United Nations delays cease-fire ratification

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The ratification of the permanent cease-fire to end the Persian Gulf War was delayed Tuesday while the Security Council studied Iraq's written acceptance of its tough terms.

The Security Council did, however, approve the creation of an 1,440 member peace-keeping force for the area once the permanent cease-fire goes into effect. All 15 members of the Security Council approved the measure.

The cease-fire was to have taken effect at 2:30 p.m., but diplomatic sources said that at the last moment the council asked for a copy of the document in which the Iraqi National Assembly accepted the conditions.

Iraqi Foreign Minister Ahmed Hussein notified the council on Saturday of its acceptance, and on Monday Iraq's U.N. ambassador, Amir Abdul al-Anbari, told the council that his government's submitting to the conditions for the truce are "irrevocable and without qualifications."

The current president of the Security Council, Paul Nordermae of Belgium, drafted a letter addressed to al-Anbari saying the notification from the Iraqi foreign minister "contains official notification of the acceptance, irrevocable and without qualifying conditions," of the cease-fire resolution.

The Belgian diplomat added, "This was confirmed to me during my meeting with you (al-Anbari) on April 8," and noted that the Iraqi National Assembly had accepted Security Council

COBA dean to stay at SIUC

Gutteridge removes name from search for Georgia position

By Amy Cooper
Staff Writer

The dean of SIUC's College of Business and Administration withdrew his name Monday from the Georgia State University's COBA dean search.

Thomas G. Gutteridge was one of nine active candidates being considered for the dean of the College of Business and Administration at GSU in Atlanta.

Gutteridge said he visited GSU about three weeks ago and he did not feel comfortable with the position.

GSU primarily was looking for a dean who concentrated on fundraising, but Gutteridge said he wanted a position in which he could use a diversity of his talents.

"We concluded that it wasn't a good match," he said.

Gutteridge said he is being considered in other dean searches, but that did not mean he would accept any offer.

Georgia's Parliament declares independence

MOSCOW (UPI) — Georgia's Parliament proclaimed the republic independent of the Soviet Union Tuesday in the strongest declaration of sovereignty since Lithuania's a year ago.

The declaration by Georgia's Supreme Soviet at an extraordinary session further compounds Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev's attempts to forge a new treaty of the union with the country's republics.

Lithuania's independence, which was declared March 11, 1990, set off a struggle with Moscow that still has not been resolved and has put the Lithuanian government in the capital Vilnius on a collision course with Gorbachev.

Georgia's sovereignty declaration followed a republic-wide referendum March 31 in which 98.93 percent of the voters opted for independence. Gorbachev has said the vote has no binding validity.

Georgia — under the leadership of its new nationalist, anti-Communist president, Zviad Gamsakhurdia — chose the anniversary of the "Tbilisi Massacre" two years ago to proclaim its sovereignty.

On that day, April 9, 1989, Soviet troops cracked down on a peaceful, pro-independence rally in Tbilisi, killing 21 Georgians.

"At its extraordinary session here today, the Supreme Soviet of the Georgian republic unanimously adopted a declaration proclaiming state independence for Georgia," the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

The declaration said Georgia's independence would be based on its break from the then-Russian Empire on May 26, 1918, when the Czar's empire collapsed in the first wave of the Russian revolution which finally brought the Communists to power in November

Bolivia gets help from U.S. for drug war

By John Patterson
Staff Writer

The war on drugs still is waging, and U.S. military advisers are being sent to Bolivia to train the country's army in drug warfare tactics.

United Press International reported March 28 that 56 advisers will be sent to Bolivia during April, but Defense Department spokesman Doug Hart would not confirm it.

"We have a very small number of military personnel in the country," he said.

Hart said advisers initially arrived in Bolivia during November 1990 and have been looking for a training site.

The military advisers are the result of 10 months of negotiations that also will include $33.2 million in U.S. aid to Bolivia.

Bolivian government officials have been very cooperative with the United States, Hart said.

He added that at the request of individual Latin American countries, military and financial aid will be sent to prepare for counter-drug tactics.

CCFA dean position offered to Bowling Green professor

By Natalie Boehme
Staff Writer

The College of Communications and Fine Arts dean position is a step closer to being filled, a University official said.

Benjamin Shepherd, vice president for Academic Affairs and Research, said Michael T. Marsden, the associate dean for Academic Affairs for the College of Arts and Sciences at Bowling Green State University, has been offered the position.

Marsden, who could not be reached for comment, has not accepted the position yet, Shepherd said.

A decision is expected from Marsden Wednesday.

In addition to his duties as associate dean at BGSU, Marsden serves as the interim chair for the Department of Interpersonal and Public Communications, director of Canadian Studies and a professor in the Department of Popular Culture at BGSU.

Marsden also has been active in BGSU's honors program, doctorate program and undergraduate recruiting.

After receiving his doctorate in English from BGSU in 1972, Marsden began working as an Poshard suggested a greater effort by the United States to put pressure on governments involved in drug trafficking.

"It doesn't do anything on demand, but supply has to be stopped," he said.

Bolivia and Peru are the world's main suppliers of coca, the primary ingredient of cocaine, said William Garner, associate professor of the political science department and an expert on Latin America.

Salukis break streak

By Eric Bugger
Staff Writer

Surprises broke an eight-game losing streak for the Saluki baseball team as it swept a doubleheader from Evansville Tuesday at Abe Martin Field.

First, the Dawgs' offense exploded against the same team that shut them out a week ago. The explosion was good for 11 hits en route to a 9-2 victory in the first game against the Purple Aces.

In the second contest, the Dawgs surprised Evansville with a 2-run seventh inning to come from behind to win 5-4.

Freshman Jeff Cwynar, who was on the bench the last time the two teams met, went three for three with two RBI and two walks to spark the Saluki offense. He scored the second run of the seventh inning in Game 2 on a surprise pinch hit by senior Steve Nester, who recorded his first plate appearance of the season.

"It was my first at-bat of the season, so it felt pretty good," Nester said. "Four years I have been waiting for it. I was a little nervous, but he threw a change-up over the plate and I just hit it up the middle like Coach (Ken) Henderson taught me to."

The Salukis had only two hits heading into the seventh inning of the second game and were down 4-2. Junior catcher Derek Shelton led off the inning with a single. Junior Brian Gibson pinch ran for Shelton and scored on a single to left by senior first baseman Boyd Manne.

Cwynar reached on a walk and Nester was called upon to hit for freshman center fielder Jason Smith.

Saluki freshman second baseman Jeff Cwynar turns the first half of a double play in SIUC's first game against Evansville Tuesday at Abe Martin Field.

Nester's single scored Cwynar and an error by Evansville's center fielder Marty Watson allowed Manne to advance to third.

Junior Kurt Endebroek came to the plate and laid down a bunt single to squeeze in Manne and give SIUC its second win in a row.

The score was tied heading into the top half of the fifth inning when

Softball team wins two against SIUE

The bat started swinging 13 games ago and hasn't stopped since.

After walloping Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in a doubleheader Tuesday, the Salukis are on a 13 game winning streak—their longest of the season.

The Salukis crushed the Lady Cougars 9-2 and 5-2 bringing their overall season record to 25-3.

SIUE's record now stands at 16-8.

Along with being on their longest winning streak, the Salukis tied another record Tuesday.

The team tied the all-time record for the most stolen bases in one season after stealing three bases in the first game.

The record the Salukis tied of 41 stolen bases was set last year.

Sophomore right fielder Colleen Holloway stole the show for the Salukis and in the first game, three was her lucky number.

In the first game she went three for five, had three RBI and scored three runs. She also had three hits.

Holloway also belted out two triples and one double.

In the second game Holloway went the distance by going two for three with three RBI and one run scored.

In that game, Holloway smacked out two doubles.

For the two games, Holloway's batting average was .625. She went five for eight, hit three doubles, two triples, had six RBI and crossed the plate four times.

This brings Holloway's season hits to six doubles, five triples and two home runs.

Pitching the first game was senior Lisa Robinson, who brought her record to 8-0. This was her third game of the season to fully complete.

Sophomore Angie Mick pitched the second game bringing her record to 9-2. Mick has started 11 games and completed all of them.

Senior Shannon Taylor went two-for four in the first game and scored one run.

In the second game, freshman catcher Laurie Wilson went two for four and had one RBI.

In the first game the Salukis had nine runs on nine hits with three errors. In the second game they had five runs on six hits with no errors.

The team will face Eastern Illinois University, Oklahoma City and Missouri in a round-robin tournament this weekend in the Mizuzz Invitational in Columbia, Mo.

Smiths, Cardinals spoil Cubs home opener 4-1

CHICAGO (UPI) — None of the preseason hype surrounding the Chicago Cubs prepared 31,622 fans at Wrigley Field for Tuesday's season opener.

The wrong guy hit a home run, the $4 million starting pitcher was knocked out in the eighth inning and heavy hitters Ryne Sandberg, Andre Dawson and George Bell were a combined 2-for-11.

The St. Louis Cardinals upset the National League East preseason favorites 4-1 Tuesday, spoiling the Cubs' debut at home.

Two run-scoring fielder's choice plays and an infield RBI single by Craig Wilson keyed a three-run eighth inning and lifted the Cardinals to the win.

"We had the opportunities and that's all you really want," St. Louis Manager Joe Torre said.

Bryn Smith, scattered four hits over seven innings, striking out four and walking one for the victory. Lee Smith pitched the ninth for a save.

"The biggest thing to try to beat this ballclub (Cubs) is to not give up the big home run with two or three guys on," Smith said. "They've got four or five guys who can hit the ball out of the ballpark at any time.

"The key was to get the first guy out and keep men off base," he said. "If you give up a home run like I did to (Shawon) Dunston, it wasn't going to hurt bad."

Left-hander Danny Jackson, 0-1, the first Cubs player to make his debut as an Opening Day starter since Fred Norman in 1964, gave up six hits over 7 1-3 innings, striking out three and walking six. Two of the walks were intentional.

"I normally finish games like this," Jackson said. "I don't usually give up three runs in the eighth inning. I let the team down."

"I'm not worried about it," Jackson said of the preseason expectations. "I'm worried about going out there and pitching consistently. I did it for seven innings but I like doing it for nine."

Barone named Texas A&M basketball coach

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (UPI) — Tony Barone, who guided Creighton to three straight 20-win seasons, was named head basketball coach at Texas A&M Tuesday.

Barone, 44, succeeds Kermit Davis Jr., who resigned under pressure March 15, and takes over a program that is coming off its worst season in 26 years and one mired by an investigation into NCAA rules violations.

"This is not a quick-fix program," said Barone, who coached Creighton, in Omaha, Neb., to a 24-8 record this season and a berth in the NCAA tournament. The Bluejays defeated New Mexico State in the first round, then were eliminated by Seton Hall.

"There are few sleeping giants, but after being on campus, I think this basketball program is a sleeping giant," he said. "I just want a basketball program that will mirror the rest of the programs here. There will not be a team that plays harder than us."

Barone signed a five-year contract. Terms were not disclosed, but the contract does include a clause that will allow the university to fire Barone should any NCAA rules be violated.

"It's a generous contract," Barone said.

Barone, who also interviewed for the head coaching job at Colorado State, was one of five candidates interviewed for the Aggies' position, but was the only one invited to the College Station campus for a formal interview.

Dashner receives Gateway honors

By Wayne Frazer
Staff Writer

Jamie Dashner is throwing herself into the Gateway Conference women's track and field elite. Dashner was named Gateway Track and Field Athlete of the Week.

Dashner, a junior in administrative justice from Waterloo, had personal bests by winning the javelin and placing second in the heptathlon at the SEMOTION Relays in Cape Girardeau.

Dashner threw 149-6 in the javelin, an improvement of almost ten feet over her previous best of 139-9. The toss moved her into third place on the Saluki Honor Roll, a listing of the all-time best performances by SIUC track and field athletes.

In the heptathlon, Dashner set personal bests in almost all of the seven events. She improved in the long jump, high jump, 200-meter dash, 800-meters and the shot put. Dashner's performance in the heptathlon placed her fourth on the Saluki Honor Roll.

Dashner

Dashner said she thought more than one person should have received the award.

"Michelle Williams really had a good day in the long jump," Dashner said. "I thought everybody did a really great job." Saluki head coach Don DeNoon said Dashner deserved the honor.

"I'm very happy for Jamie," DeNoon said. "She's very deserving. Jamie had a great weekend and her only other competition for the honor was Cathy Campbell of Western Illinois University. She has certainly worked hard and we like to see the determined athletes be recognized."

Dashner said it never occurred to her she might be named athlete of the week.

"It never crossed my mind," Dashner said. "I totally forgot about it. I'm working really hard to win, but I'm not by myself. Everybody on the team is working hard."

Dashner said the award was an honor, but she a more important goal to attain.

"My incentive is I'm not No. 1 in the javelin right now," Dashner said. "A girl from Wichita State is in front of me. Last year I was No. 1 and I want to be the best again."

Dashner will be in action with the women's track and field team in Oxford, Ohio, at the Miami Invitational this weekend.

Gorbachev proposes ban on strikes, political meetings

MOSCOW (UPI) — President Mikhail Gorbachev proposed Tuesday a ban on strikes and political meetings and rallies to stop the country's slide into chaos, presidential spokesman Vitali Ignatenko said. Gorbachev proposed the moratorium on political activities as part of an "anti-crisis" program he outlined during a daylong meeting of the Federation Council representing the nation's republics, Ignatenko said. Ignatenko said the president's package will be submitted to the Supreme Soviet, the national legislature, in about a week in what promises to be one of the most furious debates in its history now that the parliament has been reinvigorated by semi-democratic elections. Gorbachev, whose offer of doubled wages has failed to end the crippling month-old coal strike by miners who also have been demanding his resignation, outlined a three-point program.

Soviet troops begin withdraw from Poland

BORNE-SULINOWO, Poland (UPI) — Rain-soaked Soviet troops began withdrawing from Poland Tuesday in the first major pullout since the Soviet arrival during World War II. The first troops to leave were soldiers from a Scud B missile unit, whose equipment could have been used to launch nuclear warheads on West Germany. A military band played the Soviet and Polish national anthems as some 1,200 troops from the rocket unit lined up, squad to squad, for a waterlogged farewell ceremony on a platform along railway tracks at the vast Borne-Sulinowo Soviet military garrison in northwestern Poland. On the tracks were 30 train cars filled with the first consignment of equipment to be taken back to the Soviet Union.

Gates returns to job, receives cheers, jeers

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Embattled Police Chief Daryl Gates returned to work Tuesday, receiving a tumultuous welcome from hundreds of well-wishers who showered him with affection and a handful of opponents who jeered him and labeled him a racist. "I've got stacks of paperwork waiting for me," the chief said as he waded through a throng of hundreds of members of his force out to greet him. "It's nice to be back." Meanwhile, the special commission appointed by Mayor Tom Bradley to review police operations in light of the Rodney King beating, held its first session. The panel is planning to release a final report by the end of June. The chief's return was made possible Monday by a Superior Court judge who temporarily reinstated him.

Shuttle astronauts wrap up successful mission

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The Atlantis astronauts played chase with a satellite Tuesday, answered questions from school kids and heard greetings from the Soviet Mir space station before packing up for landing Wednesday in California. With good weather expected, shuttle commander Steven Nagel and co-pilot Kenneth Cameron planned to guide the 100-ton spaceplane to touchdown at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., at 9:33 a.m. Wednesday to wrap up one of the most successful shuttle flights in the 10-year history of the program. Nagel, 44, Cameron, 41, astronaut Linda Godwin, 38, and spacewalkers Jerry Ross, 43, and Jay Apt, 41, spent their final day in space wrapping up on-board experiments.

State needs more funding to boost license plate supply

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — Illinois' vehicle regulation agency could run out of license plates by the end of the year if it does not get additional funding from the General Assembly. Mike Murphy, a spokesman for Secretary of State George Ryan, said Tuesday the state's supply of license plates has dwindled to the dangerously low amount of 800,000. At least 1 million of the plates are needed annually. Ryan's predecessor, Gov. Jim Edgar, decreased the license plate inventory over the last two years because officials planned to change the color and design of the 7-year-old plates. However, Murphy said Edgar had to delay the replating process twice because the state's checkbook would not allow for it.

Hate groups, racial prejudice still exist—expert

By Kylie Robertson
Staff Writer

Many Americans recognize the tragedy of the genocide of Jews 50 years ago and condemn Saddam Hussein's current treatment of the Kurds in Iraq, but few realize that hate crimes exist in their own country.

That's what Stan Anderman, executive director of the Jewish Federation of Southern Illinois, told an audience of 40 at the Student Center Monday as part of Holocaust Week.

Anderman proclaimed the presence of bigotry, racism and prejudice in the United States.

Anderman served for nine years as director of the Anti-Defamation League, which works to stop hate groups.

He is now involved in a program in St. Louis that brings together communities, schools and media to teach values of a multi-cultural society.

The World of Difference program has trained more than 8,000 teachers so that children will learn to appreciate the differences in people.

"It is easy for people to say do unto others as you like others to do unto you, but it is very difficult to act upon," he said.

Most people think discrimination is a thing of the past, but it still exists today, he said.

Anderman said the Ku Klux Klan still operates and that many anti-Semitic groups exist. A new, younger generation of Neo-Nazis called "skinheads" also has arisen, he added.

"A rise in right extremism has given way to groups with distorted Christian beliefs," he said.

Anderman said membership in racist groups may have decreased, but members have become more dangerous.

Open racial violence committed by these groups has become commonplace, he said.

"About four years ago a group of four skinheads beat an immigrant from Ethiopia to death in full view in the middle of a street in Portland, (Ore.)," Anderman said. "The only thing this man did wrong was have different colored skin."

Despite the passing of recent federal and state laws against ethnic intimidation and institutional vandalism, hate crimes continue daily around the nation, he said.

Robin Gross (front), board member of the SIUC Hillel foundation, and Pat Snyder of the Church of the Good Shepherd take turns between 10 and 11 Tuesday morning reading the names of the 6 million Jewish people killed in the Holocaust.

Achievers in agriculture harvest awards on Honors Day

By Amy Cooper
Staff Writer

Top achievers from SIUC's College of Agriculture reaped recognition Sunday at Honors Day.

Donald Elkins, associate dean of the College of Agriculture, said students with the highest grade point average from each class were awarded the Dean's Certificate of Distinction at the ceremony Sunday.

All four recipients were agribusiness economics majors, Elkins said.

The freshman award went to Ryan Miller of Browning, the sophomore award went to Brett Hunley of Auburn and the junior award went to Karen Koenigstein of Red Bud.

Keith Riechmann of Okawville received the senior award, as well as the Delyte W. Morris Memorial Scholarship for $500.

Riechmann said he was honored to receive the scholarship. After graduation he said he plans to return to Okawville to work in the family business, a John Deere implement dealership.

Riechmann also was recognized as one of the top six graduating seniors, all of which have a 3.7 GPA or higher, Elkins said.

The other five are Dawn Brase-Reinhart, agri-business economics major from Edwardsville; Trent Doty, general agriculture major from Lovington; Aaron Hager, plant and soil science major from Beardstown; Kevin Mitchell, agribusiness economics major from Enfield, and Bradley Walker, agribusiness and economics major from Olney.

Elkins said normally the College of Agriculture's Outstanding Teacher of the Year is the speaker for the Honors Day ceremonies. But this year the speaker was Hager, who was chosen as Outstanding Senior of the Year.

Reduced arts funding threat to development

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS WILL HAVE LESS money to keep the dancers dancing and the artists painting this year. The Illinois Arts Council will fund only 20 percent of individual arts councils programs for 1991. Total operation budgets depend on how much money can be raised from the community. Because Southern Illinois is an economically depressed region, fund raising is a difficult task. With the Southern Illinois Arts Council covering 34 counties, it needs all the help the state can give it.

SO WHILE SOUTHERN ILLINOIS art councils will be stretching budgets to the bone, art organizations in the Chicago area, who have no trouble raising substantial funds, will continue to enjoy generous financial assistance from IAC.

A representative from the National Endowment for the Arts has been called upon to examine the unbalanced funding this month.

But it shouldn't take a representative from a national art council to point out the problems with increasing funding in the Chicago area and decreasing funding in Southern Illinois.

THE OVERALL GOAL of the IAC is to financially assist the development of individual art organizations.

Those in favor of more money going to Chicago claim that because a large population of people take an active interest in the arts, the area should receive more funding than those areas less frequented by art lovers.

Until Southern Illinois is given the financial assistance needed to support art programs, their development will stagnate.

If the IAC was accomplishing its purpose, it would be looking for a way to give more funding to the area that needs it most.

Jeans not appropriate for displaying support

ONCE AGAIN, "GAY Blue Jeans Day" is upon us.

Once again, members of the Gay and Lesbian People's Union are fooling themselves by thinking that thousands of members of the campus community are rallying behind them.

Why will people be wearing blue jeans Thursday? Many will because they support gay and lesbian rights.

Others will because their blue jeans are their only clean clothes, they planned on wearing them anyway, or they did not realize it was "Gay Blue Jeans Day."

I HAVE NO PROBLEM with setting aside a day to show support for the gay and lesbian society.

However, I do have a problem with the GLPU's means of expression.

The reason why blue jeans are chosen is because just about everybody has a pair, and people can readily show their support. Why not choose something that most everyone has, but is not so commonly worn as blue jeans?

IF WEARING SHORTS over blue jeans looks ridiculous or feels uncomfortable, then why not tie a bandanna around an arm or leg?

Bandannas are equally accessible, and support can be shown through means that are not so common.

IF GAY AND LESBIAN people want to be accepted like those who are not, they should first accept the fact that not everyone supports them and stop believing that all blue-jean wearers are behind them.

In order to see how much gay and lesbian support is really out there, have supporters wear a bandanna.

Until then, the GLPU is only lying to themselves.—Sherry A. Werner, sophomore, English.

Maturity lost at university level

In grade school, we were discriminated against for wearing the wrong jeans or being overweight. In high school, we all seemed to fit into cliques. Now we're in college, and everyone is an individual.

Our Constitution gives us freedom of choice and guarantees our rights as individuals. Since I've been at SIU, I've been introduced to many cultures and seen many of them discriminated against.

The Gay and Lesbian People's Union has a bulletin board outside its office, which is subjected to vandalism almost everyday.

The information on this bulletin board has been burned, smeared with the words "kill the fags," and they have even been compared to Nazis!

I thought we were in college now; when does maturity set in? I'd like to remind everyone that America is a melting pot and full of many cultures with the gay culture as one of them.

I'd also like to remind everyone that we all have one thing in common, we're all unique in one aspect and we're all a part of the human race.—Denise Young, sophomore, administration of justice.

'African Holocaust' needs reparations

As many reflect on the tragedy of the Jewish Holocaust, it is only appropriate to classify the sufferings of many of the world's oppressed people as catastrophic and as holocausts, regardless of who they are.

All human life is valuable. Likewise, all human cultures are equally valuable and should be allowed to grow and develop freely.

Unfortunately, many countries continue to disrespect and too often ignore human rights of their people—not only killing a people but a culture as well.

America is no exception. One needs only to ponder the plight of the "Native Americans"—No. 1 on America's endangered human species list. But perhaps the most devastating has been what can be called the "African Holocaust." The entire African-American experience to date has been a holocaust, unparalleled by any other like case in the history of the world, having cultural and psychological implications as well as physical ones.

While the killing of some six million Jews is indeed tragic, it is meager compared to the 100 million lives lost in the African Holocaust due to Western conquest and slavery.

Unlike the Jewish holocaust, the African Holocaust has lasted 400-plus years and still continues today, virtually unmitigated.

After being forced into slavery in America, nearly 20 generations of kidnapped Africans have been systematically dispossessed of their own names, culture, language, religion, inheritance and history—thus making them the perpetual slaves of America's white culture and utterly destroying much of African civilization.

This cultural genocide is perhaps the greatest tragedy of all. However, just as land, monetary reparations and full autonomy and statehood have resolved the problems of the Jewish Holocaust, the same measures of justice should at least be given to the victims of the African Holocaust.

Civil rights, or anything short of that, is a blatant disrespect of the humanity of Black people, unveiling the racist nature of America and its policies that only exist in a less vulgar form today.—Nate Luster (Jihad Alajji), junior, political science/sociology.

Editorial Policies

Signed articles, including letters, viewpoints and other commentaries, reflect the opinions of their authors. The letters space will be a forum for discussion of issues of public interest. Open, civil dialogue is the aim. Letters may be edited for length and content. Letters of fewer than 250 words will be given preference for publication. Letters will be limited to 300 words. Letters that the editors deem objectionable because of potentially libelous material or because of extraordinary bad taste will not be published. Access to the letters space will be afforded to as many writers as possible to encourage diversity of points of view. Editors may impose, at their discretion, a limit on the frequency of publication of letters by an author. When a multitude of letters on the same subject are received, editors may select a few letters that are representative of those letters for publication.

Every letter must be signed and submitted in person by its author or authors. Students must identify themselves by class and major, faculty by rank and department, non-academic staff by position and department, others by address and occupation or position appropriate to the nature of their letters. Letters for which authorship cannot be verified will not be published.

Resolution 687.

Noterdaeme said he asked for a copy of the Iraqi Assembly resolution "because it is very important for the record and because several members of the Council want to read it". He added al-Anbari, "is doing his best to get a copy of the resolution as soon as possible."

The delay appeared to be strictly formal, but it could push back ratification of the cease-fire by 24 hours.

The cease-fire replaced the informal suspension of hostilities declared by President Bush on Feb. 28, and the 1,440-member U.N. Iraq-Kuwait Observation Mission, or UNIKOM, will now be sent to the area.

The U.N. force will patrol a demilitarized zone on the Iraq-Kuwait border and pave the way for the withdrawal of nearly 100,000 allied troops occupying a large area of southern Iraq.

UNIKOM's mission will be to deter violations of the boundary through its presence in and surveillance of the demilitarized zone, which will be 6 miles wide in Iraq and 3 miles wide in Kuwait.

The force also will "observe any hostile or potentially hostile action" mounted from the territory of one state against the other.

The plan, prepared by U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar, envisioned an observer force of 300 men deployed along the borders and a backup of five infantry brigades.

Perez de Cuellar said that he plans to ask the five permanent members of the Security Council — the United States, Britain, France, the Soviet Union and China — to send military officers to integrate UNIKOM.

The first six months of operation will cost $83 million, and the secretary-general is asking for donations to cover the high expense.

Meanwhile, Perez de Cuellar, citing the "exceptional dimensions" of the Iraqi refugee problem, sent two delegations to the Persian Gulf region to assess the volatile situation in Kuwait and Iraq.

Perez de Cuellar appointed Prince Sadrudin Aga Khan, a former U.N. high commissioner for refugees, as his executive delegate to the region.

He also named Eric Soy, legal counsel for the Belgian Foreign Ministry, as his envoy to northern Iraq to determine the needs of Kurdish refugees there.

Soy is expected to be in Geneva Wednesday to assemble a small group and to travel to Iraq before the end of the week, according to Perez de Cuellar's spokesman, Francois Giuliani.

The secretary-general said he believes a collective effort of U.N. agencies is required to ensure a prompt and effective response to the needs of the civilian population.

that year. The Red Army invaded Georgia in 1921 and incorporated it into the Soviet Union.

With its sovereignty proclamation, "Georgia followed the example of the Baltic republics, which are seeking a secession from the Soviet Union," Tass said.

The declarations of sovereignty by Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania rocked the Kremlin last year, but by year's end, every republic had declared some form of independence and sovereignty, and conservatives began referring to it snidely as the "parade of sovereignties."

The declarations have remained only on paper in the centralized state, where the economy still depends on the central planning system in Moscow that allocates raw materials and sets the targets for what must be produced — even to the number of matches made each year.

Gamsakhurdia, Georgia's president, had warned Gorbachev Monday of a general political strike on Tuesday in the southern republic if army troops sent to its troubled Ossetian area are not withdrawn.

Such a mixture of labor and politics would fuel tensions. Gorbachev already has been unable to end a month-old coal strike and is faced with threats of a general strike in Byelorussia on Wednesday unless workers' wages are raised to compensate for price rises announced April 2.

Gamsakhurdia told Gorbachev that regular army troops have no business being sent to South Ossetia, the independent Interfax News Agency said.

Interior Ministry troops have been in the area for months trying to keep peace between the minority Ossetians and Georgians.

At least 40 people have been killed this year in fighting between the two peoples, and Gamsakhurdia's government has suspended South Ossetia's autonomous status within Georgia.

The Soviet Union is the world's largest multinational state with more than 100 nationalities, the 15 largest of which have their own union republics.

Georgia, which sits alongside the republics of Azerbaijan and Armenia in the Caucasus, is a small multinational empire in miniature where the Ossetians, Abkhazians and Adzharians are minorities and feel they are being discriminated against.

Although Garner said he thinks the American public will respond positively to the U.S. involvement in Bolivia, he questions the response by Bolivian civilians.

Garner said Bolivia has very little say once the United States makes up its mind to shut down the drug trafficking because it is an extremely weak country.

Drug trafficking is the country's leading industry, and while the drug traffickers have more control over the country than the government, Garner said "in Bolivia that's better than Washington."

The issue of drugs is too hot for the Bolivian government and U.S. intervention is seen as offensive by the country's public, he said.

"There's nothing it (Bolivia) can do," Garner said. "The government owes its soul to Washington."

Although the cocaine problem presents a clear and present danger to the American public, Garner said the situation could easily become another Panama or Columbia.

He said the Bolivian people would never stand for direct involvement between the United States and the Bolivian government, so the 10 months of negotiations were to give a good show and to extract as much money as possible from an always willing Congress.

"Washington has been a notorious meddlesome bully since 1980," Garner said.

Sending military or financial aid to Latin American countries should be U.S. policy only at the invitation of the country, and not through economic threats and pressure, Garner said.

"It's clearly illegal intervention unless we cannot do anything else," he said.

assistant professor in the Department of English and Popular Culture until 1974.

Since then Marsden held positions as an associate professor, professor, coordinator for Undergraduate Recruiting and director of American Culture at BGSU.

He received a master's degree in English in 1966 from Purdue University at Lafayette, Ind., and a bachelor's of arts degree in English in 1964 from DePaul University in Chicago.

Rather than keeping his duties behind the desk, Marsden has been personally involved in campus activities.

He created BGSU's weekly radio and television series, "The Bowling Green Forum", in 1968 and produced the show the first year.

He also co-founded the Journal of Popular Film and Television in 1972 and has served as co-editor of the journal.

If Marsden accepts the appointment it will mark the end of CCFAs dean search that began last summer.

Marvin Kleinau, acting CCFAs dean will retire July 1, leaving his interim post. Kleinau took the position in June 1989 when Keith Sanders left the position to become chancellor at the University of Wisconsin at Stevens Point.

"As of now and the foreseeable future, I'm the dean of the College of Business and Administration at SIU," he said.

Gutteridge said he did not apply for the new position, but his name came up in GSU's search operation.

Beth Day, assistant to the dean of the College of Business and Administration at GSU, said GSU has not decided on a dean yet, and names still are being added and dropped on the list.

Gutteridge has been the dean of COBA since 1983. Before coming to Carbondale, he was the director of the State University of New York at Buffalo's Development Center for Business.

Baby beepers: Hospitals provide alarm tags for infants to thwart kidnapers

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Newborn babies at several Florida hospitals are sporting electronic beeper bracelets, anklets and diaper tags that set off an alarm if the infants are removed from the maternity ward.

those used by stores to prevent shoplifting. Several Broward County hospitals are using them to prevent kidnapping.

"We're applying the same technology used to protect merchandise to safeguard human beings," said Louise Chiera, a spokeswoman for Sensormatic Electronics Corp., a security systems manufacturer in Deerfield Beach.

Since 1983, about 90 newborns have been taken from U.S. hospitals, according to the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children.

Paint removed as work on depot exterior begins

By Leslie Colp
Staff Writer

The old Railroad Passenger Depot is shedding its winter coats of paint just in time for spring.

The depot, located on the corner of Main Street and Illinois Avenue, is being stripped of its green paint as part of Carbondale's downtown development project.

Gilbert Bolen, chairman of the Station Carbondale Restoration Committee, was on hand Tuesday morning as Wash on Wheels, a cleaning company from Murphysboro, used high-pressure water to remove the paint.

Bryan Schulze, an employee of Wash on Wheels, said the depot may have been painted to keep water from soaking through the bricks, he said.

But any water that did get through is held in by the bricks, which contributes to the deterioration of the walls.

He also said the paint may have been used to cover up places where newer brick was used to patch holes, which were made when windows and doors were taken out and moved.

Bolen said he was pleased with the way the paint was coming off and was happy to see the natural brick-red color coming through the "ugly green."

"This is the first thing we've been able to see," he said, recalling all the studies and plans done before the paint removal could begin. "It's a great feeling. But we'll really feel good when the city turns loose and lets us do what we want to do."

Members of the committee said they want the depot to be used for a museum.

But the City Council was reluctant to give full support for the "museum at its meeting April 2. Councilmen said they wanted more information, including a list of possible donated artifacts and the number of people willing to donate money, before making a commitment to support the museum.

SCRC estimated the museum would fill about one-third of the depot's 3,500 square feet. The rest of the space could be used for an information center for visitors and office space for the Carbondale Convention & Tourism Bureau.

Bolen said he did not understand why the council was reluctant to give its support for the museum.

And he said he is concerned the city might try to sell or rent the property so it could not be used for the museum or tourism bureau.

But the removal of the paint and other renovations will continue without a definite plan for the interior.

Once the water has been removed as much paint as possible, chemicals will be used to remove the rest. The chemicals should be applied Thursday and removed Friday.

Carbondale Development Coordinator Tom Redmond said the next step includes replacing the roof and some of the bricks. That could begin by May and be completed by the end of summer, he said.

Restoring the exterior will cost about $225,000, Redmond said. And the interior could cost about $250,000 more, depending on how the depot will be used.

The city has designated about $160,000 for the exterior of the depot, he said. The rest of the money for the depot will come from fund-raisers and donations.

People interested in donating time or money can contact John Yow, vice chairman of SCRC, at 457-8532, or the City Clerk's office in City Hall at 549-5302.

Small business growth fights unemployment—economist

By Annette Holder
Staff Writer

If a business owner can make a living in Southern Illinois, he or she can make a fortune anywhere else, said John Alongi, economic assistant to U.S. Rep. Glenn Poshard, D-Carterville.

Alongi said Southern Illinois has experienced a growth of small businesses to combat a poor economy and unemployment in the area.

Mike Vessel, research analyst with Illinois Department of Employment Securities, said 10 of the 20 southernmost counties in Illinois have the worst unemployment in the state.

He said in February 1991, Franklin County had 12.5 percent unemployment, Williamson County had 10.4 percent unemployment and Jackson County had 6.1 percent unemployment.

With the exception of Jackson County, all 20 counties have double-digit unemployment, Vessel said.

Alongi said Southern Illinois is a great place to live, and the children of Southern Illinoisans should not have to go elsewhere for jobs.

The growth of small business is a step in the right direction, he said. "Think of all the people you know who sell insurance and cut hair out of their homes," Alongi said. "If they weren't self-employed, what kind of

"Think of all the people you know who sell insurance and cut hair out of their homes. If they weren't self-employed, what kind of (unemployment) problem would we have?"

—John Alongi

(unemployment) problem would we have?"

Alongi said 80 percent of all new inventions originate in small businesses.

He said a lot of people have good ideas for new products, but few people follow through because of lack of interest.

Some of the businesses that have followed through with ideas include Lunger Lure Co. in Carterville and Terry's Jaguar in Benton.

Lunger Lure makes the two most popular lures in the country, the Vibraton and the Rattle Back Jig. The lures make a rattle when pulled through water.

Lunger Lure employs 40 people. The company was formed when two men from Southern Illinois discovered the success of the lures while fishing. The company was bought by Don Gentry, a Carterville resident.

Lunger Lures ships its product as far away as Japan. The demand for its lures has been overwhelming for the company.

"We are behind in shipping out 30,000 lures," said Gentry.

Terry's Jaguar employs 15 people and rebuilds car parts that people cannot find any longer.

"We make everything to build or rebuild your car," said Nikki Terry, secretary for Terry's Jaguar. "(We make) all interior, body and engine parts a car might need."

The list of cars the company makes parts for includes Jaguars, Porsches and Rolls-Royces.

Terry's Jaguar has shipped to just about every country in the world. In Southern Illinois, more than 30 businesses export overseas.

COBA names top business leader of year for Illinois; winner SIUE grad

By Sherri L. Wilcox
Staff Writer

The College of Business and Administration has named a Highland resident the 1991 Southern Illinois Business Leader of the Year.

Ralph Korte, chairman of the board of Korte Construction Co. of St. Louis, will be honored at the college's annual awards banquet April 12. The award honors individuals with a strong regional reputation for outstanding business achievements, personal achievement and community service.

Rebecca Fines Fournier, assistant dean in COBA, said nominations for the award are taken by a committee of COBA faculty and alumni. Nominees must live in Southern Illinois, have made significant contributions to the community and achieved business leadership in more than the traditional sense, she said.

Korte attend SIUE and is member of the Southwestern Illinois Leadership Council, the Illinois Business Roundtable and the Advisory Council to the Illinois State Superintendent of Education.

Korte serves on the boards of the St. Louis Regional Commerce and Growth Association, Landmark Bancshares, Inc., Deaconess Hospital and the Arts and Education Council.

He is past president of the Mighty Rivers Area Boy Scouts of America.

Korte and his cousin opened the construction company in 1958, when Korte returned to his home in Highland from the Korean War. Together, they bought an electric saw and a used pickup truck and began building. Since then, Korte Construction has grown to be one of St. Louis' largest construction companies.

Fournier said this was not the first year Korte was nominated for the award.

"His name has come up for the past several years," she said. "He is an outstanding business executive."

Davis: Rainforest destruction 'purest sensation of horror'

By Jefferson Robbins
Staff Writer

Scientist and author Wade Davis sounded a warning on the destruction of South America's rainforest Monday night, armed with facts, figures and a battery of photographs.

Davis, a Canadian ethnobotanist with more than five years' experience exploring the Amazon region, said during a lecture in the Student Center Ballrooms C and D the rapid deforestation of that area inspires the "purest sensation of horror."

Calling the deforestation "a wrenching terminal struggle between the desires of nature and the whims of man," Davis unleashed figures on how massive the destruction has become.

He projected colorful slides of the people, plants and animals of the Amazon onto a huge screen behind him, giving the audience of about 200 an idea of the beauty and diversity being destroyed.

He said the South American jungles are home to about 80,000 species of plants, 2,500 species of fish and an almost incalculable number of insect species, perhaps as many as 30 million.

In any square mile of land, there may be 20,000 different species of plants and animals, he said.

Statistics on the massive burning and clearcutting by corporations and cattle ranchers are no less tremendous, he said.

"In 1985, 6,000 man-made fires were counted burning in the Amazon," he said.

"Worldwide clearing operations that burn the remnants of tropical forests put 52 trillion kilograms of carbon dioxide into the air each year."

"That figure is equal to about half the emissions put out by all industrialized countries, he said.

Each year a rainforest area about eight times the size of Virginia is stripped of its vegetation, he said.

"The wealth of an ecosystem is stored in the vegetation itself," he said. "When you destroy the vegetation you set in motion a catastrophic chain of events."

Burning and clearcutting in the region are responsible for the massive extinction of plants and animals, he said. Today, one species goes extinct in the world about every hour.

"The current wave of extinction is unprecedented in the last 60 million years," Davis said, noting that even the dinosaurs died out slowly compared to today's extinction rates.

"Since 1960...upwards of 1,000 forms of life have disappeared each year," he said.

Aside from its beauty, the rainforest also is a potentially huge source of knowledge and new medicines, but only 470 of the plant species have been tested for medicinal value, Davis said.

"The plants not yet tested are vanishing," he said.

Davis said the people most knowledgeable about the use of rainforest plants as medicines are the Amazon Indian tribes, whose long-established ways of life also are threatened by forest destruction.

Indians use various plants for foods and medicines, sometimes using the jungle's hallucinogenic plants in their religious rituals. Tribal priests, or shamans, are trained in plant lore and can recognize the uses of different vegetables, he said.

"Every time a shaman dies, it's the equivalent of a Harvard Medical School library burning down," he said.

Method teaches body awareness

By LaDonna Morris
Wellness Center

The Alexander Technique is a way for students to become more aware of their body — knowing where the body holds tension, how to release it and how to have freer movement.

Essentially, the technique teaches conscious control of previously unconscious habits.

Often, people who have experienced chronic pain become interested in this technique to prevent further misuse of the body and to relax tension in muscles and hours in classrooms. F.M. Alexander developed the technique in the 1890s, when he experienced hoarseness and loss of voice that did not respond to medical treatment. Alexander decided he must be doing something to contribute to the problem. He noticed he threw his head downward and back, compressing his spine, depressing his larynx and causing difficulty in breathing.

For more information on the upcoming Alexander Technique workshop, contact the Wellness Center at 536-4441.

Medicaid claims could bankrupt Illinois hospitals

CHICAGO (UPI) — Two of the six hospitals serving poor people on Chicago's West Side could be forced to close within a year because of slow Medicaid payments and other factors, and a third could follow within 36 months, according to a study released Tuesday by the Illinois Hospital Association.

The study said market conditions, combined with slow Medicaid payments, will create such a financial crunch that the West Side will not be able to maintain six hospitals.

The facilities currently operating in the area — which serve about 8 percent of the Illinois Medicaid population — are Bethany, Lotero, Norwegian American, St. Elizabeth, St. Mary of Nazareth and Sacred Heart hospitals.

Hospitals around the state have complained for years that slow reimbursement by the state of Medicaid claims unfairly pins on them the burden of the state's financial problems. The situation is particularly acute for hospitals in poor areas, such as the West Side area targeted by the study.

"Illinois hospitals which rely heavily on Medicaid for reimbursement are effectively being driven out of business," the study found.

Shoemaker partially paralyzed after car accident

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Bill Shoemaker, the winningest jockey in history, broke his neck and was left partially paralyzed after rolling his vehicle in a possibly alcohol-related accident, officials said Tuesday.

Shoemaker, 59, lost the ability to use "his extremities" as a result of a "fracture-dislocation of his neck," said Dennis Richards, a spokesman for Inter-Community Medical Center in the Los Angeles suburb of Covina.

At the request of his family and private physician, Shoemaker was moved later Tuesday to Centinela Hospital Medical Center in Inglewood, the official hospital of a number of local sports teams and home of a famed sports clinic where numerous athletes have been treated over the years.

Shoemaker's wife, Cindy, was by his side Tuesday as doctors tended to her husband, who was said to be in serious condition.

Earlier, Richards said additional tests were undertaken to measure the extent of Shoemaker's injuries.

The retired jockey was injured Monday night after veering off State Route 30 in San Dimas, a community about 30 miles east of Los Angeles.

The California Highway Patrol said Shoemaker, who lives in the upscale Los Angeles community of San Marino, smelled of alcohol and that he was suspected of driving under the influence. He was booked at the hospital and a blood-alcohol test taken.

Shoemaker was apparently heading home, traveling west on the highway and approaching the Foothill Freeway when his 1990 Ford Bronco drifted over the side of the road about 8 p.m.

The Bronco plunged down an embankment and rolled over several times before landing upright in the transition lanes to the freeway, about 50 feet below Highway 30, CHP Officer Joe Flores said.

No other cars were involved.

Flores said the jockey, who was wearing a seatbelt, suffered a broken pelvis, a cut to his head and internal injuries.

Shoemaker was initially taken to Glendora Community Hospital, where he underwent surgery Monday night before being transferred to Inter-Community Medical Center at 6 a.m. Tuesday.

Although he never won the Triple Crown, Shoemaker won more races than other jockey in history, including more stakes races and more races with purses of $100,000. He became the first jockey to win more than $100 million in career purses in 1985.

In 1986, at age 54, he became the oldest jockey to win the Kentucky Derby aboard Ferdinand. He also won the 1955 Kentucky Derby with Swaps and the 1959 race with Tomy Lee and the 1965 Derby aboard Lucky Debonair.

Shoemaker, 4-foot-11 and weighing 98 pounds, ran his first race at Golden Gate Fields on March 19, 1949, and won his first race three rides later.

Besides the Kentucky Derby wins, Shoemaker won two Preaknesses and five Belmont Stakes before retiring after 40,284 starts with 8,824 wins and total winnings of $123.3 million, second only to Laffit Pincay Jr. He became a trainer after his retirement in February 1990.

Shoemaker, often referred to as "Wee Willie," was born in Fabens, Texas, weighing a mere 2 1/2 pounds. When the doctor informed his mother her child stood little chance of living, Shoemaker's grandmother put him in a shoebox and placed him on the oven door overnight. He began to thrive.

Shoemaker was able to endure because he stayed fit and avoided crippling injuries. He went 19 years without getting hurt until April 1969, when a horse threw him against a stone wall, then sat on him in the saddling area at Hollywood Park. He suffered a fractured pelvis.

Evansville jumped on SIUC sophomore starter Bryan Oestreich with three straight singles and 1 run.

Levine came in relief to get the Salukis out of the fifth inning and then cruised through the sixth. A lead-off walk by Levine proved costly as Evansville collected two hits to drive in a run to make the score 4-2 before SIUC came back in its half of the seventh.

Levine picked up his third win of the season coming out of the bullpen in the second game. Levine, who started a ballgame at Bradley, returned to his role as the Salukis' closer and held the Aces to two hits and one run.

Evansville's starter Chris Helfrich threw 6 1/3 innings allowing just three hits and 2 earned runs.

The Salukis improved their record to 12-16, while the Aces fell to 17-11-1 on the season.

Cwynar, making just his third start of the season, also had a solid day defensively for SIUC. He recorded four putouts and made eight assists in the twinbill.

Riggelman said Cwynar had been playing well in junior varsity games and he was going to adjust the line-up to get him in the line-up even before junior shortstop Brian Heather was injured last weekend in Bradley.

"We felt we needed to get Cwynar a chance to be in the line-up," SIUC coach Sam Riggelman said. "We felt if he had the chance to swing the bat, he would do a decent job. He's going to be a nice player for us."

The emergence of the SIUC offensive attack in the first game was led by home runs by senior outfielder Jeff Nelson and Manne. Both homers came in the Dawgs' 4-run third inning.

Junior third baseman Ed Janke led off the inning with a walk and scored on Nelson's home run. Cwynar doubled to right and was chased home when Manne cleared the fence.

SIUC took an early 2-0 lead in the second inning when Nelson doubled to right and scored on an RBI double to left by Shelton. Shelton later scored on a ground out by Smith.

The Salukis scored 3 more runs in the fourth to avenge the shutouts they were dealt by the Aces in Evansville.

Janke and Shelton combined with RBI singles to close the door in the first ballgame.

"We were just a different ballclub today," Riggelman said. "Their pitching dominated us last week. We were just at a point offensively where nothing was happening, we came out with more intensity today.

"There are two parts to this game. One is effort and the other is execution. Without both of them, you're going to have tough time winning."

The Salukis managed to sneak away with two victories, but the wins were costly. The injured list for SIUC continues to grow as senior Dale Meyer, who started on the hill in the first game, came out in the third inning with possible nerve damage to his throwing arm.

The team is also without the services of Heather (thumb), Dan Esplin (strep throat) and Mike Kirkpatrick (hand).

"We have just been beat up physically these last eight to 10 days, so I give our kids a lot of credit," Riggelman said. "This is the same team that shut us out twice last week. It was just a good job on the kids part for not giving in."

The Salukis are back in action at 3 p.m. Thursday at Abe Martin Field with a single nine-inning game against Southeast Missouri State. SIUC won at Southeast March 21 by a score of 7-4. Riggelman expects to start junior right-hander George Joseph.

St. Louis Blues hope to recharge power play

DETROIT (UPI) — St. Louis Blues Coach Brian Sutter hopes a day off can recharge his team's sputtering power play.

The Blues failed to score in eight man-advantage situations in a 5-2 loss to Detroit Monday night, which put the Red Wings ahead 2-1 in their best-of-seven Norris Division playoff series. Game 4 is scheduled for Wednesday night in Detroit.

"The two most important things in a successful power play are confidence and execution," Sutter said. "We've been going with the same people all year, so there shouldn't be a lack of confidence. That means it's execution."

The Blues have been successful on only 2 of 21 power-play opportunities against the Red Wings in the series. During the regular season, St. Louis tied Philadelphia for seventh place in power-play efficiency with 20.1 percent.

Detroit's penalty-killing was only 18th during the season.

The Red Wings will be without forward Bob Probert Wednesday. He was suspended for one game and fined $500 by the NHL Tuesday for an altercation with Blues goalie Vincent Riendeau in Game 2 Saturday night.

"In considering this matter it must be noted the incident involved a blatant attack on the goaltender whose only provocation was verbal," said NHL vice president Brian O'Neill, who handed down the punishment. "A goaltender is somewhat vulnerable. He has very little opportunity to defend himself, and in this case, he was taken totally by surprise."

Brett Hull, who led the NHL in power-play goals with 29, has one of the Blues' two in the playoffs.

"There's no lack of confidence on my part, but there's a lack of concentration on the power play," Hull said. "You can't have a power play where you don't communicate."

"I felt Tony Barone all along had a proven record, could do what we wanted him to get done, and he was available," said athletic director John David Crow said. "The selection committee approved of him, so I saw no other reason to bring anyone else in."

"His past record indicates that he puts emphasis on both academics and basketball. Tony has demonstrated the ability to come into a program and lay a long-range foundation for success. We are not expecting any miracles here at Texas A&M, but we know our program is in the hands of a person who will mold it the correct and proper way."

Barone, who was 102-82 in six seasons at Creighton, becomes the third head basketball coach at Texas A&M in as many seasons. Davis replaced Shelby Metcalf, who had been fired by Crow after the 1990 season.

Barone is known as a fistic and dedicated disciplinarian, and a strong believer in academics. Eighteen of his 24 student-athletes at Creighton graduated.

Barone's credentials satisfied university president William Mobley, who has said he will not tolerate any further controversy in the athletic department.

He forced Jackie Sherrill to resign in 1988 as head football coach after the football program was placed on probation, and reportedly asked Davis to resign.

Barone said he has not made any decisions on his staff and planned to meet with the current Aggie players Tuesday afternoon.

"I'd like every kid to know he's starting off with a fresh, clean slate," Barone said, "and when we come back in the fall, let's go to war together."
