkies, last year's men's intramural cage champions, fell before the Mad Dogs last week and their reign as champions ended. The Alkies won the flag football title last fall.

In other intramural action the Gousters outlasted the Untouchables, 40-38, in an overtime.

The annual SIU intramural free throw tournament will be held March 4 from 6 to 10 p.m. All men enrolled in the University are eligible to compete, except men who have won basketball letters or numerals.

Woods Takes Second In Shot Put At Kansas

"He will come back."

Perhaps those four words were the most important ones expressed by a happy Lew Hartzog, SIU track coach, after watching George Woods put the shot 51 feet 7 inches for second place in the event at the Kansas indoor meet Saturday night.

Woods, however, proved

Saturday that he will be ready for the outdoor season which starts in April. Hartzog is counting on Woods for some valuable points at the NCAA meet in June when the Salukis hope to improve on last year's fourth-place finish.

"I was more than pleased," Hartzog said. "We beat them both in the running events but lost out in field events in which we had only one man entered in the shot put."

Jim Dupree set a new field house record of 1:54.4 in the half mile and was a close second to Brian Turner, who won the mile in 4:15.5.

Jim Stewart tied the record in the 60-yard dash with a time of six and two-tenths (:06.2) seconds. Teammate Al

Pulliam was third.

Bill Cornell won the 600-yard run in 1:12.9 and the 1,000 yard race in 2:17.

John Saunders was third in the 440. In the two-mile Alan Gelso was third and Don Trowbridge fourth.

Final team scores were Kansas 80, SIU 39 and Pittsburgh (Kans.) 29.
