Southern Players Give 'Rainmaker' May 1-9

By Jean Camp
"Rainmaker", final Southern Players production of the '58-'59 season, will begin Friday at 8 p. m. for an eight-performance run in the Southern Playhouse.

Under the direction of Dr. Christian Moe, assistant professor in the theatre department, the play will be presented May 1-9, with no performance on Monday, May 4.

Ken Swafford, Du Quoin junior, will play the lead role as Starbuck. Swafford played Barnum in "Machob" earlier this year, and took the part of Ken in the Players' production of "Picnic". He was also a member of the summer Theatre group last summer.

Alternates At Lizzie
Lizzie Curry will be played on alternate nights by Maria Swinney and Ann Hughes. Miss Swinney, a Mt. Carmel sophomore, has been seen in "Picnic," "Carouse," and "Lady in the Dark." Miss Hughes was cast in "Playboy of the Western World," and was a member of the Shepherd of the Hills and Kelo Hollow summer theatres.

She is a sophomore from McLeansboro.

Carbondale graduate student
Joe Embury will play H. C. Curry, Lizzie's father. Brothers Jim and Noah Curry will be played by Keith Runyon and Don Gilleland, respectively.

Embury most recently appeared before Southern Theatre audiences in "Machob". He has been a member of the Shepherd of the Hills summer theatre.

Gilleland is a junior from Alton. He has played in "Major Barbara" and "Sweet Cat Named Desire," and was a member of the 1958 Kelo Hollow Summer Theatre and the Southern Players touring company last season.

First Appearance For Runyon
This is the first appearance of SIU for Runyon, a Fairbury Air Force veteran. He was a Burma Company Players actor, and did radio plays while in the Air Force.

Final members of the cast are Fike, played by Gerald Osborne, and the sheriff, played by Dick Gibson. This is also the first appearance of Southern Players.

Osborne. He is a sophomore education major from Decatur.

Gibson played the lead in "Lady in the Dark," and was chief electrician at Kelo Hollow in 1957. He was a ballad singer at the Rogers Theatre in Carbondale before its recent destruction by fire. Gibson also designed the sets for "Rainmaker".

He is a junior theatre major from Highland Park.

Remarkably Comedy
"Rainmaker" is called a romantic comedy by its writer, N. Richard Nash. After a successful year on Broadway, it was made into a movie starring Burt Lancaster and Katharine Hepburn.

It tells the story of Lizzie Curry, who lives on a drought-stricken farm with her father and brothers. Lizzie is a plain girl, and her family is just as concerned about her turning out to be an old maid as they are about their dying cattle.

Into their dilemma springs Starbuck, a man as big and as wild as his name. He comes from nowhere, and promises to bring rain. He has about to do it with a big bass drum and some special magnetic paint. All agree that this is preposterous, but they go along with him.

It is just as preposterous for Starbuck to tell Lizzie she is beautiful, but he does, and she believes him, and she is!

The set for the play is a three-in-one construction, with the central scene in the Curry living room. Side panels can be folded out to show Fike's office and the tack room on the ranch.

There will be no curtain at the end of the scenes. Changes will be effected by dimming lights and a quick shift of the set.

Melinda Hayer Asks For More Council Discussion

By Clarence Pratt
Staff Reporter
Questions concerning past actions of the Student Council led to a 45-minute discussion about bicycle registration at the Council meeting Thursday night.

After a short period of discussion the Council moved that registration of bicycles should be put into effect.

John Crowell, senior class president, pointed out a problem of enforcing optional registration of bicycles, saying that only mandatory registration might work, and this was not desirable.

Sorority Senator Zelma Johnson agreed with Crowell that registration should not be made compulsory, adding however, that a decision by Council now "would be a way of initiating a registration system for the future."

Further comment by other senators was less lucid.

Discussion on registration of bicycles grew out of questions raised by Kagee Gulliksdottir about enforcement of regulations prohibiting bicycles from sidewalks.

Heller Questions Progress
Harold Heller, out-of-town senator, questioned progress on the problem of bike registration which had been discussed earlier in the year and Student Body Vice-President Jerry Feezel said the matters was in the hands of a commission but that no final report had been received.

Senator Todd Pillar, absent from recent Council meetings, had been working on the problem.

Feezel then suggested that possibly there was no committee that he did not know for sure.

Council passed on to other business until Melinda Hayer, absent as an official alternate for Graduate Senator Sandy Lutz, presented a suggestion and presented the Council for more discussion on the registration, repeatedly asking for further discussion and ideas on a registration system.

Senator Ken Cannon suggested that perhaps the matter ought to be referred to a commission.

Crowell supported Miss Hayer urging that the Council make some decision if the matter were of sufficient importance rather than bury it in committee.

At this point in the meeting Council Advisor Elizabeth Mullins suggested that the Student Council should not avoid making decisions on matters.

After another half hour discussing the Council withdrew their motion in support of registration.

Some of the Council members felt that bicycles may serve as a substitute for cars and that no restrictions on bikes is called for, Senator Cannon questioning whether Council has jurisdiction in bicycle registration regulations.

Miss Hayer cited the value of bicycle registration in controlling bicycle stealing and in enforcing campus regulations.

After the motion in favor of registration had been rescinded, Senator Joe Sepich asked whether the Council felt that there was no problem with bicycles on campus now.

Vice-President Feezel said "In our action here tonight we have said that there is no need for registration at this time."

Some persons seemed to feel that problems will develop in the future and that it might be a good thing for the Council to express its opinion now so as to have some say in the matter, Feezel recommending that Council members solicit student opinion from their areas.

In other Council action: A report of the Campus Chest committee, the driving force this week, indicated 22.5 per cent of funds collected will go to Care; 22.5 per cent to Cancer Fund; the same percentage to both Cerebral Palsy and the Southern Illinois Assn. for the Crippled, Inc. and 10 per cent going given to the World University Service.

The Council approved this recommendation of the Campus Chest committee with the stipulation: offered by Crowell, that charities receiving funds be alternated each year.

Selecting dates for future events, the Council picked Sept. 26 as first choice for Fall Leadership Camp and Oct. 10 as second choice.

Full elections were set for Oct. 6 at elections next spring for the first Tuesday in May.

It was recommended that the Student Values program for next year be held in the fall and that the Model United Nations be set for the first weekend in February.

Senator Crowell suggested that all Council members prepare a folder on what each has done to be passed to incoming Council members.

Present at the meeting was Floyd Courtwright, hunting as a write-in in the Thompson Point Senator race. Courtwright stated he had intended to gain more understanding of the operation of the Council.

Gus was so delayed in getting a phone call to Woody Hall the other day that by the time he got through he had forgotten what he was going to say.

Talks To SIAC

Morris Tells Group Budget Inadequate For SIU Needs

President Delyte W. Morris told 400 members of the Southern Illinois Action Committee that the budget appropriation proposed by Gov. William G. Strickland "is inadequate for the needs of the University."

Morris spoke at a banquet for the newly organized SIAC Thursday night at Centralia. According to Edwin W. Hager, executive director of the SIAC, the organization is being organized "to better you and your families, and to make Southern Illinois a better place to live."

The SIAC is currently backing the University's battle for a lifting of the engineering ban and larger appropriations for building and maintenance.

Morris cited statistics concerning the growth of SIU, in what he termed "the same problems the SIAC would find in growing."

SIU Has 10,418
Southern currently has 10,418 students, including the campus and two extensions. In 1953, the enrollment was 5,569, and in 1956 it was 6,255. For the summer session, the enrollment has grown from 2,086 in 1956 to 4,100 in 1959.

"Southern has grown as it has come to the people," Morris told the attentive audience. "The faculty has tried to do its best in an area work and I think the geographic setup is a good example of our progress."

"Speaking of progress, many people have wondered why the campuses at Alton and East St. Louis were created. We feel that time for the area people to raise a campus in a town the size of Carbondale should be no larger than 15-18,000. It is better to have two campuses of that size than one of 25 or 30,000."

The President said one of the problems SIU has encountered has been abnormal growth and inadequate funds to keep in step with increasing enrollment.

"Any university that increases by 7,000 students in six years must have abnormal growth," he said.

Speaks Of Engineering
Morris spoke of the legislative restrictions on the engineering school, which is once again being discussed in the Illinois General Assembly.

He said that when the Assembly placed a ban on agricultural engineering, medical and law schools, it was like saying, "Now go out and run the 100-yard dash as fast as you can, but wear rubber boots."

Morris said the success of the engineering field this time has depended on unbroken teamwork on the part of Southern Illinois legislators and cooperation from friends from Northern Illinois.

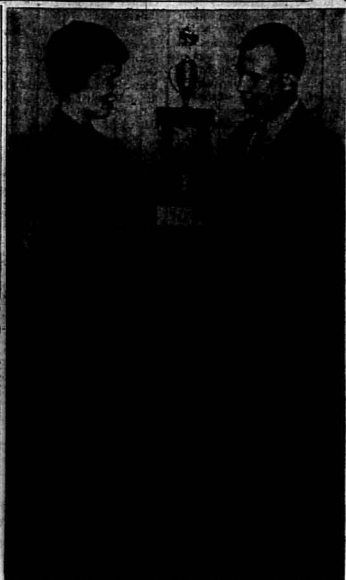

He cited figures that he said justified the need for an engineering school at Southern.

"The State of Illinois is not meeting the needs of engineering," he said. "Morris said vehemently, 'Do you realize that out-of-state colleges and universities supply 35 per cent of the engineers for Illinois?'"

U of I Has 117
The University of Illinois furnishes 11 per cent and the other three engineer schools supply 1 per cent."

Leber, who spoke following the meal and prior to Morris, told the 400 guests, "Now is the time for the area people to raise a campus to the support of SIU."

Several people spoke following the departure of Morris, who had to leave to attend another meeting, concerning the need for citizens of the area to band together to promote better facilities at Southern.

The Editors' Opinions

Spring Brings Carelessness

Spring brings a lot of candy clinches and the resawing of Nature. But it also causes more students to hop in the old cars and while they are driving. With the increase of automobile travel, careless driving is a big danger to the welfare of students.

Traffic accidents during 1958 caused more than 2,825,000 injuries. Highway deaths for the year totaled 36,700. During the past year drivers under 25, were involved in 27.1 per cent of all fatal accidents and more than 20 per cent of non-fatal injuries. Excessive speed was by far the biggest single cause of traffic accidents during 1958. Other outstanding factors contributed to automobile accidents were failure to yield the right-of-way, weather conditions, and failing to heed traffic signals.

Many students spend most of their weekends on the road, either going home or driving to nearby scenic recreational spots. It is of interest to students to realize that last year more than 49 per cent of the traffic injuries resulted from weekend accidents.

Southern is a school of increasing statistics, but it does not want to become a recruiting station for "morgue memories." Statistics pledges and slogans do not seem to change us. It is the duty of each individual to watch out for the "lucky legion" of careless driving.

It is the duty of each individual to resist the temptation to beat down a little harder on the gas, to beat the darkness hotter, to test your reflexes when they are dulled by long hours of study and lack of sleep, and to forget caution when weather and road conditions are bad.

Remember that when you get behind the wheel of your car the minutes you save, by speeding and carelessness, might be your last.

SIU Gives To Development

Southern has contributed much to the development of Southern Illinois. Now the area has decided to give support and aid to the University through the Southern Illinois Action Committee.

The Southern Illinois Action Committee was organized early in 1959, as a non-profit agency to promote legislation favorable to Southern Illinois on the state and national levels, particularly legislation favorable to the development of the University.

The S.I.A.C. represents almost every Southern Illinois community. It is composed of business and labor leaders, farmers, civic officials, editors and interested citizens.

The immediate objective of the S.I.A.C. is to promote legislation in behalf of Southern Illinois. It will keep a "watchdog" stand over the University as well as the entire area in the realm of governmental action.

With more combined interest in the area as shown by the Action Committee, the University will be able to go forward with friends instead of running the race alone.

Former SIU Teacher Here For Lectures

Dr. John R. Mayor, director of education of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science, and former chairman of SIU's math department, has returned to campus for two public lectures.

Mayor, who served at Southern's faculty from 1935 to 1947, will discuss the National Defense Education Act at 4 p. m. today in the Life Science Auditorium. Yesterday, he spoke on "Planning Modern Science Education Program."

After leaving Southern, Mayor went to the University of Wisconsin where he served as a professor and later dean of the School of Education before taking the AAAS post in Washington.

A graduate of Knox College, he received his master's degree from the University of Wisconsin.

Mayor is a past president of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics. His addresses at Southern are being cosponsored by the microbiology department, Department of Secondary Education, and the Division of University Extension.

The Financial Assistance Center is in the Office of Student Affairs.

Students Letting Down

Students at SIU do something to give the University some prestige? Other colleges much smaller than Southern have been placed on the map, but SIU is still virtually unknown.

Sure, we're one of the nation's fastest growing universities, we have one of the United States' greatest amateur swimmers, a fair basketball and football team, an outstanding basketball team... and a track squad.

Yet, we are not known. We are practically unknown. What must be done? Just

Sabukis Grab Three From Hapless Hurons Take Lead In Conference With 7-2 Mark

By Ron Jacob

The rains didn't fall as expected, but the Hurons did.

The title-hungry Saluki baseball team added their second straight pennant quest last week with a sweep of the three-game series with Eastern Illinois College.

Southern pounded the poor-felding Hurons in the single game on Friday, 15-4, and then took both halves of the twin-bill Saturday 7-1 and 9-4.

Each Abe Martin's biggest worry in the beginning of the season, was his biggest asset over the series. Martin recorded three complete games from three young pitchers, two freshmen and a sophomore, as Southern pushed their conference mark to 7-2.

Tucker Wins Fourth

Larry Tucker chalked up his fourth win of the season against no defense as he tossed a six-hitter against Eastern in the single game. Harry Gutley added his third victory of the season in the opener Saturday as he struck out 10. Jim Woods retired the last 12 men to face him and 15 of the first 16 as he won his second game of the young campaign.

15 Errors

The series was marked by ragged play especially on the part of Eastern. The Hurons committed 15 bobbles in the three games.

The Salukis turned in a few sparkling plays to add to the brilliance of the victories. A triple play in the eighth inning of the first game Saturday that brought a fine ovation from the small crowd on hand. Charles Shonta led off the Huron eighth by reaching base on a Saluki error. Bill Shonta then walked but John Murray hit a double play ball to Gerald Marling. Marling, Jones and Dillinger completed the routine double play and Dillinger fired the ball to third base where Shonta had carelessly rounded the bag. When he turned around to back the game wide open in the sixth and seventh with three runs in each frame. SIU turned the game into a slaughter with six runs in the eighth on four singles, a walk and a couple errors.

Southern didn't waste any time in the Saturday games. Dillinger singled, Sanders singled and Marling doubled down the first base line to give them a 2-0 lead in the second.

Sanders and Dillinger again was the punch as they collaborated for another run in the fourth. Dick singled and stole second, for a fourth consecutive time, and J. W. doubled.

The third game was almost a carbon copy of the other two. Southern scored almost as will while the Hurons kicked the ball around. SIU scored two in the second, three in the third, one in the fourth and fifth and two in the sixth.

Refined First 12

On the strength of a strike out pitch and some brilliant fielding behind him, Jim Woods retired the first 12 men to face him in the final game of the series. Bob Hardcastle went into the hole at short and came up throwing to retire Bill Shelton in the second in one of the finest defensive plays of the series.

Southern scored 15 bases in the series on John Murray and Nick Genova. Huron catchers. Only one man was thrown out attempting to steal.

Dillinger Gets Six

Dick Dillinger, 455 hitter last year, led the attack with seven hits in the three games. J. W. Sanders followed with six, four of them in the first game of the doubleheader. Ken Monschein's .390 batting average took a dive as he collected only two hits in the series.

This afternoon Southern plays Washington University in St. Louis and Friday returns for a single game against Southeast Missouri. Saturday they will go to prison—no play the inmates at Menard.

Bill Barnett also shot under par Saturday as he fired a 70. Bill shot a par 72 on Friday.

Cindermen Bury Miners

"Doc" Lingle's track squad buried the Miners of Missouri Mines last Friday in a dual meet at Rolla, Missouri, 92-39.

In winning their third consecutive dual meet of the season the Saluki cindermen won 12 of 15 first places as they completely dominated the meet.

John Flamer again was a double winner as he captured the blue ribbon in the mile and two-mile John ran the mile in 4:26.9 and the two mile in an under-par 10:02.6.

Dale Glegorn and Lorin Lambert, again dominated the hurdles. Lambert won the 120 high and Glegorn won the 220-low.

Today, the Salukis meet Washington University in St. Louis and Saturday go to Eastern Illinois for the State Meet. Next week, the home night meets are on tap.

MEN'S WEAR — CARBONDALE

"It might not be the final solution, but a Camel would help!"

If you're out on a limb about choosing your cigarette, remember this: more people smoke Camels than any other brand today. The costly Camel blend has never been equalled for rich flavor and easygoing mildness. The best tobacco makes the best smoke.

Escape from fads and fancy stuff...
