SIU Students Registering For Blood Donor Program Jan. 28-29 Total 242

Registration for the Carbondale Red Cross blood donation program Jan. 28-29 has reached its goal of 400 pints, according to Capt. Paul Lunde of the AFROTC, which is conducting Southern's part of the drive.

Registration, which was held Jan. 16-18, included approximately 170 Carbondale residents, and 242 SIU students. Of the students, 198 males and 44 coeds registered.

SIU organizations who registered as a group included Tau Kappa Epsilon, with 32 members registering, and Chi Delta Chi, with approximately 25.

THE CARBONDALE drive is being sponsored by the Elks, at whose club house the blood donor unit will be located. Donations may be made from noon until 7 p.m., Jan. 28, and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Jan. 29.

Anyone of either sex and any race, weighing over 110 pounds and between the ages of 21 and 59 inclusive is eligible to become a donor. Students from 18 to 20 must have their parents' written consent.

A donor may give blood every eight or ten weeks, but cannot donate more than five times in a twelve month period. A thorough medical check-up by a physician or a registered staff nurse employed by the Red Cross is required before anyone will be allowed to donate.

FOR THE BENEFIT of those unable to donate at this time, it will be possible for them to give blood later. A college-sponsored drive is being planned at a later date.

Suggestions and instructions for donors for the Carbondale drive include:

1. Do not eat fatty food within four hours of donating.
2. No smoking will be allowed in the Elks club. It is also advisable not to smoke for one hour after donating.

3. Take it easy after donating—no basketball, track or other hard exercise.

4. THOSE THAT HAVE requested transportation to the club are asked to be at the SIU student center at least 10 minutes before their appointment times, which were sent out today.

5. Eat within six hours prior to donating.

All donated blood will be used for military purposes. Blood type O is flown direct to Korea. Blood types A and B are processed to plasma.

All the Elks each pledge will have temperature and pulse taken. Blood pressure may be 100-200. Cards received in mail, verifying appointment times, must be presented at the time of donation.

SIU Sponsors Tour To Southern States

Spring vacation this year will provide another opportunity for Southern faculty members and students to make a university-sponsored tour of scenic parts of the country.

This year's spring vacation tour will be to New Orleans, La., and Mobile, Ala., according to an announcement made by Dr. Floyd F. Cunningham, director of student-faculty tours.

Open to students, faculty members, alumni, and friends of SIU, the tour will begin on Saturday, March 8, during spring vacation and will last eight days.

Continue Plans For Variety Show; Chairmen Named

Southern's fifth annual all-school Variety show sponsored by the Theta Xi fraternity will be presented in Shryock auditorium on Feb. 27 at 8 p.m. according to Bob Mosher, general chairman of the event.

As in past years, the show will not only have many and varied acts, but it will also include the presentation of Service-to-Southern awards. These awards will be watches which will be presented to one man student and one woman student chosen by a faculty committee for their outstanding service to Southern.

This year, a huge traveling trophy valued at $100, which must be won a total of three times in order to be retired, is to be presented to the winning organized house act. Plaques will be presented to the members of the top individual act.

These trophies plus the Service to Southern watches will be on display soon on the second floor of Old Main. Upperclassmen eligible for the Service to Southern awards may get their applications either at the display desk or in the Student Center.

Proceeds from the variety show will be added to last year's proceeds which were put in a fund to buy a television set for Southern's Student Center.

Try-outs for the Variety Show are scheduled as was announced previously.

Committee chairmen for the Variety show have been announced as follows: general chairman, Bob Mosher, Marion; finance chairman, Carroll Cox, Palmyra; publicity chairman, Joseph Harding, Chicago; awards chairman, Al Tritanji, Madison.

In charge of lighting for the show will be Bob Reiske, Granite City, Ed Brock, Marion, has been selected to manage the Theta Xi entry.

Norm Strotheide and Verne Rothwell, both of Granite City, have charge of the on-the-set party after the show Feb. 27.

French quarters and the river front at New Orleans; Bellingrath Gardens near Mobile; Maxwell Field at Montgomery, Ala.; Wilson, Wheeler, and Pickwick Landing dams on the Tennessee River; and Shiloh Military Park, Tenn., will be visited on the tour.

A price of $65 includes transportation, lodging, and insurance. Dalias A. Price, assistant professor of geography, is director of the tour. The group will travel by special bus.

Persons interested in making the tour are requested to contact Dr. Cunningham of the geography department at once.

SIU 'March of Dimes' Reaches Total of $300

Southern's "March of Dimes" campaign total soared to $300 today as a result of donations at the SIU-Cape Girardeau basketball game Tuesday night and at the "Mile of Dimes" line Tuesday and Wednesday.

To Launch First Independent Week Thursday, Jan. 31

Plans for Southern's first "Independent Week" to be held on campus beginning Jan. 31, are nearing completion, Wyona Smith, chairman of the planning committee, said today.

"Spotlight on Southern," a musical review featuring student talent, is scheduled for Friday, Feb. 1. Rehearsals for the show are now being held according to Miss Smith and Barbara Rose, co-chairmen of the musical. Paul Morris, membership chairman of the ISA, has been selected to serve as Master of Ceremonies.

Joe Brown, president of the ISA, is urging all Independent students to back the Southern Salukis—in their basketball game with Illinois Normal here on Saturday, Feb. 2.

"Queen of ISA Week" will also be elected during the week. Ten cents will nominate a candidate and each vote will cost a penny.

Proceeds from the week's activities will be used in the future to subsidize social activities of the organization and social activities of small independent houses.

The ISA plans to make the week an annual event.

Wisconsin Artist, Ball Plan Pottery Exhibit

In preparation for an exhibit here at SIU, Aaron Bohrod, artist-in-residence at the University of Wisconsin, has arrived on campus. Bohrod will work for two weeks with F. Carlton Ball, Southern's internationally known ceramist.

Ball and Bohrod will design and make pottery for an exhibit to be held on campus April 20.

Pottery by Ball and Bohrod was last exhibited in Madison, Wisc. Cooperative work by the two has received national recognition.

Plan Showings of Rose Bowl Movies Tuesday

Tentative arrangements have been made to schedule showings of films of the Rose Bowl parade and game, Tuesday, Jan. 29, at the University school auditorium at 7:30 and 8:30 p.m. There will be two showings of both the parade and game films.

The game film is in black and white with sound, while the pa-

* Paul Morris, APO "March of Dimes" chairman, said that members of the APO collected over $40 by passing a blanket through the crowd at the intermission of the basketball game.

At 4 p.m. Wednesday, students and faculty members had placed 1,000 dimes in the "Mile of Dimes" line at the main entrance to the university.

The steps of Old Main, $4,000 dimes away, has been set as the goal for this APO-sponsored project.

Morris also said that he has invited the presidents of the organized houses to bring whatever they have received in donation boxes placed in the houses and lay it on the line.

University School, conducting a drive separate from the university-sponsored one, collected $73 at their varsity-faculty basketball game Tuesday night.

No Students Nominated For Junior Vacancy On Student Council

In nominations held Wednesday for a junior male representative to the Student Council, no student received the necessary number of nomination votes which is a total of ten.

Of the approximately 430 students in the junior class, only 16 voted in the nominations.

Students who received nominations and the number they received are as follows: Charles Wildy, 6; Max Hansen, 5; Dave Stahlberg 4; and Mike Stein, 1.

At a specially called meeting held yesterday, the Student Council decided by majority vote that in this case the Council should appoint a junior male representative to serve until the major election is held in the spring.

The appointment will be made at the regular meeting of the Council to be held Tuesday.

However, this decision will not necessarily set a precedent. The Student Council is now considering revision of the entire election setup as it is stated in the constitution by-laws. When revisions are made, they will include a policy on what action should be taken when no students are nominated for a certain position.

Admission to the showings will be 25 cents plus activity ticket for students and 50 cents for all others who attend.

The films are being sponsored by the Carbondale Kiwanis club. All proceeds will be used to aid underprivileged children in the community.

Published semi-weekly during the school year, excepting holidays and exam weeks by students of Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Ill. Entered as second class matter at the Carbondale post office under the Act of March 3, 1879.

And Then There Were None

Student disinterest in student affairs seems to have reached its peak in the Council nomination last Tuesday.

Out of about 430 juniors (fall term total), only 16 voted for the junior replacement for Student Council. And not one candidate received enough votes to be nominated. The highest single total of votes received was six, and the minimum nomination requirement is 10.

Although this particular affair concerns only juniors, it is representative of the lack of interest in student activities, and especially in student government, that prevails on Southern's campus. Past election figures give evidence of this attitude, or absence of attitude, we should say.

ALMOST THE ONLY TIME election returns are heavy is during the Homecoming Queen race, or when the Greeks or Independents are afraid the other one is going to elect the most council members.

If students do not realize the responsibility which is theirs in choosing capable and efficient college leaders, how can they ever be depended upon to use intelligently and effectively the privilege of voting for national leaders. If they don't wake from their apathetic, lethargic state now, will they ever?

We are not offering a solution to the election problem, frankly because there seems to be no solution. Forcing students to vote, or fining them because they do not, is not the answer. Anyone have any suggestions?

Yesterday the Student Council met to set a precedent—to decide what policy to follow in case no candidates in a nomination receive enough votes to get them in. It is fortunate that the council is deciding upon a set policy on the matter. Although this was only the second time it has been needed in recent years, from all indications, it won't be the last. V.M.

All Donations Appreciated

SIU students registering for the Carbondale Blood Donation drive next Monday and Tuesday outnumbered Carbondale residents as the goal of 400 donors was reached. 242 students registered as compared to an approximate total of 170 residents.

Those who volunteered to give their blood for use in Korea and other vital sectors are to be commended. We hope that when Southern has its own Red Cross Blood drive later in the year, the response will be as gratifying. V.M.

Student Reviews Movie Version of Noted Play

by Gene Penland

Tennessee Williams' "Streetcar Named Desire" is one of the most popular of modern theatrical works. It has been performed not only on Broadway but also on the stages of road-towns and abroad. Now that Hollywood has made its version of the play, comparisons between the cinematic and legitimate versions are rife. However, the subject of this review is only the movie.

Insofar as the actual content of the movie is concerned, it gives a sordid picture of the moral lushness of the South in general and of the "Quarter" in particular. I was very strongly impressed with the prolonged mood of the movie. Although occasional bursts of earthy humor were present, the work was one of extended tragedy, from the pathetic tale of Blanche's losing Belle Reve, the DuBois' old plantation, to the awful commitment of Blanche to the institution.

THE WORK WAS also interesting in the types of characters which it portrayed. In Stella and in Mitch one could very easily see the considered norms of our society; those fairly content to take things as they come without strong reactions.

In Blanche, there was the type of woman who, through privation and hardship, has come to feel that the only way to get ahead in life is through the use of her physical attractions. Yet in spite of her moral laxity, she is a touching person because of her childlike devotion to the genteel and nice things of life.

On the other hand, Stanley is a lusty, foolish, hard-headed, but extremely practical person. The clashes between Stella and him reveal the basic differences of the two. And always in the action there revolves the poker-playing, quarreling, beer-drinking, fighting people who are the inmates of the "Quarter" of New Orleans.

CONCERNING the acting, I felt that it was very effective on the whole. I object, however, to Mr. Brando's screaming. While it may have helped in portraying the personality of Stanley, it diverted the attention of the audience. Towards the end of the picture, the particular audience of which I was a part greeted each speech of Stanley with laughter, no matter how tragic the situation might be.

Vivian Leigh overacted and over-dramatized some of her scenes. In the scene in which she tells Mitch of her past, however, she displays an amazing range and utility of voice in portraying tragedy. On the whole, the cast was well-chosen, and the leads especially were effective.

One of the most enjoyable facets of the movie was its background music. It truly was that—only a background, for at no time did it drown out the action or seem inappropriate. One of the most telling scenes of the entire movie was at the point where Blanche told Mitch of her first husband's death. For that scene the orchestra played a simple and well-known tune (on what sounded like banjos), and the result was a misty-eyed audience.

If Oscars come in the direction of this movie, it certainly will be no great surprise. This is a praiseworthy undertaking.

Ten Members Initiated Into Little Theatre

Ten new members were recently initiated into the Little Theatre. Those initiated were: Roberta Atkins, Pat Bahn, Dorothy Hangan, Pat Lamont, Kathryn McClintock, Bob Mosher, Carolyn Reid, Billy Seip, Harold Skelton, and Marilyn Wakeland.

After the initiation ceremony, which was held in the speech house, everyone attended a party given for all speech majors and minors.

According to Dr. Archibald MeLeod, director of the Little Theatre, these new members have earned the nine points necessary for membership. Before anyone can become an active member he must first be a probationary member until he earns the required points by taking part in such things as acting, property, settings, and costumes. The privilege of voting is reserved for active members only.

Little Theatre initiations are held twice a year, once in the fall, and once in the spring.

Reports on Movie Now Showing Here

by Teresa White

Hollywood's latest biography of a song writer, "I'll See You in My Dreams," suggests that the inhabitants of Tin Pan Alley, who are sometimes accused of borrowing their songs, also pattern their lives on one another.

"I'll See You in My Dreams" is now showing here in Carbondale.

This time the old, sentimentalized story of humble beginnings, success, defeat, and comeback—all neatly studded with song cues—has as its hero the late, prolific song lyricist, Gus Kahn (1886-1941).

A typical scene shows Kahn (Danny Thomas), gnawing a cigar in a night club, distractedly hatching an idea for a lyric to a new tune. His wife (Doris Day) breaks his creative trance to tell him that they are soon to be parents. Kahn brightens and says happily, "I've got it! We'll call the number 'Pretty Baby.'"

OPERATING UNDER such handicaps of plot, but with the help of some amusing dialogue, nightclub comic Danny Thomas puts remarkable warmth into a portrait of Kahn. The songwriter is pictured as an earnest craftsman of simple tastes, shy beneath a brash surface, who needed, resented, and forgave his wife's constant efforts to push him forward.

As it progresses the film ruffles through a fat catalogue of such old hits as: "It Had to Be You," "Love Me or Leave Me," "Memories," "Nobody's Sweetheart Now," and "The One I Love Belongs to Somebody Else."

Salukis Beat Cape In Tight Finish 44-42

Southern's basketball squad, suffering a poor night as far as shooting accuracy goes, had to come from behind to eke out a 44-42 victory over Cape Girardeau in a non-conference game played last Tuesday night in Southern's gym.

The Salukis hit on only 14 of 66 attempted shots for a dismal .212 percentage. With but three minutes remaining in the fourth quarter of the rough-and-tumble contest in which 54 fouls were called, the score stood Cape 42, Southern 38.

JACK THERIOT, speedy little guard, stole the ball at midcourt and dribbled down the floor. His lay-up shot was good to put Southern within two points of a tie. The Indians tried to put on the stall, but couldn't keep the ball away from a determined Saluki defense.

Two minutes remained on the clock. Harvey Welch, Centralia sophomore, had the ball. Welch stopped just outside the circle, and let go a long two-hand set shot. The ball slapped through the cords to tie the score.

It was then that Cape went all-out in their rough-house tactics which probably cost them the game. A technical foul called against Clippard gave Welch a chance for two free throws. Welch sank the first shot to put the Salukis back in the lead, 43-42. Southern chose to take the ball out of bounds instead of attempting the second shot.

HORST took the pass-out and was dribbling toward the Cape basket when he was tripped up by Stan Proffer of the Indians. A technical foul was called on Proffer. Horst missed on a free throw shot, and Southern again chose to take the ball out of bounds.

With just a few seconds remaining, Horst was fouled again as the Cape Indians grappled and tackled in a vain attempt to grab the ball. The Hoyleton senior made good on this free shot to give the Salukis a two point lead, 44-42. Southern held the lead for the remaining time to post their sixth straight home victory this season, and avenge a 59-57 loss to Cape earlier in the season.

The Salukis outscored the Indians in both quarters on the initial half to take a 27-21 half-time lead. But Cape's football-like type of play seemed to bewilder the Holdermen at the start of the third quarter. Nickolaus scored the first field goal for the home team in that period when he put in a lay-up after six minutes had elapsed. When the quarter ended, the Indians had whittled down Southern's lead to one point.

CAPE took the lead early in the fourth quarter on Estes' three successive free throws. A two-pointer by Theriot tied it again, but the Indians scored four quick points in thirty seconds to take the lead again, 38-34. "Hots" Taylor, in for the first time, dropped in a lay-up shot for the Salukis. But these two points, and two more on free throws by Taylor and Theriot were countered by Clippard's field goal and free throw, and a free throw by Estes.

Then, Southern's quintet found themselves trailing by a score of 42-38 with three minutes remaining. Their final drive netted them their eleventh win of the season against five losses. This defeat was Cape's sixth in a row since beating the Holdermen 59-57 Jan. 3.

DeKalb's 'Vingies' A Beefy Bunch

An intramural basketball team at Northern Illinois State Teachers' College, the Vingies, man make a pretty strong claim as being one of the "biggest" basketball teams in the country.

They can't match Illinois or Kentucky in height, but beef is another matter. The entire line-up consists of present and past Huskie football players, all of them being line-men.

At one forward is Gene Duda, 210 lbs. and former All-IAC center. His running mate is Mat Pester, 220 lb. defensive end for the Huskies this year. Ray McDonald, 240 lbs., and 220 lb. Wayne Nelson are at the guards. McDonald is a tackle during the football sea-

RAY RIPPLEMEYER AND GIB KURTZ

A couple of freshmen are carrying much of the load for Southern Illinois University's basketball team, now that Captain Tom Millikin has left for the service.

RAY RIPPLEMEYER, Valmeyer, and GIB KURTZ, East St. Louis, complement a starting five that includes two sophomores and one junior.

Both men's positions are new to them. Kurtz was a forward on his high school team and Ripplemeyer played center. Both were captains and high scorers for teams which posted fine won-lost records last season. Both were named to St. Louis area all-star teams.

Kurtz, a six-footer, led his East St. Louis mates to a 24-2 record last year, averaging 17 points per game. Ripplemeyer paced the Valmeyer team with a 21 point average. Valmeyer had a record of 24-6 and was beaten in the regional tournament semifinals by Dupou, who next night defeated Kurtz's team in the finals.

Kurtz has been on the SIU starting lineup all season, but it took a little longer for "Rip" to convince Coach Lyng Holder that son and Nelson an end.

Following the tradition of modern basketball, the Vingies have put their biggest man at center, Tony Biondi. Though he stands only six feet even, the all-conference offensive tackle tips the scales at a dainty 265 lbs.

The average weight for the team is a scant 230 lbs.

Dr. Neal Is Editor Of Magazine For January

Dr. Charles D. Neal, director of student teaching at Southern Illinois University, served as editor of the January issue of "Education" magazine.

Each monthly issue of "Education," a publication dedicated to the "science, art, philosophy and literature of education," is devoted exclusively to one educational topic. Since the topic selected for the January was teacher training, Dr. Neal, as a specialist in the field, was asked by the publishers to serve as editor.

The January issue of "Education" will be available at the University library the latter part of January.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

POOR PAUL was having a fowl time. Even his best gal didn't give a hoot for him. "Wise she hate me so?" he asked his roommate. "Simple, you stuffy old bird—because your hair's always ruffled up! Better try Wildroot Cream-Oil hair tonic. It's non-alcoholic. Contains soothing Lanolin. And does tree things: Relieves annoying dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Grooms hair neatly and naturally all day long. (Even limbers up your scalp. And helps you pass the Finger-Nail Nest-er, Test!)" Paul got Wildroot Cream-Oil and now he's a "owling success. So why don't you take a taxi-dermist to any drug or toilet goods counter to get a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil. It's your hair's best friend! And ask for it at your barber shop. Then there's no talon how the ducks'll go for you.
