The shows will begin at 8 p. m. both nights. President Morris will present the service to Southern Award, granted annually by Theta Xi to a man and woman who have shown outstanding ability in serving Southern through extra-curricular activities. Morris will make the presentation during the Friday night show.

The 18th annual variety show will feature individual and group acts, which are given in a separate story on this page. Acts for the show were picked at tryouts Monday and Wednesday nights and the winners next week will be judged Saturday night.

The group taking first place will be awarded a traveling trophy and an inscribed silver bowl. Second and third trophies will also be given. Individual first and second place winners will also receive trophies.

The variety show began in 1942 and was a show which included talent from all classes.

Anthony, who has the 5:15 p. m. newscast Monday through Friday on KMOX, is acknowledged as one of the finest "commercial" salesmen in St. Louis radio. He has been with KMOX five years, and is currently highlighted as master of ceremonies on "Night Sounds." He also serves as emcee for the CBS network show, "Summer in St. Louis."

Marilyn Monroe returns to the Movie Hour screen on campus tonight as the color and cinemascope production of "Bus Stop" opens the weekend movie program.

Also in color and cinemascope, this film is the story of four bandits, fleeing from a posse, who hole up for a night in a deserted ghost town. A tense, dramatic game of cross and double cross begins, for they distrust each other more than they hate their pursuers.

Report to the Financial Assistance Center after he has received his fee statement to discuss his financial situation. He must take his fee statement with him.

The Financial Assistance Center will retain the signed statement and the student's fee statement.

The student's registration will be considered as closed.

The student may receive his fee statement card and No. three program card on the first day of the Spring quarter at the Bursar's Office.

He must pay his fees to the Bursar by 4 p. m. April 11. Failure to do so will result in his being withdrawn from school by the Registrar's Office for failure to pay his fees. No extension in time will be granted.

Rules Change For SIU Ugly Men

Revised rules have been issued by Alpha Phi Omega for this year's Ugly Man On Campus contest, sponsored annually by the fraternity. Lad Kugler, contest chairman, said the new rules are an attempt to overcome the apathetic response by the student body to last year's contest.

In an attempt to equalize the voting power of the various sponsoring agencies, the contest will be divided into two phases. First, there will be a primary election in which all candidates will run; at the end of the primary, a run-off between the candidates who received the most votes in each of the nine divisions will be held.

Proceeds from this year's contest, for which voting is on the basis of one-cent per vote, will go to the winner's favorite charity. The winner will be announced at the first annual UMOC Dance, to be held at Lentz Hall April 2.

Editors' Opinions

A Look At ROTC

A move to abolish compulsory ROTC, initiated in colleges and universities throughout the nation, has reached its peak in the current wave of pacifism in the larger midwestern universities.

It seems logical that students taking ROTC training on their own initiative probably have strong inclinations toward advanced training.

On the other hand ROTC cannot be regarded as a "farce." ROTC training, by no means, is something to be passed off gaily.

Eliminating the Army and Navy viewpoints on the program, and concentrating on the Air Force which is the major concern at Southern, it should be pointed out that the Air Force accepts about 1,000 officers from the ROTC programs in the next ten years.

It would discredit the entire program and university, however, if any rash and illogical steps were taken by students and officials.

The case against compulsory ROTC also is strengthened by moral reasons. The current attitudes toward basic ROTC is that it is to be tolerated.

cause there is no adequate space in which to do the work. "It is my unhappy duty to say to you that we are not ready at the University of Illinois for the critical situation.

"Proud as we are of what has been done in the past, we must seek public understanding of the great needs now upon us. Only prompt and unprecedented action can prevent a limitation of educational opportunity or a diminution of quality of educational service or both.

"A bond issue proposal will again be on the ballot in 1960. Many issues other than the future of the University will be involved. However, the point must be drawn here that the future of the University will be greatly affected by the outcome.

THE SEARCH FOR BRIDEY SIGAFOOS It was a dullish evening at the Theta house. The pledges were down in the catacombs; the actives were sacked out upstairs, not doing much of anything.

"No," said the sorors, shaking their little sausage curls. "Think, everybody, think!" said Dolores and passed Marlboro cigarettes to each of them.

"Yes, excellency," said Allice, bobbing a curtsy. "One, two, three," said Dolores. "Allice promptly went into a trance."

Now Geraldine Quindone, her drooping chin oval swivelled by a gas of Marlboro, laid up and cried, "Oh, I have a perfect gasser of an idea! Let the hypnotist somebody!"

"Oh, capital!" cried the sorors. "Oh, single-making!" At this point, in walked a young pledge named Allice Bluegown. "Excuse me, mistresses," said she, tugging her kneeboots.

"Yes," snapped Dolores Vladnay. "When I count to three, you will be hypnotized." "Yes, excellency," said Allice, bobbing a curtsy.

"Go back to your fifth birthday, back to your child hood. Go back to your first incarnation... Now, who are you?" "My name is Bridey Sigafnos," said Allice. "The year is 1958, and I am in County Cork!"

"Who's a girl?" said Allice. "I'm a black and white gummy!" "Coo!" said the sorors. "How old are you?" asked Dolores. "I am seven," said Allice. "Where is your mother?" asked Dolores. "I don't know," said Allice. "She got sold at the fair last year."

We, the makers of Marlboro, have our doubts about this story. About cigarettes, however, we hold our hands to be still—entirely Marlboro for filter smokers, Philip Morris for non-filter smokers. Try some.

Bond Issue President Henry Stresses Need For Appropriations

(Editor's Note: The following is another in the series of letters from the Illinois college and universities concerning the bond issue proposal. The contents below are by President David D. Henry, University of Illinois, which were included in the report presented by him in December, 1959.)

"This year is the third in which the subject of a bond issue referendum and its meaning to the University of Illinois has been discussed.

"In 1957, I stated that the proposal for a bond issue to create a fund of state buildings, was a practical proposal to supplement existing appropriations with borrowed money for the purpose of accelerating the building program, that it was a sound proposal to enable the state to pay for buildings while they were being used and at current prices, and that it would also give the State a little longer time to work out an improved revenue structure for both operating and capital budgets.

"In 1958, I reported the results of the election. The referendum was endorsed by a majority of those voting, but the plurality was not sufficient to overcome the failure of 689,333 people who voted in the general election to mark the bond issue ballot. Had one-half of those voters marked their ballots on the bond issue and divided evenly, the referendum would have carried. It is both ironic and tragic that the fate of our universities should be determined by those not voting!

"I also reported a year ago that the building needs of the University remained exactly as they were before the election, that they were serious and that only prompt and effective action by the legislature could prevent a deterioration in quality of service and a failure to meet rising enrollment and other mounting obligations.

Skip Courses

Exams Aid All Students

When the new system of proficiency examinations announced to the Student Council last week goes into effect, both high school students and those already in college will be able to gain credit through it.

The plan, which has been approved by the SIU Faculty Council and President Delyte W. Morris, was outlined to the Council by Bill Berry, member of a special committee set up to study proficiency examinations.

By scoring high enough on the tests, a student will be allowed to skip elementary courses, receive credit for them, and go on with the study of more advanced courses. Berry told the Council the plan may go into effect this fall.

Sixteen hours of credit are ordinarily accepted through proficiency examinations. The credit is considered non-resident by the university, will not carry a grade, and will not be used in computing grade point averages. When the plan is put into effect here, credits granted at other colleges and universities will be accepted by Southern.

High school students must score a grade of at least three (credit-able) to get credit. They should take the examinations through the College Examination Examinations Board, New York.

Qualified college students may take the tests in most academic courses for credit at the 100 and 200 course level. Students taking the examinations must demonstrate competency expected of others who have taken the course.

To accomplish this, the student must score in the upper 10 per cent on an acceptable standardized test of scholastic aptitude, take formal course work in the subject, or have practical experience or studies directly related to the course.

Berry told the Council a faculty-student committee will be established to assist the registrar, academic deans and department chairmen in getting the program started.

15 Counselors For Blind Begin Study

Fifteen counselors for the blind representing 10 states began a six-week program to acquaint them with employment opportunities recently at SIU.

The program, fourth of its kind, is designed to help the counselors establish programs of training and to help provide a knowledge of tools and methods of industry so they may develop employment opportunities for blind persons in competitive occupations according to Louis Virelli, coordinator of SIU's Rehabilitation Institute.

The counselors spend two weeks on the SIU campus, two weeks in and Miss Terry is sponsored by Delta Zeta.

actual industry in East St. Louis and St. Louis, and return to the campus here for a final two weeks.

They will receive three three-hour sessions in the Auto and Machine shops at VTI, and in the Wood Products Pilot Plant. "We show them the opportunities in industry, explain the equipment, run the machines for them, and let them run any they can and want to," said W. W. Rice, coordinator of Wood Products Pilot Plant.

The program this time has drawn two representatives from Massachusetts, two from Pennsylvania, and one each from Idaho, Iowa, Georgia, Louisiana, Ohio, Rhode Island, Wisconsin and Texas.

The Department of Art schedules constantly-changing exhibitions of painting, sculpture, crafts, photographs, and prints in its Gallery in the Allyn Building.

Debate Takes State Titles

State titles were won by speakers in competition with teams from 15 other schools at Illinois Interscholastic Oratorical Assn. contest Saturday at Illinois State Normal University. Keith Sanders, Benton, winner of first place in the men's oratory division, will represent Illinois at a regional meet at Michigan State University, which will pit speakers from 16 states late in April.

The other first place winners from SIU were Sharon Lovelless at Mattoon, women's extemporaneous speaking, and Kent Brantson, Carbondale, men's extemporaneous speaking. A fourth-place in women's oratory went to Galverne Kopp, another SIU student from Benton.

Among schools entered in the contest were Bradley, Wheaton, Millikin, Illinois Wesleyan, Illinois College and the University of Illinois.

THREE FACULTY WOMEN AT CHICAGO MEET

Dr. Anna Carol Fults, chairman of the home economics education department at SIU, and two members of her faculty, Mrs. Vesta Morgan and Miss Hazel Crain, attended a recent Central Regional Conference for Teacher Educators in Home Economics, Dr. Fults addressed the conference on the subject "Strengthening the Student Teaching Program."

The state General Assembly appropriates financial support to the University on a "top-up" basis. Most of the money comes from state tax revenues.

Safety Education

Winter Driving Problems

There are three chief problems with the way most people drive in the winter, says James E. Aaron, lecturer of safety education at SIU.

Aaron recently returned from studies on the subject at what is called the "coldest classroom on the continent"—on the frozen surface of Pine Lake, at Clintonville, Wis.

There, he joined representatives from various universities and colleges in researching into problems of winter driving. The idea is to pass these long to driving instructors in the nation's high schools.

The group found that most drivers commit three bad errors in the winter, says Aaron: "When a car begins to 'fishtail' on the ice, people tend to panic. 'Most people jump on the brake," says Aaron, "Locking the brakes and throwing the car completely out of control. Then, although this, they tend to undercorrect or overcorrect the situation, either of which can throw the car into a skid."

Sudden acceleration. In winter driving this is dangerous, Aaron pointed out, because it causes a car to go into what is known as a "power skid."

Many people, says Aaron, are under the impression that by pumping the brakes, they cut down on the car's stopping distance. That, he says, is not true in winter driving, although pumping the brakes as opposed to slamming them on, does offer better control of the vehicle.

It was the 12th year such winter tests have been held at Clintonville, under auspices of the National Safety Council. Pine Lake was frozen to a depth of 15 inches when it served as a classroom.

In addition to giving driver education teachers and supervisors the last word on how to go on ice and snow, tests were also made of school and university buses, effect of windshield wiper arm pressure on visibility, various tires, chains and equipment.

"Each instructor was assigned to a car furnished by automobile manufacturers, each with its own 'test driver,'" Aaron said. "After driving around with him, we put on our own. 'The first experience on ice is one of apprehension,'" he said, "but we learned fast."

Why the classroom on the frozen lake? "So teachers will know what they're talking about when they start teaching high school students how to drive in winter weather," says Aaron. "Right now, it's something new as far as education goes. Not many schools have winter driving as part of their driver education training."

GENERAL INFORMATION
 Examinations for 3, 4 and 5-credit-hour classes will begin at the hours scheduled and will run for two hours. Examinations for one and two-credit-hour classes will begin two hours and 10 minutes later and will run for one hour. For example, a 9 o'clock class carrying four hours of credit will have its examination from 7:50 to 9:50 a. m. on Tuesday, March 15. A 9 o'clock class carrying two hours of credit will have its examination from 10 to 11 a. m.

A student who finds he has more than three examinations on one day may petition, and a student who has two examinations at one time should petition, his academic dean for approval to take an examination during the make-up examination period on the last day. Provision for such a make-up examination period does not mean that the student is excused to miss his scheduled examination time and expect to make it up during this make-up period. This is to be used only for a student whose petition has been approved by his dean.

A student who must miss a final examination may not take an examination before the time scheduled for the class examination. In the event a student misses a final examination and is not involved in a situation covered by the preceding paragraph, a "W" will be placed on the student's record with a "12" indicating the number of weeks attended, should be recorded on the grade report by the instructor. A "W" grade must be completed within one year of the end of the quarter involved; otherwise, it must remain as an incomplete grade.

A special note needs to be made relative to examinations for evening sections for those classes which have been granted a special time for examining all sections. Those students attending at night may not be able to attend the special examination period scheduled for the daytime, each department involved will have to arrange special examination periods for such students. This problem involves those night students who are fully employed during the day and who are taking night courses because it is the only time they are able to do so.

Film On Sweitzer Sunday

A feature-length film biography of the Nobel Peace Prize winner who has achieved world renown as a philosopher, theologian, missionary, physician, organizer and as a man who has devoted his life to service to others—Albert Sweitzer—will be shown here Sunday.

Presented by the Southern Film Society, the movie, titled "Albert Sweitzer," won the 1958 Motion Picture Academy Award for the best documentary film. Dr. Sweitzer himself wrote the narrative and appears throughout the film. The picture traces his life from birth and brings him through the time of his decision, at the age of 30, to start his jungle hospital.

The second half of the film, which is narrated by Frederic March and Burgess Meredith, shows a typical day at Lamaha, where Dr. Sweitzer makes his hospital rounds. He welcomes a group of native families who have come to live at the settlement while their sick relative is being treated, and visits a leper village where he supervises and helps with the construction of new huts roofed with tin provided by his Nobel Prize money.

Musical score throughout the movie is by Alec Wilder.

The movie will be shown twice Sunday, at 2 and 8:30 p. m. Both shows are to be in Morris Library Auditorium. Admission is 40 cents general admission, and 25 cents for students with activity cards.

Physical facilities of the center and sketches of plans for future modernization will be on display during the open house. Visitors will receive a brochure, prepared by the Faculty Center Board, giving requirements for membership, fee schedules and benefits.

Ralph Bedwell, Small Business Institute head and chairman of the Center Board, said the center will provide "a home away from home, a place for faculty members to relax between classes." The Center is scheduled to officially open April 1.

The completely air-conditioned Center is a two-story slant structure of modern styling. Plans are to have a formal lounge, card room, kitchen, dining rooms and a men's lounge and a women's lounge on the upper floor. The ground floor will have a larger informal lounge, a snack bar and a game room.

The Center, which was first mentioned as a project about eight years ago, will extend club hours and food services as membership increases, according to Bedwell. The Club will also plan various social activities throughout the year.

The Center site was purchased by the SIU Foundation, and has been leased by the University Faculty Board.

The Board will enroll members during the month of March, and a board of directors for the Center will be elected before the April opening.

Illini, Minnesota Gymnasts Meet Salukis Here Tonight

Bill Meade and his Saluki gymnastic squad face one of their toughest assignments of the season tonight as they host the University of Illinois and the University of Minnesota.

The meet will be the final home meet of the season and will begin at 7:30 p. m. "We'll beat Southern from two to 20 points this time," claims Charlie Pond, venerable coach of the University of Illinois gymnastics team.

Pond, who brings his Illini to SIU Friday for a double dual with the Salukis and Minnesota, is still smarting from Southern's 58 1/2-53 1/2 win at Champaign earlier this year.

"I had counted on making it seven straight over Bill Meade's Hoehner, seventh in the NCAA all-around competition last year. Coach Ralph Piper's crew has scored wins over Michigan, Western Illinois, Navy Pier, West Nebraska, and Air Force Academy. Losses were to Iowa, Illinois and Michigan State twice.

The Gophers, fifth last season on a limb. His remarkable record at Illinois keeps the limb from cracking.

Pond's Illini have won 10 straight Big Ten crowns a season with the meet, have an have won or shared four NCAA titles. They have lost only 16 of 102 dual meets and only five of the last four seasons. His predictions of Big Ten and NCAA titles in 1959-58 came true.

This season is the first time since 1936 that the Illini have lost more than two dual meets in a season. Beside the loss to SIU, Illinois has been defeated by Michigan State, 65 1/2-46 1/2, and Iowa, 61-61 (the Spartans beat the Hawkeyes 60-52, and Iowa won, 67-45). Illinois will be paced by Capt. Pat Eird, Ray Hadley and John Salter. Bird and Hadley scored the only Illini firsts in the Feb. 2 meeting with the Salukis, winning still rings and free exercise respectively.

Illinois will bring a 6-3 record to the meet.

Minnesota's Gophers bring a veteran squad and a 6-4 record to the meet. Paced by Capt. Duane Hoehner, seventh in the NCAA all-around competition last year, Coach Ralph Piper's crew has scored wins over Michigan, Western Illinois, Navy Pier, West Nebraska, and Air Force Academy. Losses were to Iowa, Illinois and Michigan State twice.

Swimmers Close Fine Season Against North Central Here

Southern's swimmers end their dual season tomorrow with a home meet against North Central here. Meet time is 2 p. m. in the University School Pool.

Coach Ralph Casey's Salukis have won six straight meets since losing to Indiana in the season opener. They have broken or equaled 23 records this year and are expected to get more against the potential Cardinals.

The Cardinals, who defeated the Salukis 50-36 in the season finale at Naperville last year, lost their first meet of the year last weekend to the University of Illinois.

North Central, led by Dick Blick, ruined SIU's finale last year with a spectacular performance at NCC.

"They also have a number of other individual standouts; Ernie Alix who is a butterfly and individual medley specialist, and a Hickman, their backstroke, is a fine swimmer," said Casey.

"We've finished ahead of the Cardinals in both the AAU and Loyola Relays already this year, but this was about the same last year when our Indianapolis Athletic Club.

Charlie Leads Dogs Past Ind; IIAC Title On Line Tonight

By Roy Jacob Sports Editor

Jump-shooting Charlie Vaughn led the Saluki basketball team to its fifth consecutive victory and its eighth victory in the last nine starts Monday over Indiana State 29-7.

The Salukis actually looked sluggish at times in the game, but still managed to hit 483 from the field and 20 for 22 on the charity line.

Vaughn, hitting on his long, fall-away jumps, hit 11 for 21 from the field on his way to scoring 27 points in the 30 minutes he played.

Tonight, the Salukis are at Western Illinois in an attempt to wrap up the IIAC crown. The Salukis guaranteed themselves at least a share of the crown last weekend with a victory over Northern. Should the Salukis get stopped at Western this evening, they will have another chance tomorrow night at Illinois State Normal.

A victory either night would wrap up Southern's first cage title in 10 years.

The Salukis started off cold Monday night, the final home game of the year. Indiana State jumped off to a 4-0 lead when Jim Gualdoni's lay up on an opening shot above the crown last weekend with a victory over Northern.

The Salukis, who defend their IIAC conference title March 4-5, Cardinals in both the AAU and Loyola Relays already this year, but this was about the same last year when our Indianapolis Athletic Club.

action in the last half. The victory marked the second straight year that the Salukis finished with a 21-state at home. The only home defeats in the past two years have come at the hands of Kentucky Wesleyan.

The victory also pushed Southern's season mark to 18-6.

Vaughn's 27-point output added to the season's record he broke Saturday night against Northern Illinois. Charlie has now pumped in 628 points in 24 games for a 27-point per-game average.

McGreal had a good night from the floor as he tallied 16 points. Gualdoni, probably wondering what basketball has against him, again gathered, only six points. McClary hit the two figure mark with a 12-point production.

Either Western or Normal or both could knock the Dogs off this weekend. In the first meeting this season here, the Salukis jumped on Western, 36-24, to rub out an 85-78 loss to the Leathstock in the finals of the Quincy Holiday Tournament. A forfeit of 94-92 win over Western (for using an ineligible player) last year cost the Salukis the title by a game.

Against Illinois State, defending League champs, the Salukis came away with a 90-86 win. Since then the Redbirds have won two first line men, center Ron English and forward Jerry Odell, cutting their efficiency considerably. The Redbirds currently are in fifth place in the IIAC with a 5-6 mark.

Indiana State closed the gap to six points after the second half started when Don Andrews hit a two-pointer to put his team within range, 46-39. Don Hepler, having his poorest game in almost a month, broke the early rally with a three-point play and the Salukis, paced by Vaughn's three buckets and McGreal's two, hit 12 straight points to set up the game with a 60-39 lead with 12:15.

With about 10 minutes remaining, Harry Gallatin put his three seniors, Captain Duck Ruggles, Garrison Newsom and Jim Lazebny, in the game for their final appearance on the home floor. Other reserves, Jim Rosser, Larry Essenpreis, "Sonny" Bardo and John Mees also saw considerable
