City Council sets up conditions

Activities planned for Illinois Avenue closing

By Barry Cleveland
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Groups and individuals interested in operating booths or carrying on organized activities in the downtown Carbondale area during the weekends of April 21-22 should apply by Monday after­noon. Steve Hoffmann, a member of the task force to develop plans for Illinois Avenue, said Wednesday.

The Carbondale Area Council Tuesday night passed a resolution detailing the conditions under which a section of South Illinois Avenue between College and Walnut streets will be closed to traffic on Friday and Saturday nights beginning April 21.

If the conditions are met and the response to the city-wide festival is sufficient, the street will also be closed on the weekends of April 28-29, May 5-6, May 12-13, May 19-20 and May 26-27.

The council requires that a schedule be filed in the office of the city manager detailing the activities planned by each group participating by 5 p.m. Wednesday. The groups must also indicate their willingness to help clean up the area after each evening.

Anderson: plan to look at FBI dossiers

By David L. Mahman
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Muckraker Jack Anderson's next big exposure will be a close look at FBI dossiers on political activists.

Anderson, whose column appears in 760 newspapers, made the announ­cement after delivering the fifth annual Elijah P. Lovejoy Lecture in Jour­nalism to some 800 persons in the SIU Student Center Wednesday night.

But the heart of Anderson's speech was that although America is supposed to have a free press, the news is still censored—at the source.

Anderson told the crowd that news is censored by government officials by classifying it. He said that like most people, government officials do not in­tend to make blunders, but want some protection if they do Anderson cited President Nixon and his national security advisor, Henry Kissinger, saying that they pick out and release only those secrets that make them look good.

"Getting the truth out of the government is like trying to draw pictures on water," Anderson said.

As an example, Anderson cited the recent IIT case which has put him in the spotlight over the past few weeks. He described IIT as a "carnivorous corpor­ate monster," infused with former political officials.

He began by rapping former Attorney General John Mitchell, who is now heading Nixon's campaign for reelec­tion. Anderson related Mitchell's testimony under oath that he had not discussed philosophy, not a pending anti-trust suit, with IIT executives whom he visited Mitchell in Washington.

Among the other conditions which must be met are these:
- There will be no property damage.
- There will be no consumption of alcohol on public property or use of illegal drugs.
- No loud rock music will be allowed.
- Individuals in the area must comply with all police orders and with all state and city statutes.

Bill Hitchcock, another local liquor dealer and a member of the task force, said about 30 informal applications have been received thus far from civic groups, private concessionaires, school and church organizations.

Among the activities which have been suggested are folk singing, jazz and symphonic music, drama presentations, art displays, chance games, carnival booths and a dunking booth with the "victims" being members of the Carbondale police force, he said.

Most of the booths will be set up in parking spaces on the west side of Illinois Avenue, Hoffmann said, keeping the two traffic lanes of the street open in case of an emergency.

Festivities will be confined to an area between the buildings on the east side of the street and the series of alleys between Illinois and University avenues, he said.

Northbound U.S. 51 traffic will be diverted from Illinois Avenue to Mill Street, west to Poplar Street, north to Main Street and east to Illinois Avenue.

Cross traffic will continue to flow east and west on both College and Walnut streets, Hoffmann said.

Drinking will be prohibited in the area during state or city elections, Hoff­mann said. The possibility of a beer garden on private property in the area has been considered, but the cost of necessary dram shop insurance—about $300 a day—is prohibitive, he said.

Carbondale police and SIU security officers will cooperate in policing the area and directing traffic, Larry McKimm, a Carbondale patrolman, said Wednesday.

Ten officers from each force will be on duty, with the policemen maintaining a low profile and perform a preventive rather than reactive role.

Officers will use their discretion in determining whether or not to arrest protesters but will not allow violence or destruction, he said. Citations to appear in city court may not be filed if McKimm sees adherence to law and order for the area.

Next on the agenda, the senators selected three new undergraduate representatives to serve on the University Senate. Those selected include, student senators Diane Ollman, Buzz Talbot, and Jim Cazell who was appointed at large.

In final business the Student Senate will select three students to sit on the Carbondale Downtown Task Force Committee. Frank Raffaelle, associate professor of Programming Inc., a consultant firm hired by the Downtown Task Force, presented information to the senators concerning future plans for the development of the downtown business area in Carbondale.

He suggested that it would be to the benefit of both students and the community to have student input into the task force's decisions. The names of those students selected to sit on the committee will be announced at next week's meeting.
Fraternity to escort kids to zoo

Twenty boys from the surrounding area will go to the St. Louis Zoo with members of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity Saturday.

The children are from the Hurst Home for Boys and Carbondale Home for Boys.

During the day, members of APO will escort the boys through the zoo and immediate park area. The children will be given lunch by the Prairie Farm Dairies and Ideal Bakery.

A number of problems had to be solved in order to start the event. The first problem was the approval of the state Division of Highways clean-up, compensation to businesses financially hurt by the closing and emergency and fire protection.

However, the task force has been able to meet these problems and now looks forward to a successful city-university celebration, Hoffman said.

The SIU Student Senate, the Chamber of Commerce and the Carbondale Police Department will evaluate the first weekend's festivities and reveal their findings to the task force, which will then present an evaluation of its own to the City Council at its April 25 meeting, Hoffman said.

Government security is being strengthened and his activities are under close surveillance by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). But Jack Anderson, controversial Washington columnist, says this is not about to stop him.

Despite the stepped up government security and intimidation attempts, Anderson says he still has the sources to expose the lamentable dealings of politicians and government agencies.

Lie detector tests, limitations on xerographic copying, a crack down on the number of officials who see a particular document-these are only a few of the measures taken by the government since the latest Anderson's exposes.

Anderson, but Anderson interns do not know. Anderson interns do not know what Henry Kissinger is doing without talking to him.

In advising young reporters how to avoid the Bureaucratic In­im­ita­tion Snow Job Syndrome, Anderson told the following story.

A two-star general entered the office of the Stars and Stripes newspaper where Anderson worked during his military stint. When a secretary inquired what she should do about the presence of the officer, a co­op­er­en­tre­val­or Anderson's told her, "If he gets in your way throw him out.

Letters to the editor

This is austerity

To the Daily Egyptian:

SIU Board Chairman Harold Fischer, after notification by the Internal Revenue Service that the salaries paid to four top University officials violate federal wage control regulations, says “The SIU Board has been very careful to observe both the letter and the spirit of the wage control regulations and has held salary increases within the guidelines.” The facts are, of course, that President Derge’s salary is $50,000 (more than the governor makes). The former President made $38,000. That is about a 32 per cent raise. The standard pay increase allowed by the Pay Board is 5.3 per cent. Yet Mr. Fischer contends that this 32 per cent raise is within “the spirit of the guideline.” How stupid does Mr. Fischer think the rest of us are? The rest of the members of the Board of Trustees may believe a 32 per cent raise is within “the spirit” of the guidelines. How stupid does Mr. Fischer think the rest of us are? The rest of the members of the Board of Trustees may believe a 32 per cent raise is within “the spirit” of the guidelines.

This edition of The Mirror clearly shows that the “populist” platform of each of the candidates of the procedure, not to mention that the requirement is printed on the student organization application.

This is unfortunate because The Mirror contains much useful information. It would be advisable, however, to first make sure the particular course is covered before going to the trouble of learning to interpret the data. This, for some people, would be wasted time since the number of courses covered is limited to the number of instructors who volunteered their classes for evaluation. There are, for instance, no journalism courses evaluated and in many cases only one course from a whole department is given.

Many students will pass up The Mirror as merely a repetition of last year’s useless piece of waste paper. This is unfortunate because The Mirror contains much useful information. It would be advisable, however, to first make sure the particular course is covered before going to the trouble of learning to interpret the data.

This edition of The Mirror clearly shows that SIU undergraduate students have a means by which they can accurately assess their future classes. The only limitation of The Mirror is its scope and hopefully this will be expanded in the future.

Hearings set for three-year program proposals

By Rich Lorenz
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Hearings on the three-year bachelor's degree program proposal will be held Tuesday and Friday in the conference room of the Office of Admissions and Records in Woody Hall, Wing A.

Robert A. McGrath, dean of the Office of Admissions and Records, said the hearings will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. on Tuesday and from 10 a.m. to noon Friday. The hearings will be conducted by the new programs subcommittee of the Undergraduate Education Policies Committee.

Any three-year program would depend heavily on testing. Various plans concerning testing have been introduced.

Proficiency exams for any of the traditional freshman and sophomore courses could be offered. Students could take the exams whenever they feel ready. Students who do not want to take the exams or are unsuccessful with the exams would be allowed to take the traditional four-year sequence.

Another testing method would be a combination of locally developed, specific proficiencies and broad, nationally standardized proficiencies.

Censorship charged in movie rating system

NEW YORK (AP) - The alphabet soup of movie ratings is once again in hot water.

The controversial system, now in its fourth year, is parrying blows from a new source - youthful farmer interns on its Code and Rating Board.

The current dispute hinges on whether or not the board is a censor. Code officials vehemently deny the charge of censorship.

With some minor changes since then, movies now are labeled G, general audience; PG, parental guidance is suggested; P, parental consent is required; and X, no one under 17 admitted.

Dr. Aaron Stern, an educator and psychologist who was appointed code administrator last summer, defends the system.

"The idea," he said recently in a talk in Chicago, "is to protect children, not make value judgments concerning quality or content. Our job is to provide parents with precise information about the content of the film, and then let them make their own decisions."

Some time ago the Motion Picture Association of America, which administers the code, established a program of internships to allow young people to join the rating staff for one year.

From these pro teen members have come the most recent charges against the board - that it is actually a censoring body.

Evelyn Remsik, a graduate of the UCLA film school, served with the board from August through October 1971 before she resigned because of what she said was the group's narrow-minded approach.

No baseball for children under 12, officials state

COLUMBIA, Md. (AP) - Children under 12 may not play baseball or any of the six city-owned playgrounds in this Baltimore-Washington suburb, which bills itself as "The New America."

Officials of Columbia Association, by a 2-1 vote, ruled baseball is a contact sport and thus in the same category as such other banned sports for youngsters as football, soccer and karate.

Still another method would allow a student to take a proficiency when he first enters SIU. The proficiency which could be used is in the College Level Examination Program. A student could earn up to 46 hours by the program. For those not attempting the CLEP or other proficiency opportunities, the Undergraduate Record Exam would be used during the final year.

If an examination is developed which covers broad areas, it could be used to grant full credit in the first four areas of General Studies.
Marathon nets $1,000 for Explo crusaders

By John Crossman
Student Writer

SIU and Carbondale High School students played basketball for a 24-hour stretch last weekend, and they would have been happy to go into overtime.

The Campus Crusade for Christ sponsored the marathon. Its purpose was to raise money to send 50 students to Explo Twelve June 12.

They did it at one-cent per point. Carbondale merchants sponsored one of the two teams and pledged a penny for each point scored, not to exceed $30. When the final horn sounded, the Blues (SIU upperclassmen) had defeated the Yellows (SIU freshmen and high school students) 1089-1060. "We raised somewhere between $340 and $310,000," said Barry Brunt, the Crusade's co-ordinator. "The final amount will not be known for about a week," Brunt said.

Approximately 38 students played in four-hour shifts, beginning at 8 a.m. Saturday. Most of the students played 12 hours. One student lasted for 16 hours. The teams were made up of those who planned to go to the week-end-long Dallas event.

When the guys got tired, the girls donated skivvies and substituted playing half court.

There were few left in the Girls Gym by Saturday evening. But, those who left came back Sunday with doughnuts and orange juice for the players.

When it was all over, and the final point made, a player asked a tired Brunt if he planned to do it again. "No, not for a while," he said. "It's good for about one time."

The students plan to hire a bus to make the trip. They will return June 17.

Ag conference to be held this weekend

An Agriculture Education Conference will be held at the Little Grassy Outline Laboratory Friday and Saturday to discuss the problems that arise between community colleges and four-year institutions, said Wendell Kepper, dean of the School of Agriculture.

The conference is an annual event, dating back to the late 1950s. The first conference was held at SIU with only four schools, SIU, University of Illinois, Western Illinois, and Illinois State participating. This year's conference will include these four and the 25 community colleges with agriculture programs, said Dean Kepper, Chairman of this year's Articulation Conference For Higher Education In Agriculture.

The conference is divided into six sessions, three each day. The sessions include committee meetings, committee reports and discussion of new courses to be offered.

Among the new courses under consideration are horticulture and agricultural education. The conference will discuss requirements for these courses, and what will be offered in them.

Open house date set for WIDB

Campus radio station WIDB has announced an open house scheduled Saturday and the addition of news and weather announcements during morning hours.

The open house is scheduled from 1 to 5 p.m. at WIDB facilities in Wright Dorm, University Park, according to J. D. Fanningdale, general manager.

Among new courses under consideration are horticulture and agricultural education. The conference will discuss requirements for these courses, and what will be offered in them.

Baptist Center program planned

The Chapel Singers will perform a concert at the Baptist Student Center at 9:30 p.m. Friday for the 8-11 weekend, which is sponsored by SIU's Baptist Student Union.

A talent show is also scheduled for 8:30 Saturday night with a tour of campus, a program at Giant City, small groups conferences and other activities.

LAST YEAR 27,000 KIDS WERE LOOKING FOR A BETTER PLACE TO SLEEP IN EUROPE.

If you're planning to go to Europe this summer, don't be surprised if you find yourself sleeping in an uncomfortable place.

With more students than ever planning to take advantage of low airfares, decent sleeping accommodations are going to be tough to get.

Not that back-packing it isn't fun. But after a while the ground starts getting kind of hard.

You could play it safe and make reservations long in advance. But that can take all the fun out of traveling, since you may want to stay longer in one place, less in another, or change your plans altogether.

That's why TWA has come out with Stutelpass. For only $4.80 a day, you get a decent place to sleep, continental breakfasts, tour discounts, mail-drop services and more.

Stutelpass works like this:

When you purchase your TWA tickets, you can also purchase the Stutelpass for 20, 40, or 60 days. At only $4.80 a day.

The Stutelpass booklets contain 20 vouchers, which can be used every day or every few days in any 50 cities serviced by Stutelpass. If you don't use them all, just return them for a refund.

All you have to do in Europe is either phone or visit any one of 12 Stutelpass offices before 3 PM. Tell them where you want to go and they'll arrange everything.

There's nothing more to do.
No taxes to pay.
No service charges to pay.
No advance reservations to make.
And for every 20 vouchers you buy TWA throws in 6 special vouchers. Which can be used for tickets to a play in London, the use of a bicycle in Amsterdam, tickets to a bullfight in Spain, a three-course meal in Venice, tickets to the Olympic Music Hall in Paris, a smorgasbord luncheon in Copenhagen and more.

All this for $4.80 a day. TWA's Stutelpass.

Now you don't have to worry about finding a decent place to sleep.

Mensa forms a contact for intelligent people

By Dave Mahan
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Mensa is looking for people with an intelligence quotient (IQ) in the upper two per cent of the American population.

Mensa is an international society with the primary purpose of providing contact among intelligent people. The only requirement is that members must score in the upper two per cent on an intelligence test. According to Jackie Evans, a member of the local chapter, the Southern Illinois Mensa group is looking to SIU for new members.

These interested may attend a meeting at 8:30 p.m. Friday at 203 Glennview Dr. in Carbondale. Frank Oglesbee, assistant professor in the Department of Radio and TV, will present a program on “visual and verbal.” Interested people may also contact Regional Coordinator John Jacobson, a psychology professor in the Department of Special Education.

Ms. Evans said that the organization administers a test to determine IQ and possible certification for membership in Mensa.

The Southern Illinois chapter has only nine members at the present time. Ms. Evans said she added that the group is attempting to increase local membership.

Besides bringing intelligent people together, Mensa also conducts research in psychology and social science.

FAA head to speak to aviation students

Federal Aviation Administration head John H. Shaffer will tour SIU aviation technology facilities and address a student banquet Saturday.

Shaffer is scheduled to arrive at the Southern Illinois Airport at 8 p.m. for a tour of facilities of the 179-student aviation technology program operated there by Southern’s Vocational-Technical Institute.

He will address the seventh annual banquet of Sigma Chapter of international aviation fraternity Alpha Eta Rho at a Marion motel at 7:30 Saturday. More than 300 persons, including leaders of the industry who serve on the aviation technology advisory committee, will attend.

Shaffer, who has served as administrator of the FAA since March 1986, is noted for his push for implementation of programs authorized by the Federal Airport and Airways Development Act of 1978.

A West Point graduate and World War II bomber pilot, he was involved in the B-52 and B-47 development programs before leaving the Air Force in 1964 to work in private industry.

E.A. Dalrose, SIU aviation technology chairman, said members of the advisory committee who will attend the student fraternity banquet following their meeting Saturday will include executives of American Airlines, Trans World Air Lines, United Air Lines, Pan American World Airways, and the System Danzer Corp.

Arven Saunders, executive director of the St. Louis Metropolitan Airport Authority, will be a guest at the banquet.

Bill limiting executive war power still alive

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate refused again Wednesday to set aside a bill to limit the war powers of the President.

It defeated, 56 to 22, a substitute proposal by Sen. Glenn Beall Jr., R-Md., to appoint a 24-member national commission for a year-long study of the war-making roles of Congress and the President.

The test was the second in two days indicating majority Senate accord to implement the constitutional authority of Congress alone to declare war.

A final Senate vote on the bill was set for 1:30 p.m. EST Thursday.

On Tuesday, the Senate turned down 60-3 a motion to send the bill to its own Judiciary Committee for 45 days to review its constitutionality.

The bill would limit the President’s use of the armed forces to emergency defense against attack or threat or attack or rescue of Americans endangered abroad, and then only for 30 days unless Congress consented.

“Impeach if in this is what has gone on in Vietnam and the prevention of future Vietnams,” Sen. Thomas P. Eagleton, D-Mo., said the Senate Wednesday.

Arguing that the war-power issue has had study enough, Eagleton said a study commission, is “a way to postpone” necessary action.

“This is the time to act,” said Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., principal sponsor of the bill.

Beall said the bill, opposed by President Nixon, is not likely to be considered in the House this year, and is highly unlikely to be signed by the President.

CARUS'
Commander blames press for troop hesitation

PHU BAI, Vietnam (AP) — About 100 GIs reluctantly moved into a forward defensive position outside an important American air base Wednesday after first refusing because they believed it was too dangerous.

They took up the assigned position about three miles west of Phu Bai, the northernmost point in South Vietnam now occupied by Americans.

An electronic communications facility and a key airstrip are there. The battalion commander, Lt. Col. Frederick P. Mitchell, assisted television newsmen and other journalists who were present when the incident took place.

"All you press are bastards," he said. "I blame you for this and you can quote me on it."

In Saigon, the U.S. Command said, "A rumor to the effect that the area was an ambush site loaded with booby traps circulated among some members."

The unit involved is Charlie Company, 2nd Battalion, 1st Infantry, 196th Brigade.

The command statement, without offering any direct criticism of newsmen, said: "Numerous correspondents were in the area interviewing soldiers. Several soldiers told correspondents that they did not want to go into the field."

No soldier actually disobeyed orders or refused to go into the field, the command said. No disciplinary action was taken.

The men at first refused to board trucks waiting to take them to the position, but after a lieutenant called for volunteers and a handful stepped forward, all except one platoon had climbed aboard within an hour.

The platoon of about 45 men, after saying they were told other American defenders in the area of the position would be engorged by their absence, agreed a short time later to go.

family were split up, which was designed to break the spirit, blacks overcome and hold on to the spirit anyway through their music."

According to Branch, this is what is brought out in the works of Joplin. He had a musical gift of organization and of writing beautiful melodies, and his works perpetuated certain aspects of African culture. Joplin's opera concerns a black girl who grows up to become the teacher and leader of her people. As a baby, Treemonisha is found abandoned under a tree in a plantation field in Arkansas. She becomes a gift sent from God to the childless couple Ned and Monisha. In 1866, the year Treemonisha is found, blacks had just been set free from slavery and are in dense ignorance with no one to guide them. All the people in the area, excepting Treemonisha's foster parents, were superstitious and believed in conjuring. Ned and Monisha had always dreamed of raising a child and educating her so that as an adult she would teach the people in the area to aspire to something higher and better than superstition and incantations.

The opera begins in September, 1884. Treemonisha, now 18, is probably sitting under her tree, awaiting her destiny.

Internal Revenue Service offers help in filling returns

WASHINGTON (AP) — With only five days left before the filing deadline, the Internal Revenue Service advertised on its agency Wednesday to help taxpayers fill out their 1971 federal income tax returns.

Commissioner Johnnie M. Walters said his agency will use 15,000 technical personnel, about seven times more than normal, to help taxpayers complete the job of filling out returns before the deadline of midnight, April 17.

Walters said that about one-fifth of the nation's 75 million taxpayers have yet to file.

He said the sharp expansion in the IRS service to taxpayers is being launched because of widespread evidence of fraudulent practices by a significant number of commercial tax preparers.

IRS offices throughout the country will be open at least until early Sunday, including Saturday but not Sunday. Walters said meanwhile.

The IRS's crackdown on tax preparers in recent weeks has resulted in detecting 1,000 preparers of 2,500 investigated who have prepared fraudulent tax returns for taxpayers.

IRS studies have shown that about half of federal income tax returns are prepared by tax preparers.

Walters said that IRS agents engaged in other work, apparently including wage-price controls, would be pulled off their jobs the next five days to handle the increased load.

If a taxpayer goes to an IRS office to have his return prepared, it apparently would exclude him from charges if he provides agents with correct information.

But Walters said agents, like anyone else, are subject to human error and the taxpayer will be liable for mistakes.

Walters said in response to a question that IRS agents who prepare returns for taxpayers will not sign them. But, he said, in view of the expanded program the IRS now will consider requiring agents to sign returns or design returns to prepare them.
Student mails formal complaint to police over weekend arrest

An SIU student who claimed he was assaulted by two Carbondale policemen said Wednesday he has mailed a formal letter of complaint to the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners.

Howard M. Blair, 21-year-old sociology senior, said he filed the complaint against Tom Busch and Bob Groe, officers who arrested him early Sunday on charges of public consumption of liquor and resisting arrest.

Blair claimed he was slammed against a police car and that his chin was cut by the officers. He has denied resisting arrest. The officers have denied using undue force in arresting Blair.

Police Chief Joe Dakin said on Sunday that he had reviewed the case and had found that no undue force was used. However, he said if a letter was received the case would be referred to the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners for a hearing.

Blair said he has retained a lawyer to defend his case which is scheduled to be heard at 9 a.m. Monday at the Jackson County Court House in Murphysboro. He said he will plead not guilty to both charges.

' Couples who sleep together keep together’

WEST LIBERTY, Ky. (AP) — Joseph and Frances Henry say they are very much in love after 73 years of marriage.

"We've always stayed together and we still sleep together... we never had separate beds," said Frances Henry on their wedding anniversary last month.

"That's the reason he stayed home. That's the way to keep a man. They still hold hands. He is 99 and confined to a wheelchair. She is spry at 87, but has diabetes."

Joseph reminisces about his first meeting with Frances Yocom. She was nearly 15 when he returned from the Spanish-American War in 1898.

"I remember the first time I ever saw her," he said. "It was at church. I've loved her ever since. Her hair was black as a crow's wing. She was always pretty."

Mrs. Henry recalls: "He was just out of the Army—hair black as coal and those brass buttons on the blue uniform. Was he good-looking!"

The two were married in 1900 when he was 27 and she not yet 17. Their first child was born before she was 18. All five sons and a daughter were born at home. One of their sons lives with them at their home in Cottle, Ky. He takes care of the two farms they own.

Black Student Union endorses candidates

By Sue Miller
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Black Student Union (BSU) will support Jon Taylor for student body president and Susan Collot for vice-president, according to BSU chairman Lev Frison.

The BSU represents the black fraternities, sororities, and social clubs. However, 16 other black organizations also joined to support Taylor and Ms. Collot.

Taylor and Ms. Collot, who are affiliated with the Unity Party, were forming the BSU to support Taylor and Ms. Collot. They did not properly follow the proper procedures in organizing the party.

Jennie Lucas, student government committee member, was involved in creating a major program for the BSU.

The movie stars Haya Tepul, who was nominated for an Academy Award for his role in "Fiddler on the Roof." There will be an admission charge of $1.

How much longer are you going to read like a 4th grader?

You do, you know. But there's still time to stop it.

Your reading speed is between 250 and 400 words a minute. That means you read one word at a time. And that's the way you were taught to read in first grade.

There is a reading level that you should have reached before first grade. It is called "fourth grade." You may have trouble pronouncing words or you may read them too slowly. You may have trouble with words that you don't know or that you read too slowly. And you may have trouble reading the material that you need to read. You may read as many words in a minute as a fourth grader reads in four minutes. You may need help to learn how to read. And you may need help to read.

The symptoms of heartworm are sluggishness, a cough or the dog may tire easily. The disease can be fatal. But the only way to tell for sure if a dog has heartworm is by blood test.

The disease can be treated by the use of two drugs, according to the veterinarian. But if symptoms of heartworm are present in the dog, the treatment can prevent an element of risk. A pre-treatment physical and laboratory examination will help evaluate the possibility of these risks. Early diagnosis and treatment is preferred, however.

Lecture on sleep planned

Return of mosquitoes potential menace to dogs

By David L. Mahan
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

With the warm weather that has moved into Carbondale comes the return of mosquitoes, which bring with them a potential menace to every dog in the city.

The menace is a dog disease known as heartworm. The disease is characterized by one to 300 worms, 8 to 12 inches long, which lodge in the right chamber of a dog's heart and interfere with blood circulation, according to a local veterinarian.

The veterinarian wishes to remain unnamed for ethical reasons.

Heartworm is transmitted from infected dogs to other dogs by mosquitoes, the veterinarian said.

The threat of the disease is worse where mosquitoes may breed—mine ponds, lakes and marshes, such as near Crab Orchard Lake.

The mosquito sucks blood, which contains the immature worm known as the microfilaria, from a heartworm-infected dog. Two weeks later, the mosquito injects the microfilaria into another dog, the veterinarian said.

During the next six to eight months, the microfilaria migrate to the right ventricle of the dog's heart, where they mature. At this time, the microfilaria may start liberating their offspring into the blood, and the process begins again.

The veterinarian warned that any dog is a likely prospect for heartworm. He added that there are dogs in Carbondale now that are infected.

Once the mosquitoes are out, the disease will spread.

The symptoms of heartworm are sluggishness, a cough or the dog may tire easily. The disease can be fatal. But the only way to tell for sure if a dog has heartworm is by blood test.

The disease can be treated by the use of two drugs, according to the veterinarian. But if symptoms of heartworm are present in the dog, the treatment can prevent an element of risk. A pre-treatment physical and laboratory examination will help evaluate the possibility of these risks. Early diagnosis and treatment is preferred, however.

Even better than early diagnosis is a program of prevention, the veterinarian said. The program consists of oral medication mixed with the dog's food one month prior to mosquito season and extending two months afterward.

Here is the preventative program in detail:

- Before the program may begin, the dog must be examined for heartworm. Otherwise, the treatment may kill the dog if heartworm is present.

- The medication must be given daily, or it may fail to protect the dog.

- Because the effective dose of the drug varies with the dog's weight, any change in weight must be reported immediately.

The dog's heart, worms, and immature worms, which lodge in the heart grow larger as they mature. At this time, the process begins again.

The veterinarian said that the medication must be given before and after the treatment of the dog.

Before the treatment, the veterinarian said, it is important to report any change in weight immediately.
SAIGON (AP) - A dozen large North Vietnamese rockets exploded Thursday afternoon around Da Nang air base, the biggest U.S. fighter-bomber installation in Vietnam. Enemy troops also renewed attacks across a key river defense line anchoring the government's northern front.

One rocket which hit on the Da Nang flight line set fire to a twin-engine transport carrying about 250 yards from an ammunition dump. Overall damage was light, officials said.

Two hours after the attack U.S. jetfighters took off from American bases in the Laotian area to support South Vietnam's operations. Officials said no Americans were hit but that at least two South Vietnam troops civilians were killed and four wounded.

Within minutes of the first explosion an aircraft with a large searchlight took off. Its task was to pinpoint the enemy rocket launchers positions and to guide fire on any weapons still under fire.

The last attack on Da Nang, Feb. 8, 1966, three Vietnamese and wounded six Americans and 10 with a salvo of 37 rockets.

The Bien Hoa air base, used by American Air Force units, was shelled 24 hours earlier. Mortar rounds launched from the Bien Hoa air base hit the attack 15 miles northeast of Saigon.

U.S. Air Force and Marine F4 Phantom and A-4 Skyhawk planes 30 miles south of the demilitarized zone, the Saigon command said 52 enemy troops were killed.

After the collapse of their defensive line south of the DMZ in no opening days of the enemy offensives. Saigon's troops managed to stabilize their northernmost line on the DMZ. However, they injured heavy casualties on waves of enemy attackers who sought to breach it with tanks and infantry.

The 2nd Dang Loc just below the river which has been one of the enemy's major objectives so far in the offensive. The provincial capital of Quang Tri lies 13 miles further south.

Enemy troops also tightened their siege of an artillery and artillery base guarding the most vulnerable point in the ancient imperial capital of Hue.

Field reports said enemy troops had captured all of Da Nang's 12 miles southwest of Hue and 40 miles south of the DMZ. Enemy guerrillas fired 50 rounds of 82mm mortars and government forces battled an estimated 100 enemy troops three miles from the shell-blazed barbed wire perimeter.

The situation around Bao Bang was described as critical. It commanded Route 574, a narrow dirt road that was used by the enemy during the 1968 Tet offensive to spearhead its drive that partially captured Hue.

A major problem in easing pressures on Bao Bang is that enemy forces in the northern provinces has been the low monsoon clouds. No air strikes were flown against North Vietnam because of continued pollution. Tactical air strikes in support of embattled infantrymen, such as those on a Fire Base Bao Bang, were restricted.

North Vietnamese forces claimed to have hit and set fire on a U.S. warship warship in a Laotian area Tuesday. In relaying the claim, the Vietnam News Agency said guillotines the U.S. ships warships seven times since the beginning the last month. Government troops at the encircled provincial town of An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon, struck out toward enemy lines after saturation bombing of North Vietnamese positions by about 15 U.S. B-52 bombers.

An estimated 30,000 enemy troops and support forces would be engaged in the Cambodian border southward where they have halted a 30,000-man military government task and infantry relief columns. The columns stopped after being hit by a barrage of rockets and rocket shells and lashed with small arms fire.

More than 100 allied air strikes were flown in the area, many of them trying to blast a clear path for men and supplies.

Although wary eyes the new action in the far north, all military officials are said to be most surprised by the Americans involvement in the continuing siege of An Loc where 12,000 government troops-most of the Viet Cong 5th Division—are battling up.

Kennel club sponsors annual dog contest

By Gary Kuehl Student Writer

The Crab Orchard Kennel Club sponsors its annual dog show Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. at 160 Orchard Ave. Glenn Schuetz, show chairman, announced that winners will be judged in both conformation and obedience competition. The show is open to anyone with an AKC registered dog. The entry fee is eight dollars for the first dog and five dollars for each additional dog.

Six groups will make up the basis of the show—showing, hunting, working, terrier, toy, and non- sporting groups.

Crab Orchard Kennel Club sponsors the show each year and although the majority of dogs come from the Midwest, entries have come from throughout the United States, Mexico, and Canada. Approximately 1,100 dogs are expected this year.

Schuetz explained there is not as much competition in this show as in the other major shows held in the area. Despite attempts to stimulate local interest by awarding ribbons and prizes to dogs living within a 50 mile radius of Carbondale, entries from the local area have not increased with growth of the show.

Field originally in the Armory in Carbondale, continued growth in the number of entries necessitated the move to the Arena. Schuetz explained the growth of the show with this statement that the show is "a full-fledged AKC sanctioned show and obedience trial." This statement brings about keen competition and increased entries from professional dog handlers and trainers. It is not uncommon for a professional handler to show up to 15 dogs in a single day.

Schuetz revealed the working dog group usually has the highest number of entries. The German Shepherd, Doberman Pinscher, Great Dane, miniature schnauzer, and Labrador Retriever are the breeds generally having the highest number of entries annually.

The competition in the obedience trials was cited by Schuetz as one of the prime attractions the show has to offer. The obedience trials include five categories with the first three places in each receiving a nucleus based trophies. The categories include high scoring dog, high scoring local dog, high scoring novice (A and B divisions), and high scoring showing. Ribbons and trophies, donated by the club and individuals, are also awarded to the first three places in the conformation classes.

The show opens at 8 a.m. and the clamps determining the best dog in the show take place at approximately 8 p.m. The public is invited to attend the show. There will be a one dollar donation expected. Besides using the donations to pay for show expenses, two scholarships are financed from the proceeds. A $300 scholarship is awarded to SIU for a pre-veterinary student. The second scholarship is given to the Southern Illinois Veterinary Association to be used for study and research in veterinary medicine at the University of Illinois.

Apollo 16 crew rehearses fifth moon shot maneuvers

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Astronauts rehearsed blastoff and earth orbital maneuvers Wednesday as the countdown proceeded smoothly toward Sunday's beginning of the Apollo 16 moon mission. Civil authorities prepared for the massive traffic jam expected to be caused by the launch.

Astronauts John W. Young, Charles M. Duke, Jr. and Thomas K. Mattingly II boarded the command ship simulator to run through activities from the time the booster rocket leaves the pad until they fire out of earth orbit and head for the moon.

That covers 2 hours, 37 minutes in the flight plan.

Young and Duke also practiced their descent to the moon in the lunar module trainer and Mattingly worked on lunar orbit exercises in the command ship simulator.

On Thursday the astronauts will receive a geology briefing.

Lt. Ben Branch of the Florida Highway Patrol estimated that a million visitors would be crammed into the area where the booster rocket lifts off at 12:34 p.m. EST.
Livestock judges set SIU meet

By University News Service

Several hundred young persons interested in farm animals will converge on the livestock judging and research units of the SIU School of Agriculture Friday and Saturday judging contests.

Gathering at SIU Friday afternoon will be dairy and livestock judging teams from high schools with agricultural occupations teaching programs in Sections 21 through 25, comprising High School District Five in Southern Illinois counties for a regional livestock judging contest. Coming Saturday will be various 4-H groups from about 20 Southern Illinois counties for a regional livestock showmanship school and judging contest.

Prof. G.B. Marian, chairman of the SIU animal industries department, says SIU dairy cattle, hogs, beef cattle, sheep, and horses will be utilized for the various instructional and judging activities. 4-H specialists will provide the official placings of animals for the judging, and SIU animal industries and Future Farmers of America chapter students will help with contest details.

The high school judging contests Friday will begin at 1 p.m. after tours of facilities at the SIU Dairy Center. These contests will be directed by the sectional chairmen for the agricultural occupations teachers in the participating schools.

About 90 high schools in the southern 30 counties of Illinois included in District Five have agricultural occupations programs. The sectional chairmen are Crenn Huelsenot, Kimmundy, for Section 21; Bobbie Geldrot, Slaton, for Section 22; Robert Wehner, New Troy, for Section 23; Milton Jung of Shawnee High School, New Haven, for Section 24; and Kenneth R. Webb, Vienna, for Section 25.

The 4-H regional activities Saturday will begin at the SIU livestock centers at 10 a.m.

Archie Bunker steps into night club scene

RENO, Nev. (AP) -- Wearing a sharp black tuxedo topped off with a frumpy brown fedora, Archie Bunker steps onto the supper club stage and enters an appallingly audience.

"It happens every time I wear this suit," he said understandingly. "I get a hee-haw hand." The, voice rasping, signaling Carroll O'Connor's successful debut as a nightclub entertainer.

Encored by smoke from a long, brown cigar, O'Connor struts to center stage and grins on himself on a stool. He sits, hands on knees, and surveys the audience which puffed an average $35 each to eat dinner and watch his act.

He has come to this gambling mecca, but to tell them, "to talk to you face-to-face about a few things I got on my mind, especially on taxes and morality," the major breakdown in our society.

Gesturing frequently with the cigar he dangles in his hand, he spends 25 minutes dispensing the philosophy the audience--according to PCV's "All In The Family" show--expects and has come to hear. He is also a congressman, for instance, who got elected despite the fact that he is Polish:

Southern Players to present Nobel Prize play, "Godot"

By Glenn Amato

The Southern Players' production of Samuel Beckett's Nobel Prize winning play "Waiting For Godot" will be presented at 8 p.m. Friday through Sunday, April 14-16, in the Laboratory Theatre. Communications Building.

Directed by Jay E. Raphael, whose recent production was "The Stranger" as the Calypso Stage, "Waiting For Godot" tells the story of two dilapidated humus who fill their days as painfully as they can. They wait for Godot, a personage who will either explain their interminable existence or put an end to it. The play might be described as a portrait of man's efforts to fill the void of his existence with meaningful acts.

When "Waiting For Godot" premiered in New York in 1956, Richard Wettc, Jr. of The New York Post hailed it as "a moving, often funny, grotesquely beautiful and utterly absurd" play. Critical acclaim also greeted a recent Off-Broadway revival.

The four-man cast includes Tim Moyer as Vladimir, Jan Vest as Estragon, Rob Kastil as Lucky and Malcolm Rothman as Pozzo.

General admission is $1.50, and tickets are now on sale at University Theatre box office.
Students desiring to join the Male Glee Club, Southern Singers or the University Singers may make appointments for auditions in Room 193A, Alumni Hall, according to Robert Kingsbury, director of choirs at SIU.

Kingsbury said that he hopes to have sufficient membership for next year by May 10. All choirs offer one hour credit per quarter. Students of all majors may join.

The University Choir is a mixed choir which requires a sight-reading proficiency. It rehearses from 4-5:30 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursdays. There are approximately four concerts per year featuring traditional music with an emphasis on classical, according to Kingsbury.

The Male Glee Club requires no sight-reading ability, but proficiency in music is more frequent—about five per concert. The music ranges from light modern tunes, such as "Wandering Star" and the ever-popular "There Is Nothing Like A Dame" to 18th century sacred songs.

The Glee Club performs "New Student Week" at the beginning of each fall quarter and makes concert tours to various parts of Illinois. A wardrobe of two tuxedos is furnished, but accessory items—shirt, cuff links, collars, and studs—must be purchased for about $8, according to Kingsbury. Rehearsals are from 4:45-6 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The Southern Singers is a mixed chorus limited to 28 persons. Songs range from Renaissance motets to popular tunes such as "Never My Love" and "Up With People".

"The Southern Singers offers the most up-to-date approach to choral singing, but does not sacrifice traditional style entirely," Robin Bagley, the club's president, said. "Wardrobe consists of open collar shirts and flair pants for men and modern style dresses for women."

Buckner said that for next year a week long tour is planned for Spring break for Southern Singers. Normally there are about three concerts per quarter, he said. Rehearsal times are 8-9:30 a.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays.

University Choir requires no sight-reading ability and the only reason for auditioning is for voice placement, according to Buckner. Rehearsals are from 4:45-6 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The survey said that the committee was requested to prepare its first reports on the survey by the third quarter. The survey said that for next year a week long tour is planned for Spring break for Southern Singers.

For the most part, the Chines visitor were reserved in their brief exchanges with reporters and appeared to have stereotyped answers for some questions.

Two attractive members of the Chinese team—Shi Ping Lin, 22, a school administrative employee in China, and Cheng Huaying, 16, a student—were asked what they most wanted to see in the United States.

Compass ‘harriers’ from SIU do well

An SIU student and two professors made themselves at home by scoring one first and two second place finishes in an orienteering meet last weekend at the University Outdoor Laboratory.

Carolyn Schafermeyer, a Southern Illinois student from Carbondale, won the novice women's class on the yellow course in 1:33:36. Chris Church of Great Lakes (1:37:38) came in second.

In the advanced men's class on the red course, Randy Hens of St. Louis (1:12:94) finished first and Ken Ackerman, professor in men's physical education, came in second with a 1:33:37 clocking.

Howard Henkel, professor in environmental engineering, placed second (1:19:14) in the novice men (yellow course) group. George Eberle Jr. of Fenton, Mo. won that class in 1:12:36.

Other individual high placers were:

Parchman, who is a graduate student in addition to his duties as coach of the J-V diamonds, is pleased with his squad’s present 3-1 record.

The junior varsity team opened its season last Saturday with a doubleheader sweep of Kankakee Junior College, 11-4 and 4-4. In the first game, freshman Kevin O’Boyle hurled a no-hitter.

The JV squad would see its next action at 11 a.m. Friday with a home doubleheader slated against Forest Park College.

Correction

It was incorrectly reported in Wednesday’s Daily Egyptian that SIU gymnast Gary Morava is a senior and placed fourth in all-around and first on horizontal bars at the NCAA championships. Morava, a sophomore, finished second in all-around and won the vaulting event.

Track Salukis and Illini

By Mike Klein
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Southern Illinois and Illinois together on the Flat? Is it possible? Sure enough, it's possible.

Sports illustrated plus Track and Field News will watch Saturday as the Salukis and Illini stage a hot track war in Memorial Stadium, Champaign.

Led by two-time AA titul Ivory Crockett, Southern Illinois will seek its second consecutive victory in a series that has drawn national attention after just five years.

"When Bob Wright and I started this series five years ago, we thought it would develop into one of the nation's top rivalries," said Hartzog.

"But it's grown much faster than either of us had expected. It mushroomed after the first year."

The most recent meeting occurred on a warm Wednesday night last spring. Over 4,000 fans crowded the grandstand as the Salukis triumphed, 87-74, in the Memorial Stadium.

"Neither has ever beaten the other on the flat," said Hartzog. "If you go by tradition, we should lose."

The series is tied 21-21.

"Not in any way," Hartzog quickly replies. "We've got kids who say it's not going to finish that way. And there's too many areas that could change."

"Say we get a third in the 800 and sweep the 100 and everything else falls in place for a sweep, we look right down to the last event, the mile relay.

"Needless to say, we don't have to juice our kids at all getting ready to meet Illinois," Hartzog said.

"And the U of I has become much tougher over the years simply because they're going to make damn sure they're not beaten by Southern Illinois."

As the page 21 chart shows, Southern Illinois will dominate the mile, two-mile and 880-220-220-yard dash. Illinois will sweep the 100-200-440-yard relay.

There's a chance Eddie Sutton will replace Gerald Smith in the 220-yard dash.

Controversial sprinter hired

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Olympic champion Dave Smith, who will compete for America with his raised-fist salute during the playing of the Star Spangled Banner, has been named assistant athletic director and head track coach at Oberlin College in Ohio, the Star reported Wednesday.

Smith set 11 world records more than any runner in history, and graduated from San Jose State in 1968. He and teammate John Carlos stunned the world when they ascended the victory stand of the 1968 Mexico City Four during the playing of the national anthem in a symbolic black-power gesture.

NEW YORK (AP) -- The possibility of a Friday opening of the baseball season increased significantly Wednesday when a sudden surge of optimism crept into the negotiations about the talks between the striking players and major league club owners.

"It's been very cordial discussions and both sides are aiming to settle this thing," said Bob Wright, executive director of the players' association. "If we settle Friday, we're going to have a season."

"I think we're getting ready to play ball by Friday," said Calvin Griffith, the owner of the Minnesota Twins. "It's just a matter of when we get the loose ends together."

"We have players that are in the middle of some sort of contract negotiations, and if that continues, we're not sure when we'll open," Griffith said.

The possibility of a Friday opening would allow the teams to start a 162-game season that would begin April 12.

Kornier: can't swim under Ray

By Ernie Schweiz
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

When the 1973-74 swimming season begins next month, Southern Illinois will be without Dale Kornier.

The two-time All-America breaststroker from Pepper Pike, Ohio, said Wednesday he is leaving SIU and will never swim under coach Ray Essick any longer.

"I just can't swim under Ray anymore," Kornier said puffing on a cigarette. "He's really a nice guy as a person, but there's something lacking with his program."

Kornier, a contestant with swimming at Southern Illinois began last season when there was tension between him and various members of the squad.

"They just didn't seem to understand my fraternity life at that time," Kornier said. "They were only thinking about their swimming." Kornier is a member of Sigma Nu.

Last year's bad feelings with some team members were apparently smoothed out this season but Kornier was close to leaving school last year, but decided to stay and swim to make his team.

"I really feel bad about letting the team down by leaving," Kornier said. "I really grew close to these guys."

The incident which started Kornier thinking this season was the suspension of Rich McGinley, SIU's associate coach.

"We were swimming in a 90-meter pool and getting a lot of good workouts in. Then there was this East-West swimming meet that Rob and I wanted to swim in," Kornier said.

The two swimmers called Essick and asked if they could stay for the meet. Essick reluctantly gave in, Kornier said.

"When we came back from Florida Ray forgave McGinley but he never really forgave me. It seemed like for the rest of the year he was more or less ignored. Whenever I wanted to be in something I'd always have to ask one of the assistant coaches," Kornier said.

Another item bothering Kornier was his going to the AAU's in Dallas last weekend as an independent. The unat­

Will there be room for Starrick?

By Mike Klein
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

A Cleveland Plain Dealer sportswriter says there's very little chance Greg Starrick can make that city's NBA basketball team--the Cavaliers.

"At the very best, he'll be way back, 12th man or something," said John Land­

But Cleveland coach Bill Fitch says, "The Plain Dealer should worry about putting out maybe because they've never heard of the kid before I drafted him."

The Cavaliers made Starrick their lone guard selection among nine picks Monday's NBA draft.

"Backcourt competition is super keen," said Lansburgh of the Plain Dealer. "You just know (Austin) Carr and (Butch) Beard will see action. And so will Greg."

About Starrick, Lansburgh said, "If the teams around this league had a higher opinion of him, he would have been in a higher round. Pro scouts must have seen something wrong with him."

Lansburgh labeled 1972 "a slim draft year anywhere. The cream of the crop was gone after the first round. After that, they're just hoping to uncover somebody who might develop between now and next year."

"Answering Lansburgh, Fitch replied, "If Greg Starrick can be a 12th man on my basketball team, he should play in the NBA. Our 12th man played a lot of minutes this year and that's good."

"There's always been a question whether the other teams have gotten a fair shake," said Fitch. "But that's for him to prove to us. I'm not afraid of (162) size. He's not a weak kid."

See related story...page 21

Fitch said his guard selections were "definitely an upgrade," maybe four or five players that could fill one spot this year."

"Greg was the guy available during our draft that we'd wanted and felt merited an opportunity to play professionally."

Despite its 25-9 last place Central Division record, the second year followers were expecting an improvement. Notre Dame's Carr is the biggest name among former All-Americans in-charging Davis (Wake Forest), Beard (Louisville) and John Warren (St. John's of New York). Cleveland's other guard is Bobby Wash Alton (Eastern Kentucky)."

And they're a mighty young group. Only Warren has survived three NBA campaigns. Carr and Davis were 1972 rookies while the other pair played their second seasons.

With this in mind, remember Starrick was the seventh pick of the second round by the ABA Floridians. He could still sign with that team.

"I've talked back and forth with Miami quite a bit and they're very in­
