Clean-Up Day attracts a ‘good turnout’

By Andrew Straig
Staff Writer

More than 14.5 tons of trash, which ranged from paper and bottles to refrigerators and household items, were gathered Saturday during the second annual Carbondale Clean Up Day.

Despite overcast weather, SIU-Alton staff, Carbondale citizens, National Guardsmen and city trash collectors pitched in to top last year’s 1979 Clean-Up Day collection total by 600 pounds.

Workers from the Student Environmental Center separated out aluminum cans, newspapers and newspapers for recycling, with an estimated 20-foot long an

Mideast military drills scheduled, Haig says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will conduct a major military exercise with Egypt and other Arab forces within the next month as "sign of reassurance, in the post-Sadat situation," Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. said Sunday.

Haig said the military exercise following Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's announcement last week will include high-level U.S. presence that may feature the use of American B-52 bombers.

"U.S. force in the region...would be in conjunction with the forces of Egypt and other governments such as Oman," he said.

The exercise and the promise of speedy delivery of U.S. arms scheduled to go to Egypt were discussed last week by Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger and Egyptian Defense Minister Abdel Hadi Abu Ghazala.

Haig interviewed in Cairo on NBC's "Meet the Press" program from Washington, said he does not anticipate new imports between Egypt and Libya.

"But one (who has) observed recent Libyan activity both in the Sahara and over area...has to see how events unfold in a little more than has been the case in the past," he said.

Students are ‘victims’ of energy prices

By John Schrag
Staff Writer

"Most SIU students are renters, and most renters in Carbondale are sending energy dollars right through their roofs, like water through a sieve."

Those are the words of Carbondale Energy Division Coordinator Robert Pauls, who believes that students are among the biggest victims of soaring energy prices, and need to become involved in changing that situation.

Pauls said rental units are generally not energy-efficient because landlords, who often don't pay tenant's utility bills, are reluctant to spend money for conservation measures. But Pauls said there are several ways students can fight high energy bills in rental units.

Pauls encouraged students to attend a public hearing Monday on two proposed energy plans being considered for Carbondale. The hearing is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the City Council Chambers, 109 College St., provides a good opportunity for students to learn about the local energy situation and make their views known to the City Council, he said.

One plan, proposed by the Shawnee Solar Project, would establish a comprehensive energy plan financed by a 3 percent utility tax. A more limited plan, drawn up by the city would focus on energy education using city funds.

Either proposal will have an effect on students' utility costs if they become involved and informed, he said. Pauls said he hoped both plans would be implemented.

"Either proposal will have an effect on students' utility costs if they become involved and informed," he said. "Either will be able to cut the cost of energy for students."
Arab heads won’t admit support for peace, Carter, Ford say

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign ministers Jimmy Carter and Gerald R. Ford said in an unprecedented joint interview on route home from the funeral of Anwar Sadat that many moderate Arab leaders have told them privately that they support the Camp David peace process but can’t admit that to their own countrymen.

"When I would meet with Arab leaders ... the Saudis in particular, they were hoping that the peace process would succeed," Carter said. "But it’s almost impossible for an Arab to step forward."

Ford agreed, saying that moderate Arabs, "especially when you talk to leaders privately ... they will tell you how hopeful they are ... that the peace process continues. They have decided (they will) not — or cannot support Camp David in a public way. But they do totally subscribe to a continuation of the process. They see it as an essential, that was for peace."

Most Arab leaders conspicuously stayed away from Saturday’s funeral for the murdered Egyptian president, who was denounced as a traitor to the Arab world for making a separate peace with Israel. In several Arab capitals, people took to the streets to celebrate his assassination, and Libya declared Sunday a national holiday in celebration of Sadat’s death.

The former presidents share a mutual enmity toward Libyan leader Col. Muammar Kadhafi, whom Carter called "subhuman" and Ford labeled "a bully" and "a cancer on that part of the globe.

The two past presidents also agreed the United States eventually will have to recognize the Palestine Liberation Organization as part of a formula for lasting peace in the Middle East.

Carter and Ford, both in shirtsleeves, sat across a small table in the forward cabin as they spoke to reporters aboard the presidential aircraft they knew as Air Force One during their terms in office. The Air Force and the White House, however, reserved that name for the plane carrying the incumbent president.

"I called President Richard Nixon, who flew to Cairo with the other two living former presidents, reminiscing behind the scenes for a private trip to several Arab nations and was not present for the interview," Carter defeated Ford in a close and bitter race for the presidency in 1976, then Ford campaigned hard to help Ronald Reagan beat Carter in a landslide last November.

"I have to believe, completely a lie, don’t believe it," then he said there would be the next blunder, and told reporters to leave.

Reporters who drove by his table Friday night saw no evidence of damage but reporters milled outside the White House and the National Mall as the vice president and asked of the place where their president died and was laid to rest.

Children poked curious fingers into the bullet holes and their parents shook their heads and asked how it could have happened. A few women wore black and someone had a tape of 1960s guns. This was the first time authorities allowed the everyday citizens to inspect the bullet-scarred reviewing stand where Sadat was gunned down by assassins identified by the government as a renegade army officer and three men trespassing as soldiers in the annual military parade.

Egyptian official denies attack report

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Egyptian police sources said Sunday a fundamentalist group had assassinated President Anwar Sadat in Cairo, and a shootout between police and Muslims barricaded inside a mosque.

The police sources said the attack occurred hours after the funeral of Sadat, who is the leader of the former Sunni party.

Vernon A. Stone, the consulting editor, said a news conference minutes after the report of the attack on his house, but later refuted a report.

Instead, he took reporters on a tour of the building, in the process, said there was no attack on his house.

No characteristics of the report, from sources whose reports in the past have been accurate, ass
Statute may snarl city bikeway plan

A new statute in the form of a state statute may entangle the City Council's progress in establishing an expanded Carbondale bikeway network. The law, to become effective Jan. 1, allows the use of bicycles on sidewalks, which conflicts with the city code under which the network proposal was written. The code prohibits bicycles on sidewalks.

Don Monty, community development director for Carbondale's library said, "If the council decides to allow bicycle riding on all sidewalks, then the ordinance could be passed and put in place now," Monty said.

The council would need to use its rule power if it decides to prohibit bike riding on sidewalks in some parts of the network.

A staff re-evaluation of the project was signed into law in September by Gov. James R. Thompson. That money, appropriated from University income funds, should be enough to complete the project, according to Rinella.

"That should just about cover the major part of it," Rinella said. "It will probably take care of everything, in fact." Don Monty said.

Rinella, director of housing and food services, "We hope to finish the remodeling by August 1982. Bids for the remodeling will start going out in January or February," Rinella said.

The two remodeled buildings will be used to house medical, law and graduate students, he said.

"The two buildings combined should accommodate about 90 students," Rinella said. "They won't have cafeterias in them, but they will have full kitchens for the students to use."

The law school offices, formerly located at 114 Small Group Housing, have moved into the newly constructed Law School building, according to Elizabeth Kelly, director of the library.

Charles T. Braddy, a Carbondale man and faculty member once charged with armed violence, unlawful restraint and unlawful use of a weapon in connection with the incident that occurred at 2:14 a.m. Saturday at 250 W. Cherry St., according to Carbondale police.

A Carbondale man was being held in Jackson County Jail Sunday after he allegedly approached two SIUC students and attempted to force them into his car at gunpoint early Saturday morning.

Charles T. Braddy, 25, was charged with armed violence, aggravated assault, unlawful restraint and unlawful use of a weapon in connection with the incident that occurred at 2:14 a.m. Saturday at 250 W. Cherry St., according to Carbondale police.

The students, Michael Rante, 21, and Joan Gages, 20, told police they were able to break free and run from Braddy, who allegedly fired a shot in the air and fled. Braddy was arrested shortly thereafter in the 700 block of West Mill Street. No injuries were reported.

Braddy was scheduled to appear in Jackson County Circuit Court Tuesday for a preliminary hearing.

Chamber of Commerce offers empty rhetoric in energy debate

By John Schrag
Staff Writer

THE CURRENT DEBATE over what energy plan is best for Carbondale has raised valid concerns about the possible drawbacks of both proposals being considered by the City. It has also led to a good amount of rhetorical nonsense.

One of the biggest sources of such nonsense is the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, which, in a letter to the City Council, stated that it does not support any municipal solar utility. "One would think that a group that represents the business sector of the community would be enthusiastically responsive to a comprehensive energy plan."

But instead the Chamber board is outspokenly opposed to such a plan. It chose to ignore a very important fact: as energy costs continue to rise faster than salaries, Carbondale residents will have less discretionary income to spend in local businesses. It also ignored the fact that 80 percent of every dollar paid for imported energy leaves the community, and thus residents will be giving more and more money to Exxon and Shell than to Towne Central and the Westown Mall.

In STATING its opposition to the comprehensive plan the Chamber board refers to "the additional costs as well as the impact that the facts in the matter would very likely accept a 3 percent tax over the next five years if they could." The Chamber Board said it is "absolutely convinced" that the proposed plan would bring energy costs down in the long run.

Carbondale faces a unique opportunity. If it implements the MSU proposal, in 10 years Carbondale will be in a "carbon bubble," a term that is coming into common usage.

Monday night's public hearing will affect the citizens of Carbondale the opportunity to turn the City Council around on this issue. Without a show of support, the MSU plan will end up as just another dead-end. With a show of support, the Chamber board members may be persuaded to change their minds.

As Mayor Dennis Fischer said recently, "We've been here long enough to know that council members can count votes. Hopefully, they will be doing a lot of counting Monday night.

Letters

Chamber's position is inconsistent

I am writing in regard to a letter written recently by the Carbondale Chamber to the Carbondale City Council stating that they do not support the Municipal Solar Utility. The Chamber board is shortsighted in assuming that the Chamber would be opposed to saving themselves some money and is so negligent in its own responsibility to the community that supports it.

I find the Chamber's position to be greatly inconsistent. On the one hand, the Chamber has strongly supported the idea that government should reduce the size of the federal government and have local governments shoulder some of the responsibilities. On the other, they oppose local attempts to design and implement local programs that address a real problem with soaring energy bills.

I have to question what motive the Chamber board has for opposing the M.S.U. plan, a plan that could provide the Carbondale community with efficient energy. It is just a case of "business as usual," or am I just uninformed? —Ethel M. Monroe, Carbondale

WHAT COULD THE ARMY POSSIBLY OFFER A BRIGHT PERSON LIKE YOU?

Drop your guard for a minute. Even though you’re in college right now, there are many aspects of the Army that you might find very attractive.

Maybe even irresistible.

See for yourself.

MED SCHOOL ON US
You read it right.
The Army’s Health Professions Scholarship Program provides necessary tuition, books, lab fees, even microscope rental during medical school.

Plus a monthly stipend that works out to about $6,000 a year.

After you’re accepted into medical school, you can be accepted into our program.

Then you’re commissioned and you go through school as a Second Lieutenant in the Army Reserve.

The hitch? Very simple. After you graduate, you give the Army a year as a doctor for every year the Army gave you as a med student, with a minimum obligation of three years service.

INTERNSHIP RESIDENCY & CASH BONUSES
Besides scholarships to medical school, the Army also offers AMA-approved first-year postgraduate and residency training programs.

Such training adds no further obligation to the scholarship participant. But any Civilian Graduate Medical Education sponsored by the Army gives you a one-year obligation for every year of sponsorship, with a minimum obligation of two years service.

But you get a $2,000 annual bonus every year you’re paying back medical school or post-graduate training.

So you not only get your medical education paid for, you get extra pay while you’re paying it back. Not a bad deal.

A GREAT PLACE TO BE A NURSE
The rich tradition of Army Nursing is one of excellence, dedication and heroism. And it’s a challenge to live up to.

Today, an Army Nurse is the epitome of professionalism, regarded as a critical member of the Army Medical Team.

A BSN degree is required. And the clinical spectrum is almost impossible to match in civilian practice.

And, since you’ll be an Army Officer, you’ll enjoy more respect and authority than most of your civilian counterparts. You’ll also enjoy travel opportunities, officer’s pay and officer’s privileges.

Army Nursing offers educational opportunities that are second to none. As an Army Nurse, you could be selected for graduate degree programs at civilian universities.

ADVANCED NURSING COURSE, TUITION-FREE
You get tuition, pay and living allowances. You can also take Nurse Practitioner courses and courses in many clinical specialties. All on the Army.

While these programs do not cost you any money, most of them do incur an additional services obligation.

A CHANCE TO PRACTICE LAW
If you’re about to get your law degree and are admitted to the bar, you should consider a commission in the Judge Advocate General Corps. Because in the Army you get to practice law right from the start.

While your classmates are still doing other lawyers’ research and other lawyers’ briefs, you could have your own cases, your own clients, in effect, your own practice.

Plus you’ll have the pay, prestige and privileges of being an Officer in the United States Army. With a chance to travel and make the most of what you’ve worked so hard to become. A real, practicing lawyer. Be an Army Lawyer.

ROTC SCHOLARSHIPS
Though you're too late for a 4-year scholarship, there are 2 - 4 year scholarships available.

They include tuition, books, and lab fees. Plus $1,000 monthly living allowance. Naturally there're very competitive. Because besides helping you towards your degree, an ROTC scholarship helps you write the gold bars of an Army Officer.

Stop by the ROTC office on campus and ask about details.

UP TO $70 A MONTH
You can combine service in the Army Reserve or National Guard with Army ROTC and get between $7,000 and $14,000 while you’re still in school.

It’s called the Simulated Membership Program. You get $100 a month as an Advanced Army ROTC Cadet and an additional $70 a month (tuition’s pay) as an Army Reservist.

When you graduate, you’ll be commissioned as a Second Lieutenant.

but not necessarily assigned to active duty. Find out about it.

A BONUS FOR PART-TIME WORK
You can get a $1,500 bonus just for enlisting in some Army Reserve units or up to $4,000 in educational benefits.

You also get paid for your Reserve duty. It comes out to about $1,100 a year for one weekend a month and two weeks annual training.

And now we have a special program to help you fit the Army Reserve around your school schedule.

It’s worth a look.

A SECOND CHANCE AT COLLEGE
Some may find college to be the right place at the wrong time for a variety of reasons. The Army can help them, too.

A few years in the Army can help them get money for tuition and the maturity to use it wisely.

The Army has a program in which money saved for college is matched two-for-one by the government. Then, if one qualifies, a generous bonus is added to that.

So 2 years of service can get you up to $15,200 for college. 3 and 4 years up to $24,100.

In addition, bonuses up to $5,000 are available for 4-year enrollment in selected skills.

Add in the experience and maturity gained, and the Army can send an individual back to college a richer person in more ways than one.

We hope these Army opportunities have intrigued you as well as surprised you. Because there is indeed a lot the Army can offer bright people like you.

'Here's to ya,' Corky Siegel

By Joe Walter
Entertainment Editor

If Corky Siegel's performance proved anything Saturday night, it was that students could get something good—forget good—great—for free.

A matter of fact, Siegel's concert, ironically, was much more memorable than recent musical acts here which students have paid as much as $30 to hear. The personable Siegel and his band members, Bobby Diamond on guitar, Rollo Radford on bass, and Frank Donaldson on drums, performed close to a two-hour set which began at 9:20 p.m.

The crowd, which packed most of Student Center Ballrooms A, B, C, and D, responded ecstatically to Siegel's humor-punctuated repertoire. There was even one spontaneous instance in which a student rose to leave from where he sat on the floor near the performing platform and Siegel excused him by saying "Okay, go ahead," in the manner of a grammar school teacher allowing a pupil to go to the potty.

His songs, like "Loneleum," "Half-Aislely at the Wheel" and "Since I Told You I Love You (You Haven't Been Around)," were bluesy and sung in a warm, laid-back style that accentuated the good-natured humor of the songs. The music was boogie-woogie jazz and blues, with a touch of calypso, at its best. Because of the expert mixing, every instrument was heard and the sound quality was excellent and un-muddled, which lately has been a rarity in the Student Center.

Diamond's guitar playing was fluid. His fingers lightly glided over the strings. He made his guitar sing throughout the whole set. Radford's bass was also excellent and melodically pronounced.

And the star of the show, Siegel, provided the crowd with some truly distinctive piano and harmonica. His piano and vocal solo song "Idaho Potato Man" treated the crowd to a boogie beat. During the song, the other three musicians joined Siegel at different intervals. This was the height of the show.

The end of the show was also distinctive. After two encore songs for a crowd that wanted more and more and more, Siegel and Radford treated the crowd good­bye to a calypso beat. Radford sang, "gu-gu-gu-gu-gu-gu-gu-good-night!" and Siegel sang as if making the other members of the band, "How do we get out of this one? How do we get out of this one?"

Siegel not only showed the crowd a good time, he showed them that he cared that they were there. It was not like other, bigger bands I have seen here, who seem to do their set, pick up the check and split for Chicago or St. Louis. Corky, here's to ya.

'Joe Egg' explores emotional struggle

"A Day in the Death of Joe Egg" by Peter Nichols will run at 8 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday in the Laboratory Theater of the Communications Building.

The play concerns the love affair of Brian (Anthony Hausman) and Sheila (Mary Lisa Snyder), a young, married couple facing up to the task of raising their retarded daughter, Joe (Sarah Mitchell).

As Brian and Sheila strive to come to grips with their pain, their situation is further bordered by their well-meaning friends, Freddie (V. Reni Modlin) and Pam (Mary Jane Stepan), and Brian's mother, Grace (Elaine Pata). Although they want to help, they misunderstand Brian and Sheila's tragedy and have chosen to cope with it. "Joe Egg" is a play about emotional denial and love, its darkly humorous, laid-back style that accentuates the good-natured humor of the songs.

The play marks the SIU-C directing debut of Calvin MacLean, one of the newest members of the Department of Theater faculty. Admission to the play is $2. Tickets are available from noon to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday at the McLeod Theater box office. Because of the intimate nature of the Laboratory Theater, no one will be admitted after 8 p.m.

Starship will play at Arena

Jefferson Starship, featuring Grace Slick, will perform at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 27, at the Arena.

Starting their musical career as Jefferson Airplane, Starship remains a highly talented band with members Pete Sears, Annsy Dunbar, Uncle Tom, Paul Kantner, Craig Chaquico and David Freiberg.

The group has had several successful albums. Starship's most recent release, "Modern Times," returns the talent of Grace Slick to the group with three of their hit singles, "Find Your Way Back" and "Stranger."

Tickets for Jefferson Starship are $11 and $8 at the Arena South Lobby Box Office.

Looking for people to be available to play their roles in the New Year's Eve production of "The Messiah." Those who have a working knowledge of the work are also invited to consider participating in this annual service to the University Community.

The Volunteers of the Arts, a support group of the Marion Cultural and Civic Center, is looking for people interested in singing "The Messiah" Dec. 18. The group is again presenting "The Messiah" in response to requests from those who saw last year's performance. To limit the number of rehearsals, choir members must have a working knowledge of "The Messiah" and be able to perform it after three rehearsals. Dan Mellado, a faculty member in the School of Music, will again direct "The Messiah." Those who participated last year have been invited to repeat the performance.

A meeting for interested people will be announced at a later date. Information concerning rehearsal plans is available from the civic center at 991-4030.
In three days last month, between 150 and 200 people filled out employment applications for four jobs at Wendy’s Hamburgers after the manager put a “help wanted” sign in the window. Twenty-nine students filled out applications at 603 W. Main, and 10 as a home repairman in the first 30 minutes that the employer, a home remodeler, was taking applications.

Katie Powers, assistant manager of Campus Mail Service, filled three student jobs in two days. It used to take eight to 10 days to fill the opening, she said.

An opening for a clerk in Travel Service was filled the same day the job was listed at the Student Work and Financial Assistance Office in Woody Hall. Paula Montgomery, who hired the clerk after receiving six applications, said when she worked in other departments at the university. It would be several weeks before people were hired.

Stephanie Galliker, manager of McDonald’s, 817 S. Illinois Ave., which received a stack of applications about 3 inches tall, said the hiring process is not hiring at the moment.

These are just a few examples of how students have been facing job hunting. According to Moore, many students are still not busy with the competition for about 3,000 off-campus jobs and 3,300 on-campus jobs. And, according to James F. He said many students who have been in Carbondale during breaks and getting jobs and moving on when classes begin.

A check of the job listings in the Student Work and Financial Assistance Office and of the Student Employment office shows the competition for students jobs has increased. For example, fees for an advertisement that includes a job offer that was listed last month at Woody Hall. He felt to have would have had more applications and filled the times that he was to work.

said he has not had an “abnormal” increase in applicants. Penney’s is not hiring workers, he said, but when they do, they usually use applications already received instead of advertising the opening. However, Al Morgan, veteran’s employment representative at the Illinois Job Service in Carbondale, believes students are having a more difficult time finding jobs because the job turnover in Carbondale is low. He said many students were staying in Carbondale during breaks and getting jobs and moving on when classes begin.

Business offered cash to employ handicapped

Officials of the Evaluation and Developmental Center are looking for employers willing to hire people with physical handicaps. Staff members will provide screening, help employers get money for modifications and equipment and provide training-period subsidies of up to 50 percent of the employee's salary, all with a state grant. The special placement program is to help 10 severely disabled area residents find employment, according to EDC programming manager Dale Shelton.

"We’ve tested the vocational potentials of these people and found there are jobs for which they can be trained," Shelton said.

Newspaper ad. Besides the 38 people who talked to Larsen, several people rode up on bicycles, sadly looking at the one waiting to be interviewed.

Larsen was hiring only one position for a 10-hour-per-week job, and he was writing down names of applicants in case he needed extra workers for future remodeling jobs. But he made promises about the extra work.

Morgan said he expects national job opportunities to increase because of Christmas.

However, Morgan predicts that next year many more students will be in the job market because of cutbacks in financial aid to students.

Morgan recommends that students looking for jobs be persistent in their search.

"Too many people don't work at getting a job," he said. "Getting a job is a job." If the Illinois Job Service office in the Ewma Hayes Center is closed, Morgan said, the Woody Hall job office of the Job Service will be hindered in its ability to place students.

He said students looking for jobs should check the newspaper advertisements, look in stores windows for "help wanted" signs, listen to friends, check Woody Hall's Job Service office and check the lists at the Student Work and Financial Assistance Office.

The men's tennis team took third place in the Illinois Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament held at the University courts this weekend.

SIU-Edwardsville took first in the tournament, followed by Illinois Going into Sunday evening, the singles finalists were Ken Flacb and Robert Seguso, both of SIU-C. Due to the late play of the doubles tournament, the singles championship will be decided at a later date, according to Saluki Coach Dick LeFevre.

Flacb, the NCAA Division II singles champion last year, beat SIU-C's Lito Ampon 6-1, 6-1 to advance to the semi-finals Robert Seguso. Flacb's fellow teammate and finals opponent, beat Saluki David Deslits in the semi-finals 6-1, 6-2. The championship singles match has no bearing on the team overall, said LeFevre, and will probably be decided in Edwardsville.

In doubles play, Flacb and Seguso again were the champions, as this time the same side of the net. By late Sunday, the SIU-E team was leading 2-1, when the doubles last round was won by Flacb and David Pettis, 6-3, 6-2, over the Galvin doubles team.

The Salukis, according to Coach Dick LeFevre, played very well, in spite of the scores that best-three team members before tournament play. Brian Steelevan, the top Saluki seed, had not picked up a racket in two weeks prior to the tournament, but managed to win two matches, helped with a pulled leg muscle, Stanley played surprisingly well.

LeFevre also was pleased with Saluki David Deslits, who advanced to the semi-finals in singles play before falling to SIU-C's Robert Seguso. Deslits played remarkably well, LeFevre said, especially in his win over Illinois State's Darrell Smith. Smith was seeded for the fourth slot of the singles tournament. There were about 80 entries, but only 55 players.

The Salukis entered three doubles teams and came away with only two wins. None of them made it past the second round of play.

About the only bright spots were Flacb and Seguso, both of SIU-C. The duo played in the second round of play, and Flacb defeated Seguso in the first round. Flacb then defeated the Galvin doubles team, 6-3, 6-2 to win the tournament.

Polj team takes 1 of 3

The SIU-C water polo team lost two physical matches Friday and Saturday before trouncing Illinois for the second time this season, 17-18, at the Loyola Invitational in Evanston.

The Salukis lost in the first round to Loyola State 1-8, and then dropped their third match of the season to Loyola 17-3.

According to Coach Bob Steele, both losses occurred during punishing physical contests. "It's funny, but you run into referees that interpret the same rules different ways," Steele said. "Even State scored few quick goals on us simply because we weren't reacting quick enough to the official's whistle. They were rough games, but we didn't back away from anyone." Against Loyola, the Salukis battled a time element as well.

"We played the 10 p.m. game Friday and then played the first game Saturday morning against Loyola," said captain Mark Pollard. "The place was packed but we didn't get to bed until after midnight."

"They contained us really well in the match," he said. "Playing the top team at 8:30 a.m. sure isn't an advantage after playing the late game the night before." The Salukis came to life early in the third match, scoring the first four goals and then dominating play the rest of the way. SIU-C had beaten Illinois, 17-18, earlier in the season.

"We played probably our best game of the season," Pollard said of the now 5-8 Salukis. "It was the first time we had control of the game from beginning to end. We beat them handily."

Women harriers end up fifth in seventh Saluki Invitational

By Steve Metzch
Staff Writer

Give Claudia Blackman's cry from the starting line. Blackman, women's cross country coach, correctly predicted that Saturday's Saluki Invitational would be two teams deep. Both of the top three runners, and how the Salukis would finish in the seventh Saluki Invitational meet. Missouri State, Illinois State, Murray State and Northern Illinois finished behind the Salukis.

Illinois State's Wendy Van Meter and Arkansas' Marie Tilmann, the two runners Blackman expected to compete for first with Saluki senior Patty Foyimr-Houseworth, finished first and third respectively. Van Meter won the 1.2 mile and Tulsa finished with an 18:20.

Senior of Minnesota, was second at 18.27. Plyimire-Houseworth had a 10:07, which was second for seventh, the Saluki best.

Neters get scare, but hang on to defeat Principia

Women's tennis Coach Judy Auld received a scare in dual match at Principle, as five of six singles players lost their first match. But the Saluki team was improved and won the match 6-1.

"We lost the first set in every match except for Marleen Harvey," Auld said. "But we came back to win the second and third set". The matches. We didn't play exceptionally well but we came back to win, it threw a scare into me."

"One experience came through," Auld said. "Principia is a good team but we had the experience, strength, players overall and depth. But I didn't like to see it last." The Salukis also placed sixth of nine teams in the SIU-E tournament."
Gridders edge Buffs, rise in standings

Hey, those guys are really good.

That's what most Saluki football fans were probably thinking about their team after hearing that SIUC had beaten West Texas State 29-22 in Canyon, Texas, Saturday.

Despite being ranked next-to-last by Missouri Valley Conference coaches and having six starters injured and unable to play, Coach Roy Dempsey had been saying all along that his team is capable of winning the conference title.

The Salukis are showing they are capable of winning conference favorite Tulsa Sept. 26 and now they've beaten West Texas State.

"I think people believe in us now," Coach Dempsey said. "The important thing is the attitude of these players. They're confident. They believe in each other."

Saturday's win makes the Salukis 3-1 in the MVC, 2-2 overall. Drake beat Wichita State 24-23 Saturday to move to 2-0 in the Valley. 4-0 overall. Wichita State dropped to third place, 2-1-1, and 3-2-1 overall.

"The game was just like the Tulsa game," he said, referring to the West Texas State game. "We moved the ball much better than I thought we would."

The way the Salukis beat the Buffaloes was impressive. They went ahead early. They fell behind. They went ahead. The Buffaloes tied them in the last seconds. The Salukis had to score again, and did. Tailback Wally Poole ran in from a half-yard out for the game's last touchdown.

Poole was, again, a valuable man, running for 134 yards in six carries and back from last week's 44-yard off-day against Illinois at Hillsboro.

"He was good," Dempsey said. "He ran hard like he did at Tulsa."

"The new guys really played well on the line," Dempsey said. "We really didn't have any leaks on pass plays."

Sophomores Andy Wilson and Steve Piha and junior Duffy Volkman filled the injury-knocked holes in the Salukin's offensive line.

Besides the linemen, Hinton, Johnson, Poole, other members of the Salukie offensive squad made timely contributions. Tailback Jeff Ware and fullback John McGowan combined to gain 54 second-half yards.

Tinley runs weren't McGowan's only contributions. His biggest was a blocked punt in the second quarter. Hinton downed the ball on the Buffs at Tulsa. McGowan scored a touchdown and pulled to within 14-13, 22 seconds later.

McGowan's blocked punt came moments after Salukie starter Tom Stiegel had one kicked and run in for a touchdown by Scott Manier.

Eleven points, all of them crucial, were booked for the Salukis by kicker Paul Molla. He kicked field goals and two extra points. Molla hit from 37, 27, and 17 on his field goals.

Molla went into the game with four field goals in 10 attempts for the season.

His early-season slump had Dempsey worried, but the coach said, "I knew Paul would come back. He's a fighter." Dempsey said, "He was kicking the ball straight through last night." Another offensive star was receiver Javel Hegg. He caught a 19-yard touchdown pass, his first reception in three weeks.

Defensively, linebacker Ashley Sledge and end Kevin Schultz were the most noticeable players. On the first play of the game, Sledge blocked the punt of former dispenser Danny Clark, setting up the game's first four-yard touchdown.

Henry recovered two fumbles on back-to-back Buffalo drives in the last quarter. Molla's second field goal of the game, which he missed in the first, came after the Buffs ran out of time in the game. He hit it from 37 yards.

"I think it's the most complete game we've played," said Coach Dempsey.

But no, not complete. They're thinking Big Eight.

If they win against Illinois State on Saturday, they'll be thinking Big Eight.

Men harriers run past Kansas

By Doug Applebaugh
Staff Writer

After three frustrating losses this season the Midland football team mounted an impressive team effort and defeated talented-rich Kansas 23-23 Friday at Midland Hills Golf Club.

Senior Captain Karsten Schulz set the pace for the Salukis, winning his first race of the season in 25:18, eight seconds of the course record. In doing so, Schulz had to edge out another Schulz—Paul Schulz, who crossed the finish line two seconds later.

As the Salukis' Schulz climbed the last hill toward the finish line, the clock ticked past the 25:10 record set last year by Murray State's Chris Bynum.

The Salukis' top five runners completed the grueling five-mile course within 36 seconds of each other. Junior Mike Kean pleaced third in the race at 25:31, followed by senior John nord in 25:46 and sophomore Tom Breen finished second seconds later, taking sixth place. Senior Bill Moran closed it up for the Salukis, finishing eighth at 26:07.

Kansa's Tim Gundy, who ran well against the Salukis last year, took fourth on Friday.

"I was a lot of familiar faces. They don't have a team of good volleyball and they were good, especially this year. We had some of the audience out. It was a good feeling."

According to Hunter, the Salukis played a great running game. The serving game was not so great, however, with several aces. Minnesota State had a difficult time handling the SIUC serves.

After three frustrating losses this season the Midland football team mounted an impressive team effort and defeated talented-rich Kansas 23-23 Friday at Midland Hills Golf Club.

Senior Captain Karsten Schulz set the pace for the Salukis, winning his first race of the season in 25:18, eight seconds of the course record. In doing so, Schulz had to edge out another Schulz—Paul Schulz, who crossed the finish line two seconds later.

As the Salukis' Schulz climbed the last hill toward the finish line, the clock ticked past the 25:10 record set last year by Murray State's Chris Bynum.

The Salukis' top five runners completed the grueling five-mile course within 36 seconds of each other. Junior Mike Kean pleaced third in the race at 25:31, followed by senior John nord in 25:46 and sophomore Tom Breen finished second seconds later, taking sixth place. Senior Bill Moran closed it up for the Salukis, finishing eighth at 26:07.
