Civil emergency prompts curfew

Carbondale Mayor David Keene issued an order Friday extending a state of civil emergency to prohibit any gatherings of 10 or more persons within the city.

The order is in effect until 2 a.m. Sunday morning.

SIU Chancellor Robert W. MacVicar issued a companion order banning large gatherings of more than 20-25 persons on campus. The order leaves room for flexible interpretation and discretion by police in enforcing the ban.

All University activities continuing past or beginning after curfew time (7:30 pm) will be cancelled for as long as the curfew is in effect. Though no official statement has been made, it is assumed that the 7:30 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew will continue in effect on campus as long as a state of civil emergency is declared in Carbondale.

Campus buildings will be closed during the curfew hours and activities scheduled in those buildings have been cancelled, according to sources in the Chancellor's Office and the Information and Scheduling Center.

Earlier Friday, Mayor Keene had issued two executive orders declaring a state of emergency. The first proclamation orders:

(1) the sale of alcoholic liquor of any and all kinds whether by wholesaler or retailer, be discontinued;

(2) all liquor stores, taverns, clubs or other premises wherein the consumption of any alcoholic liquor is permitted be closed;

(3) the selling, distributing or giving away of gasoline or any other liquified flammable or combustible products in any container other than a gasoline tank of a motor vehicle be discontinued;

Calm returns to Carbondale; curfew still on

BULLETIN

Scattered reports of police action were reported around Carbondale Friday night. Arrests continued in Carbondale throughout the night. By press time more than 70 persons were taken into custody by law enforcement officers.

During the evening a fire gutted a two-story house at 801 W. Freeman. Some spectators at the scene were reportedly throwing stones at the fire fighters, while others were giving cookies to the State Police.

A witness said State Police fired tear gas into the house, igniting a fire. Witnesses said the Fire Department arrived 45 minutes later. After the pumps came, they had too little water to fight the flames. Carbondale Police Chief Jack Hazel said the house received minor damage. However, the inside of the house were burned out and much of the roof was destroyed, a staff member on the scene said. Several firebombs were thrown in the city.

Relative calm returned to Carbondale and to the SIU campus Friday, as a planned rally near University Park scheduled for 6 pm. failed to materialize.

Students arrived on cue, but a lack of organization and the imposing presence of local and state police as well as national guard troops quelled the rally.

At 10:15 p.m. Carbondale police said the curfew will be in effect tonight from 7:30 p.m. to 6 a.m. Sunday.

Two hundred additional National Guardsmen were mobilized in Carbondale Friday, making a total of about 850 deployed in the area, according to Captain Oral T. Booker of the National Guard.

In command of police operations in Carbondale is Colonel Roberts of the National Guard, working in conjunction with Chancellor Robert W. MacVicar, Carbondale Mayor David Keene and City Manager C. William Norman.

State, city and University police are operating on a "supportive and consensus" basis with Col. Roberts and the National Guard, according to Gene Peebles, assistant to the chancellor.

At 6:50 p.m., troops had lined up shoulder-to-shoulder from Washington Street to Wall Street.

Behind the troops, SIU Security Police and state police distributed their ranks. The entire force was surrounded by National Guard troops.

Small groups of students taunted police from the residence hall area.

At 7:30 p.m., state police cars patrolled the streets announcing the curfew and advising residents to stay off public property.

At 8 p.m., the National Guard was pulled out of the Brush Towers area as students bowed to curfew restrictions.

The streets in Carbondale and on campus were reported devoid of both vehicle and pedestrian traffic.

Carbondale police chief Jack Hazel reported as of 9:30 p.m., 44 arrests were made, mostly for curfew violations, with bond set at $1000.

Nixon: Cambodia strike a step toward peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon Friday night defended his decision to send U. S. troops into Cambodia as a step toward peace and appealed to dissenters protesting that policy to understand that his goal is the same as theirs.

He said the youthful demonstrators, some of them parading by candlelight outside the White House itself during his broadcast news conference, are saying they want peace, an end to killing, "that we ought to get out of Vietnam..."

"I agree with everything they are trying to accomplish," Nixon said, adding that he has no objection to peaceful protest.

He called it a safety valve, and added he had personally asked for waiver of city regulations so the young demonstrators massing in Washington can stage a rally Saturday on the grounds of the Ellipse—"where I can hear them."

"They're trying to say they want peace, they're trying to say that they want to stop the killing, they're trying to say that we ought to get out of Viet Nam," Nixon said. "I agree with everything they are trying to accomplish." "I think I understand what they want; I would hope that they would understand somewhat what I want," the President said.

Nixon said he will meet his pledge to withdraw another 150,000 American troops from Vietnam during the next year.

"I did not send these men to Vietnam..." the President said.

Nixon was asked if he had been surprised about the intensity of the protests and he replied no.

He said those who are protesting believe his Cambodian decision will expand the U.S. involvement and they want peace.

"I made the very decision for the same reason they are protesting," he said. "I am concerned because I know how deeply they feel."

"What I have will do what they want."

"In my opinion, it will serve the just cause in Vietnam," he said.

Cleaning up

University to get bills for damage from merchants

By James Hodi And Ingrid Tarver
Daily Egyptian Staff Writers

A decision to send damage bills resulting from broken windows and looting of local stores to the SIU Administration was made by about 100 Carbondale merchants Friday, at a meeting held in the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce offices.

About 75 businesses suffered some type of damage as a result of violence Thursday night, according to the Carbondale Police Department.

"We have decided that the businessmen that had damage would submit their bills to us, and we would present them to the University Administration," Gene Ramsey, president of the Chamber of Commerce said Friday afternoon.

Ramsey said the bill would probably be presented to University officials next week.

Businessmen at the meeting questioned a delay in the imposing of a curfew and police neglect in protection of their property.

Although the Chamber of Commerce says that it will take until Monday to make an estimate of the cost of the damage, initial reports from downtown merchants set the damage as high as $50,000.

The greatest damage was caused at Goldsmith's Clothing Store where seven windows were broken and the windows were stripped of goods.

"What they didn't take," said Jerry Barger, manager of the store, "they trampled." Barger debunked the rumor that somebody had fired a shotgun in the vicinity of the store last night.

B & A Travel was also hit hard. Six large windows, two glass doors and a neon sign were destroyed.

Vicki Beckman, a travel agent at the agency, said there were plans by the owner to install studs in concrete so that next time violence erupts, thick boards can be quickly erected to protect the windows.

Miss Beckman said the damage estimate of B & A was around $1,100.

Julius Kay, owner of Kay's Campus Shop, said he arrived in time to prevent looting of his store Thursday night. However, three large windows, one small window and the glass in a door was smashed.

Kay estimates his damage at around $1,500 and said it could have been more had he not stopped someone in the process of beginning to loot his store.

Volunteer patrol to take over

Chancellor Robert W. MacVicar early Friday night announced that a volunteer university patrol will be organized to maintain security on the SIU campus after the withdrawal of outside police forces.

The Chancellor indicated that the action was taken in response to offers of assistance which he said "came in substantial numbers during the last 48 hours." (See story on page 8)

"The purpose of this volunteer force will be to provide manpower to be the eyes and ears during periods of need for the recognized University forces," MacVicar said.

The volunteer patrol will not have police or quasi-police power, he said. However, a training program will be instituted and members of the volunteer force will wear identifying insignia.

The Chancellor said the forces will be composed of faculty, staff, administration and student volunteers. Details on the procedure for participation will be announced, possibly by Monday, according to MacVicar.

"The need for such a volunteer force has been clearly demonstrated by the events of the last 72 hours," he said. "At such time as the current forces return to their civilian duties, it will be necessary to replace them with individuals who will function to alert law enforcement officials of possible violations and to conduct an around-the-week fire watch during the hours of darkness."

MacVicar said "we're not going to exclude anybody who wants to volunteer," and added that this would include women volunteers.

Frank A. Bridges, SIU civil defense head, will coordinate the volunteer patrol, MacVicar said, and will be assisted by an all-University advisory committee chaired by Lyman Baker, an instructor in the Department of English.

The committee will have representatives from all segments of the University community, faculty, civil service and students, according to MacVicar.

Oliver Halderson, safety coordinator, will serve as principal staff assistant to Bridges. The volunteer force will be coordinated through the principal officers in the Chancellor's Office, Willis Malone, Wilbur Moulton and Gene Peebles.

Tearful recovery

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Employees in a Louisville branch bank were really in tears over the recovery of $7,800 taken in a holdup.

The robber dropped the money bag in flight from police and an unidentified man returned it to the bank. When officials opened the bag, they accidentally set off a tear gas bomb and had to call firemen to clear the fumes.

Nixon names professor

to advise on disorders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Facing mounting student dissent, President Nixon Friday appointed a special adviser—Chancellor G. Alexander Heard of Vanderbilt University—to keep him posted on the thinking of young people.

Nixon announced Heard's temporary assignment in a statement issued just 10 hours in advance of the President's first television-radio news conference since Jan. 31.

Campus unrest and the American military foray into Cambodia that touched it off were certain to dominate the question-and-answer session in the East Room of the White House.

"I recognize the profound concerns that are rending many of our campuses today," said Nixon's statement. "However, this is a time for communication rather than violence and above all for mutual understanding."

The chief executive said Heard, while remaining on the Vanderbilt payroll, will serve as his special adviser "for the next two critical months"—a time span coinciding with the limit Nixon has placed on U.S. military operations in Cambodia.

"I will look to Mr. Heard to help present to this administration the views and sentiments of the campuses around the country," said Nixon. He said he was acting "in order to keep fully and currently informed on the thinking of the academic community, and especially of the young."

Also on Friday, Arthur Klebanoff, a youthful member of the White House staff, resigned, presumably due to disenchantment over the administration's deteriorating relations with young people. Klebanoff had served as a principal assistant to Daniel P. Moynihan, counselor to the President.

Heard, chancellor of Vanderbilt since 1963, was among eight university heads who conferred with Nixon Thursday on campus violence and unrest. His advisory appointment grew out of that session.

Nixon said the seven other educators participating in Thursday's meeting would continue to confer with him regularly in the future. The group includes the heads of these universities: North Carolina, Wisconsin, California at Berkeley, Chicago, Minnesota, Harvard and Rochester.

The President told this group Friday they need not fear that future remarks by top administration officials would aggravate campus problems. The educators had specifically requested that Nixon tone down Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who had used strong language to characterize campus demonstrations.

While Ronald L. Ziegler, White House press secretary, acknowledged that Nixon had promised muted rhetoric on such subjects, he insisted the chief executive had given no specific orders to Agnew on that score.

It's Harry's 86th

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)

—The day was as quiet as the Trumans could keep it, but there was enough activity Friday to demonstrate to former President Harry S. Truman he's first in the esteem of his fellow townspeople.

Infirmities of age forced him to pass up the annual dinner held by old friends and associates in observance of his 86th birthday in nearby Kansas City, but flowers, cards and telegrams poured into the Truman home. A telephone call came from daughter Margaret Truman Daniel of New York.

Thirty employees of the Carbondale Water and Sewerage Department walked off their jobs shortly before midnight Thursday.

Administrative personnel of those departments were operating the water and sewer systems in the city Friday.

According to Charles Hines, attorney for union members of Plumbers and Pipefitters Local 160, the employees have not yet submitted their resignations.

Approximately 25 members of the teamsters union were honoring pickets located at City Hall, the water plant, the northeast sewage treatment plant and the construction site of the new sewage treatment plant.

Bill Schwegman, director of public works, said an injunction would be sought to order the employees back to work and to cease picketing so the teamsters can return.

Carbondale City Manager William Norman said late Friday afternoon that there will be no garbage collection until further notice.

It is possible for administrative personnel to carry the water and sewage operations for as long as necessary, explained Schwegman. However, a watermain break on Oak Street may cause about a block of customers to have their water shut off because personnel was not available to get it repaired.

The cause of the strike is a difference in wages between the union and what the city has offered.

The union wants a 40-cent per hour wage boost. The city has offered 25 cents an hour.

The union members had said they would submit their resignations midnight Thursday if the city did not meet their demands.

The present salary range is from $3.60 an hour for a utility maintenance man to $4.15 an hour for a chief plant operator.

Faculty council votes to support MacVicar

A resolution giving full support to SIU Chancellor Robert W. MacVicar in his decision to continue operation of the University was unanimously approved at a special meeting Friday of the Carbondale Faculty Sub-Council.

Four other resolutions were also approved in connection with recent campus events.

According to the SIU News Service the Council approved a resolution "deploring violence and incitement to violence that has resulted in personal injury and destruction of property which have occurred. We call on all members of the University community to join in support of the Chancellor in his attempt to maintain freedom and order."

The Council also approved

Ogilvie activates additional troops

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie activated 3,800 additional National Guard troops Friday as a precaution against campus violence.

A spokesman said a battalion of more than 500 men will be deployed to Dyché Stadium near the Northwestern University campus.

It was not immediately learned where the other troops would be sent.

The governor's action brought the number of Guardsmen activated since Wednesday to about 9,000.

two resolutions concerning promises made by MacVicar to students demands issued during a Wednesday afternoon incident at Wheeler Hall.

These were (1) referring the study of the ROTC on campus to the committee on admission and undergraduate requirements who will in turn recommend to the Council on May 12 the possible procedures and personnel policies to implement this study.

(2) Requested Howard Webb, chairman of the Council to consult with Chancellor MacVicar before the regular meeting of the Council Tuesday as to the make-up of the "blue-ribbon committee to study the Vietnamese Studies Center" so appropriate action may be taken.

In addition the Council approved a resolution requesting that proper judicial procedures and appeals be set up for students who have been involved in recent campus disorders.

Senior recital

A senior recital will be given at 8 p.m. June 1, in the Old Baptist Foundation Chapel.

The recital is being presented by James Guzzardo in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the Bachelor of Music degree.

Guzzardo will play the clarinet, accompanied by Andrea Saunders and assisted by violinists Joyce Pollard, Janice Young, Cynthia Butler and cellist Nick Butler.

S. Vietnamese repel enemy

SAIGON (AP)—North Vietnamese forces launched a series of attacks in the northern reaches of South Vietnam Friday but they suffered a stinging defeat in the biggest battle there. Enemy resistance slackened in Cambodia base areas after one brisk fight.

South Vietnamese infantrymen following up a U.S. B52 bombing raid clashed with a North Vietnamese force defending a base area south of the demilitarized zone. They reported 215 enemy killed in the combined attack.

Associated Press correspondent Willis Johnson reported from Quang Tri that the day-long battle began when the 54th Regiment moved into the Da Krong Valley, 17 miles south of the demilitarized zone, to assess the effect of the B52 strike.

The North Vietnamese troops stood and fought to defend the base camp but withdrew shortly before dusk. The government forces, supported by American fighter-bombers, reported counting 93 enemy killed by air strikes and 122 by the infantrymen. They also found a warehouse containing 1 1/2 tons of supplies.

In another battle, this one inside Cambodia, U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division soldiers suffered eight killed north of the Fishhook region. This was the largest number of Americans killed in a single operation in Cambodia. The U.S. Command said 24 North Vietnamese were killed.

The North Vietnamese, however, were on a rampage in the northern provinces of South Vietnam. Da Nang was shelled and ground attacks were launched against the provincial capitals of Tam Ky and Hoi An.

An American armored column from the 5th Mechanized Infantry Division that had been supporting government operations in the Da Krong Valley area was attacked as it was pulling out. More than a dozen American casualties were reported. The U.S. troops reported killing 11 North Vietnamese.

In the attack on Tam Ky, U.S. sources said enemy snipers ran through their own mortar and rocket barrage before dawn and reached the barbed wire perimeter but were driven back. Thirteen enemy bodies were found in the wire.

About an hour after dawn, rocket barrage hit the city, killing several children on their way to school, sources said. The shelling and ground attack killed 30 Vietnamese and wounded nearly 100, most of them civilians.

Seven militia outposts outside the city also were attacked.

A last minute student boycott, coupled with two days of campus violence and reports of hundreds of SIU students leaving town Wednesday and Thursday, left many classrooms near empty Friday. Several false fire alarms were turned in at campus buildings, including Lawson Hall, where this 8 a.m. class had low attendance. (Photo by Ken Garen)

Many injured in protests

The SIU Health Service treated 38 students Thursday night as a result of the Thursday disturbances. There were no serious injuries and most were treated for gas inhalation.

Doctor's Hospital reported treating 23 people Thursday night. Despite a crowded emergency room, there was no breakdown in service.

At the Matrix, the Synergy drug crisis center reported treating about 300 persons. Bill Strackany, an SIU graduate student, said he treated people with head abrasions, cut hands and for gas inhalation.

The SIU Security Force reported that half of its 60 men required some sort of medical attention.

Thomas Leffler, chief Security officer, said many of the injuries were serious. Many men were pelted with bricks or hit with items like iron pipes. One officer was hit with a two-by-four board and required five stitches in his head and had to spend the night in Doctor's Hospital, Leffler said.

The State Police reported that a dozen of their men were injured, none seriously.

Capt. Orval Booker of the National Guard reported that two guardsmen had to be treated at Doctor's Hospital. The extent of these injuries is not known.

Curfew arrests mar peace

for possession of weapons and aggravated battery, Hazel added that police are transporting prisoners to Williamson County Jail in Marion because the jail in Murphysboro is completely full.

Hazel summed up the situation saying things are "very calm."

Police reported they were not questioning persons going to and from the train station if the person was carrying luggage. Cab service was discontinued at 7:30 p.m.

The first arrests for curfew violations were made at approximately 7:35 p.m.

Reporters were driven in a National Guard personnel carrier and police vehicles to examine the city, but the truck did not go on campus.

By 9 p.m., Carbondale was deserted and resembled a ghost town with windows boarded up along downtown streets.

During the reporter's inspection tour, the truck paused at University Avenue and Main Street and instructed an attendant at an open gas station that he should close immediately as he was in violation of the curfew. No arrests were made.

During the same ride, the truck passed Stevenson Arms one of the gassed dormitories, and a guardsman flashed a peace sign at spectators gathered near windows. The students responded with good-natured heckling.

Knicks triumph

NEW YORK (AP) — Pain-racked Willis Reed gave New York the muscle and the inspiration and cat-quick Walt Frazier provided everything else as the Knicks swamped the once-again disappointed Los Angeles Lakers 113-99 Friday night and won their first National Basketball Association title after 24 frustrating years.

Salukis smother Arkansas; Langdon picks up 5th victory

By Mike Klein
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

The Salukis erupted for 12 runs in the first six innings Friday to defeat Arkansas State 12-2. Dick Langdon stretched his record to 5-1 and helped provide SIU with its 22nd win against five losses.

Les Stoots, Jim Dwyer and Bob Blakley, the top third of the SIU batting order, provided eight of the 14 SIU hits.

Stoots and Blakley each collected three hits while Dwyer had two. Stoots and Dwyer each had one of SIU's six doubles while Blakley had three singles.

The Salukis will close out their home season with today's doubleheader against the Arkansas State Indians. The twinbill was originally scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. but has been moved up to 10 a.m.

John Daigle and Bob Eldridge are the probable starting pitchers. Daigle has a 6-1 record and a 0.40 ERA. Eldridge is 2-1 and 2.72.

Langdon struck out five Friday to move his team-leading total to 55.

The Salukis got a break with two out in the first inning with two men on and a 2-0 lead.

Shortstop Gene Rinaldi lashed a long line drive down the left field line which Stan Williams misplayed in the strong crosswind. Dan Radison, who had doubled in the first two runs, and Ray Nygard scored on the play.

The Salukis scored three more runs after two were out in the fourth on doubles by Rinaldi and Dwyer and singles by Stoots and Blakley.

The Salukis picked up their final five runs in the sixth.

Following Dick Langdon's leadoff walk, Stoots doubled, Dwyer and Blakley singled, and Nygard sandwiched a double between two more singles by Mark Newman and Rinaldi.

Langdon had a strong two-hitter going when he was replaced by Dave Martin in the top of the eighth. Martin was making his first appearance of the season and picked up the save.

Dwyer now leads the Salukis in home runs (4), triples (3), doubles (12) and bases on balls (18).

Dorms gassed by police in Friday morning fracas

By Stephanie Brown and Bob Patton
Daily Egyptian Staff Writers

Early morning gassing incidents were reported at several on and off campus dormitories Friday, including Allen and Schneider in University Park and Stevenson Arms and the Pyramids.

Reports said the upper floors of University Park were obscured by heavy clouds of gas. Several students were reported overcome by the tear gas.

Approximately 75 police and students were treated at Carbondale health facilities for the effects of tear gas. Some 300 students were reported to have been treated by volunteer medics working at the Synergy drug crisis center in the Matrix.

Suprised and angry residents of the Pyramids dormitory were forced into the streets early Friday morning as a result of tear gas bombings.

"A" building of The Pyramids complex was evacuated at around 2:30 a.m. Friday as three tear gas bombs fired by Carbondale police broke windows on the second and third floors and began seeping into rooms and hallways.

John Arabatgis, resident fellow, said a crowd of no more than 50 residents and non-residents of the Pyramids had gathered on the lawn and the dining commons when a Carbondale police car began patrolling the area, announcing that a curfew was in force.

After repeating curfew announcements, police announced that residents should enter the dormitory or else they would use any method to disperse the crowd, according to Arabatgis.

Arabatgis said he walked across the street to tell the police that the crowd was under control, but "out of the corner of my eye I saw tear gas bombs being fired at the crowd."

As the gas began to fill the building, residents were forced outside by the fumes. Half the deck of the Pyramids swimming pool was filled with people trying to wash the gas from their faces, according to Arabatgis.

Arabatgis managed to call the Health Service and the Carbondale police for assistance in getting people out of the building. The police cars had already left the area.

Health service aides and Carbondale policemen who entered the building were eventually overcome by the gas, even though they were wearing gas masks, according to Arabatgis.

"The four policeman who answered our call for aid were really cooperative," said the resident fellow. "They were a good bunch of guys."

Many of the residents of Stevenson Arms Dormitory were forced out of the building early Friday morning after state police discharged a tear gas canister through a second floor window.

According to W. B. Giles, director of Stevenson Arms, a crowd which had congregated along West Mill Street was dispersed in all directions after tear gas was thrown into the crowd. Those from the dorm went inside and some other non-residents were seen going inside to take refuge from the gas, Giles said.

Giles said he ordered the doors shut and was helping administer first aid when state police drove up outside the building and approached the front doorway of the building. He said he approached the police at the door and told them that things were under control and those under his jurisdiction were not doing anything or provoking anyone.

Giles said the police ordered him back into the building and another tear gas canister was thrown up to the front door. Gas from the bomb filtered into the lobby. He said state police then threw another tear gas bomb through a second floor window into the hallway.

"There was no provocation whatsoever from anyone because I was there," Giles said.

Giles said residents on the floor began running into rooms and opening windows to try to get some air. "It was bedlam," Giles said. "No one could get through the halls."

Giles said he went back downstairs after recovering and asked the state police to help get some gas masks to rescue kids from the rooms. Giles said the police ignored him and told him, "they had things to do other than to rescue the kids in there."

Health service ambulances were called to administer first aid and gas masks to those who were overcome by the gas.

Some students attempted to get outside for air, but were deterred by police who said a curfew was in effect.

"It was asinine and ridiculous," Giles said. "The situation was absolutely uncalled for."

Giles added the state police later agreed that it had been uncalled for and said they were sorry.

Scherschel: observe curfew

Tom Scherschel, student body president-elect, issued a statement early Friday evening deploring violent demonstrations and urging that students observe the curfews declared for Carbondale and the campus so the University can remain open.

The statement, which was cosigned by nine other students, including study body vice president-elect John McCaffrey, upheld the right to demonstrate peacefully, but said, "That privilege to demonstrate ends when you violate the rights or property of others."

Scherschel called on students to volunteer to serve as a fire guard for University buildings after the National Guard has left the campus. He urged interested students to call 3-2888 or 3-5226 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Saturday, Monday or Tuesday.

"The use of violence to protest violence is total defeat of the initial purpose," the statement said. "The handful of individuals who engage in the actual violence and breakage are a very small percentage of those who demonstrate."

"However, by your presence at a violent demonstration you are condoning the actions of the violent elements of the crowd," it continued.

The statement said some administrators have advised closing the University for the rest of the academic year. It concluded with a request that students observe curfews "for the continuance of your own education, and for your own protection."

Friday noon rally quiet and peaceful

By Rich Davis and Steve Brown
Daily Egyptian Staff Writers

Small groups of students gathered for the third consecutive day at a noon rally in front of Morris Library Friday in a rap session characterized as quiet and peaceful.

Organized discussion began in two major groups about noon.

One group of about 75 to 100 students and faculty members located on the west side of the pond by the library, discussed non-violent demonstration tactics and economic boycotts.

Some members of the other main group advocated violence as a means of showing opposition to the war. SIU Security Police estimated that between 300 to 400 persons had attended the rally by 2:15, when it dispersed.

Shortly before noon, fliers were passed among the crowd.

The fliers stated that "students, faculty, and people from the Carbondale community were gassed Thursday night for no other reason than protesting the war and SIU's complicity with it."

They continued that Thursday night's demonstration was "peaceable," and was "a basic right of freedom of assembly and speech."

"The majority of students here have expressed by their responsible mass actions that SIU must stop its complicity with the war now," the fliers read. "To end this, we demand that:

1. Troops be withdrawn from the SIU campus.
2. The bureaucratic victimization and repression of people be stopped by releasing unconditionally all people arrested and jailed in connection with protest against SIU's complicity with the war.
3. University buses be provided for all people who wish to go to Washington to protest the war.
4. The curfew which has been imposed be repudiated now."

Petitions against the Vietnam war and U.S. involvement in Cambodia were also passed among the crowd.

One female moved through the crowd with a loudspeaker and urged those present to break up into smaller groups. Students were told that police had been ordered to disperse groups over 100.

Three SIU Security policemen approached the crowd from the Lawson Hall vicinity about 12:45 p.m. The crowd heckled the police who then turned around and walked back in the direction they came from.

At one point during the rally, one female urged members of the crowd to go over to the Life Science Building and Lawson Hall to help out students "who really want out of class."

A group of persons walked over to the Lawson Hall area, but returned to their discussion groups within 15 minutes.

About 1 p.m., the small groups began to combine, as several speakers emerged.

Bill Moffett, a member of the Student Mobilization Committee, told students they had a right to assemble peacefully. He also warned them of the effects of tear gas.

The crowd was told to contact Lyman Baker, an instructor in the Department of English, if arrested.

It was then reported that police were converging near Woody Hall, but the crowd was urged to remain peaceful and "sit."

One student suggested that the crowd march from the library area to the corner of Main Street and University Avenue, but the suggestion did not materialize.

The north entrance to Morris Library was locked by SIU Security Police at about 1:30, while the rally was in process.

It had been suggested during Thursday evening's rally that students go into the library and check out as many books as possible and return them Friday.

Robert Kuel, circulation librarian, reported no damage to the interior of the building or its contents Thursday.
