Stepping into the future

Almanac

THIS WEEK IN 1976:

- A 24-year-old SIUC student charged with stealing two Olivia Newton John concert tickets was found guilty by Jackson County Circuit Court Judge Richard Richman. Patrick Connors was charged with theft of under $150 after the tickets, stolen from a purse, were traced to him. The tickets belonged to a secretary at SIUC. Connors said he bought the tickets from someone else.
- Environmentalists won a major fight against tuna fishermen as a federal judge banned the use of nets that kill more than 100,000 porpoises each year. The judge said the decision may raise the price of tuna for consumers.

The Daily Egyptian is published Monday through Friday during the fall and spring semesters and four times a week during the summer semester except during vacations and exam weeks by the students of Southern Illinois University of Carbondale.

Commencement features variety of worldly speakers

K.C. JAEHNING
UNIVERSITY NEWS SERVICE

An estimated 2,918 graduate and undergraduate students will take part in Southern Illinois University Carbondale's spring commencement exercises Friday and Saturday.

Commencement speakers include the author of best-selling "Chicken Soup for the Soul," the editor of USA Today's Weekend magazine and a pair of federal judges.

Ten alumni will receive Alumni Achievement Awards as part of individual college and school ceremonies. These awards represent the highest honor the SIU Alumni Association can bestow.

College of Agriculture

U.S. Air Force Maj. Gen. Rodney P. Kelly of Colorado Springs will give the address and receive the Alumni Achievement Award.

Kelly, now director of operations for the U.S. Space Command at Peterson Air Force Base in Colorado Springs, Colo., oversees force enhancement, space support, space control and force application for the nation's space missions. He also is rated as a command and combat pilot, with more than 4,000 hours in the air.

Kelly earned a bachelor's and a master's from SIUC's College of Agriculture in 1966 and 1968, then was commissioned as a second lieutenant through the University's Reserve Officer Training Corps program. After training as a pilot at Laredo Air Force Base in Texas, he served at air bases in Alabama, Alaska, Hawaii, Texas and overseas in England, Thailand and West Germany. He received further military training at Maxwell Air Force Base's Squadron Officer School, Air Command and Staff College, and Air War College.

College of Applied Sciences and Arts

United Airlines Captain Clarence C. Copping of St. Charles will give the address and receive the Alumni Achievement Award.

Copping, a Palatine native, was, at 34, one of the youngest pilots ever to achieve captain status at United. After earning an associate degree in aviation technology and a bachelor's in aviation management from SIUC in 1977, Copping worked for SIUC's Air Institute. He jumped to United as a second officer in 1978, came back to the University in 1981 in the aftermath of airline deregulation, then returned to United in 1983. He became the airline's youngest first officer in 1985 and made captain after five years.

Copping has played a key role in arranging for United staff to take part in the SIUC-United Airlines annual fly-in, which brings minority and female high school students to campus to check out the university's aviation programs.

College of Business and Administration

Archer Daniels Midland Senior Vice President Burnell D. Kraft of Decatur will give the address; GENCO Chairman and CEO Herbert S. Shear of Pittsburgh, Pa., will receive the Alumni Achievement Award.

Kraft joined Tabor Grain Co. right after he finished his accounting degree at SIUC in 1956. Three years later, he was vice president. A few years after he achieved that company's top spot, it merged with Archer Daniels Midland Co., and Kraft continued his rise through the ranks there. He serves on the Milikin University Board of Trustees and as director of Alfred C. Toepfer International in Hamburg, Germany. His memberships include the Chicago Board of Trade, the St. Louis Merchant's Exchange and the National Grain and Feed Association.

Shear heads GENCO Distribution System, which provides software development, asset recovery, recycling, refurbishing and management services through more than 50 distribution and return centers in the United States and Canada. He earned a marketing degree from SIUC in 1969. Shear serves on advisory boards for both the University and the College of Business and Administration and was inducted into the business college's Hall of Fame in 1995.

College of Education

St. Louis Public Schools Superintendent Cleveland Hammonds Jr. will give the address;

University of Akron Educational Psychologist Isadore Newman will receive the Alumni Achievement Award.

Hammonds heads a district comprising more than 44,000 students and 6,000 employees. Since he took over in 1996, annual student attendance increased to over 90 percent (its highest level in more than a decade); public schools won $7.2 million to create four new magnet schools and $3 million for an after-school program; and the Missouri elementary and secondary education department removed the district from its "financially stressed" watch list. Hammonds earned a bachelor's and a master's in education from SIUC in 1958 and 1963 and a doctorate in education from the University of Illinois in 1973. A teacher, counselor and administrator in Illinois schools, he has served as superintendent in Alabama, Michigan and North Carolina.

Newman, a research design and statistics expert, holds the University of Akron's Distinguished Harrington Professor Chair; he also teaches in Northeastern Ohio Universities College of Medicine. In addition, he serves as associate director of The Institute for Life Span Development and Gerontology. A prolific author, Newman's list of books, book chapters, monographs, articles, abstracts and technical reports published spans more than 14 pages. His list of presentations given is even more extensive. Newman earned his bachelor's in psychology, and mat at the University of Miami in 1965, his master's in psychology and sociology from The New School for Social Research (New York City) in 1967 and his doctorate in statistics and measurement from SIUC in 1971.

College of Engineering

Deere & Co. Senior Engineer Mohamad S. El-Zein of Bettendorf, Iowa, will give the address and receive the Alumni Achievement Award.

A native of Lebanon, El-Zein came to the United States in 1980, earning a bachelor's and a master's in civil engineering from SIUC in 1984 and 1986 respectively. He completed a doctorate in engineering science and mechanics at Virginia Polytechnic Institute in 1989 and has been at Deere & Co.'s Technical Center in Moline ever since.

Law School

Federal judges David Herndon and G. Patrick Murphy will both speak and receive Alumni Achievement Awards.

Murphy, the law school's first federal district judge, was sworn in May 4, 1998, and serves the U.S. District Court's Southern District of Illinois. A Marion native, he practiced civil and criminal law in Williamson County for nearly two decades before applying for the federal bench in 1997. After a stint as a U.S. Marine Corps infantryman in Vietnam, Murphy began his academic career at John A. Logan Community College. He finished his undergraduate work in 1975, then enrolled in the law school where he completed his law degree in 1978.

Herndon, sworn in as a judge in the same district as Murphy on Nov. 30, 1998, spent six years as a state judge on Illinois' Third Judicial Circuit in Madison County before applying for his current position in 1997. He earned his undergraduate degree at SIU's Edwardsville campus in 1974 and completed his legal training at SIUC in 1977. Herndon served a 13-state client base from his office in East St. Louis before he became a state judge.

College of Liberal Arts

"Chicken Soup for the Soul" author Mark V. Hansen of Newport Beach, Calif., will give the address; Hollywood lighting designer James L. Moody of Santa Paula, Calif., will receive the Alumni Achievement Award.

Through his company, Mark Victor Hansen and Associates, Hansen provides motivational speakers and training materials to corporations and professional associations both here and abroad. He has delivered more than 3,000 speeches to more than two million people in 36 countries and has earned certification as a speaker from the National Speakers Association, a status only 7 percent of the group's members achieve. Author of the bestseller "Chicken Soup for the Soul," Hansen went on to produce 16 other "Chicken Soup" titles, including "A Second Helping of Chicken Soup" and "Chicken Soup for the Soul Cookbook." Hansen graduated from SIUC in 1970 with a bachelor's in speech communication.

Moody heads Moody Ravitz Hollingsworth Lighting Design Inc., which provides design services to architects, corporations, and film, concert, television and theater directors. His lighting credits include such shows as "Wheel of Fortune," "Jeopardy!" and "Entertainment Tonight," and he has won lighting awards from such groups as the L.A. Drama Critics, the American Society of Lighting Directors, the Illumination Engineering Society and the Academy of Television Arts & Science. In 1997, he was elected a fellow of the United States Institute for Theatre Technology.

In addition to his commercial work, Moody teaches at the University of California's Fullerton campus, the University of Southern California, San Diego State University, Pepperdine University and the California Institute of the Arts. He has written 47 technical articles on lighting and two textbooks. Moody earned his undergraduate degree in English from SIUC in 1967 and a master's in fine arts from the University of California at Los Angeles in 1969.

College of Mass Communication and Media Arts

USA Weekend CEO Marcia Bullard of Washington, D.C., will give address; Acting Secretary-General of Tanzania's United Democratic Party F. Lwanyantika Masha will receive the Alumni Achievement Award.

Bullard, a founding editor of USA Today, took charge of USA

Weekend in 1985. Carried by 412 newspapers across the country, the magazine has a circulation of 18.3 million, making it America's third largest such publication. Bullard earned her bachelor's degree in journalism in 1974 from SIUC, where she worked on the student newspaper. She went to work for Gannett Newspapers right after graduation as a reporter for the Rochester (N.Y.) Democrat & Chronicle and has been with the chain ever since.

Masha, who has led the United Democratic Party since 1997, had a 21-year career in the United Nation's Department of Public Information. His duties at the UN included oversight of the Dag Hammarskjold Library and such publications as the "UN Yearbook" and the "World Media Handbook," public appearances and administration of public opinion surveys worldwide. Before joining the UN, he was a member of Tanzania's Parliament and the national public secretary of the country's ruling political party. Masha is a three-degree journalism graduate of SIUC, earning his bachelor's in 1965, his master's in 1970 and his doctorate in 1972. He spent a year as an assistant professor of journalism at West Texas State University before joining the UN in 1973.

College of Science

Baxter Healthcare Corp. executive Joseph P. Hoppesch of McHenry will give the address and receive the Alumni Achievement Award.

Hoppesch has served as vice president of Baxter Healthcare's Center for Physical and Chemical Sciences since 1997 and directed the center for two years before that. The developer of the first handheld, portable breath analyzer, he has obtained 14 U.S. patents as well as foreign patents in 33 countries. Hoppesch earned his bachelor's in chemistry from SIUC in 1965, then went to work at a Louisville chemical company before moving on to a 20-year career with the Borg-Warner Corp. He joined Baxter Healthcare in 1988.
