Hearst jury allowed to hear 'Tania' tapes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The prosecution in Patricia Hearst's bank robbery trial won a critical victory Wednesday when the judge ruled that the jury should be allowed to hear the tape-recorded communications she made as her hostage.

The judge's ruling opens the way for a possible criminal trial of Hearst if the jury returns a guilty verdict in the civil case against her.

On Tuesday, the jury could not reach a decision on whether Hearst was legally entitled to be a defendant in the civil action.

Carter ruled that Hearst's admissions of the bank robbery were freely made, although she had testified that she spoke under threat of death after brutal torture by the Symbionese Liberation Army captors.

In a brief announcement Carter said, "I will find that by the preponderance of the evidence, the government has established that the statements made by the defendant after the happening of the bank robbery, by recording, orally or by writing, were made voluntarily.

Carter said he would elaborate on his ruling in a memorandum later.

The judge's ruling was critical to the government case against Hearst, and government sources had indicated that without it, she could not be convicted under any circumstances.

The judge's decision leaves to the jury the actual question of whether Hearst was forced to participate in the bank robbery with which she is charged. His ruling that her statements were voluntary should be heard by the panel, which will be left to make its own decision during the course of the trial.

The ruling came after two days of testimony out of hearing of the jury—including a dramatic four-hour recital by Hearst of her travels in the radical underground, during which she said she was sexually and mentally tortured into joining her abductors in crimes.

In arguments before Carter ruled, Hearst's lawyers claimed that radical groups would be encouraged to carry out more politically motivated kidnappings if the tape were admitted.

"If the court is willing to let a kidnap victim's statement that was to the benefit of her captors... to be evidence... and have the majority of the federal court put a stamp of approval on this, it would be outrageous," said the chief attorney, F. Lee Bailey.

"She should not be convicted on statements forced from her," he told Carter.

Bailey said he believed admission of the evidence—a tape recording in which Hearst claimed voluntary participation in the Hibernia Bank robbery—would encourage radical groups. and "they abound in this area."

To forestall antisocial statements from kidnap victims.

Bailey also urged the judge to prevent jurors from hearing testimony about Hearst's participation in a Los Angeles shooting incident. "This allows the government to bring in evidence of crimes to dirty up the defendant," Bailey said.

U.S. Attorney James L. Browning, arguing for admission of the disputed tape and testimony, said he believed it was the burden of the defendant to prove (Continued on page 2)
Venezuelan cartoon: Nationalize Kissinger

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — "If Kissinger gets difficult we'll just nationalize him," said a cartoon character in a Caracas newspaper as Latin American nations have escalated their anti-Americanism. The Venezuelan Union issued a communique declaring Kissinger "persons non grata," claiming he was responsible for the alleged U.S. efforts against the moderates in Caracas.

Though a Venezuelan government source Wednesday said the visit is being taking "very seriously," participation in a Los Angeles shooting incident

The judge's ruling allows the government to tell jurors not only of her words but also of her participation in a Los Angeles shooting incident.

The judge who argued for use of this evidence, told the judge he believed her testimony was credible. "Everything this court has heard from Hearst of her coercion in a year and a half is not true," he said. "She would not be penalized for no greater offense than being carried kicking and screaming from one's home by a bunch of crazy people," Bailey declared.

No community opposition to federal grant spending

By Tom Chesser
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

No opposition to the city's proposed spending of $2.7 million in Community Development Block Grant money was heard at Monday's public hearing.

The informal hearing on the spending plan scheduled for 7 p.m. Feb. 16 in the city council chambers at 609 E. College St. If no major opposition is voiced at that time, the city will be asked to approve the plan during the formal meeting following the hearing.

The proposal will then be forwarded to the Greater Egyptian Regional Planning Commission for review before going to the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for the final approval necessary for the release of the money.

Don Monty of Carbondale's community development staff opened the proposed changes in the CDBG application. "The changes are rather minor and don't affect the basic purpose of the application," Monty said.

He said that because of recommendations by HUD, the application will be changed moving the information and regulation from the Human Service Program from a community to an administrative agency category.

Monty said this would further assure the grant money that the grant money was being used to support the function of the program.

Age regulations for housing questioned

By Peggy Sagena
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

As advisory board has been set up by Student Government to study the possibility of allowing freshman and sophomores under the age of 21 to be allowed to live in places other than University approved housing.

"I'm pretty sure this is a step in the right direction," said Bob Klein, junior administrative sciences major. "It's been a long time coming, and I'm glad to see it happen." Bob Klein, junior administrative sciences major.

The board was the result of an idea initiated by Doug Diggle, then serving as student president, who thinks that the age requirement should be changed to age 18 for the mutual benefit of the students.

"Diggle disagrees with a study that indicates that freshman students actually gain by living in the University approved housing," said Jim Jochheim, sophomore in marketing, and Lori Sorensen, a freshman from Bartlett, bounce away from the Jump for Thumpers trampoline marathon at the University Mall. Alpha Tau Omega fraternity is sponsoring the marathon to earn money for the Illinois Heart Association and plans to have at least one person jumping for 100 consecutive hours. "The jumpers will be free to choose the way it wants to go," he said.

J-Board hearings held on frat fight

By Dana Henderson
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

An SIU campus judicial board is investigating the Dec. 6 fight and subsequent gunfire that occurred around the Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity house, 102 Small Group Housing.

"J-Bob hearings conducted Tuesday and Wednesday six persons testified against the Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity," said an SIU Student Conduct Code on the fight of the incident.

Carl Harris, coordinator for the University Student Judicial System and member of the board investigating the incident, said, "If the tape (recordings made of the hearings) reveals the same desecrations, I think I heard (in testimony) other charges will probably be brought.

The board will review the information it's gathered and visit the area around the Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity house before deciding on the charges against the six men. The board hopes to have a final decision by Feb. 17 or 18, Harris said.

Students presently charged with violations of the code are James Hair, senior in administrative sciences, freshman Randy Johnson, Richard Little, senior in sociology, sophomore Leonid Simms, Dexter Goss, sophomores in music, and Baker Howell, senior in social welfare. "I don't know if they are guilty or not," Hair said.

"All six men are charged with physical violence, possession of firearms or intimidation of another person. If found guilty of the charges, they will be subject to disciplinary action by the University ranging from censure to indefinite suspension from the University," Harris said.

Other members of the board conducting the investigation are George Bony, assistant director of Student Affairs, and Barbara Scholl, assistant dean of student life.

Marijuana remains an enigma. Studies done in the United States and in Jamaica indicated that the drug is related to (or is not related to) any number of serious problems. Some of these problems are changes in memory, atrophy, heightened consciousness, loss of memory, increased criminal activity, increased sexual activity, decreased ability to concentrate, reductions in alcohol, depression, euphoria, group sensitivity, but little, widely used in Jamaica for more than 100 years. Up to 60 per cent of all rural, working-class males smoke the drug (mixed with tobacco), averaging seven cigarettes a day. The variety of marijuana they use is exceptionally strong—up to 10.2 per cent THC, or more than twice as strong as the most potent marijuana that can be purchased in the United States. Fewer women smoke the drug, but from 25 to 7 per cent. But no rural men, boys, and other drug users use it in any form, “It’s bad,” one study showed. “The men smoke the drug with an awareness that it is bad but the women do not.”

Welfare abusers

To the Daily Egyptian:

Gov. Reagan has joined the band wagon of "money savers" attacking their favorite straw man-welfare. There are many Vietnam veterans who you won't find corruption, graft, or waste. If you had read "Constitutional Affairs" you would have discovered that there are three whites. In Illinois, for example, 5 per cent of the welfare recipients are eligible. Poverty has not been a "those people" problem; it's a "we, the people" problem which will not be resolved by cutbacks to punish the abusers.

People are a nation's real resource. With as much work that needs doing in the U.S., jobs can be created. It'll be costly at first, but far less than the continued waste of our national resource.

Nelson J. Williams, Jr. Medical student

An apology to students for musical deprivation

To the Daily Egyptian:

I should like to apologize to the SIU student body for the deprivation of music it will succumb to this semester. Constitutional Affairs will fulfill only one more musical event. As pathetically pointed out in previous letters, no tavern in town now offers an atmosphere conducive to music performing.

Show is booked every evening from mid-March until the end of the semester, not solely by organizations catering-to graduating recitals. These like to use this beautiful hall, constructed for 1,257 people, to play for parents, relatives, and friends. We have little interest in them.

Thank heaven for those graduates who are not so selfish and allow the auditorium to serve hundreds of hundreds of other groups. We have no other small halls on campus.

The Student Center facilities are also booked every weekend from the end of the semester. No dances or bands, there either. One organization has greedily taken classrooms each and every week. What? Why? The SIU Arena seems to be doing a good job for Southern Illinois residents and their kids, while ignoring the 17-25 year old age bracket. Isn't this a university facility? Shouldn't it cater, also, to university people since we pay such outrageous extracurricular fees, and don't we deserve the best, too? Top bands, I feel (and I do not believe I am alone) do emphatically not serve the student body.

With so many programming bodies on campus serving the various tastes, I cannot comprehend why groups serving minor factions of the whole populace feel that they are entitled to the large facilities.

This office has attempted to present entertainment of various tastes, but, within reason, none elsewhere can be had within 100 miles, rock'n'roll, country, blues, theater and comedy for black and white audiences and yellows. But with such diversified appeal (and I think I can safely say good taste) we attract large audiences which swell the coffers and at the same time serve all groups.

My apologies again (we will do a few outdoor shows in few months) and I sincerely hope to see feedback from all facets of our society here in Carbondale.

Cuban menace

By Arthur Hoppe

Oh, no! We're in for another Munich, warns Secretary Kissinger, unless we stop the blatant Cuban invasion of Angola.

"We are other Cuban forces of much smaller size all over Africa," he says grimly. "There are guerrilla forces in South Yemen. We cannot remain in different!!"

A few spineless, umbrella-toting pacifists in Congress probably will scream "idiot," but Fidel Castro will mean peace in our time. But that's so-called because the two countries have not yet heard recent speech at the opening of The Fidel Castro Summer Camp for the Study of Marxist-Leninism & Weight Reduction.

The six-hour address, entitled, "Mine Camp," was a multi-issue statement. Cuba's relations with the U.S. and the Soviet Union, with Cuba's neighbors, with Fidel Castro himself, "will be fighting them on the beaches and in the hills.

In the immortal words of Winston Churchill, "Honest to Betsy, if it isn't one thing, it's another."
Agriculture student chosen for exchange

An SIU graduate student in agricultural education has been selected to spend June, July and August in Russia under the first "agricultural youth exchange program between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Ruth T. Fleck is one of 15 persons from 15 states chosen for the work-study program under the auspices of the American 4-H Foundation International Programs. Fleck is now a master's degree candidate at SIU with emphasis in agricultural business.

The group will leave early in June for Moscow, spend four weeks in Byelorussia Agricultural Academy near Minsk, work on state and collective farms in Russia, travel in western USSR then gather in Moscow for windup consultations.

A group of fifteen Soviet youths will spend the three summer months in the United States for study and work experience in agriculture colleges.

Four fake $20's turn up at local stores and bank

Four counterfeit $20 bills have been discovered in three local stores in the past three days, Carbondale police said today.

The funny money turned up at K-Mart, Sears and the University Bank. Police said that the serial numbers on the bills are H1845726A.

The Secret Service has reportedly been notified about the bogus money and are working on the case.

SIU law grads find jobs in tight field

By Linda Richbernort
Student Writer

Approximately 80 per cent of the School of Law's class of 1976 has already secured professional positions, said Katherine Vennesen, assistant dean of the School of Law.

The law school's first graduating class is "going great guns," Vennesen said, adding many law Schools can boast of having only 50 per cent of their students placed by the time of graduation.

With graduation four months away (June 15), Vennesen is optimistic that most of the 70 plus graduates will find jobs by the end of the academic year.

Most students in this year's graduating class are planning to stay in Illinois. Vennesen said. She feels the placement results are "fantastic," particularly when the job market in some places is very tight.

For the 77 graduates are even better. Vennesen said.

"Once the first class gets out into the professional world, the school's reputation will improve," she said.

She said that new legislation will increase the jobs available for lawyers, particularly in the area of legal aid.

With the School of Law in its third year, there are already plans for exansion. According to Vennesen, a new building will be constructed in the next three to five years.

Once the building is completed, the school will enroll about 450 students, an increase of approximately 200 students over the present size. The faculty will grow from the present 15 full-time professors and five adjunct professors to 30 full-time professors she said.

Competition for acceptance to the school remains tough, Vennesen said. There were 18 applicants for every seat for the 73-74 year.
The average grade point average was 3.4 a 4.0 scale, and the average Law School Admissions Test score was approximately 638.

Club speaks to Europe daily

By Scott Caldwell
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Need to get a message to Europe fast? The Amateur Radio Club will do it for free.

WOCW, or Michael Hoshiko, professor in speech pathology and audiology as he is otherwise known, said he talks to Europe almost every morning.

"The only restriction on sending a message is that it needs to be of a personal nature and not commercial," Hoshiko said.

A message can be sent almost anywhere in the world, but a few countries do not allow radio operators to accept a third party message from the U.S., said Hoshiko, club sponsor.

The amateurs have various networks and at certain times of the day people will say that they have a message for somewhere. If someone at that place picks up the request, they will say that they can deliver it," Hoshiko said.

If a message can’t be sent directly to the place, it will go through two or three operators before being delivered.

The messages are delivered, hopefully, as fast as first class mail, sometimes faster.

SIU's ambassadors honored

By Tim Teckle
Student Writer

Twenty-one SIU ambassadors, representing 25 Southern Illinois communities, were recently presented cards by President Warren Brandt for the work they have been doing in the SIU Community Ambassador Program.

The program, established in 1971 by the Department of Area Services, serves as a liaison between SIU and the surrounding communities and provides valuable assistance to both SIU and local citizens.

Boyd Butler, field representative for the department, said that through the work of the ambassadors, local citizens are becoming aware of many of the services available to them from SIU.

"Adult education and extension services, educational television for the public schools and assistance in the recruitment of high school students who show an interest in attending SIU are just a few of the services we can provide," Butler said.

Butler said improved community relations would result in a better understanding of SIU's problems and programs, and that contacts in the local high schools would be beneficial in the recruitment of students.

Student arrested in connection with lost money order

An SIU student was arrested Tuesday afternoon after he allegedly tried to cash a money order that had been reported lost by another person.

Police said William Cook, 21, 316 Schneider Hall, was arrested when he tried to cash the money order at the Saluki Currency Exchange, 805 S. Illinois Ave. Cheryl Zytowski, of Carbondale, had earlier reported that she had lost her wallet with the order in it. A stop was put on the order.

Cook was released on a cash bond to appear in city court.

Group plans culture mix for Bicentennial salute

By Lorry Lee Oglefender
DailyEgyptia Staff Writer

The International Students Association will share various culture and tradition with U.S. natives Feb. 23 to 29 as part of the celebration of the Bicentennial.

Emmanuel Latil, president of the association, said Monday that the festival will feature coffee and tea hours in the International Lounge of Woody Hall, a formal inauguration of the festival with a guest speaker, exhibits, a buffet and a talent show.

Latil said that the coffee and tea hours, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Monday through Thursday, will be co-hosted by the International Student Council and the International Education Faculty Affairs. The formal inauguration of the festival will be at 7 p.m. in Room B of the Student Center. Chief speaker at the inauguration will be Professor Beynon, a visiting sociology lecturer from Wales. The topic of his lecture will be "International and Modern World."

On Sunday a buffet will be organized by the Student Center and exhibits on cultural displays from 11 a.m. to 1:45 p.m. in Rooms A and B.

Mary Borek, a Student Center spokesman, said Wednesday that tickets for the buffet will soon go on sale and are $3.55 for adults and $2.55 for children. She said the menu will include Spanish gazpacho salad, Italian antipasto, Polish blueberry salad, Indonesian peanut sausage and Germanittenburg torte.

Racus welcomes any authentic international recipes for use in future festivals. She said that some of the international students will work as hosts and hostesses during the buffet.

The talent show will end the festival, Latil said. The show will be performed by international students.

City to buy undeveloped land for east side children’s park

By Curt Massen

The city plans to purchase 46.72 acres of undeveloped land in east Carbondale for creation of a new park for young children. A request by the Tatem Heights Neighborhood Association for the park’s development was made in early 1975 during a meeting with a Carbondale neighborhood response team.

A city request for a grant of up to $25,000 from the Illinois Department of Conservation has been approved for purchase of the land, said Kermit Robinson, the community development planning staff. The state funds would provide for half of the land’s purchase price and require matching funds from city revenues.

The land has been appraised at a value between $12,500 to $13,750 by local real estate firms. Its owner, the Lewis Land Trust, has indicated an asking price of $39,000, Robinson said. He said the state matching funds will apply only to the appraised value.

“It appears that the city will have to take this thing to court and use its power of eminent domain to obtaining the land for public use,” Robinson said. This means the city could force the trust to sell the land at a price determined by the court.

Francis Kiefer, co-chairperson of the Tatem Heights Neighborhood Association, said there is no place in the area for young children to play.

“This is a racially mixed neighborhood. We would like to see a park filled with things that children can play on together, in close proximity,” she said.

Kiefer said that neighborhood residents have offered to work for free installing playground equipment.
Skeptical ‘Mom’ now enjoys sorority life

By Jane Dickerson
Student Writer

At 2 a.m., Thelma "Mother" Page heard a knock on her door. "May I help you?" "M.P." the girls at the door asked.

"Girls, it’s two o’clock in the morning!" the bewildered Mother Page exclaimed.

With a shamed grin the girl said, "Well, Fred and I are having a fight and I can’t cry. He’s going to come by my window in a few minutes and I want him to see my crying," she pouted.

This odd request came years ago but Mother Page remembers it and many other incidents as though they happened yesterday.

Mother Page, known as "M.P.", has been house mother for the girls of Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority for 15 years. She has been with the sorority longer than any house mother on campus. She’s 58-years-old.

"Maybe some day, but not now," was Mother Page’s first reaction when asked if she would like to be a house mother.

At that time, she and her sister owned a fabric store in West Frankfort called The Sister Shop. Mother Page was offered the job by one of her customers, Jerry Taylor. Taylor, then an adviser for the Alpha Gama, is now a realtor in Carbondale.

After a few months, Mother Page decided to take the job when she found that she was allergic to the fabric dyes in her store.

Mother Page’s first day with the Alpha Gama came in March of 1961. She remembers thinking, "Forty-six girls! How will I ever remember each one?"

The task was easier than she thought—she knew them all within a week.

Mother Page has demonstrated many times that she can pull pranks that are just as devilish as the onesfraught with and securities pull. Even with her great sense of humor, Mother Page is not one to enjoy excessive or distasteful pranks by fraternities.

But 16 years of worrying has not scarred "M.P." away yet, and if what she says is true, only her age will keep her from doubting that 15-year record.

District delegate candidates speak for choices Thursday

Candidates for delegate seats from the 24th Congressional District for this year’s national political conventions will speak to the public at a forum Thursday, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in Student Center Ballrooms B and C.

The forum’s coordinator, Student President Aide Doug Cooper, said 13 delegate candidates representing seven declared and undeclared presidential candidates are tentatively scheduled to speak.

Cooper said each delegate candidate’s slate will be allotted 15 minutes to address the audience. A question and answer period between the audience, press and speakers will follow the speeches, Cooper said.

Seven delegates from each party in each congressional district will be elected in the March 16 Illinois primary to attend the national conventions this summer.

The deadline for registering for the primary is Friday. Registration for Jackson County residents can be obtained at either the Carbondale City Clerk’s office or the County Clerk’s office in Murphysboro.

Voters must choose a political party preference when picking up their ballots on election day, or when filing for an absentee ballot, according to Illinois state election law.

The delegate candidates’ forum is being sponsored by Student Government, Cooper said.

Calipre opens with children's show

The Calipre Stage will present an hour of family entertainment when "Chester the Cricket" opens at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Calipre Stage, second floor Communications Building. Performance times are also scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday.

The play, directed by Kim Brewster and performed by a cast of students, is based on the children's book "The Cricket on Times Square" originally written for the five-to-twelve age group. The Calipre Stage adaptation is written for a chamber theater to include more adult audiences.

The story is about Chester, a near-desperate cricket who attacks a New York City family's picnic basket. The family returns to the city with Chester still in the basket and Chester finds himself in a New York subway station.

The cricket, played by Brian Anderson, a Carbondale Community High School student, is found by Mario Bellini, a boy who runs a newspaper stand in the station. Mario, played by Todd Brewster, a Unity Point Grade School student, keeps the cricket, hoping he will bring good luck.

Chester is befriended by Harry the Cat, played by T.J. Brewster, and also by Unity Point Grade School student Tucker the Mouse, played by Deanne Bekker, a freshman.

The story revolves around the antics of the four including the near-destruction of Mario's newsstand and literally eating up Mario's profits. The three (the cat, the mouse and Chester) also make Mario's home life miserable, amusing Mama and Pappa Bellini's son, Pupa Bellini, who will be played by John Schilling, a senior in mortuary science, and Mama Bellini will be played by Susan Anderson, a junior in interior design. The director will also be the narrator of the show.

The cast will also have a five-member chorus including Ty Brewster and Pete Kowalkski, from Unity Point School; Darla Reeder, a former SIU student in general studies; Curtis Koch, a freshman in general studies; and Tom Poehlmann, a producer in broadcasting.

Tickets for the show are 75 cents and may be reserved by calling the Speech department, 453-2291, between 1 and 4 p.m. Thursday or Friday.

Ticket prices are $3, $6 and $6.50 for the general public and $5, $8.50 and $8 for SIU students. Preston said a student can purchase four discount tickets with one current fee statement, but each student ticket holder must have a current fee statement the night of the concert.
Playwright visits to check sets

"Play \(g\)et straight, they are not something you do with a typewriter," said Janet Stevenson, winner of SIU's African Bicentennial Playwrite Competition. The international competition sponsored by the theater department in 1973 drew almost 200 entries.

Stevenson's play, "The Third President," will premiere at SIU on April 17, 21, 22, 24. She was at SIU Tuesday and Wednesday to "look at the set and go over changes I have made in the script.

Stevenson, a graduate of Yale School of the Theatre, said she hopes to work closely with director Christian McCall, professor of theatre. "I intend to watch it and if we find things that need to be changed, I would like to be the one to change them."

Directors are often nervous about working with playwrights. Stevenson said she has not found that to be the case at SIU. "If a playwrite is nervous about losing a single pearl, then it's a problem. I am going to come down and try to behave myself," she smiled.

Before winning the competition. Stevenson had been away from the theatre for 13 years. "Now I've got the bug again," she said. Stevenson has spent countless hours doing research for her novels and stories which include "Weep No More" and "The Arden Years." She said she had forgotten how exciting the theatre was until "I had this thrilling distraction."

The research for "The Third President" was originally done in another context and was rewritten for the competition. The plot is a historical drama based on the conflicting political philosophies of Thomas Jefferson and Alexander Hamilton. The play was carefully researched and is historically accurate, Stevenson said. "The play opens in 1789 with Jefferson returning from a tour of duty as minister to France and runs until his election in 1800. During these years the direction the government would take was up for grabs."

Stevenson said the play is structured like a Shakespearean history in that it has a "quality of moving through time and space to give the general flow of an era."

Jefferson's idea of establishing a democratic republic "was absolutely new." Hamilton's push for federalism represented the polar opposite of political thinking, Stevenson said.

There was a very close shave where the country almost turned the corner and went back to a strict class-society which resembled the English aristocracy. "It took "The Third President" to get the idea democracy going, Stevenson said.

Jefferson never wanted to be President. "He never made a single speech in his campaign," Stevenson said. "It is hard to dramatize this type of political participation." Stevenson said she overcame this problem because Jefferson's grass roots supporters "got very stormy" while campaigning.

Stevenson found striking parallels between contemporary history and the early history of America. "That is what kept me coming back to it."

She described the post-revolutionary years as a period of "internal witch-hunting in America under the guise of protecting this country from external forces."

"There were overtones of corruption, people getting power crazy and war scares," she said. "I haven't pulled the history out of shape to make these parallels."

"The Third President" will be presented in the Laboratory Theater, Communications Building, although the script was originally written for a larger stage. "Once it gets its momentum going this is the year for it," Stevenson said.

Close race as IM basketball nears playoffs

By Rick Korch

State University Men's basketball.

At the two-thirds mark of the intramural basketball season, it still looks like a two team for the championship, as there is still not an upset in the league.

"Basketball is always a close sport," commented Al Levy, graduate assistant in charge of the league. "There are 24 teams in the league, and most of them still have a chance."

A few teams that Levy feels stand out are Kappa Alpha Psi, the Blues, the Sues, Grip Insurance and Louie Boys, which all are un- defeated in the league.

"Grip Insurance is made up mostly of the Little Men II (who won last year's championship)," Levy said. "And the Louie Boys had to go two overtimes to beat the Tyrone Sneakers. Levy said that Tyrone Sneakers are "perennials" and aren't counted out of the tournament either.

"I'd say that any team in the last eight (the quarter finals) has a chance at it," he said.

Forfeit s are always a problem in most of the IM sports, and basket- ball is no exception—except that in this case, there are not enough for- fets. Levy said the IM office is going to "have trouble finishing the season on time" because there are so many teams.

In past years, teams averaged five games during the regular season, but this year's number was in- creased to six this year because the season is running during both semesters.

The regular season is scheduled to end March 11 with the championship game being played March 11.

Two men's teams of five were selected. On the first team are: Dave Brown, Mark Hagerty, Phil Baratta, Mike Calabrese and Rich Schultz. Brown led the pack with an 18-game total of 344.

Bowling Club rollout decides team for meet

The SIU Bowling Club held its rollout tournament Friday, Saturday and Sunday to select a team which will represent SIU in intercollegiate meets this season.

Five women and 10 men were selected from a field of 27. On the women's team are: Barb Cleve, Judy Robinson, Rita Johnson, Lisa Begg and Carol Cometta. Cleve's winning 9-game total was 1270.

Softball off

The pre-season meeting for women varsity softball players scheduled for Feb. 12 has been can- celed.

All players are encouraged to see Ray Broehlheiser in Room 106, Davies Gym, to sign up and receive more information.

Optional practice will begin March 1 in Davies Gym at 6 p.m.

U.S. skaters praised by overseas 'fan'

INNSBRUCK (AP)—It was 10:30 p.m. Monday when Tanya Hughes got news that President Ford had been trying to reach her by telephone.

"He asked," said the United States premier women speed skater. She rushed to the television room where she was visiting with friends.

A call quickly was placed to the White House, Washington, D.C. United States of America. A gold voice came back from the other end.

"I am sorry," the White House operator said, "the President does not accept collect calls."

Latinitos expected to capture mini-soccer championship

By Rick Korch

Latinitos, last year's intramural mini-soccer champs, are expected to win the championship again, but for the first time, a few American teams are also in the running in the normally foreign-dominated sport.

Another foreign team that could give Latinitos problems is the International Soccer Club "A" according to referee for the league, while the two top American leagues are the Canadian Club and Baker's Comeback.

The mini-soccer league began its third year of play January 31, and the regular season will end April 24. Teams with a 500 or better record will advance to the playoffs.

Swimmers tune for NCAA's

Mike Salerno was the top competitor in the 200 and 100 yard backstrokes at last year's meet. He holds the meet record in the 100-yard race.

"I'm sure he will win," unless (Bryan) Gadekahn beats him. Gadekahn has been swimming really well," Steele said. "I'll be between Swenson and Delgado in the 500."

Delgado broke Swenson's Pulliam final record in the 200 Saturday in a meet with Drury College.

Steele said the 200-yard butterfly is a toss-up between Steve Gross of North Carolina State and Delgado. Salerno might have a tough go in the backstroke from another North Carolina State swimmer, Dan Harrigan, who competed in the Pac American Games. He said.

Some of the other teams competing include Alabama, Auburn, South Carolina and Miami. Fla.

"As always, it will be our-

Winter Olympics

"I am not calling him, he is calling me," Steele insisted.

After the usual bustle, click-click, hold-the-line please, we'll be with you in a moment conclusion that accompanies transcontinental phone calls in solving different languages, the call went through.

"He was really nice," Young recalled Tuesday, too excited to remember all the intricate details of the conversation. "The President congratulated me on my three medals. He said he had watched the 50- and 1,500-meter races on television and had enjoyed them very much.

"He asked me to give his congratulations to my team and to wish the other athletes well in Thursday's races. He said he was proud of us all."

In winning the 500-meter race, placing second in the 1,500 and third in the 1,000, the 25-year-old Detroit woman, who also is a former world champion cyclist, became the first American to win three medals in one Winter Olympics.

She set another record, according to the U.S. Olympic headquarters here. She is the first Olympic athlete to receive a call from the President during progress of the Games.

"I was very surprised to get the call," Young said. "It had been two days after I won my last race and I didn't expect anything like that."

She had dinner with her fiancé, James Ochowicz of Milwaukee, and had been out with friends earlier in the evening when President Ford's call originally was made.

The call lasted 10 minutes. The White House picked up the bill which, at existing rates, was about $30.50, or 33 Austrian schillings.

"It's a matter of principle," Young said.

Salukis hope to halt stampeding Buffs

By Dave Wisecower
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

The Salukis of the western and southwestern regions of this country were closely followed by their fans this past season as a result of the tremendous influx of athtletst from other states. But the Buffalo population has been revived in recent years and a big herd of fans has been infected into the Carbondale Wednesday afternoon.

The Texas State Buffaloes arrived in town Wednesday for their Missouri Valley basketball battle with the Saluki cagers at 7:35 p.m. Thursday in the Arena. "They should be psyched up real good by game time," Scott said.

"They said the lighting affected their shooting, but it shouldn't bother them at game time.

In regards to SIU's opponent, Murray State University, Scott said, "They are a real physical team and have good height. I played them, every year in college (Scott attended Memphis State). They're good, but they are not that good."

Whether they're good or not, the basketball coach from Murray has one of the most colorful names in sports.
Her name, according to the SIU game program, is Dow Drop Rowlett. One of my favorite sports events is just the northeast. The Special Olympics is scheduled for April 30 in Car-bonade. Scheduled to attend the event are former SIU athletes Ivory Crockett and Jim Hart.

Women, push shot due for Arena showing

By Scott Burnsise
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Thursday afternoon the two-handed push shot will return to the SIU Arena as the Saluki women cagers kick off the SIU Saluki women's basketball doubleheader of the season.

The two-handed push shot is operated by head coach Pam Berryhill. She uses this throwback to the days of the NCAA champion as a weapon against the 6-4 scoring average.

Berryhill pats these hands from almost 20 feet to the basket and hands of opposing zone defenses.

"I never considered it a two-handed push shot," Berryhill said. "It is more two-handed than what they (the other players) shoot." Berryhill added.

She said she received her basketball education in Stephen, Ark.

"The coach has been there for 10 years..." Berryhill explained.

With this being Berryhill's only chance to play in the Arena since she's been here.
A senior, this will be the 5-foot-5 guard's last home game. Other fours on the team are forward Sue Hinrichs, forward Vicky King, guard Lisa Millar, and forward Jan Winkler.

For the uninitiated, Berryhill's arching two-hander is the only unusual offtensive tactic about the women's team,

"I think the Salukis beat the Buffaloes, it could give them the momentum they 111 need to knock off Wichita State Saturday, claming first place for them selves.

"We come out to play defense as well we can each night," he said. "I don't think we'd do anything special."

Abrams himself has had some special duties this year. Besides bringing the ball up the court most of the time, he has been the steady influence that a young team needs. Surprisingly though,

SIU returns champions to Southern tank meet

By Mark Kasowski
Daily Egyptian Sports Editor

The third most important non-dual meet of the season is SIU swim Coach Burl Abrams' description of the Southern Intercollegiates that the Salukis will swim in this weekend.

The meet in Athens, Ga., is looked at as a tuneup for the NCAA championships more than a month later.

"This is the kind of thing where you give it up, 7-10 yards. There is great deal of emphasis on a meet like this because it is a preliminary to the NCAA meet.

SIU finished fourth in last year's meets. The meet is dependent on the freestyle kicks.

"Almost every team feels the Salukis tankers have a chance to move into the third slot," Berryhill said.

The swimmers feel we can place better than we ever have, which would really surprise me," he said. "I'm still depending on a lot on Rick Fox's leg. He's just getting back to where he can get back in the water."

Fox sprained his ankle earlier in the week. He is dependent on the freestyle kicks.

SIU returns three defending champions to the meet which runs from Thursday to Saturday.

Dave Swenson holds the meet record in the 500-yard freestyle with a 5:05.8 record. He will defend his championship in those events.

Even though SIU has a 25-game home winning streak, West Texas will probably be favored. One consolation, however, is that SIU leads the series between the two schools, 2-0. The Salukis beat the Buffaloes twice last year, 64-62 and 67-66.

West Texas Coach Ron Ekker has many of his best players back and from what Lambert saw in the games when the Buffaloes played Wichita earlier this season, the Buffaloes should be respected.

"In my opinion, they were the best team I had seen in the league," Lambert said. "I can see why they've won 15 games this year.

West Texas is 15-0 for the season and has been rated in the nation's top 20.
SIU comes into this game with an 11-7 record.

"They're a veteran ball club. They didn't lose many players from last year," remarked Saluki veteran Corky Abrams. "That's something to consider."

Another thing to consider is West Texas balance, said the Saluki. Four players average in double figures and the fifth is the school's all-time leading scorer and rebounder, 6-foot-6 senior Reggie Ramsey. He averages 8.7 points a game.

Ramsey's running mate at forward, junior Eugene Smith, averages 6.7 points. The guards, 6-foot sophomore Maurice Cheeks and 6-4 junior Melvin Jones average 10.9 and 11 points respectively.

Six-foot-10 senior center Dallas
Smith is scoring at a 12.8 clip.

Abras does not see any special problems with defense.

"We came out to play defense as well as we can each night," he said. "I don't think we'd do anything special."

Abrams himself has had some special duties this year. Besides bringing
the ball up the court most of the time, he has been the steady influence that a young team needs. Surprisingly though,

the freshmen have handled themselves well for being rookies, according to

"They are a lot more mature as freelancers than I was, as far as game situations go," Abrams said. "They can hold their own. I used to look to Joe C.
(Meriwether)."

Although they are the designated leaders, Abrams and Mike Glenn have not had a tough job this year.

"We look for them (freelancers) as much as they look for us," Abrams admitted. "We look to each other for leadership. It's a two-way thing."

Leading the Saluki men into action Thursday will be the SIU women's basketball team. The women play Murray St. in the first half of the Arena doubleheader starting at 5:35 p.m.

"I think the Salukis beat the Buffaloes, it could give them the momentum they will need to knock off Wichita State Saturday, claming first place for them selves.

"I think this is going to be a great basketball game," said SIU Coach Paul Lambert. "I hope the students create some excitement. This is a big one."

Thousands of students are aware of the importance of this game. SIU
Sports Information Director Butch
Henry said tickets are selling well.
More than 9,000 people are expected for the game. He said plenty of tickets are still available.

"The conference game is really a big game," Lambert pointed out.
"Early in the conference schedule, the more games you can win, the bigger each successive conference game is going to be.
