Egyptian Gets First Class Honor Rating

The EGYPTIAN has been awarded a First Class Honor rating by the Associated Collegiate Press' 61st All-American Critical Service.

The EGYPTIAN scored 3,340 points, just 60 points short of the top award of All-American.

The purpose of the critical service judging is to rate the newspapers with other papers in its own classification throughout the nation.

The issues submitted for judging were for spring term of 1959, after the present staff took over. It is the highest rating the EGYPTIAN has ever received in the judging.

Conrad D. Hibbert, columnist and former assistant city editor of the St. Paul Dispatch, was the judge for Southern's newspaper.

Besides a rating, the judges also write constructive criticism for the particular newspaper dealing with different phases of the publication, such as front page editorials, pictures and sports coverage.

"I think your staff is showing real enthusiasm for features and copy that paints a picture of the campus," Hibbert said of the EGYPTIAN.

The EGYPTIAN was analyzed and noted in comparison with other college papers of approximately similar enrollment, of similar publication methods and the same frequency of issue per semester.

Debaters Open Season Today In Kentucky

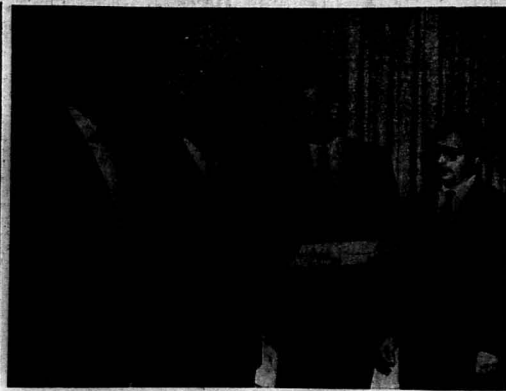

SIU's debate team will get its first taste of competition for the 1959-60 season at the Thoroughbred Tournament at Lexington, Ky., today and tomorrow.

Couch M. Jack Parker has named Keith Sanders and Kent Brandon, two top debaters from last year's team, to represent Southern.

A definite schedule for the rest of the year has not been set, according to Assistant Debate Coach Albert D. Dunavan.

"The team is going to operate under a flexible policy in which all people who work hard and show sincere interest will be given experience," Dunavan said. "For this season, all members of the team have not been selected.

In addition to Brandon and Sanders, those returning from last year's team are Gary Bengtson, Ann Hughes, Galvren Kopp, Sharon Loveless and Jim Petty.

Southern Players Recreate Horror, Misery Of World War II In 'Diary Of Anne Frank'

By Mickey Sparks Egyptian Staff Reporter

The Southern Players re-created the horror and misery of World War II during the fourth performance of "The Diary of Anne Frank" Tuesday night. The local effort, however, was not what it could have been.

Anne's diary told the story of how her family and the Van Daan family were forced to go into hiding for more than two years during the war. The two Jewish families and Mr. Krales, a slight acquaintance of Mr. Frank, lived in small, crowded quarters above a business office. The Players, it seems, treated the situation a little too lightly.

The individual actors, however, performed commendably and worked well as a team. Hoarty for Gay McGowan, Miss McGowan played the lead role of 13-year-old Anne Frank. In two short hours, the audience watched Gay change from a gangling, mischievous, 13-year-old to a sensitive young lady. Anne won the favor of the audience with her humorous antics and quips.

Nedra Clay didn't play the part of Mrs. Van Daan—she was Mrs. Van Daan, through a d through, Miss Clay did a fine job in portraying a haughty and wealthy woman who was insensitive to the feelings of others. She was a self-centered woman who "Bibbed" her son Peter, and stole food for her grumbling, selfish husband, played by Donald Nomaiko. Nomaiko played a convincing role as she stomped about the room showing disgust for his wife and son and the whole world in general.

Peter Van Daan, played by Jennifer West, was a teen-age boy who found himself being torn apart by his parents, Peter's father and mother were always coming into conflict because of their son. Mrs. Van Daan chuckled after her son like a mother hen, while Mr. Van Daan threw up his hands in despair. Lynch's portrayal of the quiet, withdrawn boy was excellent.

Jennifer West played the part of Anne's mother, a quite woman who refused to fight back—until Mr. Van Daan began stealing food which belonged to her children. Anne felt that her mother should speak up and that she favored her sister, Margot. For these reasons the two did not share a close mother-daughter relationship, Miss West fit nicely into the role she played.

Paul Brady was the kind Mr. Frank who kept the families under control. Frank was the idol of his daughter, Anne, who often confided in him. Brady did a good job throughout the play but he let her play a little flat at the end. One could not quite believe that Mr. Frank was a man who knew his family had died miserable deaths in a concentration camp.

Margot, Mether Cluse Cheryl Granby played the part of Margot Frank. Margot was the same type person as her mother and as a result the two were very close. Neil Newland portrayed Mr. Krales, a friend of the Frank family. Krales of Anne became aggravated with Anne's mischievous ways, and the old bachelor disliked very much being Anne's "room-mate."

Mr. Dussel and Missp, the two people who risked their lives to hide the families, were portrayed by Gay Foster and Ben Jackson.

An Academy Award goes to Domino, who played the part of Peter's pet cat, Mouschi. The tasting was perfect—never did a cat look more like a cat than during Tuesday night's performance.

"The Diary of Anne Frank" opened in New York four years ago this month. It has won both the Pulitzer Prize and the Drama Critics Award. The Southern Players' version was staged by Sherwin Abrams and directed by Charles Zoeller.

The players interested in making the tour must sign at the Student Union desk in the Union from 2-5 p. m.

The coke dance will be held Saturday. Music will be supplied by the Bob Miller Combo and guest vocalist Frank Taylor will also be featured.

Trooper Named Police Chief, Leffler Aide

Don Ragdale, former Illinois State Trooper, has been named Assistant Security Officer at SIU. He will serve as chief of the Campus Police.

Ragdale, whose home is in De Soto, is an alumni of Southern. He has been with the state police force for almost five years.

SIU Legal Council John S. Rendleman said Ragdale will be directly under the jurisdiction of Thomas Leffler, Security Officer at Southern. He said the new assistant will be in complete charge of the Campus Police force.

Ragdale already has begun his new duties on campus, Rendleman said.

We Really Goofed!

Maybe it was the Homecoming weekend, or maybe Gus Bode slipped in a few times. Anyway, the EGYPTIAN made some serious errors in the Tuesday issue which we would like to correct.

In the first place, a picture caption stated that the University of Illinois does not accept disabled students. The U. of I. DOES HAVE an extensive program for handicapped students.

In a story on the Homecoming house decorations competition, La Casa Manana was named as second place winner. Actually, it was La Casa, with a theme of "Eastern thinks they can... so did Humpty Dumpty."

Someone slipped again and jessed up the dates on the Joyce-Lawrence Festival symposium scheduled for Nov. 19-20 instead of Oct. 19-20 as stated in the paper.

A story headed "Plans Underway for TV Series" which dealt with the SIU Broadcasting Service contained some incorrect and misleading information. A correct story on this situation will appear later in the newspaper.

We are extremely sorry for these gross and unnecessary mistakes.

Board Passes Approval On New Faculty

Two professors and a coordinator of student housing were among faculty appointments approved Friday by the SIU Board of Trustees.

Thomas W. Douglas, formerly an executive with the Federal Trade Commission and director of sales research for the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co., was named professor of management.

John Yokie will take over the job of coordinating the Student Housing Office, replacing William Rogge who accepted position at the University of Buffalo. Yokie has been residence supervisor at Montana State College.

Another addition to the Residence Centers staff was Donald Taylor, housing officer of the community relations for the Salt Lake Board of Education, who will be an associate professor of sociology.

Earl E. Parkhill, supervisor in the Registrar's Office, was named coordinator of General Publications effective Nov. 1, and A. B. Miffin, now assistant supervisor of the University Press, will move to General Publications in the same capacity.

Howard N. Pepple, assistant supervisor of the Printing Service, will become manager of the Printing Service Nov. 1.

The research director of the Anna State Hospital, Nathan Azrin, was appointed a lecturer in psychology and in the Rehabilitation Institute, and the assistant librarian of the Decatur Public Library, Ralph W. Bushae, was named assistant professor in the General Library.

Four other lecturers given term appointments were: William R. Motfield, formerly station manager for WCBL, Benton, Ky., and WPAD, Paduch; Robert Hunter, a product designer who has worked with Chicago and St. Louis firms; Manfred Landecker, a graduate of the School of Advanced International Studies at John Hopkins University, in government; and John L. Gould, a University of Iowa instructor, in sociology.

All Autos Must Be Registered 10 Spotted With No Stickers

The Office of Student Affairs has issued a reminder to students possessing autos and bicycles concerning the regulations which govern ownership and possession.

A report indicates that several autos have been spotted on and near campus with no stickers whatsoever. Students are reminded that the 1959-60 Student Motor Vehicle Regulations state that only the following students are eligible to possess vehicles in Carbondale: seniors, commuters (those persons who live two or more miles from campus), disabled students, graduate students, married students, students at least 21, students who require a deal in order to work, and Southern Acres students.

Decals must be properly displayed on the front and rear windows. Several fines have been assessed to both faculty and staff for improper display, including those decals attached by scotch tape.

Must Be Registered (All automobiles must be registered with the parking section at the Office of Student Affairs, and decals must be clearly displayed at all times. Any auto not registered or not properly displaying decals is considered illegal.)

Students residing in Carbondale are required to register their family auto with the University, but no decal will be given. Dean Zimmerman said Wednesday evening that it is preferable that students petition for a decal and find whether or not they are eligible to receive one, rather than just take a chance and finally end by paying a fine.

Zimmerman said the reason for the assessment of fines for improper registration or permit decals, which has been one of the most common offenses thus far this quarter, is subject to $2 fines and routine violations call for $1, $3, $5 and $10 fines in that order, with revocation of privileges on the fourth offense.

Persons who ride bicycles on campus are reminded that sidewalks are to be used only by pedestrians and that bicycle traffic should go "with" the automobile traffic, or in other words should use the same lanes of travel as automobiles.

Several reports have been made to the Office of Student Affairs concerning bicyclists who are riding "against" oncoming traffic.

Time Changes At 2 A. M.

Students will gain an hour of sleep Sunday morning, but the girls still have to be in by 1 a. m. Sunday, and those who take late leaves must be in by 2 a. m. Daylight time.

The area will revert to Central Standard time at 2 a. m. Sunday. Thus, when you fall into the sack Saturday night, or Sunday morning, move your watch and alarm clock BACK one hour.

So, if you get home at 4 a. m., you are actually getting home at 3 a. m. So don't forget to change your time Saturday night and Sunday morning—and get an extra hour's sleep.

proper decal display is that (1) it is violating regulations and (2) unauthorized persons can easily detach decals from windows.

Freshmen, sophomores and juniors are not allowed to operate autos in Carbondale unless they fall under one of the before-mentioned clauses. About 10 autos have been detected with no decals, and letters will be sent out to registered owners.

Persons who operate or possess autos in Carbondale and who are violating the automobile regulations are subject to fines or suspension from the University. Illegal possession of a motor vehicle calls for a $50 fine for first offense, plus disciplinary action or suspension from the University. Second offense for illegal possession is suspension from the University.

Falsification of registration records calls for a $25 fine and disciplinary action; flagrant violation cost $5 and possible revocation of privileges and failure to register a vehicle is grounds for a $5 fine.

Failure to properly display registration or permit decals, which has been one of the most common offenses thus far this quarter, is subject to $2 fines and routine violations call for $1, $3, $5 and $10 fines in that order, with revocation of privileges on the fourth offense.

Development Center Seen By Malaysians

The three Malayan administrators are studying a plan for the development of agriculture communities.

who has become research professor of design at Southern. Fuller wrote a foreword for Mrs. Flochmann's portfolio of paintings, "University Portrait," which was issued Oct. 8 by the Southern Illinois University Press as a companion volume to Flochmann's "Ordeal of Southern Illinois University," published the same day. Standing is Vernon Sternberg, Southern Illinois University Press director.

The concert, sponsored by the department of music in the School of Fine Arts, will begin at 4 p. m. in Sneyock Auditorium. It is open to the public.

GREEK SLEEP A place to lay the weary noggins is shown in this picture, the sleeping room of the small group housing project

currently under construction. The housing will be occupied by fraternities and sororities, and the first two fraternities moved into the project recently. Three more of the units are expected to be completed this quarter.

Editors' Opinions

One Rotten Apple

Rules can be made and enforced to regulate and eliminate the hazards of reckless and uncaring bicycle riders. But common courtesy and carefulness on the part of the riders can help greatly to overcome this problem of dangerous and unnecessary hazards.

We all know that careless driving can cause many automobile accidents. While bicycle accidents may not be as frequent and as fatal, they still are a menace to the campus population.

After the editorial in Tuesday's paper, we have received many phone calls from bike riders on campus. "Why are you down on us," they ask.

"We have never done anything such as you reported in your editorial."

This may well be true of those who were up in arms at the editorial. But the fact remains that somewhere in the number of bicycle riders, a small percentage are "bad boys."

And, these "bad boys" have caused the entire bicycle population to be blamed. We are not, however, trying to blame each individual bike rider or the bike riders as a collective group. We are only concerned with those individuals who endanger students, faculty members and visitors by their recklessness.

Japanese Exhibit Open In Library

An exhibit of Japanese calligraphy is on display for the remainder of October in the Morris Library near the circulation desk. The calligraphs, which are the Japanese writing symbols which depict ideas rather than pictures, have been written by contemporary artists rather than those collected from ancient times.

Daniel Spencer, chairman of the Committee on Asian Studies which is presenting the exhibit, reports that the collection is a traveling display obtained from the Japan Society of New York City in cooperation with the SIU Library and Extension Division.

As a part of the exhibit, excerpts from Sir George Santana's book, "Japan, A Short Cultural History," are used to give a background and some explanation of calligraphy.

According to Sir Santana, "Japanese written characters... are symbols of ideas, not pictures of things... A skilled calligrapher is already an artist equipped in most essentials, for in learning to write he has undergone a rigorous training in brushwork, composition, design, and speed and certainty of execution."

Salukis Not Noble

Dear Editor: Let me first congratulate "The Egyptian" on 42 years of service to the University. I hope it will continue this tradition.

On this occasion, I would like to correct an error in "The Egyptian" of Friday, Oct. 16, under Saluki... the Noble One. The article states that the Saluki dogs are considered sacred by the Moslems and that the name Saluki in Arabic means "The Noble One."

The Moslems don't venerate animals and the Saluki is considered like the other kinds of dogs. It's used in hunting because it is very swift. The Egyptians were the first to use it for this purpose and its picture appears on the walls of ancient Egyptian temples.

In Arabic, Saluki means "swift" and not a "Noble One." I am sure that this swiftness is the reason this name was chosen for the SIU football team.

Yours Sincerely,
Mahmoud Samir Ahmed,
Principal of the High School of Business at Alexandria, Egypt and now visiting SIU.

Here And There

"Music Man" Meredith Willson and his wife, concert singer Rini Zarova will appear at the First Artist's Course presentation this week at CENTRAL MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY.

According to the student paper at CMU, Willson and his wife will give long hair music a haircut as they take the seriousness out of serious music.

A fire at INDIANA UNIVERSITY last week damaged two desks in one of the girls dorms. Officials said the cause of the fire was uncertain, but gave two possibilities of a smoldering cigarette in a waste basket or faulty wiring in a study lamp.

A freshman, who discovered the fire and fought to put it out, was admitted to the Infirmary after inhaling smoke fumes.

A PURDUE UNIVERSITY freshman engineering student was found dead in his residence hall early this week. He died of 22 caliber gunshot wounds.

The county coroner said the student, Robert M. Kostanzer, but did not rule whether it was suicide or accident.

The WASEDA UNIVERSITY, Tokyo, Japan, reports that the government recently decided on a plan to send youth abroad as one of the projects commemorating Crown Prince Akihito's wedding to Miss Michiko Shoda.

Under the plan, 100 youth will be sent to Europe, the United States and Southeast Asia for two or three months after the end of July.

UTAH STATE UNIVERSITY has an all-time high number of students registered this term... 4,890.

Flower Show Features Jet Theme Sunday

The jet age theme will dominate the sixth annual Carbondale Standard Fall Flower Show at Southern Sunday. The show, presented by the Carbondale Council of Garden Clubs in cooperation with the SIU Division of Area Services, will be open to the public from 1 until 8 p. m. in Muckelroy Auditorium.

Mrs. C. T. Jeffries, general chairman of the show, says entries will be accepted at the auditorium from 2:30 to 5 p. m. tomorrow and until 9:30 a. m. Sunday. In addition to first, second, third, and honorable mention ribbons as merited in each class, there will be a Tricolor award to the highest scoring ribbon winner in certain groups of artistic classes.

A sweepstakes award will go to the exhibitor with the greatest number of blue ribbons in horticulture. There also will be green seal awards for special exhibits, a sweepstakes award for the garden club with the greatest number of points as well as an award of distinction and an award of merit for certain attainments.

Labeled "A Jet's Eye View of American Cities," the show's artistic division will feature a wide variety of floral arrangements representing a dominant theme of various cities throughout the United States, Alaska and Hawaii. There will be a horticulture division for displays of fine specimens of home-grown flowers. Men and junior gardeners will have special sections in which to display their talents in arrangements and flower growers. One section will be open to artistic arrangements and horticultural displays by out-of-town persons—whether garden club members or not.

The flower show also will include educational and commercial exhibits by florists and SIU departments, and displays of table settings by the Five Carbondale garden clubs—all non-competitive exhibits.

Gus sees there must be something to the old belief about not being able to teach old dogs new tricks. Some professors just won't let classes out when the bell rings.

Press Issues Two New Books

Coinciding with the upcoming Joyce-Lawrence Symposium on campus Nov. 19-20, a "D. H. Lawrence Miscellany" will be published by Southern's University Press. Vernon Starnberg, director of the Press, has announced.

Publication date for the book, edited by Dr. Harry T. Moore, SIU English professor, is scheduled for Nov. 16.

An outstanding contemporary Lawrence critic and interpreter, Moore is the author of "The Life and Works of D. H. Lawrence," and "The Intelligent Heat: The Story of D. H. Lawrence."

He has selected from the numerous essays about Lawrence in the recent revival of interest in his work, from unpublished letters, and from other documents. The 30 selections examine the various aspects of the mind and set of one of the most controversial figures in twentieth-century literature.

Draws Gun, Hits Target In Split One-Quarter Second

BY ANITA LUBKO

James Bell, Jr., freshman business major from Franklin Park, can draw a gun and hit a target in a quarter of a second.

Jim is the fastest quick draw expert in Bell's Frontier Quick Draw Club, the only such chartered club in Illinois.

Coming from a four-generation family of gunsmiths, Jim is also an apprentice gunsmith at his father's gun and sport shop in Franklin Park. His family started the club three years ago with 40 members. Today the club consists of 100 members—both men and women.

Three years of practice have contributed to Jim's skill in handling the Colt. Last spring he performed with Sammy Davis at the Chez Paree in Chicago. This summer he gave a quick draw demonstration and performed with the shooters in the Pan American Games. He also has worked with the North-South Skirmishers, a group of men who dress in Civil War uniforms and demonstrate Civil War weapons.

Bell lists his most exciting experience as the time he demonstrated fancy shooting on horseback for a Fourth of July celebration in Blue Island.

His future plans include a job touring the country and demonstrating quick draw for the Colt Patent Firearms Co.

Even while in school, Jim doesn't want to lose any of his speed. He hopes to visit a quick draw club in Paducah, Ky., and perform for local organizations, showing them some real "fast shooting."

Ernest Simon

Instructor Returns After Burma Assignment

By STEVE COUSLEY

Ernest J. Simon, Dean of Industrial Education and Technical and Adult Education at Southern's Vocational Technical Institute, returned to SIU this term after 20 months in Burma.

He was invited to go to Burma in 1958 on a Ford Foundation grant, to serve as a consultant in vocational education to the Burmese government. He was also advisor to the minister of education and technical education.

Simon's job was to help the people of Burma develop technical education, to meet the needs of their country. It ranged from training people in crafts to training in artisan schools, designed for early school leavers. The program was to train youngsters coming back for training to enable them to set up a home workshop.

For this type program, his work also included the development of technical institutes and high schools for training of people for entrance into industry as skilled workers. This program extends two years beyond high school.

Upgrading Teachers

His work included training and upgrading of teachers there, as well as the training of new teachers to take care of new courses developed. These programs include agricultural and industrial training.

Burma is just developing its industries, Dean Simon reported. It is a relatively new country, having received its independence from Great Britain only 10 years ago. The country is not overpopulated and there is plenty of food, but the newly acquired independence brings the problem of manning their own industries.

Before, they just provided the raw materials, said the dean.

"Previously, the people acted as servants and supporting staff, since they were primarily unskilled laborers. They now must develop their own industries in their resource-laden country, and train people to operate them," said Dean Simon.

"These Burmese have done an outstanding job, doing everything they can to develop their school systems," he said. "They are wonderful people, very intelligent and very devout. Ninety percent of the Burmese population is Buddhist," he added.

"Each boy has to spend some time as a Buddhist novice. Since this requires reading ability the priests teach many of them to read. Because the country is so 'school conscious', the people have made tremendous strides in both their educational system and the building of new schools.

Language Difficulty
"One disadvantage that has arisen is the difficulty of translation of modern industrial and technical terms to the native language there," Simon explained.

When asked if there was a language barrier in his work, he replied, "No, there was no language barrier, because the students spoke English. When England controlled Burma, English was taught and used in the schools. However, Burmese is now the language of instruction."

"The whole program is designed to help make the educational system meet the needs of the people," the dean said. "There are not enough teachers or schools and it takes time to increase the number of both in order to develop an educational system adequate to meet the needs of the people. They need 688 schools; right now they have only 129 buildings suitable for use."

"The future is bright for Burma, in spite of the many problems facing the country at present," concluded the dean.

SIGMA PI'S USE FLOAT FOR CONTEST

Sigma Pi fraternity is holding an all-girl crowding contest in their float this Saturday afternoon at 4. The float consisted of a giant chicken, and the groups of girls will be competing to see who can get the most people inside the chicken. The contest will take place at the Sig Pi small group house.

All groups are invited to try, according to a spokesman of the fraternity. The float won second place in Class A.

The majority of students enrolled at Southern live in private homes or organized houses in the city of Carbondale or in surrounding areas.

Harvard, Columbia Recognize Southern John Dewey Series

Dr. George E. Axelle, SIU professor of education, delivered the final Dewey lecture, "Dewey and the Genius of American Civilization," Tuesday night in Morris Library Auditorium.

The lecture, last of a series of six, commemorated the 100th birthday of John Dewey. The six talks received recognition from both Harvard and Columbia Universities. The Southern Illinois University Press is in the process of printing all six lectures in book form.

Dr. Axelle recently retired as chairman of the history and philosophy department at New York University. He received his B.S. degree at the University of Washington, his M.A. degree in Hawaii, and his Ph. D. in California.

American Civilization

In his lecture, Dr. Axelle first stated certain characteristics of American civilization that characterized John Dewey. He explained that Dewey's philosophical ideas are applicable throughout the world and that Dewey was not only a great American, but a great world citizen. Dr. Axelle then read an essay from Dewey's book, "Philosophy in Civilization." Dewey felt that assimilating new and old subject matters is a test of philosophical thought, the lecture said.

Dr. Axelle then gave a brief biographical sketch of Dewey. John Dewey lived almost a century, dying at the age of 93.

He was born in Burlington, Vt., a small Puritan community. Dewey completed high school and college, then went on to graduate work at John Hopkins University. At the University of Michigan, he was chairman of the philosophy and psychology department. He studied at Minnesota, then came to Chicago to see "the underside of American civilization."

Dewey's Ideas
Dewey was preoccupied with theory. He regarded philosophy as a general theory of practice. Dr. Axelle explained what Dewey meant by an idea. He regarded the mind as a function, such as respiration or digestion. Dr. Axelle said. He spoke briefly on Dewey's ideas on aims of religion and education.

As a conclusion Dr. Axelle said Dewey started almost profound revolution in the history of the world. He grew to world stature by generalizing Americanized thinking in order to make it applicable to all human life, the speaker said.

A question and answer period followed the lecture, where Dr. Axelle discussed ideas with the audience. A coffee hour for Dr. Axelle and the audience followed this period.

The Trailer Court is a special area the University has built for the parking of trailers and may be occupied only by married students.

JV'S Crush Evansville, 50-0; Meet Eastern Illinois Here Today

By Larry Mayer
If Herb Fairfield's rampaging Saluki javvies tear up as much turf in McAndrew Stadium this afternoon as they did in Wednesday's 50-0 touchdown barrage, then the next home game will be played on a field which the agriculture department would probably classify as ready for the spring planting.

The SIU Pups have their sights set on Victory No. 3 and a clean sweep of the series with the Eastern's Panther Cubs. Since a 15-7 opening loss to Southeast Missouri State on October 2, Southern has scored wins at Eastern by a 20-6 count on October 9 and against Belleville Junior College on Wednesday. The team has tied for first place in the three contests to compare with 21 by its opposition.

'Eastern Tougher'
"Eastern is tougher than Belleville, but if we play like we did today, we should do all right," Fairfield commented Wednesday after watching his team pummel Belleville's wrecked defeat and its fifth straight loss without a victory.

SIU had control of the game after receiving the opening kickoff. The Pups moved 78 yards without giving up the ball, to their first tally early in the first period. Halfback Mickey Feather raced by the Belleville secondary from 21 yards out for the first of his two touchdowns. Barry Hoppen's toe accounted for the point after. Hoppen placed-kicked four extra points between the up-rights without a miss.

After the kickoff, Belleville failed to gain yardage and was forced to punt. The Pups made a series of gains to the visitor's two, where Feather went over the end zone.

Stunt Scores
A 21 yard pass by Pete Winston and a difficult catch by Randy Stoudt in the second quarter gave Southern another marker. Stoudt was covered by a defender on each side, but still managed to snatch the serial.
Jerry Vickery scored SIU's first touchdown in the second half when he intercepted a pass and raced unmolested down the sidelines in the third period. Belleville's greatest advance of the game carried the team one yard away from the Pup's goal line, but the visitors failed to score.

The greatest play of the day was Fullback Gene Lewis' 60 yard scamper for six points in the fourth period. A pass for two points gave Southern a 36-0 lead.

A Belleville fumble set up the Pups' next score. Southern recovered on the 50 and scored when Dennis Harley sneaked over from inside the one. An attempted run for two points failed.

Score by quarters:

	1	2	3	4	T
Belleville	0	0	0	0	0
Southern	14	7	7	22	50

Intramurals Get Underway 'Flag Football' Begins

By Tom McNamara
After many weeks of preparation and hard work of the intramural athletic department, intramural athletics got underway with the hole-in-one golf tournament that was held on Saturday, October 10.

Tom Randolph won the tournament with a shot that came within five inches of the cup. Allan Johnson placed second and Terry Alexander placed third last year in the tournament.

Flag Football Begins
Intramural flag football started off with a bang last Monday. Flag football differs greatly from varsity football and touch football. Flag football consists of seven players and each is eligible to receive a forward pass. Each player wears two plastic flags on his hips and one must be pulled off to stop the play. All penalties in flag football are fifteen yards. There is no line contact in flag football and the defensive team lines up five yards from the line of scrimmage. These contests are officiated by SIU students. The games are played at special fields that are laid out at Thompson Point and at Chautauque street.

Winner's of Monday's action were Theta Xi, Delta Deacons, Deuces, Brown Hall 2nd and 3rd floors, Phi Sigma Kappa, and Kappa Alpha Psi.

Tuesday's action found Brown Hall 1st floor, Bailey Hall, Vets Club, Delta Chi, Sigma Pi, Felis Feeler's and Pierce Hall 3rd floor winning their opening games.

Highlights of Monday and Tuesday's action were the games played between Kappa Alpha Psi and Sigma Tau, the other game found Pierce Hall 3rd floor against the Happy Losers.

Both of these games ended in 6-6 ties. The games are decided by the team having the most first downs. Winner's were Kappa Alpha Psi and Pierce Hall 3rd floor.

Scores of the other games are Theta Xi 12, Phi Kappa Tau 6; Doyle Deacons 14, Jolly Rogers 6; Deuces 7, Mason Dixon 6; Brown 2nd floor 37, Stump Jumpers 12; Brown 3rd floor 13, Ill. Ave., Men's Residence Hall 6; Phi Sigma Kappa 13, Tau Kappa Epsilon 12; and Kappa Alpha Psi 6, Sigma Tau 6.

Results of Tuesday's action are Brown 1st floor 13, 47's 12; Bailey Hall 7, Pierce 1st floor 6; Vets Club 20, Wesley Foundation 13; Delta Chi 34, Phi Sigma Kappa 0; Sigma Pi 20, Kappa Alpha Psi 0; Felis Feeler's 19, Dowdell Halls 5 & 8 12; and Pierce 3rd floor 6, Happy Losers 6.

Going into Wednesday's action the following teams are tied for first place, Theta Xi, Doyle Deacons, Deuces, Brown

Try To Even Mark Salukis Run After Redbirds

For the third consecutive week Southern's varsity Salukis will be involved in Homecoming festivities. This week it is at Illinois State Normal.

The visiting Salukis, led by freshman halfback Clarence Walker of DeQuincy La., are 2-3 for the season and 1-2 in IAC play. The Redbirds are a 2-2 for the season and 0-2 in conference.

Coach Ed Struck's Redbirds should give the Homecoming fans plenty of thrills against the Southerners, with senior quarterback Wayne Meece expected to be the key to ISNU's offense.

Meece had the best game of his career last Saturday against Warburg as he completed 11 for 15 passes for 143 yards and one touchdown.

Halfbacks Ron Ross, co-captain Dean Puyser, and J.R. Babcock will probably offer a consistent ground threat along with Meece and sophomore fullback Dave Babcock has shown at times that I Might Get Hit But...

By Ron Jacober Sports Editor

Saluki football fans have been waiting all fall to get a good look at the big, mean, veteran line that was supposed to be the most intact from last fall's squad: the best at SIU in more than a decade.

The SIU line, tabbed by the other schools around the conference before the season at the toughest forward wall in the IAC, has been anything but great this fall. This point was never more emphasized than it was last weekend against Eastern Illinois, the doormat of the IAC.

The Panthers, despite the fact that they didn't score, rolled up 235 yards rushing and 45 via the air for a total of 280 yards.

This is not an unusual story. The opposition has gained a total of 1,367 yards in five games thus far this season for a game average of almost 274 yards per game.

This total naturally includes the two games played in the fall. In the Northern game, the Huskies gained only 94 yards on the ground, but hardly carried the ball in the second half.

This figure is a little astounding when you look at last year's record—compiled by almost the same line. The Salukis finished second in the conference in total defense, allowing only 108 total yards per game—85 yards a game less than this season.

Southern's starting line averages about 220-pounds per man. The Salukis have outweighed every team they have met this season by as much as 7 pounds per man.

The Saluki forward wall, owning 13 of the 18 letterman back from last year, lost only Charlie Steptoe and Jim Marano from the powerful crew that was the main reason for the Salukis' fine 7-2 mark.

However, it probably all goes back to the fact that Southern is not winning with much authority. If the Salukis stand at 5-0 or 4-1 at this stage of the season and still allowed 300 yards a game, everyone would probably still refer to them as the meanest, toughest line in the conference. But when a team is not winning, someone has to get chewed out for it.

Congratulations to the Intramural Department! It looks as if the IM board may have finally come up with something to solve, or at least curb, the forfeit problem.

In past years the intramural board has done a bang up job with the intramural athletic program. However, their efforts have always been marred by too many forfeits.

A new policy has been installed this year. Every team entering the football, volleyball, basketball and softball tournaments are required to deposit $6. This money will be refunded at the end of the season provided the team does not forfeit a game. Should a team forfeit one game $3 will be deducted from the amount deposited. If a team forfeits two games, the remaining money will be deducted and the team will be dropped from the league.

The intramural program at SIU is a tremendous thing. Over 4,000 men take part in the many events held each school year. This new forfeit rule looks as if it may make things even better.

Walker "Top Dog" In Saluki Kennel With 307 Yards

Powerful Clarence Walker, still rated at SIU's one-man wrecking crew.

The speedy freshman halfback from DeQuincy, La., cheered some 13,000 Homecoming fans last weekend as he led the Salukis to a 7-0 win over Eastern Illinois. In 16 carries, Walker netted 126 yards and scored Southern's only TD on a 23 yard scamper, to give the Salukis their second win of the year.

Walker, in five games, has gained 307 yards in 60 carries—almost half of the Salukis' total yardage on the ground. He also leads the team in scoring with 14 points.

Ron Winter, Cami quarterback, paced the aerial offense with 16 completions in 45 attempts for 149 yards and one score. Three of his tosses have fallen into enemy hands.

Battle Top End
Jim Battle, freshman end of Chicago is Winter's favorite target with seven grabs for a total of 49 yards, End Dick Nelson, Wheaton, is 13 yards back with five for 13 and one TD.

Quarterback Bob Stone, San Francisco freshman has a 33.6 yard punting average with 32 kicks going 1,074 yards.

The Salukis, off to a slow start, now are 2-3 for the year with victories over West Virginia State, 20-6, and Eastern Illinois, 7-0. Losses were to Eastern Illinois, 20-8; Northern Illinois, 20-15, and Western Illinois, 33-6. Southern's Interstate Conference mark is 1-2.

Southern starts the stretch run tomorrow at Illinois State (2-2) in an IAC game. The Redbirds own a 17-9 edge, with two ties, over the Salukis in a 28-year series. State last year upended SIU, 21-8.

Hurons Next
Following the Redbird game, the Salukis will travel to Eastern Michigan for a league game with the Hurons, then return home for the final games of the year. Powerful Bowling Green will be here for a non-loop tilt Nov. 7, and Central Michigan will close the season and IAC play Nov. 14.

RODABAUGH SPEAKS TO NON-EUCLEIDEANS

Louis P. Rodabaugh, associate professor of mathematics, will be the featured speaker at the Non-Euclidean Club meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p. m., in Old Main 311.

"Four-Color Problem" will be the subject of Rodabaugh's talk.

"Opportunities in Mathematics" will also be discussed by J.S. Brown, lecturer in mathematics.

According to Rodabaugh, the history of mathematics boasts several problems which defied solution for long periods of time. Some of these problems yielded eventually to the attacks of professional mathematicians. Others, strangely enough, were first solved by laymen. Still others have continued to resist the efforts of the world's greatest minds. One of these yet unsolved mathematical problems, intriguing to even the non-mathematician through its apparent simplicity, is the famous Four-Color Problem. As this problem has come down through the centuries it has left in its wake a formidable list of frustrations, mental breakdowns and even suicides. Yet the statement of the problem is so simple that it can be understood by a child.

"Who knows?" questioned Rodabaugh, "Perhaps some person not trained in mathematics will yet be the first to point the way to a solution of this problem. There is interest for everyone in the tragic-comic story of this baffler of all mankind."

The meeting is open to all persons, whether or not they are in the mathematics department.
