SIU Freshman, High School Senior Lose Lives In Auto Crash

An SIU student and a Carbondale High School senior were killed early Saturday morning when their 1952 Oldsmobile left the road east of Madison and overturned.

Concert Honors Jean Sibelius' Works Tonight

The Southern Illinois Symphony Orchestra will honor Finnish composer, Jean Sibelius in the first concert of its seventh season at 8:15 p. m. tonight in Shrivert Auditorium.

The occasion is Sibelius' 50th birthday and the local symphony group is taking part in a world-wide tribute to his life as a composer.

Gadets To See Air Force Life

Fifty AFROTC cadets will get a taste of real military life while visiting two Air Force bases on weekends prior to the Christmas holidays.

The installations tentatively chosen for the visit are Ellington AFB, Houston, Texas, and Mildred AFB, Hilden, Mo.

Knar's musicians will open the concert with an "Overture and Allegro from La Sultana Suite" by Copernic-Milhaud.

Next on the program will be Mozart's "Four German Dances" in "La Landler Tempo," "The Canary," "The Organ Grinder" and "The Slit-Head."

The Carbondale Business and Professional Women's Club is sponsoring the concert. Tickets to the concert will cost 50 cents and may be purchased at the Bursar's Office.

Dr. C. Williams Horrell, junior class instructor and director of the Photo Service is also attending the convention.

Activity Fee Covers $200 Medical Care

What do you get for the $3.15 of your student activity fee which goes for medical purposes?

If you have a student activity ticket, you are entitled to $200 a year for medical expenses and hospital bills. This special rate of insurance covers the student even if an accident happens on or off campus, or if the student needs special care or hospitalization.

The $3.15 goes to the Student Health Center. With approximately 5,000 students covered by this insurance, the center has about $16,000 to work with a year. In past years, the amount in the "kitty" has balanced about evenly with expenditures.

Dr. Richard Lee, who is attending physician on campus and head of the health service, has been up against everything from crabs to polio this quarter. He has diagnosed two cancer cases, one leukemia, and one polio case. So far this month, 35 students have been admitted to the hospital through the Health Center. There have been 11 appendicitis.

The Southern-Bridley game will be televised "live" over WSL-TV (channel 22) beginning at 1:15 p. m. Thursday.

Beaching to make sure the crown was real, Marie Holifield was crowned ISA Sweetheart queen, at the semi-final dance Saturday night.

Marie Holifield Wins ISA Sweetheart Crown

"I can't believe it yet. Being, son, crowned and was crowned by Shirley Lane, retiring queen, at the semi-final dance Saturday night.

Marie was crowned ISA Sweetheart at the Independent Student Association's semi-final dance Saturday night. Marie, who lives on C-2 in Woods Hall, preferred to talk about how wonderful the girls in her corridor were.

They helped me get ready to go to the dance, and even took pictures of me once I was ready. Marie said. "They put my picture on the bulletin board and wrote under it 'She's our sweetheart, the picture or anything. But it's a sight' a wonderful feeling, winning and everything."

About 70 couples attended the dance, held in the women's gym. The theme, "Strawry to the Stars," was carried out by the decorations. A long, curving star was behind the throne, at the end of the gym, ended in a huge cotton cloud suspended above the throne. Revolving colorful lights were focused on both the throne and the cloud.

Blue and white stars hung from the ceiling. The queen's throne, surrounded by flowers and plants, was covered with mirrors, was surrounded by flowers and plants. The attendants stood on black pedestals covered with gold stars.

The dance started at 8:30 p. m. The queen and her court were crowned at 10 p. m. Danny Boyd, chairman of ISA Week, introduced French, Roger Parish; Kay Wegdon, Roger Bush; Leni Leight, Gaylord Hadden; and Jean Williams, Henry Surovsky.

Washington Researcher To Speak Here Dec. 2

A speech on the far reaching aspects of the 1957-58 "International Geophysical Year" will be given on the Southern campus Dec. 7 by Dr. E. O. Hulbert, research director of the Naval Beach Research Laboratory in Washington.

Then he said to them, "Go your way and eat the fat and drink the sweet and send persons unto them for whom nothing is prepared, for this day is holy unto the Lord."

This commanded the inspired leader of the Jews during "The Feast of Weeks."

For many ages man has realized the need for giving thanks to the divine giver of blessings.

America is relatively young in the Thanksgiving tradition. But in other parts of the world the celebration is as old as the original inhabitants of the earth.

Rush Changes Topic of IFC Meeting

Proposed changes for rush rules were presented at the Interfraternity Council meeting Thursday evening in the Student Union Club room. Bob Crawford, Theta Nu chairman of the rush committee gave the report.

The council discussed having a major function at the beginning of rush, to introduce the rushee to all fraternities at the same time. They also talked about a bid system giving the rushee more choice of which fraternities to visit and, finally, to pledge.

A petition for membership in IFC was received from Epiphany Tau Sigma. Representatives from Epiphany Tau Sigma and Alpha Sigma Psi, forming as the new fraternities, will petition for membership in IFC before Christmas, according to Kent T. Hawley, assistant chairman of men.

Final plans were made for the student's trip to St. Louis to attend the 50th anniversary of the National Interfraternity Council. They will leave SIU at 6:30 a. m. Saturday, Dec. 3, and return after the coming season.

Other business at the Thursday meeting included appointing Jim Haden as the chairman of the Interfraternity Workshop in December and deciding to buy two scholarship plaques for the TREK and one for Sigma Pi in honor of their scholastic averages last year.

Freshman Dies Enroute To Hospital

Robert W. Whitaker, 19 year old freshman from Clinton, Mo., died at 10 p. m. Sunday after coming ill only a few hours.

Whitaker, who lived at St. Andrew Hall, died enroute to a St. Louis hospital. The cause of his death is not yet known.

He entered Southern last spring and was enrolled in the School of Business and Industry as a business administration major.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Whitaker, a brother, Walter, and a sister, Beverly, survived. Hedges Funeral Home will be in charge of funeral services from Trinity Methodist Church in Clinton City, at 2 p. m. today.

Purchasing Office Gets Bids On Insurance

"Bids for insurance on the SIU motor vehicle fleet are now being accepted by the purchasing office," said Bill H. Physical Plant Director, said last week.

"Our insurance runs out Dec. 31, and on that date we will open the bid for 1956. All automobiles, buses, station wagons, trucks and motor scooters will be insured at that time," Howe said.

"We thank God not only by prayer," Abd continued, "but by the poor people also. If we do not give the poor out of our own pockets, we are not giving."

"On Sunday morning the churches bulge with the traditional Thanksgiving Day crowd. In the afternoon the annual celebration takes place under a fir tree decorated as the symbolic harvest wreath and located in the center of the village," Rolf said.

Campus Insurance Gets First O.K.

By Peggy Morgan

Preliminary plans for a $200 deductible group insurance plan for everyone on campus have been completed.

The Student Council approved a motion by Don Gibbs that the Council accept the plan as submitted by the insurance committee, at the meeting Thursday.

The committee, headed by George Evanoff, was appointed at the Oct. 5 meeting to investigate the possibility of a University-approved surgical, maternity, and hospitalization insurance plan for everyone on campus.

Estimated rates per month are $4.67 for the family or man-and-wife policy, and 95 cents for a single student. The policy will be optional to Evanoff, but it will not be compulsory.

Working with Evanoff were Guy Moore, Hastings Banner, and Dick Hunter.

Four council members will attend the Illinois Regional meeting of the National Students Association, Dec. 3 and 4 at the University of Chicago. Delegates are Dick Cole, Martha Criley, Marilyn Michaels, and Clyde Reynolds.

Don Gibbs moved that the Council appropriate $100 to send the delegates, by car, to the convention. Shirley Goff seconded it, and the group passed the motion.

Reynolds read a letter from N.S.A. announcing plans for student travel abroad during the summer. The letter suggested that a travel chairman be appointed to attend the regional meeting. One of the four delegates will be appointed "travel chairman" at the next council meeting.

The Council gave Reynolds approval to recognize two new organizations, Sabre Flight and Anthropology Club.

Sabre Flight is for freshmen and sophomore AFROTC students with a 3.0 or better average. Its purpose according to Don Gibbs, is to stimulate interest in ROTC among the underclassmen. Requirements for membership in the Anthropology Club are enrollment in SIU, an interest in anthropology, and at least a 3.0 grade average.

Reynolds reported on a talk with Dr. Carl E. Erickson, head of intercollegiate athletics, about the seating arrangements at football games. Students with active cards have to sit on the east side, but so many parents and friends of students join them there that there is not room for all of those holding active cards.

Martha Criley, Jerry Duane, and Don Gibbs volunteered to serve as a committee to find a solution to the seating problem. They are now working on a plan concerning basketball tickets.

Other business concerned the proposed central pep committee a new campus bulletin board. Jerry Duane suggested writing to the University of Illinois for information on how to set up an organization. Sheila Plahz will write the letter, and the answer will be brought to the next meeting.

Reynolds said that Pres. Delte W. Morris understands the need for more bulletin boards, and has agreed to the proposal. He also said that George H. Hand, vice president for business affairs, to check the financial aspect of getting them.

The next Student Council meeting will be at 6:15 p. m., Dec. 1 in the Graduate Office.

Despite the near freezing weather on Saturday, SIU's sixth annual Parents Day was called a success by all who attended.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Lockman from West Frankfort were the "typical" mother and father brought for the day. Mr. and Mrs. Lockman are the parents of Terry Lockman, freshman.

They occupied special seats at the game Saturday as guests of Pres. and Mrs. Delte W. Morris. Southern decorated Northern by the parents of other students were also honored at the football game. However, the majority of them preferred to mingle with their sons and daughters in the student section.

Most of the parents of players were bored by the near-freezing temperatures to retreat from their reserved seats behind their sons' playing benches to warmer quarters. (usually a neighboring student's blanket).

The parents were guests for a pizza supper sponsored by Delta Chi in the Student Union early in the evening. In addition, coffee hours, given by different organizations served host to more than 250 mothers, fathers and friends.

Student Physicist Will Predict Weather-Maybe

Students enrolling in Physics 325 for the winter quarter will have practice in predicting the unpredictable the weather—provided suitable weather data can be obtained for forecasting.

Forecasting the weather will be the classes laboratory work. Officially called atmospheric physics, the only requirement is an elementary physics course, according to Dr. Charles J. Brandt, chairman of Physics department and instructor for the course.

Atmospheric phenomena such as rainstorms and halos around the sun will be studied during the winter quarter. What makes the weather also will be discussed.

Weather maps with current data plotted on them for a number of weather stations scattered across the U. S. are to be given the class for laboratory work.

Detailed on the chart are wind speed, cloud direction, cloud average, and the dew point.

After analyzing this information, old and warm front lines will be drawn on a blank map. From this students will try to forecast the weather for the following day.

Woody Hall To Decorate For Holidays Dec. 6

The girls at Woody Hall will "deck the halls" with greenery Dec. 6, according to Janet Brackridge, head rest' at counselor.

The windows will be painted with Christmas scenes by the girls, also, Miss Brackridge stated. She said that a dinner would be held on that day.

'Touch Football A Rough Game' Say Theta Xi's Mazenko, Smith

Who said, "touch football isn't a rough game?" This is the person that Fran Mazenko and B. J. Smith are looking for.

Fran and B. J. who played ball for the Theta Xi intramural team, think that touch football is about as rough a game as they have played. Both are sporting injuries from their game with the Phi Tau Nov. 10.

Fran's face was a mass of tape and sponge rubber, which held his broken nose in place and B. J. has a broken right thumb, which is bound in gauze and plaster of paris.

Fran said, "Sure the tape was uncomfortable, but that didn't bother me near as much as not being able to kiss a girl good-night. Did you ever try to kiss a girl when you had a broken nose, and a face full of tape?"

"The broken thumb doesn't hurt, but it sure makes me awkward as hell," B. J. said. "I can't write, I can't 'neck' and drive at the same time, I can't hold any cutting implements and worst of all I can't hold a bottle of 'red soda' in my right hand."

B. J. who was to go out for basketball the day after the game will be unable to report for practice until after the first of the year.

These two men have sure got "bugged" by the other guys at the Theta Xi house. They told Fran that he looked better with tape on his face, and wanted to know why he didn't leave it on all of the time. B. J. got his share of the "bugs" too, but when ever someone says anything about his broken thumb, he just swings the cast and lets go with a few choice profane words.

The only words of advice Fran and B. J. have for those who are thinking about playing touch football are: "Don't, but if you still want to, wear a face guard and put both hands in casts so you can give your opposition the business."

Alpha Phi Omega, scouting service fraternity, elected and installed officers for the coming quarter (Thursday).

The new president is George Perry, senior from Springfield, who replaces Ron Pemberton also a senior from Springfield.

Other new officers are: Bill Buxton, first vice president; Bob Koepke, pledge master; Jack Snider, corresponding secretary.

APD Elects Officers For Next Quarter

George Paslaski, alumni secretary, Jack Parr, treasurer; Emil Spees, historian; Jerry Johnson, recording secretary; and Jim McIntire, sergeant-at-arms.

APD members are currently working on the annual Christmas Dance, Dec. 3. All proceeds of the dance go to buying groceries for needy families in this area.

Phi Taus Nip DZs In Football

In a close and unusual touch football game Sunday, the Phi Taus beat the Delta Zetas 19 to 18 "in the first boy vs. girl touch football game."

The "Super Duper 200" and the "Ball in Shirt" plays were the first two scoring plays in the touch football game.

Diane Boyd, Delta Zeta half-back, ran 80 yards on a "Super Duper 200" play for the girls first of three touchdowns. Soon after Diane scored, John Merry, Phi Tau back ran 40 yards with the football tucked under his shirt. This play was very deceptive and also very illegal, but since the rule book was thrown away for this game, the score counted.

Rules for this game were unlike those for any game. Let alone touch football, the fellows had to tag the girls on the shoulders before the ball was dead, but the girls could tag the boys anywhere.

It made no difference how many players were on the line, as long as there were no more than 11 players on the field. Tackling was illegal and so was tagging the girls in the wrong spot, but both happened quite frequently.

Extra scoring in the game was done by George Efanoff on a 40-yard end run in the third quarter and another by John Merry in the fourth quarter. Merry passed the extra point to Darwin Manuel to account for the winning extra point.

Diane Boyd scored the second TD for the DZs with a 34-yard run over center. Rose Marie "Sixty" Cunningham scored the final tally for the girls when she ran 40 yards for the TD. When this extra point was attempted, Phi Tau lineman Jerry Lotmann rushed the kicker and collided with "Sixty" Cunningham head-on. Both were stunned and had to leave the game.

Business Club Members From 11 Schools Meet Here

Over 100 Future Business Leaders of America club members from 11 high schools met on the Southern campus Saturday for the annual Southern Area conference.

Harvey Rabe of the SIU Department of Business Administration addressed the group in the morning opening session in the University School Auditorium.

The delegates then split up into six groups for discussion sessions the rest of the morning. The group were guests of the University at the SIU-Northern football game Saturday afternoon.

Faculty Team Wins Corn Shelling Contest

At least two of the SIU faculty have a way with corn.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey S. Woods of the agriculture department won the faculty's corn-shelling contest at the annual Home Economics-Agriculture Clubs' Harvest Dance Friday night.

Each of the four faculty couples in the contest had two ears of corn to husk and shell. The couple that finished first was proclaimed winner.

Juanita Knox and Floyd Bostick were crowned king and queen of the dance by last year's monarchs, Juanita Troutman and Gene Simon. Their names were selected in a drawing from a list of all those attending the party.

The crowns were made of wire and covered with aluminum foil. The queen's crown was trimmed with kernels of corn, and the king's with cornshucks.

Dancing—square, social, and novelty—was the main program of the event. A three-piece band played for the dances. Among the novelty dances were: bunny hop, the bokey-pokey, "Josephine," and a circle dance to "Rock Around the Clock."

Over a hundred students attended the dance, estimated Doreen Snow, president of the state home economics clubs and member of the SIU group.

The lecture will be followed by a question-answer period.

His talk is being sponsored jointly by the Government Department and Gamma Iota Chapter of Pi Sigma Alpha, the national political science honor society.

All students, faculty members, and members of the community are invited to attend, according to Dr. Frank Klingberg, government department.

Ag Faculty Members To Attend Chicago Meet

Three members of the SIU School of Agriculture animal science faculty will attend the annual meeting of the American Society of Animal Production in Chicago Friday and Saturday.

Attending the meeting will be Howard Olson, dairy specialist; Joseph Burnside, swine specialist; and William C. Kammlade, Jr., beef and sheep specialist.

The Melody Boys, an instrumental combo, give out with a song at the ISA Variety Show Friday night. The show, in conjunction with ISA Week, was held in Shryock Auditorium. An estimated 500 people attended.

Community Development Helps With Mounds' Lighting System

To increase retail sales in Mounds, a three-day money-drive was put into action to raise $3,000 for a new street lighting system. SIU's community development department, which is the largest in the United States, went into the community in September to see what they could do to help. They set up research groups. One of the groups, the committee on retail sales, decided it needed a new street lighting system to encourage more shoppers to come to Mounds.

Sixteen new Mercury street lights will be distributed along Highway 51 leading into Mounds and on into the business district. Each light and pole costs $150 but some of the old poles will be used and new lights put on them. This lighting system is one of the newest in the country.

The money-drive started Thursday. By the end of the day, $1,700 was raised. The drive will last through Saturday. This money is being contributed by the 40 retailers and some residents of this town of 2,200 population.

Dr. John B. Barnes, the man from community development in charge of Mounds, said, "It will definitely go through. Such cooperation as seen in these towns we help is seldom found anywhere. The townspeople have the attitude of let me do it not the other way."

Besides putting in new street lights the retailers are sponsoring a weekly four-page publication. The front page will include news of the local development of the community and the other three pages will have advertisements. It will be mailed to the 3,000 families in Pulaski County.

"Eighteen of the retailers have enrolled in VPI's course in sales setup taught by Walter Elder.

Movies Shown At German Club Meeting

Four movies were shown at the meeting of the German Club held Thursday, Nov. 17, in Mounds 202.

Two of the movies were about the East Berlin revolt in 1953. The third was titled "German Mirror" and was a German newsreel. The last movie was titled "The Red Chapter." It had to do with the Red Cross work for the refugees from behind the Iron Curtain.

Ball Hogel, graduate instructor and faculty sponsor for the organization, led the group in the practice of singing Christmas Carols in German. The Balzer, president of the club, presided at the meeting.

The next meeting will be held Dec. 6 in the Little Theatre at University School. The meeting will be featured by a Christmas play by the members of the club.

3 From SIU To Enter Poultry Judging Contest

Three agriculture students are going to Chicago Monday to take part in the National Intercollegiate Poultry Judging Contest. A fourth student is going along as an alternate.

Making the trip are: Floyd Bostick, Bill Tweddy, John McMurtry, Bill Gant, alternate and Dr. Richard Gockel, SIU poultry specialist.

The team from Southern is competing with 18 other schools from all over the country.

The class is being held every Thursday night in Mounds for eight weeks.

Faculty Spoofs Self With 'Mike Kado'

The SIU faculty "really let its hair down" with the music most popular, said Kado. "Monday and Thursday students in these classes get into cars, drive to the lake and watch the Dr. Paul Hunsinger's satirical stem winder, 'Mike Kado, Ph.D.'"

The chorus then sang "I've Got Him on My List: He Never Would Be Missed." The rendition told about the assorted types of students that teachers don't especially care for and could easily do without.

"But the students are important," said Phil Olson, who was a member of the chorus. Jack Graham quickly answered, "You sound like I. Clark Davis in 'New Student Week.'"

"Woodie Parker," a foreign language instructor played by Hellmut Hartwig of the Foreign Language department, was very disturbed over the Southern parking problem. His search for a parking space led him to Mexico, Canada, and Africa.

"Mike," new dean of the School of Birdwatching at SIU, finds himself faced with the problem of finding an office for himself and a house for his wife and nine children.

He loses hope of finding a place to live, but eventually finds an office — among some bushes on the campus.

Two Japanese settings of loud and bright, drags, flowers and potted palms lit by a mass of multi-colored paper lanterns, danced the chorus.

Black, academic gowns and brightly-colored cummerbunds with the loose ends hanging to the knees were worn by the members of the chorus. The men had an added touch of painted mustaches and green glasses. Everyone carried a passed fan with SIU printed on the back.

Japanese head-dresses flapping, came with mincing steps and fluttering fans.

High Requisitioner

C. Horton Talley, dean of the School of Communications, portrayed the "Lord High Requisitioner" with frightful realism. Wearing a black robe covered with red tape and a bizarre head-dress, he lost his academic aplomb when Kado failed to fill out a stack of forms for the requisition of some bird seed correctiv.

"Nobody knows how to fill out these damned things, correctly," the "requisitioner" screamed.

"The Three Little Maids from School," Mildred Fildack, Maria Olson, and Ruth Mueller, faculty wives, were warmly received. Dr. Charles D. Tenney, vice president in charge of instruction, played himself, as did Dr. George H. Hand, vice president for business.

Both were naturally imposing, under weary headpieces, and passed the buck with the perfection of long practice.

Talley sang a song about requisition procedures. "If you want to get any you got to see Tenney, and Tenney will send you to Hand." Kado began turning back and forth, trying to get a requisition filled. The tempo of the song increased, and, finally, Kado fell to the floor, exhausted.

Kado related to the rest of the faculty that the classes in his new department were filling up rapidly.

"Courses to meet at Crab Orchard."
