Board approves '91 salary increase

By Theresa Livingston
Staff Writer

EDWARDSVILLE—The SIU Board of Trustees approved slight salary increase plans for fiscal year 1991 and set up guidelines necessary to develop the Resource Allocation and Management Program for fiscal 1992 in its meeting Thursday at SIU-E's University Center.

Chancellor Lawrence K. Pettit said SIU "did as well as could be expected" in garnering $236.5 million for the budget year that began July 1. The figure represents $3.5 million—or 1.5 percent—more for the SIU system than the fiscal 1990 budget allowed.

Pettit blamed the "conditions of general revenues" in the state of Illinois for the small increase, but said higher education was given as much consideration as possible.

"The Governor is working with a very tight budget, so right away, funding had to be cut back," Pettit said. "We (SIU) and the rest of higher education came out better than many programs."

As a result of the scaled down increase, faculty and administrative and professional staff members will receive no more than a three percent increase in salary.

The increases will be based on merit and performance, as judged by the individual employee's department, according to Board documents. Any other funds will be distributed in an across-the-board basis.

Other than salaries, the only other part of the budget scheduled to receive more funding is for operation and maintenance of new buildings.

The budget allows $82,800 for the second part of the increase. However this amount is less than originally planned. The allocation is $870,000 less than the figure the Illinois Board of Higher Education recommended.

Other IBHE recommendations did not survive legislative cuts before the final draft of the budget was handed to the governor.

As part of the RAMP guidelines for fiscal 1992, which the board preliminarily approved, SIU is expected to ask for a 16 percent funding increase—which translates into a $266.8 million operating budget—to run the several campuses encompassed by the SIU system.

These guidelines include the percentage increments for salary and price increases, the funding levels for operation and maintenance of new space, allocations for new or expanded program requests and other items.

The final version of the guidelines will be submitted in

Boris Yeltsin quits Communist Party

MOSCOW—Boris Yeltsin, the maverick Communist Party member, on Thursday, during a meeting with party officials, said he wants to concentrate on his duties as chairman of the party's executive committee.

Yeltsin said he would submit to the will of the party and its "authorized representatives," Yeltsin said at the 28th Communist Party Congress. "Therefore in accordance with the obligations I took on myself in the campaign period, I declare my exit from the Soviet Communist Party."

Yeltsin made his dramatic announcement several hours after the release of official election results showing that Mikhail Gorbachev's handpicked choice had been chosen to lead the party's

No. 2 post. "I wanted to make this announcement after the 28th Party Congress, but since my candidacy was put forward for the Central Committee ... I must submit to the will of the people and carry out my responsibility before them."

Yeltsin, long known as a party maverick who had been ousted as Moscow party boss, said he made his decision "in view of my selection as chairman of the Russian Soviet of the Russian Federation" and "in view of our society's movement toward a multi-party system."

Illinois could seize dealers' property

By Jerianne Kimmel
Staff Writer

Illinois police and prosecutors can hit drug dealers where it will hurt the most, in the wallet, if Gov. James R. Thompson signs legislation recently passed by the General Assembly.

The bill would toughen Illinois' seizure laws by allowing law enforcement to seize "real" property, such as an apartment building used as a crack house, or a business used to facilitate drug trafficking, for felony violations of state drug laws, said Attorney General Neil Hartigan.

Hartigan said the bill would make it more expensive to break the law than to keep it.

The financial end of the drug trade is the "propelling force" behind the drug problem, said Jim

Leach, spokesman for Hartigan. "(Drug dealers) are not doing it because it's a great career move,"

Study: World War II weapons plant exposed thousands to radiation

RICHLAND, Wash. (UPI) — Pollution released from a government nuclear weapons plant in Washington during World War II and the Cold War exposed some 13,500 unsuspecting people in the Northwest to dangerous levels of cancer-causing radiation, scientists reported Thursday in a landmark study.

In the first detailed estimate of radiation doses to the public from a federal nuclear weapons facility, the scientists said as many as 13,500 people in Washington and Oregon received high doses of radioactive iodine from air emissions released from the Hanford Nuclear Reservation between 1944 and 1947.

While not directly released by the government, the study represents the first official acknowledgement that releases of radiation from Hanford were large enough to cause illness, including cancer.

The study, done by a government contractor and supervised by an independent panel of scientists, estimated the dose to the thyroid glands of those 13,500 people was 33 rads (radiation absorbed doses) or more.

That compares to the dose of 1 rad the whole body would normally absorb from natural background radiation over three years from sources such as radon or cosmic rays.

Of 270,000 people living around Hanford at the time, half received less than 1.7 rads to their thyroid over three years and half more than 1.7 rads, a computer analysis by the scientists indicates.

The study said a relatively small number of infants and children may have gotten much larger doses from drinking large amounts of milk from cows who grazed from contaminated grass. They

Congress supports Bush on summit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Bush, just home from back-to-back summits with America's closest military and economic allies, won congressional support Thursday for a proposed reforms of NATO and go-slow approach to aid to Moscow.

During a half-hour meeting at the White House, Bush briefed Democratic and Republican leaders on the results of his meeting last week with NATO leaders in London and the seven-nation Economic Summit in Houston.

"It was basically upbeat," House Foreign Affairs Committee Chairman Dante Fascell, D-Fla., said after the White House meeting. "and I think everybody felt that way about what the United States was able to accomplish."

The session with congressional leaders followed a similar report to the Cabinet. Bush also indicated to reporters that he had yet to telephone Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev to discuss the results of the two summits.

For the most part, Bush succeeded at London and Houston in winning strong backing for his vision of how the Western allies should alter their defenses and their economic relations with the Soviet Union in the post-Cold War era.

The 16-nation Atlantic Alliance embraced a number of semantic and tactical changes to appear less threatening to the Soviets, in part to persuade Gorbachev and his generals to accept NATO membership for a unified Germany.

Bush persuaded West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl and French President Francois Mitterrand to defer any push for a concerted program of Western economic aid to the Soviets.

The summit urged the International Monetary Fund spearhead an assessment of the Soviet economy and report by the end of the year on how Western assistance could be used to advance economic reform.

Hagemeyer joins Olympic Fest staff

By Jeffrey Lassiter
Staff Writer

Fatty Hagemeyer, SIU-C head volleyball coach, was asked Monday to assume assistant coaching responsibilities with the men's East team at the Olympic Festival in Minneapolis.

Hagemeyer is the first woman at the Festival to work with the men's volleyball team in a coaching capacity. She was asked to fill in at the assistant's position when head coach Jim Stone was called away with family responsibilities.

Stone, head coach of Ohio State's women's team, left when he received news that his mother was ill. There has been no word yet on her condition, but Stone is not expected to return.

When Stone left, the assistant was elevated to head coach, and Hagemeyer was asked to take the assistant's position.

Hagemeyer feels that, although coaching with the men's team a challenge technically, there are no differences in working with the players.

"Relating to men and women is basically the same," Hagemeyer said. "The differences in size, strength, and endurance are the only ones evident. The men are taller and stronger, but their deficiencies and execution are about the same."

Hagemeyer also said her schedule has been very intense, usually including two or three hard practices per day in addition to the games.

Hagemeyer was enthusiastic about taking the position.

"I enjoy coaching the men," Hagemeyer said. "The tactical part of the Xs and Os is more involved and the game is very high paced. I would like to coach with men in the future."

Hagemeyer also played volleyball on the collegiate level at the University of Minnesota. "It's like coming home for me," Hagemeyer said. She has been at SIU-C for one year as head coach. Previously, she was an assistant at Notre Dame and Florida.

Taking on the additional task of working with the team has pressed Hagemeyer for time.

As zone coordinator for the East team, she is also responsible for the whereabouts of the players off the court.

"I just make sure everyone's in the right place at the right time," Hagemeyer said. "It really takes a lot time, but it keeps me active."

The East team played their first game Wednesday, losing 3-1 to the West.

Multi-Sports camp gives kids a chance to explore choices

By Tricia Lynch
Staff Writer

Kids between the ages of 8 and 14 will experience a diversified summer day camp when they attend the SIU-C Recreational Multi-Sports Camp July 16-20 or July 23-27.

Unlike other SIU-C sports camps, it provides a variety of activities rather than focusing on one individual sport. Kathy Hollister, assistant director of Intramural-Recreational Sports at SIU-C, said.

Michael Dunn, director of Intramural-Recreational Sports at SIU-C, conceived the idea after watching people play team sports. Andrew Marceci, conference coordinator at SIU-C, said.

"He realized these people couldn't play their particular sports for the rest of their lives, so he created the multi-sports camp so kids could experience physical activities at a young age and enjoy them the rest of their lives," Marceci said.

Special activities and educational experiences will be offered along with athletics.

"Although basic skills and rules will be taught the emphasis will be on having fun and learning a healthy lifestyle," Hollister said.

Athletics involved at the camp are: golf, baseball, martial arts, volleyball, soccer and racquetball.

Lifelong leisure pursuits which will also be included are frisbee, dance, aerobics and swimming.

The special activities available at this year's camp are canoeing, field trips, TEAMS course, and miniature golf.

"The TEAMS course is a book that Nature forces a group of people to meet a physical obstacle, challenge and collectively come up with a solution to clear it up. It's only their own abilities," Marceci said. "They use their decision-making skills — see the problem, judge the options and act to get it done."

The Recreation Center is the facility used for the camp. Tournaments will also be held on campus for the kids.

"The tournaments are not competitive, but the kids are encouraged to improve their skills, so they feel accomplished with their own abilities," Marceci said.

First aid, drug and alcohol awareness, proper diet, swimming safety and team work are some of the educational topics listed the camp's itinerary.

New York waiting for Pittsburgh to fold

By Bob Hertzler
Scripts Howard News Service

While America waits for the New York Mets to rush past Pittsburgh in the second half of the season and win the National League East Division championship, the Pirates are not so sure that will happen.

"All I know is the Mets have won 26 of 31, and we're still in first place. That must mean something," manager Jim Leyland said.

"The only way we'll lose is if we beat ourselves," said shortstop

Jay Bell.

"Everyone's waiting for us to fall on our face. That's not going to happen. We will win more than 90 games. If they win 100, then they can have it," said infielder Wally Backman.

The Mets are good. Everyone acknowledges that. But the Pirates say they, too, are good. They proved it in the first half.

"We're on a pace to win 98 games," said center fielder Andy Van Slyke. "The only thing that can beat us is someone else winning 100."

That someone could be the Mets, but the Pirates think they can't be looking at the Mets and playing their game.

"We can't be worrying about them. If we do, we're history," said first baseman Sid Bream.

The keys to winning the division championship are many and most can be uncovered by studying how the Pirates got to first place.

So far there have been a number of keys to the Pirates success including Barry Bonds' spectacular first half that included a .340 batting average, 15 homers and 62 runs batted in.

Report card on Cards' dismal first half is out

By Rick Hummel
St. Louis Post-Dispatch

By winning three of four games leading to the All-Star break, the St. Louis Cardinals showed signs they may be more diligent students in the second half of the season. Their first-half performance was marred by some serious attention spans.

To protect the guilty, the first semester grades will be recorded in group categories.

Offense — D.

Even Pedro Guerrero, with 51 runs batted in, isn't having the year he had last year. Everyone knows the Cardinals don't hit many home runs — they have just 34 — but in the first half they rarely moved runners. Seldom did they deliver even a single with men in scoring position or a fly ball with a man at third.

They failed to deliver 60 of 149 runners who were at third base with fewer than two outs. They are hitting .237 with men in scoring position, even worse than their .245 season average.

The worst offenders are Milt Thompson, nine for 62 (.145); Todd Zeile, 12 for 72 (.167); and Vince Coleman, 15 for 67 (.224). Coleman has no RBIs since June 17, and won't get any before July 16. He is suspended until that date.

Extra-base hits? Forget it. The Cardinals have only 170, compared with 220 for their opponents.

Starting Pitching — D.

Joe Magrane is 4-12. He has four wins in his last 24 starts over two years. Bryn Smith and Jose DeLeon both have been erratic six-game winners. Scott Terry, an occasional starter, hasn't won since Aug. 11, 1989.

Would you believe John Tudor and Bob Tewksbury, with 11 wins, have more than any two pitchers other than DeLeon and B. Smith?

Bluegill fishing good for sport as a whole

By Todd Gardner
Staff Writer

Reeling in a struggling bluegill won't make a great fishing story, but more of them are ending up on the dinner table than big bass.

With the support of fishing clubs and groups like The Bass Association and Future Fisherman Foundation, it has become common practice among fishermen to load their strings with bluegill, crappie and redear, which can cope with sportfishing harvest better than bass.

Almost all bass fisherman catch and release," said Shelia Johnson, a worker at the Little Grassy Boat Dock. "Unless they catch a big one they're going to have mounted."

Bass Busters, an area fishing club and the oldest one in Illinois, was one of the first clubs in the area to begin promoting catch and release, said Don Sanders, club treasurer.

"I think it improved fishing," he said, citing what he sees as an increase in the size of fish caught. Clubs have also been successful in having the size limit on bass raised to 18 inches at some lakes.

Lake Murphysboro's site superintendent, Bob Catt, said bass 18 inches and larger are not as predatory as the smaller ones, making them less effective for maintaining a balanced fish population.

As summer advances, bass become harder to catch, but it is not the case with the smaller fish, said Mike McGinley, co-owner of Lake of Egypt Marina.

"Right now, they are easy easy fishing and a lot of fun," McGinley said. "Some could even tear the pole out of your hand."

Dian Powell, co-owner of Devils Kitchen Boat Dock, said that Devils Kitchen is a good spot for bluegill fishing.

"We've had them weigh in at a one and one and a quarter pounds," she said.

Johnson, at Little Grassy said that this year seems to be bigger bluegill and bass at the lake. She believes it's because of their slot limit that allows anglers to take any fish as long as it is not between 12 and 15 inches.

Strike in Nicaragua ceases; Sandinistas sign agreement

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Sandinista union leaders signed an agreement with the government of President Violeta Chamorro early Thursday calling for 43 percent pay raises for thousands of workers, ending a 10-day nationwide strike that had crippled the country. "This is a victory for the government of Nicaragua because President Chamorro, through a national dialogue, has managed to stay on the road to democracy," presidential spokesman Danilo Lacayo said in announcing the agreement early Thursday morning.

Miner strike affects a third of Soviet mines

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet coal miners' 24-hour warning strike shut down more than a third of the country's mines and also affected a number of other enterprises, officials said Thursday. Prime Minister Nikolai Ryzhkov said at the 28th Communist Party Congress Thursday that 276 of the country's 655 mines had been affected by the strike Wednesday, most of them shut down for the whole day. Ryzhkov did not specifically mention the miner's demands that included his resignation and an end to Communist Party control in the mines, saying only "they repeated their well-known demands."

Officials begin negotiations with Mohawks

MONTREAL (UPI) — Officials negotiated Thursday with armed Mohawks to resolve a day-old stand-off over a land dispute over a golf course that left one policeman dead in a shootout Wednesday. Quebec Indian Affairs Minister John Caccia was believed talking to the Mohawks by telephone but no details were available. In Oka, 25 miles west of Montreal, an uneasy truce was in effect where Quebec police and Mohawks confronted each other Wednesday. Cpl. Marcel Lemay, 31, of the Quebec Provincial Police, was shot in the face and later died of cardiac arrest. Police said an inquiry will determine if he was felled by a police or Mohawk bullet. Police later reinforced their men and put up their own barricades.

Proposed bill would criminalize use of IUDs

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — The controversial near-ban on abortion awaiting action by Gov. Buddy Roemer also would criminalize the use of intrauterine birth control devices, or IUDs, the state attorney general said Thursday. Attorney General William Guste contended in an interview, however, that prosecutions are highly unlikely under that aspect of the measure, which—technically at least—would expose IUD users to potential prison sentences of 10 years. "Who's going to report the crime? Who's going to know?" Guste said. The governor can either sign or veto the new measure or let it become law without his signature. Roemer had 20 days from July 8 to take action.

Study: Kids' learning problems preventable

SEATTLE (UPI) — About 12 percent of the nation's children entering school are learning impaired because of "fully preventable causes" such as low birth weight, prenatal exposure to alcohol, drug and tobacco, lead poisoning and child abuse, according to a report released Thursday. More than 400,000 American children—some suffering from multiple problems—beginning school in any given year suffer from preventable learning impairments, according to the study released during the 1990 Education Commission of the States National Forum and Annual Meeting in Seattle. The ECS, which commissioned the study, is a non-profit group formed to help lawmakers and educators improve education.

'Odd Couple' hits with different twist

Leading actresses 'perfectly cast' in Neil Simon play

By Anne Ryman
Staff Writer

The female version of "The Odd Couple," playing at McLeod Theater, retains the comic amusement that made the original a smash.

Anita Rich as Florence and Heather Currie as Olive are perfectly cast as the incompatible roommates with irritating and uncompromising habits.

Flo is a compulsive cleaner, a hysteric and a hypochondriac. During the play, she grabs Olive's attention with a nerve spasm, a sinus condition, and with feigned injuries to her arm and back. Part of her appeal is the hilarious gestures she makes while experiencing her attacks. Whenever she loses attention, another bout of pain occurs.

Florence and her husband of 14 years have separated and she is despondent. She cries, panics and has hysterics. She doesn't want to get a divorce or change her life.

Olive is sloppy, careless and undisciplined. In the opening scene, she wears a baggy shirt, jean shorts and mismatched colors while Flo is dressed in a tailored black dress, pearls and white gloves. Their distinctive appearances are only one indication of their different personalities.

Flo likes to eat at home and Olive likes to dine out. Flo suppresses her thoughts while Olive makes them known. Olive's apartment is an ode to untidiness. Paintings and posters are crooked, a lamp shade is askew and clothes are draped over furniture.

Olive invites Flo to move into her apartment. Although she considers Flo a pest, Olive would rather live with her than live alone. After Flo moves in, the paintings hang straight, the posters disappear and everything is tidy.

In the first act, Florence says to Olive, "It must have been awful for you without anyone here."

"Well, we'll see," Olive says with a hint of sarcasm. This is the first clue of the volatile relationship.

The exaggeration of Olive and Flo's personalities heightens the comedy. They both have different orientations to life and refuse to compromise them. They realize they will never be able to communicate with one another because neither will find a middle ground. Although both characters are stereotyped extremes, they are likable.

Olive becomes restless spending every night at home so she convinces Flo to make a date with the Spanish brothers who live upstairs. William Kirksey and Chris Mitchell play Manola and Jesus Costazuela, the sexy Spanish brothers who frequently misinterpret the English language.

Christian artist to perform in Marion

By Rob Coné
Entertainment Editor

Greg X. Volz, former lead singer of the Christian rock group Petra, will perform at the Marion Civic Center at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Volz, now in his 20th year as a Christian music artist, embarked on his solo career in 1986 out of a need to spend more time with his family.

Prior to that time, Volz said he was on the road nearly 300 days a year with Petra when he realized his children were growing up without a father. As a solo artist, Volz said he now restricts his touring schedule to 100 performances a year alternating between solo and full band concerts.

In the '60s and '70s, while singing with "e" Band, which Volz said stood for "everything" (from vegetarianism to Eastern religion) the "e" became "Emmanuel" and the band adapted their songwriting to the Jesus movement.

"No Room In The Middle," released in 1989 on the River Records label, is Volz's third solo album teaming him up with former "e" Band members Joe Grier, Dave Eden and Greg Dunteman.

Volz described his first two solo albums as evangelistic. He said "No Room In The Middle" signifies a break from that genre with a soft-pop message aimed at appealing to teenage and pre-teenage audiences.

Concert tickets are available at all Gospel and Bookstores, The Baptist Bookstore in Carterville, Lamplight Bookstore in Anna, Inspiration. Bookstore in Harrisburg, Disc Jockey Records in Mt. Vernon and Paducah, Ky., and the Marion Civic Center Box Office. Tickets are $5.

State tuition freeze a quick-fix solution

IN THE SOUTHERN ILLINOIS summer heat, students are talking about a tuition freeze. While it's important to keep the cost of a higher education from rising out of reach, such a freeze would leave future students out in the cold.

Politically savvy students have been using their brains and voices to let the General Assembly in on some facts they probably already know but haven't bothered to take any significant action on. Financially, getting a higher education is more difficult today than it was 10 or 20 years ago.

IN ITS 86TH session, the General Assembly passed a resolution to establish a tuition freeze and form a committee to look at statewide tuition policies for state-supported universities. Student leaders are applauding the action, but such a freeze is a quick-fix solution that doesn't address the real problem—rising costs.

Simple economics dictate that when production costs rise, cost of the product also rises. When services are expanded, someone must pay for the increase. Typically, it is the consumer who foots the bill.

IN EDUCATION, faculty, staff and administrators want pay raises. Departments want to increase programs and services. Students want the best education they can get, as cheaply as they can get it. It is only natural for an academic institution to build on current strengths. But without an increase in revenue, such services must be cut or put on hold.

Yet society benefits from the education of its young. The future of society is in its youths' hands. Therefore, society should be willing to share the cost of educating its young. Traditionally, this is achieved through that naughty word—taxes.

Letters

Writers needed to protest military budget

On July 15, 1990, six local churches will be involved in writing letters in support of the Harvest of Peace Resolution before the Congress.

The time has come to give hungry people food to eat and to stop asking them to bite the budget bullet. Over the last decade the federal budget has vastly increased funding for military programs while ignoring the needs of the growing number of hungry and poor people in our country. How can we feel secure while 32 million people in this country live in poverty, and 40,000 infants each year in the United States die before their first birthday?

We call on Congressman Glenn Poshard and Senators Alan Dixon and Paul Simon to support House Resolution 259, and Senate Resolution 91, the Harvest of Peace Resolution. Money must be redirected from military spending to the alleviation of hunger and poverty. Over the last eight years, our country has spent more than $2 trillion on our defense. From their taxes during these years, the average U.S. family has contributed $21,000 to this military buildup. Many of these families have had to make critical sacrifices in order to satisfy the government's thirst for weapons.

National priorities must be changed, and the dignity of the common man must take precedence over the wasteful squanderings of his plundered tax dollars. Anyone interested in the offering of letters on July 15, may telephone Elsie Speck, 549-2888.—Elsie Speck, Carbonate.

Neil Bush not the only villain in S & L crisis

Clippings Howard News Service

A delicatessen in Washington, D.C. is offering a "Neil Bush Special: Buy It Now, Pay For It Later," in honor of the president's son.

If the story of Neil Bush's alleged misdoings focuses attention on the $300 billion savings and loan scandal, that's well and good. But care should be taken that his case doesn't become a mere diversion, drawing attention away from hundreds of other characters, (especially those in Congress), who also contributed to the debacle.

Some explanations are in order about Bush's tenure as director of Colorado's failed Silverado Savings & Loan. The collapse of Silverado is expected to cost taxpayers $1 billion.

As a board member of the Silverado, Bush granted loans and lines of credit to two of his business partners, without informing other board members of his business ties to them. One business partner "loaned" Bush $100,000, with the amazing provision that the money didn't have to be paid back.

Silverado is an emblem of S&L sleaze: bad loans fobbed off on the taxpayers. But Neil Bush's thrift is only one of 400 seized by the federal government. Voters must also keep an eye on Washington, where Congressional Democrats gave a blank check—in the form of federal deposit insurance—to irresponsible thrift owners and then blocked regulators before they could close in.

Editorial Policies

Signed articles, including letters, viewpoints and other commentaries, reflect the opinions of their authors only. Unsigned editorials represent a consensus of the Daily Egyptian Board, whose members are the student editor-in-chief, the editorial page editor, the news editor, the managing editor and a School of Journalism faculty member. Letters to the editor must be submitted in person to the editorial page editor, Room 1247, Communications Building. Letters should be typewritten and double spaced. All letters are subject to editing and will be limited to 500 words. Letters fewer than 250 words will be given preference for publication. Students must identify themselves by class and major, faculty members by rank and department, non-academic staff by position and department. Letters for which verification of authorship cannot be obtained will not be published.

College amateur filmmakers get 'scary dose of reality'

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Nine college students with toy guns who were making an amateur cops-and-robbers film got a scary dose of reality when armed officers came to the set and told them to drop their weapons, authorities said Thursday.

"We received a report that there were some subjects loading automatic weapons onto a boat on a dock," said Lt. Brad Williams of the Florida Marine Patrol about Wednesday's incident.

Two FMP officers went to the scene, followed by city police. They ordered the students to drop their weapons and lie spread-eagled on the ground, then they frisked them.

"I was shaking in my boots. It was wild," said Kenny Harris, 19, a student at Florida State University. He recalled at least one officer telling the boys not to make any false moves.

Harris and the other eight sophomores explained to the law enforcement officers that they were at the dock and using a 21-foot sailboat to film a movie called "Florida Force" as a summer project.

They were videotaping the opening scene at the Fort Walton Beach marina and had set off firecrackers to simulate gunfire. That apparently prompted someone to call authorities.

"They had what appeared to be authentic firearms but they were actually copies or models of firearms," said Williams. The models were of an Uzi, two .45 caliber semi-automatic pistols and two .38 caliber revolvers.

All nine were released after a stern lecture.

"We instructed them that if they were going to do something like this in the future, to let law enforcement know and to inform property owners," Williams said.

Military officials concerned about America's Cup

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Military officials fear the 1992 America's Cup yacht race off the San Diego coast will attract foreign spies who will use the event as a cover to gather information about highly sensitive projects, including the Navy's controversial dolphin and sea lion program, it was reported Thursday.

A July 6 internal Navy memo obtained by the Los Angeles Times said the "Marine Mammal System will be subject to constant observation by foreign operatives and international participants affiliated with these (racing) syndicates. Of greater concern is the inevitable national and international press interest."

The memo said Navy officials "anticipate only negative press coverage of the Marine Mammal System programs. Presence of national/international press corps provides excellent opportunity for animal rights/Greenpeace activists to gain maximum media exposure."

The program trains and uses marine mammals for underwater surveillance and to detect, mark and recover objects, said Tom LaPuzza, a spokesman for the Naval Ocean Systems Center in San Diego, who declined to elaborate because the project remains classified.

Police Blotter

Keith W. Willoughby, 40, and Corwin A. Stogsdill, 26, both of 403 S. Logan St. were arrested Tuesday on charges of stealing compact discs from a Carbondale residence on July 7 according to a Carbondale Police report.

According to the report, Willoughby is wanted in Florida for parole violations.

Both men are in the Jackson County Jail pending a bond hearing before a judge.

Cash and a VCR with a combined total of about $200 were taken from a Carbondale residence, according to a Carbondale Police Report.

Scott Shaw and Jay Stevens reported to police that their residence had been entered without force between 9 p.m. Monday and 1 a.m. Tuesday.

Prayers bring rain to farmers

METTER, Ga. (UPI) — Members of a rural church bowed their heads in silent thanks Thursday for a steady downpour that soaked parched fields in answer to their prayers for rain.

The congregation of Evergreen Baptist Church, most of whom are farmers, began a 24-hour prayer vigil Tuesday night for divine intervention to help save their crops from the heat.

As the vigil neared an end Wednesday evening, the congregation prepared to pray another 24 hours for relief.

Then the rains came. "We started getting ready to come down Wednesday night to end the vigil and begin another one. As we got to the (church) door, the bottom just fell out. It rained steady, about an inch, then eased to a drizzle during the night and rained again this morning. Everybody up here got at least an inch," the Rev. Trenny Thomas said.

"It was a feast. It was just like the manna that fell from heaven when God fed his people."

As the rain began to fall, congregation members laughed, wept and embraced each other. Some went out and stood in the cooling downpour.

5,000 acre vegetable farm coming to area

MARION (UPI) — Southern Illinois may be about to recapture some of the vegetable production it has lost in the last 50 years to the South and Southwest, a spokesman for a state agency said Thursday.

Steve James, a spokesman for the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, said James E. Rose, a resident of the Chicago area and a native of Southern Illinois, had purchased about 5,000 acres of land in Johnson, Union and Pulaski counties.

Rose's partner, Dan Hinkle, is a vegetable grower in Cissna Park. He also operates a processing plant, James said.

James said Rose purchased the land last year, 4,000 acres of which are in Johnson County near Belknap. The land is currently being prepared and fertilized this year and will go into limited vegetable production in 1991, James said.

"Next year they plan to produce sweet corn and snap beans, and they'll experiment to see what varieties of vegetables do well here," James said. Rose and Hinkle hope to begin full production in 1992. Some crops will probably be carrots, cucumbers, bell peppers, beans and corn, James said.

The two partners have also applied for a $400,000 loan from DCCA to help purchase a processing plant—possibly the Illinois Fruit Growers Exchange near Cobden.

Oakland A's escape clause considered 'shortsighted'

By LANCE WILLIAMS
San Francisco Examiner

OAKLAND — Oakland negotiators were "very, very shortsighted" and "made a bad bargain" when they offered the Oakland A's an "escape clause" on the baseball team's lease as part of a new effort to bring the National Football League Raiders back to town, Assemblyman Elihu Harris says.

Harris, considered the front-runner in November's mayoral election, sharply criticized the negotiating team that has recommended offering the A's a series of improvements on their lease at the Oakland Coliseum — including a provision that would allow the team to leave after the 1995 season — in the event the Raiders return to Oakland.

"It bothers me, quite frankly," Harris said, "and it's indicative of a mind-set that ... appears to be, 'Get the Raiders back at whatever the cost or the risk,' and that to me is very shortsighted ...

"They risk losing the A's if the Raiders come back, and I think the Raiders are going to come back."

Earlier this year, Oakland officials attempted to lure the Raiders back from Los Angeles with a $1 billion package that included profit guarantees of $29 million a year to owner Al Davis. But community opposition squelched that deal.

Then, last month, Oakland Councilman Richard Spees said he had negotiated a new deal with the Raiders that removed many of the city's risks in financing. The measure is pending before the city council.

But under terms of their lease with the Coliseum, the A's — baseball's world champions and widely considered a model sports tenant — have the right to refuse to share the stadium with a football team.

In negotiations, A's President Wally Haas said he had requested a package of lease improvements — and the escape clause — because he feared that his team might suffer financial losses sharing the market with the Raiders.

Haas has insisted he does not want the A's to leave town but does not want the team to be left "holding the economic bag" if competition from the Raiders hurts it.

Under his present lease, Haas is required to offer to sell the A's to local owners before he can relocate the team.

The escape-clause proposal, and a package of financial improvements worth perhaps $1.5 million a year to the A's, have been endorsed by city negotiators, though elected officials have not approved them.

Wrestler displays American spirit

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — It was a case of young glory saluting Old Glory.

Olympic Festival gold medal wrestler Dan Troupe walked off the mat Wednesday night and donned a black T-shirt that displayed the American flag and a challenge. The T-shirt was captioned "Try burning this flag."

Troupe didn't get any takers. The Kalispell, Mont., native expressed himself succinctly on the wrestling mat, too, tying a U.S. Olympic Festival record by winning two gold medals in the same tournament this week. Troupe won the 198-pound division in both freestyle and Greco-Roman, joining four others as record-tying double-winners.

Brandon Paulson of Anoka, Minn. (105.5 pounds), Marco Sanchez of San Jose, Calif. (136.5), Brad Knouse of Irving, Texas (180.5) and Steve King of Janesville, Minn. (220) also swept both styles, a feat accomplished only once previously in Festival history.

"This is just another step in trying to be the best," said Troupe. "If I get the gold in the World Cup (freestyle competition for age 20 and under to be held late July in Canada), then I'll know I'm beating the very best."

Troupe hopes someday to wear the stars and stripes from his T-shirt on the ultimate wrestling singlet — a U.S. Olympic team uniform. The 19-year-old geology student at said. "You had to be five years old to wrestle in AAU competition, but they started me at age four. When I was eight, I won a grand national tournament. I knew then I'd be doing it the rest of my life."
