Group to Plan Relocation of IC Tracks

Frank A. Kirk, coordinator in the President's Office and Carbondale street commissioner, has been elected to head the newly organized Carbondale Railroad Relocation Authority.

The authority will explore the plans and possibilities of relocating the Illinois Central Railroad tracks which are situated through part of the SIU campus and the city of Carbondale.

The group, which was created by the Illinois Legislature, met Saturday to organize and elect officers. Archie Stroup, assistant supervisor of Carbondale Township, was elected temporary secretary of the authority.

John S. Rendleman, SIU vice president for business affairs, Dr. Leo J. Brown and Mayor D. Blaney Miller complete the five-member organization.

Besides organizing and electing officers Saturday, the authority also directed Kirk and Stroup to negotiate with technical consultants to do a feasibility study of relocating the tracks.

The legislature has appropriated $15,000 to be used as operating expenses by the authority. Kirk and Stroup have also been directed to contact the state financial director to find out how the funds can be spent.

The authority will meet the second Saturday of each month. The proposed bylaws for the authority will be presented at the next meeting.

The authority will exist until it has found a way to relocate the railroad tracks, or until it determines that such a move is impossible or economically unfeasible.

The Illinois Central Railroad has agreed to the relocation of the railroad tracks as long as it does not cost the railroad any money.

Harold M. Banks Dies In St. Louis

Harold M. Banks, 31, Thompson Point area head, died late Monday evening in Barnes Hospital in St. Louis.

Earlier in the day he had undergone open heart surgery. A hospital spokesman said his mother and an aunt were at his bedside at the time of death.

Banks entered the hospital in November for treatment of a heart condition. However, a decision to perform open heart surgery was not reached until late last week. SIU students contributed some 17 pints of blood for the operation.

Tigers Put Salukis in The Tank

Southern blew a 15-point lead in the final minutes of play as Tennessee State burst from behind to take a 65-61 victory over the top-ranked Salukis Monday night at Nashville.

It looked as though Southern had the game put away with about five minutes to go and leading 61-46. But the Tigers pounded in 19 straight points and held Southern scoreless to come off with the victory.

Rober Eldridge, a 6-1 guard who had scored only eight points in the first 35 minutes, led the upset charge by pumping in 10 points. Most of his five baskets came from

Kansas Defensive Platoon Coach Visits Here With Athletics Department Staff

Don Sroyer's replacement in the head football coach position at SIU could be a man by the name of Ellis Rainsberger.

According to a story by Pete Swanson in Sunday's Evansville Courier and Press, Rainsberger has visited the campus twice within a week, and dined with Bill Brown, assistant athletics director, in a Carbondale restaurant. University officials declined to comment on the story.

On his first visit, Rainsberger did not get to talk with Athletics Department staff members in an interview as he did the second time.

An East Alton native, he coached the defensive platoon of the University of Kansas in 1965 after a successful three years as head coach at Washburn University in Topeka, Kan.

A graduate of Kansas State, Rainsberger was captain of the football team in his senior year, and was an All-Big Eight guard in 1956 and 1957.

Further honors were given him when he was named to the Academic All-American football squad, picked on the basis of grades as well as playing skill.

Rainsberger was also a championship heavyweight wrestler in the Missouri Valley Conference as an undergraduate.

After working as an assistant coach at Kansas State for one year, Rainsberger returned to Illinois in 1959, where his LaSalle-Peru High School team won eight out of nine games.

The next year he assisted at Missouri, and then got the offer from Washburn, a small school of 2,000 enrollment.

His overall record there from 1962 to 1964 was 17-10, operating without NCAA scholarships.

Rainsberger and his wife Shirley have five children.

Swimming Pool To Be Featured

A building which will serve as "a second University Center" will eventually be built near the large recreation area south of Campus Drive near the Lake-on-the-Campus.

The building will contain recreation facilities that the present Center does not provide, according to Willard S. Hart, associate University architect. These will include an indoor swimming pool.

The recreation area will have 30 playing fields for football, softball, golf driving and others. Several fields are now in use for intramural sports.

These items were among long-range Carbondale campus planning explained by Hart and John F. Loneragan, University landscape architect, to the Campus Senate Thursday night.

They specifically reviewed planning in relation to the proposed new football stadium to be constructed on McLafferty Road.

They explained that because of the annual graduation turnover a part of the student body is uninformed about the planning.

Some other planning explained included:

The land where McAndrew Stadium now stands must be used for buildings which will be within easy walking distance of the rest of campus. A general offices building will be built at the north end of the stadium area and a student services building will eventually replace the steel bleachers.

Hart said the temporary building housing these facilities will have to be cleared for classroom buildings in the future.

An alternate possibility would be to build the classroom buildings farther out and either increase time for passing between classes, extend hours for scheduling classes, or schedule classes at alternate hours for each student, Hart added. He noted that these were impractical.

He said the value of the land where the stadium is now play to be presented in the Playhouse, and is closing out the Southern Players' stay in those quarters in fine style.

The Southern Players' next play, Eugene O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey Into Night," will be presented in the new theater in the Communications Building.

"Lysistrata" will reopen at 8 p.m. Thursday and run through Sunday.

The play involves a sex strike among the women of Athens and Sparta in order to stop the 20-year-war between their husbands. The events which precede the ending of the war are ones which are quite pleasing to an audience.

Yvonne Westbrook, who is cast in the title role, could have developed her speech a bit more to capture her character completely, but she covered those shortcomings by effective movements and facial expressions.

The highlight of the evening was the scene involving Myrrhina who teases her husband, Kinesias, and refuses him love. Maurice Ayllon and Peter Goetz were cast in these roles. Goetz gave an admirable performance by showing well-developed character, effective body actions and terrific facial expressions.

Other strong points in the production included the women's chorus under the leadership of Pam Worley,

REOPENS THURSDAY--Kalonika (Judy Sink) rubs her sleepy eyes and dawdles under the accusing stare of Lysistrata (Yvonne Westbrook), center, as Chorus Leader (Pam Worley) announces that the Athenian women have already converged at the Acropolis for a mass meeting Lysistrata has called in her effort to force their husbands to halt the war with Sparta. The play, which began last week, will reopen at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Southern Playhouse.

who acted quite well. The men's chorus, however, showed some lack in refinement in stage movement, but performed satisfactorily.

Marilyn Sledge, playing Kalonika, merited many a chuckle in her role of the stocky Spartan woman.

Other characters who were notable in their performances were Michael Flanagan, playing the president of the senate; Hazel Burnette, who portrayed the Corinthian woman with a great deal of finesse; and Naggy Faltas, who was silent but captured his two roles

(the clerk and Manes) very effectively.

Especially notable in the production as a whole was the superior job on make-up. Noses, facial lines and sagging bustles on the old women's chorus gave the play quality.

Shortcomings on the play can be cited in matters of taste concerning the costumes on the Spartan envoys. The near-nude effect was achieved in the costuming, but not without sacrificing completely good taste.

Another incident which had a Spartan envoy enter the stage with a scroll between his legs could be questioned by some standards.

The Southern Players' presentation of "Lysistrata" may be lacking in some aspects, but on the whole, it is a play worth seeing and enjoying.

A Negation of Vexation Without Representation

If anyone wants to impeach Student Body President George Paluch they'll get one vote from yours truly. Who needs a president who goes against the will of the majority?

Now that we have "endeared ourselves forever" to Mr. Paluch, we will proceed to attempt to justify the case in point.

On Dec. 4 the student body voted on a proposal for an activity fee increase designed to provide more funds for NCAA scholarships for the Athletic Department. The vote was in favor of the increase. Regardless of the margin of victory (a simple majority of 55 per cent of the voters which, by the way, the editors of KA insist on calling a plurality) Mr. Paluch had a clear impression in black and white as to the majority of student opinion. But he ignored it. He used various means to voice his personal disapproval, including threats to veto the bill if he didn't get written approval of the student senators.

Mr. Paluch rested his case on the point that "the majority of opinions expressed to him concerning the bill indicate that most students do not want the activity fee increase." Who are the students you were talking about, Mr. Paluch? Was this majority you are speaking of two of the other three members of your bridge set, or some small group of elite, astute or otherwise outstanding group of right-thinkers?

The majority in question concerned with the activity fee increase is the 2,069 out of 3,747 who voted in favor of the bill, and not your circle of associates, Mr. Paluch. Enough has already been said about the necessity, validity, legality, ad finitum, of the fee increase. Let it suffice to say that it passed through all channels and that's that.

The point here is your antics, Mr. Paluch. We are not by nature name-callers, Mr. Paluch, and we have never done so before in print but it seems justified in this case. We do not know your motivation in opposing this bill, whether it offended your inner sensibilities or ethical convictions, or whether you were playing petty politics.

We do not deny your right and duty to protest these matters in which you feel your position to be correct, but we do condemn you for ignoring the obvious facts.

We agree with a certain University official who stated in private that your voice is doing more harm than good on this campus.

At many other campuses, Mr. Paluch (we would hazard to say the majority of campuses, in fact) an increase in fees such as this would not even be brought before the students for a vote.

We will agree that in other instances the rights of students have been infringed upon, but not in this case.

The prosecution rests its case. The defense may have the floor if it so wishes.

Icy Sidewalks Show Lack Of City Pride

The snow that hit Carbondale Monday demonstrated that the civic pride that the Carbondale residents have shown for their school system, as expressed by their reaction to the Meyer letter, does not exist for their town in general.

Days after the snow, a pedestrian in Carbondale had to forge his own path in the snow as residents blatantly refused to aid the pedestrian's passage by shoveling their walks. Homeowners, city hall custodians and even the guardians of public safety, the Carbondale Police Department, allowed sheets of ice to exist before their property.

Walks, glassy with ice, said "thank you for your patronage" before many stores in Carbondale.

Perhaps one reason why the accumulation was allowed to stay on Carbondale walks is that there is no law in Carbondale requiring removal of snow within a certain time after its arrival, as is the case in many other cities.

However, one wouldn't think that a law to force residents to recognize their moral obligation to clear their walks in the interest of public safety would be necessary in a town with as much civic pride as Carbondale.

It's Futile to Educate Unemployed, Answer: to Employ the Uneducated

By Robert M. Hutchins

According to "authoritative sources," the country is to be treated to some strong medicine in the report of the National Commission on Technology, Automation and Economic Progress.

This commission was formed 17 months ago by act of Congress at the request of the President. It represents industry, labor and the academic world. The familiar names of the enlightened wing of the Establishment, Thomas J. Watson, Walter P. Reuther, Whitney M. Young, Daniel Bell, are all there.

The forecast of the contents of the report suggests that the idea of putting a floor under the income of every American family, an idea condemned as revolutionary only a few years ago, is now gaining respectability.

The report refers to the necessity of "income maintenance." The New York Times says, "The report says Congress should seriously consider a negative income tax . . . This would provide those families below a specified income level with a tax rebate or cash payment designed to raise their income toward the nonpoverty level."

The spectrum of support for such a proposal is indicated by the endorsement given it last year by Prof. Milton Friedman of the University of Chicago, who is said to have been Barry Goldwater's principal economic adviser.

The statements the commission is expected to make on education are discriminating and sophisticated beyond anything we are accustomed to in public proclamations on this subject.

The official attitude for years has been that education is the remedy for unemployment and that vocational training is the heart of the educational enterprise.

According to the report in its present draft, there is no conclusive evidence that inadequate education has been a primary cause of persistent unemployment. "The jobless are the poorly educated only because employers hire the best-educated workers they can, and even the most poorly educated could find work if there were enough jobs."

With this statement every conscientious student of the relation between education and employment must agree. Those who want to increase employment should direct their attention to developing jobs. If they direct it to increasing the number of the "educated" they will succeed only in raising the educational requirements for the jobs there are. This will simply mean that an employer will demand a college degree for a job that formerly called for a high school diploma.

The commission's remarks on vocational training are equally judicious. The present draft of the report makes two important points. First, general education in the arts and sciences is preferable to vocational training through the high school years. Second, industry should carry the burden of vocational training.

If the final draft of the report adheres to these positions the commission will have done something to clear our minds of cant about education.

Joe Resnik's Death Cost SIU Athletes 'Loyal Fan, Friend'

To the editor:

SIU athletes recently lost a loyal fan and friend when Joe Resnik passed away.

To anyone looking for someone to talk with about tonight's game or the ones past and future, Joe was available as an eager participant. He seemed to suffer with us in defeat and to share the sweetness of victory with all the emotions of a team member.

Although Joe had been ill for several months, one could never detect it in his warm friendly greeting and conversation.

Joe was the possessor of the little intangibles that make for a truly great and wonderful man.

In my heart and in the hearts of several SIU athletes, the No. 1 barber chair at Kampus Klippers can never be filled. Joe Resnik was "Our Barber."

Unreasonable Demands Being Made Under Guise of Civil Rights Protests, Discrimination

America, the land of opportunity. Or is it now the land of something for nothing?

Last week a group of Negroes and white civil rights workers moved into the vacant buildings of a Greenville, Miss., Air Force Base which is being decommissioned.

They said they had come to live there and they demanded to be given the buildings to live in, a job, food and job training.

What justifies their demand that the government pay their living expenses and rear their families?

They said they were homeless and weren't receiving federal antipoverty aid fast enough.

They are not the only people in these United States who are having a hard time making financial ends meet.

Civil rights protests in the last several years have accomplished a great deal. Most of the accomplishments, such as the voter registration law, fair hiring practices law and the others, have been needed.

But things seem to be getting out of hand. Under the guise of civil rights protests and cries of discrimination, unreasonable demands are being made. The groups, such as the Freedom Democratic Party in Mississippi, are jumping on the civil rights train to take advantage of the momentum of the movement. This is good—as long as what they are trying to accomplish is good for the depressed people and the nation.

The Negroes have long been subjected to unfair practices, especially in the South. But these practices are being eliminated—sometimes quite speedily, but regrettably, sometimes slower than is necessary.

The Negroes are improving their living conditions, their educational opportunities and their rights as American citizens.

But, everything can't just be handed to them. The time is fast arriving, if it is not here already, that the Negroes and other depressed peoples must do something on their own and not rely on the cries of discrimination to get them everything for nothing.

Least East Midwest, or— Help Is on The Way

CARBONDALE, ILL.—While I was on a business trip to the Midwest this week, I wandered into a saloon in Carbondale, a small town in the depressed area of Southern Illinois.

I was standing there quietly at the bar listening to two out-of-work farmers complain how automation had knocked them out of jobs. Suddenly, one of them turned to me, looked over the cut of my clothes and said menacingly, "Where you from, mister?"

"Uh, New York City," I said, as inoffensively as possible.

"New York," he shouted. "Cheez, you poor bastard! Hey, bartender, give this man a drink!"

Suddenly crowding around me was a mob of out-of-work farmers, factory workers, miners and migrant workers between seasons. "Hey, tell us what it's like out there, mister?" one of them said.

"What it's like out where?" I responded. "Back—" the man's voice broke a bit—"back there where you come from?"

"Yeah," another one said. "We been hearing some horrible stories of what you people have been going through back there."

The place fell silent as a hard-looking woman with worn hands patted my arm: "You don't have to talk about it, mister, if you don't want to."

By Rick Friedman
Manhattan East

"That's OK," I reassured her. "I don't mind"—this time my voice broke a bit—"maybe it's better to talk about it."

I put a foot on the bar rail, expectorated expertly into the spittoon and hitched up my belt. "It's tough," I said quietly. "Real tough. Bartender, could I please have a glass of water?"

The bartender obliged and I slowly savored the water. "We don't get a lot of this where I come from. How much is it?"

"Cheez," the bartender sighed. "It's free. Drink up. Here, have another one." He poured me a second glass of water.

I turned to the crowd. "It looks like it might be the toughest winter my people have had to face yet but we expect to pull through. We lost a few of them but it was their own fault. They were warned not to wander off alone."

I looked around at the sea of sympathetic faces and continued. "My own wife got caught in a traffic jam one day, and my children almost starved to death before she got them back home."

I suppressed a couple of hacking coughs. "You caught that out—out there?" a hard-bitten ex-miner asked.

"Yes (cough), I did (cough, cough). It's not too bad, really. But then I haven't been living out there too many years. You should hear some of the oldtimers. They're almost afraid to take a breath, it's that bad."

"Why—why do you stay out there?" a pretty young girl said softly.

"You'll have to speak a bit louder," I apologized. "You see, I ride the subways every day back there and my hearing isn't what it used to be."

She repeated the question a bit louder.

"Why do I stay there?" I said. "Well, by God, somebody has to settle that land. We're just hoping we can make it a bit better for those who come after us."

A burly migrant worker stepped forward. "I want to shake your hand, mister." There were tears in his eyes.

I shrugged. "We'll survive. But we need help. Those first 13 days of this year were the roughest our little group ever faced."

"Is there anything we can do for your settlement?" a stooped-over ex-coal miner wanted to know.

I blinked and gripped my glass of water harder. "We don't like to use the word 'settlement' back there."

"Oh, I'm sorry," he said. "I should have known better."

"There must be something we can do," a lady in the back of the saloon cried.

"We may be beyond hope!" I shrugged. "Did you ever watch a man slowly go crazy as he drove around for hours searching desperately for a place to park his car? You sit there helpless in the passenger seat as he strangles on his own tongue, his white-knuckled hands digging into the steering wheel while his gas-pedal foot cries out in pain for relief."

"It's horrible," a man shouted. "We can't let such things happen to fellow human beings," a woman cried.

Suddenly the crowd was in a state of excitement.

"How can we help?" A man called out.

"Yes, what can we do?" another followed. "Water? They would never be able to get it through Pennsylvania without having the natives there attack them for it."

Air? They would never get it into us without its becoming contaminated before my people could use it.

Helping us fight off the frequent attacks? These good folk had their own families out here in the Midwest to worry about. It would have been too much to ask such help from outsiders.

"Let's go back there with him," one of them said. "Maybe there'll be something we can do when we get there?"

"No, no," I cried. "Stay right here where you are. The place is crowded enough now."

"There HAS to be something we can do," a farmer pleaded.

"There is," I answered. "Send tranquilizers. Scour your homes, your drugstores, your hospitals, your veterinary establishments, and send us all the tranquilizers you can find."

A cheer went up in the saloon. Suddenly there was meaning in their lives.

And if these good people of depressed Southern Illinois can manage to smuggle it through the border patrols on the Pennsylvania and New Jersey Turnpikes, mass tranquilizers aid is on its way to our beleaguered coastal community of New York City.

Hang on, my people! Help is on the way!

TEMPLE OF ABU SIMBEL

Temples on Nile Torn, Shaven To Make Way for Civilization

By Aly Mahmoud

ABU SIMBEL, Egypt (AP)—The colossal temples of Abu Simbel have been hewn from their ancient home and the front of Abu Simbel Mountain looks newly shaven.

For 32 centuries the statues of King Ramses II, his queen Nefertari and an assortment of gods and sacred birds looked upon sunrise across the Nile. Then they had to be moved to escape rising waters due to building of the Aswan Dam.

Salvage experts cut the twin temples into 950 chunks, weighing 20 to 30 tons each, and transported them to storage areas. Two years from now, reassembled, the king and the others will be greeting the sunrise from higher ground.

History has many tales of Ramses' fondness for dismembering his war captives. Today the swashbuckling Ramses, the beautiful Nefertari, the arrogant sun god Amon-Ra and the god Ptah are strewn about the ground, dismembered and helpless. The bafling smirk on Ramses' face is still there.

In 1958 the Egyptian government announced it was going ahead with building the Aswan Dam which would create behind it the largest man-made lake in the world. Annual floods of the Nile threatened to submerge the entire Nubian desert and inundate the towering temples of Abu Simbel along with 26 other temples, churches and sanctuaries.

The U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization launched a "now or never" campaign urging nations of the world to rescue the Nubian monuments. The United States and Egypt are bearing most of the $36 million cost.

Serious work began three years ago with a thorough excavation of the two temples. A cofferdam was built to shield the temples. The Nile flooded twice, but work went smoothly behind the temporary dam.

When cutting started last year, a few explosives charges were used to remove the upper part of the mountain topping the two temples. Then, with electronically guided saws, chisels and other tools, Italian experts cut the huge monuments in what was termed the greatest archaeological surgery in history.

The cofferdam will be flooded in August, but by then the whole operation will have been shifted to the temples' new site, above the reach of the waters.

American Chemical Society 1965 President to Speak Here

Charles C. Price, 1965 president of the American Chemical Society, will speak on campus Thursday.

Price, former head of the chemistry faculty at Notre Dame University and chairman of the Department of Chemistry at the University of Pennsylvania from 1954 until this year, will speak at 8 p.m. in Room 204 in Parkinson Laboratory.

He will discuss "Sulfur Bonding and Thiabenzenes." His speech is sponsored by the Southern Illinois Section of the American Chemical Society. Price holds many patents and is author of several books and more than 200 articles in chemistry publications. His book "Sulfur Bonding," which was coauthored by S. Oae, is considered a classic in the field of organosulfur chemistry.

Other meetings planned by the Department of Chemistry this week include:

Glenn P. Cunningham, research fellow from the Mellon Institute, will present a seminar on "Some Recent Conductance Measurements of the Tetraalkylammonium Ions in Aqueous and Nonaqueous Solvents" at 4 p.m. today in Room 204 of Parkinson Laboratory.

Fredrick C. Hartman, post-doctoral research associate at the University of Illinois, will discuss his current research at 3 p.m. Friday in Room 204, Parkinson.

Thomas J. Bonk, graduate student in chemistry, will conduct an organic-biochemistry seminar on "The Anomalous Large Electron-Withdrawing Effect on the Trifluoromethyl Group" at 4 p.m. Friday in Room 204, Parkinson.

Buildings Planned to Replace Present McAndrew Stadium

A proposal has been made to relocate U.S. 51 to the west along Tower Road with an exchange to the proposed new stadium area along McLafferty Road. Hart said it will be at least 10 years before this is accomplished.

SIU officials are adapting the master plan to an enrollment of 31,500. This increase will require 16,000 more "student stations" for study and classroom work, according to Lonergan.

This enrollment will require that many new buildings be multistory structures. These new student stations will be constructed in the central portion of campus and be grouped so that academic units will be together to eliminate much cross-campus traveling.

Five parking garages are planned for the campus, and the first one will probably be constructed near the general offices building, Lonergan said.

Grand Avenue will definitely be opened temporarily while improvements are being made on Mill Street. Hart said University officials are waiting as late as possible to do this because of the large number of students who cross the street at each class change. Hart said the start of work on Mill is waiting on state funds.

Philosophy, Work Of Wright to Be Lecture Subject

A three-screen stereo slide lecture on the philosophy and work of the late Frank Lloyd Wright will be presented at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Muckelroy Auditorium of the Agriculture Building.

Robert Palmer and Hugh McClure, members of Perkins and Will, architectural firm, will present the lecture. They originally developed the program as part of the firm's associate workshop series. It has been shown at a number of universities.

The program uses three simultaneous pictures on three 12-foot screens. The sound is provided by stereophonic tape synchronized with the pictures.

The program is being sponsored by the Department of Design.

Davis Raps Procedure

Administration Secrecy Charged In Plans for Stadium Relocation

John Paul Davis, vice president of the student body, has charged that the administration failed to "communicate" and engaged in "secrecy" in its plans to relocate McAndrew Stadium.

John S. Rendleman, vice president for business affairs, answered the charges when he appeared before the Campus Senate, which is investigating plans for the new football field which will be built southwest of Small Group Housing beyond the WSIU Radio tower.

In a memo to the Senate, Davis said: "For the interests of the student community, I fear and I cannot accept the apparent policy of the administrative community, so long as it operates with the intention of informing the student community of decisions closely associated with the student community only after implementation of the decision has begun."

Davis complained that representatives of student government were told that information about the stadium move was "not for public information."

He also said that Ralph W. Ruffner, vice president for student and area services, and I. Clark Davis, Ruffner's administrative assistant, told him that they "knew absolutely nothing" concerning the move.

Davis said the purpose of questioning University officials about the stadium move was not only to determine what type of facility is to be constructed, but also to "initiate a long-range effort to assure the student community of representation in decision making in student areas of interest prior to implementation of an action."

Willard Hart, associate University architect, joined Rendleman in denying that any secrecy had been involved.

Rendleman said that the University has recognized the need for the stadium relocation since 1954. He said the proposed site was included in the master plan presented to the Board of Trustees last summer.

The actual study of the problem was not started until July, Hart said, and not completed until last week.

Rendleman said the specifications and costs were not final and had not been presented to the Board. He added that the necessary money has not yet been funded.

"We attempted to get as

wide a discussion as possible," Rendleman said. He noted that the plans had been discussed before the Alumni Committee, the Buildings and Grounds Committee, and the Athletics Committee.

He noted that the Athletics Committee has two student representatives and asked why they had not informed student government of the plans. "Why do we have student representatives on these groups unless it is to get the student point of view?" Rendleman said. "There was no attempt at secrecy," Rendleman said, "but there may have been a failure to communicate."

New Stadium Statistics

Plans for the proposed new football stadium as presented by University architects:

Location: On McLafferty Road southwest of the WSIU broadcasting tower.

Seating capacity: 21,000, on steel bleachers and more temporary bleachers.

Type of construction: Field set in natural bowl, steel bleachers set in concrete on each side.

Cost: Not specifically determined, estimated at $250,000 to $500,000 depending on facilities.

Access: Campus Drive, city streets, McLafferty Road, sidewalks.

Parking: Sod fields used for Experimental Farms pasture.

Facilities: Service buildings, dressing facilities, running track, small parking lot, box seats, sewage lagoon, additional sidewalks, all to be constructed in order of importance as funds permit.

Time of occupancy: Probably for 1967 season.

Distance: About 15 minutes walking time from Small Group Housing.

Expansion: Permanent masonry stadium possible with seating capacity of over 50,000.

Saigon Stiffens Stand on Reds

HONOLULU (AP) — President Johnson was told Monday by the prime minister of South Viet Nam that Saigon will not surrender or compromise with the Communists and wants to increase military strength because, he said, that's the only language the Communists understand.

At the first formal meeting of their top level strategy council, Johnson and Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky outlined their positions—generally in similar language but with differences of emphasis.

Johnson said he wants to see a two-pronged program in South Viet Nam—to pursue the war militarily while moving vigorously to achieve social and political reforms in South Viet Nam.

Johnson concluded by saying:

"Gentlemen, let me make clear our resolve and determination to see this thing through. We will not tire, we will not flag."

Illinois Bell Faces Centralia Strike

CENTRALIA (AP)—A meeting is planned today to head off a threatened strike at Illinois Bell Telephone Co.'s central office for Southern Illinois.

Members of the Communications Workers of America, AFL-CIO, began picketing the office Monday protesting the dismissal last week of an employee. Pickets said two other unions were supporting the protest.

Management said the dismissal was routine and that the session scheduled today with the union reflects an effort to follow normal grievance channels.

ing, held under leaden skies at the hilltop command post of American forces in the Pacific, were given to newsmen by spokesmen for Johnson and Ky.

The South Vietnamese prime minister pledged that his country would continue the fight against communism as long as necessary and willingly accept sacrifices and death.

"We pledge our determination," he said, "not to surrender or to compromise with the Communists, whether in the North or the South."

While this seemed to cast a shadow over Saigon's role in any peace negotiations, Ky said his government would cooperate in the search for an honorable and just peace.

Johnson and Ky acknowledged that there may be differences from time to time between the two governments.

The Vietnamese leader told Johnson that American advisers sometimes display impatience with Saigon officials. And he said he and his colleagues sometimes are impatient with the Americans.

"In any common enterprise," commented Johnson, "friends usually will differ."

He pictured that as a healthy situation promoting honest and frank discussion leading to the best solutions to mutual problems.

There were reports that the Vietnamese came here determined to urge intensified military action against the Hanoi government.

Nguyen Van Thieu, the South Vietnamese head of state, said in his opening remarks he and Ky were glad to be meeting with Johnson at a time when, as he put it, many decisions are pending.

Ky's spokesman, Nguyen Ngoc Linh, was asked if these included military decisions. He said yes.

When asked whether the question of blockading the port city of Haiphong or intensified bombing of North Viet Nam were discussed at the opening session, White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said no.

American officials said in advance the meetings would emphasize political, social and economic programs in South Viet Nam.

Take 11-Year Red Prize

Combined Forces Seize Key Viet Points But Fail to Find Two Hunted Regiments

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. and South Vietnamese forces took control Monday night of key points of a coastal valley that had been a prized Communist possession for 11 years.

But they failed to find two battle-hardened Red regiments the allies have hunted for more than a week.

A joint U.S. 1st Cavalry Division, Airmobile, force and Marines teamed up with the South Vietnamese to move into An Lao Valley 300 miles northeast of Saigon as an extension of a squeeze operation that ended with a Cavalry-Marine linkup 18 miles north of Bong Son during the weekend.

Ground action elsewhere in South Viet Nam continued light.

North Viet Nam claimed its gunners brought down a U.S. plane and captured its pilot in a central province Monday, the first anniversary of the launching of U.S. air strikes against the North.

In Saigon, U.S. officials totaled up the score of air strikes Sunday but made no mention of any new attacks against the Communist North.

Hanoi also claimed a U.S. reconnaissance drone was shot down on the outskirts of the North Vietnamese capital, Peking's New China News Agency said a high-altitude U.S. military drone was shot down by a Red air unit over southwest China.

The U.S. military command in Saigon announced that U.S. military personnel in Viet Nam now number 201,000. It said another 60,000 are with the U.S. 7th Fleet offshore.

The operation in An Lao Valley is the result of the Marines' Operation Double Eagle, which began with massive amphibious landings Jan. 28 north of Bong Son, and the Cavalry Division's Operation Masher which moved in from the south. South Korean troops held positions to the east and South Vietnamese to the southwest.

The operation now is called White Wing.

An Lao Valley, about 15 miles long and four miles wide, is about 15 miles in from the South China Sea. The Communists have held it since December 1954. Eighteen months ago, South Vietnamese units attempted to take it but were thrown back with heavy losses.

U.S. and South Vietnamese officials launched the operation in hope of flushing out and smashing the North Vietnamese army's 18th Regiment and the Viet Cong's hard-core 2nd Regiment.

Several battalions of cavalrymen swept down the valley slopes and took over key positions on the valley floor while the Marines set up perimeter defenses.

Luna 9 to Transmit No More; Electric Power Is Exhausted

MOSCOW (AP) — Pioneer Luna 9, a globe-shaped instrument package resting on what looks like four flower petals, will send no more pictures from the moon, a Soviet announcement said Monday.

After three days of history's first radio and picture reporting from the surface of the moon, Luna 9 has used almost all its electric power, the announcement said.

A surprise, extra transmission session Sunday night came because the satellite still had power left, the announcement said. This appeared to rule out speculation the unexpected broadcast meant Luna 9 was undertaking some spectacular new assignment.

With the unmanned satellite's batteries slowly dying on the moon, the Russians could claim these firsts:

—The first soft landing on the lunar surface, permitting a delicate package of scientific instruments to survive a touch-down on the moon intact.

—The first radio broadcast from a heavenly body to earth.

—The first pictures of the moon taken on the moon's surface and transmitted back to earth.

—The first panoramic view from a spot on the moon's surface as it might look to a man standing on the moon and turning his gaze in a complete circle.

By Unanimous Vote

House OK's GI Bill For Educational Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House passed a bill Monday to set up a permanent program of educational and housing benefits for military veterans and offer the bonus to those who have served since Korea.

The vote was unanimous, 381 to 0, although the House had failed to act on a similar bill passed by the Senate several years ago.

The Senate last year passed a somewhat costlier bill but is expected to go along with the House version. President Johnson also is expected to accept it although his administration originally asked that the program be limited to veterans who served in combat areas.

Both bills would aid veterans who served since July 31, 1955—the declared termination date for establishing eligibility under the Korean GI program.

The major difference between the measures is that the House bill provides $10 a month less in educational payments to each veteran.

The first-year cost of the House bill is estimated at $335 million, with the amount expected to level off at about $500 million a year in about five years.

The administration plan for limiting aid to combat veterans would have cost an estimated $150 million a year.

The educational benefits would be measured by the length of active duty—one month of schooling for each month of service, up to a total of 36 months. The Senate bill has the same 36-month limit but is based on 11 1/2 days of school aid for each day of service—thus 1-1/2 months for each month of service.

More than six months of duty is required under the bills—except for a person separated with a service-connected disability—thus ruling out anyone who volunteered for six months training and then entered the Reserves.

There would be no reimbursement of those who are eligible but have already paid for their education.

In contrast to the original GI bill enacted after World War II, veterans would not have their tuitions paid to the colleges they attend. Instead they would receive monthly payments to help meet their college expenses.

Payments for full-time students would range from $100 monthly for men without dependents to $125 a month for those with one dependent and $150 for those with more than one.

The Senate bill would have provided $10 more monthly in each category.

The bill would provide Veterans Administration guarantee of home loans up to $7,500 and direct loans up to $17,500 where private financing is not available.

The loan benefits would become effective on enactment of the bill. The benefits would be available to a veteran for 10 years after discharge plus one year for each three months of service.

288 Cases of Child Beating Reported in State Since July

CHICAGO (AP)—A new Illinois law requiring doctors and hospitals to report instances of child abuse turned up 228 alleged cases—15 fatal—in its first six months, a state official said Monday.

The law, in effect since last July, exempts those who report such maltreatment from possible lawsuits by parents claiming damage to their reputations.

Director Cyril H. Winking of the State Department of Children and Family Services said that most doctors and hospitals previously kept quiet for fear of becoming involved in costly legal action.

Of the child fatalities reported since July, seven were held to be accidental. One parent was convicted of manslaughter. Seven cases are pending.

The law provides that the state may remove mistreated children from parental custody, and Winking said this had been done in "a small majority" of the cases.

"We go into court with a petition for guardianship," he said, "We then place the child either with a foster family or in an institution."

If investigation indicates criminal action, the facts are turned over to state's attorneys.

Winking said returns so far showed that child-beaters come from all races, religious and economic levels.

Fokker Propjet Is Missing Over Himalayas; 37 Aboard

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—A Fokker Friendship propjet with 37 persons aboard is missing and feared down in a treacherous Himalayan pass in Kashmir.

The twin-engine F27 was en route from Srinager to New Delhi, with stops scheduled at Jammu, Kashmir's winter capital, and at Amritsar.

The plane's last radio report was at 11:43 a.m. Monday, when the aircraft was approaching Banihal Pass, a narrow cleavage in the Himalayas.

The pass itself is around 10,000 feet high and usually fog-shrouded, but even so is the best access for flights between Kashmir and India.

Two Indian air force helicopters searched the approaches to the pass until late afternoon, when a storm over the pass intensified and forced them to return to base. Army ground parties are working their way to the area.

Only two foreigners—a Swede and a German—were listed among the 33 passengers and crew of four.

Dual Red Lights Set For State Police Cars

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The tipsy motorist may think he's seeing double when overtaken by patrolmen in new model Illinois state police cars.

A pair of flashing red lights on the roofs of 60 new cars will replace the conventional center-mounted light now in use, State Public Safety Director Ross Randolph announced Monday.

The twin lights will be synchronized to produce a wig-wag alternating flashing effect, similar to railroad crossing signals.

Government Ups FHA Loan Rate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The march toward tighter money caught up with the housing market as the government raised the interest rate Monday to 5 1/2 per cent on mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

Although the boost from 5 1/4 per cent was less than expected and fell short of the rate sought by some real estate men and mortgage bankers, it means that home buyers must now pay a total of 6 per cent on FHA mortgages including the 1/2 per cent charged by the government for loan insurance.

The increase is effective immediately.

To any kid who'd like to leave home: We'll pay half your fare.

The idea's not as crazy as it may seem. Anytime we take a jet up, there are almost always leftover seats.

So it occurred to us that we might be able to fill a few of them, if we gave the young people a break on the fare, and a chance to see the country.

The American Youth Plan*

We call the idea the American Youth Plan, and what it means is this:

American will pay half the jet coach fare for anybody 12 through 21.

It's that simple.

All you have to do is prove your age (a birth certificate or any other legal document will do) and buy a $3 identification card.

We date and stamp the card, and this entitles you to a half-fare ticket at any American Airlines counter.

The only catch is that you might have to wait before you get aboard; the fare is on a standby basis.

"Standby" simply means that the passengers with reservations and the servicemen get on before you do.

Then the plane's yours.

The American Youth Plan is good year round except for a few days before and after the Easter, Thanksgiving and Christmas rushes.

If you can't think of any places you'd like to go offhand, you might see a travel agent for a few suggestions.

We can't add anything else.

Other than it's a marvelous opportunity to just take off.

Complete this coupon—include your $3. (Do not send proof of age—it is not needed until you have your ID validated.)

In addition to your ID card, we'll also send you a free copy of AA's Go Go American with $50 worth of discount coupons.

Arab World is Misunderstood, Press Chief Says in Speech

The Arab world "is the most misunderstood area in the world today," said Saadat Hasan, chief of press and public liaison of the Arab Information Center, in a speech at SIU Friday night.

Hasan said this was partly the blame of the people of the Arab world, but later in his speech also put the blame on the United States press.

Ugly Man Contest

Voting Booths Open

Voting in the annual Alpha Phi Omega Ugly Man contest will continue until Saturday at four locations.

Booths are set up at Thompson Point, University Center, University Park and Southern Acres.

The booths are open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., except the University Center booth, which will remain open until 8:30 p.m. Voting will close at 5 p.m. Saturday.

Votes are one cent each. The money is given to the winner's favorite charity.

The contest will be climaxed with a dance at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the University Center Ballroom. The winners will be announced at the dance.

Alpha Phi Omega is a national service fraternity.

"On the east coast and especially in New York, it is impossible to get anything printed about the Arab world," he said.

Hasan said that the Arab students in the United States provided a strong bond of friendship between the two worlds.

He said, "The masses create a great difference between the American government and the American people."

Arab people have a great fondness for the people of America, but "the government is viewed with suspicion," he said.

Hasan outlined the history of the Arab world up to the present time. He then gave some of the political background and attitudes of the Arab countries.

He singled out the wars against the colonial powers. "I know of no countries that have suffered so much on the altar of freedom."

He said that in modern times the Arab world was suffering under "Zionist colonialism," which he called the "worst form of colonialism known to mankind."

In the course of his speech he said that the Israeli situation was established by the British and maintained by the Americans, but, he places the ultimate blame on the Germans for causing the situation by their "massacre of innocent people" during World War II.

Hasan went on to outline the future for the Middle East. He said that more countries were turning toward industrialization.

He also said that "most leaders are advocates of a federal type of government" for the various Arab states.

He advised the students in the audience to observe the federal form of government in the United States so that they could help establish something similar when they return to their homeland.

The speech was sponsored by the International Relations Club and the Arab Students Organization.

Edwardsville Couple Chosen In Time-Life Study of Youth

A couple from the Edwardsville campus of SIU became part of "a nonrandom sampling" of the younger generation in a special report by Time/Life Books, "The Young Americans."

The couple chosen was Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eck. Eck is a farm boy from Glen Carbon, Ill., and his wife the former Rosemary Calvin, lived nearby.

They were both 18 at the time of their marriage last fall.

Both are students. He is taking a five-year architectural course, and she is taking a one-year nursing course.

They plan to live on money he earns from a part-time job plus savings from a summer job until she completes her schooling and can go to work.

The 10-page illustrated article about the Ecks is only part of a survey that was done for the publication.

Among the aims of the report, according to its editors, is to "help grownups understand them (the younger half), and help some of them better understand themselves."

In discovering the younger half, editors spoke to college students, high school students, actors, young marrieds, Peace Corps volunteers, teachers, soldiers, musicians, civil rights workers, and almost anyone else, including parents, who would stand still long enough to answer a question.

As a result, the last article, "Early Marriage: Two Teens Take the Big Step," is the one which brings the teen years to a close.

Although Eck and his wife are still teenagers and will be for another year or so, they have accepted the responsibility of marriage.

Attendance Record Set

Salukis Whip

Southern set new highs for this season and for total season attendance, tied the longest winning streak of the season, and beat Oglethorpe College for the first time in history—all last Saturday night.

An estimated 9,350 packed the Arena to see the Salukis whip Oglethorpe 66-60. The previous season attendance was 9,200 against Tennessee State. The figure also increased the total season attendance to 39,950 in the first 10 games, compared to 53,442 in 15 games last year.

It was the sixth straight victory for the Salukis and this tied the longest previous string they had going before the victory. Playing double-overtime, pattern-style ball, the Petrels nailed down a 29-20 lead at the half, but Southern came back with a sticky defense and better shooting to outscore Oglethorpe 44-31 in second half play.

Southern's backcourt combo, George McNeil and Dave Lee, assumed their usual roles as top scorers by pumping in 19 and 18 points respectively. Center Boyd O'Neal was right behind with 16. The only others to score for Southern were starters Clarence Smith, with nine, and Randy Goin, who had eight. Southern moved to a 10-4 lead in the first three minutes of the game before Oglethorpe began to pull up. After tying it at 13-10, the Petrels never fell behind during the rest of the half, although Southern was able to tie the score three times.

In the second half, Southern dropped its defensive net and sharpened its shooting to begin pulling away from the visitors. After shooting 13 of 28 from the field in the first half, Southern made 16 in as

Gymnastics Meet

Salukis Tumble Past Arizona and Illinois

It was an unusual gymnastics meet, not that the Salukis won, because they almost always do. But Saturday they polished off two teams instead of the customary one. The Universities of Arizona and Illinois (Chicago Circle) were the latest in a long list of casualties to fall to the Salukis in the Arena.

Southern has now reeled off 43 consecutive dual meet victories.

Against Arizona, the Salukis won 194.90-183.60, dropping the Wildcats from the ranks of the unbeaten. Arizona had won seven straight dual meets this season.

And against Illinois the Salukis scored an even more impressive 194.90-163.20 win.

Southern had winners in all seven events with Frank Schmitz leading the way with three wins in free exercise, trampoline and long horse. Mike Boegler, Rick Tucker, Larry Lindauer and Fred Dennis had single victories.

Boegler edged Arizona's Dave Doty for first place in side horse 9.6-9.55.

Tucker, however, had an easy win on high bar. His score of 9.6 was 2.5 points better than runnerup Steve Monk of Arizona.

For the second week in a row, all-around performer Larry Lindauer led SIU on the parallel bars. Lindauer's performance earned him a 9.2, just .1 point better than teammate Paul Mayer and Arizona's Jack Kenan, who tied for second.

Dennis made it a sweep for the Salukis by finishing first on the rings with a 9.65. Arizona's Pat Arnold and Illinois's John Schrammel were second at 9.3.

Schmitz's winning scores of 9.6 in free exercise, 9.65 in trampoline and 9.65 in long horse left him with the distinction of not receiving a lower score of 9.4 in his three events so far this season.

Southern completely outclassed Arizona and Illinois on the trampoline; the Salukis won the first four places. In addition to Schmitz's winning 9.65, Dale Hardt was a close second at 9.4, Hutch Dvorak third at 9.3 and Brent Williams at 9.05.

Jerry Ditter of Illinois was next best at 8.6. Arizona's Warren Vander Voort was fifth with a 8.2.

Mayer continued piling up second-place finishes in free exercise with a 9.4, parallel bars with a 9.1 and long horse with a 9.55.

The sophomore, however, encounters unusual difficulty in side horse and high bar.

Tom Cook was fourth in rings with a 9.1, while Jack Hiltz was fifth at 8.85. Ron Harstad was fourth in parallel bars at 9.05.

For the outclassed Illini it was a long meet. The Chicago teams only impressive event was rings where they had performers in second and third place.

Southern's two victories upped its season's record to 5-0. Its next meet will be Friday against Indiana State at Terre Haute.

That Innocent-Looking Trampoline Sets 'Spring' Trap for Gymnast

By Joe Cook

It looks harmless sitting over there idly, but it has been known to send a few performers for a loop.

It's the trampoline and it has left its mark on quite a few gymnasts.

Trampoline accidents don't happen much at Southern, mainly because Coach Bill Meade has four accomplished trampolinists.

That was until recently. Brent Williams has suddenly developed a habit he'd just as soon avoid—flying into the springs.

Against Mankato State over a week ago, William's routine lasted about five seconds before he landed feet first into the springs.

Later that week, a similar accident took place.

Williams has no love for the trampoline anyway and was beginning to develop an immense dislike for it.

Before Saturday's meet Williams stated that his main goal would be just to stay on the bed. However, he did accomplish more than that, and his routine earned him a 9.05 score.

The Saluki gymnasts are murder on their opponents and hard on themselves.

At least three of them are wondering what they have to do to get their scores to count.

Since only the team's three top scorers count, Steve Whitlock's fourth-place score of 8.9 in free exercise, Larry Lindauer's 9.35 in long horse and Williams' 9.05 in trampoline went for naught.

Gymnastics is both a team and individual sport, and Delta Chi social fraternity came en masse to Saturday's meet to root for the team and, more important, their brothers, Whitlock, Dale Hardt, Rick Tucker and Hutch Dvorak.

It proved to be quite effective because Hardt and Dvorak were second and third on the trampoline, and Tucker was first in high bar, fourth in side horse and fifth in parallel bars.

Whitlock was fourth in free exercise.

SIU Sets Records, But Kansas Wins

The perfect record that the University of Kansas holds in their field house was almost spoiled Friday when a well balanced track team from SIU opened their dual meet competition in Lawrence, Kan.

The Salukis lost a 68-54 decision, but the score would have been different if SIU's apparent victory in the mile relay had not been disqualified.

Coach Lew Hartzog, who was pleased with the team's performance despite the loss, said, "There appears to be little doubt now that this is going to be the best balanced team we've ever had at SIU."

As predicted by Hartzog, George Woods of SIU went over the 60-foot mark in the shotput event, setting a field house record.

Woods' throw was 60 feet, 8.5 inches, erasing the record of 59 feet, 3 inches, set in 1962 by Don Smith of Missouri.

Tom Ashman of SIU nearly equaled the field house high jump record when he won that event at 6 feet, 8.125 inches, only an eighth of an inch off the field house record and his own school record.

Other SIU first place winners in the meet were Jan Sharpe in the broad jump, who set a field house record, Al Ackman in the 880-yard run, and Frank Whitman in the high hurdles.

The outstanding runner in the meet was John Lawson of Kansas, probably the greatest distance runner in the United States.

Lawson won the mile and the two-mile run, but missed competing with Saluki freshman Oscar Moore, who was in Philadelphia for the invitational Inquirer Games.

Moore finished fourth in a field of nine international distance runners.

The pole vault event at Kansas could have been tied by SIU's Rich Ellison, but it took him three times to make 14 feet, while Kansas' Manuel made 14 feet even on the first try.

SIU will be host to Kansas in a dual meet here on May 14. The complete results:

Pole vault: 1st, Manuel, Kansas, 14-0; 2nd, Ellison, SIU; 3rd, Burdick, Kansas.

Broad jump: 1st, Sharpe, SIU, 23-6.5; 2nd, Vernon, SIU, 3rd, Cortez, Kansas.

High jump: 1st, Ashman, SIU, 6 feet, 8.125 inches; 2nd, Livingston, SIU; 3rd, Cortez, Kansas.

Shotput: 1st, Woods, SIU, 60 feet, 8.5 inches; 2nd, Barr, Kansas; 3rd, Schwartz, Kansas.

High hurdles: 1st, Whitman, SIU, 0:07.8; 2nd, Livingston, SIU; 3rd, Cortez, Kansas.

Low Hurdles: 1st, Hanson, Kansas, 0:07; 2nd, Whitman, SIU, 3rd, Livingston, SIU.

60-yard dash: 1st, Hanson, Kansas, 0:06.2; 2nd, MacKenzie, SIU; 3rd, Dienelt, Kansas.

440-yard dash: 1st, Dienelt, Kansas, 0:50.1; 2nd, MacKenzie, SIU; 3rd, Carr, SIU.

600-yard dash: 1st, Peck, Kansas, 1:14.1; 2nd, Smith, Kansas; 3rd, Fendrich, SIU.

880-yard run: 1st, Ackman, SIU, 1:55.8; 2nd, Smith, Kansas, 3rd, Grindal, Kansas.

1000-yard run: 1st, Paul, Kansas, 2:51.1; 2nd, Holm, Kansas; 3rd, Duxbury, SIU.

Mile run: 1st, Lawson, Kansas, 4:08.4; 2nd, McLain, Kansas, 3rd, Trowbridge, SIU.

Two-mile run: 1st, Lawson, Kansas, 9:07.5; 2nd, McLain, Kansas, 3rd, Trowbridge, SIU.

Mile relay: SIU lost by disqualification.

Saluki Freshmen Win 93-62 For 6th Consecutive Victory

Southern's freshman basketball team extended its winning streak to six games with a 93-62 victory over Harrisburg Junior College at the Arena Saturday night.

The Salukis controlled the game throughout with accurate shooting and outstanding rebounding. The victory gives Southern a 9-2 record.

Southern held a 45-28 lead at halftime. This was due largely to a .514 field goal percentage. The Salukis also hit seven of eight free throw attempts in the first half. They finished the night with 10 for 11 in this department.

Willie Griffin led Southern's offense with 18 points, Chuck Benson converted six of nine field goal attempts and added three free throws for 15 points. Benson also had 12 rebounds to lead the team.

Creston Whitaker had 12 points, Dick Garrett, Carl Mauck and Gene Watson 8 apiece, Lynn Howerton 6, and Rich Hacker and Rob Henson 5 points each.

Southern outrebounded Harrisburg 86-48. Jim Collins and Bill Patterson led all scorers for Harrisburg with 19 points each.

Coach Jim Smelser made liberal use of his reserves in the final half. All 13 players who saw action for SIU scored. The reserves continued to dominate the backboards and showed a great deal of scoring punch.

The freshmen face a 10-day layoff before they face the Kentucky Wesleyan freshmen Feb. 15 in the first of three straight away games.

24 Trees Labeled As Service Project

Three members of the SIU Forestry Club have finished a special service project, that of labeling 24 trees.

They labeled 21 species on the grounds of the Anna State Hospital.

Charles Doty, chairman of the labeling committee, said the project would add meaning and interest to the trees for visitors and patients.

Each label contains the common and scientific name of the tree. The area serviced is near the hospital administration building and will be utilized for nature hikes for patients as part of their recreational activities.

Helping Doty were Michael A. Neuzil and Ronald B. Uleck of the Forestry Club.

Tennessee State Tigers Claw Way Past Salukis

With the score 56-46 in Southern's favor, Ralph Johnson hit a field goal and George McNeil added another, plus a free throw, to put the Salukis ahead 61-46 with about five minutes to go.

Poverty Workers Receive Training

An experimental study in training anti-poverty programs staff members is being conducted this week at the Little Grassy facilities.

Richard Franklin, director of SIU's Community Development Institute, said the project involves personnel within the five-county Shawnee Development Council, a group coordinating anti-poverty programs in Alexander, Union, Pulaski, Johnson and Massac Counties. These include F.D. Taylor, director of the program, five administrative assistants, and two dozen non-professional workers.

"This is an experimental approach to help these workers learn some of the social skills, knowledge and behavior appropriate to their tasks," Franklin said.

The sessions, called the Shawnee development training conference, are being conducted without outside funds, Franklin said.

Curtis Mial, associate director of National Training Laboratories, and NTL staff member Richard Albertson, both of Washington, D.C., are assisting Community Development staff members conduct the conference.

to pull off the upset victory. Combining a tight full-court press with its unbelievable shooting, Tennessee State was able to force the game on Southern in those final minutes.

After being behind from the final stages of the first half, the Tigers moved ahead 63-61 with 35 seconds to go on a pair of free throws by Bruce Fowler. Two more free throws about 20 seconds later by Phil Scott, a 5-7 guard, iced the game for the home court Tigers.

McNeil and Boyd O'Neal tied for the scoring lead for the Salukis with 16 points each. They were followed by Dave Lee, Randy Goin and Clarence Smith, who each added eight. Ralph Johnson had three and Lloyd Stovall, two,

SIU Dominates Gymnastics Meet

No team points were kept and it was just as well for Illinois State University because Southern's beginning and intermediate women gymnasts completely dominated the meet Saturday in the Women's Gym.

Southern's beginners won every event except tumbling, and the intermediates were taking first in every event except free exercise.

Winners in the beginning group for Southern were Penny Traiber on balance beam, Debby Maksin and Cathy Korando, who tied for first in free exercise, Sue Taylor in long horse vaulting, Barbara Beyer in trampoline and Gloria Sylvester in uneven parallel bars.

Illinois State's only winner was Sherry Randall in tumbling.

In the immediate group SIU winners were Loraine Wesa in balance beam, and long horse vaulting, Kristi Barkheimer in uneven parallel bars and Carole Nawojeki in tumbling.

Dorm May Open In Spring Term

Wright Hall, the only unoccupied hall at University Park may be ready for occupancy by the beginning of spring quarter, according to Joseph W. Gasser, supervisor of housing contracts.

The men's hall, which has spaces for 330 students, will be opened if only one or two of the three sections is completed, Gasser said.

GEORGE MCNEIL

to complete Southern's scoring.

Henry Watkins wound up as high man for the Tigers with 22 points while Eldridge, who spearheaded the victory drive, had 18.

The loss was the fourth on the road in eight games for the Salukis, who are still unbeaten in 10 home contests so far this year.

The next game for the Salukis will be Thursday night at the Arena against the Puerto Rican Olympic team.

Aviation Fraternity Officers Elected

Frank H. Graff has been elected president of the SIU chapter of Alpha Eta Rho, international aviation fraternity.

Other officers are David Massey, vice president; Marilyn E. Cutler, secretary-treasurer; Robert W. Butts, public relations; Susan K. Willey, historian; Richard M. Hisgen, pledge master.

Ronald D. Kelley, assistant manager of the Southern Illinois airport, has been elected to the national officer position of Midwest regional governor.
