McFarlane asks to reappear before committee hearing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former national security adviser Robert McFarlane, whose testimony contradicted that of Lt. Col. Oliver North, will testify for a second time before the Iran-Contra committees, Sen. Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii, said Monday.

North, scheduled to conclude his sixth day of testimony before the select House and Senate panels Tuesday, gave different versions of events on at least three important points involving the sale of arms to Iran and the diversion of profits for the Contra rebels in Nicaragua.

Rep. Lee Hamilton, D-Ind., chairman of the House panel, said McFarlane is disputing some of North's testimony and asked for the time to reappear before the committees.

Sen. Warren Rudman, R-N.H., said the committee decided to allow McFarlane to return for more testimony after meeting with him during a lunchtime break.

"We believe he has important information to contribute," said Rudman.

McFarlane was the first witness to testify in the hearings that began May 5, appearing almost exactly four months after he was rushed to Bethesda Naval Hospital because he attempted suicide by taking an overdose of Valium.

McFarlane served as North's boss in the National Security Council until Dec. 4, 1985, when he resigned, saying that after more than 30 years of public service he wanted to devote more time to his family.

McFarlane testified that as national security adviser he lectured his staff regularly that they were not to solicit or encourage contributions to the Contras during the time U.S. aid was prohibited by the Boland Amendment.

"I never heard those instructions," North testified in response to questioning beginning last Tuesday. He also said he gave McFarlane a card with the address of an offshore account that would support the Nicaraguan resistance. McFarlane has denied reports he solicited money from Saudi Arabia, known to have contributed more than $30 million.

WSIU to air Poindexter testimony

By Cara Day
Staff Writer

WSIU-FM 92 will continue broadcasting the Iran-Contra saga.

The station has been broadcasting National Public Radio's coverage of the congressional questioning of Lt. Col. Oliver North. Coverage will continue with Rear Adm. John M. Poindexter's testimony when congressional committees finish questioning North. His testimony is expected to end today.

"All indications are that Poindexter, being North's boss, will be more substantive as far as name-naming," Jay Pearce, WSIU-FM assistant news director, said. "Everyone's been waiting for someone to link Reagan to advance knowledge of the arms sale... it's expected to be Poindexter."

"Poindexter's testimony may spill into next week, but we'll cover it in its entirety," he said.

News reports and speculation point to Poindexter as a key witness to what President Reagan knew, Pearce said. A September 15 memo from North to Poindexter included recommendations that Reagan be told of plans for the use of profits from the Iran arms sales.

"Our feeling is that Poindexter, being North's superior, will either confirm or discredit North. Our indications are that we may be in for some surprises. North has been saying everything he did was approved above him, so that's what everyone is waiting to find out," Pearce said.

Stops in four European nations planned on three-week Pettit trip

By Jacke Hampton
Staff Writer

Chancellor Lawrence K. Pettit is in the fifth day of a three-week trip abroad, but his subordinates aren't saying much about the excursion that will take him to four European countries.

The trip was not announced by the chancellor's office or the University News Service. The only available information is a brief itinerary prepared by the office of International Programs and Services, said Mary S. Walker, assistant to the chancellor. That office provides details of the trip and its purpose, she said.

Jared H. Dorn, director of International Programs and Services, was not in his office. A secretary in Dorn's office said Dorn could provide no information other than the itinerary.

Pettit spoke at a commencement exercise Saturday in Cambridge, England, for servicemen who completed SIU classes at overseas military bases, Walker said. Pettit is scheduled to attend an alumni dinner in Brussels, Belgium, and pay official visits to Austria and Germany as well, she said.

He will tour the Essex Institute in Chumford, England, the Free University of Brussels, the Technical University of Clausthal and air bases at Rustin, Spangdahlem and Bitburg.

The trip is for University business and not a vacation junket, Walker said. All of the stops are at places involved in exchange programs with the University or military bases where SIU-C classes are taught, she said.

Questions concerning the cost of the trip and who was paying for it were directed to Assistant Chancellor Donald Wilson. Wilson was not in the chancellor's office and could not be reached at home for comment. Pettit, accompanied by his wife, Libby, is paying for the cost of her trip, Walker said.

Local economic future uncertain, panel says

By Eric Oestmann
Staff Writer

Southern Illinois' economic future received mixed reviews in a panel meeting Friday in the Student Center.

"The economic future for Southern Illinois does not look that bright," Jim Hansen, economic specialist for the Greater Egypt Regional Planning and Development Commission, said.

Southern Illinois has not

"The region can't get on our feet until we get off our duffs."

— Rhonda Vinson

recovered from the 1981 recession and is experiencing over 15 percent unemployment, Hansen said. From 1980 to 1986, Southern Illinois' work force decreased from 95,000 to 91,000, Hansen said.

Industry is shifting from high-wage to low-wage jobs, the latter of which accounted for 60 percent of 1984's work force, he said.

Rhonda Vinson, director of the Office of Economic Development, is more optimistic than Hansen in regard to the region's economy.

People are eager to boost the region's economy, she said, but "the region can't get on our feet until we get off our duffs."

A business incubator at SIU-C scheduled for construction by summer of 1989 will help small businesses get started, Vinson said.

The Southern Illinois Coalition also was set up to inform the business community about developing businesses and to dispel the notion that Southern Illinois is a poor place to start a business, she said.

Fact-seeking Africans cheered while touring

OUAGADOUGOU, Burkina Faso (UPI) — Thousands of cheering people stirred by reggae music gave a rowing welcome Monday to a group of white South Africans and black African National Congress rebels visiting west Africa. The two groups flew to Burkina Faso on a fact-finding tour after ending a three-day conference in the Senegal, where they professed agreement on their opposition to white-minority rule in South Africa but disagreement over the rebels' use of violence.

Parading Irish protestants fight with police

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Protestant militants Monday clashed with police, and more than 100,000 Protestants marching to the beat of drums paraded across the province to celebrate the 297th anniversary of a battle victory over Roman Catholic forces. At one parade, Catholics shouted abuse at 300 Protestants, but 600 soldiers and police were on guard in the town and no trouble was reported.

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — President Chun Doo Hwan fired nearly half his top ministers Monday in a major reshuffle aimed at installing a neutral Cabinet to manage the last seven months of his rule and the transition to a new government when he steps down in February. But the major opposition party immediately questioned the neutrality of the new appointees and said "we will closely watch ... what path the new Cabinet follows."

Soviet diplomats arrive unannounced in Israel

JERUSALEM (UPI) — A delegation of Soviet diplomats arrived in Israel unannounced Sunday night for the first official Soviet visit to the Jewish state since the Kremlin broke relations in 1967, officials said Monday. The delegation entered the country on diplomatic visas issued June 17 by Israel's representative in Moscow, the Dutch Embassy, Foreign Ministry spokesman Ehud Gol said.

Trial opens for two charged with molestations

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two preschool teachers in what began as the largest molestation case in U.S. history went on trial Monday with prosecutors saying the two sexually abused 14 students and threatened them with death. In their 30-minute opening statement, prosecutors also said that one of the Virginia McMartin Pre-School teachers, chief defendant Ray Buckley, 29, made several "devastatingly incriminating statements" to a jail informant about his participation in the molestations.

NASA rocket damaged; four workers injured

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — NASA's last Atlas-Centaur rocket was "extensively" damaged Monday in a costly launch pad mishap that destroyed a $4 million fuel tank and grounded a military satellite indefinitely, officials said. Four General Dynamics Space Division workers were treated for minor injuries at the scene and later released.

Last-minute bid made to stop director strike

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Negotiators for the Directors Guild of America and Hollywood producers resumed bargaining Monday in a last-minute bid to avert a Tuesday morning strike that could shut down film and television production. "The parties returned this morning for the purpose of seeing if there is any possible way of resolving our differences. Neither side wants a strike," said Carol Akiyama, senior vice president of the Alliance of Motion Picture and Television Producers. Akiyama said the two sides are "together in concept," but added, "it's the parameters that are separating us."

Brooklyn workers spurn shunted garbage

NEW YORK (UPI) — A plan to burn and bury 3,186 tons of internationally shunned trash hit more snags Monday, with Brooklyn incinerator workers refusing to touch the refuse and neighbors demanding to know "what's in that garbage." City officials rushed to fight the disposal plan in court, but a state Supreme Court justice postponed a hearing Monday after state lawyers complained they were not given adequate time to prepare. A temporary restraining order to block the incineration plan was secured during the weekend by Brooklyn Borough President Howard Golden, several other elected officials and community groups that filed a lawsuit, citing environmental and financial concerns.

Museum receives high marks, reaffirms accreditation status

By Mary Caudle
Staff Writer

The University Museum has again been awarded the highest mark of excellence a museum can receive: accreditation by the American Association of Museums.

The museum's accreditation status was announced early this month after a year-long review process that included both self-study and on-site evaluation by a team of experienced museum professionals.

"The accreditation process was rigorous, and examined virtually every aspect of our museum's operations," said John Whitlock, director of the University Museum. "We hope the people of Carbondale share our pride in having earned this prestigious honor."

Accreditation certifies that a museum operates according to standards of quality and professionalism set forth by the museum profession, including handling its collections responsibly and providing quality service to the public. Of nearly 5,000 museums nationwide, only 650 have been accredited, Whitlock said.

Every five to ten years the AAM reviews accreditation status to ensure that a museum continues to meet institutional standards. The University first achieved accreditation status in 1977,

Simon's 'Bow Tie Brigade' hopes to woo Iowa voters

By Deedra Lawhead
Staff Writer

The Bow Tie Brigade, Sen. Paul Simon's campaign team, plans to pitch a shutout in the first game of the U.S. presidential world series.

The team of volunteers, named by Simon himself in honor of his trademark bow tie, intends to come out swinging in the Iowa ballpark to make Simon — one of eight Democratic presidential candidates — the leader of the pack, Simon's campaign managers said.

"Iowa is the ballgame," said Einar Dyhrkopp of the Simon for President Committee. "If Paul comes out of Iowa No. 1, nobody will catch him."

Speaking to about 100 supporters at the Student Center, Dyhrkopp stressed the importance of winning or placing second in Iowa, where Democratic caucuses begin the 1988 primary season Feb. 8.

The caucuses determine which candidates will be supported by the Iowa delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Dale Smith, director of Simon's campaign office in Rock Island, Iowa, said the Bow Tie Brigade will write letters, make phone calls and visit those who have attended Democratic caucuses in Iowa.

If Simon and his family can't be there, these volunteers are the best people to send, he said.

"By giving the one-on-one personal contact, we will show Paul Simon has a whole lot of support from real people and give a visible presence of that support," Smith said.

Campaign coordinators are planning other activities to spread the word to about 100,000 active Iowa caucus attenders.

Smith said a group of ad hoc ambassadors is being formed to work with groups of people such as the elderly, teachers, health-care professionals and attorneys.

"We want to get their votes," he said.

On August 7, Les McCollum of Herrin and State Sen. Glenn Poshard, of Carterville, co-coordinators for the Southern Illinois 22nd Congressional District, will lead a walk across Iowa, McCollum said.

They intend to march seven to 12 miles a day until they cross the state, McCollum said. "We want people to come out and listen to us," he said.

The largest group of professionals who vote in the primaries are teachers, he said.

"Paul has spent 35 years as a warrior for education," McCollum said. "And we will win their vote."

Jerry Sinclair, Simon's Illinois political director, said preliminary plans to gather a camper brigade are also in the works.

He would like to get a caravan of 50 to 100 campers to go to the Iowa State Fair Aug. 23 when Simon will be there, Sinclair said.

Sinclair admitted the campaign is running on limited finances and more money is needed. He asked supporters to raise money for the campaign.

City made mistake on new restaurant

THE CARBONDALE CITY Council has shown a lack of foresight in its decision to allow a drive-up restaurant on Illinois Avenue.

Traffic problems are bad enough. There is no need to worsen the problem by putting a drive-up near an already dangerous intersection at Mill Street and Illinois Avenue.

Keith Tuxhorn should be commended for being the only council member to oppose approval for erecting the restaurant. "Please do not allow this because of the safety complications it brings to the city," Tuxhorn begged the council. We couldn't agree more.

The new restaurant will intensify traffic near that intersection, especially at times when traffic already is at its heaviest.

PERHAPS THE COUNCIL thinks the proposed traffic lights on Mill Street at University and Illinois avenues will alleviate the problem. If anything, these lights will cause their own sets of problems.

The lights will stop traffic for a while, then release all that backed-up traffic onto Illinois Avenue at once, creating some serious merging problems.

"Doesn't the council think the students should be a major concern in this issue?" Tuxhorn asked the council. It looks like the answer to his question was "No."

The City Council needs more members like Tuxhorn, and needs to be more aware of the problems its decisions may cause.

Stone House drain needs quick plug

AGAIN? THIS TIME it's $80,000 for the upkeep of Stone House.

They're putting draperies in three rooms for $3,000. At $1,000 a room, those must be some extremely nice curtains.

Another $13,650 will be spent over two years on painting. Unless the paint is liberally laced with gold and platinum, that's a lot of hours spent painting.

Let's hope that the $135,000 requested for energy-saving procedures will pay for itself in four years, as predicted.

The University needs to stop lavishing money on Stone House.

Letters

Fresh blood needed

Well, I can certainly see the dire need for the presidential search committee. "Breeding mediocracy" is the best way I can think of to describe SIU's latest effort to do something right.

Isn't it a little odd that out of all of the presidential candidates, we ended up with John Guyon? It's no big deal, it's only time and money, both of which SIU-C has lots of, right guys?

It was time to pump some new blood into the system. You can't tell me John Guyon was the most qualified candidate. Sure he had a distinct advantage — he's been at SIU-C for a very long time and he is supposed to know what is going on, but does he?

It sounds as if Lawrence Pettit wanted someone in the position whom he felt he could control. Although I think Pettit is doing a good job straightening out SIU-C, we needed someone with fresh new ideas to push a stagnate SIU-C towards a common goal of vast improvement.

All I can say is "Good luck, John Guyon. Prove your critics wrong by producing results that elevate as well as motivate SIU-C into becoming the highly respected University it should be." — Todd Lawley, junior, speech communication.

Homophobia shows in Caster's remarks

Normally after writing one letter on a specific subject I withdraw from further debate, but I believe Joan H. Caster's letter in the June 26 Daily Egyptian demands some response.

Caster is accurate when he says that a strictly heterosexual male would have to be infected by some other route before he could pass the AIDS virus on to his partner.

But what's his point? He leaves out the equally accurate fact that a homosexual male also would have to be infected before he could pass it to his homosexual partner.

By not mentioning this Caster leaves readers with the impression that the AIDS virus simply comes into being when two men have anal intercourse. Or that all homosexual men are infected simply because they are homosexual. Two homosexual virgins are no more at risk than a strictly heterosexual couple who have not been exposed.

Caster blows his cover as the voice of scientific objectivity when he states that heterosexuals "would probably dispense with doing things the normal way."

"Normal" implies that there is only one "right" way to have sexual intercourse and that way (I assume he is referring to vaginal intercourse) is the exclusive province of heterosexuals.

The idea Caster is trying to reinforce is that heterosexuals are the only ones who have "normal" sex. Gee, sounds like homophobia to me.

And you're damned right it's racism when you say that "the group at most risk today are minority youths" without qualifying it as "minority youths in urban areas using intravenous drugs or having sex with intravenous drug users."

And it is certainly racism and homophobia to think that because one is white, middle-class and heterosexual, one is exempt from a disease, without having to follow the same precautions as everyone else. It's as if Mr. Caster thinks white heterosexuals never shoot up or have multiple sex partners or go to prostitutes.

The number of previously uninfected gay men in San Francisco and New York who have developed antibodies to the AIDS virus is down one percent. By leaving out such critical information, Caster ignores how the spread of AIDS among homosexuals has been considerably slowed down due to the efforts of the gay community.

The number of AIDS cases has increased among gay men because of the long incubation period. And it is this long incubation period that should concern heterosexuals, especially ones like Mr. Caster, who would dismiss AIDS as a problem for gay men and drug users only. People who haven't been concerned with their sexual behavior for the last few years may be in for some ugly surprises a few years hence. —Tommy Westerfield, graduate student, playwriting.

25 volunteers clean up spillway, encourage others to follow suit

By Karen Wells
Staff Writer

While many people relaxed Saturday in air-conditioned comfort, several SIU-C students and community residents participated in the cleanup at the Lake Kinkaid Spillway.

90-degree temperatures didn't stop about 25 people - half the number of last year's turnout - who volunteered to help with the cleanup of cans, bottles, broken glass, can tabs and other trash, according to Greg Searle, Campus Lake manager for Pollution Control.

Most of the participants were students who use the spillway for sunbathing, beer-drinking and picnicking.

The cleanup lasted from noon to 4 p.m.

Jack Wagner, a senior in plant and soil science, said he considers himself a "reformed polluter." He said he volunteered because he "felt guilty about polluting in the past."

Eric Horton, a former student visiting from Detroit for the weekend, said he volunteered because he now notices how bad the area looks when careless people don't pick up their trash. He enjoys seeing the area clean, he said.

To keep garbage from being thrown on the ground or in the lake, trash bags were given to people visiting the spillway. Most people filled the bags with beer cans, bottles and other trash by the end of the day, Searle said.

Another cleanup day will be scheduled next year.

"We will keep trying to change people's attitudes" to help keep the spillway clean, Searle said.

making it one of only 291 museums to have reaffirmed accreditation.

Evert Johnson, curator for the museum, who was present during the museum's initial accreditation, said he was not surprised that their status was reinstated, adding, "It's an honor because accreditation by the AAM means that your peers in the museum profession look on your museum procedures and standards as being very good and acceptable."

The museum, located in the north wing of Faner Hall, exhibits fine and decorative artworks by student and visiting artists and ethnographic collections from throughout the world, specializing in Southern Illinois arts, crafts and historical materials. Generally five to six exhibits run concurrently, with exhibits shown on a rotating basis. The University Museum also maintains an extensive permanent collection.

Current exhibits at the University Museum are "Cultural Materials: Fabrics from Around the World," "Architectural History of Southern Illinois," "Precious Presentations: Handmade Books and Portfolio Cases," an exhibit of geological maps and historical dioramas, and the masters' of fine arts thesis exhibits of SIU-C graduate students William Bleisser and Colleen Hoppe. Museum hours are from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. weekdays and 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Sundays.

Woman, 62, charged with bank robbery

The Jackson County State's Attorney filed robbery charges Monday afternoon against Eula Mae Brown, a 62-year-old woman from De Soto.

Brown was accused Friday of robbing the Landmark Bank of Carbondale, 100 N. Illinois Ave. She was arrested by Carbondale police in the driveway of her small home at 108 N. Plum St. about 20 minutes after the robbery.

Assistant State's Attorney Michael Nieskes said the robbery involved a little over $1,300.

Judge Robert Howerton set property bond at the state's attorney's requested $10,000 and bail at $1,000.

The preliminary hearing is scheduled for July 29. Brown had requested a change in the preliminary hearing date because she is scheduled for eye surgery July 26. However, Judge Howerton said until arrangements, if any, can be made, the July 29 date is final.

Illinois corn, soybean crops aided by rain

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — Timely rain has aided the progress of Illinois' corn and soybean crops, with all but 5 percent of the corn acres and 6 percent of the beans rated in good or excellent condition, officials said Monday.

Illinois was focused in the southern half of the state last week.

Meanwhile, state ag officials said the northern half of Illinois remained relatively dry. Overall, 22 percent of the state's cropland had surplus moisture, 37 percent was rated adequate and 41 percent short of soil moisture.

The latest weekly crop report indicated 15 percent of the state's soybeans acres was rated in excellent condition, 80 percent good, 4 percent fair and 1 percent poor.

Smoking linked to extreme blood clotting

DALLAS (UPI) — New evidence confirms that chronic smokers, including those who look and feel healthy, undergo activity in their bloodstreams that can lead to excessive clotting and possibly to heart attacks, researchers said Monday.

Habitual smoking causes excessive interaction of the blood components that trigger clotting, said scientists in a study published Monday in Circulation, an American Heart Association journal.

Formation of blood clots in arteries serving the heart muscle can result in a heart attack.

Reagan may boost Contra aid request

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Apparently spurred by the popularity of Lt. Col. Oliver North, President Reagan may ask for more than the planned $105 million in military aid for the Nicaraguan rebels next year, an aide said Monday.

Speaking after Reagan returned to the White House from a trip to Indianapolis, presidential spokesman Marlin Fitzwater told reporters the president is considering increasing the amount of aid he will seek for the Contras.

Fitzwater did not specify a figure that Reagan was weighing. Officials had mentioned $105 million as the amount to be sought for the Contras in the fiscal 1988 budget now being debated. Congress approved $100 million for the rebels in this spending year.

Earlier in the day, Fitzwater had discounted a report that Reagan would seek $300 million in aid to the guerrillas battling the Marxist-led Sandinista government in Managua.

Referring to congressional testimony by North, who was fired from the National Security Council staff when the Contra aid link to the Iran arms sales was disclosed, Fitzwater said, "Ollie has made a lot of people aware of the Contra cause."

Math fills intern slots

Three math department internship positions have been filled by high school teachers for the fall and spring semesters, said Roland B. Kirk, department chairman.

This is the second year for the program, which is open to high school math teachers.

Lisa Henald, from Mount Vernon, Lenard Defend, from Shelbyville, and Rita Polston, from Grantsburg, will teach lower level math classes starting in August.

'Folk hero' North adored by fans

Oliver North's status as America's freshest folk hero blossomed Monday — his face graced T-shirts and buttons and he was touted for president, Marine Corps commandant and even ROTC director at Jerry Falwell's fundamentalist college.

In Dallas, boys asked for Ollie North haircuts. In Tulsa, Okla., a billboard backing the Marine lieutenant colonel backed up traffic.

Outside the Indiana Convention Center in Indianapolis, where Reagan spoke Monday, "Ollie for President" buttons were being hawked for $2 apiece. "A Secret Service agent bought the first one," vendor Len Wechsler said.

Olympic Festival develops, showcases young athletes

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

The 1987 U.S. Olympic Festival, July 13-16, promises to be the biggest ever, and you'll soon see many of the Festival's headliner athletes on everything from U.S. Olympic teams to Wheaties boxes to professional athletic teams.

Held every summer during non-Olympic years, the Festival was created to showcase and develop the nation's top amateur athletes and Olympic hopefuls.

Born in 1978 as the National Sports Festival, the first festival attracted 2,000 athletes and 80,000 spectators to Colorado Springs, Colo. Fans, competitors and 80 news-hungry media personnel were generally pleased with the effort, and the idea grew.

From that auspicious beginning, the Festival has grown into the nation's largest amateur sporting event and bloomed into a multi-million dollar extravaganza.

Over 300,000 spectators are expected to attend this year's festival, not including over 1,200 media personnel, 7,000 volunteers and 4,000 athletes and coaches.

Former Festival participants have won 238 medals in the last 10 Olympic games and include standout athletes like Michael Jordan, Patrick Ewing, Edwin Moses, Jackie Joyner and Mary Lou Retton.

Of 287 American athletes entered in competition at the 1984 Summer Olympic in Los Angeles, 193 were former competitors in the Festival.

This year the Festival will determine many of the athletes who will represent the U.S. in the 1987 Pan American Games held August 7-23 at Indianapolis, the 1988 Winter Olympics Feb. 13-28 at Calgary, Canada and the 1988 Summer Olympics in Seoul, South Korea.

The Festival serves as a trial, or preliminary qualification, for many sports. Pan-American trials are held for boxing, equestrian events, rowing, rhythmic gymnastics and wrestling. World Championships trials include wrestling and rhythmic gymnastics, while Olympic trials include ice hockey and speed skating.

With 34 sporting events, the Festival requires space and diversity of facilities, creating the need for a lot of gymnasiums, pools and playing fields. This year's competition will be scattered around several college campuses. Duke and North Carolina Central State in Durham, N.C., Meredith College and North Carolina State in Raleigh and the Universities of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and Greensboro all will host specific events.

Besides providing an opportunity for the nation's best bets to become Olympic athletes, the Festival packs considerable economic clout.

With a base population of 4 million people within a two-hour drive of Chapel Hill, Festival officials hope this year's event will surpass last year's in both ticket revenues and total number of spectators.

All told, the Festival is expected to have an economic impact of over $10 million for North Carolina.

Last year's festival in Houston drew 346,000 spectators and generated $2.6 million in ticket revenues alone.

The U.S. Olympic Committee, supervisor and sole owner of all rights to the Festival, collects profits generated from the sale of souvenirs and television revenues as well as ticket sales.

The Festival operates on an annual budget of $5 million. SIU-C has two connections to this year's Festival. Dana Fitzpatrick and Cathy Kampwerth, juniors on the SIU-C women's basketball team, will be competing for the North region's women's hoop squad. Volleyball coach Debbie Hunter will be serving as National Governing Body Commissioner for volleyball.

All-Star pitchers Scott, Saberhagen to battle tonight

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Bret Saberhagen of the American League and Mike Scott of the National League, pitchers thriving in the year of the slugger, oppose each other in Tuesday night's All-Star Game.

Saberhagen, 15-3, is making his first All-Star appearance. Scott, 10-5, worked in last year's game in Houston, which the AL won 3-2. With a victory, the AL can assemble a two-game winning streak for the first time since 1957-58. The NL leads the series 36-20-1.

The 58th midseason classic — played for the first time in Oakland — is expected to be played under clear skies and comfortable temperatures.

1987 SUMMER FINAL EXAM SCHEDULE

Because of the limited number of examination periods available, no departmental examination times are scheduled for the Summer. The following points are pertinent to the final examination schedule:

1. The class final exam period is scheduled based on the meeting time and days listed on the first line of the class entry in the Schedule of Classes book (which should be the same as the first printed line for the section on the registered student's schedule print-out). For example, a class section is listed in the Schedule book on two lines in the manner:

07:30-8:30 T TH
08:40-09:40 W F

The scheduled class time for the first line of the entry starts with "07" and the meeting days for that line are "T TH" only. Therefore the exam time is 8:00-9:50 a.m. Friday, August 7, as is indicated on the attached Summer Final Examination Schedule.

2. Classes should plan to hold their final examination in their regularly scheduled class rooms. The space scheduling section of the Office of Admissions and Records will forward to departments information relative to the location for examinations for those classes that cannot hold examinations in their regularly scheduled rooms because of a space conflict. This will be done sufficiently in advance of the final examination days to provide adequate notice for all.

3. Students who find they have more than three examinations on one day may petition, and students who have two examinations scheduled at one time should petition their academic dean for approval to take an examination during the make-up examination period on the last day. Provision for such a make-up examination period does not mean that students may decide to miss the scheduled examination time and expect to make it up during this make-up period. This period is to be used only for students whose petitions have been approved by their dean.

4. Students who must miss a final examination may not take an examination before the time scheduled for the class examination. Information relative to the proper grade to be given students who miss a final examination and are not involved in a situation covered in the preceding paragraph will be found in the mimeographed memorandum forwarded to members of the instructional staff at the time they receive the final grade listing for the recording of grades.

1. One credit-hour courses, and classes scheduled for meeting dates less than the full 8-week session have their examinations during the last regularly scheduled class period prior to the two formal exam days.

2. Other classes (those scheduled for the full 8-week session) should hold their final exams according to the following:

First Line of Schedule Listing Shows:

Williams is back

Ex-cage coach lands job with SIU-C intramurals

By Greg Huber
Staff Writer

Saying it's "nice to be where you're appreciated," former Saluki assistant basketball coach Herman Williams is back at work with SIU-C intramurals.

His new duties at the Recreation Center include assisting and training student game officials, intramurals programming and also focusing on in-depth activities geared toward faculty and staff members.

Williams, who spent 10 years with the Saluki basketball program, said it was not only good to be back at SIU, but also that he looked forward to the diversity his new work entailed.

The new assistant said the fact that he would be involved in all of the sports is "doing something I really like."

Intramurals coordinator Buddy Goldammer said that Williams is a great asset to the staff, especially with his working knowledge of the programs and individuals who work with SIU sports.

Auld, two netters prepare for Games

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

One of the many links SIU-C has to the Prairie State Games this year is women's tennis coach Judy Auld and two of her top netters.

Auld will coach the Region 8 open division men's and women's teams, and she's listed as an alternate player on the women's open team.

The Games, held at the University of Illinois campus in Champaign-Urbana, begin July 15 and run through July 18.

Dana Cherebetiu and Sue Steuby, two of SIU-C's top players, will accompany Auld to the games. Auld said she expects both to perform well when the competition begins, adding that the break from summer school would do both players good.

"They haven't been playing competitively this summer, so it should sharpen them up a bit," Auld said. "It'll be especially important for Sue because she hasn't really played that much since coming off a shoulder injury this spring."

"I'm really looking forward to the competition... We'd like to break new ground and perform well."

While listed as an alternate, Auld said she didn't know if she'd play or not. Coaching the four men and four women are more important, she said.

"I'm really looking forward to the competition," Auld said. "Our region has not done well in the past and we have a stronger team than usual this year. We'd like to break new ground and perform well."

Auld said the PSG tennis Page 12, Daily Egyptian, July 14, 1987 competition might suffer somewhat because many players are obligated to play summer tournaments to retain rankings in the U.S. Tennis Association.

"I know a lot of the good players won't be there, especially in the open division" Auld said. "I'm not exactly sure how strong the other teams will be."

Auld added that open division players also were more difficult to find because of jobs and summer school. She tries to circumvent the problem by staying with young players when possible, but many of the younger players have summer school.

"A lot of people just can't miss three or four days of work or class," Auld said. "It makes it difficult to find people who want to play and have the time."

Like all the coaches who attend the PSG, Auld said to make and keep recruiting contacts is an important part of the Games.

"It's a great chance to get in a little recruiting time," Auld said. "There are a couple of players from the Belleville area who'll be competing in the scholastic division that I'm especially interested in."

Southern Region basketballers eye Gold with Smith as mentor

By Darren Richardson
Staff Writer

Saluki men's basketball assistant coach Ron Smith knows he's got his work cut out for him.

When the Prairie State basketball tournament tips off 9 a.m. Thursday morning in the University of Illinois' Assembly Hall in Champaign-Urbana, Smith will be coaching the Southern Region team against the Blue-Gray Region squad that features such talented cagers as former University of Illinois' stars Efreem Winters, Doug Altenberger and Dave Burch, a sophomore at SIU-C.

But Smith's assemblage is not without considerable talent.

Former Carbondale resident Steve Bardo, a sophomore at the University of Illinois, will lend his skills to the cause of the Southern Region.

"It's nice to have Bardo on the team instead of playing against him," Smith said. "Bardo was a catalyst for the Illinois from the point guard position and defended players very well also. He's extremely versatile."

Smith explained that a player is eligible for either his hometown region or the region of the school he currently attends.

Although Smith is glad to have Bardo's services, he's also extremely pleased with the rest of the team.

Saluki senior Steve Middleton, who led the Dogs in both points per game at a 19.1 average and rebounds at a six-per-game clip, and junior Randy House, fifth among Salukis in point average with 8.8 and rebounds with 3.6, will also take to the court for Smith.

"House will be playing with a broken finger on his right hand, but he'll be ready to go," Smith said. House is a left-handed shooter.

Other roster members include SIU-Edwardsville standouts John Edwards and Frankie Williams, Illinois' Phil Kunz, seven-footer Gary Leonard of Big Eight champion Missouri, former Carbondale resident and Drake player Glenn Martin, Eastern Illinois' Ronnie Tate and Jerry Wilson.

"We've got a good group of basketball players," Smith said. "There ought to be some strong competition."

The stint as Prairie Games

head coach will be the first time Smith has assumed the reins of a squad since his days as head basketball coach at Coulterville High School six years ago.

"We're going up there to have fun," Smith said, "but they don't keep score for nothin'."

Eight teams are divided into two pools of four for first-round competition, and the team with the best record in those games will play for the championship Gold Saturday at 1 p.m., while the team with the second best record will vie for the Bronze prize 9 a.m. Saturday morning.
