4-Game Home Stand Opens Tonight

Morris Gives Yule Reading

An estimated 2,500 to 3,000 students and faculty members attended the president's annual doughnut hour and the all-university holiday assembly Thursday in the Arena.

President and Mrs. Delyte W. Morris are host to the doughnut hour each Christmas season.

The assembly program replaced the regular Freshman Convocations usually held at 10 a.m. Thursday. No 1 p.m. convocation was held.

Morris performed at the assembly by reading the Christmas story from the Gospel of Luke II: 1-21. Other readings included "The Pre-Christian Festival of Christmas," concerning the feasts of Romans and others before the birth of Christ.

Activity Fee Hike Action Unlikely Soon

The Board of Trustees probably would not have considered the athletic fee proposal at its meeting Saturday even if the measure had passed the Campus Senate Thursday night, according to President Morris.

Morris explained that normally the action would have to be considered first by the Student Affairs division of the University, himself, the Athletic Council, and the University Council before the Board of Trustees would take action.

The measure was referred to committee by the senate.

The bill, as presented to the senate, called for only students on the Carbondale campus to pay the increase in activity fees. Morris said it is University policy for activity fees to apply equally to all students. The policy could be changed, but such a move might not be legal, he added.

There shouldn't be an "extended time period" before the proposal is considered by the Board, Morris said, although delays could occur.

Morris added that he was not fully informed about the proposal and would have to receive more information on the matter.

Registrar Restates Exam Policy

Registrar Robert A. McGrath has issued the following statement in connection with the operation of the final examination schedule in an effort to clear up any misunderstandings that may have come up through misinterpretation:

—Examinations during the final week are to be of one-hour duration and are to be scheduled in strict observance

JOY TO THE WORLD — Members of the University Choir, Chamber Choir and University Male Glee Club, accompanied by the University Symphony, sang Handel's "Joy To The World" and other Christmas music at the annual Christmas assembly in the SIU Arena. President Delyte W. Morris read the Christian Christmas story from the Gospel according to St. Luke.

Health Service to Move to New Location In Small Group Housing During Vacation

When students return from their Christmas break, the Health Service will have moved to 115 Small Group Housing.

Out-patient facilities and the pharmacy are scheduled to be moved from the houses at the corner of Washington Avenue and Park Street on Dec. 23. The X-ray facilities will follow on April 1, to complete the move.

The services at the new location will have a 15-bed infirmary, a cast room and an emergency room. In the past only out-patient care has been provided by the Health Service.

The building also includes 10 examining rooms. This will permit some of the physicians to alternate between rooms, thus allowing them to see a greater number of patients. Formerly, the Health Service only had four examining rooms.

Dr. Walter H. Clarke, acting director, called the new health center a marked improvement over the old building.

Need for expanded services is illustrated by the growth from a daily average of 40 out-patients in September, 1960, to 139 this September.

Dr. Clarke also announced that the Health Service will be open on weekdays during the Christmas break. Hours will be from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4:30 p.m. On Saturday it will be opened from 8 a.m. till noon.

The Health Service will be closed on Dec. 25 and Jan. 1. Because of increased student use of the Health Service, Dr. Glenn R. Marshall, an Effingham physician, has been hired on a full-time basis.

Dr. Marshall will start working here in February. For the last two years, he has spent one day a week at the Health Service.

He has been in general practice in Effingham for the last 30 years. He received his B.A. and M.D. degrees from the University of Illinois.

With Dr. Marshall's appointment there will be six full-time physicians and 11 full-time nurses on the Health Service staff.

Salukis Favored Over Moccasins

By Bob Reincke

The Salukis will be trying to get back on the winners' side when they open a four-game home stand with a game tonight against the University of Chattanooga at 8 o'clock in the Arena.

After tonight's game, Southern will meet Nevada and San Diego State next weekend and Wichita State Dec. 20.

The game is the second half of a doubleheader on tonight's card. The freshmen will meet Paducah Junior College in the first game at 5:45.

The Salukis, ranked third in the country by the United Press small-college poll, are heavily favored against Chattanooga. The Moccasins are winless after three games.

Coach Jack Hartman's Salukis, however, have rolled easily over Northeast Missouri and State College of Iowa while dropping a tough one to State University of Iowa.

Hartman will probably use his same veteran lineup as starters with George McNeil and Dave Lee at the guards, Randy Goin and Ralph Johnson at the forwards and either Boyd O'Neal or Lloyd Stovall at center.

McNeil is the team's leading scorer after three games with an average of about 20 points. The 6-2 sharpshooter from St. Louis is hitting with the same accuracy from the field this year as he did last year when he paced the team in scoring. He has potted 22 of 41 field goal attempts so far this season.

Johnson has been somewhat of a surprise so far in the young season. The 6-7 junior currently leads the team in rebounds and is second in scoring. His play was highly erratic last year when he alternated with O'Neal at center. But so far this year he has pulled down 30 rebounds and scored 35 points for an average of 11.7 per game.

Lee is still the same post he was last year on defense and has picked up his scoring

Alpha Phi Alpha Hears SCF Head

"The task of Biblical faith is to encourage secularization," Malcolm Gillespie, director of the Student Christian Foundation, told residents of the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity house recently.

He emphasized the difference between secularization and secularism by saying that secularism is just another orthodoxy whereas secularization can be defined as freedom. "And freedom is what religion is all about," he said. "The job of Biblical faith is to help bring us to an understanding of ourselves so that we can be free from all forces in the world that oppress, including those within ourselves," he said.

After his talk, Gillespie led the students in a three-hour discussion.

LBJ Sics Cows on Martin

Far be it from us, who have experienced nothing more profound than GSB 211c (Political Economics) to make a comment on the federal economy, but we are not unqualified to comment on Mr. William McChesney Martin.

What warms the cockles of our hearts is the knowledge that there is still room for the "small, independent" head of the Federal Reserve System to have his say—specifically, that interest must be raised from four per cent to four and one-half per cent on Federal Reserve bank loans.

The move also boosts the ceiling to 5 1/2 per cent from 4 1/2 per cent on interest banks may pay to attract deposits of 30 days or more.

The idea is that Martin's Federal Reserve Board action would tend to help the country overcome its balance of payments deficit.

By making it more expensive to borrow, Martin's aim is to "dampen mounting demands on banks for still further credit extensions that might add to inflationary pressures."

The Number One Texan is very unhappy about the affair and, as they say in the Southwest, "That's bad cactus."

It takes guts to stand up to the Texan.

But what is really surprising is the way in which the Texan is retaliating.

Martin's records are not being impounded and turned over to the Internal Revenue Service.

There has been no order given to release some kind of surpluses.

And Martin is not being investigated by the Treasury Department, or saddled with an anti-trust suit.

But what is happening is that the Texan has taken him on a tour of the ranch.

These tours and all that accompanies them must be quite unnerving for a boy who grew up in the warm, corporate security of Wall Street.

You can only look at so many cows without cracking. And to a man who is used to speaking in terms of discount rates, commodity exchanges and capital outlays, all the "youalls" and "podners" must be somewhat bewildering.

Yes, this is a new type of war. A dirty war, to be sure, and a war to which both sides seem fully committed.

There is no end in sight and there are still burning questions to be asked.

Will Martin maintain his new interest policy in the face of yet more ranch tours and barbecues?

Will the Texan escalate his policy of friendly harassment?

Will Congressman Gerald Ford make his predictably pointless statement?

Is Martin a puppet of the Wall Street Journal?

Will the CIA be brought in?

No one can say for sure, but it certainly could develop into something nasty.

Letters to Editor:

Are Communists Infiltrating Our Student Movements?

During this last week I had the pleasure of attending the National Interfraternity Conference held in Washington, D.C. One of the speakers was J. Fred Coldren, Executive Director for the International Youth Federation for Freedom, Inc. He spoke on the trend of student demonstrations on the college campus. The following is a synopsis of his speech.

"The recent outburst of Leftist student demonstrations throughout the nation have served to alert student leaders to the clear and present danger from Communist infiltration of student "Peace and civil rights" organizations. The current issue being exploited by the Communists, their dupes and sympathizers is this country's resolute stand against Communist imperialism and armed aggression in South Vietnam.

When this Leftist crusade began last spring, warnings by informed sources that the movement was being infiltrated by Communists were virtually ignored. Now, Red penetration and control of many of the organizations involved is not seriously questioned. U.S. Attorney General Katzenbach acknowledges it. Vice President Humphrey recently said that "it is established beyond doubt that many of the demonstrations against U.S. policy in Vietnam are organized with the assistance of Communists."

Ostensibly, these organizations advocate the typical Marxist lipservice to peace."

It is tragically ironic, therefore that their actions and pronouncements seem to favor victory for the Viet Cong at the expense of American lives. In my opinion, the open material and propaganda support for the Communist Viet Cong is tantamount to treason—giving aid and comfort to the enemy in the form of shipments of blood plasma, financial aid and other material support.

It is important that a distinction be made between the "Communist" and the "Extremist" organizations and individuals. Extremists are a natural and normal manifestation of a free and democratic society. There always have been and probably always will be those individuals who simply "go too far" in their views. To be sure, the first amendment of the Constitution guarantees the right to be an extremist. But when individuals or organizations go beyond that point and show signs of (1) alien direction or control and/or (2) resort to conspiracy, force, lawlessness and subversion, legal action must be taken by the government to protect the public. In this group, you will find Communists of either the Soviet or Chinese brand, the National Socialists, and other such organizations.

There is a clear and consistent doctrine for all regular Communists in the United States. The current "party line" on major domestic issues is:

1. Repeal all Legislative restrictions of Subversion
2. Maintain massive propaganda campaigns
3. Exploit the Civil Rights movement (create class & race hatred)
4. Discredit and infiltrate non-Communists and their organizations
5. Oppose and/or abolish the "Peacetime" draft
6. Promote "Campus Reform"
 - a. Abolish ROTC
 - b. Students should dictate policy to the Administration

In international affairs, the entire Communist Party Line can be summarized as "Peace and Peaceful Co-existence." This central "line" has five sub-topics:

1. Withdraw all U.S. military bases and troops. Abandon occupied territories.
2. Cease fire and negotiate the war in Vietnam. Leave the Dominican Republic.
3. Admit Communist China to the U.N.
4. Establish diplomatic and trade relations with Castro's Cuba.
5. Expand U.S. economic aid and trade with Communist Bloc nations.

These are the issues the communists promote as if by recording. Again, let us warn that, though these issues compose the official Communist line, it does not necessarily follow that a person who holds an identical view on an issue is a communist. It merely means that he happens to agree with the communists on that issue. But, these are the propaganda lines to watch for in your own local campus organizations and in the presentations of your visiting speakers.

Just what are the significant organizations in this "anti-U.S. policy movement"? Are they really Communist infiltrated?

Two out of the 6 Radical-

Leftist organizations that make up the vanguard of the New Left are located on the SIU Campus. They are among the most active, best financed, largest, and most militant. They are:

1. Students for a Democratic Society

SDS welcomes all "liberals and radicals, activists and scholars, students and faculty," for membership.

In September, the SDS National Council mapped out plans to urge students to avoid the draft. Ken Dollard, an SDS leader at the University of Nebraska was quoted as saying: "I believe in evading the draft in any way possible, including homosexuality, pep pills, flooding the draft with CO's (conscientious objector petitioners), hunger strikes, burning draft cards, and clogging jails."

2. Student Non-Violent Coordination Committee

SNCC is an extremist civil rights organization.

The purpose of this article is not to start a campaign against these organizations, rather to make the Students of Southern more aware of them and their purposes. I would be quite interested in the reaction of the members of these organizations toward these claims.

SIU Has 'Damned Good Band'

Congratulations to the SIU Band on a remarkable performance at the Cardinals-Rams football game here in St. Louis yesterday.

The new costumes are handsome, the marching formations were clever, and the Mancini music was beautifully played.

But most spectacular was the unusual arrangement of the national anthem. Many people sitting in our section commented on it, including one friend of mine who normally thinks the Star Spangled Banner is the world's worst national anthem.

I also was sitting directly behind the TV booth, and the network announcer turned to one of his spotters at half-time and said, "That's a damned good band!" (I'm sure the microphone was switched off at the time.)

Capital's Two Million Find Lives Affected By Americans in City

U.S. SERVICEMEN, LADEN WITH PURCHASES, RIDE CYCLE RICKSHAS IN DOWNTOWN SAIGON

Wartime Boom Transforms Saigon

SAIGON—The influx of thousands of U. S. servicemen into Viet Nam has changed the face of Saigon and the lives of its two million inhabitants.

In the last six months, this formerly gracious capital of South Viet Nam has been transformed into a traffic-jammed metropolis, a wartime boom town with free-wheeling servicemen and seductive bar hostesses everywhere.

Bars with such trade-inducing names as "Miami," "Texas" and "Reno" are flourishing. On Saigon's Fifth Avenue, Tu Do Street, more Americans now stroll than natives. In the evenings, pimps openly solicit customers.

In the last six months, the cost of living has soared. The price of eggs, for example, has jumped from three to five piastres each.

Rents for Western-style dwellings have doubled and trebled. Landlords renting to Americans have been known to make back investments on new buildings in one or two years.

The average Saigon native is hardest hit by the transportation shortage. With most of Saigon's taxis now waiting outside American installations for the overly generous customers inside, former Vietnamese patrons scramble for buses and cycle rickshas.

At rush hours, buses are crammed full. The overflow hangs precariously outside. People relying on them usually arrive late for work.

Cycle ricksha drivers are demanding more than the taxi-fare for the same distance, although the ride in the open bicycle-propelled one-seat carriage is slower and more dangerous.

American military vehicles add exhaust fumes to the already smoke-choked roads. Jeeps full of fatigue-clad servicemen, and open truckloads of GIs with sport shirts and cameras yelling at the girls, leave an image of Americans that is new to Vietnamese.

Many of the servicemen arrive in town still carrying rifles and pistols. On more than one occasion, a few drinks have loosened control on trigger fingers.

Multinational Jeeploads of U. S., Korean, New Zealand, Australian and Vietnamese military police, now help local police patrol the streets.

Among those benefiting from the Americans are domestic servants, stevedores, construction workers and anyone with a passable knowledge of English. Domestics, for example, now are demanding their own price—for Americans usually two and three times as much as for Vietnamese.

In a way, the giant U. S. military buildup has forced the Vietnamese to become second-class citizens in their own country. Store clerks will abruptly leave a Vietnamese customer for an American.

Telephone repairsmen and electricians respond faster to requests from Americans. Downtown stores are stocking items like U. S. books and magazines, in accordance to what they think is American taste.

Police on the lookout for draft dodgers, Viet Cong and bombs, stop only Vietnamese on the streets to check identification and draft-exempt papers.

On the other hand, an openly displayed in sidewalk stalls.

In the last few months, there has been an increase in the number of buildings used by Americans, many ringed with barbed wire, white wooden fences or concrete blocks. These force pedestrians to walk on the roads, amid terrorist explosions, until one hits close to home. Lately the Viet Cong have been concentrating on Vietnamese policemen, but Americans have not been exempt.

The number of Americans increases the danger of grenades and many buildings near American-frequented bars have their windows criss-crossed with cellulose tape.

But in spite of all the American-caused inconveniences, no one here is complaining very loudly.

No one, except the Viet Cong, is saying "Yankee go home" just yet.

Things could be worse if they did.—Copley News Service

VIETNAMESE POLICE CHECK ID CARDS LOOKING FOR VIET CONG TERRORISTS

American face is usually the only passport necessary for getting through the innumerable road blocks.

Americans too have been known to bully tiny five-foot Vietnamese policemen out of performing duties such as enforcing the midnight curfew.

The black market of U. S. goods imported for sale to Americans through the post exchange is flourishing. U.S. cigarettes, hairspray, soap, liquor and tape recordings are rickshas, motorcycles, horse-drawn carts and speeding cars.

It is now more common, too, to see tomatoes and carrots spread out for inspection on the sidewalks in front of U. S. billets. Under the rifle of the U. S. military police guard, Vietnamese employees search for grenades before allowed the produce to be taken into the kitchens.

Most residents are immune and fatalistic about the War in Viet Nam Improved for U.S. Observer Says

By Brig. Gen. James D. Hittle, USMC, Ret.

SAIGON—Comparisons of conditions in South Viet Nam over the last several months show that the war is going better for us.

I was in South Viet Nam last May, when the first rains of the monsoon were falling. My present visit comes at the end of the monsoon season, which enables me to compare the military situation at the start and finish of the period of heavy rains and low clouds.

It was the monsoon that the gloomy "experts" said would be the time of U. S. disaster in South Viet Nam. Rains and low visibility, they said, would severely cut our air operations and restrict our ground maneuverability. The result would be a Communist monsoon offensive that would set the stage for Red victory.

But things, I've found, didn't turn out that way. The highly touted and much dreaded Red monsoon offensive was more than "blunted;" it was whipped.

In spite of some local setbacks, we've come out of the monsoon season better than we went into it.

Another significant development is the increasing Communist desertion rate, as the "Chieu Hoi"—open arms—program. This is the South Vietnamese effort to encourage Viet Cong to desert. They are welcomed with open arms, retained, and given a new start in South Viet Nam. During the last several months there has been a big increase in the total coming over.

Wildlife Society Picks Klimstra

Willard D. Klimstra, director of the SIU Cooperative Wildlife Research Laboratory, has been elected president of the north central section, Midwest Wildlife Society.

Announcement of his selection was made at the society's meeting in Lansing, Mich.

The organization's north central section includes eight states, and has about 400 members.

Klimstra has been active in numerous groups concerned with wildlife management, conservation and related fields.

Chairman of the Illinois Nature Preserves Commission, he was named by Gov. Otto Kerner to a new state commission to study strip mined lands in Illinois.

Klimstra holds a bachelor's degree from Maryville, Tenn., College, and master's and Ph.D. degrees from Iowa State College.

JEFFERSON HUMPHREY CONFERS WITH THE THREE COEDS FROM WINSTON-SALEM

Southern, Winston-Salem College Participate In Exchange Program for Students, Faculty

By Richard Rush

Three students and one faculty member from Winston-Salem State College in North Carolina are studying at SIU this year as part of an unusual exchange program between the two schools.

In turn, one SIU student is spending the year at the southern school.

Gloria Barringer, Adlena Faye Howie and Bernice Seward are the first Winston-Salem students to come here as part of the program. And Guy Pearce is the first SIU student to attend Winston-Salem.

However, this summer, when the program began, there was an exchange of teachers with one SIU faculty member teaching there and several of their faculty members here.

Miss Barringer, a sophomore from Charlotte, N. C., is a vocal music major. She said she thinks the program is a "wonderful opportunity" for both students and faculty members.

Both Miss Howie and Miss Seward, juniors majoring in English, said they were very enthusiastic about the program. Miss Howie is from Winston-Salem and Miss Seward from Wilmington.

Jefferson Humphrey, who for the past three years served as dean of men at Winston-Salem College, is the exchange faculty member who is here this year. He is a doctoral student in the Department of Higher Education at SIU.

He is working on his Ph.D. with special emphasis on student personnel. Humphrey is a research assistant and is involved in upgrading the departmental bibliography on student personnel.

The exchange program grew out of a visit by President Delyte W. Morris to the Winston-Salem campus to make a speech. Last November a special SIU committee was named to study how the University could take a more active role in assisting smaller schools. William J. McKeefery, dean of academic affairs, served as head of the committee.

After conferring with leading educators, a special Winston-Salem task force was appointed, headed by Elmer J. Clark, dean of the College of Education, to work out the details of the exchange.

Orville Alexander, chairman of the Department of Government, was the first SIU faculty member to participate in the faculty exchange aspect of the program. He spent the summer teaching at Winston-Salem.

"The people at Winston-Salem State College are very charming," Alexander said. "I have experienced a very worthwhile association with them."

6 Students Fined For Illegal Cars

Six students have been assessed $50 each by university officials for illegal possession of motor vehicles.

Assessed are a senior from Forest Park, a senior from Joliet, a Niles junior, a freshman from Des Plaines, a Westville sophomore and a junior from Mishawaka, Ind.

Decision Expected in January On Rehabilitation Center Shift

A decision is expected in January on the proposal by SIU that the Illinois Division of Vocational Rehabilitation take over financial and administrative operation of SIU's Employment Training Center for handicapped persons.

If the proposal goes through, the center could become a DVR operation by July 1. It would be the first state agency-operated "sheltered workshop" in Illinois.

When started in 1958, the center served various research aims and also put mentally and physically disabled persons to work at basic production-line jobs. Firms in the Orville area of the Crab Orchard National Refuge, where the center is located, subcontracted basic assembly jobs which the workers could perform. Eventually other contracts came through, including orders from several soft drink companies for rebuilding and assembling wood cartons.

Guy Renzaglia, head of the Rehabilitation Institute, said initial research and study aims have been served and that continuing operation "can no longer be termed a true function of the University." State welfare and work agencies have agreed, he said.

Other agencies have expressed a unanimous wish for continuing operations under DVR included the Illinois State Employment Service, the Department of Public Aid, the Division of Mental Health and the Egyptian Association for Retarded Children.

Renzaglia said that if the state agency takes over, expanded development with the help of federal funds would be in four areas: more "work - assessment," designed to show what kinds of work handicapped persons can do best, more training in work and adjustment and good work habits, more training in higher work skills, and a job placement agency within the center.

The center might also qualify for funds under the Manpower Development Training Act. Long-range development plans might include

"satellite" workshops in other area towns.

A policy decision on the transfer will be made when the State Board of Vocational Education and Rehabilitation meets in January. A committee representing SIU and other agencies will work with DVR to plan the transition.

Chemistry Seminar Set

Marvin R. Klotz, graduate student in chemistry, will present an organic-biochemistry seminar on "Reactions of Steroidal Enamines" at 4 p.m. today in Room 204 of the Parkinson Laboratory.

Quiz on Instructors' Names

Students Plead Ignorance; Case Seems Well Founded

If each of your instructors asked the following bonus question on his final examination could you give the correct answer?

"Give the first name, middle initial and last name of the person who teaches this course."

An informal poll taken by the Daily Egyptian indicates that a number of students might get a goose egg rather than a bonus if faced with such a situation.

Out of a group of 12 students who come in contact with a total of 63 faculty members in the course of a given week, four frankly admitted that they didn't know any part of their prof's names—first name, middle initial or last name.

However, the students knew 26 of their profs by both their first and last names but 33 of them only by their last names.

As far as middle initials go—well, the less said about that the better.

In another group of students polled on course names, less than half could give the formal title of the courses they were taking, while about two-thirds of them knew a shortened or nickname for the course.

However, most of the students polled did know the numbers of their courses.

German Teaches Geology at SIU

A German geologist has been a visiting professor of geology here this term. He is Gerhard Frenzel, of Heidelberg.

Before coming to SIU he held a position with the Privatdozent in Heidelberg. He received a doctoral degree in 1953.

He has published numerous articles and received research grants from the German National Science Foundation.

Among organizations in which he is a member are the Deutsche Mineralogische Gesellschaft, Schweizerische Mineralogische and Petrographische Gesellschaft and the New York Academy of Science.

THOMAS J. RILLO

Rillo Will Serve On '100' Board

Thomas J. Rillo, associate professor of recreation and outdoor education, has been named a University representative on the board of directors of the Educational Council of 100, Inc.

Rillo, whose appointment was made by President Delyte W. Morris, succeeds Jacob O. Bach, chairman of the Department of Educational Administration and Supervision. Bach resigned from the council because of the pressure of other activities related to his position.

Rillo is coordinator of the 2,600-acre Outdoor Education Center on Little Grass Lake, a joint enterprise of SIU and the council.

Three directors-at-large, to augment directors from eight regions and four directors from the University, have been reappointed by Dr. Warren D. Tuttle, council president. They are Msgr. W. E. Hanagan of Eldorado, Archie Jones of Carbondale and Russell Malan of Harrisburg.

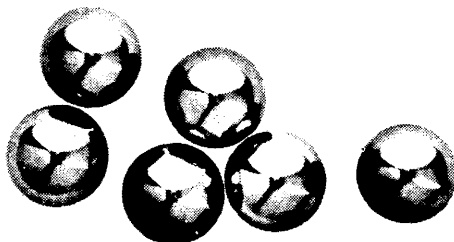

The council is composed of both lay people and educators from the 31 southernmost counties of Illinois, who work for the advancement of projects pertaining to education in the area.

Labor Documentary On Film Schedule

"The Inheritance," a documentary on the U.S. labor movement, will be shown at 8 and 9 p.m. Saturday in Browne Auditorium.

The SIU chapter of the Students for Democratic Society is sponsoring the film.

We set out to ruin some ball bearings and failed successfully

The Bell System has many small, automatic telephone offices around the country. The equipment in them could operate unattended for ten years or so, but for a problem.

The many electric motors in those offices needed lubrication at least once a year. Heat from the motors dried up the bearing oils, thus entailing costly annual maintenance.

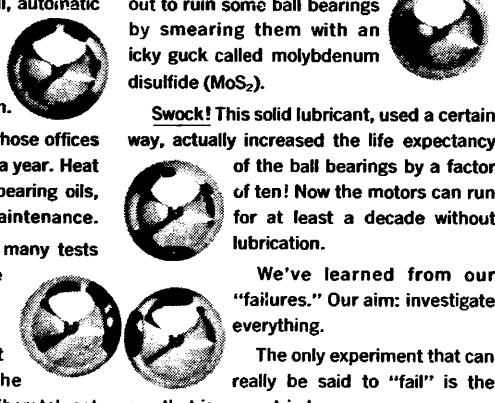

To stamp out this problem, many tests were conducted at Bell Telephone Laboratories. Lubricant engineer George H. Kitchen decided to do a basic experiment that would provide a motor with the worst possible conditions. He deliberately set out to ruin some ball bearings by smearing them with an icky gunk called molybdenum disulfide (MoS₂).

Swack! This solid lubricant, used a certain way, actually increased the life expectancy of the ball bearings by a factor of ten! Now the motors can run for at least a decade without lubrication.

We've learned from our "failures." Our aim: investigate everything.

The only experiment that can really be said to "fail" is the one that is never tried.

Mikoyan Steps Down in Soviet Job Shuffle

MOSCOW (AP)—Anastas I. Mikoyan, the oldest leading Bolshevik, went into partial retirement Thursday in a group of reshuffles which brought a promotion for Alexander N. Shelepin, youngest leading contender for top power.

The changes were recommended by Leonid I. Brezhnev, who retained the nation's most powerful position as Communist party first secretary, and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin. Mikoyan, a prominent figure under both Joseph Stalin and Nikita S. Khrushchev, resigned from the largely ceremonial job of Soviet president. Mikoyan, who turned 70 two weeks ago, gave health as the reason.

Lifting of Meat Ban Unlikely Till 1966

VATICAN CITY (AP)—An expected papal announcement removing the 1,000-year-old Roman Catholic Church rule against eating meat on Fridays will not be made until early 1966, Vatican sources predicted Thursday night.

Reports a week ago had said the word from Pope Paul VI might come during the midweek ceremonies that closed the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

The sources said the Pope may have decided to wait instead until the special post-council jubilee period Jan. 1-May 29.

Nikolai V. Podgorny, 62, an engineer whose career has been in domestic party politics, became the new president. Brezhnev nominated him.

According to Communist sources, this meant Podgorny was giving up the No. 2 job in the secretariat of the Communist party, which runs the Soviet Union. The informants said that job is going to Shelepin.

Shelepin, 47, former head of the Soviet secret police, has been regarded as a possible future top man in the Soviet Union. Despite indications earlier in the week of a demotion, he seemed today to have strengthened his position.

This came despite relinquishing his government role as a deputy premier and chairman of the old committee for party and state control.

On Kosygin's recommendation, the committee was renamed the committee of people's control and a new man, Pavel Kovanov, put in charge. The committee insures that party orders are carried out by various levels of government.

Kosygin said Shelepin should be relieved in order to concentrate on party work.

This same explanation was given in July 1964 when Brezhnev gave up the presidential job to Mikoyan. Three months later Brezhnev had used his No. 2 role in the communist party to help organize Khrushchev's ouster.

Brezhnev then moved up to No. 1 and Podgorny became No. 2. A month later, in November 1964, Shelepin was promoted to the 12-man presidium of the Communist party. The presidium and the secretariat, whose memberships overlap, set and carry out policy.

Traditionally, the No. 2 secretariat job that Shelepin is reported to have assumed has been that of heir apparent to top power. But there have been changes in heirs. Stalin's, Georgi M. Malenkov, did not last long against Khrushchev.

The change in the presidency and Shelepin's departure from the government came at the close of a three-day session of the Supreme Soviet.

The changes and the 1966 budget and economic development plan were approved unanimously, as official proposals are always approved by the Supreme Soviet. It also approved a resolution accusing the United States of aggression in Viet Nam and decided to send the resolution to other governments.

American Casualties Feared Heavy After Mine Blasts Troop Trucks

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A Viet Cong mine exploded under a U.S. troop convoy Thursday and American casualties aboard one of the three trucks hit were believed heavy.

The mine went off on a highway near Ben Cat, 25 miles north of Saigon, as action quickened near the capital.

U.S. B52 jet bombers struck a suspected red target about 30 miles northwest of Saigon in Binh Duong province late Thursday night but military spokesmen here disclosed no details.

The mine, electrically detonated, was believed to have been made by the Viet Cong from a U.S. bomb that failed to go off during an air strike. This is a frequent guerrilla tactic.

Sporadic fighting was reported still going on Friday between Vietnamese troops, backed by U.S. jets and artillery, and a Viet Cong regiment near Da Nang.

Near Saigon, Viet Cong units fired on five government outposts Wednesday and one band overran Tam Phuoc, a hamlet 20 miles to the east. It was driven off by a company of government soldiers.

U.S. troops based at Pleiku, in the central highlands 240 miles north of Saigon, welcomed the arrival of three heavy gun batteries. These were made up of 8-inch and 175mm howitzers. Brig. Gen. Richard Knowles, assistant commander of the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division, got off the first shot from the 175s, which can fire a 150-pound shell 20 miles.

Flying above the border in clear weather, U.S. planes staged what briefing officers called the heaviest attack on Communist supply lines since the aerial campaign was launched against North Viet Nam last Feb. 7.

They dropped 206 tons of bombs, including some of 3,000 pounds, to slow the southward flow of Hanoi's troops and supplies. Roads funneling to the Ho Chi Minh trail were reported cut in 117 places in the mountains near the Laotian border.

There were 307 combat runs against suspected Viet Cong concentrations and supply centers in the South.

Opposing forces in the coastal battle were so tightly locked at times that the American pilots involved had difficulty pinpointing targets.

The allied drive followed up the Viet Cong's virtual destruction of a Vietnamese ranger battalion Wednesday in the same Red-held region of rice paddies, thickets and canefields midway between U.S. Marine beachheads at Da Nang and Chu Lai.

Kerner Still Uncertain About Special Session

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Gov. Otto Kerner said Thursday he will make a yes or no decision by the end of January on calling a special legislative session to bolster state finances.

Kerner told a news conference he will make up his mind after receiving December sales tax reports which are due the following month and reflect Christmas business.

"I want to be as positive as I can be on revenue," he added. "After December, I will have the experience of six months for the biennium."

Kerner said it appeared now the state would be $67 million in the hole on general revenue funds "without a cent of operating cash" at the end of the current two-year fiscal period June 30, 1967.

He said this could result in payless paydays for state employees in July and August 1967 because no cash would be on hand to start the new budget period.

Kerner has contended the legislature this year upset his budget by rejecting most of his tax program, including a 3-cent gasoline tax increase for schools and roads.

Johnson Tells AFL-CIO that U.S. Will Continue the Fight for Peace

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—AFL-CIO delegates Thursday heard promises from President Johnson to continue his fight for peace in South Viet Nam. Then union President George Meany pledged to improve conditions for "poor, hungry" low-paid American workers.

Johnson's promise came in a telephone address from his ranch headquarters at Johnson City, Tex., to delegates at the 10th anniversary convention of the AFL-CIO.

He said he will exhaust every prospect for peace in Viet Nam "before other hard steps are taken."

But, Johnson said, he is "determined to do all that is necessary" to turn back the Communist threat in South Viet Nam.

The labor delegates interrupted Johnson's talk with applause only once—when he repeated his commitment to repeal Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act.

At the end of Johnson's talk, the delegates applauded.

Meany told Johnson in reply that the federation was aware of the heavy burdens of the President to advance and preserve the American way of life.

"We are with you in your fight," Meany told Johnson, to assure a peaceful and better life for all Americans.

Meany, himself in line for a $25,000 pay increase, said the giant labor federation will help win higher wages for millions of underpaid workers in the United States.

Meany, opening the AFL-CIO 10th anniversary convention with the promise to aid what the federation calls "the working poor," will be earning $70,000 a year if the convention approves his pay hike.

"There are millions and millions of people in this country who have jobs and do back-breaking work, but who are not paid enough to properly feed, house, clothe and educate their families," Meany told some 1,000 delegates.

$18,808 Taken In Robbery at U. of Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Four robbers held up several employes and took more than $18,000 from the bursar's office at the University of Chicago Thursday.

A university spokesman said 24 of the 26 employes were forced to lie on the floor by gunmen, while the robbers gathered $18,808 in two bags.

They fled the office, entered two cars and sped away.

Gemini 6 Set for Sunday Launch

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—The Gemini 6 hunter spacecraft—24 hours ahead of schedule—got a go-ahead Thursday to blast off Sunday in pursuit of the orbiting Gemini 7. The target spaceship opened its egg-shaped orbit to full circle to await its sister ship.

When they meet—perhaps Sunday—they will fly in formation a few feet apart, a vital maneuver in U.S. efforts to reach the moon.

Gemini 7 began its 81st orbit at 10:24 p.m. EST.

Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman—his eyes on the stars for guidance—gave the Gemini 7 two bursts of rocket power, timed to the split second, 43 minutes apart, during the 75th and 76th orbits.

"We've got Arcturus—and we're right on the money," Borman said.

When he and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr. heard the news Gemini 6 might shoot up to meet them a day early,

Lovell said, "Sounds excellent."

"We'll try to see if we can fit it into our schedule," Borman said.

Just before they began their maneuvers, the Gemini 7 crew became the second pair of U.S. astronauts to eclipse the Soviet endurance record of 119 hours, six minutes, set by Valeri Bykovsky in 1963.

When the astronauts were told of it later, Lovell said it sounded interesting, but they were more interested in breaking the world record of 190 hours, 56 minutes, set by fellow astronauts L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. in Gemini 5 last August.

At Cape Kennedy, Fla., with their 90-foot Titan 2 rocket and their 19-foot spacecraft ready on Pad 19, Gemini 6 pilots Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford went through their last major physical examination. They were pronounced physically fit.

They will then go to Woody Hall for games, refreshments and gifts.

EVEN THE SNOW GETS IN ON THE CANNON ACT

Mexico Holding Out

Carbondale Christmas Snow? It'll Have to Be Shipped In

It may come as a surprise to be reminded that Carbondale has already seen 17.3 inches of snow this year.

In spite of this being four inches above the annual mean, the chance of having a white Christmas is hard to visualize during this spring-like December of 1965.

According to the SIU Climatology Laboratory, there is little chance of 1965 topping the record amount of area snowfall for one year. To do this Carbondale would have to be blanketed with 32.7

inches of snow this month. The mean snowfall for the month of December since 1910 is 2.6 inches. The most snow recorded in one year is 50 inches in 1912.

Of the snow received this year, the greatest monthly total fell in March—7.6 inches. January and February recorded 3.6 inches and 6.1 inches respectively. This conflicts with the normal pattern of greatest snowfall in January and February.

Bill Daley, a research aid in climatology, said, "The snow received in the Carbondale area originates quite often in northeast Mexico, travels through the Texas Panhandle, through the Ohio Valley and the Carbondale area, through the St. Lawrence Seaway and into the 'Graveyard of Lows' in the Iceland and Greenland area."

Daley also said that the most snow that ever accumulated on the ground here was 20 inches during January, 1918. That month also holds the record snowfall for one month of 25.3 inches, followed by 19.2 inches in March 1960. The year 1960 is second highest in the total annual snowfall with 28.7 inches.

Looking at it from the opposite angle, three years have been recorded as having no snow at all. These years, 1911, 1931 and 1940, were accompanied by the years 1923 and 1946 having the least amount of snow recorded, each with 0.9 inch.

Daley made no predictions on the possibility of snow falling on Carbondale for Christmas and the month of December. If a year ago this month is an indicator of what to expect, there will be no "White Christmas" for Carbondale residents. The entire month of December, 1964 recorded only a trace of snow, not enough to measure.

SIU Sociologists To Hear Lecture By E. C. Hughes

Final Exam Schedule

A class meeting at the hours listed below will have its one-hour final examination on the first day listed provided that day is one on which the class has a regularly scheduled lecture session.

If not, the examination will be scheduled for the second day listed provided that day is one on which the class has a regularly scheduled lecture session. If a class does not meet on either of those two days it will have its examination on the day of the week on which the last regularly scheduled lecture session is held.

If a class is of a type in which no lecture sessions are employed, it will have its examination on one of the regular meeting days which will cause the fewest number of students in the class to have more than three examinations on that day. Otherwise it may be scheduled on the most convenient regular meeting day by the instructor.

A make-up period on Friday, Dec. 17, at 4 o'clock is to be used for examinations for students who have more than three examinations on one day and who receive approval from their academic deans to defer one until the make-up period. When more than three are created by a departmental examination, the one to be deferred will be the departmental one.

Classes meeting only on Saturday or one night a week will have their examinations during the regularly scheduled class period.

- 8 o'clock classes, Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 13 and 14
- 9 o'clock classes, Thursday and Friday, Dec. 16 and 17
- 10 o'clock classes, Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 14 and 15
- 11 o'clock classes, Thursday and Friday, Dec. 16 and 17
- 12 o'clock classes, Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 13 and 14

Debaters Will Resume Meets With Tournament at Normal

SIU debaters, who wound up their 1965 activities in impressive style, must now wait until Jan. 6 for further forensic competition.

The varsity team, which tied for the championship with the University of Illinois in the Greenville College Invitational Tournament, will enter the Illinois State University Debate Tournament at Normal Jan. 6-8. The same weekend Pi Kappa Delta, SIU forensic organization, will be host to 350 high school debaters during a high school debate tournament on campus.

At Greenville the varsity won seven matches and lost one, with the affirmative team of Kathy O'Connell of Florissant, Mo., and Karen Kendall of Tacoma, Wash., winning three and losing one, and the negative debaters, Ron Hrebenar of Rock Island and John Patterson of Carbondale scoring four wins without a loss.

The novice group, debating at the Butler University Invitational Debate Tournament, won four and lost four. Both the affirmative team of George Berghanel of Westbury, N.Y., and Bill Fogel of Evanston, and the negatives, Tom Causer of Du Quoin and Bob Swedo of Lombard, finished with 2-2 marks.

Marvin Kleinau, director of forensics, traveled with the varsity team. Carl Clavdetscher, debate assistant, traveled with the freshmen.

Edwardsville Ball Set for St. Louis

SIU Carbondale campus students from the St. Louis area have been invited to attend the Edwardsville campus Winter Wonderland Ball on Dec. 20 in the Gold Room of the Sheraton-Jefferson Hotel in St. Louis.

The ball will be from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m., with a performance by the Concert Chorale at 9. Supplying music for the ball will be the Billy May orchestra.

Light refreshments will be served.

Tickets will be $1 in advance or $1.50 at the door, with current activity cards or ID cards. Dress will be formal—long formal for the women and either tuxedos or dark suits for the men.

Staff Members To Attend Speech Convention

Six SIU faculty members will attend the Speech Association of America Convention in New York City, Dec. 27-30.

Earl E. Bradley, assistant chairman of the Department of Speech; Cameron W. Garbutt, associate professor of speech; Lester R. Breniman, associate professor of speech; Robert J. Kibler, director of the Educational Research Bureau; Ralph A. Micken, chairman of the Department of Speech; and C. Horton Talley, dean of the School of Communications, will attend. Garbutt will present a paper to the phonetics, linguistics, and voice science interest group on "Some Linguistic Phenomena That Can Be Used to Facilitate the Acquisition of a Speech Sound in Children with Dyslalia."

Kibler will present a report on "A Survey of the Current Status of Persuasion Courses in U.S. Colleges and Universities," to the undergraduate speech instruction interest group.

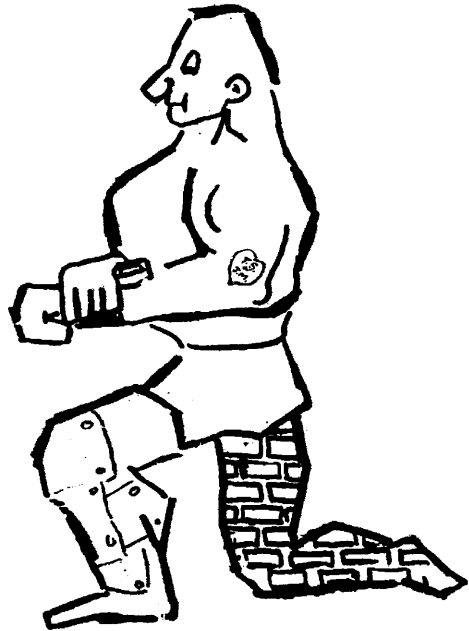

Bradley will read a paper by William D. Smith, assistant professor of speech at SIU, to the rhetoric and public address interest group on "The Rhetoric of Alfred E.

Smith and John F. Kennedy in the Campaigns of 1928 and 1960."

Breniman is secretary of the undergraduate speech instruction interest group. Micken is scheduled to speak at the Hyde Park Forum, a new feature of the convention.

Dorothy Higginbotham, associate professor of speech, who will be vice chairman of the speech in the elementary schools interest group next year, will not attend the convention. She will be responsible for arranging a program of sectional meetings at the 1966 convention.

Tanzanian Visiting SIU on U.S. Tour

Obdiah Rugimbana, commissioner of prisons at Dar es Salaam, Tanzania, is visiting the SIU Carbondale campus for three days.

The Tanzanian official is a guest of the U.S. State Department for a three-month visit in America, to observe operation of correctional institutions. He is accompanied by a State Department escort. He spent the first part of the week visiting the new federal maximum security prison near Marion.

At the Carbondale campus he will be the guest of the Center for the Study of Crime, Delinquency and Corrections, and will confer with four of his staff members who are completing an 18-week course at the center. He will meet with President Delyte W. Morris in the afternoon.

Robert J. Brooks of the Corrections Center staff has made local arrangements for Rugimbana's visit to the campus.

5-Year Project

SIU Press Will Publish Works
By American Philosopher Dewey

The SIU Press is planning to publish a five-volume edition of the early works of John Dewey, American philosopher-educator who died in 1952.

Commencement of publication will mark the end of a five-year research effort which has made SIU a "definitive center for the study of Dewey," according to Vernon A. Sternberg, director of the Press.

Author of more than 25 major books and 1,000 separate items of writing, Dewey was a major influence in American thought and the philosophy of American education.

Publication will begin in 1967, Sternberg said. Five volumes and a companion "Reader's Guide to the Works of John Dewey" will be printed over a five year period.

The books will cover Dewey's writings between 1882 and 1898. Works in the edition will include such Dewey landmarks as "The Ethics of Democracy," "Psychology," "Outlines of a Critical Theory of Ethics" and "The Study of Ethics." In addition, many articles, reviews, lectures and letters never previously reprinted will be included.

Dewey scholars from SIU and the University of Illinois headed by general textual editor Fredson Bowers of the University of Virginia will edit the volumes. Modern textual principles used in new editions of such American writers as Melville, Hawthorne and Mark Twain will be applied.

Sternberg said the SIU edition will be designed to "establish the text of Dewey's books precisely as he intended them." Previous single editions, he said, are not only scarce but include errors, inadequate revisions and sketchily documented alterations which make it difficult for scholars to follow the development of Dewey's thought.

Spadework has been done by the SIU Cooperative Dewey Research Project directed by George Axtelle, professor of education and philosophy. The project has become an international clearing house for Dewey studies.

Other editors, besides Axtelle and Bowers, will be Lewis E. Hahn, research professor of philosophy; S. Morris Eames, associate professor of philosophy and J. R. Burnett, University of Illinois, who is president of the John Dewey Society. Jo Ann Boydston, associate director of the Dewey Project here, is assisting Bowers in general editing.

State Committee
Appointment Goes
To Robert E. Hill

Robert E. Hill, dean of the School of Business, has been named as the SIU representative on the state planning committee for implementation of the Technical Services Act of 1965.

Hill was chosen for the post after Gov. Otto Kerner asked President Delyte W. Morris to designate a person to serve on the planning body.

The federal legislation is designed to promote commerce and encourage economic growth by supporting state and interstate programs to place the scientific findings usefully in the hands of the business community.

Kerner has designated the State Department of Business and Economic Development as the Illinois agency to administer and coordinate the program, and to submit a plan to the secretary of commerce for approval under the act.

Dean Hill, a native of Kincaid in Christian County, began his work as dean of the School of Business at Southern this fall. He came here from Kent (Ohio) State University, where he was dean of the College of Business. His Ph.D. degree is from the University of Alabama.

Kibler to Participate In Dropouts Study

Robert J. Kibler, director of the SIU Educational Research Bureau, has been named to the Illinois Curriculum Council's study-publication committee on counteracting school dropouts in Illinois.

Kibler was invited to serve on the committee by Ray Page, Illinois superintendent of public instruction.

Swimming Season Opens

Salukis Meet Evansville Today

SIU swimmers open their season tonight with a dual meet at Evansville College, Ind. The Salukis have three key lettermen to bolster their

Events in tonight's meet will include the 400 medley relay, with Robert O'Callaghan, Gerry Pearson, Ed Mossotti and Mike Miles competing.

Thom McAnerey and Don Schaefer will compete in the 200 freestyle, and Rich Everett, Marco Bonne and Loren Walker will represent SIU in the 200 individual medley.

will compete in the 200 breaststroke. In the 400 freestyle relay, Don Schaefer, Mike Miles, Marco Bonne and Tom Crowder will compete.

Reinhard Westenrieder will compete in the 50 freestyle and the 100 freestyle. Ed Mossotti will also swim in the 100 freestyle.

Thom McAnerey and Rich Everett will swim in the longest event — the 500 freestyle.

Three playoff meets are included in Coach Ralph Casey's schedule this season.

The team will go to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., to compete in the East-West playoffs.

Competing in the 200 butterfly will be Kimo Miles, Phil Tracy and Eric Jones. Bob O'Callaghan and Ralph Hitchens will compete in the 200 backstroke, and Gerry Pearson and Howard Harris

The Southern collegiate championships will be held in Athens, Ga., followed by the national championships at the Air Force Academy, Boulder City, Colo., March 21, during spring break.

Wrestling Team to Compete Saturday in Invitational Meet

Wrestling Coach Jim Wilkinson says he is expecting a "hornet's nest" when his boys compete in an invitational quadrangular meet at Bloomsburg (Pa.) State Saturday.

Wilkinson is counting on team balance to give hard competition to the other three teams, all contenders.

Nine of the 11-man Saluki wrestling team claimed individual championships in the Illinois Invitational at Champaign last weekend, but the presence of Indiana State, Lycoming of Williamsport, Pa., and Bloomsburg should give SIU's wrestlers stronger competition this week.

The lineup:
Terry Magoon, 115
Wayne Lenhares, 123
Dan Ross, 130

Salukis Snag Third Place In UPI Poll

The first United Press International poll of small-college basketball teams places Southern in third place in the country.

The only teams rated ahead of the Salukis are Evansville and Central State of Ohio.

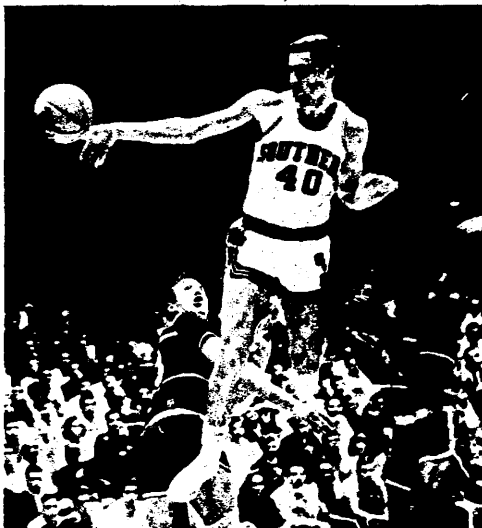

This is much the same as last year when the Salukis held the third spot throughout most of the season behind the same two teams.

Evansville pulled down the top spot by polling 20 first place votes despite their 80-

73 loss to Iowa last weekend. Central State and Southern both got six votes for first place.

- Southern Illinois

RANDY GOIN

For College Career

Triple-Threat Goin Chose Basketball

By DeMaris Lowry

Randy Goin, who gained some measure of fame recently by ending up in the wrong town for a basketball game, had no difficulty plotting his course when it came to college sports.

A triple-threat man in high school, he could have easily made any college's baseball, track or basketball team. Although he was the leading hitter on his high school baseball team for two years and made a name for himself in track circles around Rankin, his home town, there was never any doubt what sport he'd play in college.

"I picked basketball simply because I was better in basketball than in the other two," he explained in his matter-of-fact manner of speaking.

That, of course, doesn't mean he's shut all other sports out of his life now that he's concentrating on basketball. What he can't play he watches on television or reads about in magazines and newspaper.

Although Goin does not know any of his basketball statistics, he admits that he keeps a scrapbook of the highlights of his basketball career.

"But I very seldom get the book out," said the lanky 6 foot 2 senior.

His scrapbook contains articles on such things as how he was the top basketball scorer on his high school team at Rankin, and how during his junior and senior years he paced the squad to victory in the local high school conference.

"I've been playing basketball almost as long as I can remember," he recalled. "When I first started playing I couldn't throw up to the basket, so I practiced by shooting through some monkey bars."

Goin, a forward, was the No. 6 man on Southern's team last year when he completed 38 per cent of his shots from the field and 50 per cent from the free throw line.

This season Goin led the team in scoring the first game. But an injured hand has since thrown him off and currently he is ranked as the fourth highest scorer with 29 points to his credit.

"Randy is a very good passer and extremely quick," said Jack Hartman, SIU's head basketball coach. Goin gets along very well with the other players, Hartman added.

Unlike many athletes, Randy is not weight conscious. "But I do have to cut down on sweets the day of the game," he said.

"Randy eats lots of mashed potatoes and meat to try to keep his weight up," said his wife, Shelia, who is a little more weight conscious than her husband.

Baseball Practice Begins Next Term

Those swiftly moving white blurs Southern's baseball players will be seeing at 6 o'clock every morning next quarter will be baseballs.

No, those baseballs will not be in the dreams of about 30 athletes. Or at least they'd better not be asleep or they're liable to get hit right on the old noggin.

Baseball practice will officially open next month, and head Coach Joe Lutz will welcome over 30 candidates to practice—that is if they can get up in time.

Hitting and pitching will be stressed at the practice sessions which will last from 6 to 8 every morning.

A cage will be installed in the Arena for hitting practice.

Reason for the early practice hours is because winter sports teams occupy the Arena most of the day.

"At least I'll have a good idea of who wants to play ball," said Lutz.

In fielders Rich Collins, Larry Schaake, Dennis Walter, Bob Bernstein and Paul Pavesich; catchers Bill Merrill and George Tolar; and pitchers Wayne Sramek, Ron Guthman and Bill Liskey will be a few of the lettermen returning.

Like to lose 10-20 pounds in a week or so? Follow any member of SIU's wrestling team around for awhile and you'll find a hard but effective way to lose that bulge around the midriff.

The wrestlers use strenuous exercise, coupled with a low calorie diet which is mostly liquid to shed pounds before a meet.

Most of the wrestlers in the lower weight classes wrestle 20-25 pounds below their normal weight.

The weight loss, however, is only temporary since after days of starvation a wrestler will usually stuff himself following a meet.

Being No. 2 in anything can't be all bad, especially when you know you're improving the performance of the person over you and she is your teammate.

Nancy Smith, one of Coach Herb Vogel's woman gymnasts, has played second fiddle to her teammate Judy Wells on the trampoline for the last two years.

It can get a person down, but not Miss Smith, who says she realizes the importance of pushing Miss Wells to greater heights, while at the same time improving herself.

a bit this year. He is currently averaging 10.3 points a game. Goin, meanwhile, has been hampered in the last two games by a sprained hand. He was injured late in the Northeast Missouri game in which he scored 19 points.

Neither O'Neal or Stovall has been singeing the nets with their scoring, but they have been strong on rebounding. O'Neal has grabbed 28 and Stovall 21. O'Neal got his high against State College of Iowa when he grabbed 18. Stovall's high is 17 against Northeast Missouri.

The Salukis are justifiably the heavy favorites in tonight's game. The Salukis have nine lettermen to Chattanooga's five, have two more victories than the winless Moccasins and have played a much tougher schedule. Chattanooga's three losses have come to Tennessee Tech, East Tennessee State and Athens (Ala.) College.

In the preliminary game Coach Jim Smelser will send his highly-touted freshmen against equally impressive Paducah Junior College. Southern's frosh looked good in their pre-season loss to varsity, but they'll probably have their hands full tonight. The Indians have won three in a row including a 90-64 victory over the University of Kentucky frosh.

The game is scheduled for 5:45 p.m.
