Incidence of marijuana use high at SIU, according to DE survey

Editor's note: The following survey was conducted by the administrative functions of the Division of Student Affairs and the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs. It was designed and conducted with the assistance of a statistician and a social science research expert to provide an accurate representation of the student body.

More than 64 percent of SIU students have tried marijuana and almost 41 percent have tried hashish. The survey was conducted last month, according to a recent random survey of all SIU students. The survey was conducted by a social scientist in the Division of Student Affairs and the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs. It was designed and conducted with the assistance of a statistician and a social science research expert to provide an accurate representation of the student body. Some of the percentages do not add up to a total of 100 percent because responses were not given to some specific questions.

Viet students worried about relatives

By Wes Smith
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

While most SIU students are currently concerned with surviving through finals, one student is heading home for a summer with his family, one section of the student population is afraid they may never see their family members again.

The communist takeover in Vietnam cut all contact between 30 SIU Vietnam students and their families, leaving them emotionally and financially.

"At first you worry that your family will be in danger, but eventually you come to the point where you realize that if they were going to kill them they would probably have a lot more problems than they have now," said Nguyen Hai Thanh, a business major from Saigon.

Thanh spent five years in North Vietnam after the fall of Saigon, and is visiting his family for two weeks. His father is a retired soldier who received some training in the United States. His mother worked in the U.S. for several years. He has a sister studying woodworking in the U.S. and a brother, "but I don't know where he is," Thanh said.

According to another Vietnamese student, who asked to remain anonymous for background like Thanh's might be in for rough treatment.

The communists will probably depose the people in the future according to Saigon, said Nguyen Van Dinh-Hoe, an sabbatical professor in political science, is Overseas operations office of the rector, Nguyen Dinh-Hoe, is on sabbatical in London.

"We have been suggested that the center will die out when our grant from the U.S. government's Aid for Education (AID) runs out, but this isn't true," Turley said Tuesday.

"We are continuing to spend the things which we are working on our operating, and the activities which the department is working on," Turley said.

"The center has always been concerned about the duties of the center on campus. He stressed that the center offers "purely an academic function" in reaching Vietnamese history and culture.

He explained that in the past the center published information and newsletters, that these activities have continued and that when funds were run out. "The future is hard to predict," Turley said, "we may just be a mailing address for interested people." The Center for Vietnamese Studies was initially funded by almost $1.5 million from the U.S., an agency of the State Department, in 1969.

"We are still working," Turley said. "The bill is a large amount of money per year."

The center is in charge of reaching Vietnamese studies and programs related to the economic and social development of Vietnam and its post-war reconstruction.

Marijuana reform bill killed in Illinois House

By Bruce Hackel
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A bill to decriminalize possession of small quantities of marijuana was killed in the Illinois Senate Monday, according to its first sponsor.

"It is a legal and parliametary tactic," said Paul Kuhn, midwest coordinator for the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws (NORML) said Thursday.

House bill 1681, which removes jail penalties for possession of up to 30 grams (approximately one ounce) legal of marijuana, was accepted to the floor Wednesday by a vote of 44 to 4, only to be rendered ineffective later by an amendment removing the enacting clause of the bill.

Marijuana reform bill killed in Illinois House

Kuhn said the enacting clause, which specifies that penalties shall be levied for violation of a law, is required by the constitution to be present in any bill. He said that the bill had been called for the amendment striking the enacting clause from the bill that had been approved on the floor. The amendment passed by a vote of 81 to 62.

Kuhn said that opponents overrode the decriminalization bill, which replaces the arrest procedure with a citation system similar to a traffic ticket.

He said since more than two-thirds of marijuana arrests in Illinois are for possession of less than 30 grams, the bill would have kept over 15,000 other wise law-abiding citizens out of the criminal justice system for the collection of possessing small amounts of marijuana.

Buzz Talbot, regional coordinator for NORML, said the bill would have had "the better chances of passage" if NORML and the Illinois Bar Association had been informed that the bill was going to be introduced Wednesday.

Then said another bill similar to the one defeated Wednesday will be introduced to the House against next year.

Dental, med school tuition hikes voted down

By Lena Sobota

EDWARDSVILLE—The SIU Board of Trustees voted 6-1 Thursday against tuition hikes. It is the first time SIU Schools of Dentistry and Medicine.

The board had been considering a grant-in-aid program, and the tuition hike to bring it in line with the University of Illinois.

Rathy Jones, Graduate Student Council president, told the board that the increased need for money may force students to consider dropping out of school.

Jones added that the comparison of the SIU Medical School to the UI is not justified because SIU uses only its own faculty.

School of Library space and business offices. Architectural and engineering fees of $3,000 were approved for the project. A $300,585 contract was awarded by the board for the installation of the new Academic Center.

The project to replace the water piping was approved by the Board June 13. The Illinois Board of Higher Education also has approved the project.

The pipe replacement will be phased over a three-year period because fund raising of the project is dependent upon federal grants in the Repair and Replacement Reserve account of the Dormitory Revenue Fund of 1963.

Leaks in water storage tanks have occurred frequently in the 12-year-old building because the current water piping has limed up and corroded according to a report submitted to the board.

The first phase will replace piping most in direct danger to sanitation and health.

The board also passed a general statement in support of "open legislative legislation" to allow collective bargaining by employees of public educational institutions.

Board Chairman Ivan Elliott stressed that the legislation did not mean action would be taken at either SIU campus regarding collective bargaining.

Eight separate bills have been introduced in the General Assembly regarding public employee collective bargaining. Eight of these set up a labor relations scheme for all public employees.

Give and take

Ah spring! Love is in the air.

Everywhere except Des Moines, Iowa that is, where they've dragged it into a courtroom.

It's rumored that the owner of Des Moines, is suing his former lover in Polk County District Court to the tune of $13,474, representing the amount of money he says was spent on her during their three years of courtship.

Most of us would be spending the following on Wanda Anderson, his former fiance:

- $1.028 for a dinner ring, watch and earrings.
- $800 on clothing, hairdresser and chiropractor expenses.
- $200 in car tires and $95 on a car stereo.
- Nearly $11,000 on help with rent, groceries, and clothing.

"She had no intention whatsoever" of marrying him, he says, and said she would only entice him to give her "money, personal property and other gifts." McCoy says he is "darn serious" about his $13,474 law suit and he may well be. But imagine the possible ramifications of the precedent set by the case should it be won by McCoy.

"The ladies may be asked to sign receipts at the conclusion of each date, fully listing the expenses of the evening."

A signed affidavit may be collected by the male at the outset of each date, explaining the nature of the relationship between the two parties so that no misunderstanding would take place to affect spending for the evening.

"Women may have to record money spent on them on dates as "extra income" when they file their income tax returns."

"Like malpractice insurance, a big policy sells well and provides coverage. Without it, pending lawsuit should an affair be terminated prematurely."

Anyway, should this matter get totally out of hand, there would be one sure way to remedy the situation—legalize prostitution. That way, should a woman ever get sued for date expenses, she could argue that something of "real value" was given in return.

Look and see

"I can't wait until it's really hot out," a male college student said to his friend near Des Moines.

"Neither can I. Just think, all I'm gonna do is bask in the sun and drink glasses of beer," a freckled friend as he stuffed an ice cream sandwich into his mouth.

"Hey, that's not why I'm looking forward to summer," stated the first college student. And looking up from his lunchbox special he added, "That's why."

The friend turned his head around to see what had caught the other fellow's attention. Walking through the Student Center, two abreast, were the tiniest balloon tops he had ever seen. Unable to utter a word, he turned to his friend and said, "They've dragged it in a courtroom.

"What do you think is the best part about summer, besides no school?"

"The girls. Look over there and you'll see exactly what I mean," the friend answered.

The first girl sat up to see what her friend was talking about. Playing frisbee across the street were two of the best built men wearing cut-offs she had ever seen.

The Club is not just a bar

To The Daily Egyptian:

Recently there has been much controversy over whether or not The Club should continue to operate throughout the year we have been working diligently to gain recognition of the University. Without the support and cooperation of the community and university, such a club could have never taken place. Continually one of the interests working against students instead of with them.

"The time we opened Special Olympics and as patrons of The Club would like to sincerely express our thanks to Dennis Immen, President of the Club, for his aid and generous support. Without the continual efforts and support of such citizens as Immen, who took a personal interest in developing programs such as Special Olympics, a club such as The Club would not have been able to be such a success."

Can this University expect any of its faculty to develop innovative programs when it encourages one of its most dedicated and hard working professors to develop one of his dreams of excellence for SIU into a creative and extremely successful program only to have someone else appointed as director of his "baby."

Such is the case of the SIU's Educational Program for the Military, originated, developed and put into operation by Dr. Jess Novick.

Just who is Kenneth Ripple, the recently appointed director of Dr. Novick's creation? Is it in any way his credentials for this directorship superior to Dr. Novick's? In fact, Dr. Novick continues to administer the program as he has been doing since its inception. Why is he considered competent enough to be "acting director" but not qualified to get the official title? It is time for an end to this type of bureaucratic injustice.

1. To all the American refugees, I want to say welcome to America. Let us encourage them to assimilate into our society and work hard to be successful. By doing this, we can help them achieve their dreams and help create a better future for all Americans.

2. We should also support programs that provide support and resources for refugees as they navigate life in a new country. Let us make sure they have access to education, employment opportunities, and other essential services.

3. Finally, let us remember that our history is one of immigration and that we should welcome refugees with open arms. The Board of Trustees staff spends more than twice as much per FTE student as similar staff at other state university systems. This year, the board will spend $26.85 for full-time-equivalent student (FTE), a comparison used by the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE).

This compares with an FTE expenditure of $12.77 for the Governors and Regents central offices and $14.35 for the Board of Regents' central office. FTE is determined by dividing the number of part-time credit hours taught by the number of hours a university considers full-time (12), and adding that figure to the number of full-time students taught.

The SIU—The Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses, including the Medical School at Springfield—has 7,450 FTE students. The Governors system's five universities have 36,308 FTE students. The Board of Regents' system has three schools, which have 17,827 FTE students.

Where do the money go and why is the SIU staff office seemingly so much more affluent?

Board treasurer Robert D. Isbelle discounts the FTE comparisons. Although the various board offices serve in an advisory capacity to their respective boards, the three boards do not have exactly the same functions, Isbell said.

But, according to James Alsea of the IBHE staff, comparing FTE figures "is probably better than most methods."

The University of Illinois central office has over 500 employees. Isbell said, compared to the 14 or 15 employees the SIU staff office has.

The Governors and Regents system offices do not have their own attorney to review board actions, Isbell said. Instead, they hire an outside attorney when the need arises.

SIU's staff office has eight outside attorneys, however. Richard Gruny, the board attorney, is not a trial lawyer, Isbell said. Hired attorneys cost the University of Illinois about $30,000 a year. In a larger university system, such a figure could easily exceed $100,000 a year, according to March 31 figures.

Governors and Regents central offices are located in Springfield.

SIU's air transportation costs for staff personnel and mailing costs for bulky documents ran about $460,400.

Budget breakdown

The SIU staff office budget is $726,913 more than the Governors' budget, $308,313 higher than the Regents' budget. It is a low-dollar gap between the three systems in the personnel salaries (salaried) area. The Governors and Regents central offices both have 15 employees. SIU, however, has eight additional positions on staff that are generally unfilled. The unfilled positions account for $129,940 of a total personnel services budget of $476,313. Personnel services for the Regents' office is allotted $98,200 and the Governors' office is budgeted $291,000.

Eliminating the unfilled positions, however, would reduce the total SIU staff office budget to $291,000. The staff office is currently reviewing the positions to see if they should be eliminated, he said.

Another area where SIU staff office funding exceeds Governors' and Regents' staff offices is with central office functions with $440,400. The SIU staff office has a budget of $737,313.

The SIU staff office operates a business office and does payroll functions. The SIU general central office functions with $440,400 and the SIU staff office has a budget of $737,313.

When not working for the Board Staff, Pulley is with the Department of Design. James Brown, governor's secretary, Griffin's function is similar to that of an executive secretary in a business firm. She sets up board meetings and puts together a package of documents. She also must maintain contact with board members. Her salary is $17,880 per year.

Charles D. Butler, administrative aid. His job is to help Griffin set up board meetings. He also compiles the Board Staff development calendar, which gives an outside firm special assignments given to him by Brown. "For instance, I might now have responsibility to develop the master schedule for the board so we can have a better idea of when the board will be doing certain regular functions," Brown said. Butler's salary is $13,140 per year.

Howard Webb, academic program officer. Webb is responsible to keep track of the academic programs and their relationship to the system. He makes recommendations on how the programs fit into the system. His salary is $21,000 per year.

James Brown, governor's secretary, has a $17,880 salary. Brown, who receives $45,000 per year and is furnished with a house, has first line access over positions on the Board Staff. Every person presently on the staff was recommended by Brown, he said.

Although several positions now are open, Brown said most probably will not be filled because the Board Staff is trying to cut back.

If all the money allocated for salaries is not spent this year, it can be transferred within the staff to other positions, or it can be transferred to contract positions at the campuses. "Last year, we gave the Carbondale campus $13,000 which we had budgeted to us but did not spend," Brown said.

Although opponents of the systems approach to governance claim that Board Staff unnecessarily duplicates many functions performed by the campus administrative staffs, Brown defends Office as necessary to keep the system running efficiently.

"Under the lay board theory, we need some kind of middlemen. For instance, with a lay board, someone must resolve the differences which come up between the campuses and the board. The lay board members have other jobs. They simply do not have the time to study each situation. That's what we're here for," Brown said.

Butler, at the same time, Brown would have in relation to the presidents of the two campuses, the major question raised under the present system.

Boyd K. Kenan, University of Illinois political science professor, who in 1974 published a documentary, History of Illinois Higher Education, said the elimination of the Board Staff is "a path strewn with unprecedented conflict."

Student waits for news from family in Vietnam

Craig Wilson, a 27-year-old SIU graduate student, is still waiting for some news from his family in Vietnam.

Four years ago, when Wilson first met his wife and two sons where he was stationed in the Army, Wilson had no idea how complex a situation he was getting into.

When Wilson recently inquired about returning to Vietnam, the International Social Service advised against doing so. Now the trip would be impossible.

Wilson has cashed in the tickets which were to be used to reunite his family. "I'm not anticipating her coming from the high priority list, she should have come with the first group out," he said.

Wilson had little comment on what plans he had for himself. "I'll think more about that when I find out whether or not she is coming for sure," he said.

Deadline to defer fees today for summer term students

Gary Mars
Daily Egyptian Writer

Friday is the last day this semester for pre-registered full time students to defer payment of summer tuition and fees beyond the June 14 deadline. Will Travelstead, assistant dean of student life, said, "Verification that money will be available at the deferred fee period's beginning, July 2, must be submitted to the Student Life Office before the 14th."

Travelstead said, recently outlining the new deferment process, students have to verify that they will be able to pay fees before the deadline. He said, "this will prevent the need for students to receive financial aid in order to pay fees." He said, "Virginia travelers said that the verification letter became necessary to cut down the number of deferrals and to make sure those who really need deferrals are available to get them." He said, 1,230 students deferred.

SIU artist depicts Bible parables

By Tim Mascia
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Spiritual principles are illustrated in the Bible by common natural objects. In his parables, Christ likened faith to a mustard seed and heaven to a pearl of great price.

William Karnolt, graduate student in sculpture, has created three-dimensional parables of Bible lessons for his Master Fine Arts Thesis exhibition, "The Wedding Feast." A show opened Monday evening in the Agriculture Building Arena. The final show will be Friday from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Karnolt said he became a Christian two years ago. "Since then, I have been doing art for myself, but for the glory of Christ," he said.

His style of sculpture is assemblage art in which everyday objects are created and assembled into new forms.

For "The Wedding Feast," Karnolt sculpted a mountain, an umbrella, a barrel of apple, several lengths of garden hose and an umbrella.

"The apples represent temptation, the hose is 'living water' and the umbrella is God's spiritual protection," Karnolt said.

The story of Moses leading the Children of Israel out of Egypt is also shown in sculpture. Karnolt wired together a cow skeleton to symbolize the plague God sent upon the Egyptians.

The scripture from the gospel of John 14:6, "I am the Way, the truth, and the life; no one comes to the Father, but through Me," is represented by a garden ladder.

At the Student Work and Financial Assistance Office, the International Education Office and the Graduate School, students who will receive funds from an off-campus source must be able to prove that money will be available by July 25.

Special considerations will be given to students with "extenuating circumstances," Travelstead said. "Difficulties can be worked out with a staff person at the Student Life Office."

The deferment process for fall semester will run from July 21 through Aug. 1 for pre-registered students, he said. Deferrals will be available Aug. 15 through Sept. 6 for late registering students.

Registration will be cancelled if fees are not paid by Aug. 22. The last day to withdraw and receive a refund is Sept. 12.

The Department of English will offer a six-week institute in American ethnic literature from June 8 to 27, taught by institute director Jewell A. Friend.

The course equivalent to three hours of English and Social Studies teachers of English and American Literature, the course will be held on weekdays from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

The course is open to high school and community college instructors who are interested in the opportunity to extend their knowledge of American, and Hispanic-American ethnic groups of this country.

Also, the institute will attempt to encourage interdisciplinary study of the arts—music, literature, and visual media. The course will be open to educators from all levels and all disciplines who are involved in the teaching of American, and Hispanic-American ethnic groups of this country.

The course will consist of three-week instruction units, each dealing with one of the three ethnic groups. Experts from various fields, including anthropology, sociology, history, and literature will lead the instruction.

Travelers said they anticipated the institute in $25, with applications being accepted by June 17. The deadline for enrollment is June 30. The fee is $150, limited to 25 persons.

More information on the institute may be obtained through the Department of English.

The ladder has two sides representing the wrong and the right way into heaven, Karnolt said.

Other Bible stories told through sculpture are the Tower of Babel, Fall of Jericho, the Lamb and the Asserine.

Karnolt said he received inspiration for the sculpture through prayer.

Rangers agree duties of job extend into law enforcement

By Randy Graff

Student Writers

It takes a person who is a "jack-of-all-trades and a master of nothing" to balance ecology and enforcement of law and order in a large area like the Shawnee National Forest. According to Carl Williams, rangers aide at Giant City State Park, the duties of rangers are many.

The state park=rangers are the closest law enforcement in a large area. Since they are responsible for everything from routine law offenses to enforcing the rules of the park, their duties are usually more than they expect.

"I'm not really sure if the duties of rangers are really wanted or needed," Williams said. "They are usually working on things that are not even related to law enforcement."

Williams said that he had to arrest a person who had been caught违反ing the rules of the park. "I had to hand a ticket to a man for parking his car in a no parking area," Williams said. "He had to pay a fine and be released."
Rangers agree duties of job extend into law enforcement

By Randy Graff and Trudy Thackery Student Writers

It takes a person who is a "jack-of-all-trades and a master of nothing" to balance ecology and enjoyment in natural areas, according to Carl Williams, ranger aide at Giant City State Park.

In a recent interview, Williams said the duties of people at state parks and national forests fall into two categories: law and order and protection of an area so it is suitable for people and wildlife.

Giant City Park ranger Robert Kristoff said that conservation personnel have increasing responsibility in enforcement of law and recreational rules. There is a trend, he said, to make conservationists an arm of law enforcement.

"I'm not really for it but when something happens, someone has to take action," he said. "The people here at Giant City State Park, according to Kristoff, have to stop them. They have to stop the man who is raping the forest's trees.

"I don't think they should have to," he said. "But when something happens, someone has to take action." He said the duties of a conservationist are wide-ranging and include everything from law enforcement to ecological protection.

"It's not unusual for college students to gather in one spot at large numbers. We can have as many as 500 cars in one area and perhaps 150 people from those cars. This creates a traffic problem for people trying to get to other locations within the park. Plans are in the making to alleviate this problem, according to Kristoff. Sites are being considered to create a natural amphitheatre to attract students to a certain area.

"When students come they usually want to hear music," he said. "Right now there are no electrical outlets to plug in musical equipment. If the amphitheatre is approved, electricity will be provided by the park to encourage student usage, thereby opening up other areas of the park to people of different interests."

Crowds also present conservation problems, Kristoff said. "We have to keep in mind the type of soil we have. When an area becomes overused, the clay and dries out quickly without protective covering. Then wind and water erosion sets in and ruins the area."

"In my opinion," Kristoff said, "we've got to be careful not to get too involved in advertising Giant City State Park. We've got to consider the question. How many people can come to this park and do their thing?"

Kristoff said approximately 1 million people visited Giant City State Park last year. It is important to please all these taxpayers, he said, but not at the expense of the natural beauty that attracts them.

A new look in diplomas

Illustrated here is the current diploma design. This design has evolved over a period of years with minor changes being made to keep pace with the growth and development of the University.

Alternate A:

and herewith this Diploma as evidence thereof
June 8, 1975
President
Dean
Vice President of Board

Alternate B:
Recent expressions from some members of the student body has indicated a preference for a new design for the diplomas awarded graduating students. In partial response to the request that a new design be approved, the administration feels that the entire student constituency should have the opportunity to express their opinions. Allowing for differences of opinion, there might even be a provision made for graduating students to have options from which to choose rather than everyone receiving diplomas of the same design. Illustrated on these pages are several alternatives including a range of sizes as well as use of traditional typography and one option presented in Latin. All of the alternatives illustrated are shown at 40% of their original size.

The original designs will be on display Monday, May 12 in Gallery 51 in the Student Center. Gallery 51 is located across the hall from the University Book Store.

Students who are interested in expressing an opinion on the matter should address their comments to Mr. Tom Busch in the office of the Vice President for Student Affairs. For convenience, they should use the coupon below.

Alternate C:
A radical departure from the current diploma in terms of size and typography, this alternative offers the traditional Latin wording in a contemporary format. Also, in this variation, the official University seal is suggested as an embossed device in red in an attempt to incorporate the official school colors. (Size 12x14)

Alternative D:
This approach is also a departure from the current design in arrangement of the elements as well as the typeface used throughout. Century Schoolbook is used for the typeface of the recipient to focus attention on the individual who has requirements for awarding the degree. (Size, 10x12)

Films

"Antonia: A Portrait of the Woman"—Nec-and-Can Iisted, Tue., 8, 8 p.m. Monday; Highly praised film detailing the accomplishments and setbacks of Antonia Bricon, former conductor of the Berlin Philharmonic. Directed by singer Judy Collins and filmmaker Jill Godvillows. Admission is $1.49.

"The Great Waldo Pepper"—Variety II; For two hours Robert Redford struggles to win audience sympathy and affection for an ex-World War II fighter pilot who loses his right to fly. The film starts stuttering after 40 minutes, however, and ends up doing a sloppy none.

"Harry and Tonto"—University 4, No. 5. The kind of movie that makes you feel good about life and people without the tears and slobber. Director Paul Mazursky's story about an old man and his cat. The film contains a lot of good humor and fine performances by Art Carney and Ellen Burstyn.

"The Mad Adventures of Rabbi Jacob"—University 4, No. 1; A French farce which is reputedly doing very well in Europe. It's about a cowardly, anti-Semitic businessman who is forced to seek refuge from Arab terrorists by personating an American rabbi who is visiting Paris and with a relative's bar mitzvah. Supposedly contains 1,000 cuss words.

"Memories Within Miss Aggie"—Fox Eastgate; Friday and Saturday early show; More porn from the director of "The Devil and Miss Jones" and "Deep Throat."

"Scenes From a Marriage"—Variety 1; Ingmar Bergman's intense three-hour study of the breakup of an upper-middle-class marriage. Originally taken from a six-week series Bergman did for Swedish television. The film lacks visual style, but should be seen for its detailed analysis of a complicated, harrowing relationship.

"Shampoo"—Fox Eastgate; Weekend feature, weekly (with "Canaima" writer Robert Towne) and stars in this socio-tragi-comedy about a very heterosexual Beverly Hills hairdresser who loses his right to fly. The film starts stuttering after 40 minutes, however, and ends up doing a sloppy none.

"What's Up Doc"—Saluki Cinema; Peter Bogdanovich's hilarious screwball comedy which pays tribute to almost every comic device ever used in film.

"Women In Love"—Variety; Friday, Saturday and Sunday late show: D.W. Lawrence's novel is given a blinding and powerful treatment by director Ken Russell. This film contains the kind of scenes and performances you remember in detail years later. Stars Glenda Jackson, Oliver Reed, Alan Bates and Jennie Linden.

Tenants Union seeks volunteers

The Student Tenant Union needs people with talent in design, graphics and writing to aid in the production of a new Student Tenant Union Handbook.

"Our first handbook was published last year and I was quite pleased with it but a few things have changed which necessitate a new handbook," said Gretchen Meyers, head of SUTU.

"Printing a handbook is quite expensive so I would like to see some qualified people with talent in production help us out so we can come up with a good looking piece of material that can be used for a few years," Meyers said.
New office of handicapped seeks more jobs for disabled

The Southern Illinois Office of the Handicapped will soon launch an area-wide information program aimed at employers who have not been aware of the capabilities of the handicapped.

The office opened Monday at 212 S. Illinois Ave. and is under the direction of SIU wheelchair student, Harry Jakobson.

Jakobson, a senior majoring in radio-television, described the office as a "volunteer, privately funded agency whose purpose is to educate the general public to the fact that handicapped persons can be a viable force in the community."

Jakobson said funding to open the office was a $4,000 donation "from a Chicago area woman who wishes to remain anonymous."

"We will soon have use of a motor van and we plan to tour the 20 southernmost counties to talk with employers. Find out why they have not been hiring the handicapped and encourage them to do so in the future," he said.

Senior honored

R. Sam Turner, a senior from Pittsfield, Ill., received the Sigma Phi Sigma award for outstanding contributions to the School of Technical Careers (STC) masonry science and funeral service program. The award was presented at the STC spring banquet.

Proposal submitted to settle coal truck use of county road

By Pat Clockman
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Plans calling for a controversial use of Giant City Blacktop by overweight coal trucks have been offered to Williamson County officials and coal company representatives by the Jackson County Board's Road and Bridge Committee.

Meeting in special session Wednesday night, the board of supervisors' committee sought additional information about coal trucks using the county road, south from Carbondale. Since the coal is mined in Williamson County and sold over Jackson County state highways, the county must accept the use of its roads.

A proposal offered to the William-son County officials included the use of Jackson County roads until July 1, 1970, during this time, William-son County is to repair roads and bridges used to carry the 4-ton coal trucks traveling to the Lake of Egypt generating plant.

Under this proposal, Wolfe said, Jackson County will charge the trucks $2.50 per ton of coal hauled. The money will be used to repair the county's roads. Bill Mon-sen, Jackson County highway superintendent, said the blacktop will need two additional inches of topping to withstand the continued use by the coal trucks.

Jackson County's main objection to the coal trucks was that it collected no sales tax or other revenue from the coal transported through the county.

SGAC names cinema major to presidency

Keith Vyse, a junior from Urbana, has been named chairman of the Student Government Activities Council (SGAC) for 1975-76.

Vyse, 20, majoring in film production in the Cinema and Photography Department, will take office at the beginning of the summer semester. He has been chairman of the SGAC Video committee for two years.

In the next school year, Vyse said, he hopes the council will provide more creative and progressive activities especially in the areas of art, culture and education.

"It seems like the SGAC has been doing the same things for the last few years. I would like to turn the students on to new things to do," Vyse said.

The two committees of the SGAC will stay relatively the same next year, Vyse said. The effectiveness of some of the old activities will be examined by studying how much they cost and how many students they attract, Vyse said.

Bringing outside entertainment can be an expensive and ineffective activity, Vyse said. He said he hopes the SGAC will plan activities which use the resources of the university and the community.

A multi-media show and screening of student made films are examples of activitiesVyse would like to plan. He also hopes the SGAC can work with local industries in planning some concerts in the Arena.

The fee is $3 for five runs. All women will be admitted free.

Mount Vernon police to seek
SIU recruits

Two representatives from the Mount Vernon Police Department will be on campus to explain employment opportunities at 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. Friday in the Mississippi Room at the Student Center.

Odie Farris and David Flota will hold the sessions to recruit graduates to participate in the civil service exam given in June to qualify for the positions.

Employers are hired for a one-year probationary period at a salary of approximately $8,400. At the end of the probationary period, there is a pay increase.

The Mount Vernon Police Department is an equal opportunity employer. Graduates with an Administration of Justice major are being sought.

Students interested in learning how to qualify for the positions can register with the Career Planning and Placement Center on the third floor of Woody Hall, room A-302.

Department head sets resignation

Richard T. Arnold will resign as chairman of the Chemistry and Biochemistry Department at the end of the 1975 summer term. Arnold has been chairman of the department since 1966.

Arnold will be a visiting professor at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., during the fall semester. His work at Northwestern will include research into reaction mechanisms involving organic compounds.

Arnold will return to SIU in January as a professor of chemistry and biochemistry.

May 17 is the deadline for students to apply for a summer 1975 tuition award in the School of Engineering and Technology. Deadline for the 1975-76 academic year is May 31.

Applications should be turned in to the Student Work and Financial Assistance Office. To be considered for an award, an ACT Financial Statement must be on file for the student and he must be enrolled for at least six semester hours for the summer.

Storage will be available in Grinnell Hall over break for persons going to summer school and holding a contract for Mae Smith, said Stephanie Stutzman, resident advisor in Mae Smith.

At this time, there are no official guidelines set for the storage procedure. Stutzman said the details are being worked out now by the area office and will be included in the check-out information that will be distributed early next week.

The Young Workers Liberation League and the Latin American Student Association will co-sponsor a picnic and party Saturday, May 10 at Giant City shelter number 1 at noon. Admission is free. Beer and food will be available. The public is invited to attend—for more information call Maury Richards 463-3215.

Breast-feeding information offered by La Leche League

By Marjorie Johnson
Student Writer

The La Leche League provides information to mothers and expectant mothers about breast-feeding. Recognized by the American Academy of Pediatrics, the league has its own medical advisory board.

The La Leche League is composed of 6,719 women leaders in 2,162 groups in 35 different countries.

Dr. Paul Lorenz, pediatrician at the Carbondale Clinic, said, "I can personally accept almost everything they say. The La Leche League basically attempts to educate, guide and express personally accepted information to parents." Dr. Lorenz said that he often recommends that patients talk to some of the members when he personally knows. Often a member of the league will go to the home of a mother with problems in breast-feeding to watch and give suggestions, based on her own personal experience.

The La Leche League presents a series of lectures followed by extensive discussion to interested mothers. The presentations are given in individual homes along with many demonstrations. Each presentation is designed to help solve any problems which may occur from pre-delivery through weaning.

According to Lorenz, breast-feeding is on the increase. "But I practice in a college town where they're rather innovative," he said. With the "back-to-nature" feeling and economic crisis, breast-feeding is making sense to many mothers. "The milk supply is there and so is the equipment," Lorenz said. "You can't beat the convenience."

Anne Gaylord-Monty, a leader in the Carbondale chapter of the La Leche League, said that students can continue in their classes at least part-time and breast-feed simultaneously. She has heard of several women who claim that they were never even noticed when they breast-fed their babies during class.

La Leche League does advise women who work or attend classes on other ways to handle the problem. Mothers can hand-express at night and fill bottles to be given to the baby during the day by someone else. Gaylord-Monty explained that this may be done six to eight weeks after birth when the baby's and mother's bodies have had time to adjust.

The conference will be sponsored by the Geology Department and the Division of Continuing Education.

Fourty government and industrial coal geologists from the United States and Canada will attend a three-day petrologists' conference starting Sunday.

The group will discuss coal and how it reacts in various industrial processes such as coking, conversion and combustion. According to Russell Dutcher, chairman of the Geoilgy Department, "Representatives from steel, oil and coal companies, state and federal geological surveys and universities will be attending to discuss terminology, methodology and standardization." Dutcher said. Among other agenda topics is progress in the use of coal petrography in coking and other processes, Western Canadian coal, and recent research in Germany and North America.

The conference will be sponsored by the Geology Department and the Division of Continuing Education.

Saluki threesome high among league's hitters

By Ron Salton
Daily Egyptian Sports Editor

New Mexico State, the top hitting team in the Missouri Valley Conference batting race, according to statistics compiled through last weekend.

Frank Hausaker, Steve Shartor and Howie Mitchell of SIU and outfielder Ed Stromberger of Tulsa are the only non-Aggies among the top 11 hitters.

Hausaker stands third at .372 (now .372), Shartor seventh at .365 (now .364) and Mitchell eighth at .338 (now .337). Speedy New Mexico State centerfielder Randy Diaz-Gonzalez leads the country with a .444 mark, while the team average stands at .364.

Shartor is third in homers in the league with five, while teammate George Vukovitch holds down the next spot with four. John Horschelt is tied for second with three triples, but that hardly compares with the even dooms he accumulated a year ago.

Shartor and Jay Folkman of the Aggies are listed in a tie for the RBI lead at 42, although Shartor added a pair in Tuesday's doubleheader. The Salukis' third place hitter is third in stolen bases with 19, while Newman paces the league with 29.

At last report, Newman was seventh in the nation in that category.

Mitchell also is third in runs scored with 26, behind Diaz- Gonzales and Folkman.

Saluki bats Jon Verpaele, Ron Hedges and Jim Adkins rank among the top ten league batters in earned run average. Verpaele is second at 1.88, followed by Hedges in third at 2.21 (now 2.60). Adkins is sixth at 3.92 (now 5.22).

Brady's Rich Russell leads the batting at .364, while Rich Ritchie and Ron Benedetti of Tulsa stand fourth and fifth at .344 and .336, respectively.

John Carroll of Tulsa leads the way in strikeouts with 78, followed by Hedges with 55 (now 59). Benedetti and Ritchie rank third and fourth.

As a team, the Salukis rank tops with a 32-101 mark, counting Tuesday's doubleheader sweep. The Aggies, at 32-13, are just ahead of Tulsa. 31-12. Bradley is a game back at 31-13, while Louisville has posted a 29-20 mark.

While New Mexico State has reached its level with hitting and Tulsa has done us with pitching, the Salukis can point to faster running. Prior to Tuesday's games, the Dogs had swiped 104 bases in 109 attempts, led by Newman at 28 for 30.

Newman was thrown out once Tuesday, though. In prior to Tuesday's games, the Dogs had swiped 104 bases in 109 attempts, led by Newman at 28 for 30. Newman was thrown out once Tuesday, though.

With the statistics, SIU figures to meet New Mexico State in its first game in the Missouri Valley Conference tourney. The Aggies battle Louisville May 17 at 11:30 a.m., while the Salukis are sitting out with a lack of the-draw-five, then the winner meets SIU at 6 p.m.

Salukis win there would put them in a 4 p.m. game May 18 against the Tulsa-Bradley winner. A loss would instead pit them against the winner of the loser's bracket game at 3 p.m. May 18.

Tulsa, winner of the last six MVC titles, is looking to become the first seven-time winner in the league.

The tourney qualifier does not necessarily receive a bid to the district.

Cards falter

ST. LOUIS (AP) -- Greg Luzinski and Garry Maddox each drilled three hits Thursday, leading the Philadelphia Phillies to a 6-2 victory over the dough-ridden St. Louis Cardinals.

Jim Lonborg allowed six hits in blanking the Cardinals for seven innings. Gene Garber completed the victory.

Gymnastics duo readies for national meet at SIU

By Ron Shlain
Daily Egyptian Sports Editor

With nationally-ranked Jim Ivock stealing the show, a lot of his SIU teammates got lost in the shadows during the past gymnastics season.

Jack Laurie, nationally ranked in rings competition all year, finally emerged into the limelight at the nationals after a broken arm derailed Ivock. Laurie finished second in the nationals, and teammate Tony Hansen was seventh on the pommel horse.

Now two more are bucking for national prominence. Jon Halberg and Glen Tidwell, a duo that scored high but didn't place in all-around competition at the nationals, will have another go at it against the best.

The two are among 15 gymnasts in the nation who already have qualified for the June 11-13 United States Gymnastics Federation national elite championships at the SIU Arena.

"The competition should be as good, if not better than the NCAA's," Tidwell said Thursday, as the two continued workouts in hopes of peaking for the event. "These are the top people in the United States, collegiate and otherwise, and the top six will make it to the Pan American Games."

That is the ultimate goal of the contestants. Approximately 24 men are expected to compete, with the 18 finalists and as many as four "hardship cases" then competing at the Air Force Academy in October for the final six spots. Those six will make up the American team for the Pan Am Games.

Among the hardship cases is Ivock, whom Saluki coach Bill Meade will petition for to get him qualified for the finals.

"Jim scored a 10.90 in the regionals," Meade explained, "and the winner at the nationals, Wayne Young of Brigham Young, only scored 10.89 there. I don't see how they could turn him down."

Meade also hopes to give a fourth Saluki a shot at qualifying for the nationals.

"I'm taking Kim Wall, Halberg and Tidwell to the AAU meet in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, next weekend," he said. "I'm hoping Kim can qualify, and the other two can build themselves up more since they took off for school work after the college season ended."

Another qualifying meet will be held in San Jose, Calif., May 23-24. To qualify, a gymnast must total 104 points at one of these meets which have nationally certified judges.

"Last year, we didn't have to get the 104 and it was easier," Halberg said, in reference to the practice of taking the top six from each region a year ago. "This year, it's a wee bit harder."

"I think we both can make the top six," Tidwell said. "Of course, gymnastics always depends on how the other guys do. If we have good meets, then we'll both make the best."
Tracksters after sixth title at Illinois Intercollegiates

By Dave Wieczorek

Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

It's barely had time to build a reputation for itself, but the Illinois Intercollegiates track and field championships has quickly become "the" meet in the state every spring. At this weekend's meet at Eastern Illinois, the Salukis go after their fifth straight title and sixth in the seven-year history of the meet.

SIU has to rate as the favorite to win the team title, with the Illinois close behind. Eastern will also put up a good fight, considering it is running and fielding its best team in history.

The meet, however, is likely to turn into a two-team battle, with the Salukis and Illini at each other's throats. Illinois beat SIU at the indoor Intercollegiates this year, but only after the Salukis' mile relay team was disqualified, stripping SIU of the team title.

The Salukis got revenge, however, when they walked off the Illini in a home dual meet several weeks ago. This is the so-called rubber match coming up this weekend.

In order to defeat Illinois—and the rest of the field—SIU needs to show some strength in the distance events, where Illinois is strongest. With the likes of Mike Durkin and Craig Virgin, to mention just a couple, Saluki distance marks rank St. John, Gary Mandehr and Jerry Greene will have their work cut out for them.

St. John will have a grueling weekend.

Rain soaks diamond, may affect Martin ceremonies

Thursday's scheduled baseball game at Abe Martin Field between SIU and Missouri was rained out.

The Salukis are slated to play host to Cincinnati in a 3 p.m. single game Friday, although that game also is in doubt.

Special pregame ceremonies are scheduled for 2:45 p.m. at the diamond, with SIU President Warren W. Brandt officially accepting the Abe Martin plaque presently on a large rock at the ballpark.

Martin revived the SIU baseball program in 1967 as head coach, after the sport had died following a two-year existence in 1923 and 1924. He coached 19 years, compiling a 277-154-2 mark, including 42-4 over his final two years, 1964 and 1965.

Prior to his baseball stint, the SIU graduate served as head football coach for 10 years.

The plaque will be presented by the Abe Martin Day Committee, a group consisting of lettermen, students and friends.

Also present at the ceremonies will be Elmer Clark, dean of education; athletic director Doug Wedemeyer, Bill Doanelli, director of the Alumni Association and, of course, Abe and Mrs. Martin.

In case of rain—quite likely to be the case—the ceremonies will be held in the Student Center Auditorium.

Here's your awards and 'farewell'

By Dave Wieczorek

Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

The end is here once again and, as tradition goes, it's that time of the year for us expert sport writers to give out the annual awards.

To track coach Lew Harttag, the "Eternal Optimist Award." Harttag will also get a certificate for having used the adjective "super" more than any other coach this year.

To Joe C. Merlewhite, the "Golden Right," or the "near misses" of the year. Joe C. missed a field goal in the game against Eastern last Saturday, but he is the only Saluki to come within 10 yards of a touchdown this year.

To the team, the "Doin' Fat Award." Montfort's famous fax appeared in the D.E. back at the beginning of the basketball season, and it took up the whole back page.

To Tim Ricci, the "Those are the ones" award. Ricci is the only one who could have made a better throw against Illinois in Pullman Pool.

To the swimming coach Bob Steele, the "Best Promoter Award." Until this season, Bob Steele had been in grade-school field hockey.

To the running coach Herb Vogel, the "Never Smile Award." Herb Vogel will never smile, but he's a terrific guy.

To the women's gymnastic coach Herb Vogel, the "Never Smile Award." Herb Vogel will never smile, but he's a terrific guy.

To Joe C. Jr., the "Big Daddy Award." Junior has one of the biggest families in SIU history.

To Mike Glenn, the "Sharpshooter of the Year Award." Glenn shot the eyes out of the basket this year, better than any other Saluki in history.

To the basketball team, the "Middle Out Award." This year, the Salukis are the middle out of the ace of spades.
