IRC Flood Relief Drive For Holland Totals $163

Donations amounting to $163.83 were collected for the flood ravaged little country of Holland during the IRC flood relief drive sponsored by the International Relations club, which received a telegram from their national office in New York about two weeks ago informing the organization that similar drives would be conducted on college campuses all over the nation where International Relations clubs are located. The three European countries recently struck by floods, England, Belgium, and the Netherlands will receive the proceeds from these nation-wide drives.

SIU's Smallest Building Has Unusual Background

By Sue Alice Martin

The size of Southern's smallest permanent building certainly does not indicate its usefulness through the past half century.

This square "dollar-house" building, built in 1900, is shaded by trees and shrubs. It is surrounded by windows with wooden casement frames and its shingled roof has a cupola at the very top make one think of gingerbread men, and its primness. It is made up of a combination of brick and stone like Wheeler library and Old Main.

It was built in 1900 to house the new engine and pump that were installed when 300 foot artesian well was drilled. This was to insure an adequate water supply for the campus drinking fountain and the Virginia and also as security against fire. The burning of the original Old Main was still within their memories. The water tank is in the tower of Old Main east end.

At that time the water supply for the city was just being built. A corporate group called the Citizens Water, Light, and Power Company was organized in 1907 and operated the water system until 1925.

In 1908 Louis C. Petersen became director of the newly created municipal training department. It was located on the second floor of Altgeld Hall and he needed some place for his forge. It was placed in the pump house. President Parkinson laughingly said that the "forge surely couldn't start any fire there. So for some years the pump house served a dual purpose as the campus blacksmith shop.

WHEN the need for a separate water system and a blacksmith shop disappeared, the little house was usually filled with stored things. It was a machine shop for a while. Then at times it was just empty.

During one of its periods of neglect, President Lay noticed it. Time had made the old pump house useless and also made it quaint. Dr. Lay decided to have it repaired for his use as a study. The Physical Plant got busy and reshingled it, put in shelves for Dr. Lay's books, and made heat available. Dr. Lay carried the one key to it which is said to have been identified by a tag which read, "President Lay's Summer White House."

IN JUNE, 1949, the old pump house had another change and varied career. It was turned from a President's haven to a home for hamsters. Dr. Charles Foot, associate professor of zoology, was doing research with a colony of Syrian hamsters and was much in need of an animal house.

There are still around 20 hamsters living there. John Hopper, Johnson City, helps care for them. At one time there were almost 200 of them. Many students have worked with them and six graduate theses have been written on the experiments conducted there.

With the Life Science Building almost a reality, the end of the building's use as an animal house is not far away. If the past foretells the future, however, someone is sure to find that they have a need for Southern's smallest building.

Three Artists To Appear In Concert Wednesday

Jesus Maria Sanroma, one of America's most brilliant pianists, will be featured along with two other famous artists and the Gershwin Concert Orchestra when he presents a Gershwin Festival here Wednesday, March 4 at 8 p. m. in Shryock auditorium.

Besides Sanroma's performance of the "Concerto in F" and "Rhapsody in Blue" with the 25 musician orchestra, the program will feature soloists Theodor Uppman, baritone, and Carolyn Long, soprano.

Uppman will recently chosen to create the title role of Benjamin Britten's new opera, "Billy Budd" at Covent Garden in London and scored a personal triumph. He and Miss Long, star of opera and operetta, will give their interpretations of Gershwin's immortal songs and duets.

Lorin Mazel, dynamic young conductor, well known for his appearance with famous symphony orchestras, will lead the hand-picked company of instrumentalists.

Goldwyn Follics. Both Miss Long and Uppman will present, "Soon," from "Strike Up the Band," and "Wonderful," from "Funny Face."

The final presentation will be "Rhapsody in Blue" by Sanroma and the orchestra. Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" has become a mile-post and turning post in the development of American music. There was no set plan in his mind when he composed this selection, only a purpose to dispense the feeling about the limitation of jazz, that it was bound to dance rhythms. His "Rhapsody in Blue" is his only serious work not orchestrated by him, circumstances demanding that Ferde Grofe do the instrumentation.

Admission to the concert will be by activity tickets for SIU students.

This is the last in a series of concerts sponsored by the Carbondale Community Concert Association.

Symphony Orchestra To Premier Piece by Mueller

"Three Themes of Orchestra" by Robert Mueller of the SIU music department will be presented in its premier performance next Tuesday evening beginning at 8:15 in Shryock auditorium. The premier piece will be presented by the Southern Illinois Symphony orchestra in a concert under the direction of Dr. Mauris Kenar, chairman of the music department.

Mueller composed "Piano Suite" which was played last spring by the same orchestra. His "Three Themes for Orchestra" is what may be termed a "revel" against the theory of modern times that a piece of music must be complex to be good, according to Mueller.

Soloist for tomorrow night's concert will be Mrs. Edith Garrison, soprano from Mt. Vernon, Miss Garrison has appeared on her own radio show over the radio station WMMX in Mt. Vernon and has sung parts in various concerts.

Members of the Southern Illinois Symphony orchestra total 67 and include SIU students, instructors, and musicians from the surrounding area. The orchestra presented the same program which is scheduled for GABRIELE Kleitner, left, and Gerd Schober, recreational directors in Bavaria, Germany, who are spending a two-week visit in Carbondale. Gabriele is impressed by the large number of students enrolled here at SIU and by the large number of state-financed schools in the state.

Pep Song Contest To Close Monday, Award Set At $50

Monday is the deadline for all entries in the Southern pep song contest sponsored by the Egyptian, the Student Council, the Office of Student Affairs, and this year's Homecoming steering committee.

A fifty dollar prize will be awarded the owner of the best song submitted. Any student, alum, faculty member, or employee of SIU is eligible to compete.

Deadline for the contest was originally set for the end of February, but the committee members felt that there were not enough entries at that time to warrant a fair judging.

To date, there are 13 entries in the contest and all but two of the entrants have furnished original lyrics to go with the words they submitted. The contest, however, is only concerned with words for a pep or fight song for the school. Arrangements have been made for music to be written after the words are submitted. The contest, however, is only concerned with words for a pep or fight song for the school.

Requirement for entries are that the entrant need only submit words along with an entry blank for each set submitted. Entry blanks may be obtained at the Egyptian office or at the office of Student Affairs. Entries may be turned in to either of these offices or left in the Letters to the Editor box in the corridors of Old Main.

The Egyptian will announce the winner of the contest as soon as the judging committee makes its selection.

Personnel Office Moves

The personnel office has moved from the second floor of Shryock auditorium to 821 S. University Ave., former H. H. H. room, at Marston. The reason for the change is that the offices at Shryock did not provide adequate space.

German Visitors Observe US Teenage Activities

"Half the world does not know how the other half lives," wrote Francois Rabeltz. Perhaps that was true in the sixteenth century, but people are more standardized now.

At least, Gerd Schober of Bavaria, Germany, says that teenagers in the United States differ very slightly from those in Germany.

Schober and Miss Gabriele Kleitner, also of Bavaria, are completing a two-week stay in Carbondale. They are recreational directors in their country. In the United States, they are observing the operation and financing of youth activities.

THE TITLE recreational director can't be translated definitely," Schober said. "We're something between a farm adviser and a public recreation director. Our salaries are paid by the local government," he continued. They work with young people between the ages of 10 and 25.

Miss Kleitner, petite and brunette, lives near Munich. She was impressed by the large number of students enrolled at Southern and by the number of state-financed schools in the state.

She has a brother who studies law in Munich. "They have beautiful dormitories there," she recalled. "Every four boys share a kitchen and do their own cooking."

An enthusiastic cook, Miss Kleitner spoke longingly of the wonderful kitchen facilities that American women have.

Schober lives near the Czechoslovakia border on the fringe of the iron curtain. "I haven't even time to get a haircut," Schober said. "We're probably not any more aware of it than you are over here," he said. "It is so much a part of our lives that it has become common to us." he explained. "We know we can only travel one way, west, as easy."

Schober, whose hobby is photography, has a perfect command of our language.

They said they liked the "very friendly attitude" of people in Carbondale.

Not Far Off

Spring term is in sight, and Southern is stirring after a long winter's nap. Spring term—birds, and grass and trees wake up; courting hands on campus; clubs plan parties and dances; and a new regime takes over student offices.

Ag Department Expands Greatly in Recent Years

Until the end of World War II, the Agriculture department owned about sixty acres immediately south of the campus. Since that time, the experimental farm has grown up to 1,000 acres, not only south but extending southwest of campus also.

Buildings that have been constructed on SIU's 1000 acres which in mind are machine sheds, hay racks, possible cornbuses, possible hog houses, portable poultry houses, and open beef cattle barns, one of which is pictured above.

WOODS also states that there are only four things that can be put into any farm business or enterprise—land, labor, capital, and management. One of the important items of capital to farmers today is the building involved.

One of the buildings which has been constructed was donated by people interested in poultry. This building accommodates about 750 laying hens. It is as practical, pleasing to the eye, and very economical at only 90 cents per square foot of floor space.

Bridges Begins To Plan Civil Defense Meeting

A regional committee headed by Frank Bridges, coordinator of area civil defense, in consultation with Merle Moore, coordinator for civil defense, in schools of Illinois, has launched plans this week to hold an all-day civil defense orientation conference for county and community organizations on May 12 here at Southern.

THE CONFERENCE committee plans to bring more than 250 lay persons together to explain to them the need for a strong defense program in this area and how to set up programs in individual counties and communities.

This will be the first time that a civil defense organization conference has been held for a rural area, according to Dr. Bridges. "I have never confidence in the people of this area but I believe we can accomplish in one day what urban orientation programs take from three days to one week to get across," Dr. Bridges comments.

Fifty-Five Students Play In Winter Band Concert

Southern's Concert Band, under the direction of Phillip Olsson with Robert Resnick, assistant conductor, presented its annual concert last night. The concert was presented in Shroyck Auditorium at 8 p. m.

The various numbers which were presented were: Jovous Interlude by Dai-Keong Lee; Hymn and Fuguing Tune No. 1 by Henry Cowell; First Suite in E Flat composed by Gustav Holst; Chorale and Fugue by Robert Kelly; Serenade in minor, W. A. Mozart; The Blue-Tailed Hawk by Clara F. Grundman; and Headlines by Carlton Colby.

DAI-KEONG Lee, composer of "Jovous Interlude," is a young Hawaiian-American who has been recognized as one of the most talented of the younger generation of composers. His "Jovous Interlude," which is a short, brightly scored work, was written directly for the Goldman Band, and received its first performance at a Goldman Band concert under the direction of Richard E. Clarke.

"Hymn and Fuguing Tune No. 1" by Henry Cowell has a fresh melodic line. Cowell's interest in the band as a new medium of expression has resulted in many works of extraordinary interest.

"FIRST SUITE IN E FLAT," wrote this number specifically for band and is founded on old English country tunes. It is said to be a transcription of an English military band.

"SERENADE IN C MINOR" by the renowned Alonzo was composed to be performed out of doors. This work contains the four movements usually found only in the more serious quartets and symphonies of Mozart. Serenade in C minor was written about 1782.

"THE BLUE-TAILED HAWK" by Clara F. Grundman, is a true novelty song based on George Gershwin's "The Blue-Tailed Hawk." "Headlines" by Carlton Colby is a highly original and impressive reflection of the violent pace of modern life. This selection was written to reflect on a cross section of life from the standpoint of a press room surrounding the election of a new human struggle, grinding out "Headlines."

Southern Ends Cage Season

It's the end of the road tonight for the 1953-54 Salukis who wind up their cage season against a tough Indiana State five from Terre Haute.

The game is scheduled to get underway in the SIU gym at 8:15. A preliminary game is slated at 6:30 between the Southern reserves and an independent team from Bonnie, Emie Bozarth, a former SIU star, will play for Bonnie.

Tonight's contest will be the last college action for two graduating seniors, Captain Chuck Thate and John Cherry. Both have played all 23 previous games this season. Thate at center and Cherry at guard.

OTHER LIKELY starters for tonight's finale are Rex Rippelmeyer and Bob Nickolas at forward and Harvey Welch as the other guard.

This will be the only meeting between SIU and Indiana State this season. Southern took on the Hoosiers in the first game of the 1951-52 card and lost 40-45. In 14 previous games the Salukis have won five, the Hoosiers nine.

The Salukis have played tough opponents all season and tonight's game will not change the pattern. The Hoosiers have won 17 and lost six.

INCLUDED in their list of victims is Eastern Illinois, a squad that whipped Southern twice. The Hoosiers dropped Eastern twice by scores of 77-67 and 71-67.

Like the Salukis, the Hoosiers split a pair with Evansville, Southern beat the Aces 66-60 and lost 72-64. Indiana State lost its first game with Evansville 79-74, but won the rematch 80-65.

Other common opponents are Northern Illinois and Washington of St. Louis. SIU whipped Northern twice by 73-62 and 96-78; scores while the Hoosiers lost to the Huskies 72-64. The Salukis took 62-57 and 59-51 decisions from Washington. Indiana State beat the Bears 63-58.

Besides their losses to Northern and Evansville, the Hoosiers have been stopped twice by Butler, and once each by Ball State and Indiana Central.

The Hoosiers' attack is paced by two seniors, Dick Atch and Roger Adkins, who are both averaging 15 points per game. At center will be Sam Hines, a senior sophomore, who is averaging 10. The forwards will be Jim Crockett, a junior averaging 12, and Basil Streddo, a senior averaging nine points per game.

Tonight's tilt will be the final game of the season for Indiana State.

Southern's Statistics

Sophomore Ray Rippelmeyer was the top scorer for Southern in 12 IAC games. He tallied 195 points for an average of 16.2.

Rippelmeyer led the team in lay-ups with 72 and in free throws with 51.

The Salukis, who lost five straight league contests to wind up with a 5-7 record, scored two points less than their opponents. Southern made 86 1/2 points for a game average of 71.91, compared with their opponents' 86 1/2 total for an average of 72.08.

CHUCK THATE AND JOHN CHERRY

Southern Wins Via Overtime

Led by Bud Rippelmeyer, who scored 15 points and Jacques Theriot, who played some great ball on the Huskies 72-64. The Salukis took 62-57 and 59-51 decisions from Washington. Indiana State beat the Bears 63-58.

The game started off rather even with Southern controlling the tip and captain Thate scoring the first field goal, a hook shot over the head of Bob Kova the Millikin big gun.

In the overtime there was no score for 2 minutes then Jacques Theriot, our great clutch player, drove in for a lay-up and came right back a minute later with a 15 foot jump shot that put Southern 4 points ahead. After a field goal by Millikin, Welch scored a free throw which proved to be the icing on the cake.

Final score Southern 75, Millikin 72.

IIAC Schedule To Be Changed For Cage Games

IIAC cage games will be played on Saturday and Monday in 1953-54 instead of on Friday and Saturday, conference athletic directors have decided.

SIU's Glenn "Abie" Martin, chairman of the conference athletic directors, said: "It was the opinion of the group that the one-day break between games while on the road would give players more rest and also reduce the possibility of conflict with high school schedules where conference schools use high school gymnasiums."

With only one weekend of league play remaining this season, only ten of 39 conference games have been won by visiting teams.

The one exception to the new Saturday-Monday schedule next season will be the opening league game on Thursday, Dec. 17, with Eastern Illinois at St. Louis.

Wrestlers Face Rugged Match With Lakesmen

Southern's wrestlers will face their sternest test so far, when they meet the Great Lakes team here next week. The sailors boast one of the best men's wrestling teams in the area in 147 pound Don Hodges.

According to SIU wrestling coach Wilkinson, the white has been a key player in talent in all weights. The Lakes team is not restricted in their search for talent as most colleges, they have men from the entire country to pick from.

The grapplers do have a defeatist attitude however. They expect to give the Great Lakes a run for their money. Coach Wilkinson stated that the Lakesmen are in fact rough night especially in the lower weight divisions.

The match will be held at 7:30 Thursday night. It is the last one of this year.

Physical Ed Dept. Receives Thanks From Indonesians

SIU received a letter of thanks from the University of Indonesia for help given them by the SIU athletic department in setting up a physical education program.

Cecil Franklin, acting chairman of Southern's department of physical education for men, drew up plans for developing the program at the request of the Academy of Physical Education at the Indonesian university. Franklin sent sports program outlines dealing in everything from table tennis to touch football. The SIU physical plant also sent some equipment.

H. W. Gourdin in charge of the physical education department at the distant college thanked Franklin for his help and requested any further possible assistance.
