Union to announce strike decision today

Administration to discuss policy in event of strike

Molly Parker & Ben Botkin
Daily Egyptian

The Faculty Association has called a press conference today for 3 p.m. in which it plans to announce a decision regarding its strike deadline.

While the association would not elaborate on the details of its announcement, they urge it must legally take before hitting the picket lines.

The Faculty Association has given its president the authority to call a strike vote if necessary. As of yet, no vote has been scheduled.

In the event of a strike, the administration has said it will be in the lobby of the Necker Building.

Tindall had planned to have a press conference early today, but after news of the faculty's expected announcement, switched the time to 4:30 p.m. Wendler said he will discuss the administration's plans to deal with a possible strike and any actions before leading it.

As of the time of its void, the Faculty Association must meet four other golden rules set forth by the Illinois Education Labor Relations Act, which are that a bargaining unit represents the faculty, the union has given at least ten days notice of an intent to strike, the employer and union have not mutually submitted unresolved issues to arbitration and mediation has been used without success.

Although the union has indicated progress is too slow, Wendler said mediation has provided some progress.

"We're exchanging proposals, We're still in the process. It's not moving along slowly, but it's still moving along. It's not going to be a slow process — painfully slow, but there is some progress," Wendler said.

Even if the association announces its intent to terminate the contract, Wendler said employees will continue to be paid and receive benefits as long as they are continuing to perform duties.

If they hit the picket lines, however, Wendler said compensation — and possibly benefits if a walkout continues long enough — will not be dispersed to striking faculty.

He said the administration will take measures to ensure that faculty who do not honor the strike will continue to receive pay and benefits.

"Will assume they are doing the things that they are supposed to be doing," Wendler said. "We will take the faculty members at their word. When we have to stop doing that we have a whole different problem."

Grand jury indicts teenager in South Carolina

BENSON, S.C. — A grand jury indicted 17-year-old-boy Boyce Molko on two counts of capital murder in last fall’s shooting.
shooting, the state for a double mortality bid.

Defendant Jonie Malco was reported from a Virginia court after a preliminary hearing last week.

The indictment, based largely on a

Wednesday, also includes one count of using a firearm in a murder. Both capital murder counts stem from the Oct. 14 shooting of 11-year-old Linda Franklin.

The indictment also makes the transfer of Molko’s case to adult court. A juvenile court judge ruled last week that Molko not be tried as an adult, making him eligible for the douFle penalty if convicted of capital murder.

Molko and John Allen Muhammad, 42, are accused of shooting 13 people and wounding five in Alexandria, Virginia, Washington, D.C. They are being tried first in Virginia because it lacks the best opportunities for the death penalty.

The grand jury granted Walker County Commonwealth’s, Assistant Robert E. Fellers. He’s charged with capital murder indictments under two statutes: one prohibiting the killing of more than one person in a three-year period, and an anti-terrorism law.

Senate confirms Ridge as homeland chief

WASHINGTON — Tom Ridge was unanimously Senate security taking on the daunting task of building from scratch a vast new federal agency while moving quickly to head off terrorist threats.

Tom Ridge has been President Bush’s chief adviser on homeland defense since Sept. 11 attacks.

The Senate voted 94-0 to endorse the former Pennsylvania

UN may take up N. Korea dispute

SEOUL, South Korea — U.N. Secretary General
Kofi Annan who just returned from the North said suspensions against it imposed by the Security Council as early as the end of this week.

The North Korean government confirmed an announcement made Wednesday it was sending enough support for the U.N. nuclear watchdog agency to refer the North Korea crisis to the U.N. Security Council, and he expected a referral as early as the end of the week.

North Korea says it will regard any punitive sanctions against it imposed by the Security Council as an act of war, a top aide to U.N. Secretary-General
Kofi Annan who just returned from the North said
Wednesday.

Annan, in an interview with Reuters, said it was the responsibility of the Security Council to ensure that a referral was made if the North continued the same tactics.

The Security Council had already decided to refer the North’s nuclear program to the International Court of Justice, but the North’s repeated refusal to cooperate with the International Court of Justice.

A North Korean government spokesman said he would not comment on the U.N. resolution.

SIUC Police get new cops, cars and cameras

Greg Cima
Daily Egyptian

University Police have new cars, more officers, and equipment that make it easier to combat drunk and disorderly drivers.

New squad cars, three new officers and two new in-car video cameras have been added to the department in recent months.

Lt. Todd Sigler of the SIUC Police said the new officers and cars were replacements and an increase in the department's workload or growth.

Sigler said the three full-time officers, hired June 30, July 1, and Sept. 3 respectively, were taken on as replacements for retirees, and the department is still under its authorized hiring limit. One of the three officers finished training before winter break and another is expected to be on the job next week. The third officer has about 12 weeks left in the in-house training program. The University received five 2003 Crown Victoria Dec. 6 to replace older squad cars. The University replaces the vehicles every two years or 75,000 miles.

All vehicles were outfitted with radios, prisoner cages, radar units and surveillance cameras in the weeks after the purchase. The decals cost about $11,600 and the installation of equipment cost about $4,400. University squad cars now feature maroon stripes, a Puliam Clock Tower logo and the web address for the public safety department's website.

Two of the cars were equipped with cameras partially funded by drug-driving arrests. The new cameras were installed in the vehicles, but training has not been completed and they are not yet operational, Sigler said. The University still logs behind the city's allocations for the equipment.

Sigler said the new squad cars are in-service in mid-February. All 12 of the Carbondale Police Department's market squad cars are equipped with in-car cameras. Sigler said the cameras are useful in assuring a conviction, especially for drivers who are required or decreed. A guilty plea or verdict in a DUI case sets the arresting department to extra $100 for equipment to combat alcohol-related driving offenses in accordance with a bill passed in July 1999. Sigler said the funds for the equipment were added to last year's budget. Sigler said a bill received last year to combat DUIs has helped increased the DUI arrests and money to support the new purchases. The $14,000 grant from the Illinois Department of Transportation was given to the department to be used at pay officers for overtime patrols during periods when alcohol-related driving offenses are more likely to occur.

The grants pay for four-hour six-hour patrols that target DUIs, illegal transportation of alcohol and zero-tolerance offenses. Beginning last October, the funds were budgeted to provide about 200 hours of extra patrols through September 2003. About $4,000 of the money was paid to pay for a breath-testing device and one of the in-car cameras for the new cars.

The funds also paid for "false vision goggles," which Sigler said look similar to laboratory goggles but are used to simulate the inebriated driver. He said they are inexpensive equipment meant to show difficulties in performing tasks with impaired vision.

The purchases and hires come in the midst of contract disputes between the police department and the University.

The Fraternal Order of Police Labor Council entered arbitration administration March 21. The police contract expired July 1, 2001 and the police have asked for pay increases paid retroactively in the midst of the contract dispute. Police cannot strike and have no bargaining authority to settle disputes.

Time is running out for voter registration

Sara Hooker
Daily Egyptian

As Carbondale City Council prides itself on a rapid approach, so does the cut-off date to register to vote.

Thursday is the final day to sign up to participate in the 2003 local elections, and there are plenty of times and locations to do so.

People interested in registering must be citizens of the United States, at least 18 years old and not on the election roll. Residents of the area for 20 days or more. Individuals must have two forms of identification — one picture ID and another to verify current address, such as a bill or lease.

Neal Young, vice president of Undergraduate Student Government, said he would like to see students participating in elections this spring. He said because students are often registered to vote elsewhere they don't think about the need to register here.

"We want to try to get as many students involved in the local elections," Young said.

"The time is winding down, you have to go and register," Reinhardt said.

If they have not updated it, they may not be able to vote in the primary Feb. 25," Reinhardt said.

In addition, Reichardt said people who live east of Carbondale need to double check that they live in Jackson County. He said some people who live east of Carbondale have Carbondale addresses but are actually in Williamson County. When mix-ups like this happen, the registration is sent back to the individual, and they have to check with the Williamson County, Reinhardt said.

Information technology ensures computer safety

Moustafa Ayad Daily Egyptian

Hackers beware. Information technology is constantly monitoring public access computers on campus making them virtually foolproof.

With more than 230 computers available on campus, information technology department workers make it their job to stop student's personal information from turning public.

Morris Library boasts the largest assortment of public-use computers on campus. Students are able to use 150 computers for both personal and schoolwork.

Ed Riddle, manager of Systems Services at Morris Library, believes that the computers in the library are virtually safe.

"We have had no instances of information being stolen," he said. "We use machines until they're virtually useless. Logon said. "Then we replace them with clean workable hard drives." Workers in the public labs of information technology clean off their hard drives every night, he said.

"We do the best we can to use all workable hard drives to the best of our ability, until a hard drive is essentially useless," Logon said. "Then we take a computer out of commission and delete all information off the hard drive.

According to Sutherland, both vehicles started sliding on the ice at the stop sign but he could not stop before running into the back of Roman's car. The Jackson County Ambulance service transported Roman to Memorial Hospital of Carbondale where she was still under observation. SIUC Fisheries Department receives $9,000

Katie Davis Daily Egyptian

The Illinois Workforce Advantage program has awarded $9,000 to the SIUC Fisheries and Illinois Aquaculture Center, for a hard drive that can erase data in less time, IWA officials announced Wednesday.

Overall IWA has awarded $318,000 to 20 programs throughout Illinois' seven southern counties.

Jerry Looft, an administrative assistant in information technology, said even if information had not been announced Wednesday, an immediate impact, but to sustain program or facility in the years to come.

Projects included a community center for the Village of Pocahontas, an additional hospital wing to the Comprehensive Health Emergency Services, an addition to the Daystar Community Program in Cairo, all of which require additional funding.

Daystar director John Klein said though his organization received $9,000, an extra $5,000 is needed to store the various supplies, which will house excess donated, clothes and other supplies.

"We are very grateful for everything we receive," he said. "But we must come up with seven grand that will most likely come out of our pocket.

The maximum grant awarded was $20,000, and though the group serves as a booster, those receiving awards must raise a combined $900,000 to complete all of the projects.

Dear Reader:

We want to publicly thank and bring to your attention the outstanding volunteer work of over 2,000 Southern Illinois University Carbondale students, representing nearly 60 student organizations, for the University, the Carbondale Community, the Southern Illinois region, and a few out-of-state sites.

Over 13,000 hours of volunteer work was performed during the fall 2003 semester alone. This translates to one person working full time without pay for nearly six years. Students gain experience and a commitment to service out of donating their time and energy to important programs and projects, but all of us who live in this community and in this region benefit by their selfless work on our behalf. We salute these organizations and students and look forward to their continuing commitment for the spring semester and beyond. Many students who volunteer choose not to register their volunteer activities with the Student Development Office. We would encourage them to do so to help further document their volunteer activities.

Thanks again. We are a better University, community, and region due to your good work.

Sincerely,

THANK YOU, STUDENTS OF SOUTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY CARBONDALE!
OUR WORD

‘Quota’ tag disheartening

In a brief filed by the White House, President Bush contends the University of Michigan’s affirmative action decision is unfair, labeling it a “quota system.” What disturbed Bush was the 150-point scale the university uses in its selection process of applicants. University of Michigan officials have repeatedly denied the “quota” tag claiming their admissions process is constitutional. Each year the university receives more than 25,000 applications for admittance in the freshman class. Of these, only 5,000 are selected. The point system is simply used as a tool to weed out unqualified individuals.

The DAILY EGYPTIAN agrees with the University of Michigan’s stance and believes Bush is wrong. We believe he needs to focus more of his attention on much larger issues concerning Iraq, North Korea and the economy. According to the scale a minority applicant must score 20 points above the average to gain admittance in the freshman class. Of these, only 5,000 are selected. The point system is not a race issue.

Some high school students applying to the University of Michigan fear Bush’s attack on affirmative action will deter them from applying. As students, we must bring two IDs with one showing our current Carbondale address to get out for the Feb. 25 primary. To register to vote, tune is running out to register to vote by council members affect everyone.

Get registered to vote

Time is running out to register to vote for the upcoming Carbondale City Council elections. The DAILY EGYPTIAN strongly encourages students and nonstudents in Carbondale to get out and bring their voices heard. The deadline for registration is Tuesday for the Feb. 25 primary. To register you must be 18 years of age or older and showing your current Carbondale address to Carbondale City Hall between the hours of 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. This year Carbondale's long-time mayor Neil Dillaud will not run for re-election. The two candidates vying for his position are Brad Cole and Margaret "Maggie" Flanary.

Since the November passage of the city referendum there will now be four seats available on the Carbondale City Council, bringing the total to six. There are currently four seats available.

Candidates for the four-year term on the City Council include Michael G. Neil, Chris Wissmann, Sheila Simon, Dan David, Lance Jack, Britt Woods, Earl Lachowski, Andy White, Patrick Bichay, Jeff Finkler, Stacey Fwygen, M. Smith, Robert Gallegly, Priscilla Pimentel, James Rooney and Scott Perman.

The DAILY EGYPTIAN hopes everyone will get out and register to make a difference in Carbondale and at SIUC. The decision made by council members affect everyone, even if you’re a student. Get out and register.

Temper still flare over abortion debate
30 years after Roe v. Wade

By Kristina Dailing

In its ruling, the court recognized that a woman has a right to terminate her pregnancy.

According to the court, a state’s interest in potential life is not “compelling” until viability, the point in pregnancy at which there is a reasonable possibility of the sustained survival of the fetus outside the womb.

With the passage of time, most states have enacted abortion laws that are more favorable to women’s rights than those of 1973.

Kristina Dailing

"Amy," whose name has been changed for anonymity, belongs to the pro-life camp. When she had to make a decision that would affect the rest of her life, she did not worry about labels.

During her junior year in high school, she made the hardest decision in her life. She terminated her pregnancy after four weeks because she felt she was not ready to be a mother.

A state may prohibit abortion after viability except when it is necessary to preserve the mother’s life.

According to the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, the number of abortions from an estimated 1.6 million in 1990 and 2000. Twelve years ago, about 27 women out of every 100,000 women aged 15-44 years had a legal abortion. By 2000, the number fell to just about 21.

Aide according to the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, there are fewer doctors willing to perform the procedure.

The number of physicians providing abortion is down 1.3 million nationally, from nearly 2,000 in 1992.

Denning said even though the opinion has not fared as well as an example of the Supreme Court opinion, it has dominated the country.

The “national debate has moved, not to overturn Roe v. Wade, but how to regulate abortion,” Denning said.

John Jackson, former interim chancellor and visiting political science professor, said the interpretation of Roe v. Wade has evolved as the Supreme Court has changed into a more conservative court.

According to Jackson, “it is not a pro-choice view that they support and that really sounds bad,” said Irene Napier, the vice president of the Illinois Federation for Right to Life.

Some other terms that are used are abortion instead of pro-choice and anti-abortion instead of pro-life.

Since the days of the Roe v. Wade decision, the legal debate has continued to escalate with different organizations wanting to be referred to by a specific title to prove its ideals are right.

Last week, the Supreme Court upheld a Missouri law barring the use of late-term abortions, on the basis of the life of the fetus.

Timeline: Evolution of abortion

1973 - Supreme Court decision in Roe v. Wade legalizes abortion under the constitutional right to privacy and overturns a Texas abortion law that was enacted in 1907.

1986 - Supreme Court upholds a Massachusetts law requiring parental consent for abortions sought by women younger than 18 years old.

1989 - The Supreme Court upholds a Missouri law banning the use of public funds for abortions, except when necessary to save a woman’s life.

1993 - The President Clinton anti-abortion law that forbids doctors in federally funded clinics from mentioning abortion as an option.

2000 - The Supreme Court voided the ban on late-term abortions, revoking a Nebraska law prohibiting "partial-birth" abortions.

Daily Horoscope

By Linda C. White

Today's Birthday (Jan. 23) This could be your lucky year. Dig out those dreams you've held onto and start running them. Put any dreams involving romance, travel or higher education at the top of your list. Even the most distant for some other time. You may make a new discovery. To get the advantage, check the days setting. It's the personal day, the most challenging.

Aries (March 21-April 19) Today is a - new information is abundant, but which should you own and which should you throw away? Your personal isn't much help, but another person can help.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) - Equity is a - Stock seems instead of harder. You're a goner at finding an easier way to do just about anything. It's a potentially valuable talent.

Gemini (May 21-June 21) - Today is a - It's getting easier to convince people to support you, but why bother? Actions speak louder than words. Anyway, today is a good day to prove it.

Cancer (June 22-July 22) - Today is a - A hard road ahead that worked before will help you to upgrade your game. To purchase yourself, even find what you want, at bargain prices.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) - Today is a - There's a lot of information out there, none of it contradicts what you've been taught before. Do your own investigation.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) - Today is a - You have a good chance to find a good job for all your hard work. If you don't do where you are, it's time to move.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) - Today is a - You're bulletproof, and changing. It's a good time to bring in something you've been dreading about that involves a commitment.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) - Today is a - If you have an uncle who can get it for you for whiskey, give him a call. Why pay retail? Make him an offer they can't refuse.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) - Today is a - The offers and proposals may be part of your work assignment. That doesn't mean it's impossible;Negotiate up front to get more for doing it.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) - Today is a - An unreasonable request may be part of your work assignment. That doesn't mean it's impossible;Negotiate up front to get more for doing it.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) - Today is a - Travel, romance and co-nationalization are all getting easier. Stale long-distance calls, and don't froze up if you get no call. That condition is only temporary.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20) - Today is a - You may be. You may be in a bond, but if your facts and figures are correct, financial matters pending to home improvements will go well.

She's just Hillary from the block

Hillary Phillips is a senior guard on the SIU women's basketball team. She recently took time to speak with Christopher Morris of the Daily Egyptian.

Daily Egyptian: How did you get into basketball?

Hillary Phillips: I've got two brothers and my dad always played. I've been playing since third grade. We had a pretty good team in third and fourth grade, so that's when it started.

DE: What do you think fans should know about the women's basketball team?

HP: We work harder than it shows. I know our record isn't really good, but we do work hard. It would mean a lot if we had more fans than we do.

DE: The team is 4-9. What do you think the team needs to do to get the season turned around?

HP: We just need to get out our first win, actually. We kind of got on a streak and it's been our meinem. If we can get our first win and get our confidence back, then it will help us a lot.

DE: How will you personally prepare for the game?

HP: It depends on if it's a home game or a road game. On the road, all we do is eat, sleep and play basketball. I usually try to take about an hour-and-a-half nap before the game, then get up and shower and get ready. When I get here, just trying to work on the bench while we get on the floor.

DE: Any game expectations?

HP: Not really. I've always worn my hair in a ponytail for games. Some people like their hair up in knots. I've always worn a ponytail since third grade.

DE: This is your senior year. Is it going to bother you that much more if the team doesn't make the tournament in your last year?

HP: Oh yeah. For me personally, I stayed down here all summer and worked out. We've just worked hard as a team and it would be huge disappointment if we didn't make the tournament. We just want to prove to everybody that we're not as low as where they put us.

DE: After you graduate, would you like to be a graduate assistant like Holly Taggart?

HP: Well, after I graduate, I'll have to see if I can get into a graduate assistant program. I have to see if I could be in that situation. It would be nice to work with the girls again, but I don't know if it'll be able to have that opportunity.

DE: Since you are still here, how does your personality differ from when you were a freshman and when you are now with your friends?

HP: If I'm on the court, it's all business. If something is going wrong then people need to know it. When I'm not with friends, I joke around and am easy going. But on the court, I'm not really that outspoken on the floor. I just try to lead with actions instead of words.

DE: Let's get away from basketball a little bit. Where in Carbondale do you like to hang out? And for this question, friends don't count.

HP: That's the only place to hang out. I don't know. During the season, we don't ever go out. I go to a lot of movies. We hang out at restaurants like Applebees. We go watch movies together.

DE: Have you seen one recently?

HP: "Maid in Manhattan." It was good. It's a big-LO-fan.

DE: You're from McLeansboro. How does that town compare with Carbondale?

HP: Well, in McLeansboro, we have got two brothers who are movies. So unless the WB dissolves, it seems there is no other solution.

DE: What was the last DVD you bought?

HP: "40 Days and 40 Nights."

DE: What is your favorite movie?

HP: "Titanic." It's sad but true.

DE: Greatest band ever?

HP: Def Leppard. I love Def Leppard.

Everything was peachy. The world was at peace. Police invited criminals to dinner, it never snowed, administration and faculty held hands and sang songs, the streets of Carbondale were paved in gold and the SIU Arena was built out of candy.

Enter the WB.

Suddenly, KBSI became a WB affiliate and was forced to air "Buffy the vampire Slayer" and "Titanic." It did the World a Favor and Ate That Gigantic Financial Contribution to a WB Station. The WB Station was forced to discontinue coverage of the games, leaving SIU fans burning in liquid nitroglycerin.

The sad truth is that pending a gigantic financial contribution to the SIU, a severing of the KBSI-WB alliance or a gigantic earthquake that shed Channel 3's coverage zone, things will remain the same. SIU fans will continue to rely on technology made obsolete at the World's Fair in 1939 to keep track of their team.

But there is a ray of light at the end of the picture tube. Channel 82 at Cedar Farm, KBSI's sister station, became a WB affiliate and was forced to carry games, though it does not have enough money to originate them.

Would it let SIU originate the games? Doubtful. But it seems there is no other solution.

So unless the WB dies, which I haven't been paying attention to, we will have to carry games, though it does not have enough money to originate them.

Just let the WB have no interest in 95.1 FM.

Salukis escape Cedar Falls with tough win

SIU trails at halftime, but pulls out 10-point win in overtime

Jens Deje

A place that has so often been a house of horrors for the SIU men's basketball team was nearly a deathtrap yet again as the Salukis had to rally with an 88-78 overtime victory.

The Salukis entered Wednesday night's game against Northern Iowa two of two in their last two trips to the UNI Dome in Cedar Falls, Iowa, and appeared to be on the way to another loss as they trailed the undermanned Panthers 65-58 with just under four minutes remaining in the game.

The game will go on for another three days, though the Oppenheimer rules do not allow for a quick resolution between students and teachers. "We would just like it to cover more road games;" said Michael Trude, Promotions/marketing director for Saluki athletics.
