Theater strike off; members will be paid

By Bernard F. Whalen
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A threatened strike of Summer Theater acting and technical staff ended Tuesday when Phillip Olsson, assistant dean of the College of Communication and Fine Arts, announced the players would be paid their full summer salary on Thursday.

"It was a communication breakdown," David Seal, one of the company members said. "We didn't know who to go to."

Olsson said he's been on vacation, adding the problem could have been avoided if students had consulted him first.

Seal admitted confusion concerning payment to some company players. "A lot of us are new students," said Seal, who came here from Mercy College in Detroit. "We didn't know where to go and kept getting the run-around."

"But the strike is over, the show will go on," Seal announced after meeting with Olsson Tuesday afternoon.

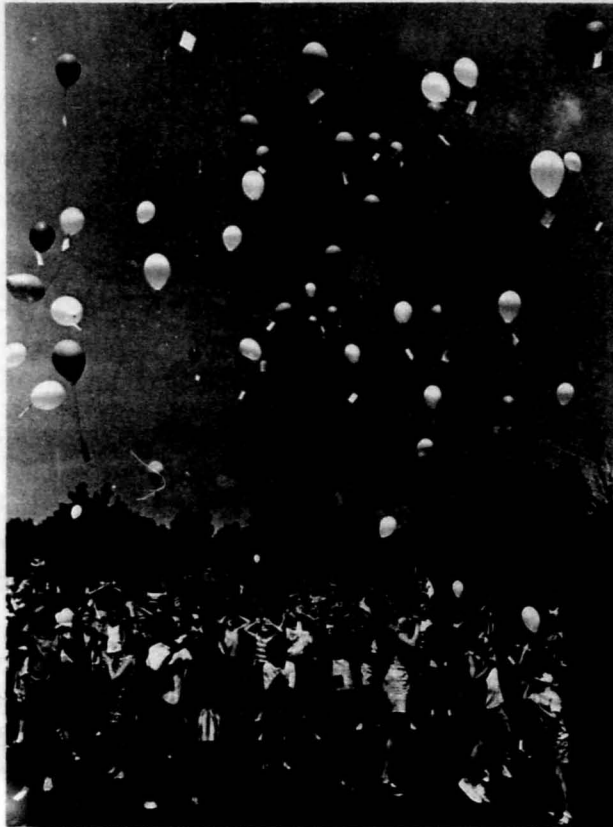

Seal said company players act as "individual bargaining agents" with the department. He said some students receive tuition scholarships while others obtain course credit and regular salary. Seal estimated that most performers get between $200-$400 for the summer.

Olsson said Summer Theater members will be paid from box office receipts and a College of Communication and Fine Arts contingency fund.

Seal said the company desires good relations with the department. "We're not asking for more money," he said. "We just wanted what was promised to us."

On Monday, 26 members of the theater company signed a strike

Review board will mediate Taylor appeal

By Jan Tranchita
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Student Conduct Review Board will mediate the SIU student body presidency dispute next week, according to board chairman Lawrence Dennis.

The decision to hear Jon Taylor's appeal came after Dennis received a request from George Mace, vice president for student affairs, to arbitrate the dispute.

Review board members will rule on the decision of former Student Body President George Camille which named Taylor academically ineligible for office.

Taylor was elected president in the May Student Government elections. Camille disqualified Taylor in June and named second place winner Jim Peters as president, saying that Taylor was academically ineligible at election time.

Taylor appealed the case to the review board June 27. Dennis explained, however, that an appeal for arbitration must come from the President's Office in cases other than disciplinary matters.

Dennis said he will contact those persons involved in the controversy about the hearing.

Dennis said he is going through "normal procedure in selecting a panel of people who will be available as members of the review board." Members will include one graduate student, three faculty members and three undergraduates.

Muskie, Humphrey quit presidential race

By Walter R. Mears
Associated Press Political Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Sen. George McGovern strode without major challenge toward the Democratic presidential nomination Tuesday as Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and Edmund S. Muskie bowed to his show of towering national convention strength and quit.

And so, politically, the Democrats' swarming, sweltering convention resort belonged to the senator from South Dakota, longest of longshots when he began his White House quest 18 months ago.

The Associated Press delegate count showed McGovern had surged far beyond the 1,509-vote majority that will choose Wednesday night the Democrats' man to challenge President Nixon.

Gus Bode

Gus says the Democrats won't have Daley to kick 'em around any more.

In simplest terms, McGovern had the votes: on delegate disputes, on the platform the convention was completing Tuesday, and on the nomination itself.

After a night of tumultuous political infighting that kept the Democratic National Convention in session until near dawn, it was a day of political drama.

First, Humphrey of Minnesota, a presidential campaign warrior three times and the party's presidential choice in 1968, withdrew his probable final bid for the White House.

Then Muskie wrote a finish to the campaign that plunged him from front-runner to loser.

"It is apparent to all of us that Sen. George McGovern is this convention's choice as the nominee of our party," said the senator from Maine.

That left McGovern with lesser rivals to confront in the climactic nominating roll call.

Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama remained a candidate but his strategists have acknowledged he has no chance on the first ballot.

And it is virtually certain there will be only one.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington clung to his candidacy. Reps. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas and Shirley Chisholm of New York and former Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina were candidates without a chance.

Already, McGovern strategists were talking of a vice presidential running mate, with the name of reluctant Sen. Edward M. Kennedy atop their list.

And already, they were beginning the nominee's quest for party unity—amid signals that it will be hard to achieve.

McGovern's campaign manager said Kennedy was one of two or three Democrats atop the list of potential vice-presidential nominees.

Gary Hart said there was a good chance McGovern would offer the nomination to Kennedy some time Tuesday—but no guarantee that it would be accepted.

Kennedy has said he does not intend to run for national office in 1972.

Kennedy was in Hyannis Port, Mass., on a sailing holiday.

Hart said there were fewer than five names on the vice-presidential list, and that of Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Auto Workers, was another of them.

But the elders of organized labor, after a harsh, futile effort to stop McGovern, gave voice to the problem of forging Democratic unity behind the liberal senator.

"If they had their preference we would have no president for the next four years," said a spokesman for George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO.

McGovern fence-menders sought out Meany, and also sought peace with the forces of Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, denied a seat in the convention after decades as a Democratic power broker.

McGovern allies sought a compromise to seat Daley for the sake of party unity, but couldn't hold their own, reform-minded delegate troops in line to gain its adoption.

The political game was really up early Tuesday, when the roll was called on the first big issue to face the convention: that of seating 151 contested McGovern delegates from California.

On that test, McGovern's forces amassed 1,618.28 delegate votes. That not only gave back his contested delegates it showed the true source of 1972 Democratic power.

Kennedy, McGovern's top choice

By Carl P. Leubsdorf
Associated Press

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. On the eve of George McGovern's likely nomination for president, senior aides said Tuesday they regard Sen. Edward M. Kennedy as the South Dakota senator's top choice as a running mate. But there is surprisingly strong backing for labor leader Leonard Woodcock.

This assessment is based on a series of interviews in which advisers were asked to list the three most likely McGovern choices if, as expected, he wins the presidential nomination Wednesday night.

Virtually everyone contacted agreed that Kennedy, who has insisted he won't take the job, remains McGovern's top choice and may be subject to substantial pressure to accept McGovern's call. Besides Kennedy, the interviews revealed considerable backing for three senators: Gavioli Nelson of Wisconsin; Philip A. Hart of Michigan; and Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut, and for Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida.

The interviews were conducted both before and after McGovern's victory on Monday night. Although a contest, it is thought to be the brink of a decisive nomination, as halting a scheduled Wednesday night.

Several advisers said they felt McGovern probably had a good chance of picking the outgoing Republican as a running mate. A McGovern campaign official said the party's headquarters in South Dakota senator is more likely to ask their views on one or two of his own choices.

McGovern said in an interview Sunday night with the Hearst newspapers that while he is well convinced Kennedy would run, whether he would respond to that prospect is hard to know.

Theater production features 'The Girls in 509' Friday

By Pat Nussman
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The last SIU theater production under direction by W. Grant Gray—"The Girls in 509"—will open at 8 p.m. Friday in the University Theater of the Communications Building.

Gray, who has for several years directed Dance Workshop productions on campus, will leave SIU after summer quarter for a teaching post at San Francisco State College. His latest dance shows at the University Theater have been "Ridottos" and "Esbat."

"The Girls in 509," second offering of this year's Summer Theater, is a political comedy about two hermit ladies discovered in a back suite of a New York hotel after 26 years of seclusion.

The two have been there since November, 1932, when Herbert Hoover just has been elected. The women vowed to remain secluded until that Man is out of the White House and a Republican has been elected.

The press list by a journalism professor from a small mid-Western college who masquerades as a New York Times reporter, describes in the account. The national members of the Republican and Democratic parties are in the building.

The interviews were conducted both before and after McGovern's victory in Monday night's California credentials fight brought him to the brink of first-ballot nomination in balloting scheduled Wednesday night.

Several advisers said they felt McGovern probably had narrowed the list of possible running mates down to a handful. All agreed that, instead of soliciting possible running mates from a broad circle of party leaders, the South Dakota senator is more likely to ask their views on one or two of his own choices.

McGovern said in an interview Sunday night with the Hearst newspapers that while he is "well convinced" Kennedy won't run "Whether he would respond to real pressure, I just don't know."

Members of an historic, old family, the women defy politicians and are faced with eviction and disgrace. However, wealth suddenly pours down upon them, and they retain independence and privacy by moving into the Waldorf-Astoria.

Heading the production cast will be Lois Kungas as Mimsey, a not-too-glamorous exercise nut, and Leslie Ann Rivers as Aunt Hettie, a cantankerous old lady.

City Council approves construction of intersection

The Carbondale City Council approved a resolution Wednesday night authorizing construction of a new intersection to extend the Giant City Blacktop Road and University Mall frontage road east of Carbondale.

The resolution calls for the appropriation of $80 thousand in motor fuel tax funds for the project. Bill Schwegman, director of public works, said that the Department of Transportation will supervise the construction and "we already have the plans."

The resolution also stipulates that advertisements for bids be authorized as soon as the necessary details can be worked out between the city and the state.

The council also approved an ordinance providing for the increase of Class D and E liquor licenses from five to eight in both classes. A Class D license allows establishment retail sale of alcoholic beverages to patrons on the premises and Class E permits the sale of beer and wine to patrons on the premises.

Approved a request for state and federal funds for improvements to the sewage treatment plants; approved an ordinance vacating an alley in the city of Carbondale; approved an ordinance to amend an ordinance relating to street curb painting; agreed to amend a grant agreement and provide an increase in a relocation grant.

Approved to extend the contract of the legal firm for the division of Urban Renewal; approved an ordinance to regulate parking on South Wall Street; approved a request from the Division of Urban Renewal for approval of a contract for engineers to perform a right of way survey in the Northeast area.

Passed an ordinance to create a Commission on Safety in Carbondale; and approved the constitution and by-laws of the Carbondale Senior Citizens Council.

ation. They planned to strike next Monday if not paid.

Olsson said players were not scheduled to receive checks until July 17 but arrangements have been made to issue checks on Thursday.

Several players expressed dissatisfaction with long working hours and lack of adequate staff during the year.

"The hours are long," Seal said, "but we love the theater and we'll go to work."

Olsson said some salary difficulty resulted from a problem the department had with overpayment of awards to students.

"We have less money, but we won't cut the theater program," he said.

Clean-up time

Just about everyone is becoming concerned about the condition of the environment. Judging from what people are saying, the world just might make it back to some sort of environmental and ecological good health. The people are finally getting worried, and they seem to really care.

But stumbling into a couple of cases of empty beer cans at the foot of Makanda Bluffs on an otherwise beautiful Sunday morning can make all the good environmental attitudes seem a little empty.

Although litter is a real problem at Giant City Park—with what the chief ranger estimates at about 3,000 to 4,000 man-hours and nearly 30 per cent of his budget spent each year picking up litter and trash—from a total environmental standpoint, litter is more of a danger to one's esthetic sensibility than to the environment. It's just plain ugly and looks bad.

What is dangerous about litter is not the discarded candy bar wrappers and beer cans themselves, but the sort of attitudes they indicate people really have toward the environment. If a group of people partying at Giant City can't be bothered to carry their empty cans 50 feet to a trash barrel, it is a little silly to expect them to have any real commitment to the struggle to keep this world a livable place.

By themselves, a few dozen beer cans are meaningless, but if the people who left them scattered around a state park carry this attitude over into the rest of their day-to-day activities, other equally thoughtless things will happen that could really damage the environment.

The people who run the large corporations that dump poisons into lakes and rivers don't drain this stuff into the water because they want to turn them into open sewers, it's just too much trouble to do anything else with their wastes.

Whether it's an empty beer can, or industrial effluents, it's still the thought that counts.

Passing the buck

On May 11, a tear gas canister was thrown into the Schneider Tower lobby. Students and police—SIU and Carbondale—had confronted each other during protest action by students elsewhere that evening. The east campus, many felt, was not in a serious enough uproar to warrant the gassing of a dormitory. However, apparently some policemen must thought otherwise. According to a report released by SIU, Carbondale and SIU police were in the area although "1) No incidents warranted police being in the area.

2) No police were called;

3) Police did come into the area and throw the tear gas."

Thus, what follows is a typical case of whodunit. Carbondale city government appears resolved to leave it at that. According to city manager Carrol J. Fry, "Nothing in the police report makes me feel that Carbondale police officers were involved." He is somehow able to say this, (just being city manager shouldn't make it any easier) despite the report which contains a signed statement by James Hadley, former Schneider Tower staff member, concerning incidents that he and SIU Security Policeman John Hudson witnessed that night which convincingly implicate Carbondale police officers in the gassing incidents.

Throughout the report, the names of several Carbondale policemen occur frequently in a not too vague connection with the unwarranted actions. Yet, Fry resolves any further inquiry in this by stating, "No one says they did it, they (the report) just asks why do their names keep cropping up." Fry's weak attempt to mask his conception of the use of innuendos is unconvincing.

Fry dismisses the report by also saying that it is one-sided, and that no policemen from any department were interviewed. According to Fry, Carbondale Police Chief Joe Dakin conducted an investigation of the incident and found "nothing to support the conclusion that Carbondale police officers were involved." Fry states that he released the complete report because so many in the community were concerned and interested in it. Why doesn't he release Dakin's report if it so convincingly absolves Carbondale police officers? Doesn't he think the community is interested in this report—the one which apparently carries more weight?

Fry says that the city of Carbondale plans no further probe into the teargassing due to insufficient information implicating Carbondale city policemen. He says this despite Hadley's signed statement and willingness to testify in court to its accuracy and despite signed statements by six students who witnessed the gassing. The question is not can he do this—he has done it. The question is, what is the "interested and concerned" Carbondale community going to do about it?

Letters to the Editor

Sad confusion

To the Daily Egyptian:

The current controversy over the presidency of the SIU student body is not so sad as it is pathetic. It is hard to determine whether the root of the problem lies in the inefficiency of University administrative personnel, in petty partisan politics, in racism or in the love for confusion on the part of involved parties.

I would suspect that information concerning Jon Taylor's academic standing and eligibility for seeking office was provided with the best of intentions. It is not at all uncommon at SIU for many key administrators and other employees of the University to be almost totally ignorant of current policies. It is quite common for students to suffer because of mistakes made by people who should know better. One reason is the rapidity with which policy changes, another reason is the failure of some persons to check policy before making decisions, a third reason is indifference.

In all probability, political considerations enter into the picture. The candidates of the Unity Party won the election. Members of the Action Party want to install their candidate into the office of student body president. Who among the Action Party membership has suggested that their own mistake allowed the Unity Party to run an ineligible candidate, and therefore the Unity Party vice president-elect should assume the office? Who has suggested a new election?

Race probably plays no more than the usual role in this situation. In this society at large, and at this University in particular, the color of a man's skin often determines whether he is subjected to literal or liberal interpretations of laws and regulations. We should all be keenly aware of this fact before becoming involved in any of the activities on this campus.

As for issue of whether involved parties love confusion, I imagine that Jon Taylor's detractors would be happy if Jon just gave up without an attempt to defend his position. I am sure no one likes the confusion, and Jon could stop it by quitting. Then Mace, Camille, Hammond and Eberhart would not be embarrassed, Peters would be happy, and we could settle down to another year of peace and tranquility.

It seems at this point as if Jon Taylor and the student body are the victims of a ridiculous farce. A fraud has apparently been perpetrated, not by Jon Taylor, but by Mace, Camille, etc. The students voted for Jon, not because Jon lied to them, but because they considered him the best candidate. Now the people who provided the approval for Jon's candidacy are trying to escape the consequences of their own decisions.

I'm sorry Jon had to be a part of this mess. As one of my students, he exhibited a high degree of intelligence and sensitivity. It is sad that these manipulators of human lives have the opportunity to persecute him to this extent. I only wish Jon would say, "To hell with this nonsense," and quit wasting time trying to reason with the people who are obviously out to get him.

Reckless step

To the Daily Egyptian,

I was very disappointed when I read the article, "Black Council backs Taylor for president," in the June 30 Daily Egyptian. The Black Faculty and Student Council have taken a reckless step by recognizing Jon Taylor as undergraduate president before the Student Conduct Review Board (whose decision Taylor and Peters have agreed to abide by) has even had a chance to look at the facts, much less make a decision in the matter. The controversy must be resolved without overt pressure from various councils that would try to sway the boards ruling.

Mr. Moore's implied racism and harassment charges throughout the article are wild, and can have nothing but a negative effect and cloud the facts of the matter. Acquisitions without giving any substance to qualify them is not only very poor judgement, but can lead to a division on out campus which no one wants and that solves nothing.

Let's all watch with interest the outcome of the board's decision and the facts of the matter before we make hasty, haphazard judgements.

Garbage

To the Daily Egyptian,

Have you seen the camp bears in town on Sunday mornings? Yea, well, they're not there yet, but who knows, the garbage is calling.

Because it hasn't as yet reached crisis proportions, the trash problem is a rather low-key issue. Yet it's reflective of a weak public attitude towards environmental control.

Believe it or not, Carbondale is a growing city, rapidly growing in such a way that demands a proper balance between immediate public environmental concern and a realistic sense of direction and planning for the future.

If students, as temporary residents, do take charge, (as the people are demanding "Power"), become motivated and act on the energy of that motivation to solve immediate problems, we may set a healthy path for future growth, allowing for grungy Carbondale to grow clean and fresh.

Opinion & Commentary

EDITORIALS: The Daily Egyptian encourages free discussion of current issues through editorials and letters on these pages. Editorials (labeled Opinion) are written and signed by members of the student news staff and by students enrolled in journalism courses and represent opinions of the authors only.

LETTERS: Readers are invited to express their opinions in letters which must be signed with name, classification and major or faculty rank, address and telephone number. Letters should be typewritten, and their length should not exceed 250 words. Letter writers should respect the generally accepted standards of good taste and are expected to make their points in terms of issues rather than personalities. Acceptance for publication will depend on limitations of space and the timeliness and relevance of the material. Unsigned letters will not be accepted, and authorship of all letters must be verified by the Daily Egyptian. It is the responsibility of the Daily Egyptian to determine content of the opinion pages. Other materials on pages four and five include editorials and articles reprinted from other publications, syndicated columns and articles, and interpretive or opinion articles authored locally.

Tokenism blasted

To the Daily Egyptian:

Recently, the University Senate narrowly defeated a proposal to assure two black members would be on the Senate at all times. As one of the senators who opposed the motion, I think perhaps I should explain why. There has not been supportable evidence that these groups have been specifically denied or discriminated against in past elections. But more important, even if there was such discrimination, how would the guarantee of token representation solve the problem?

Such measures would only serve to insure that blacks would not get elected to the senate through normal channels. The proposal was a superficial attempt at solving a much deeper problem. It is my conviction that guaranteed black seats would have only strengthened segregation in our community. To get at the root of the problem a much more thought out program is called for.

The prevailing sentiment and wish expressed during the U-Senate debate was not whether to end racism, but how to effectively accomplish this end. The means suggested were not satisfactory in my mind as I could not, in good conscience, vote to institutionalize racism.

Gary Dickerson
Undergraduate University Senator

Black unrest

To the Daily Egyptian:

It appears that every progressive attempt that blacks have recently made at this University has been squashed by institutionalized racism. Perhaps you may have noticed the sudden drop in black enrollment, or the termination of Pat Holmes' position, the only black female at the University News Service. Jon Taylor must now suffer the brunt of the University's growing racist tactics that have recently been employed against blacks "to keep them in their place." Lack of respect for blacks has been further demonstrated by our latest slap in the face, the refusal to seat the black faculty and staff by the University Senate. We understand the meaning of these injustices and while a carpet of peaceful bliss and matrimony is being laid in the million dollar mansion, there is also a carpet of unrest being laid among black students and faculty.

Who wins?

To the Daily Egyptian:

A constitution in a democratic atmosphere (?) that allows for free voting and elections of president and vice president but also allows for the runner-up—a nice, dignified title to call a loser—to take up the presidency if the elected president could not take office leaves much to be desired. One would have thought the vice-president would be the automatic choice, or, better still, that another election for that particular office would be held again while the vice president or at least an elected not a loser of the same election is acting. Logically, it could be said that a runner-up, rather a loser, is not wanted by the people. He was rejected at the polls at least so it seems, except otherwise proved, perhaps at another election. So, if Taylor was ineligible, I cannot see how Peters should be the eligible, except for a "questionable" constitution.

The whole Taylor-Camille-Peters thing, raises many questions and also, may be suspicious.

What constitutes "a president being unable to take office"? Why did Camille and Peters never say a thing about the ineligibility of Taylor until a minute after, according to Taylor, Camille left office, although Peters claims they knew about the ineligibility since finals week of spring quarter?

George Mace and Thomas Busch had been quoted separately as saying that it is not the administrator's job in this instance to make decisions for Student Government. If so, what was the administrator's business in "waiving Taylor's grade point average" to run for office? One assumption from the present trend of things is that Taylor might not have gotten any waiver if they knew he would win. It looks like someone or several "someones", and not the eligible voters want Taylor out and Peters in.

Mace and Busch should explain what looks like their "double stand" on the matter. The students cannot believe the same Busch and Mace that visited Taylor to "anoint him the president" (Daily Egyptian, June 21) also made the statement (Busch, Daily Egyptian, June 22) and wrote the letter (Mace, Daily Egyptian, June 24) "recognizing" Peters. They must be two different "Busches" and "Maces" or what are we to take of the statements from our administrators? Their statements need clarity.

It is difficult to swallow the idea that the Board of Trustees asked that the grading system be changed in January, 1971, and because the Registrars Office cannot do that until 1972—this is understandable because of the time involved in changing the computer's brain—a student whose "progress" or "aspiration" will be, meanwhile, hindered, cannot be excused, and rightly, too. It is the same as if the Supreme Court abolishes the death penalty in 1971, but because the typewriter used to type a letter to all states or the means of communicating with all states is broken until 1972, convicts under death penalty could lose their lives until IBM supplies the typewriter or other communicative means. This is somewhat odd.

I cannot believe all of Peters' struggles to gain "power." It is unthinkable that he is the same Peters the students said "no" to only a few weeks past. I would have thought this would be a thing between the elected outgoing president and the elected incoming president and no way the loser who happened to be the outgoing elected vice president but not the president. I thought Eric Severiead (CBS News) and Howard K. Smith (ABC News) said this kind of back door entry into office was restricted to Africa, Asia and Latin America (The world's other "big three")! One last note, I'm happy "President Peters" did not call the University police as he threatened to do. It would have been difficult to see the police who "serve all men," serve one man against another.

If Washingtonians read our paper, we may find Agnew in office come November and McGovern out if McGovern wins at the polls. What a tool that LBJ could have used for old pal HHH against Dick and Pat! If Taylor is found ineligible to be president, with "official reasons" given: the student body better have another election, otherwise one of these days a "runner-up" with one or zero votes will become a president when the elected one with three thousand votes is "found" unable to take office.

Some of us want to think, what we are thinking is not what some other people are thinking of trying to do. These "Thinkings," if so, frighten us.

Fun and games in Miami

By Arthur Hoppe
Chronicle Features

Oh, what an exciting convention we're going to have! The credit, of course, goes to Homer T. Pettibone, the hard-working Director of Excitement.

Pettibone has been directing excitement at Republican and Democratic conventions for the past 12 years. His problem is always the same: a week before the convention everyone knows one candidate has the nomination sewn up on the first ballot. And there's the news media investing millions in an obviously cut-and-dried affair.

Pettibone's job is to create doubt in the outcome by promoting a challenger. "Our motto in excitement," he says, "is, 'Let's Start a Fight!'"

His record speaks for itself: the Stevenson boomlet against Kennedy in '60; the Rocketteller fizzle against Nixon in the same year; the Scranton push on Goldwater in '64; the Reagan and Rocky drive against Nixon in '68; the rumors in Chicago a month later that Teddy Kennedy would grab the plum from Humphrey at the last moment.

In each case, the front-runner won easily on the first ballot, just as everyone knew he would a week earlier. But with the whole-hearted help of the media, which didn't have anything else to talk about, Pettibone was able to create a dramatic tension that kept the Nation glued to its television screens.

But this year he's outdone himself with a daring new technique: Delegate Stealing.

"We thought we were going to have to rely on a fight over the platform," he said, puffing on his cigar. "Or maybe who'd be McGovern's running mate. We always use these as a last resort. But then we thought up Delegate Stealing. What a coup!"

It was Pettibone, of course, who engineered Humphrey's attempt to swipe half of McGovern's California delegates and McGovern's angry try at copping most of Mayor Daley's. The result has been a week of acrimonious confusion that made Pettibone's old heart swell with pride.

"We figured no matter how the courts ruled, we could go right on stealing delegates up to the last minute," he said, "thus keeping the issue in doubt."

Pettibone's boldest plan to date is to steal an entire planeload of McGovern's delegates from New York. And deliver them to Humphrey?

"No," he said happily, "to Fidel Castro."

Nor has he been one to shirk front-line duty himself. Actually, he's been working night and day to steal Miss Flossie LaNuit, a buxom young uncommitted delegate from Akron, N.J.

"But so far," he said, looking glum for the first time, "she's remained uncommitted."

Did all this mean that McGovern really has it sewn up on the first ballot as usual—just the way everybody knew he had a week ago?

"Confidentially," said Pettibone, "as a last desperate measure, we may have to steal the candidate."

Will McGovern show up as the victor on the first ballot? Will McGovern show up? Where will Castro throw the New York delegations? Can Miss La Nuit hold out?

Stay glued to your television sets, fellow Americans. For thanks to Pettibone and the news media, who have to write about something, we're in for an exciting, spine-tingling week.

Dean Talley to retire in September

C. Horton Talley, dean of the College of Communications and Fine Arts, announced Tuesday that he will retire Sept. 1.

"My wife, (Kathryn) is seriously ill and I will need time to take care of her," said Talley, who has been dean of the college since 1955.

He said a search committee will be appointed by President David R. Derge to name a successor.

Talley, 66 said that the experience of being at SIU during the period of its greatest growth has been "fantastic."

"The opportunity for us to build was unusual," he said, "and was helped considerably by the backing of Delyte Morris (former president of SIU) and the state legislature."

Talley first joined the SIU faculty in 1948 as chairman of the Department of Speech. Before that he had been dean of the College of Liberal Arts at Nebraska Wesleyan University and professor of speech at Texas State College for Women.

A native of Tingley, Iowa, he received his bachelor's degree in 1927 from Simpson College, his M.A. degree in 1931 from Northwestern University and his Ph.D. in 1936 from the University of Iowa.

Talley's professional interests include theater, music, radio and television, recording and journalism. He has traveled widely in the Far East, the Pacific, Europe and Latin America.

Talley said he plans to maintain his home in Carbondale.

Vatican attempts at POWs' release unsuccessful

ROME (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers said Tuesday that the Vatican has tried to obtain the release of U.S. prisoners of war in North Vietnam but "so far to no avail."

There have been hints that the Vatican has initiated contacts on behalf of the American prisoners, but this was believed the first time an American official has drawn a clear picture of the Holy See's efforts.

Rogers spoke at a news conference in Rome shortly after meeting with Pope Paul VI for an hour in private at the Vatican on the eve of the resumption of the Paris peace talks.

The Pope has often deplored the Vietnam war, but lately has spoken out more forcefully on what he calls that "intolerable and bloody war."

Rogers said the Vatican attempted—"directly or indirectly"—to try to arrange an exchange of prisoners of war; to obtain a report from the North Vietnamese about the missing; to assure the delivery of more mail to the prisoners; and to assure that the North Vietnamese treat the prisoners in a humanitarian way according to the provisions of the Geneva Convention.

At his news conference, Rogers said he was generally hopeful that the reopening of the peace talks might bring some movement by the North Vietnamese toward a settlement of the war.

Appropriations bill signed; but not yet available to SIU

An appropriations bill which will provide $128.4 million for SIU's Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses has been signed by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie but has not yet been made available to University budget officials.

The governor's office reported that Ogilvie signed the bill Friday, but University spokesmen said they had received no official notice of it and expressed some doubts about amounts reported approved for personal services—wages—and salaries—and operations.

Donald R. Arnold, SIU-C controller, said Tuesday he expects details of the bill to be available "in a couple of days." Arnold said he would not comment on the SIU appropriation until official notice is received from the governor's office.

The bill reportedly signed by Ogilvie provides $82.3 million for operations, $659,600 for awards and grants, $41.9 million for permanent improvements and $3.4 million for rental payments to the Illinois Building Authority.

Warren Buttum, SIU-C budget director, said an operating budget based on $54,790,000 for the Carbondale campus has almost been completed for presentation to the Board of Trustees. The Board will meet July 21.

Buttum said a $57.9 million item appropriated from the general revenue fund for personal services in the bill reportedly signed by Gov. Ogilvie is $336,000 more than the amount listed in the proposed appropriations bill. He said the difference cannot be accounted for until he sees the official document signed by the governor.

Arnold said that until the official bill is received, he cannot say whether differences in the requested and approved appropriations will affect the salary increases of $2.7 million approved by the board last month.

China talk featured at educational luncheon

By Rita Fung
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

"Lunch and Learn," an educational series sponsored by the SIU Division of Continuing Education, will feature a talk on China by Oliver J. Caldwell, professor of higher education, at 11:30 a.m. Thursday in the Mississippi Room at the Student Center.

Caldwell will speak on future relations between the United States and China.

Born in Foochow, China, in 1904, Caldwell spent more than 20 years in China, where he received most of his elementary and secondary education.

During the Depression, Caldwell moved to China and became associate professor of English at the University of Amoy. In 1936, he moved to Nanking, where he was appointed professor of English.

When the Japanese attacked China in 1937, Caldwell was acting head of the department of foreign languages at the University of Nanking.

Caldwell, who has been with SIU since 1966, has recently published a book titled "A Secret War: Americans in China 1944-45," strongly supporting President Nixon's new policy in China.

"The President is right—we should have recognized mainland China a long time ago," Caldwell said.

Plans for new college in 'suspended' stage

By Jan Tranchita
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Plans for the College of Human Resource Development are in "suspended animation," according to John Baker, assistant to the president for planning, development and review.

Baker, recently named assistant provost pending Board of Trustees approval, said talks are continuing with a large number of academic units that have expressed interest for later participation in the college.

A search for a dean for the new school is also in progress, he said.

"We are trying to put together a workable group and the leadership it needs," Baker said.

Although no full program will be initiated this fall quarter, individual schools, including community development, design, black studies and rehabilitation, have been moving toward new programs for some time, Baker said.

The college itself, however, must

"It is very difficult to get groups to agree on a common basis for their endeavors," he said.

The college was first proposed two years ago. The overall objective was to "carry out an educational thrust in the direction of social relevance and community service," according to the Community Development Newsletter for November, 1971.

The search for a new dean, after the resignation of acting dean Guy Benzaglia, effective June 30, 1972, is being conducted both on and off-campus, Baker said.

A location for the human resource constituency has not been determined. Some involved groups will move into the Faner Building, presently under construction immediately north of the Student Center. Baker said, however, he did not think the building would accommodate the entire college.

Hanrahan says his trial downgrades law enforcers

CHICAGO (AP) — State's Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan said Tuesday his criminal prosecution and that of 13 codefendants "has thrown a bad light" on law enforcement officials.

Hanrahan rebutted the opening statement of special prosecutor Barnabas Sears as his long-delayed trial on charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice in the aftermath of a police raid over 2 years ago opened in Circuit Court before Judge Philip J. Romiti.

Mark Clark, 21, and Fred Hampton, 20, Black Panther party leaders, were slain during the raid Dec. 4, 1969, by a racially mixed detail of Chicago policemen assigned to Hanrahan's office.

"By distorting the honorable actions on my part, every public official and police officer acting in good faith can easily become the target of accusations and persecution," Hanrahan said.

Hanrahan's statement followed two motions by defense attorneys to declare the indictment invalid. Romiti denied the motions.

"The evidence will show."

Hanrahan said, "that all of my actions after the raid were taken in the official fulfillment of my duties as state's attorney and in accordance with my judgment of what was necessary to maintain public safety and sustain public confidence in law enforcement."

Thomas P. Sullivan, attorney for eight indicted policemen who participated in the pre-dawn raid to seize weapons from a West Side flat, described the apartment occupants as dangerous men.

Two awards have been made to the Division of Continuing Education for short-term training of environmental personnel. A $6,416 grant for short-term training entitled Summer Institute on Environmental Health had been awarded to the Division of Continuing Education for training of environmental sanitarians from county health departments from six mid-western states. Course of study include sewage disposal, solid waste disposal, food sanitation and inspection, vector control and water supply combined with field work in each unit.

A workshop for public health agency administrators has been funded in the amount of $4,000. This training will attract 20 administrators of county public health offices for two weeks of training Sept. 5 through Sept. 16.

Soils and crops field days for Southern Illinois farmers, arranged by SIU in cooperation with University of Illinois agronomists, are scheduled for July 26 and 27.

One is at the SIU-U. of I. cooperative Agronomy Research Unit at Carbondale beginning at 1 p.m. July 26. The other will be at SIU's Belleville Research Center in St. Clair County during the morning of July 27. Both will feature tours and discussions of crop varieties and cultivation practices for the main grain crops, especially corn and soybeans, and on managing forages.

Old money suggested for new health plan

By Jan Tranchita
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

In search for money that could apply to the proposed health care plan costs, Charles Newling, graduate student chairman of the Health Negotiation Committee (HNC), said the group had discovered a possible solution in the form of Student Welfare and Recreation Funds (SWARF).

According to Newling, the fund was set up in 1964 for what ex-president Delyte W. Morris termed use "to build student health service facilities, buildings for non-educational recreation—swimming pools and golf courses."

Apparently, none of the money has been used for health facilities, Newling said.

Presently, the proposed health care plan involves a $25 per student increase in fees if approved. HNC member, Bob Sepe, said the question raised by HNC is "why can't money be taken from SWARF for the health care?"

"We're trying everything we can so students do not pay more," Newling said. HNC hopes the Board of Trustees will eventually eliminate SWARF. It recommends the implementation of two separate fees.

"We don't want student fees raised but we want the health care plan approved," said Gary Dickerson, community organizer for Health Maintenance Organization (HMO). Consequently the HNC will request that both a health fee and a recreational fee be set up, Newling said.

"We hope to switch categories with SWARF funds," Newling explained.

"We want redesignated and itemized funds so students can see what they're paying for."

The Health Service receives slightly more than $4 of the $10.50 activities fee paid by students, Newling explained. With additional funds of $15 per student from SWARF the remaining $6 could possibly come from state subsidies for health. Consequently, the required $25 fee for each student would be paid for and no student would experience an increase in fees, he said.

Many students do not realize that money for the proposed health plan can possibly be obtained by not raising fees, Dickerson said.

SWARF money is currently under consideration for payment of the proposed co-recreational facility planned for the area north of Brush Towers.

A report from the treasurer's office shows that one more year of SWARF funds will pay for the building, Sepe said. SWARF will total over $8 million by June, 1973, he said.

"If that's true, why shouldn't another $8 million go to health care, since the students are paying for it," Newling said.

"Apparently there was a clear priority for health and none of the money has been used," Dickerson said.

HNC does not want recreational funds eliminated, but rather wants to see equal priorities for both health and recreational activities, as was originally intended, he said.

"It seems to me that a co-recreational building would be a good place for a health facility," Sepe said.

HNC will advocate relocation of SWARF monies, a new health service facility and separated fees to the trustees at their August board meeting, Newling said.

Gallatin quits

Harry Gallatin announced his resignation Sunday as athletic director of SIU-Edwardsville.

A lack of response, on the state's part, in funding a new gymnasium is one of the reasons for leaving the job, Gallatin said.

"The desperate need for a facility has been expressed by our administration since the inception of recreation, intramural and inter-collegiate athletic programs on campus," Gallatin said.

Official reports enrollment down

By University News Service

The University has 9,525 students enrolled for the summer quarter, Dean Robert A. McGrath of admissions and records reported today. It is a decrease of 1,669, or 14.9 per cent, from the 1971 summer quarter figures.

McGrath said the declining summer enrollment trend is consistent with reports from both public and private institutions and also from some two-year schools.

The decline is evident at all levels, McGrath said. Freshmen dropped 24 per cent, sophomores 27 per cent, juniors 14 per cent, seniors 7 per cent, and graduate students 13 per cent.

Graduate students represent the largest group of summer quarter enrollees—2,424, followed by College of Education students, 1,650 and General Studies, 1,312. Liberal Arts and Sciences is fourth, with 1,255.

Study of Grant published by SIU

By University News Service

A critical period in the career of Civil War General Ulysses S. Grant, when he came near dishonor with relief from his command, is described in Volume 4 of "The Papers of Ulysses S. Grant," just published by the SIU Press.

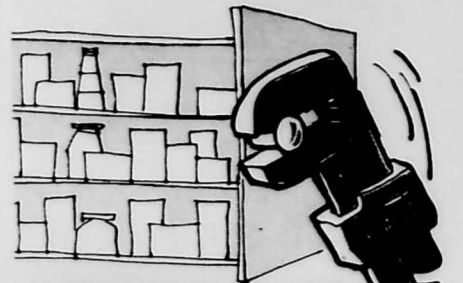

The volume is one in a projected series of 14 or more to be published over the next decade.

Volume 4 covers the 83 days from Jan. 8 to Mar. 31, 1862, and chronicles the end of Confederate power in western Kentucky and Tennessee. With the Union's capture of Fort Henry on Feb. 6 and Fort Donelson on Feb. 14, Federal occupation of the region was only a matter of time.

"The Papers of Ulysses S. Grant" are being published in chronological order under the auspices of the Ulysses S. Grant Association. The editor is John Y. Simon, executive secretary of the Association and an SIU professor of history. Roger D. Bridges, the assistant editor, is director of research for the Illinois State Historical Library.

Musical variety highlights Edwardsville's River Fest

During the second weekend of concerts, of the Mississippi River Festival, the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra will perform a full orchestral program under the direction of Walter Susskind on Saturday and a concert featuring vocalists Earl Wrightson and Lois Hunt and conducted by Margaret Harris at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

Ms. Harris, the musical director and conductor of the long-running Broadway hit "Hair," will lead the orchestra in a medley from the musical, as well as in Copland's Fanfare from the Common Man and Wagner's Prelude to Act III from Lohengrin.

Baritone Earl Wrightson and soprano Lois Hunt, both veterans of Broadway and national tours, will join the orchestra in a variety of popular songs and selections from Broadway shows.

Weekday performances of pop-rock-folk concerts will feature the folk sounds of Brewer and Shipley on Tuesday, July 18, the blending of hard rock, blues, jazz and soul by Rare Earth on Wednesday, July 19 and the big band sound of the Glenn Miller Orchestra on Friday, July 21. Mike Brewer and Tom Shipley are famous for their songs "One Take Over the Line," "Too Soon Tomorrow" and "Song From Platte River." The Detroit-based Rare Earth are known for "Get Ready," "I Know I'm Losing You," "Born to Wander" and "I Just Want to Celebrate." The Glenn Miller Orchestra appears regularly at the top hotels and nightclubs throughout the county.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Lawrence F. O'Brien is a rarity among political chairmen. He uses tact, humor and persuasion where many others have wielded gavel and raw power.

Can anyone imagine tough, autocratic Sam Rayburn—who used to be as much a convention fixture as bands and banners—smiling from the rostrum and imploring, "please, please, in the aisle right in front of me, please have your reunion later?"

But that's how O'Brien does it. And it works.

"Going into that large hall, with those thousands of people and wielding a gavel, I was curious in my own mind about how I would fare, about how well I might be able to do it," O'Brien said Tuesday. "When I opened the convention at 8 o'clock that first night I had the attitude of let's get it over with. It's going to be quite an experience. This is something I can't envision... It could have been and it still could be a very disturbing experience or a personal disaster."

O'Brien betrayed no nervousness. He had spent some 30 hours with parliamentarian James O'Hara and other members of the convention staff discussing all the possible parliamentary problems and he was prepared to make the many decisions that only the chairman can make.

"This is my first experience on the podium," said O'Brien, who had a reputation as a political Merlin in the successful 1960 presidential campaign of John F. Kennedy. "I've had very limited experience in chairing meetings. I'm not a parliamentarian."

The chairman felt "revved up" after the long opening night session and invited aides to come to his 16th-floor suite to unwind and chew over the session. It was 7:30 before he went to bed and he was up again at 10 to receive a call from Sen. Edmund Muskie.

Even during the tough credentials fight, O'Brien had few occasions to chide the delegates for disorder.

"You try to be as persuasive as you can..."

"Eighty-five per cent of these people are new, at their first convention and yet the milling and the renewing of acquaintances and the chatting and the chattering here and there frankly was not as extensive as I've seen in previous conventions.

"Sometimes 80 or 90 per cent of those delegates were in their seats and I kept saying to the other 20 per cent 'you're being unfair to your colleagues, the other delegates.' And they'd applaud me."

Only rarely does O'Brien lose his cool. One of those occasions was at 4:42 a.m. the first night, when the session—the longest opening in history—was nearly nine hours old.

There was a crowd of newsmen in the aisle around the Illinois delegation and repeated pleas to clear out did no good.

"It's intolerable," O'Brien finally said. But then he added:

"Aw, come on fellows," he said. "let's work together."

Teaching tools

It was browsing time for teachers Tuesday in the Student Center Ballrooms where displays of teaching materials—books, games, audio-visual materials and equipment, arts and crafts—were arrayed for inspection and, so the 90 firms represented in the annual exhibition hoped, for sale. (Photo by Pam Smith)

Educational exhibit nets high turnout

Attendance was high Tuesday as the 35th annual Educational Materials Exhibit got underway in the Student Center.

Throughout the day, exhibits from about 90 companies were on display in Ballrooms A, B, C and D. Lectures and demonstrations were presented in the River Rooms.

Such firms as Holt, Rinehart and Winston, Inc.; Ginn and Company; McGraw Hill; Science Research Associates, Inc. and Encyclopedia Britannica Films were among those displaying new kinds of technological equipment, newly published textbooks and teaching aides for elementary, secondary and post-secondary educational levels.

Also on display were new works published by the SIU Press, as well as exhibits from other educational organizations, such as the College Entrance Examination Board.

Wednesday will be the final day for the exhibit, reputed by sponsors to be the largest ever held in Southern Illinois.

Both lecture, demonstrations and exhibits can be viewed from 8:30 a.m. to noon and from 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Center cutting evening meal

The Student Center Dining Room will no longer serve evening meals beginning Monday for the remaining of summer quarter, according to Ronald J. Rogers, food service manager.

The restaurant is losing money because of slow summer business and will remain open only during lunch hours until fall quarter, Rogers said.

New hours are Monday through Friday 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and Sunday 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

MINUTES OF MEETING OF THE UNIVERSITY SENATE

Carbondale, June 26, 1972

Agenda Item No. 1. Roll Call.

The meeting was called to order by President Kenney at 3:00 p.m. in Room 131 of Lawson Hall. New members of the Senate who were present were introduced. The roll was called and the following Senators were present:

Bill Beebe, Patricia Benziger, Dorothy Keenan (for Phyllis Bubnas), Tony Catanese, Gary Dickerson, David Clarke (for Morris Eames), Jim Fatur, Ross J. Fligor, Joseph Gasser, Dennis Goodman, Jack Graham, John Hawley (for J.W. Yates), William Herter, Worthen Hunsaker, Tom Kelley, David Koveiny, Jerry Lacey, Robert G. Layer, Jay Boulanger (for Paul Lougeay), Robert McGrath, Joe Moore, Herbert Donow (for Sidney Moss), William E. Nickell, Chris Pretkel, Howard Morgan (for Dan S. Rainey), Bryce Rucker, Linda Rucker, Frank Sehner, Bill Steele, Cheryl Stoner, Jeannie Cochran (for Buzz Talbot), Dave Thomas, James Tweedy, Bill Boyens (for Nicholas Vergette), Richard Rasche (for Judy Willford), Bill Woitowich.

The following members were absent and not represented by proxy:

Agenda Item No. 2. Consideration of the Minutes of the Meeting of June 1.

Adoption of the minutes of June 1 was moved by Mr. Dickerson, seconded by Mr. Lacer, and approved unanimously by voice vote.

Agenda Item No. 3. Motion in regard to representation of the Black Faculty and Staff Council on the Senate.

Because actions have been taken since the motion concerning black representation was placed before the Senate, Mr. Catanese moved to table this motion to such time as the membership of the University Senate may again contain no blacks. Mr. Rucker seconded the motion. With 8 in favor and 21 against, the motion was defeated.

Mr. Lacey moved the following amendment to the original motion made by Mr. Catanese:

In the event that the normal electoral processes do not produce four blacks to membership on the Senate, the Black Faculty and Staff Council will appoint the members necessary to bring that number to four.

Mr. Thomas seconded the motion. Mr. Hawley moved to recess for five minutes to allow for caucusing. The motion was seconded and approved by voice vote. Discussion continued after the caucus. Mr. Lacer moved to amend Mr. Lacey's amendment by substituting the number two in place of the number four. Mr. Donow seconded the motion, which was approved with 23 for and 6 against. Mr. Lacey's amendment as amended then carried with 23 in favor and 8 opposed. Mr. Catanese moved for a roll call vote on the original motion as amended; Mr. Thomas seconded. This motion was approved with 20 in favor and 11 against. By a vote of 22 for, 11 opposed and 3 abstentions, the main motion as amended was defeated since it failed to have the required majority of Senate membership necessary. Roll call vote was as follows:

Agenda Item No. 4. Motion in regard to abolition of the rental textbook service for upper division courses.

Discussion continued on the motion made by Mr. Woitowich at the Senate meeting of June 1 to adopt in its entirety as a legislative action the recommendation made by the ad hoc Committee to consider abolition of the textbook rental service for upper division courses. Mr. Rucker moved that the textbook rental system also be discontinued for General Studies courses, thus causing the motion to read, "The Committee recommends that, beginning with the fall quarter 1973, the textbook rental system be discontinued." Mr. Donow seconded the motion. After discussion of the Rucker motion, Mr. Woitowich moved to table the proposal until the next meeting of the Senate. Mr. Dickerson seconded the motion, which lost with 10 in favor and 17 against. After further debate, Mr. Nickell moved the previous question. With 15 in favor and 16 opposed, the Rucker motion failed to win approval.

Mr. Boyens moved to amend the original motion to read as follows: "The Committee recommends that, beginning with the fall quarter, 1973, the textbook rental system be discontinued for all except General Studies courses and those one hundred and two hundred level courses as are elected by their departments, and that fees for these courses be assessed on a course by course basis." The motion was seconded. After brief discussion, Mr. Donow moved the previous question and Mr. Thomas seconded the motion. Since no one desired further discussion, vote was taken on the Boyens amendment; it failed with 10 for and 13 opposed.

Mr. Dickerson moved to table the motion until the next meeting. Mr. Kelly seconded the motion, which failed by vote of 10 to 22. Mr. McGrath moved the previous question. Mr. Nickell seconded the motion. Vote to end debate showed 23 in favor and 5 against. The main motion was then voted upon and lost with 12 in favor and 18 against.

Agenda Item No. 5. Motion in regard to Alumni Association Membership in the Senate.

Mr. Catanese moved. Mr. Dickerson seconded, adoption of the following amendment to the Campus Governance System document:

WHEREAS, there have been no Alumni representatives attending the University Senate meetings since November 1, 1972, WHEREAS, the Board of Directors of the Southern Illinois University Alumni Association decided, at its meeting on June 9, 1972, not to fill the Alumni vacancies on the University Senate.

NOW THEREFORE, let the document of the Campus Governance System be amended to delete the two positions of the Alumni on the University Senate.

Agenda Item No. 6. Report of the Governance Committee in regard to filling positions on the joint standing committees.

In view of the time, the Governance Committee report was delayed until the next meeting of the University Senate.

Agenda Item No. 7. Report of the Executive Committee.

Vacancies on the Executive Committee were noted by Mr. Kenney; new members were reminded to caucus after the meeting to fill these vacancies.

Agenda Item No. 8. New Business.

Mr. Fligor nominated Ms. Bubnas for the position of Secretary of the University Senate. Mr. Thomas moved that nominations be closed; Mr. Nickell seconded. It was moved, seconded, and approved that the election be made by acclamation.

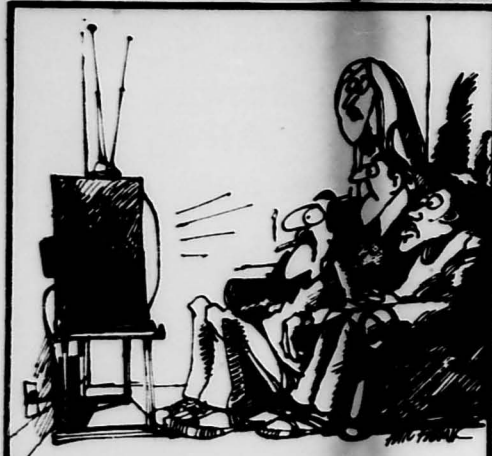

Agenda Item No. 9. Adjournment.

Mr. Nickell moved that the Senate adjourn until the first Monday in August. Since the governance document requires that the Senate meet at least once a month, the motion was ruled out of order. Mr. Hawley then moved to adjourn until July 24, at 3:00 p.m. Mr. Boulanger seconded the motion. After approval by voice vote, the meeting adjourned at 5:15 p.m.

Respectfully Submitted,

Cheryl Stoner for Carolyn Gandolfo,
Secretary

"IN ORDER TO CONTROL THE FLOW OF PROTEST I REGRET THE NECESSITY OF MINING THE ENTRANCES TO THE NATION'S CAMPUSES..."

Daley down but not out of scene

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. The dismissal of Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley from the Democratic National Convention takes the luster off the 70-year-old mayor's image as the last remaining national political boss but he remains the man the Democrats must count on to win Illinois in November.

Whether Daley adopts an attitude as intractable as his refusal to compromise on the challenge issue which cost him his seat will not be known until the fall campaign begins. But observers believe the mayor will ignore the convention insult and support the party's supposed candidate for president, Sen. George McGovern.

James Wall of Elmhurst, a leader of the McGovern forces in the Illinois delegation, discounts the theory that Daley is no longer effective in producing Democratic votes.

"Politics is like a horse race. You don't bet against a good track record and Daley has it," Wall said. "McGovern needs him."

The challenge leaders, alderman William S. Singer and the Rev. Jesse Jackson, have promoted the theory that Democrats don't need Daley to win in Illinois. Jackson says, "Daley is getting senile, that's why he was reelected."

The Singer group points to the March primary win of independent Dan Walker who beat Daley's candidate for the party nomination for governor by forging a coalition of supporters from downstate and the Chicago suburbs.

But Walker spent $1 million and 18 months to win that campaign which is something the Democratic party standard-bearer will not be able to match in Illinois.

Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., who has had his differences with Daley, says flatly, "If I were a candidate, I'd want him on my side."

A Daley lieutenant who worked hard to avert the floor fight defeat in Miami Beach, said of the regular organization's ability to help the presidential candidate:

"It's this simple. If our people go out and say nothing about our candidate, the voters in the ethnic neighborhoods will go for Nixon or Wallace or anybody else. If we tell them, 'Our guy's going to lower taxes,' he'll win."

Asked about McGovern's voting-getting ability in Chicago, the committee man said, "If the mayor says to take a pass, McGovern won't get 25 per cent."

Daley never was criticized more nationally than after the 1968 convention in Chicago; but, in April 1971, he was elected to his fifth term as mayor with 75 per cent of the vote. The totals certainly were swelled by the patronage army which wanted a complimentary vote for Daley, and it hasn't hurt him that Republicans hardly make an effort to beat him.

Stevenson says, "I have serious questions about McGovern's ability to win Illinois. I have serious questions about any Democrat's chances of winning Illinois."

The fact remains that any Democrat, even one who caused his exile from the convention, is a better alternative for Daley than a Republican President. The federal appointments and funds which Daley uses to nourish his city and his party do not come easily from Republican presidents.

Alderman Leon Despres, an independent who often opposes Daley, says, "Daley will campaign for the candidate. He will have to if he wants to win his county ticket." Despres believes the convention fight caused "a little of the luster to wear off... It will have no effect on Daley's effect in Chicago."

Farm bureau administrators to meet at SIU July 17-21

By University News Service

State farm bureau administrators from throughout the United States are expected at the 1972 American Farm Bureau Federation institute for administrators at SIU July 17-21.

Local arrangements for the five-day institute program are being handled by the SIU Division of Continuing Education. Institute participants will be housed mainly in one of the SIU residence halls, and daily sessions will be in the Student Center on campus. Specialists from the American Farm Bureau Federation staff and from the SIU faculty will lead discussions in the

Irish shootings threaten new mob violence

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)—Four men died Tuesday in shooting incidents on the eve of the big Protestant parades that threaten to touch off widespread clashes with rival Roman Catholic mobs.

Police banned all traffic from the center of the capital. They cordoned off downtown streets in an attempt to head off bomb and gun attacks before the traditional July 12 parades, potentially the occasion for the worst communal violence of the year.

The British army stepped up its troop strength as a further precaution.

Two young civilians and a British soldier were slain in sporadic outbreaks of gunfire. The fourth victim, hit by sniper fire Sunday, died in a hospital.

The British garrison holding the line between Catholic and Protestant private armies was reinforced by the arrival of 1,200 more troops, including two elite armored units. They brought the total of British soldiers in Ulster to 17,000, the highest in three years of sectarian battles.

Bombs and gun battles erupted across Belfast and other towns in the province less than 24 hours before the scheduled start of the parades celebrating historic events in the centuries of Protestant-Catholic warfare in Northern Ireland.

City fills vacant position; planning director named

James W. Rayfield, previously of the Greater Egypt Planning and Development Agency, has been appointed director of planning for the City of Carbondale.

City Manager Carroll J. Fry made the announcement Tuesday morning, adding that Rayfield's appointment begins Tuesday, July 25, and "all functional planning for the city" will be placed under control of the planning department.

Fry said acting director of planning Richard Greenwood "will continue as a planner and be reclassified at a higher level within the Planning Department."

Rayfield's appointment leaves three of a previous five city positions still vacant. Eldon Gosnell was appointed permanent director of the Urban Renewal Division last week. He was formerly the acting director. Gosnell earns $17,842 yearly and Rayfield will earn $15,789.

The three positions still vacant are finance director, fire chief and code enforcement director.

Bulls offer rejected

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Basketball Association's Board of Governors approved today the sale of the Boston Celtics for $5.1 million to Robert Schmetz of Lakewood, N.J., and rejected a $5 million offer for the purchase of the Chicago Bulls.

Schmetz, 46, a real estate executive, bought the Celtics from Investors' Funding Corp., which had owned the club since 1971. Commissioner Walter Kennedy, knocking down persistent rumors, said the Celtics would remain in Boston, playing at the Boston Garden, where they have a year-to-year lease. He also said Arnold "Red" Auerbach would remain as the club's president and general manager.

The offer to purchase the Bulls was made by a nine-man group from Milwaukee and Chicago, headed by Marvin L. Fishman, which wanted to purchase the club from Elmer Rich.

Apparently, the group was rejected because it was unable to obtain a lease for Chicago Stadium, where the Bulls played last season. Fishman reportedly was only able to obtain a lease in the Chicago Amphitheater.

The commissioner said it is uncertain at which site the Bulls would play next season because they have no lease at Chicago Stadium.

Daily Egyptian Sports Olympic trials for boaters

Rockford will be the host city July 20-23 for competition trials to select the men's and women's flatwater canoe and kayak teams to represent the United States in the 1972 summer Olympic Games in Munich, Germany.

The trials on Pierce Lake in Rock Cut State Park will be free of charge to the public.

Canoeing has been an Olympic sport since 1936. A "Canadian" canoe, quite different from a standard canoe, is used for 1000 meter races. There are one-man and two-man races in the 17 foot long, 35 pound boat.

Kayak competition is for both men and women. The men's team includes one, two and four-man boats, which also race for 1000 meters. Women compete in one and two place kayaks and race for 500 meters.

In past Olympic Games the United States canoe and kayak teams have captured two gold, four silver and two bronze medals, although there were no medals won in the 1968 games in Mexico City.

Woods, an Olympic shot put favorite

Randy Matson's familiar face won't be seen in Munich, Germany, at the 1972 Olympic Games this August. Matson's absence makes former Saluki, George Woods the favorite to capture a gold medal for the United States in the shot put.

Joining Woods on the American team will be Al Feuerbach and Brian Oldfield. Matson, who announced that he is probably through with track and field, has an outside chance of going to Munich if one of the three regulars must bow out for some reason.

Woods, in an interview from his Edwardsville home, said that he always shoots for world records, but that his primary goal right now is winning a gold medal for the United States.

"My chances of capturing a gold medal are real good," Woods said. "I'll beat Feuerbach. I should win it all. Oldfield is good, but he is young and has a lot to learn."

"Matson's absence may prevent the United States from sweeping the shot put, but other than that, his not making the trip should not affect my performance," Woods said. "The East Germans and Feuerbach should give me plenty of competition."

Woods' best effort this year is 70-1/4, which he tossed three weeks ago. The East Germans have three men that have shot put over 69 feet and one to them has thrown 69-11/2.

Woods plans to intensify his training program in preparation for Munich. He lifts weights and throws on alternate days.

Woods is planning a trip to Oslo, Norway, for the beginning of August. "The competition will be good for me," he said. "It helps me with the finer points."

Although Woods does not consider himself a technician, he does work on basics such as keeping his stance square and working on overall form.

"When it comes to throwing through, I just wind up and let go with a heave. You've got to have the power to be a winner," Woods said.

Thomas finds pros tough

enough to make the big jump to Triple A ball.

Thomas joined the Triplets in Tulsa last week, and immediately became a starter. Triplets manager Mike Roarke shifted regular third baseman Bill McNulty to left field and put Thomas at third.

Here's the surprise. Thomas who hit .353 in his two years at SIU, hasn't gotten a hit yet. "My first couple of times up, they tried to throw fastballs by me, but I hit them pretty well," Thomas said. "I haven't seen anything but curves since."

"I've got a lot to learn. These guys throw curves like I've never seen in my life. I watch the ball, and before I know what's happened, I'm swinging at the air."

Thomas expects to see many more curves before he reaches the major leagues, and he does have intentions of playing in the majors.

"I learn something new everytime I go to the plate," Thomas said. "It's just a matter of time before I get everything together."

Thomas said that he has been satisfied with his fielding. "I have a long way to go though," he said.

Except for the 110 mile-an-hour curves, Thomas said he enjoys Triple A ball. "We live pretty good. I get $10 a day for food allowance, and we stay in pretty nice hotels when we're on the road. We fly everywhere too, no more crummy bus trips."

"I suppose you could say I'm pretty happy," he concluded. "I love the game, I enjoy the players, and I'm having a great time learning. I think I made the right decision in signing a professional contract."

IT SOUNDS INCREDIBLE

BUT EVELYN WOOD GRADUATES CAN READ THE GODFATHER IN 64 MINUTES AT THAT SPEED. THE 477 PAGES COME ACROSS WITH MORE IMPACT THAN THE MOVIE IN LIVING BLOOD. YOU MIGHT SAY.

Imagine what this ability can do for students. At 1000 words per minute, (that's 3 times faster than you read), Evelyn Wood graduates can devour a textbook like Hofstadter's "American Political Tradition" and wrap up each chapter in 11 minutes.

This means instead of spending 600 hours a year reading—that's what a college freshman does—an Evelyn Wood graduate spends 170 hours. Without any drop in comprehension! Without any drop in retention!

If there ever was a time to do something about this, it's now, this summer.

Don't goof away another one!

P.S. If you think this is another advertising con-job, take a free mini-lesson and settle it once and for all. Find out if we've pulled the wool over 500,000 graduate eyes... or we really do have something.
