Clean-Up Day attracts a 'good turnout'

By Andrew Straug
Staff Writer

More than 14.5 tons of trash, which ranged from paper and bottles to refrigerators and kitchen sinks, was collected Saturday during the second annual Carbondale Clean-up Day.

Despite overcast weather, SIU-C students and faculty, Carbondale citizens, National Guardsmen and city trash collectors pitched in to top last year's Clean-up Day collection total by 4.5 tons.

Workers from the Student Environmental Center separated out aluminum cans, glass bottles and newspaper for recycling. The rest of the trash, including a 20-foot-long antenna, washing machines and more than 5,000 plastic bags full of garbage, was stuffed into city dump trucks.

lenna, washing machines and more than 5,000 plastic bags full of garbage, was stuffed into city dump trucks.

The National Guard provided three troop carriers and three jeeps to transport workers and trash during the event, which was sponsored by the Undergraduate Student Organization.

In addition, the Veterans Club provided 160 pounds of roasted pig for the workers, which was eaten in about 20 minutes.

"This is just a fantastic event. I believe this is probably one of the best examples of University and city cooperation that I have had a chance to witness," said Bruce Swinburne, vice president for student affairs, at the opening ceremonies.

Approximately 300 people attended the ceremonies, which included speeches by Albert Somit, SIU-C president, Carroll Fry, Carbondale city manager, and Helen Westberg, Carbondale City Council member.

Throughout the day, hundreds of people brought garbage in their own cars and pick-up trucks to Lemus Turley Park, Clean-up Day headquarters. The workers were predominantly students in fraternities, sororities, and organizations. A number of townspeople, individual students and SIU-C faculty members, including Norman Doorebos, dean of the College of Science, and Eugene Timpe, chairman of the Department of Foreign Languages and Literature, also helped.

Workers covered the entire city, focusing on certain areas such as the Illinois Central Gulf railroad tracks, where members of the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity collected more than three tons of trash.

Fritz Levenhagen, USO Clean-up Day Committee co-chairman, was pleased with the turnout, he said, "considering the weather."

Workers separated bottles and cans from loads of garbage at Clean-up Day Headquarters at Turley Park.

Tuck Industries to take over lease

Job office closing averted

By John Schrag
Staff Writer

The Carbondale Job Service, which faced the prospect of being closed because of federal and state budget cuts, will remain open—thanks to Tuck Tape Industries Inc.

Tuck Industries, one of Carbondale's biggest employers, has agreed to pay for the Job Service's lease in the Eurma C. Hayes Center if no other funding can be found. The current lease is $6,500 a year, although Job Service officials have said they could run a reduced program with space costing $300.

The Tuck Tape plant in Carbondale uses the Job Service in hiring all of its nearly 400 employees.

Matt Maier, plant manager, said the loss of the Job Service would hurt the entire community.

"That office has given us a lot of good people and has been very helpful in finding jobs for minorities throughout the community," he said.

Maier also said that low-income residents might experience difficulty in getting to Murphysboro, the nearest town to Carbondale with a Job Service office.

He said that although Tuck Industries is willing to pay for the lease by itself, he would like to see other local employers contribute to funding the job office.

"We're just one of 300 businesses that use the office," he said. "I think it would show a lot more community support if other businesses could pay about 50 percent of the costs."

Because of cuts in federal funds to the state, the Illinois General Services Administration decided last month to consolidate the services of the Carbondale office with Job Service offices in Murphysboro and Herrin. The IGSA did not renew the Carbondale office's lease, which expired Sept. 30.

The city agreed to extend the lease one month while State Sen. Kenneth Buzbee, D-58th, and State Rep. Bruce Richmond, D-58th, sought state funding.

Rep. Richmond said he and Buzbee will continue to seek state funds despite Tuck Industries' offer.

"I don't think it's fair that the local people in one city are forced to pay for a service that the state pays for everywhere else," he said.

Mideast military drills scheduled, Haig says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will conduct a major military exercise with Egypt and other Arab forces within the next month as "sign of reassurance...in the post-Sadat situation." Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. said Sunday.

Haig said the military exercise following Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's assassination last week will include "a highly increased U.S. presence" that may feature the use of American B-52 bombers.

"U.S. force in the region...would be working in conjunction with the forces of the government of Egypt and other governments such as Oman," he said.

The exercise and the possibility of speeding delivery of U.S. arms already scheduled to go to Egypt were discussed last week by Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger and Egyptian Defense Minister Abdel Hadim Abu Ghazala. Haig said.

Haig, interviewed in Cairo on NBC's "Meet the Press" program from Washington, said he does not anticipate warfare between Egypt and Libya.

"But one (who) has observed recent Libyan activity both in the subversive and overt area...has to have his nerve ends tingled a little more than has been the case in the past," he said.

Students are 'victims' of energy prices

By John Schrag
Staff Writer

"Most SIU students are renters, and most renters in Carbondale are sending energy dollars right through their roofs, like water through a sieve."

Those are the words of Carbondale Energy Division Coordinator Robert Pauls, who believes that students are among the biggest victims of soaring energy prices, and need to become involved in changing that situation.

Pauls said rental units are generally not energy-efficient because landlords, who often don't pay tenant's utility bills, are reluctant to spend money for conservation measures. But Pauls said there are several ways students can fight high energy bills in rental units.

Pauls encouraged students to attend a public hearing Monday on two proposed energy plans being considered for Carbondale. The hearing, scheduled for 7 p.m. in the City Council Chambers, 607 E. College St., provides a good opportunity for students to learn about the local energy situation and make their views known to the City Council, he said.

One plan, proposed by the Shawnee Solar Project, would establish a comprehensive energy plan financed by a 3 percent utilities tax. A more limited plan, drawn up by the city would focus on energy education using city funds.

"Either proposal will have an effect on students only if they become informed and invoiced," Pauls said.

He noted that both plans call for a free energy-audit program that would be available to students. In such a program, trained auditors come to homes and businesses to determine what conservation measures would be most effective for particular buildings. He said an important feature of audits is the use of thermograms, which photographically measure temperature differences and shows where heat escapes from or enters a building.

"Such a system will make the audit program much more tangible to people," he said. "They will be able to visually see where they are losing energy dollars."

Pauls also said fairly inexpensive conservation measures can be taken which pay for themselves in the short time that students live in rented houses or apartments. He said many energy saving devices—such as removable weather stripping—can be kept by students once they move.

Students may also be able to participate in a city-sponsored energy index system Pauls is working on. Under the program, students agree to have records of their energy bills kept by the City Energy Division, or possibly by the Illinois Public Interest Research Group. Renters could then compare the energy efficiency of different rental units in the city. Pauls said that if enough students participated in an such a program, landlords might be persuaded to weatherize their buildings or lower the rent.

Pauls said the construction of new apartment complexes in Carbondale will make the housing market more competitive and may force landlords to be more energy conscious.

Gus Bode

Gus says that students might be able to warm up their homes with weatherstripping, but don't expect that to cool off the hot little hands of their landlords.

Arab heads won't admit support for peace, Carter, Ford say

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Presidents Jimmy Carter and Gerald R. Ford said in an unprecedented joint interview en route home from the funeral of Anwar Sadat that many moderate Arab leaders have told them privately that they support the Camp David peace process, but can't admit that to their own countrymen.

"When I would meet with Arab leaders ... the Saudis in particular, they were hoping that the peace process would succeed," Carter said. "But it's almost impossible for an Arab to step forward."

Ford agreed, saying that moderate Arabs, "especially when you talk to leaders privately ... they will tell you how hopeful they are ... that the peace process continues. They have decided (they) will not — or cannot — support Camp David in a public way. But they do totally subscribe to a continuation of the process. They are as anxious as Sadat was for peace."

Most Arab leaders conspicuously stayed away from Saturday's funeral for the murdered Egyptian president, who was denounced as a traitor to the Arab world for making a separate peace with Israel. In several Arab capitals, people took to the streets to celebrate his assassination, and Libya declared Sunday a national holiday in celebration of Sadat's death.

The former presidents share a mutual enmity toward Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy, whom Carter called "subhuman" and Ford labeled "a bully" and "a cancer on that part of the globe."

The two past presidents also agreed the United States eventually will have to recognize the Palestine Liberation Organization as part of a formula for lasting peace in the Middle East.

Carter and Ford, both in shirtsleeves, sat across a small table from each other in the forward cabin as they spoke to reporters aboard the presidential aircraft they knew as Air Force One during their terms in office. The Air Force and the White House, however, reserve that name for the plane carrying the incumbent president.

Former President Richard Nixon, who flew to Cairo with the other two living former presidents, remained behind for a private trip to several Arab nations and was not present for the interview.

Carter defeated Ford in a close and bitter race for the presidency in 1976; then Ford campaigned hard to help Ronald Reagan beat Carter in a landslide last November.

Egyptian official denies attack report

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Egyptian police sources said Sunday that gunmen in two cars sprayed machine gun fire at the home of Interior Minister Nabawy Ismail, killing an undetermined number of his bodyguards. Ismail told a news conference the report was "completely a lie."

The police sources said the attack occurred hours after the funeral on Saturday of President Anwar Sadat. They also said there were armed attacks on at least two police stations in Cairo, and a shootout between police and Moslem fundamentalists barricaded inside a Cairo mosque.

Security sources, meanwhile, said they were seeking at least two other suspects in the assassination of Sadat last Tuesday.

Ismail called a news conference minutes after the report of the attack on his house, but later refused to field questions. Instead, he took reporters on a tour of his offices and, in the process, said there was no attack on his house.

He characterized the report, from sources whose reports in the past have been accurate, as "completely a lie, don't believe it." Then he said there would be no news conference, and told reporters to leave.

Reporters who drove by his house Sunday night saw no evidence of damage but security men prevented reporters from getting a close look.

The police sources had said the attack occurred late Saturday or early Sunday and that some of Ismail's security men were killed. The attackers escaped, according to the report.

News Roundup

Solidarity offered say in food crisis

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Bowing to a demand by Solidarity's congress, the Communist government offered Sunday to include representatives of the independent union on a commission to solve the country's food crisis.

However, the government announced at the same time that more price hikes will be necessary by next month.

The conciliatory gesture came as Polish consumers threatened another round of strikes to protest food shortages, and amid reports of panic-buying of gasoline in Warsaw.

Thatcher vows opposition to IRA

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher on Sunday took flowers to the soldiers and civilians wounded by the IRA's bomb attack on a busload of Irish Guards and condemned the bombing as a "cold, callous, brutal and sub-human thing."

"I shall never, never give them political status ... never," Mrs. Thatcher said of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, which claimed responsibility for Saturday's deadly bombing.

Egyptians allowed at Sadat's tomb

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Barred from the funeral of Anwar Sadat to ensure the security of foreign dignitaries, Egyptians were allowed for the first time Sunday to visit the place where their president died and was laid to rest.

Children poked curious fingers into the bullet holes and their fathers shook their heads and asked how it could have happened. A few women wore black and someone had a tape of the fatal gunfire.

It was the first time authorities allowed the everyday citizens to inspect the bullet-scarred reviewing stand where Sadat was cut down last Tuesday by assassins identified by the government as a renegade army officer and three men masquerading as soldiers in the annual military parade.

Law school remodeling means new campus housing by 1982

By David Murphy
Staff Writer

New on-campus housing for graduate students should be available by fall of 1982 if remodeling plans for the law school's library and former offices are completed on time. "The plans are being drawn up right now," said Samuel Rinella, director of housing services. "We hope to finish the remodeling by August, 1982. Bids on the work should start going out in January or February at the latest."

The two remodeled buildings will be used to house medical, law and graduate students, he said.

"The two buildings combined should accommodate about 90 students," Rinella said. "They won't have cafeterias in them, but they will have kitchenettes for the students to use."

The law school offices, formerly located at 114 Small Group Housing, have moved into the newly constructed Law School Building, according to Elizabeth Kelly, director of the law library.

The library, at 113 Small Group Housing, will probably be moved to the Law School Building at the end of the semester, Kelly said.

Legislation approving $300,000 for the remodeling project was signed into law in September by Gov. James R. Thompson. That money, appropriated from University income funds, should be enough to complete the project, according to Rinella.

"That should just about cover the majority of it," Rinella said. "It will get us the necessary furniture and other articles. It will probably take care of everything, in fact."

Clarence Dougherty, vice president for campus services, said local companies will be contracted for the work.

Dougherty said University officials hope to have the work completed by fall of 1982.

"It would be nice to be finished by then," he said.

Statute may snarl city bikeway plan

A new snarl in the form of a state statute may entangle the City Council's progress in establishing an expanded Carbondale bikeway network.

The law, to become effective Jan. 1, allows the use of bicycles on sidewalks, which conflicts with the city code under which the network proposal was written. The code prohibits bicycles on sidewalks.

Don Monty, community development director for Carbondale, said options available to the council include rewriting the network proposal.

"If the council decides to allow bicycle riding on all sidewalks, then the ordinance could be passed as proposed now," Monty said.

The council would need to use its home rule power if it decides to prohibit bike riding on sidewalks in some parts of the network, Monty said.

A Carbondale man was being held in Jackson County Jail Sunday after he allegedly approached two SIU-C students and attempted to force them into his car at gunpoint early Saturday morning.

network has been suggested by Monty, and City Manager Carroll Fry suggested that the council hold another hearing on the network.

The students, Michael Rante, 21, and Joan Gages, 20, told police they were able to break free and run from Braddy, who allegedly fired a shot in the air as they fled. Braddy was arrested shortly thereafter in the 700 block of West Mill Street. No injuries were reported.

Braddy was scheduled to appear in Jackson County Circuit Court Tuesday for a preliminary hearing.

Opinion & Commentary

Stand up and be counted on MSU energy proposal

It is time to become acquainted with three words that spell out a constructive program for energy conservation in Carbondale: Municipal Solar Utility.

The need for such a program has been increasingly evident since the 1973 oil embargo—an event that made us aware of the fact that we face an energy crisis of staggering proportions. That crisis affects every one of us. We feel it every month when the utility bills arrive.

The figures speak for themselves. It has been projected that between the years 1967 and 1990 electric bills will have increased 700 percent, natural gas bills 900 percent and gasoline 1000 percent. On the individual level, these increases will have a profound effect. In 1970, an average consumer spent approximately 5 percent of his or her income on energy bills. By 1990, that figure had reached 15-20 percent. By 1990, nearly 50 percent of an individual's income will be spent on energy use alone.

To have that large a proportion of income going toward energy consumption alone is not only disastrous to the individual consumer, but disastrous to the economic welfare of the entire community as well.

It is clear that something must be done to meet this problem and it is equally clear that the Reagan administration is not going to make the necessary effort to promote energy conservation and provide energy alternatives.

The Municipal Solar Utility, or simply MSU, is the name of a program drawn up by the Shawnee Solar Project to meet the specific energy problems of Carbondale and it will be the subject of a public hearing in City Council chambers Monday night. It is important for residents of Carbondale to know what the MSU proposes and it is equally important for those who are concerned about the energy future of Carbondale to show up at this public hearing.

The proposals are fairly simple and straightforward. The MSU plan would provide free energy audits for every building in Carbondale, provided that the owner or resident requests it. If the resident wants to implement the work which the auditor recommends, assistance would be given in the arrangement of financing through private lending institutions or the MSU Conservation Loan Fund. The work that was done to improve the energy efficiency of the building would then be inspected to ensure that it was done properly.

That is the core of the plan, which, along with a community education program on energy conservation, would be financed through a 3 percent Energy Consumption Tax. The tax would be added on to monthly utility bills and CIPS would then transfer the money to the city.

It is a unique and revolutionary plan with a potential for profoundly affecting the future of energy use in Carbondale. It is a chance for the citizens of Carbondale to take matters into their own hands and arrest the spiraling rate of energy cost increases.

But it is meeting some stiff resistance from the powers that be in Carbondale and that resistance is at least partially based on the fear of that 3 percent tax. The issue of taxes is a political minefield, to be sure, but it would be an unfortunate misreading of the widespread frustration over energy costs if the City Council rejects the MSU plan.

A 3 percent tax is, after all, a drop in the bucket when compared to the recent 30 percent increase in natural gas prices. The citizens of Carbondale, if given all the facts in the matter, would very likely accept a 3 percent tax over the next five years if they could feel sure that the proposed plan would bring energy costs down in the long run.

Carbondale faces a unique opportunity. If it implements the MSU plan, it will serve as a "model city" and it will be in the forefront of cities that are taking their energy future into their own hands. That may be Reaganomics, but it is also common sense.

Monday night's public hearing will afford the citizens of Carbondale the opportunity to turn the City Council around on this issue. Without a show of support, the MSU plan will end up as just another pipe dream. With a show of support, the council members may be persuaded to change their minds.

As Mayor Hans Fischer said recently, "I've been around here long enough to know that council members can count voters." Hopefully, they will be doing a lot of counting Monday night.

Letters

Chamber's position is inconsistent

I am writing in regard to a letter written recently by the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce to the Carbondale City Council stating that they do not support plans for any sort of Municipal Solar Utility. I am surprised and upset that the Chamber is so short-sighted that they can't see their way clear to saving themselves some money, and is so negligent in their responsibility to the community that supports it.

the size of the federal government and have local governments assume more responsibilities. On the other, they oppose local attempts to design and implement locally-funded programs that address a real need—dealing with soaring energy bills.

I have to question what possible motive the Chamber might have in opposing the MSU plan, a plan that could give Carbondale clean, safe, efficient energy. Is this just a case of "business as usual," or are the Chamber leaders just uninformed? —Elaise T. Moselle, Carbondale.

I find the Chamber's positions to be grossly inconsistent. On the one hand, the Chamber has strongly supported the president's attempts to reduce

Chamber of Commerce offers empty rhetoric in energy debate

By John Schrag
Staff Writer

THE CURRENT DEBATE over what energy plan is best for Carbondale has raised valid concerns about the possible drawbacks of both proposals being considered by the city. It has also led to a good amount of rhetorical nonsense.

One of the biggest sources of such nonsense is the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, which, in a letter to the City Council, stated that it "does not support any municipal solar utility." One would think that a group that represents the business sector of the community would be enthusiastically responsive to a comprehensive energy plan.

But instead the Chamber board is outspokenly opposed to such a plan. It chose to ignore a very important fact: as energy costs continue to rise faster than salaries, Carbondale residents will have less discretionary income to spend in local businesses. It also ignored the fact that 85 cents of every dollar paid for imported energy leaves the community, and thus residents will be giving more and more money to Exxon and Saudi Arabia rather than Towne Central and the Westown Mall.

IN STATING its opposition to the comprehensive plan the Chamber board refers to its resistance to the "additional rules and regulations" it sees imposed by the plan. This is simply ridiculous. The comprehensive plan does not call for any additional government regulations, and the proposal makes it quite clear that it is an entirely voluntary program.

In the letter to the council, the board also expressed its belief that the marketplace should be left alone to handle energy demands. This too is utter nonsense. Did the marketplace adequately respond to the Arab oil embargo in 1973? Long lines and shootings at American gas stations hardly seem to be a desirable marketplace response. And what will happen if an oil tanker is sunk in the Straits of Hormuz (as the CIA predicts will happen within the next five years) and the U.S. oil supply is suddenly cut in half? How will the marketplace respond then?

THE FACT IS THAT the laws of supply and demand don't work when there is no supply. The comprehensive plan, through a combined effort of energy conservation and renewable energy production, seeks to decrease our dependence on that unstable supply of imported energy. It also must be remembered that people need energy to exist. Natural gas is not the same as caviar; you can't simply sit back and allow the market price to rise as the supply decreases. Some low-income families are already spending half of their income on energy costs, and further price increases may force them into a "heat or eat" situation unless something is done.

Some of these misconceptions could surely have been cleared up if the Chamber board had honored the request of the comprehensive plan's authors to address the board. This request, however, was denied, and the Chamber board's ignorance is painfully evident.

BUT PERHAPS THE Chamber board members are not as misinformed as they seem. Perhaps they have other reasons for opposing the comprehensive plan. On the board sits, among others, the owners of the Wall Street Quads and Brookside Manor, representatives from the University and Westown malls, a couple of bank owners and a realtor. What do they have in common? Very large energy bills. And what does the comprehensive plan propose? A five-year, 3 percent tax on those bills.

For the average homeowner, a 3 percent tax will not amount to much. In fact, when compared to the recent 30 percent hike in natural gas prices, a small tax to fund a program that will enable them to conserve some of their increasingly-costly energy may be a bargain.

But to the owners of banks, apartments and shopping centers, a 3 percent tax cuts down on profits—profits that have already been reduced because their customers, having to pay bigger energy bills, have less money to spend in the business sector.

Feedback from community groups is essential if the City Council is to accurately assess the need for an energy plan. But, whatever their reasons, the feedback from the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce is neither constructive nor convincing. This is unfortunate. The debate is complex enough without the rhetorical nonsense of a group that refuses to look at the facts.

WHAT COULD THE ARMY POSSIBLY OFFER A BRIGHT PERSON LIKE YOU?

Drop your guard for a minute. Even though you're in college right now, there are many aspects of the Army that you might find very attractive.

Maybe even irresistible. See for yourself.

MED SCHOOL ON US

You read it right.

The Army's Health Professions Scholarship Program provides necessary tuition, books, lab fees, even microscope rental during medical school.

Plus a monthly stipend that works out to about $6,000 a year.

After you're accepted into medical school, you can be accepted into our program. Then you're commissioned and you go through school as a Second Lieutenant in the Army Reserve.

The hitch? Very simple. After you graduate, you give the Army a year as a doctor for every year the Army gave you as a med student, with a minimum obligation of three years' service.

INTERNSHIP, RESIDENCY & CASH BONUSES

Besides scholarships to medical school, the Army also offers AMA-approved first-year post-graduate and residency training programs.

Such training adds no further obligation to the scholarship participant. But any Civilian Graduate Medical Education sponsored by the Army gives you a one-year obligation for every year of sponsorship, with a minimum obligation of two years' service.

But you get a $9,000 annual bonus every year you're paying back medical school or post-graduate training.

So you not only get your medical education paid for, you get extra pay while you're paying it back. Not a bad deal.

A GREAT PLACE TO BE A NURSE

The rich tradition of Army Nursing is one of excellence, dedication, even heroism. And it's a challenge to live up to.

Today, an Army Nurse is the epitome of professionalism, regarded as a critical member of the Army Medical Team.

A BSN degree is required. And the clinical spectrum is almost impossible to match in civilian practice.

And, since you'll be an Army Officer, you'll enjoy more respect and authority than most of your civilian counterparts. You'll also enjoy travel opportunities, officer's pay and officer's privileges.

Army Nursing offers educational opportunities that are second to none. As an Army Nurse, you could be selected for graduate degree programs at civilian universities.

ADVANCED NURSING COURSE, TUITION-FREE

You get tuition, pay and living allowances. You can also take Nurse Practitioner courses and courses in many clinical specialties. All on the Army.

While these programs do not cost you any money, most of them do incur an additional service obligation.

A CHANCE TO PRACTICE LAW

If you're about to get your law degree and be admitted to the bar, you should consider a commission in the Judge Advocate General Corps. Because in the Army you get to practice law right from the start.

While your classmates are still doing other lawyers' research and other lawyers' briefs, you could have your own cases, your own clients, in effect, your own practice.

Plus you'll have the pay, prestige and privileges of being an Officer in the United States Army. With a chance to travel and make the most of what you've worked so hard to become. A real, practicing lawyer. Be an Army Lawyer.

ROTC SCHOLARSHIPS

Though you're too late for a 4-year scholarship, there are 3-, 2-, and even 1-year scholarships available.

They include tuition, books, and lab fees. Plus $100 a month living allowance. Naturally they're very competitive. Besides helping you towards your degree, an ROTC scholarship helps you towards the gold bars of an Army Officer.

Stop by the ROTC office on campus and ask about details.

UP TO $170 A MONTH

You can combine service in the Army Reserve or National Guard with Army ROTC and get between $7,000 and $14,000 while you're still in school.

It's called the Simultaneous Membership Program. You get $100 a month as an Advanced Army ROTC Cadet and an additional $70 a month (sergeant's pay) as an A. my Reservist.

When you graduate, you'll be commissioned as a Second Lieutenant, but not necessarily assigned to active duty. Find out about it.

A BONUS FOR PART-TIME WORK

You can get a $1,500

bonus just for enlisting in some Army Reserve units. Or up to $4,000 in educational benefits.

You also get paid for your Reserve duty. It comes out to about $1,100 a year for one weekend a month and two weeks annual training.

And now we have a special program to help you fit the Army Reserve around your school schedule.

It's worth a look.

A SECOND CHANCE AT COLLEGE

Some may find college to be the right place at the wrong time for a variety of reasons. The Army can help them, too.

A few years in the Army can help them get money for tuition and the maturity to use it wisely.

The Army has a program in which money saved for college is matched two-for-one by the government. Then, if one qualifies, a generous bonus is added to that.

So 2 years of service can get you up to $15,200 for college, 3 and 4 years up to $20,100. In addition, bonuses up to $5,000 are available for 4-year enlistments in selected skills.

Add in the experience and maturity gained, and the Army can send an individual back to college a richer person in more ways than one.

We hope these Army opportunities have intrigued you as well as surprised you. Because there is indeed a lot the Army can offer a bright person like you.

'Here's to ya,' Corky Siegel

By Joe Walter
Entertainment Editor

If Corky Siegel's performance proved anything Saturday night, it was that students could get something good—forget good—great—for free.

As a matter of fact, Siegel's concert, ironically, was much more memorable than recent musical acts here which students have paid as much as $7.50 a head to hear. The personable Siegel and his band members, Bobby Diamond on guitar, Rollo Radford on bass, and Frank Donaldson on drums, performed close to a two-hour set which began at 9:20 p.m.

The crowd, which packed most of Student Center Ballrooms A, B, C, and D, responded ecstatically to Siegel's humor-punctuated repertoire. There was even one spontaneous instance in which a student rose to leave from where he sat on the floor near the performing platform and Siegel excused him by saying "Okay, go ahead," in the manner of a grammar school teacher allowing a pupil to go to the potty.

His songs, like "Linoleum," "Half-Asleep at the Wheel" and "Since I Told You I love You (You Haven't Been Around)," were bluesy and sung in a warm, laid-back style that accentuated the good-natured humor of the lyrics.

The music was boogie-woogie jazz and blues, with a touch of calypso, at its best. Because of the superlative mixing, every instrument was heard and the sound quality was excellent and unmuddled, which lately has been a rarity in the Student Center.

Diamond's guitar playing was fluid. His fingers literally glided over the strings. He made his guitar sing throughout the whole set. Radford's bass was also excellent and melodically pronounced.

And the star of the show, Siegel, provided the crowd with some truly distinctive piano and harmonica. His piano and vocal solo song "Idaho Potato Man," treated the crowd to a boogie beat. During the song, the other three musicians joined Siegel at different intervals. This was the height of the show.

The end of the show was also distinctive. After two encores for a crowd that wanted more and more and more, Siegel and Radford told the crowd goodbye to a calypso beat. Radford sang, "gu-gu-gu-gu-gu-gu-gu-good night!" and Siegel sang as if asking the other members of the band, "How do we get out of this one? How do we get out of this one?"

Siegel not only showed the crowd a good time, he showed them that he cared that they came out. It was not like other, bigger bands I have seen here, who seem to do their set, pick up the check and split for Chicago or St. Louis. Corky, here's to ya.

'Joe Egg' explores emotional struggle

"A Day in the Death of Joe Egg," by Peter Nichols, will run at 8 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday in the Laboratory Theater of the Communications Building.

The play explores the lives of Brian (Anthony Hausman) and Sheila (Mary Linn Snyder), a young, married couple facing up to the task of raising their retarded daughter, Joe (Sarah Mitchell).

As Brian and Sheila strive to come to grips with their pain, their situation is further burdened by their well-meaning friends, Freddie (V. Kent Modglin) and Pam (Mary Jane Stephens), and Brian's mother, Grace (Faith Potts). Although they want to help, they misunderstand Brian and Sheila's tragedy and how they have chosen to cope with it.

"Joe Egg" is a play about emotional partnership, growing up and love. Its darkly humorous and compassionate story offers a cynical but hopeful view into the future of a young marriage.

The play marks the SIU-C directing debut of Calvin MacLean, one of the newest members of the Department of Theater faculty.

Admission to the play is $2. Tickets are available from noon to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday at the McLeod Theater box office. Because of the intimate nature of the Laboratory Theater, no one will be admitted after 8 p.m.

Starship will play at Arena

Jefferson Starship, featuring Grace Slick, will perform at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 27, at the Arena.

Starting their musical career as Jefferson Airplane, Starship remains a highly talented band with members Pete Sears, Aynsley Dunbar, Mickey Thomas, Paul Kantner, Craig Chaquico and David Freiberg.

The group has had several successful albums. Starship's most recent release, "Modern Times," returns the talent of Grace Slick to the group with two of their hit singles, "Find Your Way Back" and "Stranger."

Tickets for Jefferson Starship are $7 and $9 at the Arena South Lobby Box Office.

'Messiah' to be presented; singers sought

The Volunteers of the Arts, a support group of the Marion Cultural and Civic Center, is looking for people interested in singing "The Messiah" Dec. 18. The group is again presenting "The Messiah" in response to requests from those who saw last year's performance. To limit the number of rehearsals, choir members must have a working knowledge of "The Messiah" and be able to perform it after three rehearsals. Dan Mellado, a faculty member in the School of Music, will again direct "The Messiah." Those who participated last year have been invited to repeat the performance. A meeting for interested people will be announced at a later date. Information concerning rehearsal plans is available from the civic center at 997-4030.

Student job competition is intense, increasing

By Andrew Strang
Staff Writer

In three days last month, between 150 and 200 people filled out employment applications for four jobs at Wendy's Hamburgers after the manager put a "help wanted" sign in the window.

Twenty-nine job hunters filled out applications at 403 W. Monroe for a job as a home repairman in the first 30 minutes that the employer, a home remodeler, was taking applications.

Mamie Powers, assistant manager of Campus Mail Service, filled three student jobs in two days. It used to take eight to 10 days to fill the openings, she said.

An opening for a clerk in Travel Service was filled the same day the job was listed at the Student Work and Financial Assistance Office in Woody Hall. Paula Montgomery, who hired the clerk after receiving six applications, said when she worked in other departments at the University, "It would be several weeks before people were hired."

Stephanie Goliher, manager of McDonald's, 817 S. Illinois Ave., said, "We've got a stack of applications about 3 inches tall." She said she is not hiring at the moment.

These are just a few examples of the competition that students have been facing in job hunting. SIU-C students are competing for about 3,000 off-campus jobs and 3,200 on-campus jobs, according to James F. Moore, assistant director of Student Work and Financial Assistance.

Moore does not think students are having any harder time finding jobs this year than in previous years. He said any student who really wants to work can get a job on-campus. According to Moore, many students "take themselves out of the job market" by scheduling their classes throughout the day, leaving no times when they can work.

Jack Altmanberger, personnel manager at the J.C. Penney Co. store in the University Mall, said he has received "slightly more" applications than last year, but he said he has not had an "abnormal" increase in applicants. Penney's is not hiring workers, he said, but when they do, they usually use applications already received instead of advertising the opening.

However, Al Morgan, veterans employment representative at the Illinois Job Service in Carbondale, believes students are having a more difficult time finding jobs because the job turnover in Carbondale is low. He said many students have been staying in Carbondale during breaks and getting jobs and holding on to them when classes begin.

A check of the job listings in the Student Work and Financial Assistance Office and of newspaper help-wanted ads seems to show that the competition for student jobs has increased.

For example, David Slescher, student supervisor of the Handicapped Van Transportation Service, said 12 to 15 students responded to a job offer that was listed late last month at Woody Hall. He felt he would have had more applications if he had not listed the times that the student was to work

None of the on-campus cafeterias had student job openings last week.

Jim Larsen, who was hiring the home repairman to remodel houses, said he didn't expect 29 people to respond to his Business offered cash to employ handicapped

Officials of the Evaluation and Developmental Center are looking for employers willing to hire people with physical handicaps.

Staff members will provide screening, help employers get money for work site modifications and equipment and provide training-period subsidies of up to 50 percent of the employee's salary, all with a state grant.

The special placement program is to help 10 severely disabled area residents find employment, according to EDC programming manager Dale Shelton.

"We've tested the vocational potentials of these people and found there are jobs for which they can be trained," Shelton said.

newspaper ad. Besides the 29 people who talked to Larsen, several people rode up on bicycles, sadly looked at the line waiting to be interviewed, and rode away. Larsen was hiring only one person for a 15-hour-per-week job, and he was writing down names of applicants in case he needed extra workers for future remodeling jobs. But he made no promises about the extra work. Morgan said he expects seasonal job opportunities to increase because of Christmas.

However, Morgan predicts that next year many more students will be in the job market because of cutbacks in federal financial aid to students. Morgan recommends that students looking for jobs be "persistent in their search."

"Too many people don't work at getting a job," he said. "Getting a job is a job." If the Illinois Job Service office in the Eurma Hayes Center is closed Morgan said, the Woody Hall office of the Job Service will be hindered in its ability to place students

He said students looking for jobs should check the newspaper advertisements, look in store windows for "help wanted" signs, listen to friends, check Woody Hall's Job Service office and check the lists at the Student Work and Financial Assistance Office.

Since its establishment in 1972, the Carbondale Job Service office has found jobs for 9,000 to 10,000 people. Its branch office in Woody Hall has found off-campus jobs for about 1,000 students in the past 10 years.

State officials told Richmond that Job Service operations were to be consolidated throughout the state because of a 17.5-percent cut in federal funds.

Richmond said he was told the Carbondale office and others facing closing were chosen because of their lease terminations.

18-year-old wins 'cubist' contest

TOKYO (AP) - More than 100 veteran cubists gathered Sunday to try, turn and puzzle over a puzzle - and an 18-year-old student came out the winner.

A cubist is an expert or would-be expert at solving Rubik's Cube, a multi-colored puzzle that has bewildered millions.

The cube is composed of 27 smaller, movable cubes. Each face of the large cube has nine small squares in six colors.

King Crimson to appear at Shryock

King Crimson, a progressive rock band, has decided to make SIUC the only college date in its U.S. tour. The group's concerts in other cities have all sold out.

The group is touring to promote its newest album, entitled "Discipline." The concert will be at Shryock Auditorium at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 11.

Tickets are $15 and go on sale at 7 a.m. October 16 at the Student Center Box Offices.

Tickets can also be obtained through a mail order system. Students can send money orders to King Crimson, Student Center Central Ticket Office, SIUC, Carbondale, 61554. They must include a self-addressed envelope. No checks will be accepted.

33 people needed to man the polls

All recognized student organizations interested in manning polling places for the Oct. 14 Athletics Fee referendum should contact the Undergraduate Student Organization office before 5 p.m. Monday.

Three people are needed to man each of 11 polls. Organizations are asked to submit a bid on how much they want to be paid for the work to the USO office on the third floor of the Student Center. Gary Doughenbaugh, USO election commissioner, said most groups bid "about $35."

Netter's take 3rd in state meet

The men's tennis team took third place in the Illinois Intercollegiate tennis tournament held at the University courts this weekend.

SIU-Edwardsville took first in the tournament, followed by Illinois. Going into Sunday evening, the singles finalists were Ken Flach and Robert Segoso, both of SIU-E. Due to the late play of the doubles tournament, the singles championship will be decided at a later date, according to Saluki Coach Dick LeFevre.

Flach, the NCAA Division II singles champion last year, beat SIU-C's Lito Ampon 6-1, 6-1, to advance to the semi-finals. Robert Segoso, Flach's fellow teammate and finals opponent, beat Saluki David Desilets in the semi-finals 6-1, 6-2. The championship singles match has no bearing on the team totals, said LeFevre, and will probably be decided in Edwardsville.

In doubles play, Flach and Segoso again were in the championship match, but this time on the same side of the net. By late Sunday, the SIU-E twosome only had Illinois' Jack Conlan and Adam Ambielli to contend with for the doubles championship. Conlan and Ambielli beat SIU-C's David Filer and Jon Greif, 6-3, 3-6 and 6-2 to advance in doubles play.

The Salukis, according to Coach Dick LeFevre, played very well, in spite of the injuries that beset three team members before tournament play. Brian Stanley, the top Salukis seed, had not picked up a racket in two weeks prior to the tournament, but managed to win two matches. Hampered with a pulled leg muscle, Stanley played surprisingly well, LeFevre said.

LeFevre also was pleased with Saluki David Desilets, who advanced to the semi-finals in singles play before falling to SIU-E's Robert Segoso. Desilets played remarkably well, LeFevre said, especially in his win over Illinois State's Darrell Smith. Smith was seeded in the fourth spot of the singles tournament. There were about 60 singles entries prior to tournament play.

In doubles play, LeFevre was not as pleased with the Salukis' performance. The Salukis entered three doubles teams and came away with only two wins. None of them made it past the second round of play.

Polo team takes 1 of 3

The SIU-C water polo team lost two physical matches Friday and Saturday before trouncing Illinois for the second time this season, 17-10, at the Loyola Invitational in Evanston.

The Salukis lost in the first round to Iowa State 18-8, and then dropped their third match of the season to host Loyola 17-3.

According to Coach Bob Steele, both losses occurred during punishing physical contests.

"It's funny, but you run into referees that interpret the same rules different ways," Steele said. "Iowa State scored five quick goals on us simply because we weren't reacting quick enough to the official's whistle. They were rough games, but we didn't back away from anyone."

Against Loyola, the Salukis battled a time element as well as a powerful Rambler squad.

"We played the 10 p.m. game Friday and then played the first game Saturday morning against Loyola," team captain Mark Pollard said. "The place we stayed was a half an hour away so we didn't get to bed until after midnight."

"They contained us really well in the match," he said. "Playing the top team at 8:30 a.m. sure isn't an advantage after playing the late game the night before."

The Salukis came to life early in the third match, scoring the first four goals and then dominating play the rest of the way. SIU-C had beaten the Illini, 17-16, earlier in the season.

"We played probably our best game of the season," Pollard said of the now 5-8 Salukis. "It was the first time we had control of the game from beginning to end. We beat them handily."

Women harriers end up fifth in seventh Saluki Invitational

By Steve Metsch
Staff Writer

Give Claudia Blackman's crystal ball a gold star.

Blackman, women's cross country coach, correctly predicted the two top teams, two of the top three runners, and how the Salukis would finish in the seventh Saluki Invitational meet at Midland Hills Golf Club Saturday.

Minnesota won the meet with a 32, Arkansas was second with a 53 and Southwest Missouri State captured third with a 106. SIU-C finished fifth with a 127, six points behind Southeast Missouri State. Illinois State, Murray and Northern Illinois finished behind the Salukis.

Illinois State's Wendy Van Mierlo and Arkansas' Marie Tilman, the two runners Blackman expected to compete for first with Saluki senior Patty Plymire-Houseworth, finished first and third respectively. Van Mierlo won with an 18:20 and Tilman finished with an 18:30. Mary Yetzer, of Minnesota, was second at 18:27. Plymire-Houseworth had a 19:07, which was good enough for seventh, the Saluki best.

"I'm pleased with my time," said Plymire-Houseworth, referring to her best time at Midland Hills. "I would have liked to finish in the top three, but I don't have anything to complain about. The girls who beat me were very tough."

Junior Rosa Mitchell was second for the Salukis, finishing 20th at 20:03. Third for SIU-C was junior Dyane Donzy, who finished 25th with a 20:27. Donzy was followed by freshmen Pat Eletto, 35th at 21:05; Laura Falci, 40th at 21:33; Odette James, 45th at 22:00; and Theresa Kent, 53rd at 24:20.

Freshman Lori Ann Bertram did not run because Blackman did not want to risk further injury to Bertram's ankle, which has been troubling her all year.

Blackman, who before the meet said SIU-C would finish fifth if the freshmen harriers ran well, had mixed feelings about her teams' performance.

"I thought the freshmen did alright," Blackman said. "I'm disappointed we didn't finish higher up, but I'm not totally unhappy. Times in this kind of meet are irrelevant. We need to pick up the difference between our fourth and fifth runners. Once we do that we'll be okay."

By training all week at Midland Hills the rookie Saluki runners became more familiar with the hilly course, according to Blackman. But, she added, that familiarity may have caused them to become "psyched out," because they knew what to expect of the grueling course.

Heavy rains Friday night and Saturday morning may have slowed up the runners, said Blackman. One Minnesota runner slipped and fell on a wooden bridge, bruising her knee.

Blackman applauded the performances of Plymire-Houseworth and Mitchell. "Patty ran well again," Blackman said. Plymire-Houseworth has led the Salukis in six straight meets. "Rosa is doing better each week. Thus far, she has yet to level off this season."

Blackman said that if senior Nola Putman returns soon, the team will have good depth for future meets. Putman is sidelined with leg and foot problems which haven't been diagnosed yet.

News get scare, but hang on to defeat Principia

Women's tennis Coach Judy Auld received a scare in a dual match at Principia, as five of six singles players lost their first sets. But the Salukis recovered and won the match 8-1.

"We lost the first set in every match except for Maureen Harney," Auld said. "But we came back to win the second and third sets in five of the matches. We didn't play exceptionally well but they came back to win. It threw a scare into me."

"Our experience came through," Auld said. "Principia is a good team but we had the experience, stronger players and overall depth. But I didn't like to see it that close."

The Salukis also placed sixth of nine teams in the SIU-E tournament. Auld said a slow start was the key to the teams low finish.

VOTE!

IN THE ATHLETICS FEE REFERENDUM WEDNESDAY OCT. 14

The students of SIU need your individual vote. This referendum can be a significant factor in administrative decision-making, but only if a high percentage of students vote. The more votes cast, the more weight this referendum will carry, so get out and vote on Wednesday. Let's tell them what we think!

TEXT OF THE 1981 ATHLETICS FEE REFERENDUM

In December of 1979, the SIU Board of Trustees increased the Athletic Fee from $20.00 to $30.00 per semester. At that time, both USO and GSC began promoting the idea of a student referendum on the fee to obtain student input. This referendum is your opportunity to influence the future of intercollegiate athletics at SIUC. President Smith has stated that the results of the referendum will play a significant role in his decision-making with respect to athletics.

SIUC students are the largest single source of funding for intercollegiate athletics, supplying roughly 45% of the current $2.6 million intercollegiate athletics budget through the Athletics Fee. The $30.00 fee level is necessary to maintain the scope and quality of the program at current levels. Returning to a fee of $20.00 would result in a significant cut-back of the total athletics budget to a $2.2 million level. The $10.00 difference between the two fees represents a $400,000 difference in the fee-supported portion of the intercollegiate athletics budget: $800,000 versus $1,200,000.

This is the question you are being asked to answer: for the immediate future, should SIUC attempt to maintain its intercollegiate athletics program at current levels, or should SIUC reduce the scope of its intercollegiate athletics program?

BALLOT

Darken the appropriate circle.

_____ I support the CURRENT $30.00 student Athletic Fee and maintenance of the intercollegiate athletics program at its present scope and quality: the program now includes 22 intercollegiate sports, of which 12 are men's (football, cross-country, water polo, basketball, tennis, golf, swimming and diving, wrestling, indoor track, gymnastics, baseball, and track and field) and ten are women's (volleyball, cross-country, field hockey, basketball, swimming and diving, gymnastics, softball, tennis, golf and track and field).

_____ I support the FORMER $20.00 student Athletic Fee level. Returning to a $20.00 fee will result in a cut of approximately $200,000.00 in the Women's Intercollegiate Athletics Program and a cut of approximately $200,000.00 in the Men's Intercollegiate Athletics Program. The consequences of such a cut in funding would be the elimination of a major men's sport such as football or a number of minor men's sports; such reduction in funding would also eliminate a number of women's sports.

Gridders edge Buffs, rise in standings

By Rod Furlow
Staff Writer

Hey, those guys are really good.

That's what most Saluki football fans were probably thinking about their team after hearing that SIU-C had beaten West Texas State 29-22 in Canyon, Texas, Saturday.

Despite being picked next-to-last by Missouri Valley Conference coaches and having six starters injured and unable to play, Coach Rey Dempsey has been saying all along that his team is capable of winning the conference title.

The Salukis are showing they are capable. They beat conference favorite Tulsa Sept. 26 and now they've beaten West Texas State.

"I think people believe in us now," Coach Dempsey said. "The important thing is the attitude of these players. They're confident. They believe in each other."

Saturday's win makes the Salukis 3-1 in the MVC, 3-3 overall. Drake beat Wichita State 24-23 Saturday to move to 2-0 in the Valley, 6-0 overall. Wichita State dropped to third place, 2-1-1, and 3-2-1 overall.

"This game was just like the Tulsa game," he said, referring to the West Texas State game. We moved the ball much better than I thought we would."

The way the Salukis beat the Buffaloes was impressive. They went ahead early. They fell behind. They went ahead. The Buffaloes tied them in the last quarter. The Salukis had to score again, and did. Tailback Walter Poole ran in from a half-yard out for the game's last touchdown.

Poole was, again, a valuable man, rushing for 164 yards in 35 carries and bouncing back from last week's 44-yard off-day against Illinois State.

"He was good," Dempsey said. "He ran hard like he did at Tulsa. He looked a lot like he did at Tulsa."

Poole ran for 260 yards on 41 carries at Tulsa. Along with Poole, quarterback Rick Johnson spurred the Saluki offense Saturday, completing 14 of 20 pass attempts for 136 yards.

Poole's runs and Johnson's passes paced the Salukis, and SIU-C breaks held.

The biggest break for the Salukis came after the Buffs tied the game 22-21 on a nine-yard pass from Vic McGee to wide receiver Curtis Bennett. West Texas State decided to try an inside kick, and the Salukis grabbed it on the 50, setting up the game-winning drive.

The biggest plays of the drive were two pitch-outs to Poole for seven and eight yards and a pass from Johnson to wide receiver Marvin Hinton for 21 yards.

"The new guys really played well on the line," Dempsey said. "We really didn't have any leaks on pass plays."

Sophomores Andy Wilson and Steve Piha and junior Duffy Volkmann filled the injury-knocked holes in the Salukis' offensive line.

Besides the linemen, Hinton, Johnson, and Poole, other members of the Saluki offensive squad made timely contributions. Tailback Jeff Ware and fullback John McGowan combined to gain 54 second-half yards.

Timely runs weren't McGowan's only contributions. His biggest one was a blocked punt in the second quarter. Hinton downed the ball on the Buffalo 19. The Salukis scored a touchdown and pulled to within two, 14-12, at the end of the half.

McGowan's blocked punt came moments after Saluki punter Tom Striegel had one blocked and run in for a touchdown by Scott Manley.

Eleven points, all of them crucial, were booted for the Salukis by kicker Paul Molla. He kicked three field goals and two extra points. Molla hit from 37, 37, and 27 on his field goals.

Molla went into the game with four field goals in 10 attempts.

His early-season slump had Dempsey worried, but the coach isn't worried now.

"I knew Paul would come back. He's a fighter," Dempsey said. "He was kicking the ball straight through last night."

Another offensive star was receiver Javel Heggis. He caught a 15-yard touchdown pass, his first reception in three weeks.

Defensively, linebacker Ashley Sledge and end Kevin Henry made the most noticeable plays. On the first play of the game, Sledge recovered the fumble of kickoff returner Danny Clark, setting up Molla's first field goal.

Henry recovered two fumbles on back-to-back Buffalo drives in the third and fourth quarters. His first led to Johnson's 11-yard touchdown sneak that put SIU-C ahead 22-14.

Another defensive bright spot for Saluki fans was the return of senior linebacker Tony Bleyer. Bleyer missed last week's Illinois State game with a sprained ankle.

Men harriers run past Kansas

By Doug Applebaugh
Staff Writer

After three frustrating losses this season, the men's cross country team mounted an impressive team effort and defeated talent-rich Kansas 23-33 Friday at Midland Hills Golf Club.

Senior Captain Karsten Schulz set the pace for the Salukis, winning his first race of the season in 25:18, eight seconds off the course record. In doing so, Schulz had to edge out another Schultz—Paul Schultz, who crossed the finish line two seconds later.

As the Salukis' Schulz climbed the last treacherous hill toward the finish line, the clock ticked past the 25:10 record time set last year by Murray State's Chris Bunyan.

The Salukis' top four finishers completed the grueling five-mile course within 30 seconds of each other. Junior Mike Keane placed third in the race at 25:31, junior Mike Choffin placed fifth at 25:46 and sophomore Tom Breen finished two seconds later, taking sixth place. Senior Bill Moran closed it up for the Salukis, finishing eighth at 26:07.

Kansas' Tim Gundy, who ran well against the Salukis last year, took fourth on Friday; Tim Tays, who set a Midland Hills record three years ago, finished seventh; Bob Luder was ninth; and freshman Brent Stiener rounded out the Jayhawks' scoring, placing eleventh.

Spikers use attack game to defeat Memphis State

By Keith Mascitti
Staff Writer

Saluki volleyball Coach Debbie Hunter returned home to her alma mater Memphis State for the first time Saturday with her team, and the Salukis responded by winning the dual meet.

SIU-C dropped the first match 7-15, then came back and beat Memphis State in the next three, 15-7, 15-8 and 15-10.

Hunter received her masters degree at Memphis State and was anxious to show faculty and relatives what the team could do.

"It was nice," Hunter said. "I saw a lot of familiar faces. They know that I'm serious about volleyball and they were anxious to see what we could do. We had some of the audience behind us. It was a good feeling."

According to Hunter, the Salukis played a great attack game. The serving game was good and the Salukis scored several aces. Memphis State had a difficult time handling the SIU-C serves.

Hunter said Bonnie Norrenburns had an outstanding serve game and the coach also cited the play of Barb Clark, who directed sets and ran the offense. Soyna Locke, said Hunter, is coming around and playing like she should be playing.

"We dominated the offensive play," Hunter said. "We ran our middle attack at will."

"The only problem we had was our blockers adjusting to Memphis's slower attack," Hunter said. "Our blockers are used to quicker attacks. Memphis kept the ball away from the net. They set and attacked from far away."

SIU-C defeated No. 1 ranked Jefferson Junior College last week, but according to Hunter, the win really wasn't as satisfying. The team didn't play as well as it could have, she said. The win against Memphis State brought some satisfaction.

"It was four steps up the ladder," said Hunter, referring to the win against Memphis State.

Expos win first playoff

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Steve Rogers pitched a six-hit shutout and singled home the first two runs Sunday as the Montreal Expos beat the Philadelphia Phillies 3-0 to win their first National East Division title in the 13-year history of the franchise.

The Expos won the first two games at home, but the Phillies won here Friday and Saturday to send the best-of-five series to a fifth game.

It was Rogers' second triumph of the series and he again beat Phillies ace Steve Carlton to seal the victory over the defending World Champions.

Montreal took a 2-0 lead in the fifth on a two-run single by Rogers, his second hit of the game.
